7:13 The Lord had compassion for her: the first time Luke calls Jesus "Lord" (see Luke 1:43) and the only time Luke says Jesus had compassion. It's also rare for Jesus to do a miracle without first being asked. "Don't cry": See Luke 6:21.

7:14 get up: See Luke 8:54.

7:15 began to speak: proof he's fine (see Luke 8:55) and, like Zechariah's renewed speech (Luke 1:64), proof of truly good news.

7:16 great prophet: Jesus is a prophet like Elijah and Elisha but also like Elizabeth, Mary, Zechariah, Simeon, Anna, and John the Baptist. God has come: See Luke 1:68; 11:20; 19:44.

7:18 all these things: the news about Jesus' healings and popular opinion that he's a great prophet (Luke 7:16-17). John called: John has been imprisoned by Herod Antipas (Luke 3:19-20) but is still in contact with his disciples (see note on Luke 5:33).

7:19 The Lord: This is Luke's perspective, not John's (see Luke 7:13). the one who is coming: John expects the Christ to begin God's judgment on the wicked (see Luke 3:16-17). While Jesus performs healings like Elijah, he hasn't yet brought God's fire (see 1 Kgs 18:36-38; Luke 9:54). John's question probably expresses hope as well as doubt.

7:21 Right then: Jesus performs the healings while John's messengers watch.

7:22 blind: See Luke 4:18; 18:35-43. crippled: See Luke 5:17-26; 14:13. skin diseases: See Luke 5:12-16; 17:11-19. deaf: The same word in Greek means "unable to speak" as well as "unable to hear" (see Luke 11:14). dead: See Luke 7:11-15. poor: See Luke 6:20-21. All these terms refer to people who need God's help and forgiveness.

what you have seen and heard. Those who were blind are able to see. Those who were crippled now walk. People with skin diseases are cleansed. Those who were deaf now hear. Those who were dead are raised up. And good news is preached to the poor.<sup>a</sup> <sup>23</sup>Happy is anyone who doesn't stumble along the way because of me."

<sup>24</sup>After John's messengers were gone, Jesus spoke to the crowds about John. "What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A stalk blowing in the wind? <sup>25</sup>What did you go out to see? A man dressed up in refined clothes? Look, those who dress in fashionable clothes and live in luxury are in royal palaces. <sup>26</sup>What did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet. <sup>27</sup>He is the one of whom it's written: Look, I'm sending my messenger before you, who will prepare your way before you.<sup>b</sup> <sup>28</sup>I tell you that no greater human being has ever been born than John. Yet whoever is least in God's kingdom is greater than he." <sup>29</sup>Everyone who heard this, including the tax collectors, acknowledged God's justice because they had been baptized by John. <sup>30</sup>But the Pharisees and legal experts rejected God's will for themselves because they hadn't been baptized by John.

<sup>31</sup>"To what will I compare the people of this generation?" Jesus asked. "What are they like? <sup>32</sup>They are like children sitting in the marketplace calling out to each other, 'We played the flute for you and you didn't dance. We sang a funeral song and you didn't cry.' <sup>33</sup>John the Baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and you say, 'He has a demon.' <sup>34</sup>Yet the Human One<sup>c</sup> came eating and drinking, and you say, 'Look, a glutton and a drunk, a friend of tax collectors and sinners.' <sup>35</sup>But wisdom is proved to be right by all her descendants."

Forgiveness and gratitude

7:23 Happy: Everyone who accepts Jesus as the one bringing God's good news lives with God's favor.

7:24 into the wilderness: John had drawn huge crowds to hear his preaching (Luke 1:80; 3:2-6; Isa 40:3-5). A stalk: A damaged stalk was an image of weakness (Isa 36:6; 42:3); it could also be an image of Herod Antipas, John's murderer (Luke 9:9), because he put an image of a stalk on some of his coins.

7:25 palaces: John's power isn't the kind exercised by kings like Antipas.

7:26 A prophet? ... more than a prophet: Jesus indicates John is the return of the prophet Elijah, predicted by Malachi 3:1; 4:5-6.

7:28 no greater human: high praise from God's Son. greater than he: All the prophets, including John, will be included in the kingdom (Luke 13:28). This means anyone would prefer being the lowest participant in God's kingdom banquet to being the greatest person in the present evil age.

7:29 acknowledged God's justice: The tax collectors who had accepted John's message (Luke 3:12-13) agree with Jesus' evaluation of John.

7:30 The Pharisees, who have rejected John, thereby have rejected God's will for themselves.

7:31 the people of this generation: the Pharisees, who refuse to listen to Jesus or John.

7:32 children: Jesus compares the Pharisees to fussy children who can't agree on whether to play weddings or funerals.

7:33 neither eating: John and his disciples regularly fast (see Luke 5:33). He has a demon: John's words and actions don't represent anything like the way others think holy people are supposed to speak and act. As a result, they think he's an agent of the devil.

7:34 the Human One: See sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5. eating: See Luke 5:33-35. a glutton and a drunk: The Pharisees have a low opinion of Jesus (see Luke 7:36-50).

7:35 wisdom: In Proverbs 8:1-9:6 God's wisdom is pictured as a female teacher whose descendants and students learn the right way to follow God. Jesus means that the tax collectors and sinners who listen to him and to John are wiser than the Pharisees.

7:36 The first time Jesus dines with Pharisees (see Luke 11:37-54; 14:1-24). One of the Pharisees: Simon (Luke 7:40). See sidebar "Pharisees" at Luke 6. took his place: See sidebar, "1st-Century Dinner Parties."

7:37 from the city: not traveling with Jesus' disciples. sinner: a person who regularly violated Moses' Law (see Luke 5:8, 30-32). For Luke, all are sinners who need "to change their hearts and lives" (Luke 5:32).

7:38 Standing ... feet: Jesus is reclining on a bench, his feet angled away from the food. her hair, kissed: Except for her weeping, the woman's actions are out of place and could be interpreted as inappropriately sexual.

7:39 Simon concludes that the woman, whom he considers a sinner, is acting inappropriately, and no true prophet would accept her touch, much less her kisses.

1st-Century Dinner Parties Luke 7:36 tells us that Jesus “took his place at the table.” Literally, “He reclined to eat.” Luke’s Jesus goes to dinner parties with Pharisees (Luke 7:36-50; 11:37-54; 14:1-24); tax collectors (Luke 15:1-2; 19:1-10); and the poor (Luke 10:38-42). The meals are images of the presence of God’s kingdom (Luke 10:7-9). In Luke’s world, dinner parties were an important part of maintaining one’s place in society. People bathed, oiled their hair, and put perfume on in the afternoon in preparation for the social event. Sometimes a slave would go around town to tell the invited guests the party was ready to begin (Luke 14:17). As the guests entered the house, a slave would wash their feet (see Luke 7:44). In the dining room guests would recline on cushioned benches arranged in a U-shape, resting on one elbow. Slaves would place the food on low tables in front of the benches, and the diners would slowly eat and drink with one hand while sharing conversation with their neighbors. The best seats were those in the middle of the U (see Luke 14:7); the farther one was away from the center, the less significant one’s status. Slaves were present only to serve or to entertain (see Luke 22:27). By the 1st century CE some Roman hosts included women among the recliners, though that was considered improper and even sexually suggestive. A more conservative approach included seating women in chairs between the dining couches. More conservative still was to include only men.

“Teacher, speak,” he said.

<sup>41</sup>“A certain lender had two debtors. One owed enough money to pay five hundred people for a day’s work.” The other owed enough money for fifty. <sup>42</sup>When they couldn’t pay, the lender forgave the debts of them both. Which of them will love him more?”

Jesus said, “You have judged correctly.”

<sup>44</sup>Jesus turned to the woman and said to Simon, “Do you see this woman? When I entered your home, you didn’t give me water for my feet, but she wet my feet with tears and wiped them with her hair. <sup>45</sup>You didn’t greet me with a kiss, but she hasn’t stopped kissing my feet since I came in. <sup>46</sup>You didn’t anoint my head with oil, but she has poured perfumed oil on my face. <sup>47</sup>This is why I tell you that her many sins have been forgiven; so she has shown great love. The one who is forgiven little loves little.”

<sup>50</sup>Jesus said to the woman, “Your faith has saved you. Go in peace.”

Women who followed Jesus

Soon afterward, Jesus traveled through the cities and villages, preaching and proclaiming the good news of God’s kingdom. The Twelve were with him, <sup>2</sup>along with some women who had been healed of evil spirits and sicknesses. Among them were Mary Magdalene (from whom seven demons had been thrown out), <sup>3</sup>Joanna (the wife of Herod’s servant Chuza), Susanna, and many others who provided for them out of their resources.

7:42 forgave the debts: This is how Jesus’ followers are to act (see Luke 6:34-35). love: loyalty and kindness rather than tender affection (see Luke 6:27, 35-36).

7:44 water for my feet: a customary sign of good manners. Guests walked dirty paths to reach the host’s house, and their feet would be in view when they reclined. she wet my feet: The woman is a better host than Simon.

7:45 You didn’t greet me with a kiss: In Simon’s culture a host welcomed guests into his house with kisses on the cheeks. Simon has been deliberately rude to Jesus.

7:46 anoint . . . with oil: another sign of hospitality (see Ps 23:5) Simon has failed to provide.

7:47 forgiven: The woman welcomes Jesus, showing she has changed her life, and so her sins are forgiven. forgiven little: Simon shows no regret over his treatment of Jesus.

7:49 Who . . . forgives: one of the Pharisees’ issues with Jesus (Luke 5:21). Your faith: See Luke 7:9; 8:48; 17:19; 18:42. 8:1 The Twelve: See Luke 6:13-16.

8:2 some women: Jesus’ disciples included women who traveled with him. They were probably part of the Seventy-two sent on mission (Luke 10:1). healed . . . sicknesses: After experiencing Jesus’ divine power, they follow Jesus, just as Peter, James, John (Luke 5:9-11), and the blind man do. Mary Magdalene: a devoted follower, one of those who later discovers the empty tomb (Luke 24:10). seven demons: a sign of her misery, not her wickedness (see Luke 8:30; 11:26).

8:3 Joanna: Her husband was Herod Antipas’ business manager (see Luke 24:10). Susanna: otherwise unknown. many others: See Luke 23:49; 24:10; Acts 1:14. provided for them: In Luke 22:27 Jesus uses the same verb to describe his own ministry. their resources: See Luke 12:33; 14:33.

Parable of the soils

<sup>4</sup>When a great crowd was gathering and people were coming to Jesus from one city after another, he spoke to them in a parable: <sup>5</sup>"A farmer went out to scatter his seed. As he was scattering it, some fell on the path where it was crushed, and the birds in the sky came and ate it. <sup>6</sup>Other seed fell on rock. As it grew, it dried up because it had no moisture. <sup>7</sup>Other seed fell among thorny plants. The thorns grew with the plants and choked them. <sup>8</sup>Still other seed landed on good soil. When it grew, it produced one hundred times more grain than was scattered." As he said this, he called out, "Everyone who has ears should pay attention."

<sup>9</sup>His disciples asked him what this parable meant. <sup>10</sup>He said, "You have been given the mysteries of God's kingdom, but these mysteries come to everyone else in parables so that when they see, they can't see, and when they hear, they can't understand."<sup>11</sup>

<sup>12</sup>The parable means this: The seed is God's word. <sup>13</sup>The seed on the path are those who hear, but then the devil comes and steals the word from their hearts so that they won't believe and be saved. <sup>14</sup>The seed on the rock are those who receive the word joyfully when they hear it, but they have no root. They believe for a while but fall away when they are tempted. <sup>15</sup>As for the seed that fell among thorny plants, these are the ones who, as they go about their lives, are choked by the concerns, riches, and pleasures of life, and their fruit never matures. <sup>16</sup>The seed that fell on good soil are those who hear the word and commit themselves to it with a good and upright heart. Through their resolve, they bear fruit.

Sharing the light

<sup>16</sup>"No one lights a lamp and then covers it with a bowl or puts it under a bed. Instead, they put it on top of a lampstand so that those who enter can see the light. <sup>17</sup>Nothing is hidden that won't be exposed. Nor is anything concealed that won't be made known and brought to the light. <sup>18</sup>Therefore, listen carefully. Those who have will receive more, but as for those who don't have, even what they seem to have will be taken away from them."

Jesus' family

<sup>19</sup>Jesus' mother and brothers came to him but were unable to reach him because of the crowd. <sup>20</sup>Someone told him, "Your mother and brothers are standing outside, wanting to see you." <sup>21</sup>He replied, "My mother and brothers are those who listen to God's word and do it."

Jesus calms the sea

<sup>22</sup>One day Jesus and his disciples boarded a boat. He said to them, "Let's cross over to the other side of the lake." So they set sail.

8:4 great crowd: See Luke 5:15; 6:17-19; 7:17. parable: a brief story that develops a comparison, told to illustrate an idea or to make people think and often based on some aspect of everyday life.

8:5 scatter: throwing handfuls of seed.

8:6 rock: Where the topsoil has eroded, seeds fall on bedrock.

8:8 one hundred times: a good harvest (see Gen 26:12). Even if most seeds don't produce, the harvest is still worth the effort of planting.

8:9 disciples: all those following Jesus, including the Twelve and the women (Luke 8:2-3).

8:10 You have been given: God has allowed you to know. the mysteries of God's kingdom: Some people will respond to the good news and enter God's kingdom, and God will enable them to better understand divine purposes (Luke 24:45). in parables: Those who reject the good news will remain puzzled by Jesus' teaching. when they see: Those who reject the good news might see it take place in front of them and still not understand it (see Luke 5:17-26; 11:13-16).

8:11 God's word: the message about God's kingdom, preached by Jesus and his followers.

8:12 hearts: In this culture the heart is where one made decisions.

8:13 receive the word joyfully: as many in the crowds do (see Luke 5:1; 6:18). believe... fall away: as Peter does when he's pressured (Luke 22:31-34, 54-62).

8:14 choked... life: See Luke 12:15-21; 18:18-23.

8:15 hear... and commit: True faith is both spoken and practiced (see Luke 6:46-49).

8:16 lamp: An ancient oil lamp wasn't bright, so it would be put up high on a lampstand for maximum effect. The light of the good news, like the seeds in Luke 8:4-8, is meant to be shared.

8:17 The good news can't be hidden, so Jesus' followers shouldn't try to hide their faith (see Luke 12:2-3).

8:18 listen carefully to Jesus' teachings and then live by them; then you will receive more (see Luke 6:46-49; 8:15). seem to have: See Luke 6:46; 13:22-30.

8:19 Jesus' mother and brothers: Mary thought a lot about God's revelation to her (Luke 2:19) and Jesus' words (Luke 2:51) in order to understand them well. She and Jesus' brothers were part of the earliest Christian church (Acts 1:14). unable... crowd: a positive description of Jesus' family (see Luke 5:18-19).

8:21 My mother and brothers: Jesus both praises his family for obeying God's message and includes in his family all who obey God's message.

8:22 lake: the Sea of Galilee (see Luke 5:1).

<sup>23</sup>While they were sailing, he fell asleep. Gale-force winds swept down on the lake. The boat was filling up with water and they were in danger. <sup>24</sup>So they went and woke Jesus, shouting, "Master, Master, we're going to drown!" But he got up and gave orders to the wind and the violent waves. The storm died down and it was calm.

Filled with awe and wonder, they said to each other, "Who is this? He commands even the winds and the water, and they obey him!"

Jesus frees a demon-possessed man

<sup>26</sup>Jesus and his disciples sailed to the Gerasenes' land, which is across the lake from Galilee. <sup>27</sup>As soon as Jesus got out of the boat, a certain man met him. The man was from the city and was possessed by demons. For a long time, he had lived among the tombs, naked and homeless. <sup>28</sup>When he saw Jesus, he shrieked and fell down before him. Then he shouted, "What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I beg you, don't torture me!" <sup>29</sup>He said this because Jesus had already commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. Many times it had taken possession of him, so he would be bound with leg irons and chains and placed under guard. But he would break his restraints, and the demon would force him into the wilderness.

"Legion," he replied, because many demons had entered him. <sup>31</sup>They pleaded with him not to order them to go back into the abyss. <sup>32</sup>A large herd of pigs was feeding on the hillside. The demons begged Jesus to let them go into the pigs. Jesus gave them permission, <sup>33</sup>and the demons left the man and entered the pigs. The herd rushed down the cliff into the lake and drowned.

<sup>34</sup>When those who tended the pigs saw what happened, they ran away and told the story in the city and in the countryside. <sup>35</sup>People came to see what had happened. They came to Jesus and found the man from whom the demons had gone. He was sitting at Jesus' feet, fully dressed and completely sane. They were filled with awe. <sup>36</sup>Those people who had actually seen what had happened told them how the demon-possessed man had been delivered. <sup>37</sup>Then everyone gathered from the region of the Gerasenes asked Jesus to leave their area because they were overcome with fear. So he got into the boat and returned across the lake. <sup>38</sup>The man from whom the demons had gone begged to come along with Jesus as one of his disciples. Jesus sent him away, saying, <sup>39</sup>"Return home and tell the story of what God has done for you." So he went throughout the city proclaiming what Jesus had done for him.

Jesus heals two women

<sup>40</sup>When Jesus returned, the crowd welcomed him, for they had been waiting for him. <sup>41</sup>A man named Jairus, who was a synagogue leader, came and fell at Jesus' feet. He pleaded with Jesus to come to his house <sup>42</sup>because his only daughter, a twelve-year-old, was dying.

8:23 Gale-force winds: Violent winds in the Bible are often signs of God's activity (e.g., Exod 14:21; Jon 1:4); and violent waves can be images of illness or death (e.g., Ps 69:1-2, 15; Jon 2:3).

8:24 Master is what Peter called Jesus before becoming a disciple (Luke 5:5). They are panicked and in despair.

8:25 "Where is your faith?": In contrast to the centurion (Luke 7:9) and the woman who anointed Jesus (Luke 7:50), the disciples neither ask for help nor act in faith. Who is this? echoes the Pharisees (Luke 5:21; 7:49). The disciples aren't acting as if they know the mysteries of God's kingdom (Luke 8:10).

8:26 Gerasenes' land: Gerasa was a town about 30 miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee. Some ancient copies of Luke's Gospel have "Gergesenes' land"; Gergesa was across the lake from Galilee, on the eastern side.

8:27 among the tombs: an outcast who lives among the dead.

8:28 don't torture me: The demons, speaking through the man, assume Jesus has come to begin the last judgment (Luke 4:34).

8:30 "Legion": a large unit within the Roman army.

8:31 the abyss: Some Jews believed many demons were imprisoned in cells under the earth or in remote places (see 1 Pet 3:19; Rev 9:1-6).

8:32 pigs: unclean animals, forbidden for Jews to eat. It was logical for unclean spirits to want to escape into unclean animals. But the demons, which have harassed the man for so many years, drive the pigs to self-destruction.

8:35 filled with awe: or "They were afraid" (see Luke 8:37).

8:37 asked Jesus to leave: Jesus' power to heal leaves them afraid rather than grateful or worshipful (Luke 9:53; 10:10-11).

8:38 begged to come along: See Luke 9:57, 61; 18:43.

8:39 tell the story... proclaiming: The man becomes a witness to his community (Luke 9:2; 10:1).

8:40 crowd: See Luke 8:4, 19.

8:41 synagogue leader: head of the group of people who

As Jesus moved forward, he faced smothering crowds. <sup>43</sup>A woman was there who had been bleeding for twelve years. She had spent her entire livelihood on doctors, but no one could heal her. <sup>44</sup>She came up behind him and touched the hem of his clothes, and at once her bleeding stopped.

<sup>45</sup>“Who touched me?” Jesus asked.

When everyone denied it, Peter said, “Master, the crowds are surrounding you and pressing in on you!”

<sup>46</sup>But Jesus said, “Someone touched me. I know that power has gone out from me.”

<sup>47</sup>When the woman saw that she couldn’t escape notice, she came trembling and fell before Jesus. In front of everyone, she explained why she had touched him and how she had been immediately healed.

<sup>49</sup>While Jesus was still speaking, someone came from the synagogue leader’s house, saying to Jairus, “Your daughter has died. Don’t bother the teacher any longer.”

<sup>51</sup>When he came to the house, he didn’t allow anyone to enter with him except Peter, John, and James, and the child’s father and mother. <sup>52</sup>They were all crying and mourning for her, but Jesus said, “Don’t cry. She isn’t dead. She’s only sleeping.”

The Twelve sent out

9 Jesus called the Twelve together and he gave them power and authority over all demons and to heal sicknesses. <sup>2</sup>He sent them out to proclaim God’s kingdom and to heal the sick. <sup>3</sup>He told them, “Take nothing for the journey—no walking stick, no bag, no bread, no money, not even an extra shirt. <sup>4</sup>Whatever house you enter, remain there until you leave that place. <sup>5</sup>Wherever they don’t welcome you, as you leave that city, shake the dust off your feet as a witness against them.” <sup>6</sup>They departed and went through the villages proclaiming the good news and healing people everywhere.

Herod’s confusion

<sup>7</sup>Herod the ruler<sup>a</sup> heard about everything that was happening. He was confused because some people were saying that John had been raised from the dead, <sup>8</sup>others that Elijah had manage the local synagogue. He’s a respected community leader. fell at Jesus’ feet: a posture for submission and for asking a favor from someone who owes you nothing (Luke 5:12). come to his house: See Luke 7:3-5, 6-8.

8:43 bleeding for twelve years: Luke focuses on her helplessness. Even though she has spent all she’s owned on seeking a cure, she hasn’t found healing.

8:44 came up behind him: In contrast to Jairus, she acts rather than asks for help (Luke 5:18-19; 7:38).

8:45 everyone denied: Although the whole crowd is pressing on Jesus, at first nobody admits to seeking healing.

8:46 power has gone out: See Luke 4:14; 5:17; 6:19.

8:48 Daughter: Jesus’ family is made up of those who do God’s will (Luke 8:21; 18:29-30). your faith has healed you: The verb translated here as “healed” is translated as “saved” in Luke 7:50.

8:52 only sleeping: She is dead (see Luke 8:55) but will soon be raised.

8:53 They laughed: The parents and the three apostles doubt his judgment.

8:54 “Child, get up”: See Luke 7:14.

8:55 something to eat: proving she’s truly alive, not just a ghost (see Luke 24:41-43).

8:56 tell no one: See Luke 5:14. Jesus doesn’t want to be treated like a local healer (Luke 4:42-43).

9:1-6 See Luke 10:1-16.

9:1 The Twelve: See Luke 6:12-16. he gave them power: Jesus’ power comes from the Spirit’s presence (Luke 4:14, 18-19), and he assigns the same power to his disciples.

9:2 proclaim God’s kingdom: as Jesus does (Luke 4:19, 43).

9:3 Take nothing: The apostles must rely on God and on the kindness of strangers. no walking stick: unarmed and harmless. no bag: no way to carry supplies. extra shirt: no extra clothes, so shelter will be needed.

9:4 Whatever house: rich or poor hosts.

9:5 shake the dust: means either “We’re taking none of your stuff, not even your dirt with us,” or “Come Judgment Day, this is all that will be left of you.”

9:6 healing: The Twelve are successful, as Jesus has been (Luke 10:17; but see Luke 9:40, 49-50).

9:7 Herod: Herod Antipas, tetrarch of Galilee (Luke 3:1). raised from the dead: Jesus’ powerful preaching reminds some of John’s (see Luke 9:19).

9:8 Elijah: Malachi 3:1; 4:5-6 predict Elijah’s return just before Judgment Day.

appeared, and still others that one of the ancient prophets had come back to life. <sup>9</sup>Herod said, "I beheaded John, so now who am I hearing about?" Herod wanted to see him.

Jesus feeds the five thousand

<sup>10</sup>When the apostles returned, they described for Jesus what they had done. Taking them with him, Jesus withdrew privately to a city called Bethsaida. <sup>11</sup>When the crowds figured it out, they followed him. He welcomed them, spoke to them about God's kingdom, and healed those who were sick.

<sup>12</sup>When the day was almost over, the Twelve came to him and said, "Send the crowd away so that they can go to the nearby villages and countryside and find lodging and food, because we are in a deserted place."

But they said, "We have no more than five loaves of bread and two fish—unless we go and buy food for all these people." <sup>14</sup>(They said this because about five thousand men were present.)

Jesus said to his disciples, "Seat them in groups of about fifty." <sup>15</sup>They did so, and everyone was seated. <sup>16</sup>He took the five loaves and the two fish, looked up to heaven, blessed them, and broke them and gave them to the disciples to set before the crowd. <sup>17</sup>Everyone ate until they were full, and the disciples filled twelve baskets with the leftovers.

Following Christ

<sup>18</sup>Once when Jesus was praying by himself, the disciples joined him, and he asked them, "Who do the crowds say that I am?"

<sup>19</sup>They answered, "John the Baptist, others Elijah, and still others that one of the ancient prophets has come back to life."

<sup>20</sup>He asked them, "And what about you? Who do you say that I am?"

Peter answered, "The Christ sent from God."

<sup>21</sup>Jesus gave them strict orders not to tell this to anyone. <sup>22</sup>He said, "The Human One<sup>v</sup> must suffer many things and be rejected—by the elders, chief priests, and the legal experts—and be killed and be raised on the third day."

9:9 I beheaded John: Antipas is a cold-blooded murderer, so his wish to see Jesus indicates danger.

9:10 Jesus withdrew privately: This time Jesus takes the Twelve with him on retreat (see Luke 4:42; 5:16). Bethsaida: a small fishing village on the northeast end of the Sea of Galilee.

9:11 they followed . . . He welcomed: Even though he wants to be alone, Jesus is a good host to his unexpected guests. spoke . . . healed: as he commissioned the Twelve to do (Luke 9:1-2).

9:12 Send the crowd away: Unlike Jesus, the Twelve don't want to show hospitality to these people (Luke 9:5, 53). deserted place: The Twelve exaggerate; they're close to Bethsaida (Luke 9:10).

9:13 give them something: The Twelve have been accepting hospitality (Luke 8:3; 9:4), so surely they can share what they have. five loaves of bread and two fish: small rounds of flatbread and salted or pickled fish, a small meal or snack. buy food: Jesus knows they carry no cash (Luke 9:3); they're being sarcastic.

9:14 groups of about fifty: about 100 groups, each the size of a typical house church.

9:15 seated: or "reclined to eat" (see Luke 7:36). Jesus is hosting a banquet.

9:16 looked up: Normal posture for prayer was with upraised face and hands. blessed . . . and broke . . . and gave: a typical Jewish practice to begin a meal.

9:17 full: See Luke 1:53; 6:21. twelve baskets: Each apostle ends with more than he gave away (Luke 6:38).

9:18 praying by himself: See Luke 4:42; 5:16; 9:28; 11:1. joined him: They come to where he is. the crowds: The people are repeating the popular reports mentioned in Luke 9:7-8.

9:20 Who do you say: The Twelve have followed him (Luke 5:11) and preached his message (Luke 9:6), but readers have not yet heard who the Twelve understand Jesus to be. "The Christ sent from God": the one whom God sends as Israel's Savior (Luke 1:32, 69; 2:11, 26). Peter's claim is correct but incomplete, as the next few verses demonstrate.

9:21 not to tell: Jesus commands the Twelve to preach God's kingdom (Luke 9:2), but he doesn't want them to spread the word that he is going to set Israel free.

9:22 The Human One: See sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5. the elders: male heads of Jewish extended families in Jerusalem who exercised some local governmental authority over the Jewish population of Jerusalem. chief priests: heads of priestly family groups, serving as advisors to the high priest and exercising authority over the Jerusalem temple. legal experts: secretaries and legal advisors to the elders and chief priests. Later in the Gospel these three groups confront Jesus (Luke 20:1); begin to plot his arrest (Luke 22:2); and interrogate him (Luke 22:66), ultimately deciding to turn him over to Pilate.

<sup>23</sup>Jesus said to everyone, "All who want to come after me must say no to themselves, take up their cross daily, and follow me. <sup>24</sup>All who want to save their lives will lose them. But all who lose their lives because of me will save them. <sup>25</sup>What advantage do people have if they gain the whole world for themselves yet perish or lose their lives? <sup>26</sup>Whoever is ashamed of me and my words, the Human One<sup>m</sup> will be ashamed of that person when he comes in his glory and in the glory of the Father and of the holy angels. <sup>27</sup>I assure you that some standing here won't die before they see God's kingdom."

Jesus transformed

<sup>28</sup>About eight days after Jesus said these things, he took Peter, John, and James, and went up on a mountain to pray. <sup>29</sup>As he was praying, the appearance of his face changed and his clothes flashed white like lightning. <sup>30</sup>Two men, Moses and Elijah, were talking with him. <sup>31</sup>They were clothed with heavenly splendor and spoke about Jesus' departure, which he would achieve in Jerusalem. <sup>32</sup>Peter and those with him were almost overcome by sleep, but they managed to stay awake and saw his glory as well as the two men with him.

<sup>33</sup>As the two men were about to leave Jesus, Peter said to him, "Master, it's good that we're here. We should construct three shrines: one for you, one for Moses, and one for Elijah"—but he didn't know what he was saying. <sup>34</sup>Peter was still speaking when a cloud overshadowed them. As they entered the cloud, they were overcome with awe.

<sup>35</sup>Then a voice from the cloud said, "This is my Son, my chosen one. Listen to him!" <sup>36</sup>Even as the voice spoke, Jesus was found alone. They were speechless and at the time told no one what they had seen.

Jesus heals a boy

<sup>41</sup>Jesus answered, "You faithless and crooked generation, how long will I be with you and put up with you? Bring your son here." <sup>42</sup>While he was coming, the demon threw him down and shook him violently. Jesus spoke harshly to the unclean spirit, healed the child, and gave him back to his father. <sup>43</sup>Everyone was overwhelmed by God's greatness.

9:23 to come after me: or "Follow me to Jerusalem" (see Luke 9:51) and "become my disciple." say no to themselves: to deny one's own desires in order to serve God. take up their cross daily: Jesus' crucifixion is an example of the sacrifices one is called to make in order to follow Jesus.

9:24 who want to save their lives: those who hesitate to make the sacrifices necessary to follow Jesus (Luke 9:57-62). all who lose their lives because of me: Examples are those who leave homes, families, and jobs (Luke 18:28-30); those who give away their possessions (Luke 19:8; 21:4); and those who die (Acts 7:60; 12:2).

9:26 Whoever is ashamed: In Luke's time Christians were often perceived as being ignorant, naive, immoral, and antisocial and were harassed for it. Being publicly identified as a Christian was shameful and potentially dangerous.

9:27 won't die before they see God's kingdom: Some early Christians believed Jesus would return before all his original apostles had died (e.g., Mark 13:30; John 21:22-23). In the next episode Luke shows how Peter, James, and John see a brief glimpse of Jesus as he will be in God's kingdom (Luke 9:28-36).

9:28 went up on a mountain to pray: See Luke 6:12.

9:29 his face changed: as happened to Moses when he spoke with God on Mount Sinai (Exod 34:29). flashed white like lightning: like the clothes angels wear (Luke 24:4).

9:30 Moses and Elijah: the Law-giver and the most famous prophet. Elijah was to return prior to Judgment Day (Mal

4:5-6); and both men were taken to God in mysterious ways (Deut 34:6; 2 Kgs 2:1-11).

9:31 Jesus' departure: or his "exodus." Jesus' crucifixion, which he has just predicted to the disciples (Luke 9:22).

9:32 almost overcome by sleep: Drowsiness is a way of talking about how people allow concern for ordinary things to distract them from expecting Jesus' return (Luke 12:38; 21:34-36; see Luke 22:45-46).

9:33 construct three shrines: Jesus is headed for Jerusalem, so Peter's desire to stay at the spot of revelation is misplaced.

9:34-35 The cloud and the voice indicate God's presence (Luke 3:21-22; Exod 14:19-20; 19:16-20).

9:39 seizes him: The unclean spirit causes violent seizures.

9:40 couldn't: Jesus has given the Twelve power to cast out demons (Luke 9:1), but they aren't able to help because they weren't willing to show hospitality to others (see Luke 9:12-13).

9:41 faithless and crooked generation: Jesus seems to refer to the disciples. Their lack of faith prevents them from healing, while crooked implies they aren't yet truly committed to Jesus. how long: not very, as indicated in Luke 9:22, 31, 44.

9:42 spoke harshly: Jesus' normal address to demons (Luke 4:35, 39).

9:43 overwhelmed: This is a positive response but not the same as faith.

Jesus warns about his arrest

While everyone was marveling at everything he was doing, Jesus said to his disciples, 44“Take these words to heart: the Human One<sup>a</sup> is about to be delivered into human hands.” 45They didn’t understand this statement. Its meaning was hidden from them so they couldn’t grasp it. And they were afraid to ask him about it.

Jesus corrects the disciples

46An argument arose among the disciples about which of them was the greatest. 47Aware of their deepest thoughts, Jesus took a little child and had the child stand beside him. 48Jesus said to his disciples, “Whoever welcomes this child in my name welcomes me. Whoever welcomes me, welcomes the one who sent me. Whoever is least among you all is the greatest.”

49John replied, “Master, we saw someone throwing demons out in your name, and we tried to stop him because he isn’t in our group of followers.”

50But Jesus replied, “Don’t stop him, because whoever isn’t against you is for you.”

Jesus sets out for Jerusalem

51As the time approached when Jesus was to be taken up into heaven, he determined to go to Jerusalem. 52He sent messengers on ahead of him. Along the way, they entered a Samaritan village to prepare for his arrival, 53but the Samaritan villagers refused to welcome him because he was determined to go to Jerusalem. 54When the disciples James and John saw this, they said, “Lord, do you want us to call fire down from heaven to consume them?” 55But Jesus turned and spoke sternly to them, 56and they went on to another village.

Following Jesus

57As Jesus and his disciples traveled along the road, someone said to him, “I will follow you wherever you go.”

58Jesus replied, “Foxes have dens and the birds in the sky have nests, but the Human One<sup>a</sup> has no place to lay his head.”

59Then Jesus said to someone else, “Follow me.”

He replied, “Lord, first let me go and bury my father.”

60Jesus said to him, “Let the dead bury their own dead. But you go and spread the news of God’s kingdom.”

61Someone else said to Jesus, “I will follow you, Lord, but first let me say good-bye to those in my house.”

9:45 hidden: The disciples aren’t able to understand, partly because they don’t ask and partly because they can’t completely understand until the risen Christ enables them to (Luke 24:45).

9:46 the greatest: the first of three failures by the disciples (Luke 9:50, 54). The disciples begin to quarrel over who will have the most power.

9:47 Aware of their deepest thoughts: See Luke 2:35; 5:22. took a little child: Jesus’ followers include women (Luke 8:2-3) and therefore probably children.

9:48 Whoever welcomes: All who follow Jesus, including children, should be treated as if they are Christ. Status among Jesus’ followers is meaningless. Whoever is least: If the least is equal to the greatest, then there are no differences of status (Luke 22:24-27).

9:50 The disciples’ second failure. They think they’re the only ones who follow Jesus. They can’t cast out demons (Luke 9:40), but they try to stop others who can. whoever . . . for you: or “Widen your definition of ‘partner.’” For the saying in reverse, see Luke 11:23.

9:51-55 From here until Luke 19:29, Jesus is on his way to Jerusalem. Most of his teachings in Luke take place as he travels toward the cross.

9:52 Samaritan village: Samaria was the area just south of Galilee. The Samaritans worshipped God, but their temple was on Mount Gerizim. They and the Jews considered each other separate ethnic groups and often treated each other with hostility.

9:53 refused to welcome him: are unwilling to offer him food and temporary lodging. because he was determined: The Samaritans aren’t interested in a message that’s going to their longtime enemies.

9:54 do you want us to call fire down: the disciples’ third failure. They think Jesus might want revenge for being insulted. Elijah calls fire down more than once (1 Kgs 18:36-38; 2 Kgs 1:10-12), but Jesus had instructed the disciples to walk away from audiences who didn’t show hospitality (Luke 9:5).

9:57-62 See Matthew 8:18-22. Three who want to follow but can’t (see Luke 3:10-14).

9:57 I will follow: The first volunteers, but Jesus reminds him that following him means giving up his home.

9:58 the Human One: See sidebar, “The Human One in Luke” at Luke 5.

9:60 Let the dead bury their own dead: Jesus uses shocking, offensive language to say that if the man is serious about following him, he must abandon his father and come immediately.

9:61 let me say good-bye: The third person hasn’t yet really

<sup>62</sup>Jesus said to him, "No one who puts a hand on the plow and looks back is fit for God's kingdom."

Seventy-two sent out

10 After these things, the Lord commissioned seventy-two others and sent them on ahead in pairs to every city and place he was about to go. <sup>2</sup>He said to them, "The harvest is bigger than you can imagine, but there are few workers. Therefore, plead with the Lord of the harvest to send out workers for his harvest. <sup>3</sup>Go! Be warned, though, that I'm sending you out as lambs among wolves. <sup>4</sup>Carry no wallet, no bag, and no sandals. Don't even greet anyone along the way. <sup>5</sup>Whenever you enter a house, first say, 'May peace be on this house.' <sup>6</sup>If anyone there shares God's peace, then your peace will rest on that person. If not, your blessing will return to you. <sup>7</sup>Remain in this house, eating and drinking whatever they set before you, for workers deserve their pay. Don't move from house to house. <sup>8</sup>Whenever you enter a city and its people welcome you, eat what they set before you. <sup>9</sup>Heal the sick who are there, and say to them, 'God's kingdom has come upon you.' <sup>10</sup>Whenever you enter a city and the people don't welcome you, go out into the streets and say, <sup>11</sup>'As a complaint against you, we brush off the dust of your city that has collected on our feet. But know this: God's kingdom has come to you.' <sup>12</sup>I assure you that Sodom will be better off on Judgment Day than that city.

Judgment against cities that reject Jesus

<sup>13</sup>How terrible it will be for you, Chorazin. How terrible it will be for you, Bethsaida. If the miracles done among you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have changed their hearts and lives long ago. They would have sat around in funeral clothes and ashes. <sup>14</sup>But Tyre and Sidon will be better off at the judgment than you. <sup>15</sup>And you, Capernaum, will you be honored by being raised up to heaven? No, you will be cast down to the place of the dead. <sup>16</sup>Whoever listens to you listens to me. Whoever rejects you rejects me. Whoever rejects me rejects the one who sent me."

The seventy-two return

left home. Jesus says that someone with divided loyalties can't reach the kingdom.

10:1-24 Only Luke recounts the mission of the Seventy-two. It has parallels to the mission of the Twelve (see Luke 9:1-6; notes on 10:1).

10:1-12 Jesus is on his way to Jerusalem (Luke 9:51) but intends to visit villages throughout Galilee on the way. These pairs of followers, who include the apostles (Luke 8:1) and many women (Luke 8:2-3), are advance teams who prepare people for Jesus' coming.

10:1 seventy-two: According to Genesis 10 in the LXX, the number of the world's nations. Thus the mission of the Seventy-two anticipates the universal mission in the book of Acts. sent them on ahead: Compare the role of John the Baptist (Luke 1:17, 76; 7:27) and "the messengers" (Luke 9:51-52).

10:2 harvest is bigger: See Matthew 9:37-38; John 4:35. Many will reject the message, but the number who will respond is still great (see Luke 8:4-8).

10:3 lambs among wolves: Following Jesus can be dangerous, and his followers are expected to love and forgive those who are hostile to them (Luke 6:27-36).

10:4 no wallet, no bag: neither money nor a sack of food. no sandals: This might mean they travel in bare feet to show they're poor and of low status; it might mean they carry no extra clothes (see Luke 9:3), so that they must rely on others to provide them with shelter. Don't even greet anyone: Jesus' time is short, so his messengers cannot take time for normal courtesies (see Luke 9:41, 60).

10:5 Whenever... house: The messengers will be fed and housed temporarily by those to whom they preach. peace: "Peace to you!" was a typical greeting in Jesus' culture. In Luke peace is God's blessing for those who accept Jesus' message (Luke 1:79; 2:14; 24:36).

10:7 Remain: The messengers are to accept whatever level of hospitality they're offered from the poor (Luke 10:38-42) or the wealthy (Luke 19:1-10).

10:8 eat... before you: Shared meals show how God's kingdom has come (see note on Luke 5:29).

10:9 Heal... and say: The messengers heal and preach the kingdom, just as Jesus has done (Luke 7:21-22). They prepare for Jesus' coming by carrying out his mission to the people of Galilee.

10:10 don't welcome: If a village has nobody who wants to listen or provide hospitality to the messengers, then they should leave rather than engage in a debate (see sidebar, "1st-Century Dinner Parties" at Luke 7).

10:12 Sodom: The people of Sodom were destroyed for violent inhospitality to God's messengers (Gen 19:1-28).

10:13 Chorazin: a village just north of Capernaum, on the northwest side of the Sea of Galilee. Bethsaida: a village on the northeast shore of the Sea of Galilee (Luke 9:10; John 1:44; 12:21). We don't know what miracles Jesus means. Tyre and Sidon: The city of Tyre was on the coast of Phoenicia, north of Galilee; Sidon was also on the coast, even farther north. These were Gentile cities.

10:15 Capernaum: It isn't clear why Capernaum is singled out for its rejection of Jesus' message (Luke 4:31; 7:1).

10:16 Whoever rejects: God sent Jesus, who sent the Seventy-two, so people who ignore Jesus' messengers invite divine judgment on themselves (Luke 9:48).

10:17-20 The Seventy-two enjoy great success (see Luke 9:6 and note; but see also Luke 9:40, 49).

<sup>18</sup>Jesus replied, "I saw Satan fall from heaven like lightning. <sup>19</sup>Look, I have given you authority to crush snakes and scorpions underfoot. I have given you authority over all the power of the enemy. Nothing will harm you. <sup>20</sup>Nevertheless, don't rejoice because the spirits submit to you. Rejoice instead that your names are written in heaven."

<sup>21</sup>At that very moment, Jesus overflowed with joy from the Holy Spirit and said, "I praise you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because you've hidden these things from the wise and intelligent and shown them to babies. Indeed, Father, this brings you happiness. <sup>22</sup>My Father has handed all things over to me. No one knows who the Son is except the Father, or who the Father is except the Son and anyone to whom the Son wants to reveal him." <sup>23</sup>Turning to the disciples, he said privately, "Happy are the eyes that see what you see. <sup>24</sup>I assure you that many prophets and kings wanted to see what you see and hear what you hear, but they didn't."

Loving your neighbor

<sup>25</sup>A legal expert stood up to test Jesus. "Teacher," he said, "what must I do to gain eternal life?"

<sup>27</sup>He responded, "You must love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your being, with all your strength, and with all your mind, and love your neighbor as yourself."<sup>a</sup>

<sup>28</sup>Jesus said to him, "You have answered correctly. Do this and you will live."

<sup>29</sup>But the legal expert wanted to prove that he was right, so he said to Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?"

<sup>30</sup>Jesus replied, "A man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho. He encountered thieves, who stripped him naked, beat him up, and left him near death. <sup>31</sup>Now it just so happened that a priest was also going down the same road. When he saw the injured man, he crossed over to the other side of the road and went on his way. <sup>32</sup>Likewise, a Levite came by that spot, saw the injured man, and crossed over to the other side of the road and went on his way. <sup>33</sup>A Samaritan, who was on a journey, came to where the man was. But when he saw him, he was moved with compassion. <sup>34</sup>The Samaritan went to him and bandaged his wounds, tending them with oil and wine. Then he placed the wounded man on his own donkey, took him to

10:18 I saw Satan fall: By casting out demons, the Seventy-two are overpowering Satan (see Luke 11:20-22). Jesus means the success of the Seventy-two has already been revealed to him by God.

10:19 authority to crush snakes and scorpions: images of evil things (Luke 11:11-12). Nothing will harm you: Since Jesus also predicts that some of his followers will be harassed and killed because of their faith (Luke 21:16), the promise probably means Jesus' followers will be protected from demonic attack (see Luke 21:18-19).

10:20 don't rejoice: There's no place for arrogance (Luke 9:54-55). Jesus instructs his followers to pray for God's deliverance from the powers of evil (Luke 11:4; 22:40, 46).

10:21 overflowed with joy from the Holy Spirit: Jesus has been conceived (Luke 1:35); filled and led (Luke 4:1); and empowered (Luke 4:14) by the Spirit of God. At this moment, seeing God's work done by his disciples, his prayer is joyful praise at sharing completely in God's purposes. hidden: Often the powerful do not accept the message (Luke 3:1; 9:6-9), but people who are humble and powerless like babies do (see the contrast illustrated in Luke 7:36-50).

10:22 handed all things over to me: Jesus is the Human One who exercises God's authority and will bring about God's will on Judgment Day (Luke 5:24; 9:26). No one knows who the Son is: Even the disciples don't yet completely understand Jesus (Luke 24:44-45).

10:24 prophets and kings: those in Israel's past who also hoped for God's kingdom and the Christ to come.

10:25 legal expert: He knows Moses' Law and how it's been understood and applied in the past. test: can also be translated as "tempt" gain eternal life: "What must I do to be certain to be rewarded with eternal life on Judgment Day?" The question may be hostile or genuinely curious.

10:27 You must love: The legal expert quotes Deuteronomy 6:5 and Leviticus 19:18.

10:29 prove that he was right: Jesus has already told him his answer is correct (Luke 10:28), but the legal expert wants to look more clever than Jesus. who is my neighbor: In Leviticus 19:18 "neighbor" means "fellow Israelite," but Leviticus 19:34 also requires loving immigrants. The legal expert wants to know whom he does not have to love as himself.

10:30 A man: The story assumes the man is Jewish. went down: Because of its importance, one always goes up to Jerusalem and down when leaving it.

10:31 a priest: He's leaving Jerusalem (going down), probably going home (see note on Luke 1:5). When he saw... he crossed over: The priest can see the man needs help; his temple duties are over, so he could have helped. No reason is given for why he doesn't.

10:32 a Levite: Levites assisted priests in the temple and were also the musicians. Like the priest, he refuses to help for unstated reasons.

10:33 Samaritan: Luke's readers knew Samaritans could be unfriendly to Jews and fail to show hospitality (see note on Luke 9:52). moved with compassion: The Samaritan imitates Jesus and God, giving the man first aid, taking him to a safe place, and continuing to tend his wounds (see Luke 6:36; 7:13).

an inn, and took care of him. <sup>35</sup>The next day, he took two full days' worth of wages and gave them to the innkeeper. He said, "Take care of him, and when I return, I will pay you back for any additional costs." <sup>36</sup>What do you think? Which one of these three was a neighbor to the man who encountered thieves?"

Jesus told him, "Go and do likewise."

Jesus visits Martha and Mary

<sup>38</sup>While Jesus and his disciples were traveling, Jesus entered a village where a woman named Martha welcomed him as a guest. <sup>39</sup>She had a sister named Mary, who sat at the Lord's feet and listened to his message. <sup>40</sup>By contrast, Martha was preoccupied with getting everything ready for their meal. So Martha came to him and said, "Lord, don't you care that my sister has left me to prepare the table all by myself? Tell her to help me."

Teaching the disciples to pray

11 Jesus was praying in a certain place. When he finished, one of his disciples said, "Lord, teach us to pray, just as John taught his disciples."

'Father, uphold the holiness of your name.

Bring in your kingdom.

for we also forgive everyone who has wronged us.

And don't lead us into temptation."

<sup>5</sup>He also said to them, "Imagine that one of you has a friend and you go to that friend in the middle of the night. Imagine saying, 'Friend, loan me three loaves of bread' because a friend of mine on a journey has arrived and I have nothing to set before him.' <sup>6</sup>Imagine further that he answers from within the house, 'Don't bother me. The door is already locked, and my children and I are in bed. I can't get up to give you anything.' <sup>7</sup>I assure you, even if he wouldn't get up and help because of his friendship, he will get up and give his friend

10:36 Which one... was a neighbor. This is the real question for Jesus' followers, not "Who is my neighbor?" but "Who behaved like a neighbor?"

10:38-42 This episode happens somewhere in Galilee, so these women shouldn't be confused with Mary and Martha, the sisters of Lazarus, who lived in Bethany (John 11:1).

10:38 Martha welcomed... guest: Martha offers Jesus a meal and temporary lodging in her house (Luke 10:5-9).

10:39 Mary... sat at the Lord's feet and listened: To "sit at someone's feet" meant to take instruction from them (e.g., Acts 22:3 can be translated as "I was raised in this city at Gamaliel's feet").

10:40 Martha was preoccupied: She's pulled in many directions by trying to serve Jesus a great meal. Hers is evidently a poor household, since she has no slaves to do the food preparation. Tell... help me: Martha assumes Jesus will agree that Mary should be helping to prepare his meal.

10:42 One thing: Jesus may mean both "I need only a simple meal" and "You need to listen to the gospel more than I need to eat." It won't be taken away from her: Jesus doesn't order Mary to leave behind her chosen role as disciple.

11:1 teach us to pray: These Jewish disciples know how to pray but want to learn how to pray as Jesus does. John taught his disciples: suggests John the Baptist had a distinctive manner of prayer.

11:2 Father: This is how Jesus addresses God in prayer (Luke 10:21; 22:42; 23:24, 46); his Father is theirs too (Luke 6:36; 11:13). uphold the holiness: A holy thing is set apart for God's use alone. God's name isn't to be misused (Exod 20:7). Since Jesus' followers bear God's name, we pray God will help us live in ways that bring honor to God. Bring in your kingdom: See note on Luke 4:43.

11:3 the bread we need for today: or "Day by day, give us enough bread for the day." Like Israel in the wilderness, Jesus' followers are to ask for enough for each day but no more (Exod 16:18).

11:4 everyone who has wronged us: or "everyone who is indebted to us." Jesus' followers are expected to forgive monetary debts (Luke 6:35) as well as insults and harassment (Luke 6:27-28; 17:4). don't lead us into temptation: Like Jesus, his followers should be led by the Spirit (Luke 4:1). Sometimes we're led into situations that test our ability to hold on to our faith (Luke 21:12-19). As Jesus did, we pray for God to lead us along easier paths, as long as we follow God's leadership, wherever that may take us (Luke 22:42).

11:6 I have nothing: It would be shameful to send a guest, even a surprise guest, to bed without a meal. The speaker and his family have no leftovers from their supper, so he's counting on his neighbor to lend him bread.

11:7 Don't bother me: It would be equally shameful to refuse a request like this. Jesus' audience knows they would never say this.

11:8 brashness: or "shamelessness." The man knocking on the door bears no shame since he wasn't expecting his guest; but if the man in bed has bread and won't share it, he'll be ashamed to show his face in the village.

Controversy over Beelzebul

<sup>14</sup>Jesus was throwing out a demon that causes muteness. When the demon was gone, the man who couldn't speak began to talk. The crowds were amazed. <sup>15</sup>But some of them said, "He throws out demons with the authority of Beelzebul, the ruler of demons." <sup>16</sup>Others were testing him, seeking a sign from heaven.

<sup>17</sup>Because Jesus knew what they were thinking, he said to them, "Every kingdom involved in civil war becomes a wasteland, and a house torn apart by divisions will collapse. <sup>18</sup>If Satan is at war with himself, how will his kingdom endure? I ask this because you say that I throw out demons by the authority of Beelzebul. <sup>19</sup>If I throw out demons by the authority of Beelzebul, then by whose authority do your followers throw them out? Therefore, they will be your judges. <sup>20</sup>But if I throw out demons by the power<sup>a</sup> of God, then God's kingdom has already overtaken you. <sup>21</sup>When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own palace, his possessions are secure. <sup>22</sup>But as soon as a stronger one attacks and overpowers him, the stronger one takes away the armor he had trusted and divides the stolen goods.

On seeking signs

<sup>27</sup>While Jesus was saying these things, a certain woman in the crowd spoke up: "Happy is the mother who gave birth to you and who nursed you."

<sup>29</sup>When the crowds grew, Jesus said, "This generation is an evil generation. It looks for a sign, but no sign will be given to it except Jonah's sign. <sup>30</sup>Just as Jonah became a sign to the

11:9 Ask... Seek... Knock: Jesus' followers should ask God for what they need, since God is far more generous than even the best neighbor.

11:10 receives... finds... is opened: God will provide, perhaps through the kindness of others.

11:11-12 snake... scorpion: dangerous creatures and symbols of evil (Luke 10:19).

11:13 the Holy Spirit: a promise Jesus repeats in Luke 24:49 and fulfills in Acts 2:1-4.

11:15 Beelzebul: a chief demon, or Satan. The name means "lord of the flies" and was the name of a Philistine deity (2 Kgs 1:3).

11:16 testing: See Luke 10:25; 11:54.

11:17 knew what they were thinking: See Luke 2:35; 5:22; 6:8.

11:19 your followers: Jesus knows of other Jews who can expel demons. Are they also possessed by Satan?

11:20 God's kingdom: See note on Luke 4:43. overtaken you: Jesus has taught his disciples to pray for God's kingdom to arrive (Luke 11:2), but his power over demons also demonstrates how the power of God's kingdom is available to his disciples.

11:21-22 The strong man is Satan, and the stronger one is Jesus.

11:23 Whoever... against me: See Luke 9:50; Matthew 12:30.

11:24 unclean spirit: This passage appears to be a warning: there may be others who can cast out demons (Luke 11:19), but only Jesus, the "stronger one" (Luke 11:22) who introduces and reveals God's kingdom, can undo Satan's power permanently. dry places: Demons were believed to live in the desert (Lev 16:8-10; but see Luke 8:31).

11:26 seven other spirits: Jesus can cast out any number of spirits (Luke 8:2, 30).

11:27-28 The woman is correct, because Mary is a happy recipient of God's favor (Luke 1:28, 42), but Jesus knows Mary's true happiness comes from hearing and doing God's word (Luke 1:38; 8:21).

11:29 This generation: In this section of Luke, the crowds react less positively to Jesus. Some are amazed, but others accuse him of gaining his power from Satan, and still others want him to do a miracle that proves who he is (Luke 11:14-16). Satan has also tried to get Jesus to prove his identity (Luke 4:3, 9-10), and so those who seek a sign have been tempted and trapped by evil. Jonah's sign: Jonah warned Nineveh of God's coming judgment (Jon 3:4), and they believed.

people of Nineveh, so the Human One<sup>b</sup> will be a sign to this generation. <sup>31</sup>The queen of the South will rise up at the judgment with the people of this generation and condemn them, because she came from a distant land to hear Solomon's wisdom. And look, someone greater than Solomon is here. <sup>32</sup>The people of Nineveh will rise up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, because they changed their hearts and lives in response to Jonah's preaching—and one greater than Jonah is here.

<sup>33</sup>"People don't light a lamp and then put it in a closet or under a basket. Rather, they place the lamp on a lampstand so that those who enter the house can see the light. <sup>34</sup>Your eye is the lamp of your body. When your eye is healthy, your whole body is full of light. But when your eye is bad, your whole body is full of darkness. <sup>35</sup>Therefore, see to it that the light in you isn't darkness. <sup>36</sup>If your whole body is full of light—with no part darkened—then it will be as full of light as when a lamp shines brightly on you."

Jesus condemns Pharisees and legal experts

<sup>37</sup>While Jesus was speaking, a Pharisee invited him to share a meal with him, so Jesus went and took his place at the table. <sup>38</sup>When the Pharisee saw that Jesus didn't ritually purify his hands by washing before the meal, he was astonished.

<sup>39</sup>The Lord said to him, "Now, you Pharisees clean the outside of the cup and platter, but your insides are stuffed with greed and wickedness. <sup>40</sup>Foolish people! Didn't the one who made the outside also make the inside? <sup>41</sup>Therefore, give to those in need from the core of who you are and you will be clean all over.

<sup>42</sup>"How terrible for you Pharisees! You give a tenth of your mint, rue, and garden herbs of all kinds, while neglecting justice and love for God. These you ought to have done without neglecting the others.

<sup>46</sup>Jesus said, "How terrible for you legal experts too! You load people down with impossible burdens and you refuse to lift a single finger to help them.

<sup>47</sup>"How terrible for you! You built memorials to the prophets, whom your ancestors killed. <sup>48</sup>In this way, you testify that you approve of your ancestors' deeds. They killed the prophets, and you build memorials! <sup>49</sup>Therefore, God's wisdom has said, 'I will send prophets and 11:31 queen of the South: See 1 Kings 10:1-13.

 11:32 changed their hearts: See Jonah 3:5-10.
 11:33 lamp: See Luke 8:16 and note; Matthew 5:15. Jesus is doing his miracles openly so that all can see the works of God.
 11:34 Your eye is the lamp: Many ancient people believed that light went out from the eyes rather than coming into them. The crowds who believe Jesus to be possessed by demons, or who are asking for more miracles, have bad or evil eyes; that is, they see Jesus incorrectly and consequently are full of darkness.
 11:35 the light in you: The crowds have seen Jesus do God's works but refuse to believe.
 11:37-54 The second time Jesus dines with Pharisees (see Luke 7:36-50; 14:1-24; Matt 23:6-36).
 11:37 took his place: or "reclined to eat." See sidebar, "1st-Century Dinner Parties" at Luke 7.
 11:38 didn't ritually purify his hands by washing: or "didn't bathe." Either Jesus hasn't bathed before dinner, as was customary, or he hasn't observed the Pharaic custom of ritually purifying his hands before eating. Earlier Simon the Pharisee refused Jesus water for his feet (Luke 7:44), but in this episode Jesus decides to do without some expected form of washing. astonished: In Luke, Pharisees can be influential (Luke 11:43), and Jesus' host is surprised Jesus doesn't show more respect.

 11:39 outside...insides: Jesus accuses his host and his host's companions of being too focused on external things.
 11:41 give: Like the rich man in Luke 18:22-23, the money-loving Pharisees (Luke 16:14) need to change their hearts by giving to the poor.
 11:42 You give a tenth: no substitute for justice and love for God (Luke 10:27).
 11:43 most prominent seats: See Matthew 23:6-7; see sidebar "The Synagogues" at Luke 20.
 11:44 unmarked graves: Graves were marked to prevent unintentional contact with the dead. Touching a corpse made a person unclean (Num 19:11-22).
 11:45 legal experts: Some of the other dinner guests work as advisors or secretaries to the Pharisees.
 11:47 You built memorials: This passage assumes prophets are always killed by their audiences (Luke 4:24, 28-30; 13:33-34). The legal experts set up monuments but won't change their lives when the prophets warn them (Luke 7:30).
 11:49 God's wisdom: Jesus, speaking for God, predicts his apostles to them and they will harass and kill some of them.<sup>50</sup> As a result, this generation will be charged with the murder of all the prophets since the beginning of time.<sup>51</sup> This includes the murder of every prophet—from Abel to Zechariah—who was killed between the altar and the holy place. Yes, I'm telling you, this generation will be charged with it.

<sup>52</sup> "How terrible for you legal experts! You snatched away the key of knowledge. You didn't enter yourselves, and you stood in the way of those who were entering."

<sup>53</sup> As he left there, the legal experts and Pharisees began to resent him deeply and to ask him pointed questions about many things.<sup>54</sup> They plotted against him, trying to trap him in his words.

Warnings to Jesus' friends

12 When a crowd of thousands upon thousands had gathered so that they were crushing each other, Jesus began to speak first to his disciples: "Watch out for the yeast of the Pharisees—I mean, the mismatch between their hearts and lives.<sup>2</sup> Nothing is hidden that won't be revealed, and nothing is secret that won't be brought out into the open.<sup>3</sup> Therefore, whatever you have said in the darkness will be heard in the light, and whatever you have whispered in the rooms deep inside the house will be announced from the rooftops.

<sup>4</sup> "I tell you, my friends, don't be terrified by those who can kill the body but after that can do nothing more.<sup>5</sup> I'll show you whom you should fear: fear the one who, after you have been killed, has the authority to throw you into hell. Indeed, I tell you, that's the one you should fear.<sup>6</sup> Aren't five sparrows sold for two small coins?<sup>c</sup> Yet not one of them is overlooked by God.<sup>7</sup> Even the hairs on your head are all counted. Don't be afraid. You are worth more than many sparrows.

Warning against greed

death and the deaths of prophets and apostles who will come in his name (Luke 12:11-12; 21:12-16). See note on Luke 7:35.

11:51 Abel: See Genesis 4:8. Zechariah: See 2 Chronicles 24:20-22. this generation: the Pharisees and the legal experts who refused to listen to John the Baptist or to Jesus (Luke 7:31-35).

11:52 You didn't enter: See Luke 7:30. you stood in the way: See Luke 5:21, 30; 7:39, 49; 11:53-54.

11:54 They plotted against him: The Pharisees want to harm the reputation of Jesus publicly, but they do him no physical harm (see Mark 3:6). In fact, in Luke 13:31 the Pharisees warn Jesus of danger. The plot that gets Jesus killed involves no Pharisees (Luke 19:47).

12:1 thousands upon thousands: not Jesus' true followers (Luke 11:15-16; 12:13). the yeast: or "the leaven," a clump of wet bread dough left out to start to sour. Cooks would mix a lump of sourdough, or leaven, into new dough to make it rise. Leaven is almost always an image for moral corruption. the mismatch: The Pharisees were respected teachers (Luke 11:43) but obstacles to Jesus' mission (Luke 11:53-54).

12:2 revealed: God will reveal the true character of the Pharisees (Luke 8:17).

12:4 those who can kill the body: For many of Luke's early readers this would mean civil authorities, who might kill the followers of Jesus for their faith.

12:5 authority to throw you into hell: Jesus, on Judgment Day (see Luke 12:8-9).

12:6 five sparrows sold for two small coins: fast food in the 1st century, sold cooked at food stalls in cities. If God keeps an account of sparrows, then surely God keeps an eye on you.

12:8 acknowledges me before humans: as Peter fails to do (Luke 22:54-62). Some of Luke's early readers were offered a choice: Curse Christ and live, or refuse to do so and be killed. the Human One: See sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5.

12:10 insults the Holy Spirit: by calling the work of God the work of the devil (Luke 11:15).

12:11 don't worry: Jesus promises his followers that if they must face harassment and death because of their faith, the Spirit that has guided him will also guide and empower them in their moment of trial.

12:13 Someone from the crowd wants Jesus to settle an inheritance dispute. Jesus responds that it isn't his job and then tells the parable to teach a better attitude toward property.

Masters, Managers, and Servants The master, or “homeowner” (Luke 12:39), was the male head of the household who owned the slaves (translated as “servants” throughout Luke) and owned or employed stewards (managers) to oversee the slaves. In the 1st century CE, slaves did all sorts of work, from farming to household chores (Luke 17:7-8) to guarding the house (Luke 12:36). They were property, not persons, and so they could be whipped or killed as their owner saw fit (Luke 12:45). Managers were sometimes slaves (Luke 12:42-43) and sometimes employees (Luke 16:3), and they were often given considerable authority to act on the master’s behalf (Luke 16:5-7; 19:13). Most became slaves either because they were on the losing side of a war against the Romans or because their mothers were slaves. It’s estimated that slaves made up as much as 60 percent of the workforce in some parts of the empire during the 1st century.

<sup>14</sup>Jesus said to him, “Man, who appointed me as judge or referee between you and your brother?”

<sup>15</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “Watch out! Guard yourself against all kinds of greed. After all, one’s life isn’t determined by one’s possessions, even when someone is very wealthy.”

<sup>16</sup>Then he told them a parable: “A certain rich man’s land produced a bountiful crop. <sup>17</sup>He said to himself, ‘What will I do? I have no place to store my harvest!’ <sup>18</sup>Then he thought, ‘Here’s what I’ll do. I’ll tear down my barns and build bigger ones. That’s where I’ll store all my grain and goods. <sup>19</sup>I’ll say to myself, ‘You have stored up plenty of goods, enough for several years. Take it easy! Eat, drink, and enjoy yourself. <sup>20</sup>But God said to him, ‘Fool, tonight you will die. Now who will get the things you have prepared for yourself?’ <sup>21</sup>This is the way it will be for those who hoard things for themselves and aren’t rich toward God.”

Warning about worry

<sup>22</sup>Then Jesus said to his disciples, “Therefore, I say to you, don’t worry about your life, what you will eat, or about your body, what you will wear. <sup>23</sup>There is more to life than food and more to the body than clothing. <sup>24</sup>Consider the ravens: they neither plant nor harvest, they have no silo or barn, yet God feeds them. You are worth so much more than birds! <sup>25</sup>Who among you by worrying can add a single moment to your life?<sup>f</sup> <sup>26</sup>If you can’t do such a small thing, why worry about the rest? <sup>27</sup>Notice how the lilies grow. They don’t wear themselves out with work, and they don’t spin cloth. But I say to you that even Solomon in all his splendor wasn’t dressed like one of these. <sup>28</sup>If God dresses grass in the field so beautifully, even though it’s alive today and tomorrow it’s thrown into the furnace, how much more will God do for you, you people of weak faith! <sup>29</sup>Don’t chase after what you will eat and what you will drink. Stop worrying. <sup>30</sup>All the nations of the world long for these things. Your Father knows that you need them. <sup>31</sup>Instead, desire his kingdom and these things will be given to you as well.

<sup>32</sup>“Don’t be afraid, little flock, because your Father delights in giving you the kingdom. <sup>33</sup>Sell your possessions and give to those in need. Make for yourselves wallets that don’t 12:16 rich man’s land: produces a surplus he can’t possibly eat. He stores it so he can sell it later, when there’s less grain available and the price goes up. It’s legal but greedy behavior.

12:19 to myself: He speaks to himself, not to God.

12:20 Fool: God interrupts his rest to announce his death. who will get: See Ecclesiastes 2:18.

12:21 hoard things . . . rich toward God: Jesus’ advice is to give freely to the needy (Luke 6:38; 12:33). This shows one’s values line up with God’s.

12:22 don’t worry: Don’t be anxious, but instead ask God for what you need (Luke 11:3, 9-13).

12:24 ravens: forbidden as food for Jews (Lev 11:15). They fed the prophet Elijah during the drought (1 Kgs 17:6). worth so much more than birds: See Luke 12:7.

12:27 lilies: wildflowers that bloom in Galilee in the spring.

12:28 thrown into the furnace: Dried grasses, including wildflowers, were bundled and used for fuel in bread-making ovens in Galilean villages (Luke 3:17).

12:29-30 chase: The same verb is translated as “desire” in Luke 12:31. Jesus is contrasting life priorities: Choose God’s kingdom instead of food or clothing. nations: ethnic groups, rather than political units. Your Father: The Greek “Your” is plural. God, who is Jesus’ Father, is also Father of all Jesus’ followers.

12:31 desire: See note on Luke 12:29. his kingdom: See note on Luke 4:43.

12:32 little flock: Prophets sometimes compared God’s people to a flock of sheep and predicted God or God’s Christ would be like a good shepherd (Isa 40:11; Ezek 34:11-24; Mic 5:2-5a). giving you the kingdom: A kingdom is a surprising thing to give to a flock of sheep, but God’s kingdom involves no wealth or land (see Luke 6:20; 10:11; 11:20; 12:33; 22:29-30).

12:33 Sell your possessions and give: While Luke portrays wear out—a treasure in heaven that never runs out. No thief comes near there, and no moth destroys. <sup>34</sup>Where your treasure is, there your heart will be too.

Warning about being prepared

<sup>45</sup>But suppose that these servants should say to themselves, My master is taking his time about coming. And suppose they began to beat the servants, both men and women, and to eat, drink, and get drunk. <sup>46</sup>The master of those servants would come on a day when they weren't expecting him, at a time they couldn't predict. The master will cut them into pieces and assign them a place with the unfaithful. <sup>47</sup>That servant who knew his master's will but didn't prepare for it or act on it will be beaten severely. <sup>48</sup>The one who didn't know the master's will but who did things deserving punishment will be beaten only a little. Much will be demanded from everyone who has been given much, and from the one who has been entrusted with much, even more will be asked.

Conflicts brought by Jesus

<sup>49</sup>"I came to cast fire upon the earth. How I wish that it was already ablaze! <sup>50</sup>I have a baptism I must experience. How I am distressed until it's completed! <sup>51</sup>Do you think that I have come to bring peace to the earth? No, I tell you, I have come instead to bring division. <sup>52</sup>From now on, a household of five will be divided—three against two and two against three. <sup>53</sup>Father will square off against son and son against father; mother against daughter and daughter against mother; and mother-in-law against daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law."

many of Jesus' original followers doing this (Luke 18:28; Acts 4:32-37). Luke also describes Christians who own houses (Acts 12:12) or who work to support themselves (Acts 18:3). wallets... treasure: God won't forget your generous acts, and No thief or moth can damage them.

12:35-48 See Matthew 24:43-51; 25:1-13.

12:35 dressed for service: Slaves tucked the ends of their robes into their belts to get ready for hard work. See sidebar, "Masters, Managers, and Servants."

12:36 people waiting for their master: Household slaves waited up for their master, no matter how late he might be. wedding celebration: In Luke 5:34 Jesus was the groom and his disciples were guests at his wedding party (see Rev 19:7-9). Here he's the master and his disciples the slaves.

12:37 he will dress himself to serve: Normally, the slaves would serve the master (Luke 17:7-9; 22:27).

12:39-40 In this brief parable Jesus is the thief and each disciple a householder. See sidebar, "Masters, Managers, and Servants." the Human One: Jesus in his role on Judgment Day. See sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5. 12:42 managers: In this parable Jesus' disciples are slaves who are given responsibility for managing the work of the other household slaves. See sidebar, "Masters, Managers, and Servants." give them their food: Jesus expects his followers to help feed the hungry (Luke 9:13; 12:33; Acts 4:34-35).

12:44 put them in charge: See Luke 22:28-30.

12:45 taking his time: Early Christians wondered why Jesus had not already returned.

12:46 cut them into pieces: In the 1st century masters could order the severe beating or even crucifixion of disobedient slaves. Jesus is using this custom as an image for the punishment to be assigned on Judgment Day to disobedient disciples.

12:47-48 beaten severely: Punishments vary depending on how much the disciple knows; but none of Luke's readers who hear these parables could claim they didn't know the master's will.

12:49 I came to cast fire: John the Baptist predicted Jesus would baptize with fire (Luke 3:16), bringing God's judgment. Here the fire, a parallel to "baptism" in the next verse, symbolizes Jesus' mission. Like the prophet Elijah (1 Kgs 18:17; 21:20), Jesus creates disagreement.

12:50 baptism: See Mark 10:38, where "baptism" and "cup" are images of Jesus' crucifixion. How I am distressed: See Luke 22:42.

12:51 peace: Zechariah (Luke 1:79) and the angels (Luke 2:14) predicted Jesus would bring peace to some; and Jesus' disciples offer peace in their preaching (Luke 10:5-6). But since some reject Jesus' message, he also creates division, "the falling and rising of many" (Luke 2:34).

12:53 Father... against son: Traditional family bonds

Learning and practicing good judgment

<sup>54</sup>Jesus also said to the crowds, "When you see a cloud forming in the west, you immediately say, 'It's going to rain.' And indeed it does. <sup>55</sup>And when a south wind blows, you say, 'A heat wave is coming.' And it does. <sup>56</sup>Hypocrites! You know how to interpret conditions on earth and in the sky. How is it that you don't know how to interpret the present time? <sup>57</sup>And why don't you judge for yourselves what is right? <sup>58</sup>As you are going to court with your accuser, make your best effort to reach a settlement along the way. Otherwise, your accuser may bring you before the judge, and the judge hand you over to the officer, and the officer throw you into prison. <sup>59</sup>I tell you, you won't get out of there until you have paid the very last cent."

Demand for genuine change

13 Some who were present on that occasion told Jesus about the Galileans whom Pilate had killed while they were offering sacrifices. <sup>2</sup>He replied, "Do you think the suffering of these Galileans proves that they were more sinful than all the other Galileans? <sup>3</sup>No, I tell you, but unless you change your hearts and lives, you will die just as they did. <sup>4</sup>What about those eighteen people who were killed when the tower of Siloam fell on them? Do you think that they were more guilty of wrongdoing than everyone else who lives in Jerusalem? <sup>5</sup>No, I tell you, but unless you change your hearts and lives, you will die just as they did."

<sup>6</sup>Jesus told this parable: "A man owned a fig tree planted in his vineyard. He came looking for fruit on it and found none. <sup>7</sup>He said to his gardener, 'Look, I've come looking for fruit on this fig tree for the past three years, and I've never found any. Cut it down! Why should it continue depleting the soil's nutrients?' <sup>8</sup>The gardener responded, 'Lord, give it one more year, and I will dig around it and give it fertilizer. <sup>9</sup>Maybe it will produce fruit next year; if not, then you can cut it down.'"

Healing on a Sabbath

<sup>10</sup>Jesus was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath. <sup>11</sup>A woman was there who had been disabled by a spirit for eighteen years. She was bent over and couldn't stand up straight. <sup>12</sup>When he saw her, Jesus called her to him and said, "Woman, you are set free from your sickness." <sup>13</sup>He placed his hands on her and she straightened up at once and praised God.

<sup>14</sup>The synagogue leader, incensed that Jesus had healed on the Sabbath, responded, "There are six days during which work is permitted. Come and be healed on those days, not on the Sabbath day."

<sup>15</sup>The Lord replied, "Hypocrites! Don't each of you on the Sabbath untie your ox or donkey from its stall and lead it out to get a drink? <sup>16</sup>Then isn't it necessary that this woman, a daughter of Abraham, bound by Satan for eighteen long years, be set free from her bondage on the Sabbath day?" <sup>17</sup>When he said these things, all his opponents were put to shame, but all those in the crowd rejoiced at all the extraordinary things he was doing.

are being broken over different responses to Jesus (see Mic 7:6).

12:54 cloud . . . west: rain clouds from the Mediterranean.

12:55 south wind: a dry wind from the Arabian Desert to the south.

12:56 Hypocrites: Jesus accuses the crowds of dishonesty because they're refusing to believe him, despite his words and deeds.

12:57-59 A parable urging those who've rejected Jesus to change their minds before the judgment, when Jesus the Human One will hand them over to God the Judge. See sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5.

13:1 Galileans whom Pilate had killed: We have no other information about this event, but it's in keeping with what is known about Pilate's character.

13:2 they were more sinful: Shocking death was sometimes interpreted as God's judgment (Acts 12:20-23). But in this case, Jesus says, the victims aren't more sinful than the average person.

13:3 unless . . . you will die: In Luke everyone (except Jesus) needs "to change their hearts and lives" (Luke 5:32) in order to come to God (see note on Luke 5:8).

13:4 the tower of Siloam: probably part of the city wall of Jerusalem near the pool of Siloam (John 9:7). We have no other information about it.

13:6-9 The parable presents God as patient, but not endlessly so, with those who won't change their hearts and minds.

13:10 teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath: This is Jesus' fourth and last time to teach in a synagogue (Luke 4:16-30, 31-37; 6:6-11) and his second healing on the Sabbath (Luke 6:6-11). See notes on Luke 4:16, 17; see sidebar, "The Synagogues" at Luke 20.

13:12 Jesus called her to him: This is only the second time in which Jesus heals without being asked first (Luke 7:13-14). set free: Part of his mission was liberation (see Luke 4:18).

13:14 incensed: Some Jews considered healing to be work and thus forbidden on the Sabbath unless it was a life-or-death case (see Luke 6:7).

13:16 daughter of Abraham: She's worthy of being helped (Isa 51:2).

13:17 all . . . shame: Luke quotes Isaiah 45:16-17, comparing the way Jesus liberates this woman to how God set the people free after the Babylonian exile.

Growth of God's kingdom

<sup>18</sup>Jesus asked, "What is God's kingdom like? To what can I compare it? <sup>19</sup>It's like a mustard seed that someone took and planted in a garden. It grew and developed into a tree and the birds in the sky nested in its branches."

<sup>20</sup>Again he said, "To what can I compare God's kingdom? <sup>21</sup>It's like yeast, which a woman took and hid in a bushel of wheat flour until the yeast had worked its way through the whole."

Who will be saved?

Jesus said to them, <sup>24</sup>"Make every effort to enter through the narrow gate. Many, I tell you, will try to enter and won't be able to. <sup>25</sup>Once the owner of the house gets up and shuts the door, then you will stand outside and knock on the door, saying, 'Lord, open the door for us.' He will reply, 'I don't know you or where you are from.' <sup>26</sup>Then you will begin to say, 'We ate and drank in your presence, and you taught in our streets.' <sup>27</sup>He will respond, 'I don't know you or where you are from. Go away from me, all you evildoers!'" <sup>28</sup>There will be weeping and grinding of teeth when you see Abraham, Isaac, and all the prophets in God's kingdom, but you yourselves will be thrown out. <sup>29</sup>People will come from east and west, north and south, and sit down to eat in God's kingdom. <sup>30</sup>Look! Those who are last will be first and those who are first will be last."

Sorrow for Jerusalem

<sup>31</sup>At that time, some Pharisees approached Jesus and said, "Go! Get away from here, because Herod wants to kill you."

<sup>32</sup>Jesus said to them, "Go, tell that fox, 'Look, I'm throwing out demons and healing people today and tomorrow, and on the third day I will complete my work. <sup>33</sup>However, it's necessary for me to travel today, tomorrow, and the next day because it's impossible for a prophet to be killed outside of Jerusalem.'

<sup>34</sup>"Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you who kill the prophets and stone those who were sent to you! How often I have wanted to gather your people just as a hen gathers her chicks under her wings. But you didn't want that. <sup>35</sup>Look, your house is abandoned. I tell you, you won't see me until the time comes when you say, Blessings on the one who comes in the Lord's name."<sup>k</sup>

13:18-21 Two parables about God's kingdom. For another pair featuring a man and a woman as main characters, see Luke 15:3-10.

13:19 mustard seed: widely recognized as being very small, but its plant can grow to be over six feet tall. developed into a tree: a deliberate exaggeration to make a point: God's kingdom, starting from a small beginning, will surprise many (Luke 13:25-28).

13:21 yeast: See note on Luke 12:1. hid in a bushel: another exaggeration to make a point. A woman wouldn't hide yeast in her flour jar because it would ruin all the flour in it. God's kingdom will surprise many on Judgment Day (Luke 13:25-28).

13:22 traveled: See Luke 9:51, 57; 10:1, 38; 12:1; 13:33; 17:11; 19:1, 28.

13:23 only a few: Many prophets had predicted God's judgment would leave only a portion of God's people alive to experience the blessings that will follow judgment (Zech 14:1-3; Jer 31:7).

13:24 narrow gate: an image for the demands Jesus makes on his followers.

13:25 shuts the door: The owner knows that everyone who belongs to the household is already inside for the night. This scene portrays the finality of the last judgment (Luke 13:8-9; 14:24).

13:26 We ate and drank... you taught: Jesus means that some of those who've heard him teach will, on Judgment Day, regret having decided not to follow him (Matt 7:22-23). 13:28 weeping and grinding of teeth: signs of mourning (Matt 8:12).

13:29 sit down to eat: God's kingdom is pictured as a huge banquet, with people from all over the world present (Matt 8:11-12). Some who've expected to be included will be disappointed.

13:30 last will be first: God's kingdom has no status differences (Matt 20:16).

13:31 some Pharisees: This scene is found only in Luke (see sidebar, "Pharisees" at Luke 6). Herod: Herod Antipas, ruler of Galilee, who executed John the Baptist and has been wanting to question Jesus (Luke 9:9).

13:32 fox: regarded as a pest and scavenger. throwing out demons: Jesus means he'll continue with his ministry until it's done, and Herod's threat won't stop him.

13:33 impossible for a prophet: Many, but not all, prophets died in Jerusalem (Jeremiah probably died in Egypt; Ezekiel in Babylon). Jesus is predicting that, because he's a prophet, Jerusalem will be his place of death.

13:35 your house is abandoned: a prediction concerning the destruction of Jerusalem and/or the temple, which occurred later in 70 CE at the hands of the Romans. you won't see me: a prediction of what will be shouted when he reaches Jerusalem (Luke 19:38).

Healing on the Sabbath

14 One Sabbath, when Jesus went to share a meal in the home of one of the leaders of the Pharisees, they were watching him closely. <sup>2</sup>A man suffering from an abnormal swelling of the body was there. <sup>3</sup>Jesus asked the lawyers and Pharisees, “Does the Law allow healing on the Sabbath or not?” <sup>4</sup>But they said nothing. Jesus took hold of the sick man, cured him, and then let him go. <sup>5</sup>He said to them, “Suppose your child or ox fell into a ditch on the Sabbath day. Wouldn’t you immediately pull it out?” <sup>6</sup>But they had no response.

Lessons on humility and generosity

<sup>12</sup>Then Jesus said to the person who had invited him, “When you host a lunch or dinner, don’t invite your friends, your brothers and sisters, your relatives, or rich neighbors. If you do, they will invite you in return and that will be your reward. <sup>13</sup>Instead, when you give a banquet, invite the poor, crippled, lame, and blind. <sup>14</sup>And you will be blessed because they can’t repay you. Instead, you will be repaid when the just are resurrected.”

<sup>16</sup>Jesus replied, “A certain man hosted a large dinner and invited many people. <sup>17</sup>When it was time for the dinner to begin, he sent his servant to tell the invited guests, ‘Come! The dinner is now ready.’ <sup>18</sup>One by one, they all began to make excuses. The first one told him, ‘I bought a farm and must go and see it. Please excuse me.’ <sup>19</sup>Another said, ‘I bought five teams of oxen, and I’m going to check on them. Please excuse me.’ <sup>20</sup>Another said, ‘I just got married, so I can’t come.’ <sup>21</sup>When he returned, the servant reported these excuses to his master. The master of the house became angry and said to his servant, ‘Go quickly to the city’s streets, the busy ones and the side streets, and bring the poor, crippled, blind, and lame.’ <sup>22</sup>The servant said, ‘Master, your instructions have been followed and there is still room.’ <sup>23</sup>The master said to the servant, ‘Go to the highways and back alleys and urge people to come in so that my house will be filled. <sup>24</sup>I tell you, not one of those who were invited will taste my dinner.’”

14:1-24 The third time Jesus dines with Pharisees (see Luke 7:36-50; 11:37-54).

14:1 One Sabbath: For the third time Jesus challenges religious leaders about healing on the Sabbath (Luke 6:6-11; 13:10-17). See note on Luke 6:7.

14:5 child or ox: Deuteronomy 22:4 speaks of a “donkey or ox” in distress. By using child or ox, Jesus makes the point even more obvious.

14:7 best seats: See sidebar, “1st-Century Dinner Parties” at Luke 7.

14:9 Give your seat: a public embarrassment.

14:10 go and sit: Jesus is being sarcastic. Among his followers, status and public recognition count for nothing (see note on Luke 9:48).

14:11 All who lift themselves up: Jesus’ real opinion about status. God humbles the proud but lifts up the humble (Luke 1:52; 6:20-26).

14:12-14 In Luke’s time, giving and receiving dinner invitations was part of establishing one’s status. Whoever could invite and be invited by the powerful or the wealthy would gain status in society.

14:13 invite the poor: Jesus gives this advice to a Pharisee, but Luke is also giving this advice to Christian readers, whose house churches should provide care for the poor and those with disabilities (Acts 4:34; 5:12-16).

14:15 feast in God’s kingdom: Like Jesus, this guest believes God’s kingdom will be a place without poverty or hunger, symbolized by a great banquet.

14:16 hosted . . . invited: The first invitation sets the date for the dinner.

14:17 sent his servant: Since nobody had clocks, slaves went to announce when dinner was ready and the guests should come.

14:18-19 The excuses are phony. Nobody would buy a farm or oxen without checking them out first, nor accept an invitation to dinner on his wedding day. The guests are insulting the host by their last-minute decisions not to attend, as if he has suddenly lost status. This sort of thing may have happened to Luke’s readers after they became Christians.

14:21 Go quickly: The host follows Jesus’ advice (Luke 14:13-14) and fills his house, first with the urban poor and people with disabilities and then with all manner of homeless people.

Discipleship's demands

<sup>25</sup>Large crowds were traveling with Jesus. Turning to them, he said, <sup>26</sup>“Whoever comes to me and doesn’t hate father and mother, spouse and children, and brothers and sisters—yes, even one’s own life—cannot be my disciple. <sup>27</sup>Whoever doesn’t carry their own cross and follow me cannot be my disciple.

<sup>28</sup>“If one of you wanted to build a tower, wouldn’t you first sit down and calculate the cost, to determine whether you have enough money to complete it? <sup>29</sup>Otherwise, when you have laid the foundation but couldn’t finish the tower, all who see it will begin to belittle you. <sup>30</sup>They will say, ‘Here’s the person who began construction and couldn’t complete it!’ <sup>31</sup>Or what king would go to war against another king without first sitting down to consider whether his ten thousand soldiers could go up against the twenty thousand coming against him? <sup>32</sup>And if he didn’t think he could win, he would send a representative to discuss terms of peace while his enemy was still a long way off. <sup>33</sup>In the same way, none of you who are unwilling to give up all of your possessions can be my disciple.

<sup>34</sup>“Salt is good. But if salt loses its flavor, how will it become salty again? <sup>35</sup>It has no value, neither for the soil nor for the manure pile. People throw it away. Whoever has ears to hear should pay attention.”

Occasions for celebration

15 All the tax collectors and sinners were gathering around Jesus to listen to him. <sup>2</sup>The Pharisees and legal experts were grumbling, saying, “This man welcomes sinners and eats with them.”

14:25 traveling: Jesus is still heading toward Jerusalem (Luke 9:51); and the crowds are always around him (Luke 11:14, 27, 29; 12:1; 13:17).

14:26 Whoever comes: See Matthew 10:37-38; Mark 8:34-35; Matthew 16:24-25; Luke 9:23-24. hate: Jesus’ original followers left their villages, professions, and sometimes their families and must have been accused of hating them. 14:27 carry their own cross: Be prepared to be killed, as Jesus will be.

14:28-33 Halfhearted attempts to follow Jesus, like half-finished construction projects, will only make a person look ridiculous.

14:31-32 what king: The king with the smaller army who asks for terms of peace may save his life but probably will lose his kingdom.

14:33 none of you who are unwilling: or “It isn’t possible for any of you who won’t abandon your own stuff to be my disciple.” Jesus won’t let those who refuse to give up their possessions remain with him. For the same rule stated positively, see Luke 12:33.

14:34-35 Galileans sometimes used salt mined from the Dead Sea, which wasn’t pure salt and could become tasteless. Followers of Jesus who don’t follow his radical teachings are as useless as unsalty salt. See Mark 9:50; Matthew 5:13.

15:1-2 These verses provide the setting for all three parables in the chapter.

15:1 tax collectors: See sidebar, “Tax Collectors” at Luke 3. sinners: See Luke 7:34; see note on Luke 5:30.

15:2 The Pharisees and legal experts make the same complaint at Luke 5:30.

15:4 someone: This parable pictures a man at work, and the next one (Luke 15:8-10) features a woman at home. one hundred sheep: a substantial flock in Jesus’ time. The imaginary owner, who lost one, can afford the loss. in the pasture: The same word is translated as “wilderness” in Luke 3:2; 4:1; 7:24. The owner leaves his 99 sheep in a dangerous place while he looks for the lost one. The answer to the question Wouldn’t he is no, not usually; but God is no ordinary Shepherd (Ezek 34:11-16).

15:7 joy in heaven: God and all the angels rejoice. one sinner who changes both heart and life: In Luke 5:32 Jesus defines his ministry as calling people to do just that.

15:8 ten silver coins: Jesus uses the word “drachma,” the normal day’s wage for an unskilled laborer. The woman’s savings amounts to 10 days’ wages. In contrast to the wealthier shepherd (Luke 15:3-7), she can’t afford to lose even one.

15:9 Celebrate with me: Surprisingly, she gives a party, perhaps spending the coin she’s just recovered. As the parable about the shepherd (Luke 15:3-7) emphasizes Jesus’ urge to find the lost, so does the parable about the woman illustrate the joy Jesus takes in sharing hospitality with anyone, sinners and Pharisees alike, as he shows that God’s kingdom is present.

<sup>11</sup>Jesus said, "A certain man had two sons. <sup>12</sup>The younger son said to his father, 'Father, give me my share of the inheritance.' Then the father divided his estate between them. <sup>13</sup>Soon afterward, the younger son gathered everything together and took a trip to a land far away. There, he wasted his wealth through extravagant living.

"While he was still a long way off, his father saw him and was moved with compassion. His father ran to him, hugged him, and kissed him. <sup>21</sup>Then his son said, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and against you. I no longer deserve to be called your son.' <sup>22</sup>But the father said to his servants, 'Quickly, bring out the best robe and put it on him! Put a ring on his finger and sandals on his feet! <sup>23</sup>Fetch the fattened calf and slaughter it. We must celebrate with feasting <sup>24</sup>because this son of mine was dead and has come back to life! He was lost and is found! And they began to celebrate.

<sup>25</sup>"Now his older son was in the field. Coming in from the field, he approached the house and heard music and dancing. <sup>26</sup>He called one of the servants and asked what was going on. <sup>27</sup>The servant replied, 'Your brother has arrived, and your father has slaughtered the fattened calf because he received his son back safe and sound.' <sup>28</sup>Then the older son was furious and didn't want to enter in, but his father came out and begged him. <sup>29</sup>He answered his father, 'Look, I've served you all these years, and I never disobeyed your instruction. Yet you've never given me as much as a young goat so I could celebrate with my friends. <sup>30</sup>But when this son of yours returned, after gobbling up your estate on prostitutes, you slaughtered the fattened calf for him.' <sup>31</sup>Then his father said, 'Son, you are always with me, and everything I have is yours. <sup>32</sup>But we had to celebrate and be glad because this brother of yours was dead and is alive. He was lost and is found.'

Faithfulness with money

16 Jesus also said to the disciples, "A certain rich man heard that his household manager was wasting his estate. <sup>2</sup>He called the manager in and said to him, 'What is this I hear about you? Give me a report of your administration because you can no longer serve as my manager.'

15:12 my share: customarily, one-third of the estate (the firstborn gets a double share), but he has no right to it while his father is still alive. the father divided: Ancient Jewish literature and common sense warn against doing this.

15:13 The younger son apparently sold his property rights to someone else. According to custom, the father could still farm what he'd given the younger son, and at his death the new owner will take possession.

15:15 feed pigs: Pigs are unclean and off-limits for Jews (Lev 11:7; Deut 14:8). This is not a nice job for a Jewish young man.

15:17 came to his senses: The phrase suggests he's had a change of mind, but it isn't yet clear whether he's truly sorry.

15:18 I have sinned against heaven and against you: He broke God's commandment to honor his father.

15:20 moved with compassion: See Luke 7:13; 10:33.

15:21 Father: The son's speech ends with his confession. In the presence of his father's love, he now changes both his heart and his life (Luke 3:3; 5:32).

15:22 robe . . . ring: The father restores him to his status as son.

15:23 celebrate: The party shows everyone the father isn't ashamed of his younger son. In Luke parties are images of the presence of God's kingdom.

15:25-32 The typical village had clusters of houses and shops, with farmland and pasture surrounding it. The elder brother can't hear the party until he has gotten close, and nobody has thought to go find him.

15:28 furious: The elder son's refusal to enter the house is an insult, and the father's public begging is an embarrassment.

15:29 I've served you: The elder brother feels like a slave.

15:30 this son of yours: not "my brother."

15:31 you are always with me: The father knows the elder son's faithfulness. everything I have is yours: because the father had "divided his estate between" the two brothers (Luke 15:12).

15:32 we had to celebrate: See Luke 15:7, 10; 13:16-17.

16:1-9 The second of the three rich man parables (see Luke 12:16-21; 16:19-31).

16:1 household manager: See sidebar, "Masters, Managers, and Servants" at Luke 12. wasting: like the younger son (Luke 15:13). The verb means "to scatter," like seeds.

16:2 Give me a report: The boss wants to see the books. you can no longer serve: A wiser boss would have seized the books before telling the manager he's fired.

<sup>3</sup>“The household manager said to himself, What will I do now that my master is firing me as his manager? I’m not strong enough to dig and too proud to beg. <sup>4</sup>I know what I’ll do so that, when I am removed from my management position, people will welcome me into their houses.

<sup>8</sup>“The master commended the dishonest manager because he acted cleverly. People who belong to this world are more clever in dealing with their peers than are people who belong to the light. <sup>9</sup>I tell you, use worldly wealth to make friends for yourselves so that when it’s gone, you will be welcomed into the eternal homes.

<sup>10</sup>“Whoever is faithful with little is also faithful with much, and the one who is dishonest with little is also dishonest with much. <sup>11</sup>If you haven’t been faithful with worldly wealth, who will trust you with true riches? <sup>12</sup>If you haven’t been faithful with someone else’s property, who will give you your own? <sup>13</sup>No household servant can serve two masters. Either you will hate the one and love the other, or you will be loyal to the one and have contempt for the other. You cannot serve God and wealth.”

Jesus responds to Pharisees

<sup>14</sup>The Pharisees, who were money-lovers, heard all this and sneered at Jesus. <sup>15</sup>He said to them, “You are the ones who justify yourselves before other people, but God knows your hearts. What is highly valued by people is deeply offensive to God. <sup>16</sup>Until John, there was only the Law and the Prophets. Since then, the good news of God’s kingdom is preached, and everyone is urged to enter it. <sup>17</sup>It’s easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for the smallest stroke of a pen in the Law to drop out. <sup>18</sup>Any man who divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery, and a man who marries a woman divorced from her husband commits adultery.

16:3 not strong . . . too proud: He’s lazy and arrogant as well as crooked.

16:4 welcome me: give him another position, or at least a place to stay temporarily.

16:5 One by one: The manager reduces the debts owed to his master, which obligates all the borrowers to return a favor to the soon-to-be-fired manager. The master is forced to go along with the scheme, since he has no way to prove he’s been cheated. In addition, if he plays along, he can be known as generous rather than foolish.

16:8 People . . . this world: those who aren’t devoted to God.

16:9 use worldly wealth to make friends: In Luke, Jesus’ advice about money is consistent: Give it to the needy (Luke 6:38; 12:33; 14:33) and forgive debts, even those of your enemies (Luke 6:35). The dishonest manager does this out of self-interest; Jesus’ followers should do it to serve God. into the eternal homes: Those who use their wealth to help the poor will be rewarded in God’s kingdom (Luke 14:14).

16:10-13 Jesus’ followers are to consider themselves God’s slaves (Luke 12:35-48) who are asked to manage God’s property according to God’s wishes.

16:11 In Luke being faithful with worldly wealth means giving it to the needy (Luke 12:33). true riches: The blessings of God’s kingdom are given to those who prove faithful.

16:13 God and wealth: Just as Jesus’ followers have had to choose to follow him at the cost of leaving behind their families (Luke 14:26), so they have also had to hate their possessions, leaving them behind for Jesus’ sake.

16:14-18 These verses illustrate Jesus’ disagreements with the Pharisees.

16:14 money-lovers: In response to Luke 16:13, the Pharisees ridicule Jesus for being so naive.

16:15 justify yourselves: They want to prove they are right (Luke 10:29) to retain their high status (Luke 11:43). highly valued . . . deeply offensive: wealth, status, power, and influence.

16:16 Until John: The preaching of the good news began with John the Baptist (Luke 3:1-14; 7:28). the Law: Genesis through Deuteronomy. the Prophets: Joshua; Judges; 1–2 Samuel; 1–2 Kings; Isaiah; Jeremiah; Ezekiel; and Hosea through Malachi.

16:17 It’s easier: Jesus’ teaching doesn’t cancel the commands found in the Law; Luke 16:18 has an example. See Matthew 5:18.

16:18 Any man: If a husband divorces his wife, and she remarries and her second husband divorces her, her first husband can’t remarry her (Deut 24:1-4). Jesus’ rule prohibits all remarriage after divorce by calling it adultery (cf. Mark 10:11-12; Matt 5:31-32; 19:9; 1 Cor 7:10-11).

16:19-31 The third of the three rich man parables (see Luke 12:16-21; 16:1-9).

16:19 purple: Purple dye was expensive, so normally only royalty and the very wealthy wore purple. feasted: The rich man’s love of food and fine things is beyond belief.

16:20 At his gate: Lazarus is living in the street, but he’s named while the rich man remains anonymous. God’s point of view is the opposite of the world’s.

A Certain Rich Man Luke includes three parables that involve a “rich man” who is out of touch with the needs of ordinary people (Luke 12:16-21; 16:1-9, 19-31). Jesus warns the rich that judgment awaits them (Luke 6:24-26; 16:25); and three times he announces that those who wish to follow him must give their possessions to the poor (Luke 12:32-33; 14:33; 18:22-30). Zacchaeus, the wealthy tax collector, serves as a model of what rich people should do when he gives away half of his fortune (Luke 19:8). Luke calls the Pharisees, Jesus’ most active opponents, “money-lovers” (Luke 16:14). Among NT writers on wealth, Luke’s negative attitude is most like that of James (e.g., Jas 1:11; 2:6-7; 5:1-6). 1 Timothy 6:17-19 urges the wealthy to secure God’s blessings by being generous and doing good things. In this way they can “take hold of what is truly life.” A 2nd-century document titled The Shepherd of Hermas compared rich and poor Christians to a grapevine supported by an elm tree: Those who have money should support those who don’t, and those who don’t should pray for those who do, since God pays special attention to the prayers of the poor.

covered with sores. <sup>21</sup>Lazarus longed to eat the crumbs that fell from the rich man’s table. Instead, dogs would come and lick his sores.

<sup>22</sup>“The poor man died and was carried by angels to Abraham’s side. The rich man also died and was buried. <sup>23</sup>While being tormented in the place of the dead, he looked up and saw Abraham at a distance with Lazarus at his side. <sup>24</sup>He shouted, ‘Father Abraham, have mercy on me. Send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, because I’m suffering in this flame.’ <sup>25</sup>But Abraham said, ‘Child, remember that during your lifetime you received good things, whereas Lazarus received terrible things. Now Lazarus is being comforted and you are in great pain. <sup>26</sup>Moreover, a great crevasse has been fixed between us and you. Those who wish to cross over from here to you cannot. Neither can anyone cross from there to us.’

<sup>27</sup>“The rich man said, ‘Then I beg you, Father, send Lazarus to my father’s house. <sup>28</sup>I have five brothers. He needs to warn them so that they don’t come to this place of agony.’ <sup>29</sup>Abraham replied, ‘They have Moses and the Prophets. They must listen to them.’ <sup>30</sup>The rich man said, ‘No, Father Abraham! But if someone from the dead goes to them, they will change their hearts and lives.’ <sup>31</sup>Abraham said, ‘If they don’t listen to Moses and the Prophets, then neither will they be persuaded if someone rises from the dead.’”

Faithful service

17 Jesus said to his disciples, “Things that cause people to trip and fall into sin must happen, but how terrible it is for the person through whom they happen. <sup>2</sup>It would be better for them to be thrown into a lake with a large stone hung around their neck than to cause one of these little ones to trip and fall into sin. <sup>3</sup>Watch yourselves! If your brother or sister sins, warn them to stop. If they change their hearts and lives, forgive them. <sup>4</sup>Even if someone sins against you seven times in one day and returns to you seven times and says, ‘I am changing my ways, you must forgive that person.’

16:21 dogs: Lazarus is too weak and sick to fight off the dogs that find their meals in the garbage in the streets.

16:22 carried by angels: Other Jewish texts from Jesus’ time also describe the afterlife this way: While the dead await Judgment Day, they’re already divided by the angels into places of rest or suffering based on how they served God during their lifetime.

16:24 Father Abraham: The rich man is a Jew, like Abraham and Lazarus. Send Lazarus: The rich man imagines earthly status still applies: A beggar should serve a rich man. Note that even though he let Lazarus starve, he knows his name. 16:26 great crevasse: Some judgments are final (Luke 13:1-9) and can’t be changed even by changing one’s heart and life (Luke 3:3; 5:32).

16:27 send Lazarus: He gives Abraham an order, showing that he’s still thinking like a rich man.

16:29 Moses and the Prophets: that is, the Law and the Prophets (Luke 16:16). The OT teaches care for the poor (e.g., Exod 23:11; Lev 19:9-10; Deut 15:1-11) and warns against greed (Amos 2:7-8; Isa 1:22-23).

16:31 neither will they be persuaded: Some people won’t stop serving wealth even when confronted by the resurrected Jesus.

17:1 Things that cause . . . sin must happen: The world is full of things that can tempt us to turn from God and toward evil (see Luke 4:1-13; 8:11-14; 11:24-26). how terrible: God holds humans responsible for encouraging others to do evil (Luke 11:52; 20:46-47; cf. 1 Cor 8:9-13).

17:2 thrown into a lake: an image for the certainty of God’s judgment. little ones: probably Jesus’ followers (see Luke 17:3; Matt 18:6), possibly meant to include the poor and others vulnerable to abuse.

17:3 If . . . sins: Jesus’ followers are required to challenge sinners and, if they change their ways, forgive them as many times as is necessary (Luke 6:37). Only God may pass final judgment on sinners (cf. Luke 13:1-9; 16:25-26).

17:5 Increase: The apostles think they need more faith to be able to follow Jesus’ teachings. In Luke faith is shown by those who overcome barriers to reach Jesus (Luke 5:20; 8:48) or trust Jesus to be able to do anything <sup>9</sup>The Lord replied, "If you had faith the size of a mustard seed, you could say to this mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and planted in the sea,' and it would obey you.

<sup>7</sup>"Would any of you say to your servant, who had just come in from the field after plowing or tending sheep, 'Come! Sit down for dinner'? <sup>8</sup>Wouldn't you say instead, 'Fix my dinner. Put on the clothes of a table servant and wait on me while I eat and drink. After that, you can eat and drink'? <sup>9</sup>You won't thank the servant because the servant did what you asked, will you? <sup>10</sup>In the same way, when you have done everything required of you, you should say, 'We servants deserve no special praise. We have only done our duty.'"

Jesus heals a Samaritan

<sup>11</sup>On the way to Jerusalem, Jesus traveled along the border between Samaria and Galilee. <sup>12</sup>As he entered a village, ten men with skin diseases approached him. Keeping their distance from him, <sup>13</sup>they raised their voices and said, "Jesus, Master, show us mercy!"

<sup>20</sup>Pharisees asked Jesus when God's kingdom was coming. He replied, "God's kingdom isn't coming with signs that are easily noticed. <sup>21</sup>Nor will people say, 'Look, here it is!' or 'There it is!' Don't you see? God's kingdom is already among you."

<sup>22</sup>Then Jesus said to the disciples, "The time will come when you will long to see one of the days of the Human One,<sup>a</sup> and you won't see it. <sup>23</sup>People will say to you, 'Look there!' or 'Look here!' Don't leave or go chasing after them. <sup>24</sup>The Human One<sup>a</sup> will appear on his day in the same way that a flash of lightning lights up the sky from one end to the other. <sup>25</sup>However, first he must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation.

(Luke 7:9). Even a speck of this faith is enough. The apostles failed at casting out a demon (Luke 9:40-41) but then, as part of the Seventy-two, succeeded (Luke 10:17). So they have enough faith. They just need to put it to use.

17:7-10 Would any of you: Normally, slaves didn't eat until the master and his family had been served, even if the slaves had worked all day while the master had been idle (see sidebar, "Masters, Managers, and Servants" at Luke 12). Slaves also didn't expect a thank-you or reward for doing their duty. Jesus' followers, likewise, should expect no special praise for obeying Jesus' teachings, even if they are hard.

17:11 On the way to Jerusalem: See Luke 9:51. The shortest distance from Galilee to Jerusalem was through Samaria, but Jews normally avoided Samaria (Luke 9:52-56). the border: Although Jesus' ultimate aim is Jerusalem, from Luke 9:57 to this point he's been going village by village through Galilee (Luke 10:1).

17:12 ten men with skin diseases: Are they Jews or Samaritans? Since people with skin diseases (see notes on Luke 5:12, 13, 14) are excluded from normal society (Lev 13:45-46), their ethnicity doesn't matter.

17:14 show yourselves: To be welcomed back into their villages, Jews with skin diseases had to be declared free of their rashes by a priest. Priests lived throughout Galilee and Judea. As they left: All demonstrate faith in Jesus by heading off, and they're cleansed (cured of their rashes) as they go.

17:15 praised God: as do many who experience Jesus' miracles (Luke 5:25; 7:16).

17:16 fell on his face: a sign of respect and submission (Luke 5:12; 8:41). Samaritan: Samaritans had been hostile to Jesus (Luke 9:53), but the good Samaritan of Jesus' parable is an example of neighborly kindness (Luke 10:30-37); and the newly healed Samaritan is an example of gratitude.

17:19 Your faith has healed you: See Luke 7:50; 8:48; 18:42. 17:20-37 See Luke 21:8-36.

17:20 when: Since this question comes from the Pharisees, who often oppose Jesus, it may be hostile. Maybe they want Jesus to predict a date so they can prove him a false prophet (Luke 7:39; 11:54). Jesus replies that the kingdom's coming can't be easily predicted.

17:21 God's kingdom is already among you: The kingdom is present in the words and deeds of Jesus and his followers, completely visible to the Pharisees if they're willing to recognize it (cf. Luke 11:20, where his exorcisms are a sign of the kingdom's presence). The kingdom is also still to come, as is clear from Luke 17:22-37.

17:22 you will long to see: Jesus predicts harassment for his followers (Luke 21:12-19), when they will wish for Jesus' return. the Human One: See sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5.

17:23 'Look there!': Some will falsely predict or announce Jesus' return. His return will be unmistakable and instantly visible, like lightning.

17:25 he must suffer: See Luke 9:22, 44; 13:32-33; 14:27; 18:31-33.

Jesus said, "The vultures gather wherever there's a dead body."

Justice for the faithful

18 Jesus was telling them a parable about their need to pray continuously and not to be discouraged. <sup>2</sup>He said, "In a certain city there was a judge who neither feared God nor respected people. <sup>3</sup>In that city there was a widow who kept coming to him, asking, 'Give me justice in this case against my adversary.' <sup>4</sup>For a while he refused but finally said to himself, I don't fear God or respect people, <sup>5</sup>but I will give this widow justice because she keeps bothering me. Otherwise, there will be no end to her coming here and embarrassing me." <sup>6</sup>The Lord said, "Listen to what the unjust judge says. <sup>7</sup>Won't God provide justice to his chosen people who cry out to him day and night? Will he be slow to help them? <sup>8</sup>I tell you, he will give them justice quickly. But when the Human One<sup>a</sup> comes, will he find faithfulness on earth?"

The Pharisee and the tax collector

<sup>9</sup>Jesus told this parable to certain people who had convinced themselves that they were righteous and who looked on everyone else with disgust: <sup>10</sup>"Two people went up to the temple to pray. One was a Pharisee and the other a tax collector. <sup>11</sup>The Pharisee stood and prayed about himself with these words, 'God, I thank you that I'm not like everyone else—crooks, evildoers, adulterers—or even like this tax collector. <sup>12</sup>I fast twice a week. I give a tenth of everything I receive.' <sup>13</sup>But the tax collector stood at a distance. He wouldn't even lift his 17:27 The flood caught everybody but Noah and his family by surprise (Gen 6:5–7:24).

17:29 Sodom: Jesus focuses on the suddenness of the judgment (Gen 19:15–26). His return and Judgment Day will also happen without warning.

17:31 On that day: His followers can finally expect relief and salvation (Luke 21:27–28), and possessions won't matter. In the meantime, one must follow Jesus' instructions to let go of one's life and to live or die for him (Luke 8:23–27).

17:34 on that night: images of Judgment Day. God will decide who will enter the kingdom based on how faithful they have been to Jesus' teachings (Luke 9:26).

17:37 The disciples' question "Where, Lord?" illustrates how hard it is for Christians to avoid guessing when and where Jesus will return. Jesus' reply is essentially, "You'll know it when you see it" (see note on Luke 17:23).

18:1 to pray continuously and not to be discouraged: Don't quit praying if what you want doesn't always happen.

18:2 judge: In Galilean villages this was usually an older man the villagers trusted to settle their disputes. neither feared God nor respected people: He does only what's in his best interests.

18:3 widow: Judges were supposed to be careful to be fair to widows, orphans, and immigrants (Deut 24:17–18; 27:19). Give me justice: The widow is involved in a lawsuit and wants the judge to rule in her favor. Judges usually sat in public places to hear cases, so the widow's repeated requests are made in front of the whole town. The judge decides to grant her request, not because it's the right thing to do but because she's bothering him, and publicly ignoring her will damage his status.

18:6–7 Won't God provide justice: If an unjust judge will do the right thing for the wrong reason, how much more will a just God do the right thing when people pray? Will he be slow: The expected answer is no.

18:8 when the Human One comes: on Judgment Day. See sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5. will he find faithfulness: Will his followers be praying, still trusting in God's justice?

18:9 convinced themselves that they were righteous: See Luke 5:30–32; 7:34, 39; 15:1–2.

18:10 Pharisee: See sidebar, "Pharisees" at Luke 6. tax collector: See sidebar, "Tax Collectors" at Luke 3.

18:11 stood: People normally prayed standing with arms raised. about himself or "to himself": God, I thank you: Many Jewish prayers began like this, or "blessed be God," but most would then praise God rather than name the worshipper's accomplishments. I'm not... like this tax collector: To the Pharisee a tax collector was even worse than an adulterer.

18:12 fast twice a week: a sign of his devotion to God (Luke 5:33).

18:13 wouldn't even lift his eyes... struck his chest: ritual signs of being very sad or very sorry. God, show mercy to eyes to look toward heaven. Rather, he struck his chest and said, 'God, show mercy to me, a sinner.' <sup>14</sup>I tell you, this person went down to his home justified rather than the Pharisee. All who lift themselves up will be brought low, and those who make themselves low will be lifted up."

Jesus blesses children

<sup>15</sup>People were bringing babies to Jesus so that he would bless them. When the disciples saw this, they scolded them. <sup>16</sup>Then Jesus called them to him and said, "Allow the children to come to me. Don't forbid them, because God's kingdom belongs to people like these children. <sup>17</sup>I assure you that whoever doesn't welcome God's kingdom like a child will never enter it."

A rich man's question

<sup>18</sup>A certain ruler asked Jesus, "Good Teacher, what must I do to obtain eternal life?" <sup>19</sup>Jesus replied, "Why do you call me good? No one is good except the one God. <sup>20</sup>You know the commandments: Don't commit adultery. Don't murder. Don't steal. Don't give false testimony. Honor your father and mother."<sup>e</sup>

<sup>21</sup>Then the ruler said, "I've kept all of these things since I was a boy." <sup>22</sup>When Jesus heard this, he said, "There's one more thing. Sell everything you own and distribute the money to the poor. Then you will have treasure in heaven. And come, follow me." <sup>23</sup>When he heard these words, the man became sad because he was extremely rich. <sup>24</sup>When Jesus saw this, he said, "It's very hard for the wealthy to enter God's kingdom! <sup>25</sup>It's easier for a camel to squeeze through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter God's kingdom."

<sup>26</sup>Those who heard this said, "Then who can be saved?" <sup>27</sup>Jesus replied, "What is impossible for humans is possible for God." <sup>28</sup>Peter said, "Look, we left everything we own and followed you." <sup>29</sup>Jesus said to them, "I assure you that anyone who has left house, husband, wife, brothers, sisters, parents, or children because of God's kingdom <sup>30</sup>will receive many times more in this age and eternal life in the coming age."

Jesus predicts his death and resurrection

me, a sinner: For Luke, everyone needs to come to God in this way (Luke 13:3, 5; 24:47).
 18:14 justified: God, the just Judge, decides for the tax collector (see note on Luke 18:3). All who lift themselves: See note on Luke 14:11.
 18:15 bringing babies: Parents hope Jesus will bless their infants and ask God to keep them strong and healthy.
scolded: The disciples try to control access to Jesus (Luke 9:49-50).
 18:16 God's kingdom belongs to people like these children: those who, like the tax collector (Luke 18:13-14), are humble because they have no status.
 18:17 welcome God's kingdom like a child: can mean both "providing hospitality for children (or other low-status people) is how you welcome God's kingdom"; and "In order to enter God's kingdom you must, like these babies, care nothing about status."
 18:18 ruler: a Jew (Luke 18:21) who holds some kind of power; perhaps he's a chief judge or an elder in one of the villages. eternal life: Many Jews believed that on Judgment Day God would reward with eternal life those who had obeyed God's commandments (Dan 12:1-3). The ruler wants to know if Jesus thinks there are any special requirements. Must you fast twice weekly, for instance (Luke 18:12)?
 18:19 Why do you call me good?: or "Why are you asking me? God, who is good, gave the commandments, and I'm sure you know them very well."

18:20 the commandments: The ruler not only kept them but probably repeated them twice daily when he said the Shema (Deut 6:4-5), the prayer devout Jews said every morning and evening.
 18:22 Sell everything: what Jesus tells all his disciples to do in Luke (Luke 12:32-33; see note on Luke 14:33). treasure in heaven: God will grant you eternal life.
 18:23 extremely rich: In Luke 12:16-21; 16:19-31 two other rich men fail to obey God, but compare their stories with that of Zacchaeus (Luke 19:1-10).
 18:25 camel: Like the log in the eye (Luke 6:41), this is an exaggeration. A camel cannot pass through a needle, but Zacchaeus (Luke 19:1-10) has demonstrated how a rich man may enter the kingdom.
 18:27 possible for God: Gabriel (Luke 1:37) and Zacchaeus (Luke 19:1-10) prove this is true.
 18:28 we left everything: Those traveling with Jesus are relying on what others provide (Luke 10:4-8).
 18:30 many times more: Those whose families have turned away from them because of their commitment to Jesus have found a new family among Jesus' followers (Luke 8:19-21; Acts 2:44; 4:32).

A blind man is healed

<sup>38</sup>The blind man shouted, "Jesus, Son of David, show me mercy." <sup>39</sup>Those leading the procession scolded him, telling him to be quiet, but he shouted even louder, "Son of David, show me mercy."

<sup>40</sup>Jesus stopped and called for the man to be brought to him. When he was present Jesus asked, <sup>41</sup>"What do you want me to do for you?"

He said, "Lord, I want to see."

<sup>42</sup>Jesus said to him, "Receive your sight! Your faith has healed you." <sup>43</sup>At once he was able to see, and he began to follow Jesus, praising God. When all the people saw it, they praised God too.

A rich tax collector

19 Jesus entered Jericho and was passing through town. <sup>2</sup>A man there named Zacchaeus, a ruler among tax collectors, was rich. <sup>3</sup>He was trying to see who Jesus was, but, being a short man, he couldn't because of the crowd. <sup>4</sup>So he ran ahead and climbed up a sycamore tree so he could see Jesus, who was about to pass that way. <sup>5</sup>When Jesus came to that spot, he looked up and said, "Zacchaeus, come down at once. I must stay in your home today." <sup>6</sup>So Zacchaeus came down at once, happy to welcome Jesus.

<sup>7</sup>Everyone who saw this grumbled, saying, "He has gone to be the guest of a sinner."

<sup>8</sup>Zacchaeus stopped and said to the Lord, "Look, Lord, I give half of my possessions to the poor. And if I have cheated anyone, I repay them four times as much."

<sup>9</sup>Jesus said to him, "Today, salvation has come to this household because he too is a son of Abraham. <sup>10</sup>The Human One<sup>e</sup> came to seek and save the lost."

Faithful service

<sup>11</sup>As they listened to this, Jesus told them another parable because he was near Jerusalem and they thought God's kingdom would appear right away. <sup>12</sup>He said, "A certain man who was 18:38 Son of David: a title for the Christ (Luke 1:27; 20:41). show me mercy: See Luke 17:13; 18:13.

18:42 Your faith has healed you: See Luke 7:50; 8:48; 17:19.

18:43 began to follow: became Jesus' disciple. praising God: a typical response to Jesus' miracles (Luke 5:25; 7:16; 17:15).

19:1 passing through: The blind man (Luke 18:35) was on the road into Jericho.

19:2 ruler among tax collectors: See sidebar, "Tax Collectors" at Luke 3.

19:4 climbed: Powerful people normally summon those they want to interview (Luke 7:3). By climbing the tree, Zacchaeus is already beginning to give up his status and power.

19:6 happy to welcome Jesus: to host him to dinner at his home (cf. Luke 5:28-32; 7:34; 15:1-2).

19:7 Everyone... grumbled: Quickly the crowd's praises (Luke 18:43) turn sour (Luke 23:13). guest of a sinner: See note on Luke 5:30. Some tax collectors grew rich by collecting more than was required. Zacchaeus shows how a wealthy person enters God's kingdom (Luke 18:25): By producing fruit, he shows he has changed his heart and life (Luke 5:32).

19:9 This is how he shows he's a son of Abraham (Luke 3:7-14).

19:10 came to seek: See Luke 4:43; 5:10, 24, 32; 15:1-32.

19:11-28 Some Gospel parables include a king who symbolizes God or Jesus (e.g., Matt 22:1-14; 25:31-46). Here the kingdom is more like a typical worldly kingdom, and the king's values are not Jesus' values.

19:11 they thought God's kingdom would appear right away: The disciples remain confused about Jesus' intentions (Luke 18:34; 22:49; Acts 1:6). Luke's readers probably also wondered whether Jesus would return and God's kingdom would come fully in their lifetimes.

19:12 royalty: Kings who were appointed to their positions, like Herod Antipas (see note on Luke 3:1), often had to travel to Rome in order to have their right to rule confirmed by the Senate and/or the emperor. A mina was worth 100 denarii, and 1 denarius or drachma was the normal daily wage for an unskilled laborer.

born into royalty went to a distant land to receive his kingdom and then return. <sup>13</sup>He called together ten servants and gave each of them money worth four months' wages.<sup>w</sup> He said, 'Do business with this until I return.' <sup>14</sup>His citizens hated him, so they sent a representative after him who said, 'We don't want this man to be our king.' <sup>15</sup>After receiving his kingdom, he returned and called the servants to whom he had given the money to find out how much they had earned. <sup>16</sup>The first servant came forward and said, 'Your money has earned a return of one thousand percent.' <sup>17</sup>The king replied, 'Excellent! You are a good servant. Because you have been faithful in a small matter, you will have authority over ten cities.'

<sup>24</sup>He said to his attendants, 'Take his money and give it to the one who has ten times as much.' <sup>25</sup>But Master,' they said, 'he already has ten times as much!' <sup>26</sup>He replied, 'I say to you that everyone who has will be given more, but from those who have nothing, even what they have will be taken away. <sup>27</sup>As for my enemies who don't want me as their king, bring them here and slaughter them before me.'

Procession into Jerusalem

<sup>29</sup>As Jesus came to Bethphage and Bethany on the Mount of Olives, he gave two disciples a task. <sup>30</sup>He said, "Go into the village over there. When you enter it, you will find tied up there a colt that no one has ever ridden. Untie it and bring it here. <sup>31</sup>If someone asks, 'Why are you untying it?' just say, 'Its master needs it.'" <sup>32</sup>Those who had been sent found it exactly as he had said.

<sup>33</sup>As they were untying the colt, its owners said to them, "Why are you untying the colt?"

19:13 Do business: by lending the money at interest, or by buying goods and selling them for a profit.

19:16 one thousand percent: an amazing profit. Ancient readers would suspect that dishonest or greedy practices were involved.

19:17 faithful in a small matter: See Luke 16:10-13, where being faithful in the small matter of money means forgiving debts from loans. The king doesn't share Jesus' values. authority over ten cities: See Luke 22:25-26, where Jesus says that among his followers greatness means service, not power.

19:20 wrapped it up in a scarf: The slave disobeyed his master's command to make a profit. He only kept the original money safe.

19:21 stern: strict, a stickler for the rules. withdraw what you haven't deposited: a bandit who takes what he wants. harvest what you haven't planted: He gets rich from other people's labor. The slave is describing the typical king, whose wealth comes from taxes and/or from military victories.

19:22 You knew, did you: The king doesn't deny the truth of his slave's description. Instead, he says, the slave should have acted on what he knew about the king.

19:23 put my money in the bank: A bank was a wealthy person who lent money at interest.

19:26 everyone who has: The rich get richer at the expense of the poor.

19:27 As for my enemies: The king watches while his servants slaughter his enemies. Jesus asks God to forgive his enemies (Luke 23:34) and orders his servants to love theirs (Luke 6:27). The parable asks readers to consider carefully what sort of kingdom they hope will appear.

19:28 going up to Jerusalem: This ends the journey section (Luke 9:51-19:28).

19:29 Bethphage and Bethany: Both villages were east of Jerusalem on the Mount of Olives, but their exact location is disputed. Bethany was the site of the ascension (Luke 24:50-51; Acts 1:9-11).

19:30 colt: Zechariah 9:9 predicts the future king will arrive humbly on a colt rather than on a full-grown animal. Jesus predicts how the disciples will find it and what they'll need to say. This continues the theme of how Jesus the prophet must die in Jerusalem (Luke 13:33-35).

19:36 spread their clothes on the road: a gesture of respect (2 Kgs 9:13).

19:37 the whole throng of his disciples: His followers praise of his disciples began rejoicing. They praised God with a loud voice because of all the mighty things they had seen. <sup>38</sup>They said, “Blessings on the king who comes in the name of the Lord.

Peace in heaven and glory in the highest heavens.”

<sup>39</sup>Some of the Pharisees from the crowd said to Jesus, “Teacher, scold your disciples! Tell them to stop!”

<sup>40</sup>He answered, “I tell you, if they were silent, the stones would shout.”

Jesus predicts Jerusalem's destruction

<sup>41</sup>As Jesus came to the city and observed it, he wept over it. <sup>42</sup>He said, “If only you knew on this of all days the things that lead to peace. But now they are hidden from your eyes.

<sup>43</sup>The time will come when your enemies will build fortifications around you, encircle you, and attack you from all sides. <sup>44</sup>They will crush you completely, you and the people within you. They won't leave one stone on top of another within you, because you didn't recognize the time of your gracious visit from God.”

Jesus clears the temple

<sup>45</sup>When Jesus entered the temple, he threw out those who were selling things there. <sup>46</sup>He said to them, “It's written, My house will be a house of prayer, but you have made it a hideout for crooks.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>47</sup>Jesus was teaching daily in the temple. The chief priests, the legal experts, and the foremost leaders among the people were seeking to kill him. <sup>48</sup>However, they couldn't find a way to do it because all the people were enthralled with what they heard.

Controversy over authority

20 On one of the days when Jesus was teaching the people in the temple and proclaiming the good news, the chief priests, legal experts, and elders approached him. <sup>2</sup>They said, “Tell us: What kind of authority do you have for doing these things? Who gave you this authority?”

<sup>3</sup>He replied, “I have a question for you. Tell me: <sup>4</sup>Was John's baptism of heavenly or of human origin?”

<sup>5</sup>They discussed among themselves, “If we say, ‘It's of heavenly origin,’ he'll say, ‘Why didn't you believe him?’ <sup>6</sup>But if we say, ‘It's of human origin,’ all the people will stone us to death because they are convinced that John was a prophet.” <sup>7</sup>They answered that they didn't know where it came from.

him as the one coming in the Lord's name, which Jesus predicted in Luke 13:35.

19:38 Blessings... Lord: The disciples borrow language from Psalm 118:26, “The one who enters in the Lord's name is blessed;” but they add “king” to it. Peace... heavens: See Luke 2:14.

19:39 The Pharisees are upset because the disciples call Jesus “king,” which the Romans could take as an act of rebellion.

19:40 the stones would shout: Jesus knows what lies in store for him is God's plan and can't be resisted.

19:41-44 he wept: The disciples call him “king,” but he acts like a prophet. First, he weeps as Elijah did when he predicted the downfall of Israel (2 Kgs 8:11-13). If only you knew: Second, he offers the chance for the people “to change their hearts and lives” (Luke 5:32) and thus be spared. The time will come: Third, he predicts Jerusalem will be besieged and destroyed and its inhabitants crushed (Luke 13:35; 21:6; 23:29-31). This was fulfilled by the Roman army in 70 CE. the time of your gracious visit: language used by Zechariah in Luke 1:68.

19:45 threw out is the phrase used for expelling demons (Luke 8:2; 11:14).

19:46 It's written: Jesus quotes Isaiah 56:7 (as it appears in the Greek translation of the OT) and Jeremiah 7:11. In Luke

1:10 the temple was a house of prayer, but in Jesus' view it has become a safe haven for bandits (see Luke 20:45-47).

19:47 chief priests: heads of priestly families and advisors to the high priest. They are angered by Jesus' actions because they run the temple and are responsible for what happens in it. If there had been a riot when Jesus threw out the merchants, the Romans would have held them responsible. legal experts: advisors and secretaries to the chief priests. foremost leaders: also called the elders of the people (Luke 22:66). These were the heads of prominent nonpriestly family groups living in Jerusalem. The groups named in Luke 19:47 want to have Jesus killed, and eventually they arrest him (Luke 22:52); try him (Luke 22:66); and turn him over to Pilate on charges that, they argue, deserve the death penalty (Luke 23:1-5).

20:1 chief priests, legal experts, and elders: See Luke 9:22; 19:47.

20:2 What kind of authority... Who gave you: The chief priests had authority for deciding how things were done in the temple. They want to know why Jesus thinks he can order merchants out of the temple (Luke 19:45) and why he has chosen to teach there every day (Luke 19:47).

20:3 John's baptism: Was John the Baptist a true prophet sent from God or not?

20:7 they didn't know: This isn't true. They don't believe

Parable of the tenant farmers

<sup>9</sup>Jesus told the people this parable: “A certain man planted a vineyard, rented it to tenant farmers, and went on a trip for a long time. <sup>10</sup>When it was time, he sent a servant to collect from the tenants his share of the fruit of the vineyard. But the tenants sent him away, beaten and empty-handed. <sup>11</sup>The man sent another servant. But they beat him, treated him disgracefully, and sent him away empty-handed as well. <sup>12</sup>He sent a third servant. They wounded this servant and threw him out. <sup>13</sup>The owner of the vineyard said, ‘What should I do? I’ll send my son, whom I love dearly. Perhaps they will respect him.’ <sup>14</sup>But when they saw him, they said to each other, ‘This is the heir. Let’s kill him so the inheritance will be ours.’ <sup>15</sup>They threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. What will the owner of the vineyard do to them? <sup>16</sup>He will come and destroy those tenants and give the vineyard to others.”

When the people heard this, they said, “May this never happen!”

<sup>17</sup>Staring at them, Jesus said, “Then what is the meaning of this text of scripture: The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone?” <sup>18</sup>Everyone who falls on that stone will be crushed. And the stone will crush the person it falls on.” <sup>19</sup>The legal experts and chief priests wanted to arrest him right then because they knew he had told this parable against them. But they feared the people.

An attempt to trap Jesus

<sup>20</sup>The legal experts and chief priests were watching Jesus closely and sent spies who pretended to be sincere. They wanted to trap him in his words so they could hand him over to the jurisdiction and authority of the governor. <sup>21</sup>They asked him, “Teacher, we know that you are correct in what you say and teach. You don’t show favoritism but teach God’s way as it really is. <sup>22</sup>Does the Law allow people to pay taxes to Caesar or not?”

“Caesar’s,” they replied.

<sup>25</sup>He said to them, “Give to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God.” <sup>26</sup>They couldn’t trap him in his words in front of the people. Astonished by his answer, they were speechless.

John was a true prophet, or they would have conducted their lives by his teachings (Luke 3:7-14; 7:29-30).

20:9 vineyard: Jesus’ parable draws from Isaiah 5:1-7, in which the vineyard owner is God and the vineyard is Israel. In Jesus’ parable the owner is God (see Luke 20:13, 15; 10:2); and the tenants are the temple leaders (Luke 20:19). tenant farmers: The owner, who lives elsewhere, has hired these people to tend the vineyard, harvesting and processing the grapes at the proper time. The farmers can keep a share and live on the property, but the land and most of the harvest belong to the owner.

20:10 beaten and empty-handed: In Luke 11:47-51 Jesus accused the legal experts of killing God’s messengers.

20:11 empty-handed: repeats Mary’s prediction of what God will do to the powerful through Jesus (Luke 1:53).

20:13 my son, whom I love dearly: God speaks these words about Jesus at his baptism (Luke 3:22).

20:14 the heir. Let’s kill him: The tenants mistake the owner’s patience for an unwillingness or an inability to respond. They believe that once the heir is dead, the owner will no longer have an interest in the property.

20:16 “May this never happen!”: The crowd’s response shows they know Jesus is predicting God’s destruction of the temple leaders, and they pray God won’t do that. Even though the crowd members are fascinated by Jesus’ teachings (Luke 19:48), they don’t want to see the temple destroyed and its leaders killed.

20:17 The stone: See Psalm 118:22; 1 Peter 2:7; Acts 4:11.

20:18 crush: Those who reject Jesus will be judged by him (Luke 2:34; 9:26; 13:25-29; 1 Pet 2:8).

20:19 feared the people: See Luke 19:47-48.

20:20 spies: The temple authorities send people to blend in with the crowds (Luke 20:19) and ask a trick question. hand him over. They want a charge Pilate will take seriously (see Luke 23:2, where they accuse Jesus of rebellion against Rome).

20:21 we know that you are correct: They’re actually telling the truth, even though they don’t believe what they’re saying.

20:22 the Law: Moses’ Law, which doesn’t have a rule about taxes paid to an empire but does have rules about offerings owed to God. to Caesar: Rome required taxes from the subjects of the empire. Rome expected the temple leaders, who sent the spies, to assist in the orderly collection of the taxes. See sidebar, “Tax Collectors” at Luke 3.

20:23 recognized their deception: See Luke 2:35; 5:22; 6:8; 11:17.

20:24 Show me a coin: Jesus asks them to show him a denarius, which would have had Tiberius’ picture stamped on it. Jews considered such coins idols, especially since some people honored the emperor as divine. As a result, the spies shouldn’t have had one inside the temple. The spies carry Caesar’s coin and take their orders from the temple leaders who help collect Caesar’s taxes. Their question is thoroughly hypocritical.

20:25 “Give to Caesar . . . and to God”: Many early Christians understood this to mean “Pay your taxes and respect the government, but your ultimate allegiance is for God.” In Luke, though, Jesus asks his followers to give away their money to the poor (Luke 12:33; 14:33) and to give themselves completely to God (Luke 10:27-28; 12:31).

20:26 the people: See Luke 19:48; 20:19.

Question about the resurrection

<sup>34</sup>Jesus said to them, "People who belong to this age marry and are given in marriage. <sup>35</sup>But those who are considered worthy to participate in that age, that is, in the age of the resurrection from the dead, won't marry nor will they be given in marriage. <sup>36</sup>They can no longer die, because they are like angels and are God's children since they share in the resurrection. <sup>37</sup>Even Moses demonstrated that the dead are raised—in the passage about the burning bush, when he speaks of the Lord as the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob." <sup>38</sup>He isn't the God of the dead but of the living. To him they are all alive."

<sup>41</sup>Jesus said to them, "Why do they say that the Christ is David's son? <sup>42</sup>David himself says in the scroll of Psalms, The Lord said to my lord, 'Sit at my right side <sup>43</sup>until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet." <sup>44</sup>Since David calls him 'Lord,' how can he be David's son?"

Jesus condemns the legal experts

The Synagogues A synagogue was a congregation of Jews who met regularly to pray and receive instruction. Archaeologists have identified several 1st-century CE synagogue buildings, all with a similar floor plan: a rectangular interior with stadium-style bench seating that wraps around both long sides and one short side, with decorated columns in the open center. The speaker stood to read (Luke 4:16) and sat to speak (Luke 4:20) at the short end without benches. The "most prominent seats" (Luke 11:43) were at floor level nearest the speaker. Inscriptions indicate synagogues were managed by groups of people called "synagogue rulers," or "synagogue leaders" (Luke 13:14). Sometimes this title was given to women as well as men. In the 1st century, "rabbi," or "Teacher" (Luke 7:40), was an informal title of respect. It didn't refer to an ordained minister serving a congregation.

20:27 Sadducees: Jesus, the Pharisees, and probably most Jews in Jesus' time believed that someday God would raise the dead, judge the wicked, and reward the righteous with eternal life. The Sadducees didn't, holding to the more ancient Jewish view that the dead stay eternally in Sheol, the underground dwelling of the spirits of the dead (Ps 88:4-6; see 1 Sam 28:3-19, where the ghost of Samuel is brought up from Sheol). The Sadducees appear in Acts 4-5; 23, where they're part of the leadership of the temple.

20:28 Moses: By this rule, called "levirate marriage," the living brother marries the widow, but the widow's children are considered the dead man's descendants, and they inherit his property (see Deut 25:5). In the Sadducees' imaginary case there are no children, so there are seven successive marriages.

20:33 whose wife: The Sadducees attempt to scoff at belief in a resurrection. They assume Moses' Law will govern life in the resurrection and the resurrected life will be much the same as life now, with men and women having sexual needs. The idea of seven brothers all living with the same woman as a wife would be what Leviticus calls a "detestable" practice.

20:34-38 Jesus' answer explains that after the resurrection, when people live eternally, there will be no need for children, and thus no marriage, and thus no sexual activity. 20:37 Moses: Jesus quotes Exodus 3:6, 15-16. Jesus believes (as the Pharisees do) that these ancestors are already enjoying the blessings of God's presence (see Luke 16:22-23).

20:39 Some of the legal experts agree with Jesus and most other Jews that God is going to raise the dead someday (Acts 23:6-10).

20:41 the Christ is David's son: The Christ was to be from David's line, like the ancient kings of Judah from Solomon through Jehoiakin. See Luke 18:38; see note on Luke 18:38. 20:42 David: Jesus quotes Psalm 110:1, interpreting it as a conversation between God (The Lord) and the promised "anointed one" or "Christ" (my lord), in which God tells the future Christ to wait patiently for God to destroy Christ's enemies. Usually a son called his father or grandfather "lord," not the opposite. None of those who question Jesus offer an answer (as in Luke 14:6).

20:46 legal experts: the advisors to the temple leaders, who are part of the group trying to have Jesus killed (Luke 19:47). long robes: a sign of their wealth and status, markets. They long for the places of honor in the synagogues and at banquets. <sup>47</sup>They are the ones who cheat widows out of their homes, and to show off they say long prayers. They will be judged most harshly.”

A poor widow's offering

21 Looking up, Jesus saw rich people throwing their gifts into the collection box for the temple treasury. <sup>2</sup>He also saw a poor widow throw in two small copper coins worth a penny.<sup>3</sup> He said, “I assure you that this poor widow has put in more than them all. <sup>4</sup>All of them are giving out of their spare change. But she from her hopeless poverty has given everything she had to live on.”

The temple's fate

<sup>5</sup>Some people were talking about the temple, how it was decorated with beautiful stones and ornaments dedicated to God. Jesus said, <sup>6</sup>“As for the things you are admiring, the time is coming when not even one stone will be left upon another. All will be demolished.”

<sup>7</sup>They asked him, “Teacher, when will these things happen? What sign will show that these things are about to happen?”

<sup>8</sup>Jesus said, “Watch out that you aren't deceived. Many will come in my name, saying, ‘I'm the one!’ and ‘It's time!’ Don't follow them. <sup>9</sup>When you hear of wars and rebellions, don't be alarmed. These things must happen first, but the end won't happen immediately.”

<sup>10</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “Nations and kingdoms will fight against each other. <sup>11</sup>There will be great earthquakes and wide-scale food shortages and epidemics. There will also be terrifying sights and great signs in the sky. <sup>12</sup>But before all this occurs, they will take you into custody and harass you because of your faith. They will hand you over to synagogues and prisons, and you will be brought before kings and governors because of my name. <sup>13</sup>This will provide you with an opportunity to testify. <sup>14</sup>Make up your minds not to prepare your defense in advance. <sup>15</sup>I'll give you words and wisdom that none of your opponents will be able to counter or contradict. <sup>16</sup>You will be betrayed by your parents, brothers and sisters, relatives, and friends. They will execute some of you. <sup>17</sup>Everyone will hate you because of my name. <sup>18</sup>Still, not a hair on your heads will be lost. <sup>19</sup>By holding fast, you will gain your lives.

<sup>20</sup>“When you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then you will know that its destruction is close at hand. <sup>21</sup>At that time, those in Judea must flee to the mountains, those in the demonstrating they do no physical labor. greeted with honor: another sign of status. They are important enough that others need to greet them with respect. places of honor: See sidebar “The Synagogues” at Luke 20.

20:47 cheat widows: maybe by advising unjust judges (as in the parable in Luke 18:1-8), or maybe by advising the temple leaders, who encourage widows to give more than they can afford (Luke 21:1-4). long prayers: Jesus' model prayer is very short (Luke 11:2-4).

21:1 Looking up: from his critique of the rich legal experts who rob widows of their homes (Luke 20:45-47). collection box: Thirteen of these were spaced around the outer court of the temple.

21:2 worth a penny: approximately 1/64th of the typical daily wage for an unskilled laborer.

21:3 Jesus praises the poor widow for her generous gift and criticizes the wealthy and powerful for their part in causing her poverty (Luke 20:47).

21:6 not even one stone: Jesus' third prediction of the destruction of the temple (see Luke 13:35; 19:41-44).

21:7 What sign: The disciples naturally want to know when the disaster will happen and how to recognize when it's close, but see Luke 17:20-21.

21:8-11 Many will come: This begins a list of things that don't actually signal the end. False teachers (see Luke 17:23) and wars and rebellions prove nothing, so don't be fooled. Likewise, earthquakes, food shortages, and epidemics—things most ancient people regarded as signs of bad things to come—will happen, but they aren't signs of the end. Jesus' followers will be harassed, but this isn't a sign of the end either.

21:12 hand you over to synagogues: Examples follow in Acts, where Saul and other temple leaders tried to stop Jesus' followers. kings and governors: For kings, see Acts 12:1-5; 25:23-26:32. For governors, see Acts 18:12-17; 23:23-26:32.

21:15 words and wisdom: Jesus (or the Spirit) will inspire his followers at their moment of trial (Luke 12:11-12; Acts 4:8; 6:15; 13:9).

21:16 betrayed: Loyalty to Jesus will divide households (Luke 12:52-53). execute some of you: Stephen (Acts 7:54-8:1) and James, son of Zebedee (Acts 12:2), are two of many who will be killed.

21:18 not a hair: Jesus predicts some will die, this promise must mean God will grant them eternal life, provided they maintain their faith (see Luke 12:4-7).

21:20 Jerusalem surrounded: The Jewish war of rebellion (66-70 CE) ended when the Romans, after laying siege to Jerusalem, broke through the defenses, killed or enslaved the defenders, and burned the temple.

city must escape, and those in the countryside must not enter the city. <sup>22</sup>These are the days of punishment, when everything written will find its fulfillment. <sup>23</sup>How terrible it will be at that time for women who are pregnant or for women who are nursing their children. There will be great agony on the earth and angry judgment on this people. <sup>24</sup>They will fall by the edge of the sword and be taken away as captives among all nations. Jerusalem will be plundered by Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles are concluded.

<sup>25</sup>“There will be signs in the sun, moon, and stars. On the earth, there will be dismay among nations in their confusion over the roaring of the sea and surging waves. <sup>26</sup>The planets and other heavenly bodies will be shaken, causing people to faint from fear and foreboding of what is coming upon the world. <sup>27</sup>Then they will see the Human One* coming on a cloud with power and great splendor. <sup>28</sup>Now when these things begin to happen, stand up straight and raise your heads, because your redemption is near.”

A lesson from the fig tree

<sup>34</sup>“Take care that your hearts aren’t dulled by drinking parties, drunkenness, and the anxieties of day-to-day life. Don’t let that day fall upon you unexpectedly, <sup>35</sup>like a trap. It will come upon everyone who lives on the face of the whole earth. <sup>36</sup>Stay alert at all times, praying that you are strong enough to escape everything that is about to happen and to stand before the Human One.”<sup>f</sup>

<sup>37</sup>Every day Jesus was teaching in the temple, but he spent each night on the Mount of Olives. <sup>38</sup>All the people rose early in the morning to hear him in the temple area.

Plot to kill Jesus

22The Festival of Unleavened Bread, which is called Passover, was approaching. <sup>2</sup>The chief priests and the legal experts were looking for a way to kill Jesus, because they were afraid of the people. <sup>3</sup>Then Satan entered Judas, called Iscariot, who was one of the Twelve. <sup>4</sup>He went out and discussed with the chief priests and the officers of the temple guard how he could hand Jesus over to them. <sup>5</sup>They were delighted and arranged payment

21:22 everything written: predictions by OT prophets of suffering to come on the people of Jerusalem (e.g., Zech 14:1-2; Jer 21:7).

21:24 times of the Gentiles: Jerusalem will be under Gentile control for an indefinite period of time. This period will come after the destruction of the temple predicted in Luke 21:6 but before Jesus’ return (Luke 21:27). Luke’s first readers would have known they were living during that period.

21:25 signs: cosmic disturbances just prior to Jesus’ return. The signs will be universally visible; nobody will need to guess, but everyone will be terrified.

21:27 the Human One: See sidebar, “The Human One in Luke” at Luke 5.

21:28 your redemption: Jesus’ followers will know their reward is close when they see Jesus returning. This won’t provide much advance warning, emphasizing the importance of being always ready (Luke 12:35-40; 21:34-36).

21:29-31 Just as leaves on the fig tree are a sign of summer’s approach, so these things predict Jesus’ approach. In context, these things are the cosmic disturbances predicted in Luke 21:25-26, universally visible and obvious.

21:32 this generation: The generation seeing the signs predicted in Luke 21:25-26 will also see Jesus’ return. In Luke 21:33 Jesus testifies to the reliability of his promise.

21:34 your hearts: in Jesus’ time, the place where people thought and made decisions. dulled: See similar warnings in Luke 8:14; 12:45; 16:19. that day: Judgment Day, when Jesus returns.

21:35 like a trap: The sudden approach of Judgment Day is also emphasized in Luke 12:35-48; 17:26-35.

21:36 Stay alert: See Luke 12:38. praying: Jesus promises to help those who are being harassed (Luke 21:15) but warns his followers that remaining faithful will be hard. stand before the Human One: On Judgment Day everyone’s fate will be determined by Jesus in his role as the Human One. Those who are permitted to stand will be those to whom he grants eternal life (see Luke 12:8-9).

21:37-38 This explains why the temple leaders couldn’t seize him earlier: the crowds surrounded him during the day, and he left the city every night.

22:1 Festival of Unleavened Bread . . . Passover: See Exodus 12:1-28; Leviticus 23:4-8; Luke 2:41.

22:2 chief priests: The temple leaders didn’t want to start a riot at a time when many faithful travelers were in Jerusalem for the festival (see Luke 20:19).

22:3 Satan entered Judas: See John 13:2.

for him. <sup>6</sup>He agreed and began looking for an opportunity to hand Jesus over to them—a time when the crowds would be absent.

Disciples prepare for the Passover

<sup>10</sup>Jesus replied, “When you go into the city, a man carrying a water jar will meet you. Follow him to the house he enters. <sup>11</sup>Say to the owner of the house, ‘The teacher says to you, ‘Where is the guestroom where I can eat the Passover meal with my disciples?’ ’ <sup>12</sup>He will show you a large upstairs room, already furnished. Make preparations there.” <sup>13</sup>They went and found everything just as he had told them, and they prepared the Passover meal.

<sup>14</sup>When the time came, Jesus took his place at the table, and the apostles joined him.

<sup>15</sup>He said to them, “I have earnestly desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer. <sup>16</sup>I tell you, I won’t eat it until it is fulfilled in God’s kingdom.” <sup>17</sup>After taking a cup and giving thanks, he said, “Take this and share it among yourselves. <sup>18</sup>I tell you that from now on I won’t drink from the fruit of the vine until God’s kingdom has come.” <sup>19</sup>After taking the bread and giving thanks, he broke it and gave it to them, saying, “This is my body, which is given for you. Do this in remembrance of me.” <sup>20</sup>In the same way, he took the cup after the meal and said, “This cup is the new covenant by my blood, which is poured out for you.

22:6 opportunity: Judas agrees to tell the temple leaders when and where they can grab Jesus without public knowledge.

22:7 when the Passover had to be sacrificed: Exodus 12:3, 8-10 requires that the Passover lamb be killed during the day prior to the first night of the festival and completely eaten that night. Jews who celebrated Passover in Jerusalem took their lambs to the temple so the priests could kill them. Thus Luke calls it a sacrifice, even though it wasn’t a sin offering.

22:8 the Passover meal: The first night of the festival involves a special meal that includes unleavened bread, bitter herbs, salt water, and a sweet fruit mixture, along with the lamb and other vegetables.

22:10 man carrying a water jar: work for women or slaves. Male slaves sometimes doubled as fieldworkers and household servants (Luke 17:7-8).

22:11-12 guestroom: a spare room on the second floor of the house, nicely furnished and available for the Passover feast. In Bethlehem this room was already occupied (Luke 2:7), but now Jesus, as a prophet, knows where he and his disciples can find a place.

22:14 took his place at the table: This is the first formal dinner in Luke at which Jesus is the host.

22:16 I won’t eat it: probably means “I won’t eat it again” because of the use of the phrase “after the meal” in Luke 22:20. until it is fulfilled: God’s kingdom will be like a banquet where there’s plenty to eat (Luke 13:29; 14:15; 22:30). Jesus’ first vow is a promise to Luke’s readers that the kingdom truly will come.

22:17 taking a cup: This first cup is shared with the apostles just before Jesus’ vow in Luke 22:18 (see Luke 22:20). Only Luke’s Gospel has two cups (see Luke 22:20; see sidebar, “The Last Supper in Luke”).

22:18 I won’t drink: Jesus’ second vow (Luke 22:16) is also meant to assure readers that God’s kingdom will come, when he and they will share God’s great banquet.

22:19 taking the bread: In the Passover meal the unleavened bread is shared to remember how the Hebrews left Egypt in haste (Exod 12:39). “This is my body... in remembrance of me”: From now on for Jesus’ followers, the bread will serve as an image of his death, which is given for you: Jesus’ death and resurrection, like his life and teaching, proclaim God’s salvation (Luke 23:34, 43; 24:26, 46-47).

22:20 the cup after the meal: A normal Passover meal includes four cups of wine. This is Luke’s second cup (see Luke 22:17). the new covenant: from Jeremiah 31:31-34, which predicts a new agreement between God and God’s people. by my blood: In OT thought a person’s life force was in that person’s blood, which was sacred to God (Gen 9:4-6). Thus Jesus’ blood would be one and the same with his life. poured out for you: parallel to “given for you” (see note on Luke 22:19).

22:21 My betrayer: Judas shares in the now-finished meal, emphasizing his betrayal and Jesus’ offer of grace even to his enemies.

22:22 The Human One: See sidebar, “The Human One in Luke” at Luke 5. just as it has been determined: Luke understood Jesus’ death to be predicted by the OT (Luke 24:26-27, 46) as well as being what happens to any true prophet (Luke 13:33-34). how terrible: Even though Jesus’ death is expected, Judas is still responsible for his part in causing it (see Acts 1:16-20).

22:23 They began to argue: They believe Jesus’ prediction and begin to argue about who might betray him (Luke 22:24).

The disciples debate greatness

<sup>25</sup>But Jesus said to them, “The kings of the Gentiles rule over their subjects, and those in authority over them are called ‘friends of the people.’ <sup>26</sup>But that’s not the way it will be with you. Instead, the greatest among you must become like a person of lower status and the leader like a servant. <sup>27</sup>So which one is greater, the one who is seated at the table or the one who serves at the table? Isn’t it the one who is seated at the table? But I am among you as one who serves.

<sup>28</sup>“You are the ones who have continued with me in my trials. <sup>29</sup>And I confer royal power on you just as my Father granted royal power to me. <sup>30</sup>Thus you will eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and you will sit on thrones overseeing the twelve tribes of Israel.

Peter’s denial predicted

<sup>34</sup>Jesus replied, “I tell you, Peter, the rooster won’t crow today before you have denied three times that you know me.”

Call for preparedness

<sup>35</sup>Jesus said to them, “When I sent you out without a wallet, bag, or sandals, you didn’t lack anything, did you?”

They said, “Nothing.”

<sup>36</sup>Then he said to them, “But now, whoever has a wallet must take it, and likewise a bag. And those who don’t own a sword must sell their clothes and buy one. <sup>37</sup>I tell you that this scripture must be fulfilled in relation to me: And he was counted among criminals.<sup>b</sup> Indeed, what’s written about me is nearing completion.”

22:24 regarded as the greatest: Following the argument in Luke 22:23, this is meant to seem ridiculous.

22:25 kings of the Gentiles: non-Jewish rulers, such as the emperor. are called ‘friends of the people’: Rulers want to be called “benefactors” (i.e., those who generously support other people), but they actually use their authority to make others obey.

22:26 greatest... servant: Among Jesus’ followers there are to be no differences in status.

22:27 which one is greater: In Jesus’ culture the one reclining to eat is of higher status than the slave who serves the meal. as one who serves: See Luke 9:48. Jesus, the clear leader, is a servant leader. Luke and other early Christians understood Jesus to be the Lord’s servant portrayed in Isaiah 40–55 (see Luke 22:37; see sidebar, “I Am Among You as One Who Serves” at Luke 24).

22:28 my trials: In Luke the disciples don’t completely abandon Jesus when he’s arrested and crucified (Luke 23:49).

22:29 royal power: or “a kingdom,” by which he means God’s kingdom promised to them in Luke 12:32.

22:30 eat and drink: For Jesus’ vow to neither eat nor drink until he could do both in God’s coming kingdom, see Luke 22:16, 18. my kingdom: God gave the kingdom to Jesus (Luke 22:29), and Jesus is now giving it to his followers. thrones: Gabriel promised Mary that Jesus would “rule over Jacob’s house forever” (Luke 1:33). Jesus makes the same promise to his followers.

22:31 Simon: Peter’s given name (see note on Luke 5:2).

Satan: In Luke 22:3 Satan took possession of Judas and wants to do the same to all Jesus’ followers. sift you all: an image for separating wheat kernels from the stalks, which are bundled for burning as fuel (see note on Luke 3:17).

22:32 When... returned: Peter will deny Jesus (Luke 22:54-62), but his faith will return (Luke 23:49; 24:34). strengthen your brothers and sisters: Peter is the leader of the first group of Jesus’ followers to preach salvation in Jesus’ name (Acts 1–12).

22:33 I’m ready: He shows that he isn’t. to prison: See Acts 4:18-21; 12:3-17. to death: Ancient tradition holds that Peter was crucified in Rome when Nero was emperor, around 64 CE (see John 21:18-19).

22:35 lack: In Luke 9:1-6; 10:1-12, Jesus told his followers to take no money and no supplies on their preaching missions. Supported by the contributions they have received (Luke 10:7-8), they lack nothing.

22:36 But now: Jesus exaggerates to stress how dangerous things will be for his followers. He doesn’t literally intend for them to sell their clothes and go naked in order to buy a sword.

22:37 counted among criminals: Jesus quotes Isaiah 53:12, one of Isaiah’s poems about the Lord’s servant. Jesus is likely predicting his death between two criminals (Luke 23:32-43), but then the disciples fulfill the prophecy in a different way (Luke 22:49-50). nearing completion: See note on Luke 22:22.

22:38 swords: The disciples take Luke 22:36 literally, a mistake. But why do two of them own swords when Jesus has

The Last Supper in Luke In Luke's account of the Last Supper, Jesus vows not to eat (Luke 22:15-16) or drink (Luke 22:17-18) anymore until God's kingdom arrives. Then he offers the disciples bread (Luke 22:19) and wine (Luke 22:20). Some early manuscripts lack Luke 22:19b-20, "which is given for you . . . poured out for you," and some scholars believe this shorter version is the original version. This would mean Luke's original account had the cup (Luke 22:17-18) before the bread (Luke 22:19) and that the cup symbolized Jesus' promise that the kingdom banquet was coming but not Jesus' death. The CEB translators consider the longer text presented here to be the original.

Jesus in prayer

<sup>39</sup>Jesus left and made his way to the Mount of Olives, as was his custom, and the disciples followed him. <sup>40</sup>When he arrived, he said to them, "Pray that you won't give in to temptation." <sup>41</sup>He withdrew from them about a stone's throw, knelt down, and prayed. <sup>42</sup>He said, "Father, if it's your will, take this cup of suffering away from me. However, not my will but your will must be done." <sup>43</sup>Then a heavenly angel appeared to him and strengthened him. <sup>44</sup>He was in anguish and prayed even more earnestly. His sweat became like drops of blood falling on the ground. <sup>45</sup>When he got up from praying, he went to the disciples. He found them asleep, overcome by grief. <sup>46</sup>He said to them, "Why are you sleeping? Get up and pray so that you won't give in to temptation."

Jesus' arrest

<sup>52</sup>Then Jesus said to the chief priests, the officers of the temple guard, and the elders who had come to get him, "Have you come with swords and clubs to arrest me, as though I were a thief?" <sup>53</sup>Day after day I was with you in the temple, but you didn't arrest me. But this is your time, when darkness rules."

told them to love rather than fight their enemies (Luke 6:27-38)? This is not their finest hour. "Enough of that!": Jesus is deeply annoyed with them.

22:39 Mount of Olives: During his stay in Jerusalem, Jesus spends the night on the Mount of Olives (Luke 21:37).

22:40 "Pray that you won't give in to temptation": Satan has been trying to gain control of all of them (Luke 22:31) just as he took control of Judas (Luke 22:3). When saying the prayer Jesus taught his disciples, his followers ask God to preserve them from Satan's power (Luke 11:4).

22:42 Father: Jesus' normal address to God (Luke 10:21; 11:2; 23:34, 46). if it's your will: Jesus, who has already predicted his death (Luke 9:22, 44; 13:33; 14:27; 18:31-33), knows that any change in plans is up to God. this cup of suffering: or "this cup," which is often a biblical symbol for God's destiny for a person or the nation. For the disobedient, it's often a "cup of wrath" (e.g., Isa 51:17); but for the faithful, it's a "cup of salvation" (e.g., Ps 116:13). Jesus has already used a cup as an image of the new covenant that began with his death and resurrection (Luke 22:20), so this cup probably refers to the whole experience Jesus is about to face—suffering, death, and resurrection. your will must be done: As Mary obeyed God (Luke 1:38), so does Jesus.

22:43 heavenly angel: Angels appeared in order to predict Jesus' birth (Luke 1:26) and to announce it (Luke 2:8-14); and Moses and Elijah appeared in order to speak with Jesus about his coming death (Luke 9:30-31). Now angels are appearing in order to strengthen Jesus in this time of testing. This scene is similar to how the angel Gabriel came to Daniel's aid (Dan 8:16-17; 9:21-22).

22:44 He was in anguish: unusually strong language. It means Jesus is struggling so hard mentally that there are physical effects. like drops of blood: Jesus' sweat is dripping off him in big drops.

22:45 overcome by grief: Luke doesn't want readers to think the disciples are utter failures or care nothing for their Lord (see Luke 23:49).

22:47 crowd: See Luke 22:52. approached Jesus to kiss him: a normal greeting in Jesus' culture. For early Christians, it was a symbol of Christian unity (e.g., 1 Pet 5:14).

22:48 the Human One: See sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5.

22:49 "Lord, should we fight with our swords?": The disciples, who misunderstood Jesus' statement in Luke 22:36, should know better. "Love your enemies" (Luke 6:27) should keep them from doing what they're about to do (see note on Luke 22:38).

22:51 No more of this!: Jesus' followers are not to use violence against their enemies (see Luke 22:38).

22:52 chief priests: See note on Luke 19:47. the temple guard: Jewish soldiers who kept order and guarded valuables in the temple. the elders: See note on Luke 19:47.

22:53 when darkness rules: Satan is actively trying to take control of events (see Luke 22:3, 31, 40, 46).

Peter denies knowing Jesus

<sup>54</sup>After they arrested Jesus, they led him away and brought him to the high priest's house. Peter followed from a distance. <sup>55</sup>When they lit a fire in the middle of the courtyard and sat down together, Peter sat among them.

22:55 Mt 26:69;
Mk 14:66;
Jn 18:16,

Jn 18:25,
Jn 18:26

<sup>57</sup>But Peter denied it, saying, "Woman, I don't know him!"

<sup>58</sup>A little while later, someone else saw him and said, "You are one of them too."

But Peter said, "Man, I'm not!"

22:60 Lk 22:34

<sup>59</sup>An hour or so later, someone else insisted, "This man must have been with him, because he is a Galilean too."

Mk 14:72

<sup>60</sup>Peter responded, "Man, I don't know what you are talking about!" At that very moment, while he was still speaking, a rooster crowed. <sup>61</sup>The Lord turned and looked straight at Peter, and Peter remembered the Lord's words: "Before a rooster crows today, you will deny me three times." <sup>62</sup>And Peter went out and cried uncontrollably.

Jesus taunted

<sup>63</sup>The men who were holding Jesus in custody taunted him while they beat him. <sup>64</sup>They blindfolded him and asked him repeatedly, "Prophecy! Who hit you?" <sup>65</sup>Insulting him, they said many other horrible things against him.

<sup>67</sup>They said, "If you are the Christ, tell us!"

He answered, "If I tell you, you won't believe. <sup>68</sup>And if I ask you a question, you won't answer. <sup>69</sup>But from now on, the Human One<sup>1</sup> will be seated on the right side of the power of God."<sup>k</sup>

22:69 Ps 110:1;

Jesus before Pilate

23 The whole assembly got up and led Jesus to Pilate and <sup>2</sup>began to accuse him. They said, "We have found this man misleading our people, opposing the payment of taxes to Caesar, and claiming that he is the Christ, a king."

Jesus replied, "That's what you say."

22:56 servant woman: a female slave who worked in the high priest's household.

22:59 Galilean: identified by his accent or his clothing.

22:61 The Lord ... looked: Either Jesus is also being led in the courtyard, or he's in a room off the courtyard and sees Peter through the open door. three times: See Luke 22:34.

22:63 taunted: See Luke 18:31-33. By placing this scene before the questioning begins, Luke stresses how unfair Jesus' trial is.

22:65 Insulting him: See Luke 23:35-39.

22:66 brought before their council: elders and chief priests were the most prominent Jewish leaders in Jerusalem (see note on Luke 19:47).

22:67 won't believe: Jesus refuses to answer their question, perhaps because they're torturing him (Luke 22:63-65), showing they won't change their minds.

22:69 the Human One: See sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5. will be seated: Quoting from Psalm 110:1, Jesus predicts his resurrection (see Acts 2:32-36, where Peter does the same).

22:70 You say: Jesus refuses to answer (see Luke 22:67-68).

22:71 We've heard it: They treat his nonanswer as a confession.

23:2 misleading our people: the first of three false accusations. A prophet who leads people astray from God is to be executed (Deut 13:1-5). Yet a typical crowd reaction to Jesus in Luke is to praise God (Luke 5:26; 7:16; 13:17). taxes to Caesar: another false charge (see Luke 20:20-26). claiming ... king: Jesus never claims this, though his disciples do (Luke 19:38; 23:3).

23:3 king of the Jews: the title the Romans assigned to Herod the Great (father of Herod Antipas, who appears in Luke 23:6-12). Gabriel predicted Jesus "will rule over Jacob's house forever" (Luke 1:33); but in Luke's understanding, the resurrected Jesus rules at God's right side over everyone (Luke 23:69; Acts 1:29-36). "That's what you say": Jesus isn't a king like Herod. But as the Human One, he'll rule everyone; so the answer to Pilate's question isn't yes or no.

23:4 no legal basis: Pilate sees no real case against Jesus. The temple leaders accuse Jesus of being an agitator, stirring up trouble. Their mention of Galilee brings Herod Antipas into the story.

Jesus before Herod

<sup>6</sup>Hearing this, Pilate asked if the man was a Galilean. <sup>7</sup>When he learned that Jesus was from Herod’s district, Pilate sent him to Herod, who was also in Jerusalem at that time. <sup>8</sup>Herod was very glad to see Jesus, for he had heard about Jesus and had wanted to see him for quite some time. He was hoping to see Jesus perform some sign. <sup>9</sup>Herod questioned Jesus at length, but Jesus didn’t respond to him. <sup>10</sup>The chief priests and the legal experts were there, fiercely accusing Jesus. <sup>11</sup>Herod and his soldiers treated Jesus with contempt. Herod mocked him by dressing Jesus in elegant clothes and sent him back to Pilate. <sup>12</sup>Pilate and Herod became friends with each other that day. Before this, they had been enemies.

Jesus and Barabbas

<sup>13</sup>Then Pilate called together the chief priests, the rulers, and the people. <sup>14</sup>He said to them, “You brought this man before me as one who was misleading the people. I have questioned him in your presence and found nothing in this man’s conduct that provides a legal basis for the charges you have brought against him. <sup>15</sup>Neither did Herod, because Herod returned him to us. He’s done nothing that deserves death. <sup>16</sup>Therefore, I’ll have him whipped, then let him go.”<sup>1</sup>

<sup>22</sup>For the third time, Pilate said to them, “Why? What wrong has he done? I’ve found no legal basis for the death penalty in his case. Therefore, I will have him whipped, then let him go.”

<sup>23</sup>But they were adamant, shouting their demand that Jesus be crucified. Their voices won out. <sup>24</sup>Pilate issued his decision to grant their request. <sup>25</sup>He released the one they asked for, who had been thrown into prison because of a riot and murder. But he handed Jesus over to their will.

<sup>26</sup>As they led Jesus away, they grabbed Simon, a man from Cyrene, who was coming in from the countryside. They put the cross on his back and made him carry it behind Jesus. <sup>27</sup>A huge crowd of people followed Jesus, including women, who were mourning and wailing

23:7 Herod Antipas ruled Galilee from 4 BCE to 39 CE. He was appointed to this position by the emperor. Pilate governed Judea and Samaria, so sending Jesus to Antipas was a courtesy. Herod, who was Jewish, was in Jerusalem for Passover.

23:8 wanted to see him: See Luke 9:9; 13:31.

23:11 elegant clothes: or a “shining robe.” Their mocking resembles how God dressed Jesus at the transformation (Luke 9:29) and foreshadows the resurrection (Luke 24:4). sent him back: Herod returns Pilate’s courtesy, acknowledging Rome’s ultimate power in Israel at this time.

23:13 the rulers, and the people: or “the rulers of the people.” Three groups are present: the temple leaders, the nonpriestly heads of important families, and a crowd of ordinary people (see Luke 23:27).

23:15 nothing... death: Pilate sums up his and Antipas’ examination of Jesus.

23:16 whipped: Pilate thinks this might satisfy Jesus’ accusers: Jesus will be punished and warned to stay out of trouble.

23:18 one voice: Elite Romans hated mobs like the one Luke describes.

23:22 third time: Luke portrays Pilate as reasonable but weak. Pilate lets the mob’s voice overpower him, something no Roman governor could be proud of.

23:25 riot and murder: Luke stresses the irony of Jesus, declared innocent three times and being handed over to be executed, while the truly guilty man is released.

23:26 Cyrene: a city on the coast of modern-day Libya. Simon was most likely a Jew who had come to Jerusalem for Passover. the cross: probably only the horizontal bar. The vertical posts were left at the place of execution.

23:27 huge crowd... including women: nondisciples who will witness the crucifixion and be changed by it (Luke 23:48) as a first step toward the experience of Pentecost (Acts 2:14-41; Luke 23:23, 36, 37). mourning and wailing: This may be simply culturally appropriate behavior when someone is about to die (Luke 8:52), but it might indicate these women don’t approve of what is being done to Jesus.

for him. <sup>28</sup>Jesus turned to the women and said, "Daughters of Jerusalem, don't cry for me. Rather, cry for yourselves and your children. <sup>29</sup>The time will come when they will say, 'Happy are those who are unable to become pregnant, the wombs that never gave birth, and the breasts that never nursed a child.' <sup>30</sup>Then they will say to the mountains, 'Fall on us,' and to the hills, 'Cover us.' <sup>31</sup>If they do these things when the tree is green, what will happen when it is dry?"

Jesus on the cross

<sup>32</sup>They also led two other criminals to be executed with Jesus. <sup>33</sup>When they arrived at the place called The Skull, they crucified him, along with the criminals, one on his right and the other on his left. <sup>34</sup>Jesus said, "Father, forgive them, for they don't know what they're doing." They drew lots as a way of dividing up his clothing.

<sup>35</sup>The people were standing around watching, but the leaders sneered at him, saying, "He saved others. Let him save himself if he really is the Christ sent from God, the chosen one."

<sup>40</sup>Responding, the other criminal spoke harshly to him, "Don't you fear God, seeing that you've also been sentenced to die? <sup>41</sup>We are rightly condemned, for we are receiving the appropriate sentence for what we did. But this man has done nothing wrong." <sup>42</sup>Then he said, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom."

<sup>43</sup>Jesus replied, "I assure you that today you will be with me in paradise."

Jesus' death

<sup>44</sup>It was now about noon, and darkness covered the whole earth until about three o'clock, <sup>45</sup>while the sun stopped shining. Then the curtain in the sanctuary tore down the middle.

<sup>46</sup>Crying out in a loud voice, Jesus said, "Father, into your hands I entrust my life." <sup>47</sup>After he said this, he breathed for the last time.

<sup>48</sup>When the centurion saw what happened, he praised God, saying, "It's really true: this man was righteous." <sup>49</sup>All the crowds who had come together to see this event returned to their homes beating their chests after seeing what had happened. <sup>50</sup>And everyone who knew him, including the women who had followed him from Galilee, stood at a distance observing these things.

23:28 Daughters of Jerusalem: Jesus once again predicts the city will be destroyed (Luke 13:34-35; 19:41-44; 21:24), and that time will be especially hard for women and children (Luke 21:23).

23:31 when the tree is green: a proverb meaning "You think this is bad, but what will come will be far worse."

23:34 Father, forgive them: Jesus taught his followers to forgive everyone (Luke 11:4), even enemies (Luke 6:27-37). they don't know: They don't know they're crucifying God's Son (see Acts 3:11-17). drew lots: See Psalm 22:18.

23:35 He saved others: This is true, though they don't believe it, if... the Christ: They don't understand that to fulfill his destiny as God's Son, he can't save himself. He must die, putting his trust in God to deliver him.

23:38 king of the Jews: both true and not true. He isn't a king in the usual political sense, but he will rule all people as the Human One (see note on Luke 23:3; see sidebar, "The Human One in Luke" at Luke 5).

23:41 We are rightly condemned: Admitting that one is a sinner is, for Luke, a necessary step in following Jesus (see note on Luke 5:8). nothing wrong: This criminal agrees with Pilate and Herod.

23:42 Jesus, remember me: The criminal believes Jesus will rule over God's kingdom and hopes for admission. Jesus' promise in Luke 22:28-30 is extended to him also.

23:43 today... paradise: Jesus promises the criminal will be with him after death (see note on Luke 16:22-23).

23:44-45 darkness... sun stopped shining: signs of the coming disaster. curtain in the sanctuary: a sign the temple will be destroyed, just as Jesus has predicted (see Luke 21:5-6).

23:46 Father, into your hands: Jesus dies believing God will take care of him (Ps 31:5).

23:47 centurion: See note on Luke 7:2. praised God: a typical reaction in Luke from those who observe Jesus (Luke 5:26; 7:16; 13:17). righteous: The centurion concludes that Jesus was truly a godly person.

23:48 crowds... chests: In Luke 23:27 only women were mourning what was about to happen to Jesus. Now the whole crowd seems to regret it (cf. Acts 2:37).

23:49 everyone who knew him: Acts 1:13-15 describes this original group as the apostles, Jesus' mother and brothers, and other Galilean women, about 120 people in all. observing: witnesses to his death.

Jesus' burial

<sup>50</sup>Now there was a man named Joseph who was a member of the council. He was a good and righteous man. <sup>51</sup>He hadn't agreed with the plan and actions of the council. He was from the Jewish city of Arimathea and eagerly anticipated God's kingdom. <sup>52</sup>This man went to Pilate and asked for Jesus' body. <sup>53</sup>Taking it down, he wrapped it in a linen cloth and laid it in a tomb carved out of the rock, in which no one had ever been buried. <sup>54</sup>It was the Preparation Day for the Sabbath, and the Sabbath was quickly approaching. <sup>55</sup>The women who had come with Jesus from Galilee followed Joseph. They saw the tomb and how Jesus' body was laid in it, <sup>56</sup>then they went away and prepared fragrant spices and perfumed oils. They rested on the Sabbath, in keeping with the commandment.

24Very early in the morning on the first day of the week, the women went to the tomb, bringing the fragrant spices they had prepared. <sup>2</sup>They found the stone rolled away from the tomb, <sup>3</sup>but when they went in, they didn't find the body of the Lord Jesus. <sup>4</sup>They didn't know what to make of this. Suddenly, two men were standing beside them in gleaming bright clothing. <sup>5</sup>The women were frightened and bowed their faces toward the ground, but the men said to them, "Why do you look for the living among the dead? <sup>6</sup>He isn't here, but has been raised. Remember what he told you while he was still in Galilee, <sup>7</sup>that the Human One<sup>o</sup> must be handed over to sinners, be crucified, and on the third day rise again." <sup>8</sup>Then they remembered his words. <sup>9</sup>When they returned from the tomb, they reported all these things to the eleven and all the others. <sup>10</sup>It was Mary Magdalene, Joanna, Mary the mother of James, and the other women with them who told these things to the apostles. <sup>11</sup>Their words struck the apostles as nonsense, and they didn't believe the women. <sup>12</sup>But Peter ran to the tomb. When he bent over to look inside, he saw only the linen cloth. Then he returned home, wondering what had happened.

Encounter on the Emmaus road

<sup>13</sup>On that same day, two disciples were traveling to a village called Emmaus, about seven miles from Jerusalem. <sup>14</sup>They were talking to each other about everything that had happened. <sup>15</sup>While they were discussing these things, Jesus himself arrived and joined them on their journey. <sup>16</sup>They were prevented from recognizing him.

23:50 member of the council: a chief priest, an elder, or a legal expert (Luke 22:66). good and righteous: like Zechariah and Elizabeth (Luke 1:6).

23:51 Arimathea: most likely a village about 20 miles northwest of Jerusalem, in the hill country. eagerly anticipated: Luke doesn't identify Joseph as one of Jesus' disciples. See Luke 14:15, where a Pharisee hopes to share in God's kingdom.

23:52 asked . . . body: Criminals were to be buried on the same day they were executed (Deut 21:22-23). So Joseph probably wants to keep the commandments.

23:54 Sabbath: Work was forbidden beginning at sundown on Friday. This time was quickly approaching, so Joseph secures Jesus' body but doesn't properly prepare it for burial.

23:55 The tomb was like a room carved into rock, with holes cut into the walls into which corpses were placed. Jesus is laid out in this room, and then the entrance is blocked with a stone (Luke 24:2). women: Some who have followed Jesus (cf. Luke 8:2-3; 24:10) witness how Jesus' body is stored but not properly washed and anointed with oil, so they mark the spot and make preparations for an honorable burial after the Sabbath.

24:1 spices: See note on Luke 23:55.

24:2 the tomb: See note on Luke 23:55.

24:4 two men: like the pair who appeared at Jesus' transformation (Luke 9:30). gleaming bright clothing: indicating power from God (Luke 9:29-31).

24:6 Remember . . . you: Jesus predicted all this, beginning at Luke 9:22, while he was still in Galilee.

24:8 they remembered: The first step to understanding the empty tomb is to reflect on Jesus' teachings (see Luke 2:51, where Mary does this).

24:9 the eleven and all the others: Luke describes Judas' fate in Acts 1:18-19. According to Acts 1:13-15, there are about 120 people in all, including Jesus' family and a number of Galilean women.

24:10 Mary Magdalene, Joanna: See Luke 8:2-3. Mary the mother of James: "mother of James" could describe Jesus' mother (Acts 15:13); the mother of James and John, the sons of Zebedee (Luke 5:10; 6:14); or the mother of James, the son of Alphaeus (Luke 6:15).

24:11 didn't believe: These are women who've been with the group since Galilee (Luke 8:1-3), but the male disciples dismiss their testimony. James (whichever one is meant) doubts his own mother.

24:12 Peter: Peter sees the same thing the women did but can't make sense of it. In Luke 24:34 we're told Jesus appears to Peter separately (see 1 Cor 15:5, where he's called Cephas).

24:13 Emmaus: most likely the modern-day town of Qaloniyyeh, about three and a half miles from Jerusalem.

24:16 prevented from recognizing him: Similarly, angels sometimes appear to be ordinary humans (Gen 18:1-15; Heb 13:2).

<sup>17</sup>He said to them, "What are you talking about as you walk along?" They stopped, their faces downcast.

They said to him, "The things about Jesus of Nazareth. Because of his powerful deeds and words, he was recognized by God and all the people as a prophet. <sup>20</sup>But our chief priests and our leaders handed him over to be sentenced to death, and they crucified him. <sup>21</sup>We had hoped he was the one who would redeem Israel. All these things happened three days ago. <sup>22</sup>But there's more: Some women from our group have left us stunned. They went to the tomb early this morning <sup>23</sup>and didn't find his body. They came to us saying that they had even seen a vision of angels who told them he is alive. <sup>24</sup>Some of those who were with us went to the tomb and found things just as the women said. They didn't see him."

<sup>25</sup>Then Jesus said to them, "You foolish people! Your dull minds keep you from believing all that the prophets talked about. <sup>26</sup>Wasn't it necessary for the Christ to suffer these things and then enter into his glory?" <sup>27</sup>Then he interpreted for them the things written about himself in all the scriptures, starting with Moses and going through all the Prophets.

<sup>28</sup>When they came to Emmaus, he acted as if he was going on ahead. <sup>29</sup>But they urged him, saying, "Stay with us. It's nearly evening, and the day is almost over." So he went in to stay with them. <sup>30</sup>After he took his seat at the table with them, he took the bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them. <sup>31</sup>Their eyes were opened and they recognized him, but he disappeared from their sight. <sup>32</sup>They said to each other, "Weren't our hearts on fire when he spoke to us along the road and when he explained the scriptures for us?"

<sup>33</sup>They got up right then and returned to Jerusalem. They found the eleven and their companions gathered together. <sup>34</sup>They were saying to each other, "The Lord really has risen! He appeared to Simon!" <sup>35</sup>Then the two disciples described what had happened along the road and how Jesus was made known to them as he broke the bread.

Jesus appears to the disciples

<sup>36</sup>While they were saying these things, Jesus himself stood among them and said, "Peace be with you!" <sup>37</sup>They were terrified and afraid. They thought they were seeing a ghost.

<sup>38</sup>He said to them, "Why are you startled? Why are doubts arising in your hearts?" <sup>39</sup>Look at my hands and my feet. It's really me! Touch me and see, for a ghost doesn't have flesh and bones like you see I have." <sup>40</sup>As he said this, he showed them his hands and feet. <sup>41</sup>Because they were wondering and questioning in the midst of their happiness, he said to them, "Do you have anything to eat?" <sup>42</sup>They gave him a piece of baked fish. <sup>43</sup>Taking it, he ate it in front of them.

<sup>44</sup>Jesus said to them, "These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you— that everything written about me in the Law from Moses, the Prophets, and the Psalms

24:18 Cleopas: otherwise unknown.

24:19 a prophet: Because of his miracles, many consider Jesus a prophet (Luke 7:16); and his prophetic identity helps him explain why he had to die (Luke 13:33).

24:21 redeem Israel: See notes on Luke 1:74; 2:25. Cleopas and his friend had hoped Jesus would liberate Israel from the Romans.

24:22 stunned: One can hear the testimony of the resurrection and yet remain confused.

24:25 Your dull minds: They won't understand properly until the risen Christ changes their understanding (Luke 24:45).

24:26 Wasn't it necessary: See notes on Luke 22:22, 37.

24:27 interpreted: Jesus reviews OT passages that explain what happened to him, but the two still don't fully understand.

24:30-31 took . . . broke it: repeating Luke 22:19, from the Last Supper. they recognized him: Luke's readers will also recognize Jesus when they celebrate the Lord's Supper.

24:32 hearts on fire: In the Bible the heart is where one thinks and makes decisions. This is an image for how encountering the risen Christ changes one's manner of thought (Luke 24:45).

24:34 Simon: Peter (see note on Luke 24:12).

24:36 stood among them: a sudden appearance. Peace: both a typical greeting in Jesus' culture and a promise of peace with God (see notes on Luke 1:79; 2:14).

24:37 terrified . . . seeing a ghost: Meeting Jesus personally is more powerful than hearing someone else talk about their own experience with him (Luke 24:34).

24:39 flesh and bones: Some early Christians believed Jesus was a spiritual being like an angel, who looked human but had no real flesh; others believed that, while Jesus had been human, the resurrection was about his spiritual presence with believers and not about his body rising from the tomb. This part of the story is meant to correct both beliefs: The body of the risen Jesus was a real body.

24:41 anything to eat: A common belief about angels was they didn't eat (Job 12:19), so this is further proof the risen Jesus was physical.

24:44 everything written about me: See Luke 22:22, 27; 24:25.

"I Am Among You as One Who Serves" Isaiah 40–55 contains several poetic passages describing God's servant (Isaiah 42:1–4; 44:1–5; 49:1–12; 50:4–9; 52:13–53:12). Luke's story of Jesus' path to the cross draws on them, especially Isaiah 52:13–53:12. Notice the connections. In Luke, Jesus appears before King Herod (Luke 23:6–12; Isa 52:15), is condemned even though he has been declared innocent (Luke 23:22, 41; Isa 53:8), and dies satisfied, while others recognize that he was righteous (Luke 23:46–47; Isa 53:11). Jesus quotes Isaiah 53:12 (Luke 22:37) to explain why two of his disciples are armed; and in Luke 23:34 he asks God to forgive those who will kill him (Isa 53:12b). All these connections help make clear what Luke has in mind in Luke 22:37; 24:26, 46: The Christ has to suffer because he is also God's servant. In the 1st century Jesus' crucifixion was both the best-known fact about him and the hardest thing Christians had to explain. Why would God's Son allow himself to be killed? Luke offers several explanations: All true prophets are killed in Jerusalem (Luke 13:33); it was done at Satan's urging (Luke 22:3, 31, 53); and it was part of Jesus' destiny as God's servant (Luke 22:27).

must be fulfilled." <sup>45</sup>Then he opened their minds to understand the scriptures. <sup>46</sup>He said to them, "This is what is written: the Christ will suffer and rise from the dead on the third day, <sup>47</sup>and a change of heart and life for the forgiveness of sins must be preached in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem. <sup>48</sup>You are witnesses of these things. <sup>49</sup>Look, I'm sending to you what my Father promised, but you are to stay in the city until you have been furnished with heavenly power."

<sup>50</sup>He led them out as far as Bethany, where he lifted his hands and blessed them. <sup>51</sup>As he blessed them, he left them and was taken up to heaven. <sup>52</sup>They worshipped him and returned to Jerusalem overwhelmed with joy. <sup>53</sup>And they were continuously in the temple praising God.

24:45 opened their minds: As early as Luke 9:45, Luke alerts us that, though Jesus' disciples followed him faithfully, they weren't able to understand his teachings fully. Now the risen Jesus changes them so they're able to understand him and all the scriptures that point to him.
24:46 Christ will suffer: As Paul states in 1 Corinthians 1:23–24, the crucified Christ was both the heart of Christian preaching and the main obstacle to following Christ for most ancient people.
24:47 change of heart and life: a theme in Luke beginning at Luke 3:3. in his name: See Acts 2:38. to all nations: See Acts 1:8.
24:48 You are witnesses: This group has seen the crucifixion

(Luke 23:49) and the resurrection. what my Father promised... heavenly power: the Holy Spirit, promised in Luke 11:13 and, in Luke's account, delivered on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2; see John 20:22).
24:50–51 See Acts 1:9–11.
24:51 he blessed them: In the same way, Jacob (Gen 49:28) and Moses (Deut 33:1) blessed God's people as they prepared to die.
24:53 temple: The Gospel of Luke ends where it began, with praises of God in the temple (Luke 1:9–10). Now these praises are joined with the worship of Jesus. This is the pattern of the earliest Christians, as described in Acts 1–6.

JOHN

The Gospel of John was probably the last of the four Gospels written. The “John” who is named as author in the title is not the same one who is introduced in John 1:6, that is, John the Baptist. Nor is a “John” ever identified within the text as the Gospel’s author. Instead, the author is said to be “the disciple whom Jesus loved” (John 21:20), an anonymous follower of Jesus who makes brief appearances at the Last Supper (John 13:23); the crucifixion (John 19:26-27); the empty tomb (John 20:2-5, 8); and at the Sea of Galilee after Jesus’ resurrection (John 21:7). Tradition identifies this disciple as John, son of Zebedee (Mark 1:19), but his actual identity remains unknown.

Whether its author is John or not, this Gospel presents itself as the work of an eyewitness. All the more striking, therefore, are its differences from the other three Gospels. No mention is made of Jesus’ baptism, temptation, or transfiguration. In the other Gospels Jesus travels to Jerusalem just once at the end of his ministry. In John’s Gospel, however, he travels to Jerusalem several times in connection with the Jewish religious festivals. Indeed, he’s in Jerusalem more often than he’s in Galilee. He talks more about himself and less about God’s kingdom, and his claims to be the Son of God are far clearer than in any other Gospel.

Despite its differences, this Gospel is very much at home alongside the other three. Like Matthew, Mark, and Luke, it tells a story and even some of the same stories: the feeding of the 5,000, the cleansing of the temple, the triumphal entry into Jerusalem; and, above all, the arrest and trial of Jesus, Peter’s three denials, and Jesus’ crucifixion and resurrection. Like Mark, John’s story line begins not with Jesus’ ancestry or birth but with the ministry of that other John, Jesus’ forerunner (John 1:6). But unlike the other three Gospels, John's story line is not the whole story, for it looks back frequently at what has gone on before Jesus' ministry on earth. Jesus repeatedly claims he "came down from heaven" (John 3:13; 6:38, 51) to speak the words and do the works of "the Father who sent me" (John 5:37). Nowhere is Jesus' preexistence clearer than in the Gospel's opening lines (John 1:1-5), where Jesus is introduced as "the Word" who was "with God in the beginning" and through whom God created the world. Even John the Baptizer twice agrees that Jesus "existed before me" (John 1:15, 30). This preexistent relationship between God and the Word, or the Father and the Son, shapes much of what happens within the narrative about Jesus, who "became flesh" (John 1:14) in real time and real history.

John's Gospel is also concerned with what's going to happen after the story has been told. This is true of the other three Gospels as well, where the theme of Jesus' teaching is the coming kingdom of God. But in John's Gospel the future is closely tied to the past and to Jesus' preexistence. When people in a crowd challenge his claim to be "the living bread that came down from heaven" (John 6:51), Jesus hints he is "going up where he was before" (John 6:62). He tells the Jewish authorities he is going back "to the one who sent me" (John 7:33). He says to people in the temple, "Where I'm going, you can't come" (John 8:21). Even his disciples won't be able to follow him, at least not immediately (John 13:33, 36), so they must be prepared for a time when he will be absent. In his place he will send a "Companion," or Advocate, the "Spirit of Truth" (John 14:17), to "teach you everything" and "remind you of everything I told you" (John 14:26). He also instructs the disciples on how to behave toward each other in his absence and in the face of harassment. "I'm going up," he finally tells them through Mary, "to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God" (John 20:17), resuming the relationship he'd had with the Father before the story began.

This persistent awareness of both past and future means that God the Father is very much present within the story. Those who come to Jesus in faith do so because God has already been at work in their lives (John 3:21; 9:3). We cannot come to Jesus unless the Father has "drawn" us to him (John 6:44). Believers are the Father's gift to the Son (John 6:37), who in the end gives them back to the Father (John 10:28-29; 17:9-10). Like the other three Gospels, John is written "so that you will believe that Jesus is the Christ, God's Son" (John 20:31). But at the heart of it is something more. Jesus' intent for his disciples is that "you will know that I am in my Father, you are in me, and I am in you" (John 14:20). This, perhaps, is why John is the favorite Gospel of so many Christian believers. More than any other it draws its readers into the ancient story, assuring all who believe that they are "God's children, born not from blood nor from human desire or passion, but born from God" (John 1:12-13). Its legacy is nothing less than a new birth, a promise of eternal life that begins not at death, nor even at the coming of God's kingdom, but here and now.

Story of the Word

1 In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God and the Word was God.

2 The Word was with God in the beginning.

3 Everything came into being through the Word, and without the Word nothing came into being.

What came into being
4 through the Word was life,<sup>a</sup> and the life was the light for all people.

5 The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness doesn't extinguish the light.

6 A man named John was sent from God. 7 He came as a witness to testify concerning the light, so that through him everyone would believe in the light. 8 He himself wasn't the light, but his mission was to testify concerning the light.

9 The true light that shines on all people was coming into the world.

10 The light was in the world, and the world came into being through the light, but the world didn't recognize the light.

11 The light came to his own people, and his own people didn't welcome him.

12 But those who did welcome him, those who believed in his name,
he authorized to become God's children,

13 born not from blood nor from human desire or passion, but born from God.

14 The Word became flesh and made his home among us.
We have seen his glory, glory like that of a father's only son, full of grace and truth.

15 John testified about him, crying out, "This is the one of whom I said, 'He who comes after me is greater than me because he existed before me.'"

<sup>a</sup>Or Everything came into being through the Word, and without the Word / nothing came into being that came into being. In the Word was life

1:1-18 Five introductory verses show that Jesus existed before John (John 1:15, 30), who makes his appearance in John 1:6. Jesus is the Word by whom God created the world in the beginning (Gen 1:1). "John" isn't called "the Baptist" or "Baptizer" but rather is known for his testimony to the light (1:8). Because He himself wasn't the light, the focus shifts back to the true light, or the Word that became flesh (1:14). But John's voice then blends with that of the believing community (1:14-18), bearing witness to Jesus both as the Word and as God the only Son.

1:1 with God: or "at home with" or "close to" God (cf. John 1:18). was God: In this verse "God" lacks the definite article. This implies not that the Word was a god or merely divine but that "God" refers to God the Father no less than to God the Son (see John 1:8).

1:3-4 From ancient times readers have been unsure how to divide these two verses. The CEB translation implies that all things, including life and light, were created through the Word. The alternative reading offered in the translation note implies that while everything God created was created through the Word, life and light were not created but are attributes of the Word: In the Word was life, and the life was the light for all people.

1:5 extinguish: translates a Greek word that can also mean "grasp" in the sense of "understand," but "extinguish" is more appropriate in the context of darkness and light.

1:11 his own... his own: The first refers broadly to the people of the world, as in John 1:10 (see John 3:16); and the second refers to the people who rejected him. him: "The light," like "the Word," is now being viewed in personal terms: Jesus is "the light."

1:12-13 born not from blood: Physical birth isn't what makes those who welcome and believe in him born from God, or God's children (cf. John 3:3-8).

1:14 flesh: a human being (see John 1:51). We have seen his glory: The voice is that either of the author or of the early Christian community that first published this Gospel (see John 21:24).

1:15 testified: in the present tense ("testifies") in the Greek. John's testimony echoes through time, still alive

The Prologue The first 18 verses of this Gospel are commonly known as the prologue. They have a distinctive poetic style built around the repetition of such expressions as “the Word,” “God,” “life,” “light,” “darkness,” “the world,” and “his own.” It has often been proposed that behind the prologue was an early Christian hymn to Christ as “the Word” or possibly a pre-Christian hymn to divine Wisdom, as in Proverbs 8. Many attempts have been made to reconstruct this original hymn or poem, but none have met with anything close to general agreement. The poetry, moreover, is interrupted by the beginning of a prose narrative about “a man named John” (see John 1:6-8, 15), a narrative that picks up again at John 1:19 with more of John’s explicit testimony. What is clear in any case is that the prologue testifies strongly to the deity and preexistence of Jesus Christ, a notion that appears already in poetic form in the letters of Paul (e.g., 1 Cor 8:6; Phil 2:6-11; Col 1:15-20; 2:9) and is presupposed throughout the rest of John’s Gospel. The prologue, therefore, should be read as an integral part of the Gospel of John, not as an entity unto itself.

- <sup>16</sup>From his fullness we have all received grace upon grace;
 so grace and truth came into being through Jesus Christ.
<sup>18</sup>No one has ever seen God.
 God the only Son, who is at the Father’s side, has made God known.

John’s witness

<sup>19</sup>This is John’s testimony when the Jewish leaders in Jerusalem sent priests and Levites to ask him, “Who are you?”

John said, “I’m not.”

“Are you the prophet?”

John answered, “No.”

<sup>22</sup>They asked, “Who are you? We need to give an answer to those who sent us. What do you say about yourself?”

“I am a voice crying out in the wilderness,

Make the Lord’s path straight,<sup>b</sup>

just as the prophet Isaiah said.”

and present. This is the one of whom I said: Some ancient manuscripts have “This is the one who said,” referring to John. It’s difficult to tell where John’s words end and the author’s begin.

1:16 grace upon grace: The grace, or “gift,” of the Law given through Moses is now replaced by a greater gift, “grace and truth” in the person of Jesus Christ (see John 1:17).

1:18 No one has ever seen God: Compare with Exodus 33:20; John 5:37; 6:46; 1 John 4:12. God the only Son: or “God the One and Only,” but “Son” is implied. at the Father’s side: Even as the disciple “whom Jesus loved, was at Jesus’ side” (John 13:23).

1:19-34 John speaks to a group sent by the leaders in Jerusalem to ask him questions. On the basis of what God has told him and what he himself has seen, he testifies that Jesus is both The Lamb of God (1:29) and God’s Son.

1:20 John confessed (he didn’t deny but confessed): What he says (“I’m not the Christ”) is, in fact, a denial; but by acknowledging this he’s implicitly confessing that Jesus is the Christ. This confirms John 1:8: “He himself wasn’t the light, but his mission was to testify concerning the light.”

1:21 Elijah: Jesus in other Gospels identifies John the Baptist with Elijah (Mark 9:11-12; Matt 11:14; 17:10-11; cf. Mal 4:5-6), but John himself never does. the prophet: an expected prophet like Moses (Deut 18:15-18).

1:25 Why do you baptize: His questioners seem to have interpreted his baptizing ministry as implying a claim to be the Christ, Elijah, or the prophet.

1:26 I baptize with water: To baptize with water sounds redundant, but John anticipates a greater baptism “with the Holy Spirit,” of which he’ll speak only after the questioners have gone (John 1:33).

1:28 across the Jordan in Bethany: east of the Jordan River. As early as the 3rd century CE its exact location was

Jesus calls disciples

<sup>35</sup>The next day John was standing again with two of his disciples. <sup>36</sup>When he saw Jesus walking along he said, "Look! The Lamb of God!" <sup>37</sup>The two disciples heard what he said, and they followed Jesus.

<sup>38</sup>When Jesus turned and saw them following, he asked, "What are you looking for?"

They said, "Rabbi (which is translated Teacher), where are you staying?"

<sup>39</sup>He replied, "Come and see." So they went and saw where he was staying, and they remained with him that day. It was about four o'clock in the afternoon.

<sup>40</sup>One of the two disciples who heard what John said and followed Jesus was Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter. <sup>41</sup>He first found his own brother Simon and said to him, "We have found the Messiah" (which is translated Christ). <sup>42</sup>He led him to Jesus.

Jesus looked at him and said, "You are Simon, son of John. You will be called Cephas" (which is translated Peter).

<sup>45</sup>Philip found Nathanael and said to him, "We have found the one Moses wrote about in the Law and the Prophets: Jesus, Joseph's son, from Nazareth."

Philip said, "Come and see."

<sup>48</sup>Nathanael asked him, "How do you know me?"

Jesus answered, "Before Philip called you, I saw you under the fig tree."

unknown, but it was a place to which Jesus returned (John 10:40) before journeying to another place with the exact same name (John 11:1).

1:29 The Lamb of God: Lamb implies a sacrificial lamb, but takes away suggests he isn't a passive victim but an active redeemer (cf. 1 John 3:5). God's Lamb turns out to be "God's Son" (John 1:34), with the lamb image adding the notion of purity (1 John 3:5).

1:31 made known to Israel: John finally answers the question "Why do you baptize?" (John 1:25). It's to make Jesus known. John is never explicitly said to have baptized Jesus in this Gospel, but his vision of "the Spirit coming down from heaven like a dove" (John 1:32) clearly implies it.

1:33 resting: or "remaining," with the implication that the Spirit remains continually with Jesus from here on (see John 3:34), equipping him as the one who baptizes with the Holy Spirit (see John 20:22).

1:35-51 John repeats his testimony in the presence of his own disciples, who then follow Jesus and spend a day with him. John calls more disciples and sets off for Galilee. All this happens in less than a week, punctuated by two notices of The next day (1:35, 43).

1:39 four o'clock: or "about the tenth hour" when counting from six o'clock in the morning, as Jewish and Roman custom dictated (cf. John 4:6; 19:14). The lateness could imply an overnight stay, adding a possible extra day to the sequence of "the next day" indicators in John 1:29, 35, 43.

1:40 One of the two: The other is unnamed. Some have identified him as "the one whom Jesus loved" (John 13:23), others (more plausibly) as Philip (John 1:43).

1:42 Simon, son of John: Jesus is either naming Simon's father (cf. Matt 16:17) or identifying Simon as John's disciple. Cephas, "Cephas" (Aramaic) and "Peter" (Gk.) are nicknames meaning "rock" (cf. Matt 16:18).

1:45 Moses wrote about in the Law and the Prophets: Moses didn't write any of the books of the Prophets. The wording emphasizes the OT witness to the coming of Jesus.

1:46 "Can anything from Nazareth be good?": Nathanael himself was from nearby Cana (John 21:2).

1:47 a genuine Israelite in whom there is no deceit: a possible reference to the name change of the deceitful Jacob (Gen 27:35-36) to Israel, father of the people of Israel (Gen 32:28).

1:48 under the fig tree: just as God "found Israel," according to Hosea, "like the first fruit on the fig tree" (Hos 9:10).

1:49 God's Son: confirms John's testimony in John 1:34. the king of Israel: Testimony from a "genuine Israelite" (John 1:47) means Jesus is already being "made known to Israel" (John 1:31).

<sup>50</sup>Jesus answered, "Do you believe because I told you that I saw you under the fig tree? You will see greater things than these!" <sup>51</sup>I assure you that you will see heaven open and God's angels going up to heaven and down to earth on the Human One."<sup>d</sup>

Wedding at Cana

2 On the third day there was a wedding in Cana of Galilee. Jesus' mother was there, and <sup>2</sup>Jesus and his disciples were also invited to the celebration. <sup>3</sup>When the wine ran out, Jesus' mother said to him, "They don't have any wine."

<sup>4</sup>Jesus replied, "Woman, what does that have to do with me? My time hasn't come yet."

<sup>7</sup>Jesus said to the servants, "Fill the jars with water," and they filled them to the brim.

<sup>8</sup>Then he told them, "Now draw some from them and take it to the headwaiter," and they did. <sup>9</sup>The headwaiter tasted the water that had become wine. He didn't know where it came from, though the servants who had drawn the water knew.

The headwaiter called the groom <sup>10</sup>and said, "Everyone serves the good wine first. They bring out the second-rate wine only when the guests are drinking freely. You kept the good wine until now." <sup>11</sup>This was the first miraculous sign that Jesus did in Cana of Galilee. He revealed his glory, and his disciples believed in him.

Jesus in Jerusalem at Passover

<sup>13</sup>It was nearly time for the Jewish Passover, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. <sup>14</sup>He found in the temple those who were selling cattle, sheep, and doves, as well as those involved in Cleansing the Temple Only the Gospel of John places the cleansing of the temple in Jerusalem at the beginning rather than the end of Jesus' ministry. In the other three Gospels, Jesus drives the money changers from the temple near the end of his ministry, less than a week before his crucifixion (Matt 21:12; Mark 11:15; Luke 19:45). Any reader familiar with these accounts may be confused by John's placement of the temple story in John 2, as if this Gospel is to be a very short one indeed! When did this event actually happen, or did it happen twice? The other three Gospels are probably right about the chronology. The author of John's Gospel may have moved the account to the beginning of his Gospel to make the raising of Lazarus later on the reason for Jesus' arrest and execution (see John 11:47-53). Putting the temple scene at the beginning also highlights from the start the certainty of Jesus' death and resurrection (John 2:19-22). It's unlikely that he cleansed the temple twice, since all four Gospels agree in recounting the event just once. Still, it's quite possible Jesus did visit Jerusalem at Passover very early in his ministry and even performed miracles there (see John 2:23-25; 5:1-18).

1:51 I assure you: or "Amen, amen, I say to you." This is a solemn formula Jesus uses 25 times in this Gospel (always with the double "Amen," or "truly, truly" in the Greek). God's angels going up to heaven and down to earth on the Human One: Like Jacob at Bethel (Gen 28:10), Jesus sees himself at the bottom of a staircase to heaven, enjoying unbroken communication with the Father (see John 8:29; 11:42).
2:1-12 Jesus performs his first miraculous sign, turning a great quantity of water into wine at a wedding in Cana of Galilee
2:1 On the third day: two days later, bringing the number of days being counted to at least six (cf. John 1:29, 35, 43).
2:4 Woman: implies no disrespect (cf. John 19:26). what does that have to do with me: Jesus isn't so much distancing himself from his mother as distancing them both from worries about a wine shortage. My time hasn't come yet: He isn't refusing to act, but assuring her this won't be his decisive time, or "hour." This is merely a beginning, "the first" of his signs (John 2:11).

2:5 "Do whatever he tells you": His mother understands he isn't refusing to act.
2:6 twenty or thirty gallons: Together, the six huge jars, used for purification rituals, would hold 120 to 180 gallons.
2:9 that had become wine: In just four words we learn a miracle has taken place.
2:10 drinking freely: drunk. You kept the good wine: The bridegroom, by his silence, takes credit for the abundance.
2:11 the first miraculous sign: Jesus does many others (John 2:23; 3:2; 6:2; 7:31; 12:37; 20:30), but only the first two are numbered (cf. John 4:54). He revealed his glory: not to everyone at the wedding, only to his disciples, who, like "the servants who had drawn the water" (John 2:9), knew where the wine had come from.
2:12 for a few days: the only instance in any of the Gospels in which Jesus' disciples spend time with his family. We aren't told exactly how much time they spend in Capernaum.
2:13-25 Jesus goes to Jerusalem for the Passover Festival, where he forcibly drives money changers out of the exchanging currency sitting there. <sup>15</sup>He made a whip from ropes and chased them all out of the temple, including the cattle and the sheep. He scattered the coins and overturned the tables of those who exchanged currency. <sup>16</sup>He said to the dove sellers, "Get these things out of here! Don't make my Father's house a place of business." <sup>17</sup>His disciples remembered that it is written, Passion for your house consumes me.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>18</sup>Then the Jewish leaders asked him, "By what authority are you doing these things? What miraculous sign will you show us?"

<sup>20</sup>The Jewish leaders replied, "It took forty-six years to build this temple, and you will raise it up in three days?" <sup>21</sup>But the temple Jesus was talking about was his body. <sup>22</sup>After he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered what he had said, and they believed the scripture and the word that Jesus had spoken.

<sup>23</sup>While Jesus was in Jerusalem for the Passover Festival, many believed in his name because they saw the miraculous signs that he did. <sup>24</sup>But Jesus didn't trust himself to them because he knew all people. <sup>25</sup>He didn't need anyone to tell him about human nature, for he knew what human nature was.

Jesus and Nicodemus

3 There was a Pharisee named Nicodemus, a Jewish leader. <sup>2</sup>He came to Jesus at night and said to him, "Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher who has come from God, for no one could do these miraculous signs that you do unless God is with him."

<sup>3</sup>Jesus answered, "I assure you, unless someone is born anew,<sup>f</sup> it's not possible to see God's kingdom."

<sup>4</sup>Nicodemus asked, "How is it possible for an adult to be born? It's impossible to enter the mother's womb for a second time and be born, isn't it?"

<sup>5</sup>Jesus answered, "I assure you, unless someone is born of water and the Spirit, it's not possible to enter God's kingdom. <sup>6</sup>Whatever is born of the flesh is flesh, and whatever is born of the Spirit is spirit. <sup>7</sup>Don't be surprised that I said to you, 'You must be born anew.' <sup>8</sup>God's Spirit<sup>g</sup> blows wherever it wishes. You hear its sound, but you don't know where it comes from or where it is going. It's the same with everyone who is born of the Spirit."

temple. When the Jews ask him on what authority he does this, he gives them a riddle about rebuilding the temple in three days. He performs more miraculous signs, and many believed (2:23); but he isn't convinced their faith is genuine. 2:15 chased them all out: There's no reason to assume he uses the whip (or threatens to do so) only on the cattle and the sheep.

2:17 His disciples remembered: probably "after he was raised from the dead," as in John 2:22. Passion for your house consumes me: quoting from Psalm 69:9. The Greek verb is in the future tense, "will consume" or "will destroy," foreshadowing Jesus' death.

2:19 Destroy this temple: the basis of a legal charge against Jesus at his trial in two other Gospels (Matt 26:61; Mark 14:58).

2:20-21 the temple... was his body: This explanation is consistent with the use of the Greek verb "to raise" rather than "to build" (2:20). It's also consistent with in three days, which is used repeatedly in connection with Jesus' resurrection (e.g., 1 Cor 15:4; Mark 8:31; 9:31; 10:34).

2:22 his disciples remembered: In light of Jesus' resurrection, they come to understand what he meant. the scripture: Psalm 69:9. the word that Jesus had spoken: This refers to the entire quote in John 2:19, a reference to his body. The disciples' post-resurrection faith moves well beyond what they "believed" after his first sign (John 2:11).

2:23 miraculous signs: not specified, but many are likely to have been healings (John 6:2; see John 5:1-8; 9:1-7).

2:24 Jesus didn't trust himself to them: The word translated here as "trust" is the same Greek verb translated as "believed" in John 2:23. They believe in Jesus, but he doesn't believe in them.

3:1-21 Nicodemus comes to Jesus but is baffled by the necessity of having to be born anew (3:3), or "from above" (see translation note). All that comes out of Jesus' encounter with Nicodemus is a series of impossibilities (3:3, 4, 5, 9, 12). Only when Nicodemus has left the scene does Jesus go on to explain how this new birth is possible (3:13-21).

3:1 Pharisee: The Greek phrase is "man of the Pharisees." "Man," or "person," links Nicodemus closely to those just mentioned, people Jesus knows all about and doesn't trust (John 2:24-25). His reference to "miraculous signs" (John 3:2) confirms this (cf. John 2:23).

3:3 born anew: the ultimate expression of becoming like a "little child" (Matt 18:3). This dialogue is difficult to represent in English. In Greek the same term can mean "anew" or "from above." The new birth isn't physical birth (John 1:13), but birth "from above" because Jesus himself is "from above."

3:5 born of water and the Spirit: further explains "born anew" (John 3:3). The accent is on "the Spirit" (John 3:6, 8), already introduced as "coming down" on Jesus (i.e., "from above"; see note on John 3:3), empowering him to baptize "with the Holy Spirit" (John 1:33). But he also baptizes with water (John 3:22, 26; 4:1); and "water" here probably refers to water baptism.

<sup>10</sup>Jesus answered, "You are a teacher of Israel and you don't know these things? <sup>11</sup>I assure you that we speak about what we know and testify about what we have seen, but you don't receive our testimony. <sup>12</sup>If I have told you about earthly things and you don't believe, how will you believe if I tell you about heavenly things? <sup>13</sup>No one has gone up to heaven except the one who came down from heaven, the Human One. <sup>14</sup>Just as Moses lifted up the snake in the wilderness, so must the Human One<sup>1</sup> be lifted up <sup>15</sup>so that everyone who believes in him will have eternal life. <sup>16</sup>God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him won't perish but will have eternal life. <sup>17</sup>God didn't send his Son into the world to judge the world, but that the world might be saved through him. <sup>18</sup>Whoever believes in him isn't judged; whoever doesn't believe in him is already judged, because they don't believe in the name of God's only Son.

<sup>19</sup>"This is the basis for judgment: The light came into the world, and people loved darkness more than the light, for their actions are evil. <sup>20</sup>All who do wicked things hate the light and don't come to the light for fear that their actions will be exposed to the light. <sup>21</sup>Whoever does the truth comes to the light so that it can be seen that their actions were done in God."

John's final witness

<sup>22</sup>After this Jesus and his disciples went into Judea, where he spent some time with them and was baptizing. <sup>23</sup>John was baptizing at Aenon near Salem because there was a lot of water there, and people were coming to him and being baptized. (<sup>24</sup>John hadn't yet been thrown into prison.)

<sup>25</sup>A debate started between John's disciples and a certain Jew about cleansing rituals. <sup>26</sup>They came to John and said, "Rabbi, look! The man who was with you across the Jordan, the one about whom you testified, is baptizing and everyone is flocking to him."

<sup>27</sup>John replied, "No one can receive anything unless it is given from heaven. <sup>28</sup>You yourselves can testify that I said that I'm not the Christ but that I'm the one sent before him. <sup>29</sup>The groom is the one who is getting married. The friend of the groom stands close by and, when he hears him, is overjoyed at the groom's voice. Therefore, my joy is now complete. <sup>30</sup>He must increase and I must decrease. <sup>31</sup>The one who comes from above is above all things. The one who is from the earth belongs to the earth and speaks as one from the earth. The one who comes from heaven is above all things. <sup>32</sup>He testifies to what he has seen and heard, but no one accepts his testimony. <sup>33</sup>Whoever accepts his testimony confirms that God is true.

3:29 Mt 9:15; Mt 25:1; Jn 17:13; Phi 2: 3:30 Ps 72:17; Dn 2:35; Dn 2:44; Mt 13:31; Rev 11:15 3:31 Jn 3:13; Jn 8:23; 1Co 15:47 3:32 Jn 1:11; Jn 3:11 3:33 Eph 1:13

3:11 we speak: Jesus refers to himself in the plural ("we"). This is unexpected because Jesus is speaking only about himself (see John 3:32). Aside from the introductory formula, I assure you (as in John 1:51; 3:3, 5), he's still avoiding the emphatic "I" he'll freely use later.

3:13 No one has gone up to heaven except... the Human One: Jesus speaks as if he has already gone up to heaven (some ancient manuscripts even add "who is in heaven"). This is consistent with John the Baptist's testimony that Jesus is "above all things" (John 3:31).

3:14 Just as Moses lifted up the snake: See Numbers 21:8-9. The reference is to Jesus' crucifixion (John 12:33).

3:16 gave his only Son: in death on the cross (John 3:14). The traditional rendering "only begotten Son" is based on the Greek having both the word for "Son" and the word for "one and only," where either by itself would be enough.

3:19 The light came into the world: Jesus reverts to the image of light (cf. John 1:4-11). Here, too, as in John 1:10-11, the world prefers darkness to the light.

3:21 does the truth: lives in obedience to God. comes to the light: Those who come to the light (i.e., come to Jesus in faith) are those who don't fear exposure. By coming, they prove their faithful obedience.

3:22-36 Jesus and his disciples move out into Judea, where Jesus baptizes. John's disciples ask John about Jesus' success. John again testifies, I'm not the Christ (3:28). Jesus is from heaven, while John is from the earth (3:31). Finally, John testifies to Jesus as God's Son, as in John 1:34, who alone can give life (3:32-36).

3:23 Aenon near Salem: These places can't be located, but they're clearly on the west bank, "across the Jordan" (John 3:26) from where John has baptized before. "Aenon" means "a spring" or "a well," and the mention of water there (i.e., natural springs) implies John's baptisms weren't limited to the Jordan River.

3:24 (John hadn't yet been thrown into prison): The Gospel's author knows of John's imprisonment (Mark 1:14; Luke 3:19-20), even though he doesn't record it.

3:29 my joy is now complete: John's testimony makes him, in effect, a disciple of Jesus (cf. John 15:11; 16:24; 17:13). This is consistent with his statement "He must increase and I must decrease" (John 3:30).

3:31 The one who is from the earth: John himself. As Jesus does in John 3:13-21 when he refers to himself as "the Human One" and the "Son," John is speaking of himself in the third person.

3:33 Whoever accepts his testimony: or "The one who <sup>34</sup>The one whom God sent speaks God's words because God gives the Spirit generously. <sup>35</sup>The Father loves the Son and gives everything into his hands. <sup>36</sup>Whoever believes in the Son has eternal life. Whoever doesn't believe in the Son won't see life, but the angry judgment of God remains on them."

Jesus leaves Judea

4 Jesus learned that the Pharisees had heard that he was making more disciples and baptizing more than John (<sup>2</sup>although Jesus' disciples were baptizing, not Jesus himself). <sup>3</sup>Therefore, he left Judea and went back to Galilee.

Jesus in Samaria

<sup>4</sup>Jesus had to go through Samaria. <sup>5</sup>He came to a Samaritan city called Sychar, which was near the land Jacob had given to his son Joseph. <sup>6</sup>Jacob's well was there. Jesus was tired from his journey, so he sat down at the well. It was about noon.

<sup>7</sup>A Samaritan woman came to the well to draw water. Jesus said to her, "Give me some water to drink." <sup>8</sup>His disciples had gone into the city to buy him some food.

<sup>9</sup>The Samaritan woman asked, "Why do you, a Jewish man, ask for something to drink from me, a Samaritan woman?" (Jews and Samaritans didn't associate with each other.)

<sup>10</sup>Jesus responded, "If you recognized God's gift and who is saying to you, 'Give me some water to drink,' you would be asking him and he would give you living water."

<sup>11</sup>The woman said to him, "Sir, you don't have a bucket and the well is deep. Where would you get this living water? <sup>12</sup>You aren't greater than our father Jacob, are you? He gave this well to us, and he drank from it himself, as did his sons and his livestock."

<sup>13</sup>Jesus answered, "Everyone who drinks this water will be thirsty again, <sup>14</sup>but whoever drinks from the water that I will give will never be thirsty again. The water that I will give will become in those who drink it a spring of water that bubbles up into eternal life."

<sup>15</sup>The woman said to him, "Sir, give me this water, so that I will never be thirsty and will never need to come here to draw water!"

"You are right to say, 'I don't have a husband,'" Jesus answered. <sup>18</sup>"You've had five husbands, and the man you are with now isn't your husband. You've spoken the truth."

<sup>19</sup>The woman said, "Sir, I see that you are a prophet. <sup>20</sup>Our ancestors worshipped on this mountain, but you and your people say that it is necessary to worship in Jerusalem."

<sup>21</sup>Jesus said to her, "Believe me, woman, the time is coming when you and your people will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem. <sup>22</sup>You and your people accepted" (i.e., John himself). But what is true of John is equally true of anyone else who accepts his testimony.

3:34 generously: or "without measure." Whether on Jesus or on the believer, the Spirit comes to stay (cf. John 1:32-33).

4:1-42 Passing through Samaria on his way back to Galilee, Jesus meets a Samaritan woman at a well in Sychar and carries on a conversation with her about living water (4:11), true worship, and himself as the Christ. The woman summons the men of the village, many of whom come to believe in Jesus as the savior of the world (4:42).

4:2 Jesus' disciples were baptizing, not Jesus himself: a technicality. They are doing the actual baptizing, but the responsibility is Jesus' alone.

4:3 Therefore, he left Judea: Jesus may want to avoid being questioned by the Jerusalem authorities (as John had been) because he's been baptizing (John 1:19-28).

4:4 Jesus had to go through Samaria: This doesn't indicate divine necessity; it's the natural route.

4:6 about noon: or "about the sixth hour" (see note on John 1:39). Compare with John 19:14, another sixth hour when Jesus would again be "thirsty" (John 19:28).

4:7 A Samaritan woman: recalls biblical stories of a man meeting his future bride at a well (Gen 24:1-27; 29:1-12; Exod 2:15-21).

4:9 didn't associate: or "don't associate." We can't tell for sure if the woman said this or if the narrator added it for clarification.

4:10 living water: fresh running water, but a play on words that hints at the water of "eternal life" (John 4:14).

4:14 never be thirsty again: a clear signal that the water represents eternal life.

4:16 Go, get your husband: not "your father," as it would have been if this were about finding a bride at a well (see Gen 24:23; 29:12). Jesus is seeking access to a whole village.

4:18 You've had five husbands: Jesus knows all about the woman, just as he had known all about Nathanael (John 1:47; cf. John 2:24).

4:20 this mountain: Mount Gerizim, visible from Jacob's well, was where the Samaritan temple once stood (see Deut 11:29).

4:21 neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem: The Jerusalem temple was destroyed in 70 CE. It may have already been destroyed when John was written.

4:22 salvation is from the Jews: Jesus, a Jew (John 4:9), worship what you don't know; we worship what we know because salvation is from the Jews. <sup>23</sup>But the time is coming—and is here!—when true worshippers will worship in spirit and truth. The Father looks for those who worship him this way. <sup>24</sup>God is spirit, and it is necessary to worship God in spirit and truth."

<sup>25</sup>The woman said, "I know that the Messiah is coming, the one who is called the Christ. When he comes, he will teach everything to us."

<sup>27</sup>Just then, Jesus' disciples arrived and were shocked that he was talking with a woman. But no one asked, "What do you want?" or "Why are you talking with her?" <sup>28</sup>The woman put down her water jar and went into the city. She said to the people, <sup>29</sup>"Come and see a man who has told me everything I've done! Could this man be the Christ?" <sup>30</sup>They left the city and were on their way to see Jesus.

<sup>34</sup>Jesus said to them, "I am fed by doing the will of the one who sent me and by completing his work. <sup>35</sup>Don't you have a saying, 'Four more months and then it's time for harvest'? Look, I tell you: open your eyes and notice that the fields are already ripe for the harvest. <sup>36</sup>Those who harvest are receiving their pay and gathering fruit for eternal life so that those who sow and those who harvest can celebrate together. <sup>37</sup>This is a true saying, that one sows and another harvests. <sup>38</sup>I have sent you to harvest what you didn't work hard for; others worked hard, and you will share in their hard work."

<sup>39</sup>Many Samaritans in that city believed in Jesus because of the woman's word when she testified, "He told me everything I've ever done." <sup>40</sup>So when the Samaritans came to Jesus, they asked him to stay with them, and he stayed there two days. <sup>41</sup>Many more believed because of his word, <sup>42</sup>and they said to the woman, "We no longer believe because of what you said, for we have heard for ourselves and know that this one is truly the savior of the world."

Jesus arrives in Galilee

naturally sides with the Jews (cf. Rom 9:4-5). Yet if salvation is from the Jews, it is for the whole world (see John 4:42).

4:23 the time is coming—and is here!: For Jesus and the woman this is a future time, but for the Gospel's author it is present time. in spirit and truth: The two are almost the same thing, as in "the Spirit of Truth" (John 14:17; 15:26; 16:13) and "the Spirit is the truth" (1 John 5:6).

4:24 God is spirit: Compare with John 1:18. The Jews know this, as Jesus has just acknowledged (John 4:22), but the "true worshippers" who "will worship" God "in spirit and truth" (John 4:23) are a new people, neither Jew nor Samaritan.

4:26 I Am: or "It is I." This is Jesus' first use of this expression in the Gospel (cf. John 6:20; 8:24, 28, 58; 13:19; 18:5). The implied predicate noun here (i.e., "is the Christ") describes Jesus as the woman visualized him: the one "who will teach everything to us" (John 4:25).

4:28 put down her water jar: The urgency is such that she hurries back to the village without taking what she'd come for (cf. Mark 1:18, 20).

4:29 everything I've done: an exaggeration but an understandable one, given that she was expecting a Christ who would make everything known (John 4:25). Could this man be the Christ?: not a confession of faith because it anticipates a negative answer. It's significant, however, that she even raises the possibility.

4:35 already ripe for the harvest: The harvest takes place within the story as the Samaritans come to faith (cf. John 4:23).

4:38 I have sent you to harvest: when he authorized them to baptize (John 4:2). others worked hard: The others are undefined. No one soul winner brings about conversion, for a multitude of factors work together to produce faith.

4:42 heard for ourselves: The point isn't to downplay the woman's testimony but to confirm it. savior of the world: The Samaritans aren't just a rival sect but viewed as Gentiles representing the whole world (cf. John 3:16-17).

4:43-54 Jesus continues to Galilee where he heals a royal official's dying son, bringing a whole household to faith.

4:44 their own country: translated in the other Gospels as "hometown" (Matt 13:57; Mark 6:4; Luke 4:24). To stay here more than "two days" (John 4:40, 43) would wear out his welcome, as if he would be making this village his hometown. Prophets are expected to stay on the move.

Jesus' second miraculous sign in Galilee

<sup>46</sup>He returned to Cana in Galilee where he had turned the water into wine. In Capernaum there was a certain royal official whose son was sick. <sup>47</sup>When he heard that Jesus was coming from Judea to Galilee, he went out to meet him and asked Jesus if he would come and heal his son, for his son was about to die. <sup>48</sup>Jesus said to him, "Unless you see miraculous signs and wonders, you won't believe."

<sup>50</sup>Jesus replied, "Go home. Your son lives." The man believed the word that Jesus spoke to him and set out for his home.

<sup>51</sup>While he was on his way, his servants were already coming to meet him. They said, "Your son lives!" <sup>52</sup>So he asked them at what time his son had started to get better. And they said, "The fever left him yesterday at about one o'clock in the afternoon." <sup>53</sup>Then the father realized that this was the hour when Jesus had said to him, "Your son lives." And he and his entire household believed in Jesus. <sup>54</sup>This was the second miraculous sign Jesus did while going from Judea to Galilee.

5 After this there was a Jewish festival, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>In Jerusalem near the Sheep Gate in the north city wall is a pool with the Aramaic name Bethesda. It had five covered porches, <sup>3</sup>and a crowd of people who were sick, blind, lame, and paralyzed sat there. <sup>4</sup>A certain man was there who had been sick for thirty-eight years. <sup>5</sup>When Jesus saw him lying there, knowing that he had already been there a long time, he asked him, "Do you want to get well?"

<sup>7</sup>The sick man answered him, "Sir, I don't have anyone who can put me in the water when it is stirred up. When I'm trying to get to it, someone else has gotten in ahead of me."

<sup>8</sup>Jesus said to him, "Get up! Pick up your mat and walk." <sup>9</sup>Immediately the man was well, and he picked up his mat and walked. Now that day was the Sabbath.

<sup>11</sup>He answered, "The man who made me well said to me, 'Pick up your mat and walk.'"

<sup>12</sup>They inquired, "Who is this man who said to you, 'Pick it up and walk?'" <sup>13</sup>The man who had been cured didn't know who it was, because Jesus had slipped away from the crowd gathered there.

<sup>14</sup>Later Jesus found him in the temple and said, "See! You have been made well. Don't sin

4:46 royal official: a servant, military or otherwise, of either the emperor or of Herod Antipas. Herod was the tetrarch, or king, of Galilee. The official could be a Gentile, but we can't be sure.

4:48 Unless you see miraculous signs: Jesus is suspicious of these Galileans because "they had seen all the things he had done in Jerusalem" (John 4:45), and he fears their faith is as shallow as the faith of those to whom he "didn't trust himself" (John 2:24).

4:50 "Go home. Your son lives": Jesus heals from a distance, as in Matthew 8:5-13; Luke 7:1-10, but this time he takes the initiative. The man believed the word: Compare with John 20:29.

4:53 he and his entire household believed: The book of Acts speaks of the faith and baptism of entire households (Acts 10:2; 11:4; 16:5, 31, 33, 34; 18:8).

4:54 the second miraculous sign: not second overall, but the second in Galilee (Cana specifically, where Jesus spoke the healing words). The numbered sequence of signs doesn't continue (see John 2:11).

5:1-18 Jesus heals a sick man next to a pool in Jerusalem known for its healing powers. Ignoring the pool, Jesus simply tells the man to take his mat and walk, and he does. The man is questioned by the religious authorities for carrying his mat on the Sabbath, and he finally identifies Jesus as the one who told him to do this. Jesus is then questioned for breaking the Sabbath. Because he claims God as his Father, they set out to kill him.

5:1 a Jewish festival: In contrast to John 2:13; 7:2; 10:22; 11:55, this festival isn't named; it's mentioned only to explain why Jesus is in Jerusalem.

5:3-4 See translation note. The long addition in certain later manuscripts represents an attempt by scribes to explain why the water was periodically stirred up (John 5:7).

5:8 Pick up your mat: Compare with Mark 2:11, where the Sabbath isn't an issue. In John the command appears to be a deliberate provocation on Jesus' part (see John 5:9).

5:10 you aren't allowed to carry your mat: This law isn't in the Law of Moses but comes from Jewish oral law.

5:14 Don't sin anymore: the first mention of sin in this Gospel. Jesus knows the man's true nature (John 2:25). It's as if you have been made well is somehow equivalent to "Your sins are forgiven" (cf. Mark 2:9-12). something worse: unspecified, but quite possibly death (see John 8:21, 24).

anymore in case something worse happens to you.”<sup>15</sup>The man went and proclaimed to the Jewish leaders that Jesus was the man who had made him well.

<sup>16</sup>As a result, the Jewish leaders were harassing Jesus, since he had done these things on the Sabbath. <sup>17</sup>Jesus replied, “My Father is still working, and I am working too.” <sup>18</sup>For this reason the Jewish leaders wanted even more to kill him—not only because he was doing away with the Sabbath but also because he called God his own Father, thereby making himself equal with God.

Work of the Father and the Son

<sup>19</sup>Jesus responded to the Jewish leaders, “I assure you that the Son can’t do anything by himself except what he sees the Father doing. Whatever the Father does, the Son does likewise. <sup>20</sup>The Father loves the Son and shows him everything that he does. He will show him greater works than these so that you will marvel. <sup>21</sup>As the Father raises the dead and gives life, so too does the Son give life to whomever he wishes. <sup>22</sup>The Father doesn’t judge anyone, but he has given all judgment to the Son<sup>23</sup> so that everyone will honor the Son just as they honor the Father. Whoever doesn’t honor the Son doesn’t honor the Father who sent him.

<sup>24</sup>“I assure you that whoever hears my word and believes in the one who sent me has eternal life and won’t come under judgment but has passed from death into life.

<sup>25</sup>“I assure you that the time is coming—and is here!—when the dead will hear the voice of God’s Son, and those who hear it will live. <sup>26</sup>Just as the Father has life in himself, so he has granted the Son to have life in himself. <sup>27</sup>He gives the Son authority to judge, because he is the Human One.<sup>m</sup> <sup>28</sup>Don’t be surprised by this, because the time is coming when all who are in their graves will hear his voice. <sup>29</sup>Those who did good things will come out into the resurrection of life, and those who did wicked things into the resurrection of judgment. <sup>30</sup>I can’t do anything by myself. Whatever I hear, I judge, and my judgment is just. I don’t seek my own will but the will of the one who sent me.

Witnesses to Jesus

<sup>31</sup>“If I testify about myself, my testimony isn’t true. <sup>32</sup>There is someone else who testifies about me, and I know his testimony about me is true. <sup>33</sup>You sent a delegation to John, and

<sup>m</sup>Or Son of Man

5:15 proclaimed to the Jewish leaders: The verb “proclaimed” suggests a testimony of faith (cf. 1 John 1:5), but instead the man reports Jesus to the religious authorities as the man who had made him well on the Sabbath.

5:16 these things: suggests the healing at the pool was only one instance of Jesus’ activity on the Sabbath.

5:17 My Father... working too: God’s work didn’t stop when God “rested” on the seventh day (Gen 2:2). God merely ceased the work of creation in order to do other things. Jesus claims the same authority for himself as God’s Son (cf. Mark 2:28).

5:18 making himself equal with God: God is, in fact, what Jesus is (John 1:1, 18), but the Jewish leaders view any claim to be God or equal with God as a terrible insult to God (John 10:33; cf. Phil 2:6).

5:19-30 Jesus addresses his relation to God, whom he claims as his Father. He does nothing by himself, only what he sees or hears from the Father. This includes all that the Father does: granting eternal life, raising the dead, and carrying out judgment, now and at the last day.

5:19 responded: not to any question directly asked. No setting is given, nor is there any reply to the discourse that follows. It’s simply what he has to say in response to such charges.

5:25 the time is coming—and is here!: Jesus is looking not just at the resurrection at the last day, as in John 5:28-29, but at the awakening of those who are spiritually dead even now (cf. John 4:23).

5:27 because he is the Human One: Given his distrust of “human nature” (John 2:25), it’s unlikely Jesus has authority to judge simply because he’s human. Rather, the Human One has the authority to judge because he is first of all the Son who “came down from heaven” (John 3:13; cf. Dan 7:13-14).

5:28 Don’t be surprised: because Jesus’ view of the resurrection is similar to theirs, differing only in that the voice summoning the dead will be his voice, “the voice of God’s Son” (John 5:25). all who are in their graves: not just the spiritually dead, as in John 5:25, but those who are literally dead.

5:29 Those who did good things... wicked things: Judgment is on the basis of works, but Jesus has already stated that one’s good works are displayed when one “comes to the light” (John 3:21), that is, when one believes in him.

5:31-47 As if he were in a trial, Jesus calls his witnesses: John the Baptist, his own works, the Father, his accusers’ own scriptures, and the writings of Moses. No response or verdict is given.

5:31-32 If I testify about myself, my testimony isn’t true: Jesus seems to say just the opposite in John 8:14. There he adds, “since I know where I came from and where I’m going,” a reference to the Father. someone else: the Father (John 5:37). The point being made here is actually the same as in John 8:18, where “the Father who sent me is the other.”

he testified to the truth. <sup>34</sup>Although I don't accept human testimony, I say these things so that you can be saved. <sup>35</sup>John was a burning and shining lamp, and, at least for a while, you were willing to celebrate in his light.

You have never even heard his voice or seen his form, <sup>38</sup>and you don't have his word dwelling with you because you don't believe the one whom he has sent. <sup>39</sup>Examine the scriptures, since you think that in them you have eternal life. They also testify about me, <sup>40</sup>yet you don't want to come to me so that you can have life.

<sup>41</sup>"I don't accept praise from people, <sup>42</sup>but I know you, that you don't have God's love in you. <sup>43</sup>I have come in my Father's name, and you don't receive me. If others come in their own name, you receive them. <sup>44</sup>How can you believe when you receive praise from each other but don't seek the praise that comes from the only God?

<sup>45</sup>"Don't think that I will accuse you before the Father. Your accuser is Moses, the one in whom your hope rests. <sup>46</sup>If you believed Moses, you would believe me, because Moses wrote about me. <sup>47</sup>If you don't believe the writings of Moses, how will you believe my words?"

Feeding of the five thousand

6 After this Jesus went across the Galilee Sea (that is, the Tiberias Sea). <sup>2</sup>A large crowd followed him, because they had seen the miraculous signs he had done among the sick. <sup>3</sup>Jesus went up a mountain and sat there with his disciples. <sup>4</sup>It was nearly time for Passover, the Jewish festival.

<sup>5</sup>Jesus looked up and saw the large crowd coming toward him. He asked Philip, "Where will we buy food to feed these people?" <sup>6</sup>Jesus said this to test him, for he already knew what he was going to do.

<sup>10</sup>Jesus said, "Have the people sit down." There was plenty of grass there. They sat down, about five thousand of them. <sup>11</sup>Then Jesus took the bread. When he had given thanks, he distributed it to those who were sitting there. He did the same with the fish, each getting as much as they wanted. <sup>12</sup>When they had plenty to eat, he said to his disciples, "Gather up the leftover pieces, so that nothing will be wasted." <sup>13</sup>So they gathered them and filled twelve baskets with the pieces of the five barley loaves that had been left over by those who had eaten.

5:34 so that you can be saved: John's testimony means little to Jesus because it's mere human testimony, but it's good if it convinces these Jews to believe.

5:35 for a while: until his imprisonment (John 3:24), to celebrate in his light: Evidently, the delegation sent to John (John 1:19-28) liked his answers.

5:37 never even heard his voice or seen his form: Compare with Israel at Sinai, "You heard the sound of words, but you didn't see any form" (Deut 4:12). Jesus' accusers, by contrast, neither see nor hear God, for they refuse to believe in Jesus (John 5:38).

5:39 Examine the scriptures: or "You examine the scriptures," recognizing that they already do this.

5:46 Moses wrote about me: Compare with John 1:45. To deny Jesus was to deny their own scriptures (John 5:39) and, above all, Moses, "in whom your hope rests" (John 5:45).

6:1-15 Jesus is abruptly back in Galilee, followed by A large crowd that had seen the miraculous signs he had done among the sick. After coming down from a mountain where he had been sitting with his disciples, Jesus feeds a crowd of 5,000 with five barley loaves and two fish. When some of them try to make him king, he hides alone on the mountain.

6:1 After this: Compare with John 5:1; 7:1. We don't learn how the discourse to the Jewish authorities in Jerusalem ended or how they responded. across the Galilee Sea: north to south, from Capernaum to the vicinity of Tiberias.

6:4 Passover: This is the only time in John's Gospel when Jesus isn't in Jerusalem for a festival (cf. John 2:23; 11:55; 12:1; 13:1). It's mentioned here to anticipate his discourse on "bread from heaven" (John 6:32) and himself as "the bread of life" (John 6:35).

6:9 A youth: The youth's age and gender aren't specified. 6:10 They sat down: or "The men sat down," implying the 5,000 people were, in fact, just the men (cf. Matt 14:21, "About five thousand men plus women and children had eaten"). This number may not even have taken into account all the "youth" who were present, including the one who had supplied the food (John 6:9)!

6:11 given thanks: The giving of thanks (cf. John 6:23) accomplishes the miracle (cf. John 11:41-42). The language recalls the Last Supper and the Christian Eucharist, or "giving thanks" (see Luke 22:19; 1 Cor 11:24).

6:13 twelve baskets: the first hint of 12 chosen disciples (John 6:67, 70).

<sup>14</sup>When the people saw that he had done a miraculous sign, they said, "This is truly the prophet who is coming into the world."<sup>15</sup> Jesus understood that they were about to come and force him to be their king, so he took refuge again, alone on a mountain.

Jesus walks on water

<sup>16</sup>When evening came, Jesus' disciples went down to the lake. <sup>17</sup>They got into a boat and were crossing the lake to Capernaum. It was already getting dark and Jesus hadn't come to them yet. <sup>18</sup>The water was getting rough because a strong wind was blowing. <sup>19</sup>When the wind had driven them out for about three or four miles, they saw Jesus walking on the water. He was approaching the boat and they were afraid. <sup>20</sup>He said to them, "I Am.<sup>o</sup> Don't be afraid." <sup>21</sup>Then they wanted to take him into the boat, and just then the boat reached the land where they had been heading.

<sup>22</sup>The next day the crowd that remained on the other side of the lake realized that only one boat had been there. They knew Jesus hadn't gone with his disciples, but that the disciples had gone alone. <sup>23</sup>Some boats came from Tiberius, near the place where they had eaten the bread over which the Lord had given thanks. <sup>24</sup>When the crowd saw that neither Jesus nor his disciples were there, they got into the boats and came to Capernaum looking for Jesus. <sup>25</sup>When they found him on the other side of the lake, they asked him, "Rabbi, when did you get here?"

Bread of life

<sup>26</sup>Jesus replied, "I assure you that you are looking for me not because you saw miraculous signs but because you ate all the food you wanted. <sup>27</sup>Don't work for the food that doesn't last but for the food that endures for eternal life, which the Human One<sup>p</sup> will give you. God the Father has confirmed him as his agent to give life."

<sup>28</sup>They asked, "What must we do in order to accomplish what God requires?"

<sup>30</sup>They asked, "What miraculous sign will you do, that we can see and believe you? What will you do?" <sup>31</sup>Our ancestors ate manna in the wilderness, just as it is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>32</sup>Jesus told them, "I assure you, it wasn't Moses who gave the bread from heaven to you, but my Father gives you the true bread from heaven. <sup>33</sup>The bread of God is the one who comes down from heaven and gives life to the world."

6:14-15 the prophet: like Moses, as in John 1:21 (see Deut 18:15-18). force him to be their king: Jewish tradition regarded Moses as both a king and a prophet (cf. Matt 11:12).

6:16-25 Jesus' disciples cross the lake again in a boat to Capernaum. On their way they see Jesus walking toward them on the water, and they're afraid. But he identifies himself, and, as they are about to take him into the boat, they discover they have reached shore. Meanwhile, when the crowd on the other side of the lake realize Jesus has gone, they come in boats to Capernaum. Finding Jesus, the crowd members ask him how he got there.

6:17 Jesus hadn't come to them yet: a signal in advance of what is going to happen.

6:20 I Am: or "It is I!" Compare with Matthew 14:27; Mark 6:50, where the same Greek words are translated as "It's me."

6:23 Some boats: They're in the story only to get the enormous crowd across the lake.

6:25 when did you get here: The puzzled question testifies to the miraculous crossing.

6:26-71 Jesus' audience keeps changing throughout this discourse, from "the crowd" (John 6:24) to the Jews (6:41, 52) to the disciples (6:60-61); but the responses are always much the same. Jesus speaks of food that endures for eternal life (6:27) and responds to a question based on Psalm 78:24, He gave them bread from heaven to eat (6:31). The discussion centers first on the words "bread from heaven" and then on the verb "to eat." Jesus presents himself as the bread of life (6:35) that came down from heaven (6:41), with his flesh being understood as something to eat (6:52) and his blood as something to drink. His language offends even his disciples, and many of them leave. Only the Twelve (6:67), with Peter as spokesman, remain faithful, and even one of them is suspect.

6:27 food: Compare with John 4:32-34, where Jesus' own food was "doing the will of the one who sent me" and "completing his work."

6:29 what God requires: or "God's work." Just as Jesus' calling is to complete God's work (John 4:34), theirs is to believe in him who has done this.

6:30 What miraculous sign will you do: Jesus doesn't perform miraculous signs for those who want proof of his authority (cf. John 2:18).

6:32 true bread from heaven: Jesus shifts the discussion away from Moses and the manna in the wilderness (e.g., Exod 16). It isn't a question of what Jesus can do (e.g., perform a sign comparable to that of manna from heaven) but of who he is.

<sup>35</sup>Jesus replied, "I am the bread of life. Whoever comes to me will never go hungry, and whoever believes in me will never be thirsty. <sup>36</sup>But I told you that you have seen me and still don't believe. <sup>37</sup>Everyone whom the Father gives to me will come to me, and I won't send away anyone who comes to me. <sup>38</sup>I have come down from heaven not to do my will, but the will of him who sent me. <sup>39</sup>This is the will of the one who sent me, that I won't lose anything he has given me, but I will raise it up at the last day. <sup>40</sup>This is my Father's will: that all who see the Son and believe in him will have eternal life, and I will raise them up at the last day."

<sup>41</sup>The Jewish opposition grumbled about him because he said, "I am the bread that came down from heaven."

<sup>42</sup>They asked, "Isn't this Jesus, Joseph's son, whose mother and father we know? How can he now say, 'I have come down from heaven'?"

<sup>61</sup>Jesus knew that the disciples were grumbling about this and he said to them, "Does this offend you? <sup>62</sup>What if you were to see the Human One<sup>a</sup> going up where he was before?"

6:34 "Sir, give us this bread all the time!": Compare with the Samaritan woman's request for water (John 4:15).

6:35 will never be thirsty: Compare with John 4:14.

6:36 But I told you: Jesus' discourses are written as if his audience is always the same, whether in Galilee or Jerusalem (cf. John 5:37-44).

6:37 I won't send away anyone who comes to me: The promise is given on Jesus' assumption that those who come to him are, in fact, those whom the Father gives to me (cf. John 6:39; 10:29; 17:6-19, 24).

6:38 I have come down from heaven: He who "was with God in the beginning" (John 1:2) must necessarily have come down from heaven (cf. John 3:13, 31).

6:39 that I won't lose anything he has given me: Just as none of the fragments of bread are "wasted," or lost (John 6:12), so none who belong to Jesus will be lost (John 10:28-29; 17:12), because "eternal life" is theirs (John 6:40).

6:44-45 unless they are drawn to me by the Father: "Drawn" is defined in 6:45 as being "taught by God" so as to come to Jesus. be taught by God: a quotation from Isaiah 54:13, where the CEB translates the phrase that could be "be taught by" as "be disciples of."

6:46 the one who is from God: Jesus himself. He speaks of himself in the third person, remembering his preexistence with the Father (cf. John 1:18; 3:11, 32; 8:38).

6:51 my flesh: Jesus' flesh for the life of the world is his flesh given in death (cf. Luke 22:19). "Flesh," like "blood," becomes a metaphor for death (see Eph 2:13-14; Col 1:22).

6:53 eat the flesh... drink his blood: While the language Jesus uses (eating flesh and drinking blood) recalls the Lord's Supper ("This is my body... This is my blood"), it never became part of the liturgy.

6:57 As... I live because of the Father, so whoever eats me lives because of me: Eating the flesh of Jesus parallels his own claim that he himself is "fed" by doing the Father's will (John 4:34). Similarly, a disciple is fed by following him, even to death if necessary (see John 12:24-26).

6:59 in the synagogue: The discussion has moved from the lakeshore to the Capernaum synagogue (cf. John 18:20).

6:62 going up where he was before: This would prove he has come "down from heaven" (John 6:33, 38; cf. John 3:13). Later he will, in fact, go up where he was before (John 20:17).

<sup>63</sup>The Spirit is the one who gives life and the flesh doesn't help at all. The words I have spoken to you are spirit and life. <sup>64</sup>Yet some of you don't believe." Jesus knew from the beginning who wouldn't believe and the one who would betray him. <sup>65</sup>He said, "For this reason I said to you that none can come to me unless the Father enables them to do so." <sup>66</sup>At this, many of his disciples turned away and no longer accompanied him.

<sup>70</sup>Jesus replied, "Didn't I choose you twelve? Yet one of you is a devil." <sup>71</sup>He was speaking of Judas, Simon Iscariot's son, for he, one of the Twelve, was going to betray him.

Jesus goes to Jerusalem

7 After this Jesus traveled throughout Galilee. He didn't want to travel in Judea, because the Jewish authorities wanted to kill him. <sup>2</sup>When it was almost time for the Jewish Festival of Booths, <sup>3</sup>Jesus' brothers said to him, "Leave Galilee. Go to Judea so that your disciples can see the amazing works that you do. <sup>4</sup>Those who want to be known publicly don't do things secretly. Since you can do these things, show yourself to the world." <sup>5</sup>His brothers said this because even they didn't believe in him.

<sup>6</sup>Jesus replied, "For you, anytime is fine. But my time hasn't come yet. <sup>7</sup>The world can't hate you. It hates me, though, because I testify that its works are evil. <sup>8</sup>You go up to the festival. I'm not going to this one because my time hasn't yet come." <sup>9</sup>Having said this, he stayed in Galilee. <sup>10</sup>However, after his brothers left for the festival, he went too—not openly but in secret.

<sup>11</sup>The Jewish leaders were looking for Jesus at the festival. They kept asking, "Where is he?" <sup>12</sup>The crowds were murmuring about him. "He's a good man," some said, but others were saying, "No, he tricks the people." <sup>13</sup>No one spoke about him publicly, though, for fear of the Jewish authorities.

Jesus teaches in the temple

<sup>14</sup>Halfway through the festival, Jesus went up to the temple and started to teach. <sup>15</sup>Astonished, the Jewish leaders asked, "He's never been taught! How has he mastered the Law?"

<sup>16</sup>Jesus responded, "My teaching isn't mine but comes from the one who sent me. <sup>17</sup>Whoever wants to do God's will can tell whether my teaching is from God or whether I speak on my own. <sup>18</sup>Those who speak on their own seek glory for themselves. Those who seek the glory of him who sent me are people of truth; there's no falsehood in them. <sup>19</sup>Didn't Moses give you the Law? Yet none of you keep the Law. Why do you want to kill me?"

7:15 Mt 13:54 7:16 Jn 3:34; Jn 8:28, Jn 14:24 7:17 Ps 25:9; Dn 12:10; Jn 8:32 7:18 Jn 5:41, Jn 8:50 7:19 Jn 1:17, Jn 7:1

6:63 The Spirit . . . gives life; raises the dead (see Rom 8:11). the flesh doesn't help at all: Death accomplishes nothing unless it's followed by resurrection (see John 6:40, 44, 54).
6:64 Jesus knew . . . who would betray him: That is, it will be "Judas, Simon Iscariot's son" (John 6:71). Nothing that happens takes Jesus by surprise.

6:67 the Twelve: In contrast to the other Gospels (Matt 10:2-4; Mark 3:16-19; Luke 6:13-16), the Twelve aren't all listed by name. John identifies only Simon Peter (John 6:68); Judas (John 6:71); and Thomas (John 20:24).

6:69 God's holy one: Ironically, "a person with an evil spirit" (Mark 1:23) once called Jesus "the holy one from God" in this same Capernaum synagogue (Mark 1:24).

6:70 a devil: The devil will take possession of Judas Iscariot just before he betrays Jesus (John 13:2, 27; cf. Luke 22:3).

7:1-13 Jesus continues for an indefinite time in Galilee, leaving Judea because he's wanted by the Jewish authorities (cf. John 5:18). His brothers urge him to go to Jerusalem for the Festival of Booths. Jesus refuses to go at their initiative but then does so on his own. The Jewish authorities are expecting him.

7:3 so that your disciples can see: Jesus' brothers are the only disciples we know who have already seen what Jesus has done (John 2:11), but they're asking for a public display in Jerusalem.

7:5 even they didn't believe in him: despite the time spent together in John 2:12. At some point, however, they come to believe (Acts 1:14).

7:6 my time hasn't come yet: Jesus' itinerary is solely in God's hands; his brothers' isn't (John 7:5).

7:7 The world can't hate you: Contrast with John 15:18-19.
7:10 in secret: the opposite of what his brothers want (John 7:4). We aren't told how Jesus maintained his secrecy.

7:14-52 Jesus arrives at the festival but isn't immediately recognized as the person the Jewish authorities want to arrest. When he's finally noticed, guards are sent to arrest him but without success. On the last and most important day of the festival (7:37), Jesus presents himself publicly as living water, leading to a division or dispute in the crowd and among the religious authorities.

7:15 He's never been taught!: But Jesus has been called Rabbi from the beginning (John 1:38; 3:2; cf. Acts 4:13). In light of the notice that he has come to the festival "in secret" (John 7:10), it appears his identity as a qualified teacher is concealed in some way.

<sup>21</sup>Jesus replied, "I did one work, and you were all astonished. <sup>22</sup>Because Moses gave you the commandment about circumcision (although it wasn't Moses but the patriarchs), you circumcise a man on the Sabbath. <sup>23</sup>If a man can be circumcised on the Sabbath without breaking Moses' Law, why are you angry with me because I made an entire man well on the Sabbath? <sup>24</sup>Don't judge according to appearances. Judge with right judgment."

<sup>25</sup>Some people from Jerusalem said, "Isn't he the one they want to kill? <sup>26</sup>Here he is, speaking in public, yet they aren't saying anything to him. Could it be that our leaders actually think he is the Christ? <sup>27</sup>We know where he is from, but when the Christ comes, no one will know where he is from."

<sup>28</sup>While Jesus was teaching in the temple, he exclaimed, "You know me and where I am from. I haven't come on my own. The one who sent me is true, and you don't know him. <sup>29</sup>I know him because I am from him and he sent me." <sup>30</sup>So they wanted to seize Jesus, but they couldn't because his time hadn't yet come.

<sup>31</sup>Many from that crowd believed in Jesus. They said, "When the Christ comes, will he do more miraculous signs than this man does?" <sup>32</sup>The Pharisees heard the crowd whispering such things about Jesus, and the chief priests and Pharisees sent guards to arrest him.

<sup>33</sup>Therefore, Jesus said, "I'm still with you for a little while before I go to the one who sent me. <sup>34</sup>You will look for me, but you won't find me, and where I am you can't come."

<sup>35</sup>The Jewish opposition asked each other, "Where does he intend to go that we can't find him? Surely he doesn't intend to go where our people have been scattered and are living among the Greeks! He isn't going to teach the Greeks, is he? <sup>36</sup>What does he mean when he says, 'You will look for me, but you won't find me, and where I am you can't come?'"

<sup>37</sup>On the last and most important day of the festival, Jesus stood up and shouted, "All who are thirsty should come to me!

As the scriptures said concerning me,<sup>v</sup>

Rivers of living water will flow out from within him."

<sup>39</sup>Jesus said this concerning the Spirit. Those who believed in him would soon receive the Spirit, but they hadn't experienced the Spirit yet since Jesus hadn't yet been glorified.

<sup>40</sup>When some in the crowd heard these words, they said, "This man is truly the prophet."

<sup>41</sup>Others said, "He's the Christ." But others said, "The Christ can't come from Galilee, can he?"

of the one who sent him," probably referring to Jesus himself. If so, Jesus is the person of truth who has no falsehood about him.

7:20 You have a demon: or "You're crazy" (cf. John 10:20). Who wants to kill you?: They don't recognize Jesus as the person the authorities want to kill (see John 5:18).

7:25 Isn't he the one they want to kill?: not a rhetorical question but a moment of recognition triggered by Jesus' claim that he made a man well on the Sabbath (John 7:23). It's also Jesus' pointed warning not to "judge according to appearances" (John 7:24).

7:30 So they wanted to seize Jesus: In John 7:31-36, 45-46, we learn how this attempt is carried out and why it fails. his time hadn't yet come: his time to be arrested and put to death (cf. John 8:20).

7:35 teach the Greeks: This is absurd at one level because Jesus means he's going to the Father. It's also prophetic because he who is "the savior of the world" (John 4:42) will, by his crucifixion, teach the Greeks after all (John 12:20-24, 32).

7:38 As the scriptures said: The source of this quotation is unknown. from within him: According to the CEB text, the Rivers of living water are from within Jesus (cf. John 19:34). The translation note identifies them as coming from within the believer (cf. John 4:14).

7:39 they hadn't experienced the Spirit yet: The promise isn't for Jesus' immediate hearers at the festival but for his disciples after he has been glorified in his death and resurrection.

7:42 from David's family and from Bethlehem: They don't realize this is, in fact, true of Jesus (see Matt 1-2; Luke 1-2).

<sup>47</sup>The Pharisees replied, "Have you too been deceived? <sup>48</sup>Have any of the leaders believed in him? Has any Pharisee? <sup>49</sup>No, only this crowd, which doesn't know the Law. And they are under God's curse!"

<sup>50</sup>Nicodemus, who was one of them and had come to Jesus earlier, said, <sup>51</sup>"Our Law doesn't judge someone without first hearing him and learning what he is doing, does it?"

<sup>52</sup>They answered him, "You are not from Galilee too, are you? Look it up and you will see that the prophet doesn't come from Galilee."

Pharisees test Jesus

<sup>53</sup>They each went to their own homes,

O And Jesus went to the Mount of Olives. <sup>2</sup>Early in the morning he returned to the temple. All the people gathered around him, and he sat down and taught them.

<sup>7</sup>They continued to question him, so he stood up and replied, "Whoever hasn't sinned should throw the first stone." <sup>8</sup>Bending down again, he wrote on the ground. <sup>9</sup>Those who heard him went away, one by one, beginning with the elders. Finally, only Jesus and the woman were left in the middle of the crowd.

<sup>10</sup>Jesus stood up and said to her, "Woman, where are they? Is there no one to condemn you?"

Jesus said, "Neither do I condemn you. Go, and from now on, don't sin anymore."<sup>x</sup>

The Stoning That Doesn't Happen John 7:53–8:11 is missing from our most reliable early manuscripts, but these early manuscripts weren't available to the translators of either the Protestant or the Catholic authorized versions. Consequently, the verses were routinely printed as part of John's Gospel. Modern versions right up to that of the CEB recognize that they're not original, but still print them (with an accompanying footnote) because of tradition and the universal appeal of the story. When they are omitted, everything from John 7:37 to John 8:59 happens on the last day of the Festival of Booths (John 7:37). When they're retained, this last festival day is followed by one more in which Jesus returns to the temple "Early in the morning" (John 8:1–2; cf. Luke 21:37–38). While he's teaching in the temple, the Pharisees bring in a woman caught in adultery to be stoned. "Whoever hasn't sinned should throw the first stone," Jesus tells them (John 8:7; see Deut 17:7), and her accusers file out. Left alone with her, Jesus refuses to condemn her. The story can be read as a comment on the whole of John 7–8, with the woman as a kind of stand-in for Jesus: Just as his accusers are judged and found wanting (John 8:46), so, too, are hers. Her story ends with a stoning that never happens, as does the whole discourse (John 8:59).

Jesus continues to teach in the temple

<sup>12</sup>Jesus spoke to the people again, saying, "I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me won't walk in darkness but will have the light of life."

<sup>14</sup>Jesus replied, "Even if I testify about myself, my testimony is true, since I know where I came from and where I'm going. You don't know where I come from or where I'm going.

7:50 Nicodemus, who was one of them: His abrupt appearance answers the rhetorical question in John 7:48, "Have any of the leaders believed in him?" (cf. John 3:1; 12:42–43).
7:52 the prophet: as in "the prophet" like Moses (John 1:21; 6:14).
7:53–8:11 See sidebar, "The Stoning That Doesn't Happen."

8:12–30 Jesus presents himself as the light of the world (8:12), resulting in more extended controversy with the Pharisees until finally many came to believe in him (8:30).
8:12 the light of the world: Compare with John 1:9–10; 3:19–21; 9:5; 12:35.

My judgments come from me and from the Father who sent me. 17In your Law it is written that the witness of two people is true. 18I am one witness concerning myself, and the Father who sent me is the other."

19They asked him, "Where is your Father?"

Jesus answered, "You don't know me and you don't know my Father. If you knew me, you would also know my Father." 20He spoke these words while he was teaching in the temple area known as the treasury. No one arrested him, because his time hadn't yet come.

21Jesus continued, "I'm going away. You will look for me, and you will die in your sin. Where I'm going, you can't come."

22The Jewish leaders said, "He isn't going to kill himself, is he? Is that why he said, 'Where I'm going, you can't come'?"

23He said to them, "You are from below; I'm from above. You are from this world; I'm not from this world. 24This is why I told you that you would die in your sins. If you don't believe that I Am, you will die in your sins."

25"Who are you?" they asked.

Jesus replied, "I'm exactly who I have claimed to be from the beginning. 26I have many things to say in judgment concerning you. The one who sent me is true, and what I have heard from him I tell the world." 27They didn't know he was speaking about his Father. 28So Jesus said to them, "When the Human One<sup>7</sup> is lifted up,<sup>8</sup> then you will know that I Am.<sup>9</sup> Then you will know that I do nothing on my own, but I say just what the Father has taught me. 29He who sent me is with me. He doesn't leave me by myself, because I always do what makes him happy." 30While Jesus was saying these things, many people came to believe in him.

Children of Abraham

31Jesus said to the Jews who believed in him, "You are truly my disciples if you remain faithful to my teaching. 32Then you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free."

33They responded, "We are Abraham's children; we've never been anyone's slaves. How can you say that we will be set free?"

34Jesus answered, "I assure you that everyone who sins is a slave to sin. 35A slave isn't a permanent member of the household, but a son is. 36Therefore, if the Son makes you free, you really will be free. 37I know that you are Abraham's children, yet you want to kill me because you don't welcome my teaching. 38I'm telling you what I've seen when I am with the Father, but you are doing what you've heard from your father."

39They replied, "Our father is Abraham."

Jesus responded, "If you were Abraham's children, you would do Abraham's works. 40Instead, you want to kill me, though I am the one who has spoken the truth I heard from God. Abraham didn't do this. 41You are doing your father's works."

They said, "Our ancestry isn't in question! The only Father we have is God!"

8:35 Gn 21:10, Lk 15:31; Ga 4:30 8:36 Jn 8:32 8:37 Jn 7:1, Jn 8:40 8:38 Jn 5:19, Jn 8:41, Jn 8:44 8:39 Mt 3:9; Jn 8:33, Jn 8:37; Ga 3:7 8:40 Jn 7:1, Jn 8:26, Jn 8:37 8:41 Dt 32:6; Is 63:16, Is 64:8, Jn 8:38, Jn 8:44

Father and to the Father (see John 16:28), who turns out to be Jesus' supporting witness (John 8:16, 18).

8:17 the witness of two people is true: It's unclear whether the two witnesses must be men (cf. Deut 17:6; 19:15).

8:19 "Where is your Father?": or "Where is your father?" They're asking Jesus to produce his second witness, and they don't know that Jesus is referring to God.

8:22 kill himself: another major misunderstanding, like the one in John 7:35, and again prophetic. Jesus won't kill himself, but he will give up his life (see John 10:17-18).

8:24, 28 that I Am: that Jesus is who he claims to be. Jesus is making a connection with the divine name (see Exod 3:14).

8:28 When the Human One is lifted up: or "When you lift up the Human One." The responsibility for crucifying Jesus will be theirs (see John 19:16; cf. Acts 2:36; 4:10).

8:31-51 Jesus engages those who believed in him in a debate over what it means to be Abraham's children, exposing to them instead as children of the devil but promising eternal life to all who keep Jesus' word.

8:31 Jews who believed in him: In light of what follows (John 8:23-59), their belief turns out not to be genuine (cf. John 2:22-25).

8:33 we've never been anyone's slaves: not true. They have been constantly reminded they had been slaves in Egypt (see Deut 5:15; 15:15; 16:12; 24:18, 22).

8:37 Abraham's children: or "seed." The Greek word translated as "children" here isn't the same word that is translated as "children" in John 8:39, where Jesus denies they are Abraham's "children" because they don't behave as Abraham did.

8:38 you are doing what you've heard from your father:

<sup>42</sup>Jesus replied, "If God were your Father, you would love me, for I came from God. Here I am. I haven't come on my own. God sent me. <sup>43</sup>Why don't you understand what I'm saying? It's because you can't really hear my words. <sup>44</sup>Your father is the devil. You are his children, and you want to do what your father wants. He was a murderer from the beginning. He has never stood for the truth, because there's no truth in him. Whenever that liar speaks, he speaks according to his own nature, because he's a liar and the father of liars. <sup>45</sup>Because I speak the truth, you don't believe me. <sup>46</sup>Who among you can show I'm guilty of sin? Since I speak the truth, why don't you believe me? <sup>47</sup>God's children listen to God's words. You don't listen to me because you aren't God's children."

<sup>50</sup>I'm not trying to bring glory to myself. There's one who is seeking to glorify me, and he's the judge. <sup>51</sup>I assure you that whoever keeps my word will never die."

Abraham and Jesus

<sup>52</sup>The Jewish opposition said to Jesus, "Now we know that you have a demon. Abraham and the prophets died, yet you say, 'Whoever keeps my word will never die.' <sup>53</sup>Are you greater than our father Abraham? He died and the prophets died, so who do you make yourself out to be?"

<sup>54</sup>Jesus answered, "If I glorify myself, my glory is meaningless. My Father, who you say is your God, is the one who glorifies me. <sup>55</sup>You don't know him, but I do. If I said I didn't know him, I would be like you, a liar. But I do know him, and I keep his word. <sup>56</sup>Your father Abraham was overjoyed that he would see my day. He saw it and was happy."

<sup>58</sup>"I assure you," Jesus replied, "before Abraham was, I Am." <sup>59</sup>So they picked up stones to throw at him, but Jesus hid himself and left the temple.

Jesus heals a blind man

9As Jesus walked along, he saw a man who was blind from birth. <sup>2</sup>Jesus' disciples asked, "Rabbi, who sinned so that he was born blind, this man or his parents?"

<sup>3</sup>Jesus answered, "Neither he nor his parents. This happened so that God's mighty works might be displayed in him. <sup>4</sup>While it's daytime, we must do the works of him who sent me.

8:59 Jn 10:31, Jn 11:8, Jn 12:36 9:1 Mt 9:27 9:2 Ex 20:5, Lk 13:2, Jn 9:34, Ac 28:4 9:3 Jn 11:4, Jn 11:40 9:4 Ecc 9:10, Jn 4:34, Jn 11:9, Jn 12:35

Jesus is saying the devil is their father (see John 8:44). But it can also be translated as "So do now what you have heard from the Father" (i.e., from God, through Jesus' lips).

8:44 a murderer from the beginning: Compare with 1 John 3:12.

8:47 God's children: or "the one who is from God" or "belongs to God."

8:48 you are a Samaritan and have a demon: Jews regarded Samaritans as demon-possessed, figuratively, if not literally, because they worshipped strange gods (2 Kgs 17:24-41). Jesus is "a Jewish man" to the Samaritans (John 4:9) and a Samaritan to the Jews—yet also "the savior of the world" (John 4:42).

8:51 will never die: They don't seem to understand it isn't a matter of physical death but of being eternally "lost" (e.g., John 3:16; 6:39; 17:12).

8:52-59 Challenged over his claim to give eternal life, Jesus asserts he existed before Abraham as Abraham's God.

8:52 Abraham . . . died: This is true (Gen 25:8), and yet Abraham is not dead (see Luke 20:37-38).

8:56 overjoyed that he would see my day: See Genesis 12:1-3; 17:15-17. He saw it and was happy: It's unclear whether Jesus is referring to Isaac's birth (Gen 21:1-7) or Isaac's deliverance (Gen 22:13; cf. John 1:29).

8:58 before Abraham was, I Am: Jesus claims to be God

(John 1:1, 18), the God of Israel (see Exod 3:6; 3:14; cf. Deut 32:39; Isa 41:4; 43:11, 25; 45:18-19; 51:12; 52:6).

8:59 So they picked up stones: because they regard what Jesus has just said as a terrible insult to God (cf. John 10:33). Jesus hid himself: He revealed himself in the temple (John 7:14-8:58), but now he goes back into hiding (John 7:10). See sidebar, "The Stoning That Doesn't Happen" at John 8. 9:1-7 Jesus heals a man who has been blind from birth by making a ball of mud and spittle, putting it on the man's eyes, and sending him to wash in the pool of Siloam. This undoing of a birth defect stands as the Gospel's prime example of being "born anew" (cf. John 3:3, 5).

9:2 who sinned: Many Jews assumed human misfortune was traceable to sin. Normally, the victim was blamed, but in the case of someone who was born blind, the parents were also considered to be possibly at fault.

9:3 that God's mighty works might be displayed in him: or "that God's mighty works in him might be displayed," that is, the work of God already in his life (cf. John 3:21), displayed not by the healing he experienced but finally by his faith in Jesus (John 9:38).

9:4 While it's daytime: Jesus expresses a sense of urgency in view of his approaching death (cf. John 11:9-10; 12:35). we must do the works of him who sent me: "We" could mean either Jesus and his disciples or Jesus and the man who Night is coming when no one can work. <sup>5</sup>While I am in the world, I am the light of the world.” <sup>6</sup>After he said this, he spit on the ground, made mud with the saliva, and smeared the mud on the man’s eyes. <sup>7</sup>Jesus said to him, “Go, wash in the pool of Siloam” (this word means sent). So the man went away and washed. When he returned, he could see.

Disagreement about the healing

<sup>8</sup>The man’s neighbors and those who used to see him when he was a beggar said, “Isn’t this the man who used to sit and beg?”

<sup>9</sup>Some said, “It is,” and others said, “No, it’s someone who looks like him.”

But the man said, “Yes, it’s me!”

<sup>10</sup>So they asked him, “How are you now able to see?”

<sup>11</sup>He answered, “The man they call Jesus made mud, smeared it on my eyes, and said, ‘Go to the Pool of Siloam and wash.’ So I went and washed, and then I could see.”

He replied, “I don’t know.”

<sup>13</sup>Then they led the man who had been born blind to the Pharisees. <sup>14</sup>Now Jesus made the mud and smeared it on the man’s eyes on a Sabbath day. <sup>15</sup>So Pharisees also asked him how he was able to see.

The man told them, “He put mud on my eyes, I washed, and now I see.”

<sup>16</sup>Some Pharisees said, “This man isn’t from God, because he breaks the Sabbath law.” Others said, “How can a sinner do miraculous signs like these?” So they were divided. <sup>17</sup>Some of the Pharisees questioned the man who had been born blind again: “What do you have to say about him, since he healed your eyes?”

He replied, “He’s a prophet.”

Conflict over the healing

<sup>18</sup>The Jewish leaders didn’t believe the man had been blind and received his sight until they called for his parents. <sup>19</sup>The Jewish leaders asked them, “Is this your son? Are you saying he was born blind? How can he now see?”

<sup>20</sup>His parents answered, “We know he is our son. We know he was born blind. <sup>21</sup>But we don’t know how he now sees, and we don’t know who healed his eyes. Ask him. He’s old enough to speak for himself.” <sup>22</sup>His parents said this because they feared the Jewish authorities. This is because the Jewish authorities had already decided that whoever confessed Jesus to be the Christ would be expelled from the synagogue. <sup>23</sup>That’s why his parents said, “He’s old enough. Ask him.”

<sup>24</sup>Therefore, they called a second time for the man who had been born blind and said to him, “Give glory to God. We know this man is a sinner.”

<sup>27</sup>He replied, “I already told you, and you didn’t listen. Why do you want to hear it again? Do you want to become his disciples too?”

<sup>28</sup>They insulted him: “You are his disciple, but we are Moses’ disciples. <sup>29</sup>We know that God spoke to Moses, but we don’t know where this man is from.”

was blind. Jesus does the works of God by healing and the man by believing (John 9:38; cf. John 6:29).

9:5 I am the light of the world: Compare with John 8:12.

9:6 made mud with the saliva: Jesus’ action can be compared to God’s act of forming the first human being (Gen 2:7).

9:7 Siloam (this word means sent): The pool’s name implies the water in the pool was sent “from above” (as it is to this day, flowing downward through Hezekiah’s Tunnel in Jerusalem), signaling a new birth “from above” (see note on John 3:3).

9:8-17 The man born blind is questioned repeatedly. This gives him the opportunity to recount over and over again, and ever more briefly, what has just happened to him. He tells his story to his neighbors and spectators (9:8-11) and to the Pharisees, who don’t believe him.

9:9 “Yes, it’s me!”, or “I Am”, echoing Jesus’ repeated use of this expression. Here it’s a simple self-identification, yet it confirms Jesus’ identity as the divine “I Am” (John 8:58) by testifying to his status as a miracle worker.

9:14 on a Sabbath day: As in John 5:9, we learn this after the fact.

9:18-34 The Pharisees question the former blind man’s parents, who reply that he can speak for himself. When they question him again, he challenges their authority and is thrown out of the synagogue.

9:27 Do you want to become his disciples too?: evident sarcasm. But the use of “too” signals he himself does want to

Expelled from the Synagogue The expression “expelled from the synagogue”—found in John 9:22; 12:42; 16:2, but nowhere else in ancient literature—is sometimes said to refer to the so-called Birkath ha-minim. This was a curse added to the central prayer of Jewish liturgy near the end of the 1st century CE to exclude Jewish Christians from the synagogues. If this is so, it couldn’t have been in effect in Jesus’ day. The phrase probably doesn’t refer to a formal policy of expulsion of those who “confessed Jesus to be the Christ” (John 9:22) but to certain temporary exclusions, enforced only rarely by local synagogues. Jesus himself, after all, spoke publicly in the Capernaum synagogue (John 6:59) and once told the Jewish high priest, “I’ve always taught in synagogues and in the temple, where all the Jews gather” (John 18:20). Of the three expulsion references in this Gospel, the first (John 9:22) simply sets the stage for the man born blind being “expelled” (John 9:34); the second applies to Jewish “leaders” (John 12:42) who may have feared expulsion because of their potential influence on others; while the third (John 16:2) is more prophetic, pointing to a future time when a final break with the synagogue is closer at hand.

<sup>30</sup>The man answered, “This is incredible! You don’t know where he is from, yet he healed my eyes! <sup>31</sup>We know that God doesn’t listen to sinners. God listens to anyone who is devout and does God’s will. <sup>32</sup>No one has ever heard of a healing of the eyes of someone born blind. <sup>33</sup>If this man wasn’t from God, he couldn’t do this.”

<sup>34</sup>They responded, “You were born completely in sin! How is it that you dare to teach us?” Then they expelled him.

Jesus finds the man born blind

Jesus teaches the Pharisees

<sup>39</sup>Jesus said, “I have come into the world to exercise judgment so that those who don’t see can see and those who see will become blind.”

<sup>40</sup>Some Pharisees who were with him heard what he said and asked, “Surely we aren’t blind, are we?”

<sup>41</sup>Jesus said to them, “If you were blind, you wouldn’t have any sin, but now that you say, ‘We see,’ your sin remains.

be Jesus’ disciple, as the Jewish leaders have recognized (John 9:28).

9:31 God doesn’t listen to sinners: not necessarily true (Luke 18:13-14), but the point is that the prayer itself must be devout and according to God’s will. Somehow the man knows Jesus works his miraculous signs through prayer (cf. John 6:11; 11:22, 41-42).

9:34 born completely in sin: They draw this conclusion both from his blindness (John 9:2) and from his allegiance to Jesus, who in their eyes is “a sinner” (John 9:16, 24).

9:35-38 On learning that the man who was born blind has been thrown out of the synagogue, Jesus finds him and asks if he believes in the Human One. This is the only place in the Bible this title is used explicitly as the object of faith. Since “the Human One” can refer simply to “a human being,” this man seems to have heard the question as “Do you believe in the one who healed you?” He knows Jesus’ name (John 9:11); considers him a prophet (John 9:17); and wants to be his disciple (John 9:27, 28, 38). Yet he has never laid eyes on Jesus, for he received his sight only later, by himself, at the pool. Now he thinks he’s talking to an anonymous stranger. Then Jesus reveals himself, and the man believes and worships him.

9:37 In fact, he is the one speaking with you: We might have expected “I Am,” as in John 4:26; but instead Jesus speaks of himself in the third person, as he has done all along with such titles as “the Human One” and “the Son.”

9:38 Lord: the same Greek word translated as “sir” in John 9:36. “Sir” is appropriate when addressing a stranger (cf. John 4:11), but “Lord” is called for when speaking to someone to whom one owes allegiance.

9:39-10:6 The man who was born blind disappears from the scene, and Jesus takes up the debate with the Pharisees. Because they haven’t acknowledged their own blindness, he tells them, their sin remains (9:39-41). Changing the metaphor, he then tells a parable that contrasts a shepherd’s legitimate entrance into a sheep pen with the illegitimate intrusion of a thief climbing over its wall. The Pharisees fail to understand.

9:39 so that . . . those who see will become blind: a rebuke to the Pharisees, who have just thrown the formerly blind man out of the synagogue.

9:41 your sin remains: In the end, it’s the Pharisees

10<sup>1</sup>I assure you that whoever doesn't enter into the sheep pen through the gate but climbs over the wall is a thief and an outlaw. <sup>2</sup>The one who enters through the gate is the shepherd of the sheep. <sup>3</sup>The guard at the gate opens the gate for him, and the sheep listen to his voice. He calls his own sheep by name and leads them out. <sup>4</sup>Whenever he has gathered all of his sheep, he goes before them and they follow him, because they know his voice. <sup>5</sup>They won't follow a stranger but will run away because they don't know the stranger's voice." <sup>6</sup>Those who heard Jesus use this analogy didn't understand what he was saying.

I am the gate

<sup>7</sup>So Jesus spoke again, "I assure you that I am the gate of the sheep. <sup>8</sup>All who came before me were thieves and outlaws, but the sheep didn't listen to them. <sup>9</sup>I am the gate. Whoever enters through me will be saved. They will come in and go out and find pasture. <sup>10</sup>The thief enters only to steal, kill, and destroy. I came so that they could have life—indeed, so that they could live life to the fullest.

I am the good shepherd

<sup>11</sup>"I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. <sup>12</sup>When the hired hand sees the wolf coming, he leaves the sheep and runs away. That's because he isn't the shepherd; the sheep aren't really his. So the wolf attacks the sheep and scatters them. <sup>13</sup>He's only a hired hand and the sheep don't matter to him.

<sup>14</sup>"I am the good shepherd. I know my own sheep and they know me, <sup>15</sup>just as the Father knows me and I know the Father. I give up my life for the sheep. <sup>16</sup>I have other sheep that don't belong to this sheep pen. I must lead them too. They will listen to my voice and there will be one flock, with one shepherd.

<sup>17</sup>"This is why the Father loves me: I give up my life so that I can take it up again. <sup>18</sup>No one takes it from me, but I give it up because I want to. I have the right to give it up, and I have the right to take it up again. I received this commandment from my Father."

<sup>19</sup>There was another division among the Jews because of Jesus' words. <sup>20</sup>Many of them said, "He has a demon and has lost his mind. Why listen to him?" <sup>21</sup>Others said, "These aren't the words of someone who has a demon. Can a demon heal the eyes of people who are blind?"

Jesus at the Festival of Dedication

<sup>22</sup>The time came for the Festival of Dedication* in Jerusalem. It was winter, <sup>23</sup>and Jesus was in the temple, walking in the covered porch named for Solomon. <sup>24</sup>The Jewish opposition circled around him and asked, "How long will you test our patience? If you are the Christ, tell us plainly."

themselves who are judged as sinners, not the formerly blind man (John 9:2, 34) or Jesus (John 9:16, 24).

10:3 He calls his own sheep by name: as Jesus will do: "Lazarus" (John 11:43); "Philip" (John 14:9); "Mary" (John 20:16); and "Simon son of John" (John 21:15, 16, 17).

10:6 Those who heard Jesus use this analogy: those "Pharisees who were with him" (John 9:40).

10:7-21 Jesus presents himself twice as the only true gate of the sheep (10:7, 9) and twice more as the good shepherd (10:11, 14) who freely gives his life for the sheep. In the end, his hearers are divided among themselves over his words.

10:8 All who came before me: not in a temporal sense (e.g., Moses and the prophets) but spatially, as before a gate (cf. Acts 12:6, 14), in order to gain entrance, in this case illegitimately.

10:11 lays down his life: that is, risks his life. But the same Greek expression in John 10:15, 18 comes to mean "give up" his life in death.

10:16 I have other sheep: probably Gentile believers (cf. John 11:52). That he already has such sheep is evident from John 4:39. one shepherd: It doesn't matter whether the one shepherd is the Father or the Son (see John 10:30).

10:17 take it up again: or "receive it back" (i.e., in the resurrection).

10:22-39 At the Festival of Dedication, some Jews ask Jesus to tell them plainly whether he is the Christ. He replies that what matters aren't titles but the works the Father has given him to do. After all, he claims, I and the Father are one (10:30). The Jews take up rocks to stone him for claiming to be God. Again he insists titles don't matter, because even scripture uses the word "god" very loosely; what counts instead are his works. They try to arrest him, but again, as in John 8:59, he escapes.

10:22 Festival of Dedication . . . winter: the only instance in which we're told what Jesus was doing during the season now celebrated by Christians as his birthday.

<sup>27</sup>My sheep listen to my voice. I know them and they follow me. <sup>28</sup>I give them eternal life. They will never die, and no one will snatch them from my hand. <sup>29</sup>My Father, who has given them to me, is greater than all, and no one is able to snatch them from my Father's hand. <sup>30</sup>I and the Father are one."

<sup>33</sup>The Jewish opposition answered, "We don't stone you for a good work but for insulting God. You are human, yet you make yourself out to be God."

<sup>34</sup>Jesus replied, "Isn't it written in your Law, I have said, you are gods?"<sup>f</sup> <sup>35</sup>Scripture calls those to whom God's word came gods, and scripture can't be abolished. <sup>36</sup>So how can you say that the one whom the Father has made holy and sent into the world insults God because he said, 'I am God's Son'? <sup>37</sup>If I don't do the works of my Father, don't believe me. <sup>38</sup>But if I do them, and you don't believe me, believe the works so that you can know and recognize that the Father is in me and I am in the Father." <sup>39</sup>Again, they wanted to arrest him, but he escaped from them.

<sup>40</sup>Jesus went back across the Jordan to the place where John had baptized at first, and he stayed there. <sup>41</sup>Many people came to him. "John didn't do any miraculous signs," they said, "but everything John said about this man was true." <sup>42</sup>Many believed in Jesus there.

Lazarus is ill

11 A certain man, Lazarus, was ill. He was from Bethany, the village of Mary and her sister Martha. (<sup>2</sup>This was the Mary who anointed the Lord with fragrant oil and wiped his feet with her hair. Her brother Lazarus was ill.) <sup>3</sup>So the sisters sent word to Jesus, saying, "Lord, the one whom you love is ill."

<sup>4</sup>When he heard this, Jesus said, "This illness isn't fatal. It's for the glory of God so that God's Son can be glorified through it." <sup>5</sup>Jesus loved Martha, her sister, and Lazarus. <sup>6</sup>When he heard that Lazarus was ill, he stayed where he was. After two days, <sup>7</sup>he said to his disciples, "Let's return to Judea again."

10:29 My Father, who has given them to me, is greater than all: Some ancient manuscripts have instead, "What my Father has given me is greater than all else," implying that because the Giver is greater than all, the gift (i.e., believers) is also greater than all.

10:30 I and the Father are one: because "my hand" (John 10:28) and "my Father's hand" (John 10:29) are the same hand doing the same work (cf. John 10:16).

10:34 written in your Law... you are gods: quoting from Psalm 82:6, which adds, "But you will die like mortals; you will fall down like any prince" (Ps 82:7).

10:35 those to whom God's word came: that is, just as "the Word" (John 1:14) has come to them. scripture can't be abolished: What he has just called "your Law" (John 10:34) is his as well, with binding authority (cf. Matt 5:17-18).

10:36 the one whom the Father has made holy: that is, Jesus (cf. John 6:69). To be "made holy" means to be set apart for the mission on which he has been sent into the world (cf. John 17:17-19).

10:38-39 the Father is in me and I am in the Father: another way of saying "I and the Father are one" (John 10:30). This is known on the basis of Jesus' works, and the reaction of the "Jewish opposition" is similar to their earlier reaction (see John 10:31, 39).

10:40-11:16 Jesus flees Jerusalem and takes refuge where John had baptized at first (i.e., "across the Jordan in Bethany," John 1:28), and where Jesus had stayed before (John 1:38-39) and called his first disciples. Here many confirm John's testimony and believe in Jesus, but he receives word his friend Lazarus is ill in the other Bethany, near Jerusalem. After two days, and against their advice, Jesus and his disciples journey there.

10:41 everything John said about this man was true: a belated validation of John's testimonies in John 1; 3. In this sense, John the Baptist speaks for the author of the Gospel.

10:42 Many believed in Jesus there: The purpose of John's ministry, that "everyone would believe in the light" (John 1:7), is fulfilled right where he had once baptized.

11:2 the Mary who anointed the Lord: See John 12:3-8. The author assumes some version of an anointing story is already known. This isn't surprising, because it was told again and again "in memory of her" (Matt 26:13; Mark 14:9).

11:4 This illness isn't fatal: It was fatal (John 11:14), but it ended in resurrection. so that God's Son can be glorified: Jesus will be glorified not simply in performing a miracle but in his own death on the cross.

9 Jesus answered, "Aren't there twelve hours in the day? Whoever walks in the day doesn't stumble because they see the light of the world. 10 But whoever walks in the night does stumble because the light isn't in them."

11 He continued, "Our friend Lazarus is sleeping, but I am going in order to wake him up."

12 The disciples said, "Lord, if he's sleeping, he will get well." 13 They thought Jesus meant that Lazarus was in a deep sleep, but Jesus had spoken about Lazarus' death.

14 Jesus told them plainly, "Lazarus has died. 15 For your sakes, I'm glad I wasn't there so that you can believe. Let's go to him."

16 Then Thomas (the one called Didymus) said to the other disciples, "Let us go too so that we may die with Jesus."

Jesus with Martha and Mary

17 When Jesus arrived, he found that Lazarus had already been in the tomb for four days.

18 Bethany was a little less than two miles from Jerusalem. 19 Many Jews had come to comfort Martha and Mary after their brother's death. 20 When Martha heard that Jesus was coming, she went to meet him, while Mary remained in the house. 21 Martha said to Jesus, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother wouldn't have died. 22 Even now I know that whatever you ask God, God will give you."

23 Jesus told her, "Your brother will rise again."

24 Martha replied, "I know that he will rise in the resurrection on the last day."

25 Jesus said to her, "I am the resurrection and the life. Whoever believes in me will live, even though they die. 26 Everyone who lives and believes in me will never die. Do you believe this?"

27 She replied, "Yes, Lord, I believe that you are the Christ, God's Son, the one who is coming into the world."

28 After she said this, she went and spoke privately to her sister Mary, "The teacher is here and he's calling for you." 29 When Mary heard this, she got up quickly and went to Jesus. 30 He hadn't entered the village but was still in the place where Martha had met him. 31 When the Jews who were comforting Mary in the house saw her get up quickly and leave, they followed her. They assumed she was going to mourn at the tomb.

32 When Mary arrived where Jesus was and saw him, she fell at his feet and said, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother wouldn't have died."

33 When Jesus saw her crying and the Jews who had come with her crying also, he was deeply disturbed and troubled. 34 He asked, "Where have you laid him?"

They replied, "Lord, come and see."

11:9 light of the world: or "the light of this world" (i.e., not Jesus but sunlight, as in John 8:12; 9:5). The point is that it's safe to go to Lazarus, because Jesus' "time hadn't yet come" to be seized and crucified (cf. John 7:30; 8:20).

11:11 Lazarus is sleeping: the first hint that Jesus will raise Lazarus from the dead.

11:15 I'm glad I wasn't there: He could have healed Lazarus without going to him (cf. John 4:50-53), but this time his goal is not to heal the sick but to bring a dead man back to life, so that you can believe: The disciples are never said to believe, nor even to be present when Lazarus is raised. Instead, Martha and "many of the Jews" believe (John 11:27, 45).

11:16 with Jesus: or "with him." The Greek version doesn't identify Jesus by name. Jesus' announcement, "Lazarus has died" (John 11:14), could suggest Thomas means "with Lazarus" instead of "with Jesus."

11:17-46 On arriving in Bethany, Jesus is met first by Lazarus' sister Martha, who responds to his promise of eternal life by expressing her belief in him as the Christ and God's Son. She then brings her sister, Mary, to Jesus, but the encounter is sidetracked by the presence of a number of Jews crying and trying to comfort the two sisters. Jesus, now troubled and angry, goes to the tomb, asks that the stone be removed, and, after a short prayer of thanksgiving, calls Lazarus from the tomb.

11:17 When Jesus... four days: This sentence must be a heading for the whole section. Jesus doesn't go to the tomb at once (see John 11:34), and only after his arrival does he learn about what happened during the previous "four days" (John 11:39).

11:18 if you had been here: Because the distance involved is unknown, it isn't certain he could have been there even if he had left immediately (cf. John 11:32, 37).

11:22 whatever you ask God: Like the man born blind (John 9:31), Martha knows Jesus performs his miracles by prayer (see John 11:41-42).

11:24 resurrection on the last day: See John 5:28-29; 6:39, 40, 44, 54.

11:26 will never die: Compare with John 8:51.

11:27 I believe that you are the Christ, God's Son: This is exactly what John's Gospel wants every reader to believe (John 20:31).

11:28 he's calling for you: Jesus hasn't explicitly called for Mary but has done so implicitly by remaining outside the village (John 11:30) so that the two sisters might escort him in together.

11:33 deeply disturbed and troubled: The Greek suggests

<sup>35</sup>Jesus began to cry. <sup>36</sup>The Jews said, "See how much he loved him!" <sup>37</sup>But some of them said, "He healed the eyes of the man born blind. Couldn't he have kept Lazarus from dying?"

Jesus at Lazarus' tomb

<sup>38</sup>Jesus was deeply disturbed again when he came to the tomb. It was a cave, and a stone covered the entrance. <sup>39</sup>Jesus said, "Remove the stone."

Martha, the sister of the dead man, said, "Lord, the smell will be awful! He's been dead four days."

<sup>40</sup>Jesus replied, "Didn't I tell you that if you believe, you will see God's glory?" <sup>41</sup>So they removed the stone. Jesus looked up and said, "Father, thank you for hearing me. <sup>42</sup>I know you always hear me. I say this for the benefit of the crowd standing here so that they will believe that you sent me." <sup>43</sup>Having said this, Jesus shouted with a loud voice, "Lazarus, come out!" <sup>44</sup>The dead man came out, his feet bound and his hands tied, and his face covered with a cloth. Jesus said to them, "Untie him and let him go."

<sup>45</sup>Therefore, many of the Jews who came with Mary and saw what Jesus did believed in him. <sup>46</sup>But some of them went to the Pharisees and told them what Jesus had done.

Caiaphas prophesies

<sup>47</sup>Then the chief priests and Pharisees called together the council<sup>6</sup> and said, "What are we going to do? This man is doing many miraculous signs! <sup>48</sup>If we let him go on like this, everyone will believe in him. Then the Romans will come and take away both our temple and our people."

<sup>49</sup>One of them, Caiaphas, who was high priest that year, told them, "You don't know anything! <sup>50</sup>You don't see that it is better for you that one man die for the people rather than the whole nation be destroyed." <sup>51</sup>He didn't say this on his own. As high priest that year, he prophesied that Jesus would soon die for the nation—<sup>52</sup>and not only for the nation. Jesus would also die so that God's children scattered everywhere would be gathered together as one. <sup>53</sup>From that day on they plotted to kill him.

The Passover draws near

<sup>54</sup>Therefore, Jesus was no longer active in public ministry among the Jewish leaders. Instead, he left Jerusalem and went to a place near the wilderness, to a city called Ephraim, where he stayed with his disciples.

<sup>55</sup>It was almost time for the Jewish Passover, and many people went from the countryside up to Jerusalem to purify themselves through ritual washing before the Passover. <sup>56</sup>They were looking for Jesus. As they spoke to each other in the temple, they said, "What do you that he "got angry," so angry that he "shook himself," possibly because of the mourners' invasion of his privacy with the two sisters (see also John 11:38).

Jesus began to cry: a different Greek word from the one used for the formal mourning or "crying" of Mary and the Jews (John 11:33). He simply sheds tears.

"Didn't I tell you . . . you will see God's glory?": Compare with John 11:4.

so that they will believe that you sent me: The prayer signals to the crowd that Jesus is doing this on the Father's authority, not his own.

"Lazarus, come out!": See John 5:28; 10:3.

But some of them: even some of those who "believed in him" (John 11:45). It's yet another example of false or inadequate faith (cf. John 2:23; 8:30).

When the Pharisees learn what has happened, the Jewish ruling council takes action out of fear that everyone will believe in him, so that the Romans will come and take away both our temple and our people (11:48). On the advice of Caiaphas, the high priest, they decide it's better that one man die for the people rather than the whole nation be destroyed (11:50), and they plot to kill Jesus.

As high priest that year, he prophesied: Although priests weren't necessarily prophets, this notice implies God is somehow speaking through the high priest, so that his words have a deeper meaning than he intends. die for the nation: not merely to appease the Romans but as a sacrifice for Israel's sins.

<sup>53-54</sup> plotted to kill him: their intention all along (John 5:18), now confirmed by formal resolution.

<sup>55-56</sup> Ephraim: The exact location is unknown, but it's likely northeast of Jerusalem. Jesus seems to have wanted time alone with his disciples, who were noticeably absent at the tomb of Lazarus.

<sup>55-56</sup> 12:11 Amid uncertainty over whether Jesus will come to Jerusalem for Passover, he returns to Bethany, where Lazarus and his sisters host a dinner for him. There Mary abruptly anoints his feet with very expensive perfume, and Jesus commends her for it, hinting at a connection with his death and burial.

11:57 Mt 12:14;
Jn 5:16, Jn 8:59,
Jn 11:47

think? He won't come to the festival, will he?"<sup>57</sup> The chief priests and Pharisees had given orders that anyone who knew where he was should report it, so they could arrest him.

Mary anoints Jesus' feet

12:1 Mt 21:17,
Mt 26:6; Jn 11:1,
Jn 11:55

12 Six days before Passover, Jesus came to Bethany, home of Lazarus, whom Jesus had raised from the dead. <sup>2</sup>Lazarus and his sisters hosted a dinner for him. Martha served and Lazarus was among those who joined him at the table. <sup>3</sup>Then Mary took an extraordinary amount, almost three-quarters of a pound,<sup>b</sup> of very expensive perfume made of pure nard. She anointed Jesus' feet with it, then wiped his feet dry with her hair. The house was filled with the aroma of the perfume. <sup>4</sup>Judas Iscariot, one of his disciples (the one who was about to betray him), complained, <sup>5</sup>"This perfume was worth a year's wages!<sup>1</sup> Why wasn't it sold and the money given to the poor?" (<sup>6</sup>He said this not because he cared about the poor but because he was a thief. He carried the money bag and would take what was in it.)

<sup>7</sup>Then Jesus said, "Leave her alone. This perfume was to be used in preparation for my burial, and this is how she has used it. <sup>8</sup>You will always have the poor among you, but you won't always have me."

<sup>9</sup>Many Jews learned that he was there. They came not only because of Jesus but also to see Lazarus, whom he had raised from the dead. <sup>10</sup>The chief priests decided that they would kill Lazarus too. <sup>11</sup>It was because of Lazarus that many of the Jews had deserted them and come to believe in Jesus.

Jesus enters Jerusalem

<sup>12</sup>The next day the great crowd that had come for the festival heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem. <sup>13</sup>They took palm branches and went out to meet him. They shouted,

Ps 118:25-26;
Jn 1:49

"Hosanna!

12:19 Jn 11:47

<sup>16</sup>His disciples didn't understand these things at first. After he was glorified, they remembered that these things had been written about him and that they had done these things to him.

<sup>17</sup>The crowd who had been with him when he called Lazarus out of the tomb and raised him from the dead were testifying about him. <sup>18</sup>That's why the crowd came to meet him, because they had heard about this miraculous sign that he had done. <sup>19</sup>Therefore, the Pharisees said to each other, "See! You've accomplished nothing! Look! The whole world is following him!"

Ephraim." This helps explain why the many people are familiar with Jesus, as well as their curiosity over whether he will come to the Passover (John 11:56).

12:3 pure nard: aromatic oil of the spikenard plant. She anointed Jesus' feet: not his head, as in Mark 14:3, anticipating Jesus' washing of his disciples' feet (John 13:5).

12:6 because he was a thief: Even though greed is Judas' motivation, the other disciples may have the same question in mind (cf. Mark 14:4-5).

12:7 to be used in preparation for my burial, and this is how she has used it: Recognizing that "you won't always have me" (John 12:8), Mary anoints him ahead of time for his death and burial.

12:8 You will always have the poor among you: In Deuteronomy 15:11 this is a reason for giving generously to the poor (cf. Mark 14:7). Jesus isn't asking his disciples to choose between himself and the poor.

12:9 Many Jews: or "a great crowd." It could be this crowd that later keeps "testifying about him" to an even larger crowd of worshippers at the festival (see John 12:17-18).

12:10 that they would kill Lazarus too: a footnote to John 11:53, not a later decision by the council.

12:12-19 As the Passover Festival draws near, Jesus is welcomed into Jerusalem by a great crowd carrying palm branches. This confirms the Pharisees' worst fears.

12:13 Blessings on the king of Israel!: Compare with John 1:49.

12:16 After he was glorified, they remembered: Compare with John 2:22.

12:18 That's why the crowd came to meet him: There seem to be two distinct crowds, one "testifying" about Jesus (John 12:17) and the other responding to him (12:18).

12:19 The whole world is following him!: an exaggeration, like John 3:26 ("everyone is flocking to him") and John 11:48 ("everyone will believe in him"). In reality, The whole world is following "this world's ruler" (John 12:31).

Jesus teaches about his death

<sup>20</sup>Some Greeks were among those who had come up to worship at the festival. <sup>21</sup>They came to Philip, who was from Bethsaida in Galilee, and made a request: "Sir, we want to see Jesus."

<sup>27</sup>"Now I am deeply troubled.<sup>m</sup> What should I say? 'Father, save me from this time'? No, for this is the reason I have come to this time. <sup>28</sup>Father, glorify your name!"

Then a voice came from heaven, "I have glorified it, and I will glorify it again."

<sup>29</sup>The crowd standing there heard and said, "It's thunder." Others said, "An angel spoke to him."

<sup>35</sup>Jesus replied, "The light is with you for only a little while. Walk while you have the light so that darkness doesn't overtake you. Those who walk in the darkness don't know where they are going. <sup>36</sup>As long as you have the light, believe in the light so that you might become people whose lives are determined by the light." After Jesus said these things, he went away and hid from them.

<sup>37</sup>Jesus had done many miraculous signs before the people, but they didn't believe in him.

<sup>38</sup>This was to fulfill the word of the prophet Isaiah:

Lord, who has believed through our message?

To whom is the arm of the Lord fully revealed?<sup>q</sup>

12:36 Lk 16:8; Jn 8:59; Jn 12:46; 1Th 5:5 12:37 Ps 78:19; Is 53:1; Mt 13:58; Jn 10:25; Jn 15:24 12:38 Is 53:1; Ro 10:16

12:20-36 Some Greeks ask to see Jesus, who speaks at length (not to them but to his disciples and the crowd) about his impending death by crucifixion. Finally he takes leave of them and goes into hiding again (12:36).

12:23 for the Human One to be glorified: in his death, not by falling "into the earth" like "a grain of wheat" (John 12:24) but by being "lifted up from the earth" (John 12:32-33).

12:25 those who hate their lives in this world: Compare with Luke 14:26. To hate one's life in this world is to value eternal life more (see Matt 10:39; 16:25; Mark 8:35; Luke 9:24; 17:33).

12:26 Whoever serves me: Only Martha has explicitly been said to have "served" Jesus (John 12:2), but Mary is the more obvious example (John 12:3-8). Wherever I am, there my servant will also be: Compare with John 14:3; 17:24.

12:27 What should I say?: Compare with Romans 8:26. Father, save me from this time?: Compare with Mark 14:36.

12:28 Father, glorify your name!: Compare with the beginning of the Lord's Prayer according to Luke (Luke 11:2). a voice came from heaven: the only time the Father speaks, aside from John 1:33, which is reported secondhand. I have glorified it: God glorifies God's name by glorifying Jesus (John 8:54).

12:31 this world's ruler: or "the devil" (John 14:30; 16:11), elsewhere called "the ruler of demons" (Mark 3:22). will be thrown out: just as Jesus drives out demons in the other Gospels, only there's just one exorcism in John instead of many.

12:32 I will draw everyone to me: Compare with John 6:44. Once Jesus has been lifted up, he himself will do the drawing.

12:34 The Christ remains forever: Compare with 2 Samuel 7:13; Psalms 89:36; 110:4; Isaiah 9:6-7. Who is this Human One?: The crowd responds as if he had said, "The Human One must be lifted up" (John 3:14). It assumes he means the Christ and is offended by the notion that the Messiah must die.

12:35 only a little while: In contrast to John 9:4; 11:9, time is now running out (cf. John 12:8).

12:36 people . . . light: or "children of light" (cf. Eph 5:8; 1 Thess 5:5).

12:37-43 The outcome of Jesus' ministry so far has been unbelief (John 12:37-41) or, at best, a timid faith on the part of some Jewish leaders who believe but won't take a stand publicly for fear of the Pharisees (12:42-43).

12:37 many miraculous signs: The unmistakable lesson is that miraculous signs don't necessarily produce faith, despite the one in John 2:11.

12:38 Lord, who has believed through our message?: or "Who has believed what we have heard?" Either way, the implied answer is no one (John 12:37, 39).

 and closed their minds
 so that they might not see with their eyes, understand with their minds, and turn their lives around—and I would heal them.<sup>f</sup>*

<sup>41</sup>Isaiah said these things because he saw Jesus' glory; he spoke about Jesus. <sup>42</sup>Even so, many leaders believed in him, but they wouldn't acknowledge their faith because they feared that the Pharisees would expel them from the synagogue. <sup>43</sup>They believed, but they loved human praise more than God's glory.

Summary of Jesus' teaching

<sup>44</sup>Jesus shouted, "Whoever believes in me doesn't believe in me but in the one who sent me. <sup>45</sup>Whoever sees me sees the one who sent me. <sup>46</sup>I have come as a light into the world so that everyone who believes in me won't live in darkness. <sup>47</sup>If people hear my words and don't keep them, I don't judge them. I didn't come to judge the world but to save it. <sup>48</sup>Whoever rejects me and doesn't receive my words will be judged at the last day by the word I have spoken. <sup>49</sup>I don't speak on my own, but the Father who sent me commanded me regarding what I should speak and say. <sup>50</sup>I know that his commandment is eternal life. Therefore, whatever I say is just as the Father has said to me."

Foot washing

13 Before the Festival of Passover, Jesus knew that his time had come to leave this world and go to the Father. Having loved his own who were in the world, he loved them fully.

<sup>2</sup>Jesus and his disciples were sharing the evening meal. The devil had already provoked Judas, Simon Iscariot's son, to betray Jesus. <sup>3</sup>Jesus knew the Father had given everything into his hands and that he had come from God and was returning to God. <sup>4</sup>So he got up from the table and took off his robes. Picking up a linen towel, he tied it around his waist. <sup>5</sup>Then he poured water into a washbasin and began to wash the disciples' feet, drying them with the towel he was wearing. <sup>6</sup>When Jesus came to Simon Peter, Peter said to him, "Lord, are you going to wash my feet?"

<sup>8</sup>"No!" Peter said. "You will never wash my feet!"

Jesus replied, "Unless I wash you, you won't have a place with me."

<sup>9</sup>Simon Peter said, "Lord, not only my feet but also my hands and my head!"

12:40 He made their eyes blind: Compare with John 9:39-41.

12:41-42 Isaiah said . . . Jesus' glory: See Isaiah 6:1-4, where "God's glory" (Isa 6:3) is understood as Jesus' glory. See sidebar, "Expelled from the Synagogue" at John 9.

12:43 human praise . . . God's glory: or "the glory of humans rather than the glory of God" (cf. John 5:44). God's glory is invested solely in Jesus.

12:44-50 Because Jesus "went away and hid from them" (John 12:36), he isn't saying these things to anyone in particular. Instead, they summarize his whole mission and message to the world.

12:44 shouted: as in John 7:28, 37 (cf. John 1:15). Whoever believes in me doesn't believe in me: The paradoxical language underscores Jesus' repeated claim that he speaks and acts only on the initiative of the one who sent me (cf. John 12:49).

12:46 I have come as a light into the world: This is the last mention in John of Jesus as the light (cf. John 1:5, 7-9; 3:19-21; 8:12; 9:5; 12:35).

12:50 whatever I say: from now on, in the chapters to follow. Like all he has said thus far, it will be just what the Father has said to him.

13:1-20 At an evening meal together, Jesus unexpectedly washes his disciples' feet. He tells them they, too, must wash each other's feet and warns them ahead of time to expect betrayers in their midst.

13:1, 3 Jesus knew: He knows all that will happen to him from here on out (cf. John 6:64; 18:4).

13:1 loved them fully: or "to the end." Indeed, the end is near, for his time had come to leave this world and go to the Father.

13:2 the evening meal: not the Passover meal, as in the other Gospels (see Matt 26:19; Mark 14:18; Luke 22:13). That is still in the future (see John 13:1; 18:28; 19:14).

13:7 you will understand later: Understanding will come in stages (see John 13:12, 17; 15:15; 17:8). Some things won't be understood until his resurrection (cf. John 2:22; 12:16).

13:8 Unless . . . place with me: To refuse Jesus' love offered in the washing of feet would prove Peter isn't one of "his own" (John 13:1).

13:10 Those who have bathed: After washing in a public bath and walking home, one would need to have only one's feet washed. But Jesus may also have baptism in they are completely clean. You disciples are clean, but not every one of you.”<sup>11</sup> He knew who would betray him. That’s why he said, “Not every one of you is clean.”

<sup>12</sup>After he washed the disciples’ feet, he put on his robes and returned to his place at the table. He said to them, “Do you know what I’ve done for you? <sup>13</sup>You call me ‘Teacher’ and ‘Lord,’ and you speak correctly, because I am. <sup>14</sup>If I, your Lord and teacher, have washed your feet, you too must wash each other’s feet. <sup>15</sup>I have given you an example: Just as I have done, you also must do. <sup>16</sup>I assure you, servants aren’t greater than their master, nor are those who are sent greater than the one who sent them. <sup>17</sup>Since you know these things, you will be happy if you do them. <sup>18</sup>I’m not speaking about all of you. I know those whom I’ve chosen. But this is to fulfill the scripture, The one who eats my bread has turned against me.”

<sup>19</sup>“I’m telling you this now, before it happens, so that when it does happen you will believe that I Am. <sup>20</sup>I assure you that whoever receives someone I send receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who sent me.”

Announcement of the betrayal

<sup>21</sup>After he said these things, Jesus was deeply disturbed and testified, “I assure you, one of you will betray me.”

<sup>26</sup>Jesus answered, “It’s the one to whom I will give this piece of bread once I have dipped into the bowl.” Then he dipped the piece of bread and gave it to Judas, Simon Iscariot’s son. <sup>27</sup>After Judas took the bread, Satan entered into him. Jesus told him, “What you are about to do, do quickly.” <sup>28</sup>No one sitting at the table understood why Jesus said this to him. <sup>29</sup>Some thought that, since Judas kept the money bag, Jesus told him, “Go, buy what we need for the feast,” or that he should give something to the poor. <sup>30</sup>So when Judas took the bread, he left immediately. And it was night.

The Disciple Jesus Loved The disciple “whom Jesus loved” is first introduced in connection with the identification of Judas as Jesus’ betrayer (John 13:23). This loved disciple is identified at the end of the Gospel as “the disciple who testifies concerning these things and who wrote them down” and whose “testimony is true” (John 21:24). In between he is seen at the cross, taking Jesus’ mother into his care (John 19:26-27); running with Peter to Jesus’ tomb (John 20:2-5); entering the tomb and believing (John 20:8); and recognizing the risen Jesus at the Sea of Galilee (John 21:7). Some interpreters think he’s the unnamed first disciple who appears alongside Andrew (John 1:40); the disciple who brings Peter into the high priest’s courtyard (John 18:15-16); or the eyewitness who testifies to the reality of Jesus’ crucifixion (John 19:35), but there’s no evidence for any of this. Nor is he likely to be identified with any of the disciples named within the Gospel. The nearest clue we have to knowing his identity is that Jesus’ mother was, or became, his mother (John 19:27), making him either Jesus’ brother or a kind of honorary brother (see Acts 1:14). As the Gospel’s author, he has chosen to remain anonymous.

mind. If the disciples baptize (John 4:2), they themselves are likely to have been baptized, whether by John or by Jesus. In that sense they are clean.

13:14 wash each other’s feet: It’s likely this was practiced in congregations known to the Gospel’s author, or the author wanted it introduced (cf. John 13:17). Mutual forgiveness may well be implied.

13:18 turned against me: or “raised his heel against me.” In ancient Hebrew culture this was an obscene gesture, as if to trample someone underfoot.

13:19-20 now, before it happens: not just moments before—as if Judas’ betrayal were all he was talking about—but years before and in connection with betrayals among Christian believers (see Matt 10:21; Mark 13:12; cf. John 14:29; 16:4).

13:21-30 Jesus now explicitly predicts that one of those present at the table will betray him, but he reveals that person’s identity only to the disciple right beside him, the one whom Jesus loved (13:23). He does this with a signal, giving a piece of bread to Judas and telling him, “What you are about to do, do quickly.” When Judas leaves, none of the other disciples understand that he is the betrayer.

13:23 at Jesus’ side: just as the Son is “at the Father’s side” (John 1:18). See sidebar, “The Disciple Jesus Loved.”

13:27 Satan entered into him: This isn’t something anyone could see but something that can be inferred from the fact that he took the bread (cf. John 13:2, 18).

13:28 No one... understood: other than Jesus and the disciple whom he loved. This is that disciple’s own observation.

13:30 it was night: or “Night is coming” (John 9:4) and is drawing ever nearer (John 11:9-10).

13:31-35 Jesus formally announces his glorification (13:31-32) and impending departure (13:33), and he commands his disciples to love each other (13:34-35).

13:31-32 God has been glorified. . . God will also glorify. The present and future glorification echoes the voice from heaven in answer to Jesus' prayer (John 12:28).

13:33 just as I told the Jewish leaders: Compare with John 7:33-34; 8:21.

13:34 new commandment: It is new in that the disciples' love for each other is based specifically on Jesus' love for them (John 13:1), just as their obligation to wash each other's feet is based on Jesus' washing their feet (John 13:14).

13:36-14:31 Jesus replies to four questions from four disciples about his departure from the world and where he is going: Peter first, then Thomas, Philip, and a Judas other than Judas Iscariot. He tells them he's going to the Father and promises them that the Holy Spirit, or the Spirit of Truth, will be their Companion in his absence (14:17). Finally, instead of leaving them he summons them to leave with him (14:31).

13:36 you will follow later. Compare with John 21:18-19.

13:37 I'll give up my life for you: as the shepherd gives up his life for his sheep (John 10:11, 15, 18).

14:2 My Father's house: not the temple, as in John 2:16, but heaven. would I have told you . . . place for you: He hasn't told them this in so many words. It can also be read as a statement, "I would have told you that I am going," the point being that he hasn't told them before but is telling them now.

14:3 I will return and take you to be with me: at the last day (cf. John 6:40, 44, 54; Mark 13:27; 1 Thess 4:15-17). where I am you will be too: Compare with John 12:26; 17:24.

14:6 No one comes to the Father except through me: the sequel to John 6:44, "No one can come to me unless they are drawn to me by the Father."

14:9 Whoever has seen me has seen the Father: Compare with John 1:18; 12:45.

14:12 greater works: greater because the Father is greater (John 14:18); greater in scope (e.g., reaching "other sheep," John 10:16), perhaps because Jesus' time on earth is limited (see John 9:4).

I won't leave you as orphans

<sup>15</sup>"If you love me, you will keep my commandments. <sup>16</sup>I will ask the Father, and he will send another Companion,<sup>v</sup> who will be with you forever. <sup>17</sup>This Companion is the Spirit of Truth, whom the world can't receive because it neither sees him nor recognizes him. You know him, because he lives with you and will be with you.

<sup>18</sup>"I won't leave you as orphans. I will come to you. <sup>19</sup>Soon the world will no longer see me, but you will see me. Because I live, you will live too. <sup>20</sup>On that day you will know that I am in my Father, you are in me, and I am in you. <sup>21</sup>Whoever has my commandments and keeps them loves me. Whoever loves me will be loved by my Father, and I will love them and reveal myself to them."

<sup>23</sup>Jesus answered, "Whoever loves me will keep my word. My Father will love them, and we will come to them and make our home with them. <sup>24</sup>Whoever doesn't love me doesn't keep my words. The word that you hear isn't mine. It is the word of the Father who sent me.

<sup>25</sup>"I have spoken these things to you while I am with you. <sup>26</sup>The Companion,<sup>w</sup> the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything and will remind you of everything I told you.

<sup>27</sup>"Peace I leave with you. My peace I give you. I give to you not as the world gives. Don't be troubled or afraid. <sup>28</sup>You have heard me tell you, 'I'm going away and returning to you.' If you loved me, you would be happy that I am going to the Father, because the Father is greater than me. <sup>29</sup>I have told you before it happens so that when it happens you will believe. <sup>30</sup>I won't say much more to you because this world's ruler is coming. He has nothing on me. <sup>31</sup>Rather, he comes so that the world will know that I love the Father and do just as the Father has commanded me. Get up. We're leaving this place.

14:14 I will do it: Here Jesus answers prayer. Elsewhere the Father does so (John 15:16; 16:23).

14:16 another Companion: someone called in to help or support. another implies Jesus, too, has been their Companion, or Advocate (see 1 John 2:1).

14:19 you will see me: at Jesus' resurrection (John 20:20), signaled here by the assertion Because I live, you will live too.

14:20 I am in... in you: Even the disciples will be drawn into the close relationship between Father and Son (cf. John 10:38; 14:11).

14:22 why... to us and not to the world: The question presupposes an expectation of a visible and public return from heaven (e.g., Matt 24:30; Mark 13:26; Rev 1:7).

14:24 Whoever doesn't love me: Jesus will reveal himself as redeemer only to "those who love him" (cf. 1 Cor 2:9; Jas 1:12; 2:5; 1 Pet 1:7-8).

14:26 remind you: that is, will enable them to remember and understand all that was unclear to them before (e.g., John 2:22; 12:16).

14:28 the Father is greater than me: As Jesus has repeatedly said, he says and does only what the Father has told him to. The Father sent the Son, not the other way around.

14:30 I won't say much more: His words take up three more chapters, but this is simply a reminder that he is leaving "Soon" (cf. John 14:19; 16:16). this world's ruler: the devil. nothing on me: has no valid claim against Jesus (cf. John 8:44-46).

14:31 so that the world will know: Jesus' own intention, entirely apart from the devil's activity (cf. John 17:21, 23). leaving this place: It's unknown whether they are leaving to escape "this world's ruler" (John 14:30; cf. John 8:59; 12:31) or to go out to meet him (see John 18:1-3).

15:1-17 Jesus doesn't stop speaking, and John's Gospel doesn't say Jesus and his disciples have left the room. Rather, Jesus continues without a break, developing the notion his disciples are in him and he is in them (John 14:20). He does this by using the metaphor of a vine and its branches. He commands his disciples to remain in him as branches remain attached to the vine. This means remaining in his love by loving each other as he has loved them.

15:1 my Father is the vineyard keeper: Jesus is the true vine, first in relation to his Father and only then in relation to his disciples (see John 15:5).

15:2 He removes... he trims: The Greek words rhyme. fruit: grapes on the vine, which are images for converts, the results of evangelism, or the effects of their love for each other (cf. Gal 5:22).

that it will produce even more fruit. <sup>3</sup>You are already trimmed because of the word I have spoken to you. <sup>4</sup>Remain in me, and I will remain in you. A branch can't produce fruit by itself, but must remain in the vine. Likewise, you can't produce fruit unless you remain in me. <sup>5</sup>I am the vine; you are the branches. If you remain in me and I in you, then you will produce much fruit. Without me, you can't do anything. <sup>6</sup>If you don't remain in me, you will be like a branch that is thrown out and dries up. Those branches are gathered up, thrown into a fire, and burned. <sup>7</sup>If you remain in me and my words remain in you, ask for whatever you want and it will be done for you. <sup>8</sup>My Father is glorified when you produce much fruit and in this way prove that you are my disciples.

Love each other

<sup>9</sup>As the Father loved me, I too have loved you. Remain in my love. <sup>10</sup>If you keep my commandments, you will remain in my love, just as I kept my Father's commandments and remain in his love. <sup>11</sup>I have said these things to you so that my joy will be in you and your joy will be complete. <sup>12</sup>This is my commandment: love each other just as I have loved you. <sup>13</sup>No one has greater love than to give up one's life for one's friends. <sup>14</sup>You are my friends if you do what I command you. <sup>15</sup>I don't call you servants any longer, because servants don't know what their master is doing. Instead, I call you friends, because everything I heard from my Father I have made known to you. <sup>16</sup>You didn't choose me, but I chose you and appointed you so that you could go and produce fruit and so that your fruit could last. As a result, whatever you ask the Father in my name, he will give you. <sup>17</sup>I give you these commandments so that you can love each other.

If the world hates you

<sup>18</sup>If the world hates you, know that it hated me first. <sup>19</sup>If you belonged to the world, the world would love you as its own. However, I have chosen you out of the world, and you don't belong to the world. This is why the world hates you. <sup>20</sup>Remember what I told you, 'Servants aren't greater than their master.' If the world harassed me, it will harass you too. If it kept

Jesus' Farewell Speech Jesus' farewell speech extends from John 13:31 to John 17:26, after which we are told, "Jesus went out with his disciples" (John 18:1). But less than halfway through his speech, he tells his disciples to "Get up" and leave (John 14:31), making it look as if John 18:1 should immediately follow John 14:31 and John 15–17 might have been inserted between those two verses later. Some interpreters see here two distinct discourses that pick up on the themes introduced in John 13:31–35. The first (John 13:36–14:31) focuses on the single theme of Jesus' impending departure from the world (introduced in John 13:33); while the second discourse (John 15:1–17:26) looks more broadly at the love command (introduced in John 13:34–35) and being hated by the world (John 15:1–16:4); the theme of departure again (John 16:5–33); and the theme of Jesus' glorification (introduced in John 13:31–32) in his long prayer for himself and his disciples (John 17:1–26). Such theories can help teach us how the Gospel took shape but should never be used to suggest that one discourse is either more original or more mature and well-developed than the other. The Gospel as it stands embraces both, and indeed Jesus speaks without interruption all the way from John 14:23 to John 16:16. It's his longest continuous speech in the entire Gospel.

15:3 You are already trimmed: or "clean" (cf. John 13:10).
 15:4 Remain in me: something they can choose to do or not, unlike branches on a real vine.
 15:6 like a branch that is thrown out: because it's already dead, no longer drawing life from the vine (cf. John 15:2). Those branches: the dead branches of actual vines, not the disciples. Gathering and burning are simply part of the image.
 15:7 ask for whatever you want: Jesus himself will do exactly that (John 17:24).
 15:8 prove that you are my disciples: or "become my disciples."
 15:9 Remain in my love: defining what is meant by "remain in me" (John 15:4).
 15:12 my commandment: Jesus' "commandments" (John 14:15; 15:10) are not enumerated, but they all come down to his one "new commandment" (John 13:34): "Love each other. Just as I have loved you."

 15:14 You are my friends: those whom he loves (e.g., Lazarus in John 11:3, 11).
 15:15 servants don't know what their master is doing: Contrast with John 5:20.
 15:16 I chose you: their selection as the Twelve (John 6:70; 13:18). go and produce fruit: evangelism (cf. John 17:20).
 15:18–16:4 In contrast to their love for each other, the disciples will face hatred and harassment in the world. Their calling, with the help of the Spirit of Truth, is to testify (15:26) to the world about Jesus.
 15:18 If the world hates you: They are never told to hate the world, only "their lives in this world" (John 12:25).
 15:20 If it kept my word, it will also keep yours: It didn't, and it won't.

my word, it will also keep yours. <sup>21</sup>The world will do all these things to you on account of my name, because it doesn't know the one who sent me.

<sup>22</sup>If I hadn't come and spoken to the people of this world, they wouldn't be sinners. But now they have no excuse for their sin. <sup>23</sup>Whoever hates me also hates the Father. <sup>24</sup>If I hadn't done works among them that no one else had done, they wouldn't be sinners. But now they have seen and hated both me and my Father. <sup>25</sup>This fulfills the word written in their Law, They hated me without a reason.*

<sup>26</sup>When the Companion† comes, whom I will send from the Father—the Spirit of Truth who proceeds from the Father—he will testify about me. <sup>27</sup>You will testify too, because you 16 have been with me from the beginning. <sup>1</sup>I have said these things to you so that you won't fall away. <sup>2</sup>They will expel you from the synagogue. The time is coming when those who kill you will think that they are doing a service to God. <sup>3</sup>They will do these things because they don't know the Father or me. <sup>4</sup>But I have said these things to you so that when their time comes, you will remember that I told you about them.

I go away

"I didn't say these things to you from the beginning, because I was with you. <sup>5</sup>But now I go away to the one who sent me. None of you ask me, 'Where are you going?' <sup>6</sup>Yet because I have said these things to you, you are filled with sorrow. <sup>7</sup>I assure you that it is better for you that I go away. If I don't go away, the Companion* won't come to you. But if I go, I will send him to you. <sup>8</sup>When he comes, he will show the world it was wrong about sin, righteousness, and judgment. <sup>9</sup>He will show the world it was wrong about sin because they don't believe in me. <sup>10</sup>He will show the world it was wrong about righteousness because I'm going to the Father and you won't see me anymore. <sup>11</sup>He will show the world it was wrong about judgment because this world's ruler stands condemned.

I still have many things to say

<sup>12</sup>I have much more to say to you, but you can't handle it now. <sup>13</sup>However, when the Spirit of Truth comes, he will guide you in all truth. He won't speak on his own, but will say whatever he hears and will proclaim to you what is to come. <sup>14</sup>He will glorify me, because he will take what is mine and proclaim it to you. <sup>15</sup>Everything that the Father has is mine. That's why I said that the Spirit takes what is mine and will proclaim it to you. <sup>16</sup>Soon you won't be able to see me; soon after that, you will see me."

works ... no one else had done: Compare with John 9:32.

Companion ... will testify about me: The Spirit is promised, especially in times of harassment, as in Matthew 10:19-20; Mark 13:11; Luke 12:11-12.

You will testify too: Compare with Luke 12:12. with me from the beginning: Compare with 1 John 1:1.

those who kill you: even as they repeatedly try to kill Jesus (John 5:18; 7:1; 11:53). doing a service: or "offering worship." Compare with Phinehas (Num 25:6-13) and Saul of Tarsus (Acts 8:3; 9:1). See sidebar, "Expelled from the Synagogue" at John 9.

Jesus once more, as in John 13:36-14:31, addresses the matter of his impending departure from the world. He provides additional (and some of the same) reasons why it's better for them if he goes away, and he promises them joy upon his return.

because I was with you: Jesus speaks as if he has already gone away (cf. John 17:11, 12) or been raised from the dead (Luke 24:44).

16:5 None of you ask me, "Where are you going?": in striking contrast to John 13:36; 14:5, 8, where three of them asked essentially that very question.

16:9 He will show the world it was wrong: or "convict the world," a simpler translation that goes well with "sin" but not so well with "righteousness" and "judgment."

16:10 ... sin because they don't believe in me: Sin is defined as disbelief in Jesus (cf. John 15:22-24).

16:10 ... righteousness because I'm going to the Father: Going to the Father will prove Jesus right and his opponents wrong (cf. Rom 4:25).

16:11 ... this world's ruler stands condemned: or "the devil" (cf. John 12:31).

16:12 ... I have much more to say to you: that is, through the Companion, or "the Spirit of Truth" (see John 16:13-14).

16:13 ... what is to come: either the events of the end time (e.g., Rev 1:1) or the events that are even then unfolding (see John 18:4).

16:16 ... Soon you won't be able to see me: In contrast to John 14:19, for a time even his disciples won't see him.

I will see you again

<sup>17</sup>Some of Jesus' disciples said to each other, "What does he mean: 'Soon you won't see me, and soon after that you will see me' and 'Because I'm going to the Father'?" <sup>18</sup>What does he mean by 'soon'? We don't understand what he's talking about."

<sup>19</sup>Jesus knew they wanted to ask him, so he said, "Are you trying to find out from each other what I meant when I said, 'Soon you won't see me, and soon after that you will see me'?" <sup>20</sup>I assure you that you will cry and lament, and the world will be happy. You will be sorrowful, but your sorrow will turn into joy. <sup>21</sup>When a woman gives birth, she has pain because her time has come. But when the child is born, she no longer remembers her distress because of her joy that a child has been born into the world. <sup>22</sup>In the same way, you have sorrow now; but I will see you again, and you will be overjoyed. No one takes away your joy. <sup>23</sup>In that day, you won't ask me anything. I assure you that the Father will give you whatever you ask in my name. <sup>24</sup>Up to now, you have asked nothing in my name. Ask and you will receive so that your joy will be complete.

I have conquered the world

<sup>25</sup>"I've been using figures of speech with you. The time is coming when I will no longer speak to you in such analogies. Instead, I will tell you plainly about the Father. <sup>26</sup>In that day you will ask in my name. I'm not saying that I will ask the Father on your behalf. <sup>27</sup>The Father himself loves you, because you have loved me and believed that I came from God. <sup>28</sup>I left the Father and came into the world. I tell you again: I am leaving the world and returning to the Father."

<sup>29</sup>His disciples said, "See! Now you speak plainly; you aren't using figures of speech. <sup>30</sup>Now we know that you know everything and you don't need anyone to ask you. Because of this we believe you have come from God."

<sup>31</sup>Jesus replied, "Now you believe? <sup>32</sup>Look! A time is coming—and is here!—when each of you will be scattered to your own homes and you will leave me alone. I'm not really alone, for the Father is with me. <sup>33</sup>I've said these things to you so that you will have peace in me. In the world you have distress. But be encouraged! I have conquered the world."

Jesus prays

17When Jesus finished saying these things, he looked up to heaven and said, "Father, the time has come. Glorify your Son, so that the Son can glorify you. <sup>2</sup>You gave him authority over everyone so that he could give eternal life to everyone you gave him. <sup>3</sup>This is eternal life: to know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom you sent. <sup>4</sup>I have glorified you on earth by finishing the work you gave me to do. <sup>5</sup>Now, Father, glorify me in your presence with the glory I shared with you before the world was created.

<sup>6</sup>"I have revealed your name to the people you gave me from this world. They were yours and you gave them to me, and they have kept your word. <sup>7</sup>Now they know that everything

16:20 your sorrow will turn into joy: Compare with John 20:20.

16:23 In that day, you won't ask me anything: Their questions will all have been answered (cf. John 16:30). In the next sentence and the next verse a different Greek verb is used for "to ask" in prayer.

16:25 figures of speech . . . analogies: The meaning of these terms is broad enough to include both the riddle of John 16:16 and the full parable of John 16:21.

16:29 Now you speak plainly: "The time is coming," Jesus says in John 16:25, when he will speak "plainly," and the disciples reply that it is Now (cf. John 4:23; 5:25; 16:32). Speaking plainly is the opposite of using "analogies" (John 16:25) and parables (cf. John 11:14).

16:30 you don't need anyone to ask you: because he reveals everything freely (cf. John 16:23), we believe you have come from God: just as he said (John 16:28).

16:31 Now you believe? or "Now you believe!" (cf. John 17:8).

16:32 scattered: as in Matthew 26:31; Mark 14:27. Yet they will become "one" (cf. John 11:52; 17:11, 21). the Father is with me: Compare with John 8:29.

16:33 I have conquered the world: Compare with 1 John 5:4. 17:1-26 Jesus turns to the Father in prayer, speaking about the disciples rather than to the disciples. He prays for glorification in the Father's presence and gives an accounting of his ministry in the world. He then intercedes, first for the disciples to whom he has just been speaking, then for all, both present and future, who believe in me because of their word (17:20).

17:3 This is eternal life: The definition of eternal life is for the reader's benefit (not God's!), but it's attributed to Jesus himself. While he speaks of himself in the third person as "the Human One" and "the Son," only here does he identify himself as Jesus Christ.

you have given me comes from you. <sup>8</sup>This is because I gave them the words that you gave me, and they received them. They truly understood that I came from you, and they believed that you sent me.

<sup>9</sup>"I'm praying for them. I'm not praying for you and for those you gave me, because they are yours. <sup>10</sup>Everything that is mine is yours and everything that is yours is mine; I have been glorified in them. <sup>11</sup>I'm no longer in the world, but they are in the world, even as I'm coming to you. Holy Father, watch over them in your name, the name you gave me, that they will be one just as we are one. <sup>12</sup>When I was with them, I watched over them in your name, the name you gave to me, and I kept them safe. None of them were lost, except the one who was destined for destruction, so that scripture would be fulfilled. <sup>13</sup>Now I'm coming to you and I say these things while I'm in the world so that they can share completely in my joy. <sup>14</sup>I gave your word to them and the world hated them, because they don't belong to this world, just as I don't belong to this world. <sup>15</sup>I'm not asking that you take them out of this world but that you keep them safe from the evil one. <sup>16</sup>They don't belong to this world, just as I don't belong to this world. <sup>17</sup>Make them holy in the truth; your word is truth. <sup>18</sup>As you sent me into the world, so I have sent them into the world. <sup>19</sup>I made myself holy on their behalf so that they also would be made holy in the truth.

<sup>20</sup>"I'm not praying only for them but also for those who believe in me because of their word. <sup>21</sup>I pray they will be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. I pray that they also will be in us, so that the world will believe that you sent me. <sup>22</sup>I've given them the glory that you gave me so that they can be one just as we are one. <sup>23</sup>I'm in them and you are in me so that they will be made perfectly one. Then the world will know that you sent me and that you have loved them just as you loved me.

<sup>24</sup>"Father, I want those you gave me to be with me where I am. Then they can see my glory, which you gave me because you loved me before the creation of the world.

<sup>25</sup>"Righteous Father, even the world didn't know you, but I've known you, and these believers know that you sent me. <sup>26</sup>I've made your name known to them and will continue to make it known so that your love for me will be in them, and I myself will be in them."

Arrest in the garden

18 After he said these things, Jesus went out with his disciples and crossed over to the other side of the Kidron Valley. He and his disciples entered a garden there. <sup>2</sup>Judas, his betrayer, also knew the place because Jesus often gathered there with his disciples.

17:24 Mt 25:34; Jn 1:14, Jn 12:26, Jn 17:5 17:25 Jn 7:29, Jn 8:55, Jn 10:15, Jn 15:21, Jn 16:27 17:26 Jn 15:9, Jn 17:6 18:1 2Sa 15:23; 1Ki 15:13; Mt 26:36; Mk 14:32; Lk 22:39 18:2 Lk 21:37, Lk 22:39

17:8 understood that I came from you: on the basis of John 16:30, "we believe you have come from God."

17:9 not praying for the world: not directly but indirectly. All his plans for the world are channeled through the disciples (John 17:18, 21-23).

17:11 I'm no longer in the world: Jesus' departure from the world has already begun but isn't complete (cf. John 20:17). the name you gave me: either the divine name "I Am" (John 8:58) or simply the divine "authority" that is his (John 17:2).

17:12 one who was destined for destruction: or "the son of destruction" (i.e., Judas Iscariot). scripture would be fulfilled: Psalm 41:9 in particular (quoted in John 13:18) or scripture in general. The point is that Judas' fate is unavoidable.

17:15 keep them safe from the evil one: Compare with Matthew 6:13.

17:17 Make them holy: as Jesus was "made holy" for his mission (John 10:36).

17:19 made myself holy: or "I make myself holy," using the present tense. Jesus now sets himself apart as a sacrifice so that they also would be made holy. This is why the church has often called this his high priestly prayer (cf. Heb 2:11; 10:14).

17:20 those who believe in me because of their word:

future generations of believers, including the readers of this Gospel.

17:21 just as you are in me and I am in you: Compare with John 10:38; 14:11, 20.

17:22 I've given them the glory that you gave me: just now, in setting them apart for their mission.

17:23 that you have loved them: Compare with John 14:21, 23; 16:27.

17:26 make it known: Compare with John 16:12.

18:1-14 Jesus and his disciples go out to a garden across the Kidron Valley where they're met by a company of Roman soldiers and servants of the Jewish priests and Pharisees who've been led there by Judas Iscariot. Literally bowled over by Jesus' presence, they're powerless to arrest him until he commands them to let his disciples go. When Peter cuts off the ear of the high priest's servant, Jesus rebukes him and heals the ear. Then Jesus is taken into custody.

18:2 because Jesus often gathered there: John's Gospel tells us nothing else of these gatherings (but see Luke 21:37; 22:39).

<sup>3</sup>Judas brought a company of soldiers<sup>a</sup> and some guards from the chief priests and Pharisees. They came there carrying lanterns, torches, and weapons. <sup>4</sup>Jesus knew everything that was to happen to him, so he went out and asked, "Who are you looking for?"

He said to them, "I Am."<sup>b</sup> (Judas, his betrayer, was standing with them.) <sup>6</sup>When he said, "I Am," they shrank back and fell to the ground. <sup>7</sup>He asked them again, "Who are you looking for?"

They said, "Jesus the Nazarene."

<sup>9</sup>This was so that the word he had spoken might be fulfilled: "I didn't lose anyone of those whom you gave me."

<sup>10</sup>Then Simon Peter, who had a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's servant, cutting off his right ear. (The servant's name was Malchus.) <sup>11</sup>Jesus told Peter, "Put your sword away! Am I not to drink the cup the Father has given me?" <sup>12</sup>Then the company of soldiers, the commander, and the guards from the Jewish leaders took Jesus into custody. They bound him <sup>13</sup>and led him first to Annas. He was the father-in-law of Caiaphas, the high priest that year. (<sup>14</sup>Caiaphas was the one who had advised the Jewish leaders that it was better for one person to die for the people.)

Peter denies Jesus

<sup>15</sup>Simon Peter and another disciple followed Jesus. Because this other disciple was known to the high priest, he went with Jesus into the high priest's courtyard. <sup>16</sup>However, Peter stood outside near the gate. Then the other disciple (the one known to the high priest) came out and spoke to the woman stationed at the gate, and she brought Peter in. <sup>17</sup>The servant woman stationed at the gate asked Peter, "Aren't you one of this man's disciples?"

"I'm not," he replied. <sup>18</sup>The servants and the guards had made a fire because it was cold. They were standing around it, warming themselves. Peter joined them there, standing by the fire and warming himself.

Jesus testifies

<sup>22</sup>After Jesus spoke, one of the guards standing there slapped Jesus in the face. "Is that how you would answer the high priest?" he asked.

<sup>23</sup>Jesus replied, "If I speak wrongly, testify about what was wrong. But if I speak correctly, why do you strike me?" <sup>24</sup>Then Annas sent him, bound, to Caiaphas the high priest.

18:4 Jesus knew everything that was to happen: Compare with John 6:6, 64; 13:1, 3; 16:30.

18:5-6 Judas, his betrayer, was standing with them: a reminder that Judas is no longer with Jesus' disciples, who are about to be set free (John 18:8-9). shrank back and fell to the ground: The power of the divine "I Am" (cf. John 8:58) is strikingly evident.

18:8 let these people go: Jesus' disciples are "scattered" (John 16:32), but on Jesus' own initiative as he voluntarily gives up his life for his "sheep" (John 10:15).

18:9 the word he had spoken: Not just scripture, but Jesus' own words are fulfilled (see John 17:12; 6:39). Judas has already been introduced as the exception (John 18:5).

18:11 Am I not to drink the cup: In contrast to Mark 14:36, Jesus accepts the cup (i.e., death on the cross) without question in John (cf. John 12:27).

18:13 first to Annas: implying he'll be sent on to someone else, presumably Caiaphas (see John 18:24).

18:15-27 The scene in the high priest's courtyard alternates between Peter and his three denials of Jesus and the high priest's interrogation of Jesus.

18:15 this other disciple: an anonymous disciple, probably Judean rather than Galilean. He's in the story only to explain how Peter has gotten into the high priest's courtyard and possibly to be an eyewitness to Peter's three denials.

18:19 his disciples and his teaching: not two separate questionings. The main interest is in Jesus' disciples so they can be rounded up and questioned about his teaching.

18:20 I've spoken openly: His teaching is a matter of public record, so there's no need to question his disciples. Anyone who has heard him can testify to what he has said (John 18:21). Again, as in John 18:8, Jesus is protecting his disciples. synagogues and in the temple: See John 6:59; 8:20, respectively.

18:23 wrongly: or "badly"; this is a reference to Exodus 22:28, where "don't curse" can also be translated as "don't speak badly" (cf. Paul in Acts 23:5).

18:24 Then Annas sent him: This implies that Annas (John

Peter denies Jesus again

<sup>25</sup>Meanwhile, Simon Peter was still standing with the guards, warming himself. They asked, "Aren't you one of his disciples?"

Peter denied it, saying, "I'm not."

<sup>26</sup>A servant of the high priest, a relative of the one whose ear Peter had cut off, said to him, "Didn't I see you in the garden with him?" <sup>27</sup>Peter denied it again, and immediately a rooster crowed.

Trial before Pilate

<sup>28</sup>The Jewish leaders led Jesus from Caiaphas to the Roman governor's palace.<sup>4</sup> It was early in the morning. So that they could eat the Passover, the Jewish leaders wouldn't enter the palace; entering the palace would have made them ritually impure.

<sup>29</sup>So Pilate went out to them and asked, "What charge do you bring against this man?"

The Jewish leaders replied, "The Law doesn't allow us to kill anyone." (<sup>32</sup>This was so that Jesus' word might be fulfilled when he indicated how he was going to die.)

Pilate questions Jesus

<sup>33</sup>Pilate went back into the palace. He summoned Jesus and asked, "Are you the king of the Jews?"

<sup>34</sup>Jesus answered, "Do you say this on your own or have others spoken to you about me?"

<sup>35</sup>Pilate responded, "I'm not a Jew, am I? Your nation and its chief priests handed you over to me. What have you done?"

<sup>36</sup>Jesus replied, "My kingdom doesn't originate from this world. If it did, my guards would fight so that I wouldn't have been arrested by the Jewish leaders. My kingdom isn't from here."

<sup>37</sup>"So you are a king?" Pilate said.

Jesus answered, "You say that I am a king. I was born and came into the world for this reason: to testify to the truth. Whoever accepts the truth listens to my voice."

Release of Barabbas

After Pilate said this, he returned to the Jewish leaders and said, "I find no grounds for any charge against him. <sup>39</sup>You have a custom that I release one prisoner for you at Passover. Do you want me to release for you the king of the Jews?"

18:13) is the chief priest who has just questioned Jesus (John 18:19-23). It is also possible to read it retrospectively: "Annas had sent him bound to Caiaphas the high priest." If that's the case, then Caiaphas, who elsewhere is called the "high priest that year" (John 11:49; 18:13), is the interrogator. "chief priest" (John 18:19) and high priest are translated from the same Greek word.

18:27 Peter denied...crowed: This third denial (cf. John 18:17, 25) fulfills Jesus' prediction (John 13:38). In contrast to the other three Gospels, Peter's reaction isn't given.

18:28–19:16 Jesus is taken to the Roman governor's palace. Because the Jewish leaders won't enter the palace, the scene shifts back and forth between the outside, where Pilate, the governor, presents Jesus to them; and the inside, where Pilate twice interviews Jesus privately. Finally, Pilate gives Jesus over to the Jewish leaders to be crucified.

18:28 So that they could eat the Passover: Because ritual purity is required for Passover (cf. John 11:55), they won't enter the house of a Gentile.

18:31 "The Law doesn't allow us to kill anyone": See Exodus

20:13. This is ironic and hypocritical because they've been trying to kill Jesus all along (e.g., John 5:18; 11:53).

18:32 indicated how he was going to die: Again, as in John 18:9, Jesus' own words are fulfilled. Jesus will be "lifted up" (see John 3:14; 12:32), that is, crucified, a distinctly Roman method of execution. If the Jews were to have killed him, it would have been by stoning (see John 8:59; 10:31).

18:33 "Are you the king of the Jews?": It's unclear why Pilate asks this, since the Jews have brought no such specific charge (John 18:30; but see Luke 23:2). Jesus notices this and asks him, "have others spoken to you about me?" (John 18:34).

18:36 My kingdom... world: What's true of Jesus himself is equally true of his kingdom: It's not from this world but "from above" (see John 8:23).

18:37 You say that I am a king: The whole of John 18:34–37 is this Gospel's expansion of Jesus' nonanswer, "That's what you say," in the other three Gospels (Matt 27:11; Mark 15:2; Luke 23:3).

18:38 "What is truth?": answered already in John 17:17,

Jesus is whipped and mocked as king

19Then Pilate had Jesus taken and whipped. <sup>2</sup>The soldiers twisted together a crown of thorns and put it on his head, and dressed him in a purple robe. <sup>3</sup>Over and over they went up to him and said, "Greetings, king of the Jews!" And they slapped him in the face.

<sup>4</sup>Pilate came out of the palace again and said to the Jewish leaders, "Look! I'm bringing him out to you to let you know that I find no grounds for a charge against him." <sup>5</sup>When Jesus came out, wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe, Pilate said to them, "Here's the man."

<sup>6</sup>When the chief priests and their deputies saw him, they shouted out, "Crucify, crucify!" Pilate told them, "You take him and crucify him. I don't find any grounds for a charge against him."

<sup>7</sup>The Jewish leaders replied, "We have a Law, and according to this Law he ought to die because he made himself out to be God's Son."

Pilate questions Jesus again

<sup>8</sup>When Pilate heard this word, he was even more afraid. <sup>9</sup>He went back into the residence and spoke to Jesus, "Where are you from?" Jesus didn't answer. <sup>10</sup>So Pilate said, "You won't speak to me? Don't you know that I have authority to release you and also to crucify you?"

<sup>11</sup>Jesus replied, "You would have no authority over me if it had not been given to you from above. That's why the one who handed me over to you has the greater sin." <sup>12</sup>From that moment on, Pilate wanted to release Jesus.

However, the Jewish leaders cried out, saying, "If you release this man, you aren't a friend of the emperor! Anyone who makes himself out to be a king opposes the emperor!"

<sup>13</sup>When Pilate heard these words, he led Jesus out and seated him on the judge's bench at the place called Stone Pavement (in Aramaic, Gabbatha). <sup>14</sup>It was about noon on the Preparation Day for the Passover. Pilate said to the Jewish leaders, "Here's your king."

<sup>15</sup>The Jewish leaders cried out, "Take him away! Take him away! Crucify him!"

Pilate responded, "What? Do you want me to crucify your king?"

"We have no king except the emperor," the chief priests answered. <sup>16</sup>Then Pilate handed Jesus over to be crucified.

Crucifixion

The soldiers took Jesus prisoner. <sup>17</sup>Carrying his cross by himself, he went out to a place called Skull Place (in Aramaic, Golgotha). <sup>18</sup>That's where they crucified him—and two others with him, one on each side and Jesus in the middle. <sup>19</sup>Pilate had a public notice written and

"your word is truth." Pilate here signals he doesn't know the truth.

19:1 taken and whipped: not in the presence of the Jews but back inside the palace (see John 19:4).

19:5 "Here's the man": said to the Jews. This is a reference to the one who's been contemptuously referred to as "this man" (e.g., John 5:12; 9:16, 24; 11:47; 18:17) and the "one man" who must "die for the people" (John 11:50); to the reader it's a reference to "the Human One" or "Son of Man," soon to be "lifted up" (John 3:14; 8:28).

19:6 I don't find any grounds for a charge against him: the third time Pilate says this (see John 18:38; 19:4; cf. Luke 23:22).

19:10 authority: echoes John 10:18, "I have the right [authority] to give it up, and I have the right [authority] to take it up again." Jesus' claim and Pilate's are on a collision course.

19:11 the one who handed: either Caiaphas, the high priest (see John 18:28); or Judas Iscariot (see John 6:71; 13:27; 17:12).

19:13 seated him on the judge's bench: as if mocking Jesus' kingship. But the phrase can also be translated as "sat down on the Judge's bench," as Pilate positions himself to deliver his final insult to the Jewish leaders (John 19:14). Gabbatha: an Aramaic word of uncertain meaning, possibly "ridge" or "platform." It's not the Aramaic equivalent of "Stone Pavement."

19:14 about noon: Compare with John 4:6 in contrast to Mark 15:25. The other Gospels say noon is when darkness began to cover the earth (Matt 27:45; Mark 15:33; Luke 23:44; see note on John 1:39). on the Preparation Day: Jesus will die on the very day the lambs for the Passover meal are being sacrificed (cf. John 1:29). "Here's your king": The mockery of Jesus is over (John 19:2-5). Pilate is now mocking the Jewish leaders.

19:15 no king except the emperor: The Jewish leaders embrace Rome and the empire rather than claim allegiance to God.

19:16-42 Jesus is crucified. On the cross he parts with his clothes, with his closest human relationships, and finally with life itself (19:28-30). When he's dead, his legs aren't broken, but his side is pierced with a spear so that blood and water flow out in fulfillment of the scripture. Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus take his body and bury it in a garden, wrapped with spices inside a linen cloth.

19:16 handed Jesus over: to the Jewish authorities, who are held responsible for the crucifixion (see note on John 8:28), even though it was Roman soldiers who actually drove the nails in (John 19:18, 23). The soldiers took Jesus prisoner: or "So they took Jesus." This could refer either to posted on the cross. It read “Jesus the Nazarene, the king of the Jews.” <sup>20</sup>Many of the Jews read this sign, for the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city and it was written in Aramaic, Latin, and Greek. <sup>21</sup>Therefore, the Jewish chief priests complained to Pilate, “Don’t write, ‘The king of the Jews’ but ‘This man said, ‘I am the king of the Jews.’”

*They divided my clothes among themselves, and they cast lots for my clothing.**

That’s what the soldiers did.

<sup>25</sup>Jesus’ mother and his mother’s sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene stood near the cross. <sup>26</sup>When Jesus saw his mother and the disciple whom he loved standing nearby, he said to his mother, “Woman, here is your son.” <sup>27</sup>Then he said to the disciple, “Here is your mother.” And from that time on, this disciple took her into his home.

<sup>28</sup>After this, knowing that everything was already completed, in order to fulfill the scripture, Jesus said, “I am thirsty.” <sup>29</sup>A jar full of sour wine was nearby, so the soldiers soaked a sponge in it, placed it on a hyssop branch, and held it up to his lips. <sup>30</sup>When he had received the sour wine, Jesus said, “It is completed.” Bowing his head, he gave up his life.

<sup>31</sup>It was the Preparation Day and the Jewish leaders didn’t want the bodies to remain on the cross on the Sabbath, especially since that Sabbath was an important day. So they asked Pilate to have the legs of those crucified broken and the bodies taken down. <sup>32</sup>Therefore, the soldiers came and broke the legs of the two men who were crucified with Jesus. <sup>33</sup>When they came to Jesus, they saw that he was already dead so they didn’t break his legs. <sup>34</sup>However, one of the soldiers pierced his side with a spear, and immediately blood and water came out. <sup>35</sup>The one who saw this has testified, and his testimony is true. He knows that he speaks the truth, and he has testified so that you also can believe. <sup>36</sup>These things happened to fulfill the scripture, They won’t break any of his bones. <sup>37</sup>And another scripture says, They will look at him whom they have pierced.<sup>5</sup>

19:24 fulfill the scripture: a literal fulfillment. The first half of the quotation from Psalm 22:18 (dividing up the clothes) is fulfilled in John 19:23, the latter half (casting lots) in 19:24.

19:25 and his mother’s sister, Mary the wife of Clopas: These are two different women, making four in all. It’s unlikely that two sisters would both be named Mary.

19:26 the disciple whom he loved: This person appears quite abruptly. In the verse before, only the four women are identified as being present. See sidebar, “The Disciple Jesus Loved” at John 13.

19:27 into his home: as in John 16:32, where Jesus tells all the disciples “you will be scattered to your own homes.”

19:28 fulfill the scripture: probably, as in John 17:12, no particular scripture but rather scripture in general, whether referring to thirst for water (Ps 22:15) or a thirst for God (Pss 42:1-2; 63:1). “I am thirsty”: He who promised to quench all thirst forever (John 4:13-14) is himself thirsty again, as in John 4:7.

19:29 hyssop branch: Because a hyssop branch couldn’t have borne the weight of a wet sponge, some translators have emended the text to read “a javelin,” a word that’s similar to “hyssop” in Greek. Other Gospels speak of a “pole” (Matt 27:48; Mark 15:36).

19:30 Bowing his head: Jesus finally finds his place of rest on the cross (cf. Matt 8:50; Luke 9:58).

19:31 It was the Preparation Day: Friday, the day before the Sabbath (cf. John 19:42). But it also happens to be “the Preparation Day for the Passover” (John 19:14). So it’s a particularly important Sabbath day.

19:34 blood and water: Normally, a dead body doesn’t bleed, but the event is confirmed by an eyewitness (John 19:35). Blood signals Jesus’ death, while water refers to the new life that results from his death. He who was “thirsty” (John 19:28) is the source of water that quenches all thirst forever (John 4:13-14). Compare with 1 John 5:6, where the emphasis is on the blood.

19:35 The one who saw this: The eyewitness isn’t identified, though it’s possibly one of the Roman soldiers (see John 19:37; Mark 15:39). The disciple whom Jesus loved has already left the scene (John 19:27). you also: meaning you who read this Gospel (cf. John 20:31).

19:36 They won’t break any of his bones: referring either to the Passover lamb (Exod 12:46; Num 9:12) or to those who are righteous according to Psalm 34:20.

19:37 They will look at him whom they have pierced: If the one who “pierced” (John 19:34) and “The one who saw” (John 19:35) are the same person (i.e., a Roman soldier), the scripture (Zech 12:10) is literally fulfilled.

Jesus' body is buried

<sup>38</sup>After this Joseph of Arimathea asked Pilate if he could take away the body of Jesus. Joseph was a disciple of Jesus, but a secret one because he feared the Jewish authorities. Pilate gave him permission, so he came and took the body away. <sup>39</sup>Nicodemus, the one who at first had come to Jesus at night, was there too. He brought a mixture of myrrh and aloë, nearly seventy-five pounds in all.<sup>h</sup> <sup>40</sup>Following Jewish burial customs, they took Jesus' body and wrapped it, with the spices, in linen cloths. <sup>41</sup>There was a garden in the place where Jesus was crucified, and in the garden was a new tomb in which no one had ever been laid. <sup>42</sup>Because it was the Jewish Preparation Day and the tomb was nearby, they laid Jesus in it.

Empty tomb

20Early in the morning of the first day of the week, while it was still dark, Mary Magdalene came to the tomb and saw that the stone had been taken away from the tomb. <sup>2</sup>She ran to Simon Peter and the other disciple, the one whom Jesus loved, and said, "They have taken the Lord from the tomb, and we don't know where they've put him." <sup>3</sup>Peter and the other disciple left to go to the tomb. <sup>4</sup>They were running together, but the other disciple ran faster than Peter and was the first to arrive at the tomb. <sup>5</sup>Bending down to take a look, he saw the linen cloths lying there, but he didn't go in. <sup>6</sup>Following him, Simon Peter entered the tomb and saw the linen cloths lying there. <sup>7</sup>He also saw the face cloth that had been on Jesus' head. It wasn't with the other clothes but was folded up in its own place. <sup>8</sup>Then the other disciple, the one who arrived at the tomb first, also went inside. He saw and believed. <sup>9</sup>They didn't yet understand the scripture that Jesus must rise from the dead. <sup>10</sup>Then the disciples returned to the place where they were staying.

Jesus appears to Mary

<sup>11</sup>Mary stood outside near the tomb, crying. As she cried, she bent down to look into the tomb. <sup>12</sup>She saw two angels dressed in white, seated where the body of Jesus had been, one at the head and one at the foot. <sup>13</sup>The angels asked her, "Woman, why are you crying?"

She replied, "They have taken away my Lord, and I don't know where they've put him." <sup>14</sup>As soon as she had said this, she turned around and saw Jesus standing there, but she didn't know it was Jesus.

<sup>15</sup>Jesus said to her, "Woman, why are you crying? Who are you looking for?"

Thinking he was the gardener, she replied, "Sir, if you have carried him away, tell me where you have put him and I will get him."

She turned and said to him in Aramaic, "Rabbouni" (which means Teacher).

19:38 a disciple of Jesus, but a secret one: This is a step toward true discipleship for both Joseph and Nicodemus (John 19:39; cf. John 12:42-43).

19:39 seventy-five pounds: The enormous amount of spices for burial matches in its own way Mary's "three-quarters of a pound of very expensive perfume" in preparation for his burial (see John 12:3, 7).

19:41 garden: The story of Jesus' suffering and death begins and ends in a garden (cf. John 18:1).

20:1-18 Mary Magdalene comes early to the tomb and finds the stone in front of it rolled away. Thinking the body has been removed, she runs to Simon Peter and the disciple whom Jesus loved and summons them to the tomb. Peter enters and finds it empty, with the linen cloths and the face cloth lying separately. The disciple whom Jesus loved then enters the tomb, sees, and believes. He and Peter leave together. Mary finally looks into the tomb and sees two angels standing where Jesus' body should have been lying. Still thinking the body stolen, she turns and sees Jesus himself but mistakes him for the gardener. He reveals himself to her by speaking her name and sends her to tell the disciples he's on his way to the Father. (See sidebar, "The Disciple Jesus Loved" at John 13.)

20:2 we don't know: The "we" here doesn't necessarily imply that other women are accompanying Mary (as there were in the other Gospels; see Matt 27:61; Mark 16:1; Luke 24:10). She simply speaks for Jesus' disciples, implying an indefinite "they" who might have taken the body.

20:6 linen cloths lying there: The body hasn't been stolen. Who would bother to unwrap a corpse when taking it away for reburial?

20:8 He saw and believed: He's seen either what Peter had just a moment before (John 20:6-7) or what Mary will see shortly afterward (John 20:12). He believes Jesus has gone to the Father (see John 14:29).

20:9 They didn't yet understand the scripture: scripture as a whole, as in Luke 24:45-47, not a particular text. The other disciple's belief is based on Jesus' words and what he's just seen, not on scripture.

20:10 the place where they were staying: either their "homes" (John 16:32; 19:27) or temporary quarters in Jerusalem.

20:12 one at the head and one at the foot: dramatizing that the body is gone.

20:16 "Mary": instead of "Woman" (John 20:15), identifying

<sup>17</sup>Jesus said to her, "Don't hold on to me, for I haven't yet gone up to my Father. Go to my brothers and sisters and tell them, 'I'm going up to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God.'"

Jesus appears to the disciples

<sup>19</sup>It was still the first day of the week. That evening, while the disciples were behind closed doors because they were afraid of the Jewish authorities, Jesus came and stood among them. He said, "Peace be with you."<sup>20</sup>After he said this, he showed them his hands and his side. When the disciples saw the Lord, they were filled with joy. <sup>21</sup>Jesus said to them again, "Peace be with you. As the Father sent me, so I am sending you."<sup>22</sup>Then he breathed on them and said, "Receive the Holy Spirit. <sup>23</sup>If you forgive anyone's sins, they are forgiven; if you don't forgive them, they aren't forgiven."

Jesus appears to Thomas and the disciples

But he replied, "Unless I see the nail marks in his hands, put my finger in the wounds left by the nails, and put my hand into his side, I won't believe."

<sup>26</sup>After eight days his disciples were again in a house and Thomas was with them. Even though the doors were locked, Jesus entered and stood among them. He said, "Peace be with you."<sup>27</sup>Then he said to Thomas, "Put your finger here. Look at my hands. Put your hand into my side. No more disbelief. Believe!"

<sup>28</sup>Thomas responded to Jesus, "My Lord and my God!"

<sup>29</sup>Jesus replied, "Do you believe because you see me? Happy are those who don't see and yet believe."

<sup>30</sup>Then Jesus did many other miraculous signs in his disciples' presence, signs that aren't recorded in this scroll. <sup>31</sup>But these things are written so that you will believe that Jesus is the Christ, God's Son, and that believing, you will have life in his name.

her as one of "his own sheep" (John 10:3). "Rabbouni": She recognizes him not by sight but by his speaking of her name (cf. John 10:4). "Rabbouni" and "Rabbi" (John 1:38) both mean the same thing.

20:17 Don't hold on to me: Compare with Matthew 28:9. Go to my brothers and sisters: or "Go to my brothers," which would refer to the male disciples gathered in John 20:19-29. Jesus expresses urgency that she go quickly and tell his disciples. I'm going up to my Father and your Father: explaining why Jesus calls them his siblings: They share the same Father.

20:18 "I've seen the Lord": Mary is the first to see the Lord (cf. John 20:25; 21:7). Then she told them what he said to her: reminding them that "my Father and your Father" was said to her first, so that if these men are Jesus' "brothers," she is one of his "sisters" (John 20:17).

20:19-31 That same evening Jesus appears to his disciples, who have gathered behind closed doors. He gives them a greeting of peace, shows them his wounds, and breathes on them, conferring on them the Holy Spirit before sending them on their mission. A week later he appears to them again, this time with Thomas present. Thomas asks to see his wounds, and, when Jesus agrees, he professes his belief in Jesus as Lord and God. Jesus pronounces a blessing on all who have not seen and yet believe, and the Gospel's author makes an appeal to the reader to believe.

20:19 closed doors: or "locked" doors, as in John 20:26. because... authorities: They aren't expecting Jesus, because Mary told them he was going away (John 20:18; cf. John 12:42; 19:38). "Peace be with you": a routine greeting (Luke 10:5; cf. John 20:21, 26), but one that fulfills Jesus' promises (cf. John 14:27; 16:33).

20:20 his hands and his side: They must have known of his wounds, possibly through Joseph and Nicodemus, even though they hadn't seen them.

20:21 As the Father sent me, so I am sending you: Compare with John 17:18.

20:22 breathed on them: proving that he's alive once more (cf. John 14:19, "Because I live, you will live too"). Receive the Holy Spirit: Compare with John 1:33, designating Jesus as "the one who baptizes with the Holy Spirit."

20:23 If you forgive anyone's sins, they are forgiven: Compare with Matthew 16:19; 18:18. if you don't forgive them, they aren't forgiven: or "if you hold them, they are held." Even Jesus sometimes withholds forgiveness (John 8:21, 24; 9:41; 15:22; 19:11).

20:25 "We've seen the Lord!": echoing what Mary said to them (John 20:18).

20:27 No more disbelief. Believe!: Compare with Matthew 28:17; Mark 9:24.

20:28 "My Lord and my God!": Compare with John 1:1.

20:29 don't see and yet believe: like the royal official at Capernaum (John 4:50), but above all like the readers of this Gospel (see John 20:31).

20:30 many other miraculous signs: This could refer to the miraculous signs done throughout his ministry, as in John 12:37, but they are just as likely to be the signs done right here in the course of his resurrection appearances (cf. Acts 1:3).

20:31 written so that you will believe: so that readers might

The Ending of John The conclusion of John 20 sounds like the end of the Gospel. "But these things are written" (John 20:31) conveys finality, as if the author finally turns to the readers and expresses the hope that they will believe. Because of this, some scholars insist that the Gospel once ended here, and that John 21 was added later, either by the author or by someone else. Even those who don't accept this idea often treat the ending of John 20 as if it's the ending of the Gospel, with John 20:31 ("so that you will believe") as the definitive statement of the Gospel's purpose. Clearly, this is its purpose, yet it's no more true of this Gospel than of the other three. All four were written to encourage faith. And caution is necessary because there is no evidence that John's Gospel ever circulated without John 21. If the "miraculous signs" mentioned in John 20:30 are resurrection signs (e.g., Jesus appearing in a locked room, breathing once more, and baptizing in the Holy Spirit), they can be understood to also include the enormous catch of fish recounted in John 21:1-14. This "third time" (John 21:14) Jesus appears certainly belongs with the two appearances he makes to Mary (John 20:14-17) and the male disciples (John 20:19-30).

Jesus appears again to the disciples

They said, "We'll go with you." They set out in a boat, but throughout the night they caught nothing. <sup>4</sup>Early in the morning, Jesus stood on the shore, but the disciples didn't realize it was Jesus.

<sup>5</sup>Jesus called to them, "Children, have you caught anything to eat?"

They answered him, "No."

So they did, and there were so many fish that they couldn't haul in the net. <sup>7</sup>Then the disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter, "It's the Lord!" When Simon Peter heard it was the Lord, he wrapped his coat around himself (for he was naked) and jumped into the water. <sup>8</sup>The other disciples followed in the boat, dragging the net full of fish, for they weren't far from shore, only about one hundred yards.

either believe in Jesus for the first time or, like Thomas, be assured of the truth of what they already believe (cf. John 19:35). Jesus is the Christ, God's Son: exactly what Martha believed (John 11:27).

21:1-14 Jesus appears to several of his disciples on the shore of the lake in Galilee. They've been fishing all night and caught nothing. He appears to them as a stranger; like Mary, they don't recognize him. At his prompting they let down their net once again and this time pull in an enormous catch of fish (cf. Luke 5:1-11). At this, the disciple whom he loved recognizes him. Jesus then prepares a meal of bread and fish for the disciples beside the lake, and they all know he is the Lord.

21:1 Sea of Tiberius: the Sea of Galilee (cf. John 6:1).

21:2 two other disciples: Andrew and Philip are noticeably absent. See note on John 21:7.

21:3 caught nothing: Compare with John 15:5.

21:4 the disciples didn't realize it was Jesus: just as Mary Magdalene hadn't (John 20:14).

21:6 and you will find some: or "and you will find" (cf. Luke 11:9; Matt 7:7).

21:7 the disciple whom Jesus loved: This disciple may have been one of the disciples mentioned in John 21:2. If not, this brings the total number of disciples in this story to eight. "It's the Lord!": Aside from "Lord, who is it?" (John 13:25; cf. John 20:18, 25; 21:20), these are the only words the disciple whom Jesus loved ever speaks. naked: or "naked under the coat he was wearing." Instead of shedding the coat, he secures it. (See sidebar, "The Disciple Jesus Loved" at John 13.)

21:9 a fire: as in John 18:18; a charcoal fire. The scene of Peter's reinstatement (John 21:15-17) matches the scene of his denial.

21:10 Bring some of the fish: not necessarily to eat, for fish are already cooking (John 21:9), but possibly as a kind of offering.

21:11 one hundred fifty-three: It's futile to look for a symbolic meaning in this number. The point is simply that it's a very large number of fish—not an approximation, as in John 2:6; 6:10; 19:39, but an exact number, as if they've been counted. net hadn't torn: Compare with Luke 5:6.

21:12 None... ask him: They're embarrassed that they didn't recognize him (cf. John 4:27; 16:5, 16-19). They knew

<sup>13</sup>Jesus came, took the bread, and gave it to them. He did the same with the fish. <sup>14</sup>This was now the third time Jesus appeared to his disciples after he was raised from the dead.

Jesus and Peter

<sup>15</sup>When they finished eating, Jesus asked Simon Peter, "Simon son of John, do you love me more than these?"

Simon replied, "Yes, Lord, you know I love you."

Jesus said to him, "Feed my lambs." <sup>16</sup>Jesus asked a second time, "Simon son of John, do you love me?"

Simon replied, "Yes, Lord, you know I love you."

Jesus said to him, "Take care of my sheep." <sup>17</sup>He asked a third time, "Simon son of John, do you love me?"

Peter was sad that Jesus asked him a third time, "Do you love me?" He replied, "Lord, you know everything; you know I love you."

Jesus said to him, "Feed my sheep. <sup>18</sup>I assure you that when you were younger you tied your own belt and walked around wherever you wanted. When you grow old, you will stretch out your hands and another will tie your belt and lead you where you don't want to go." <sup>19</sup>He said this to show the kind of death by which Peter would glorify God. After saying this, Jesus said to Peter, "Follow me."

Jesus and the disciple whom he loved

<sup>20</sup>Peter turned around and saw the disciple whom Jesus loved following them. This was the one who had leaned against Jesus at the meal and asked him, "Lord, who is going to betray you?" <sup>21</sup>When Peter saw this disciple, he said to Jesus, "Lord, what about him?"

<sup>22</sup>Jesus replied, "If I want him to remain until I come, what difference does that make to you? You must follow me." <sup>23</sup>Therefore, the word spread among the brothers and sisters that this disciple wouldn't die. However, Jesus didn't say he wouldn't die, but only, "If I want him to remain until I come, what difference does that make to you?" <sup>24</sup>This is the disciple who testifies concerning these things and who wrote them down. We know that his testimony is true. <sup>25</sup>Jesus did many other things as well. If all of them were recorded, I imagine the world itself wouldn't have enough room for the scrolls that would be written.

it was the Lord because the disciple whom Jesus loved had told them (John 21:7). Unlike Mary (John 20:16) and Thomas (John 20:28), however, they say nothing.

21:13 bread... fish: Here the prayer of thanksgiving is omitted, but it's probably implied (cf. John 6:11).

21:14 third time: Either the first was in John 20:19-23 and the second was in John 20:24-29; or, more likely, the first was to Mary Magdalene in John 20:14-18 and the second was the two-stage appearance to the gathered disciples in John 20:19-29.

21:15-25 Jesus asks Peter, do you love me?, three times (21:15, 16, 17), corresponding to Peter's threefold denial of Jesus in John 18. Peter affirms his love each time, and each time Jesus charges him with a shepherd's care over his fellow disciples. Jesus then commands Peter to follow him, as Peter had once said he would do, even to the point of martyrdom. Seeing the disciple whom Jesus loved, Peter asks Jesus about that disciple's destiny and is told it's none of Peter's concern. The disciple whom Jesus loved is then identified as both the witness to and the author of the things written in this Gospel. Jesus is acknowledged to have said and done much more than is written here.

21:15 love me more than these: that is, more than these other disciples love me (cf. Matt 26:33; Mark 14:29). you know I love you: Peter uses a different Greek word for "love" than Jesus, but there's no difference in its meaning. Note that Peter doesn't claim to love Jesus more than these. my lambs: same as "my sheep" (John 21:16, 17).

21:16 do you love me: This time Jesus omits the phrase "more than these" (John 21:15). my sheep: Jesus' sheep are his followers, Peter's fellow disciples (cf. Luke 22:32).

21:17 do you love me: This time Jesus uses the same Greek word for "love" that Peter has been using, without changing its meaning (see note on John 21:15). Peter was sad: not because Jesus has used a different word for "love," but because it's the third time Jesus has asked him this question, as if Jesus doesn't believe him. Or perhaps Jesus' questioning reminds him of his three denials (John 18:25-27).

21:18 where you don't want to go: a clue that Jesus isn't speaking simply of helpless old age but of martyrdom. Unlike Jesus (John 10:17-18), and in contrast to his own claim (John 13:37), Peter will be an unwilling martyr; yet his death will "glorify God" (John 21:19).

21:22 remain until I come: live until Christ's return at the last day.

21:23 Jesus didn't say he wouldn't die: a disclaimer that is made necessary either by the death of the disciple whom Jesus loved or by the prospect that this disciple might die very soon.

21:24 wrote them down: Something beyond testimony is implied here. The disciple is the author of this Gospel.

21:25 Jesus did many other things as well: In contrast to John 20:30, no reference is made to "this scroll" (i.e., John's Gospel) in particular. This final verse is a fitting conclusion to all four Gospels as they've been collected in the NT.

1.  $\frac{1}{x^2} = x^{-2}$
 $\frac{d}{dx} x^{-2} = -2x^{-3} = -\frac{2}{x^3}$

2.  $\frac{d}{dx} \frac{1}{x^3} = \frac{d}{dx} x^{-3} = -3x^{-4} = -\frac{3}{x^4}$

3.  $\frac{d}{dx} \frac{1}{x^4} = \frac{d}{dx} x^{-4} = -4x^{-5} = -\frac{4}{x^5}$

4.  $\frac{d}{dx} \frac{1}{x^5} = \frac{d}{dx} x^{-5} = -5x^{-6} = -\frac{5}{x^6}$

Acts is a companion volume to the Gospel of Luke, continuing the story of Jesus' followers and tracking the church's growth after Jesus' resurrection and ascension. Both books are written by the same author and addressed to Theophilus (Luke 1:3; Acts 1:1). The writer's name isn't given in either book, but early tradition names the author as Luke, doctor and companion of Paul (Col 4:14; 2 Tim 4:11). Whoever the actual author was, these works contain no specialized medical language or otherwise reflect a doctor's touch. They do reveal an educated writer of considerable literary skill and extensive knowledge of Jewish and Greco-Roman history, religion, and society.

Theophilus was likely a prominent Roman citizen who supported Luke's project. He may have funded Luke's research, writing, and publication. Luke dedicates his work to Theophilus but by no means writes only for him. The broad range of characters and places within the story of Acts suggests a wide audience of Greek-speaking Jews and God-worshipping Gentiles who want to know more about the Christian faith and community.

Acts could have been written any time from the early 60s CE to the early 2nd century. The early 60s date is tied to the book's abrupt ending with Paul's imprisonment in Rome, suggesting that Luke wrote Acts before Paul's death in Rome (around 64). But hints of Paul's impending death (Acts 20:24, 31; 21:11-13; 25:11) and the general sense of the narrative as a later historical reflection suggest a date somewhat removed from the events it reports. Many scholars favor 80–90 as the most likely period.

Acts is a historical-theological narrative. It interprets the significance of God's work through Jesus Christ and his followers in the power of the Holy Spirit (on the Spirit's vital role, see sidebars, "Receiving the Spirit at Pentecost"; "God's Gift of the Holy Spirit"). The story includes several key speeches by four early Christian leaders: Peter (Acts 2:14-36; 3:12-26; 4:8-12; 10:34-43), Stephen (Acts 7:2-53), James (Acts 15:13-21), and Paul (Acts 13:16-41; 17:22-31; 20:18-35; 22:1-21;

Caesarea, the site of major building projects by Herod the Great. Paul was held in prison here after his arrest in Jerusalem (Acts 23:33; 24:27).
Todd Bolen/BiblePlaces.com

24:10-21; 26:1-23). These speeches don't give us what was said word for word but are Luke's carefully crafted summaries of the leaders' messages in various settings. Recurring themes include (1) Jesus' role as Israel's Christ, Savior of the world, and Lord of creation; (2) the key place of Jesus' death and resurrection in God's plan of salvation; and (3) Jesus as the fulfillment of OT hopes and promises.

Other themes revolve around the treatment of key groups or individuals, particularly Jews, Romans, and Paul. Luke's perspective on Jews and Romans is complex. Some Jews (mostly religious leaders) oppose the Christian message, but Luke reports that "many thousands of Jews have become believers" (Acts 21:20; cf. Acts 2:41; 4:4). Overall, Acts presents a divided Jewish response (see Acts 14:1-5; 18:5-8; 28:23-25). Likewise, while some Roman officials support the Jesus movement, others remain indifferent (Acts 18:12-17; 24:24-27; 25:13-21). Further, Acts doesn't forget that Jesus died on a Roman cross (Acts 2:23; 4:25-27). Luke's story never calls for a revolution against Rome, but repeated references to Jesus' status as the world's true Savior and King certainly question Caesar's authority (cf. Acts 17:7-8; Luke 2:1, 11; 20:22-25; 23:1-3). The early church in Acts makes its way in a lively environment that both embraces and opposes its mission.

Acts holds a strategic place within the NT as a bridge between the Gospels and the Letters. It picks up where the Gospels' (especially Luke's) stories of Jesus leave off. And it introduces the main church leaders—Paul, Peter, John, and James—associated with the Letters that follow. The connections are strongest with Luke's first volume (the Gospel of Luke), as Luke shows that the church follows Jesus' teaching and example and carries on his mission in the world.

The risen Jesus with his disciples

1 Theophilus, the first scroll I wrote concerned everything Jesus did and taught from the beginning, right up to the day when he was taken up into heaven. Before he was taken up, working in the power of the Holy Spirit, Jesus instructed the apostles he had chosen. 2 After his suffering, he showed them that he was alive with many convincing proofs. He appeared to them over a period of forty days, speaking to them about God's kingdom. 3 While they were eating together, he ordered them not to leave Jerusalem but to wait for what the Father had promised. He said, "This is what you heard from me: 4 John baptized with water, but in only a few days you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit."

5 As a result, those who had gathered together asked Jesus, "Lord, are you going to restore the kingdom to Israel now?"

7 Jesus replied, "It isn't for you to know the times or seasons that the Father has set by his own authority. 8 Rather, you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth."

9 After Jesus said these things, as they were watching, he was lifted up and a cloud took him out of their sight. 10 While he was going away and as they were staring toward heaven, suddenly two men in white robes stood next to them. 11 They said, "Galileans, why are you standing here, looking toward heaven? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will come in the same way that you saw him go into heaven."

Jesus' followers in Jerusalem

12 Then they returned to Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives, which is near Jerusalem—a sabbath day's journey away. 13 When they entered the city, they went to the upstairs room where they were staying. Peter, John, James, and Andrew; Philip and Thomas; Bartholomew and Matthew; James, Alphaeus' son; Simon the zealot; and Judas, James' son—all were united in their devotion to prayer, along with some women, including Mary the mother of Jesus, and his brothers.

A replacement for Judas

15 During this time, the family of believers was a company of about one hundred twenty persons. Peter stood among them and said, 16 "Brothers and sisters, the scripture that the Holy Spirit announced beforehand through David had to be fulfilled. This was the scripture concerning Judas, who became a guide for those who arrested Jesus. 17 This happened even though he was one of us and received a share of this ministry." (18 In fact, he bought a field with the payment he received for his injustice. Falling headfirst, he burst open in the middle

1:1-11 The final instructions of the risen Jesus to his disciples before going away to heaven.

1:1 Theophilus, the first scroll: Luke's Gospel was the earlier volume dedicated to Theophilus (Luke 1:3). Theophilus' name means "lover of God." He may have financially sponsored Luke's writings.

1:3 forty days: an important time period in the Bible, recalling Moses' meeting with God on the mountain (Exod 34:27-28), Elijah's refreshment by God's messenger in the desert (1 Kgs 19:5-9), and Jesus' testing in the wilderness (Luke 4:1-2). God's kingdom: the experience of God's rule of peace and justice in Israel (cf. Acts 1:6), the world, and the entire universe.

1:5 See Luke 3:16.

1:6 the kingdom: See note on Acts 1:3.

1:8 Jerusalem, in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth: previews a broad outline for the book of Acts based on geography: the city of Jerusalem (Acts 1-7), expanding to the neighboring regions of Judea and Samaria (Acts 8-12), and out to the wider Greco-Roman world (Acts 13-28).

1:10 two men in white robes: Similar figures addressed the women at Jesus' empty tomb (Luke 24:4-7).

1:12 a sabbath day's journey: a half mile or so. Jewish tradition limited the distance one should travel on the Sabbath (see note on Acts 13:14).

1:13 the upstairs room: likely the same place where Jesus and the disciples ate their last Passover meal (Luke 22:11-12).

1:14 all were united in their devotion to prayer: The spirit of unity and the practice of prayer are major features of community life (cf. Acts 2:1, 42-44; 3:1; 4:23-32; 6:6; 13:1-3; 16:13, 16; 20:36-37; 21:5).

1:15-26 The first order of business for the Jerusalem congregation is replacing Judas among the 12 apostles. Judas had arranged for Jesus' arrest (Luke 22:1-6, 47-53) and later died in a gruesome manner (Acts 1:18-19). It's important to fill the vacant slot quickly because of the symbolic connection between these 12 leaders and Israel's 12 tribes (cf. Luke 22:30).

1:16 the scripture . . . had to be fulfilled: The texts are quoted in Acts 1:20. During times of crisis, the early believers seek comfort and guidance from the OT.

1:18 payment: the money Judas received for handing Jesus over to the religious authorities (Luke 22:3). Matthew 26:14-15 identifies the amount as 30 pieces of silver. Falling headfirst, he burst open in the middle: The setting and circumstances of this gory death are otherwise unknown (cf. Matt 27:3-5).

1:16 Mt 26:47; Mk 14:43; Lk 22:47; Jn 13:18; Ac 1:20 1:17 Jn 6:70-71; Ac 1:25; Ac 20:24; Ac 21:19 1:18 Mt 26:14; Mt 27:3; Mt 27:5

and all his intestines spilled out. <sup>19</sup>This became known to everyone living in Jerusalem, so they called that field in their own language Hakeldama, or "Field of Blood.") <sup>20</sup>"It is written in the Psalms scroll,

*Let his home become deserted and let there be no one living in it;<sup>a</sup> and
Give his position of leadership to another.<sup>b</sup>*

Receiving the Spirit at Pentecost As Jesus promised, the Holy Spirit fills his followers (Acts 1:5) and enables them to bear witness to what they've seen and heard (Acts 1:8). The Spirit plays a major role in Luke's writings, inspiring powerful preaching of God's message to various audiences (Luke 1:41-45, 67-79; 2:25-35; 4:14-21; Acts 2:17-21; 4:31; 5:32; 6:10; 10:44-47; 11:28; 19:6-7; 21:4, 10-11). In Acts 2 a key cross-cultural component also emerges, as Spirit-filled believers miraculously "speak in other languages" (Acts 2:4) or tongues, they've never learned. These are "native languages" (Acts 2:6) known to the many different groups of "Jews from every nation under heaven" (Acts 2:5) assembled in Jerusalem at Pentecost. Later outpourings of the Spirit in other places also lead to speaking in other languages (Acts 11:44-47; 19:6-7).

This experience of speaking known earthly languages that native speakers readily understand isn't the same as the experience Paul describes in 1 Corinthians. There Paul is concerned with speaking in an unknown spiritual or heavenly language that must be divinely interpreted (1 Cor 12:10-11, 28-30; 13:1, 8; 14:1-40); he is thinking about a special, ecstatic language of prayer and worship. In Acts the Spirit-empowered ability to speak in other known languages serves more as a means of proclamation and witness.

Pentecost

2 When Pentecost Day arrived, they were all together in one place. <sup>2</sup>Suddenly a sound from heaven like the howling of a fierce wind filled the entire house where they were sitting. <sup>3</sup>They saw what seemed to be individual flames of fire alighting on each one of them. <sup>4</sup>They were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other languages as the Spirit enabled them to speak.

1:20 the Psalms: The context for each psalm reference (Pss 69:25; 109:8) is a prayer of rescue for God's mistreated servant.

1:23 Joseph . . . and Matthias: their only appearance in the NT. After Matthias has been selected (Acts 1:26), he's never mentioned again.

1:25 apostleship: The term "apostle" is typically limited in Acts to the Twelve. They qualify because they followed Jesus from the beginning of his ministry until the day he was taken up from earth (see Acts 1:21-22).

1:26 cast lots: similar to throwing dice (Esth 3:7; 9:24; Prov 16:33) or drawing straws to make a decision. This is a common means in the Bible of finding out God's will (cf. Lev 16:8; Num 26:55-56; 1 Chron 25:8-9; Jon 1:7). It wasn't understood to be a magical process. Here casting lots is combined with the community's prayer that the all-knowing God reveal to them his chosen candidate (Acts 1:24).

2:1-13 The early believers are filled with the Holy Spirit, as Jesus had promised.

2:1 Pentecost Day: a Jewish festival, also known as the Feast of Weeks (Exod 34:22; Lev 23:15-16; Num 28:26-31; Deut 16:9-12) that occurs 50 days after Passover. Pentecost marks a holiday to thank God for the grain harvest and to remember God's giving of the Law at Mount Sinai/Horeb.

2:12 fierce wind: a symbol of God's powerful presence, like that involved in creating the world (Gen 1:1-2) and parting the Red Sea to free Israel from slavery in Egypt (Exod 13:18; 14:21-22).

2:3 flames of fire: another symbol of God's powerful presence, like that shown to Moses and the Israelites at Mount Sinai/Horeb (Exod 3:1-3; 19:16-18).

I will pour out my Spirit on all people.

Your sons and daughters will prophesy.

Your young will see visions.

Your elders will dream dreams.

<sup>18</sup>Even upon my servants, men and women,

I will pour out my Spirit in those days,

and they will prophesy.

and signs on the earth below,

blood and fire and a cloud of smoke.

<sup>20</sup>The sun will be changed into darkness,

and the moon will be changed into blood,

before the great and spectacular day of the Lord comes.

<sup>21</sup>And everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>22</sup>"Fellow Israelites, listen to these words! Jesus the Nazarene was a man whose credentials God proved to you through miracles, wonders, and signs, which God performed through him among you. You yourselves know this. <sup>23</sup>In accordance with God's established plan and

2:5 pious Jews from every nation: Jews scattered throughout the world were expected, if possible, to travel to Jerusalem to celebrate Pentecost.

2:7 Galileans: Jews from Galilee, a region north of Jerusalem. Jesus of Nazareth and his first followers were Galileans. Some other Jews looked down on Galileans as backward and uneducated (cf. Acts 4:13; John 1:46; 7:41). 2:8 our native language: the local dialects of the various nations from which the Pentecost travelers came. Most, if not all, would also speak Greek (see note on Acts 6:1).

2:9-10 Parthians, Medes, and Elamites: a long list of nations surrounding Jerusalem, extending as far as Parthia and Media to the east, Arabia and Libya (northern Africa) to the south, Rome to the west, and Pontus (near the Black Sea) to the north. Jews regarded Jerusalem as the center of the world. converts to Judaism: Gentiles who had fully accepted the faith and practices of Judaism.

2:14-36 Peter's speech to the crowd at Pentecost. This is the first of several addresses in Acts by key leaders of the early church. For other major sermons by Peter, see Acts 3:11-26; 4:8-12; 5:29-32; 10:34-48; 11:1-18; 15:7-11. A central feature of this preaching is explaining the significance of Jesus' life, death, and resurrection in light of the OT.

2:15 These people aren't drunk: Note the contrast between being drunk with wine and being filled with the Spirit in Ephesians 5:18.

2:16-18 Peter interprets the events at Pentecost as fulfilling what Joel 2:28-32 predicted: the outpouring of God's Spirit on "all people" regardless of gender (sons and daughters), age (young and old), and social class (slave and free). 2:17 In the last days: an addition to Joel in the LXX. It stresses a time of climax and fulfillment of God's plan (cf. Acts 2:23) rather than the end of earthly life. prophesy: the act of speaking God's word, inspired by the Spirit. It may include, but isn't limited to, previewing the future.

2:19-20 wonders . . . and signs: dramatic changes in the sky above and the land below. These events signal the Spirit's shaking up the normal order of things (cf. Acts 4:31). In the rest of Acts, the phrase "wonders and signs" refers mainly to miracles of restoring disabled people (Acts 2:22, 43; 4:16, 22, 30; 6:8; 8:6-7, 13; 14:3; 15:12).

2:22 Nazarene: from the village of Nazareth in Galilee (cf. Luke 2:39, 51; 4:16).

2:23 In accordance with God's established plan . . . he was betrayed: Peter views Jesus' death as a result of both divine will and human responsibility. Jesus was betrayed by Judas (Acts 1:16; Luke 22:3-6, 47-53), who unknowingly served God's larger purpose. wicked men: or ones who are foreknowledge, he was betrayed. You, with the help of wicked men, had Jesus killed by nailing him to a cross. <sup>24</sup>God raised him up! God freed him from death's dreadful grip, since it was impossible for death to hang on to him. <sup>25</sup>David says about him,

*I foresaw that the Lord was always with me;
because he is at my right hand I won't be shaken.*

<sup>26</sup>Therefore, my heart was glad and my tongue rejoiced.

Moreover, my body will live in hope,
<sup>27</sup>because you won't abandon me to the grave, nor permit your holy one to experience decay.

your presence will fill me with happiness.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>29</sup>"Brothers and sisters, I can speak confidently about the patriarch David. He died and was buried, and his tomb is with us to this very day. <sup>30</sup>Because he was a prophet, he knew that God promised him with a solemn pledge to seat one of his descendants on his throne. <sup>31</sup>Having seen this beforehand, David spoke about the resurrection of Christ, that he wasn't abandoned to the grave, nor did his body experience decay.<sup>b</sup> <sup>32</sup>This Jesus, God raised up. We are all witnesses to that fact. <sup>33</sup>He was exalted to God's right side and received from the Father the promised Holy Spirit. He poured out this Spirit, and you are seeing and hearing the results of his having done so. <sup>34</sup>David didn't ascend into heaven. Yet he says,

*The Lord said to my Lord, 'Sit at my right side,

<sup>36</sup>Therefore, let all Israel know beyond question that God has made this Jesus, whom you crucified, both Lord and Christ."

<sup>37</sup>When the crowd heard this, they were deeply troubled. They said to Peter and the other apostles, "Brothers, what should we do?"

<sup>38</sup>Peter replied, "Change your hearts and lives. Each of you must be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins. Then you will receive the gift of the Holy

"lawless" or "outside the [Jewish] Law," referring to Gentiles. The men who crucified Jesus were Roman soldiers under the command of Governor Pilate; however, their actions were supported by Jewish leaders and crowds in Jerusalem (see Luke 23:13-43).

2:24 God raised him up: God's ultimate plan for Jesus was bringing him back to life, thereby reversing the aim of those who unjustly killed him.

2:25 David says: According to popular tradition, David was the main composer of the Psalms, including these lines quoted from Psalm 16.

2:26 my tongue rejoiced: continues the emphasis on inspired speaking in tongues, or "languages," in Acts 2:4, 11. Here David speaks of a lively future hope of resurrection from the dead, which Peter applies to Jesus.

2:27 the grave: Hades (Gk.) or Sheol (Heb.), the shadowy residence of all who have died, a place with no necessary distinction made between good and bad persons. However, see Luke 16:23, where "the place of the dead" (Hades/Sheol) is viewed as a site of torment for a deceased rich man who had not aided the poor during his life.

2:29 his tomb is with us: David's burial place in Jerusalem is mentioned in 1 Kings 2:10; Nehemiah 3:16. The fact that David's tomb was still known to contain his remains suggests David hadn't been speaking about himself when he foresaw one who would escape decaying in the grave (cf. Ps 16:10; Acts 2:25-26, 31).

2:30 solemn pledge: the covenant promise God made to David that a member of his family would always be king of Israel (see 2 Sam 7:11-16; Ps 132:11-12).

2:32 witnesses to that fact: The first disciples didn't simply hear reports about Jesus' resurrection; they saw and spent time with the risen Jesus himself. Bearing witness to this personal experience is central to the 12 apostles' and Paul's missions in Acts (Acts 1:8; 4:33; 5:29-32; 10:39-42; 13:30-31; 22:14-15; 26:15-16; cf. Luke 1:2; 24:45-48).

2:34-35 Peter quotes another psalm (110:1) from David. He applies this one to Jesus' ascension to the honored position of God's right side and continues a similar line of argument: Just as David didn't rise from his grave, so he didn't ascend into heaven. Therefore, David must be referring to someone other than himself, namely, to my Lord (Jesus).

2:36 Christ: important title for Jesus first used by Peter in Acts (cf. Acts 2:31, 38). From the Greek Christos, it means "anointed one," corresponding to the Hebrew term for "Messiah." Jesus had been anointed by God's Spirit throughout his earthly ministry (see Luke 3:21-22; 4:18; Acts 10:38). God confirmed this anointed role by raising Jesus from the dead and exalting him to God's right side.

2:38 Change your hearts and lives: key sign of turning to God and preparing to receive God's blessings of salvation (Acts 3:19; 5:31; 8:22; 11:18; 13:24; 17:30; 19:4; 20:21; 26:20; Luke 3:3, 8-14; 5:32; 13:3; 5: 15:7, 10; 17:3-4; 24:47). baptized in the name of Jesus Christ: ritual of immersion in water in Jesus' name. This is distinct from, though related to, both John's baptism in water (Acts 1:5, 22) and baptism with the Holy Spirit (Acts 1:5), which the believers have just experienced. Baptism in Jesus' name becomes a key practice in Acts. It binds new believers together and prepares them

Spirit. <sup>39</sup>This promise is for you, your children, and for all who are far away—as many as the Lord our God invites.” <sup>40</sup>With many other words he testified to them and encouraged them, saying, “Be saved from this perverse generation.” <sup>41</sup>Those who accepted Peter’s message were baptized. God brought about three thousand people into the community on that day.

Community of believers

<sup>42</sup>The believers devoted themselves to the apostles’ teaching, to the community, to their shared meals, and to their prayers. <sup>43</sup>A sense of awe came over everyone. God performed many wonders and signs through the apostles. <sup>44</sup>All the believers were united and shared everything. <sup>45</sup>They would sell pieces of property and possessions and distribute the proceeds to everyone who needed them. <sup>46</sup>Every day, they met together in the temple and ate in their homes. They shared food with gladness and simplicity. <sup>47</sup>They praised God and demonstrated God’s goodness to everyone. The Lord added daily to the community those who were being saved.

Healing of a crippled man

3 Peter and John were going up to the temple at three o’clock in the afternoon, the established prayer time. <sup>2</sup>Meanwhile, a man crippled since birth was being carried in. Every day, people would place him at the temple gate known as the Beautiful Gate so he could ask for money from those entering the temple. <sup>3</sup>When he saw Peter and John about to enter, he began to ask them for a gift. <sup>4</sup>Peter and John stared at him. Peter said, “Look at us!” <sup>5</sup>So the man gazed at them, expecting to receive something from them. <sup>6</sup>Peter said, “I don’t have any money, but I will give you what I do have. In the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene, rise up and walk!” <sup>7</sup>Then he grasped the man’s right hand and raised him up. At once his feet and ankles became strong. <sup>8</sup>Jumping up, he began to walk around. He entered the temple with them, walking, leaping, and praising God. <sup>9</sup>All the people saw him walking and praising God. <sup>10</sup>They recognized him as the same one who used to sit at the temple’s Beautiful Gate asking for money. They were filled with amazement and surprise at what had happened to him.

to receive the gift of the Holy Spirit (see Acts 2:41; 8:12-17; 8:36-38; 9:17-18; 10:44-48; 11:15-17; 16:15, 33; 18:8; 19:1-7). 2:39 all who are far away: refers to Gentiles (cf. Acts 22:21), distinguishing them from the nearer audience of Jews (you, your children) and also from the Jews who’ve drifted far away from God’s ways and people (Luke 15:13; cf. Isa 57:19; Sir 24:32).

2:40 this perverse generation: the present evil age challenged by God’s kingdom of goodness and justice. Jesus referred to this “faithless and crooked generation” (Luke 9:41), “evil generation” (Luke 11:29-32), and sometimes simply “this generation” in a negative context (Luke 11:50-51; 17:25; 21:32; cf. Deut 32:4-5; Ps 78:6-8; Phil 2:13-15).

2:42-47 A summary section describing the continuing pattern of growth, fellowship, and various practices of teaching, prayer, worship, and ministry characterizing the early church (cf. Acts 4:32-35; 5:12-16, 42; 6:7; 9:31; 12:24; 16:5).

2:42 community: koinōnia in Greek, stressing the strong “common” (kainon) bond among the early followers of Jesus. This fellowship involves sharing everything—food, shelter, property, possessions—to meet each other’s needs (see Acts 2:44-46; 4:32-35).

2:46 they met together in the temple and ate in their homes: The believing communities don’t have their own separate buildings. In Jerusalem they continue to gather and worship in the temple and in members’ homes (cf. Acts 5:42). Eating together is an important part of community life.

2:47 everyone: An emphasis on everyone and all runs through Acts 2:42-47, indicating a concern for the welfare not only of every believer but also of the wider society.

3:1-4:31 Peter and John healing a crippled man in the temple sparks the people’s amazement and the Jewish authorities’ alarm. This is the first miraculous sign (4:22) performed by the apostles in the name of Jesus Christ (3:6, 16; 4:10-12).

3:1 established prayer time: Twice daily the people offered prayers in the temple, while a designated priest burned incense (Luke 1:8-10; cf. Exod 29:39; Lev 6:20; Jdt 9:1). Three o’clock was the appointed time for evening prayer. Jesus’ followers continue to observe Jewish religious practices.

3:2 ask for money: Compare with Jesus’ command to his disciples, “Give to everyone who asks [of you]” (Luke 6:30). Beautiful Gate: This temple landmark isn’t mentioned in any other ancient sources. Beautiful Gate could be the name of any one of nine gates. It may have been covered with silver and gold. More likely, it was plated with Corinthian bronze but was the largest of the gates.

3:4 stared at him: an intense focus on the crippled beggar. Such fixed attention frequently marks important encounters with people and God in Acts (Acts 1:10; 3:12; 6:15; 7:55; 10:4; 11:6; 13:9; 14:9; 23:1).

3:6 rise up: the same language used for God’s raising Jesus from the dead (Acts 3:15; 4:10; 5:30; 10:40; 13:30, 37; 26:8; cf. Luke 9:22; 11:31; 20:37; 24:6, 34) and Jesus’ raising the deceased son of a widow and Jairus’ daughter from the dead (Luke 7:14; 8:54; cf. 7:22).

3:10 amazement and surprise: a common first response

<sup>11</sup>While the healed man clung to Peter and John, all the people rushed toward them at Solomon's Porch, completely amazed. <sup>12</sup>Seeing this, Peter addressed the people: "You Israelites, why are you amazed at this? Why are you staring at us as if we made him walk by our own power or piety? <sup>13</sup>The God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—the God of our ancestors—has glorified his servant Jesus. This is the one you handed over and denied in Pilate's presence, even though he had already decided to release him. <sup>14</sup>You rejected the holy and righteous one, and asked that a murderer be released to you instead. <sup>15</sup>You killed the author of life, the very one whom God raised from the dead. We are witnesses of this. <sup>16</sup>His name itself has made this man strong. That is, because of faith in Jesus' name, God has strengthened this man whom you see and know. The faith that comes through Jesus gave him complete health right before your eyes.

<sup>17</sup>"Brothers and sisters, I know you acted in ignorance. So did your rulers. <sup>18</sup>But this is how God fulfilled what he foretold through all the prophets: that his Christ would suffer. <sup>19</sup>Change your hearts and lives! Turn back to God so that your sins may be wiped away. <sup>20</sup>Then the Lord will provide a season of relief from the distress of this age and he will send Jesus, whom he handpicked to be your Christ. <sup>21</sup>Jesus must remain in heaven until the restoration of all things, about which God spoke long ago through his holy prophets. <sup>22</sup>Moses said, The Lord your God will raise up from your own people a prophet like me. Listen to whatever he tells you. <sup>23</sup>Whoever doesn't listen to that prophet will be totally cut off from the people.<sup>8</sup> <sup>24</sup>All the prophets who spoke—from Samuel forward—announced these days. <sup>25</sup>You are the heirs of the prophets and the covenant that God made with your ancestors when he told Abraham, Through your descendants, all the families on earth will be blessed.<sup>h</sup> <sup>26</sup>After God raised his servant, he sent him to you first—to bless you by enabling each of you to turn from your evil ways."

to miraculous events. Amazement doesn't guarantee faith and understanding but may lead to these on further reflection.

<sup>3:12-26</sup> Peter's speech to the excited crowd about the risen Jesus. Peter makes clear that the God who raised Jesus enabled the crippled man to rise and walk.

<sup>3:13</sup> God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: a common way of referring to the one God of Israel, going back to the first three generations of Israel's ancestors (Gen 28:13; 32:9; 48:15-16; Exod 3:14-16; 4:5; Deut 6:10; Luke 13:28; 20:37-38; Acts 7:32). servant Jesus: the Greek term for "servant" (pais) also means "child," suggesting Jesus' identity as God's Servant-Son (Acts 3:26; 4:27, 30). This role recalls that of Israel's King David (Acts 4:25; Luke 1:69) and the collective people of Israel in Isaiah's Servant Songs (Isa 41:8-9; 42:1, 19; 43:10; 44:1-2, 21, 26; 45:4; 49:6; 50:10; 52:13; cf. Luke 1:54). Pilate's presence: Pontius Pilate was the Roman military governor of Judea (Luke 3:1). He gave the final order for Jesus' crucifixion (Luke 23:1-25).

<sup>3:14</sup> holy and righteous one: Jesus was completely innocent of all charges against him; his death penalty was a miscarriage of justice (Acts 7:52; 22:14; Luke 23:47). The servant in Isaiah 53:11 is also called "the righteous one;" a murderer be released: a prisoner named Barabbas, who had caused a riot (Luke 23:18-19).

and power of the risen Jesus. His name stands for all that Jesus is and does.

<sup>3:24</sup> Samuel: leading judge, statesman, and prophet of Israel. Under God's direction, Samuel appointed Israel's first two kings, Saul and David (1 Sam 10:1; 16:12-13). In a book that bears Samuel's name, God promised that a descendant of David would always rule Israel (2 Sam 7:12-16).

<sup>3:25</sup> all the families on earth: stresses the universal scope of God's original covenant with Abraham. God's choosing of Abraham's descendants (Israelites) was designed from the beginning to bless them so that they in turn would spread God's blessing to the whole world (Gentiles) (Gen 12:3; 22:18; 26:4).

<sup>3:26</sup> he sent him to you first: the typical order of God's saving outreach to humanity: first to Israel (Jews) and then to the rest of the world (Gentiles) (see Rom 1:16).

Peter and John questioned

4 While Peter and John were speaking to the people, the priests, the captain of the temple guard, and the Sadducees confronted them. <sup>2</sup>They were incensed that the apostles were teaching the people and announcing that the resurrection of the dead was happening because of Jesus. <sup>3</sup>They seized Peter and John and put them in prison until the next day. (It was already evening.) <sup>4</sup>Many who heard the word became believers, and their number grew to about five thousand.

<sup>5</sup>The next day the leaders, elders, and legal experts gathered in Jerusalem, <sup>6</sup>along with Annas the high priest, Caiaphas, John, Alexander, and others from the high priest's family. <sup>7</sup>They had Peter and John brought before them and asked, "By what power or in what name did you do this?"

<sup>8</sup>Then Peter, inspired by the Holy Spirit, answered, "Leaders of the people and elders, <sup>9</sup>are we being examined today because something good was done for a sick person, a good deed that healed him? <sup>10</sup>If so, then you and all the people of Israel need to know that this man stands healthy before you because of the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene—whom you crucified but whom God raised from the dead. <sup>11</sup>This Jesus is the stone you builders rejected; he has become the cornerstone! <sup>12</sup>Salvation can be found in no one else. Throughout the whole world, no other name has been given among humans through which we must be saved."

<sup>13</sup>The council was caught by surprise by the confidence with which Peter and John spoke. After all, they understood that these apostles were uneducated and inexperienced. They also recognized that they had been followers of Jesus. <sup>14</sup>However, since the healed man was standing with Peter and John before their own eyes, they had no rebuttal. <sup>15</sup>After ordering them to wait outside, the council members began to confer with each other. <sup>16</sup>"What should we do with these men? Everyone living in Jerusalem is aware of the sign performed through them. It's obvious to everyone and we can't deny it. <sup>17</sup>To keep it from spreading further among the people, we need to warn them not to speak to anyone in this name." <sup>18</sup>When they called Peter and John back, they demanded that they stop all speaking and teaching in the name of Jesus.

4:1-22 The first of several trial scenes in which the apostles and other witnesses to Christ defend their beliefs and actions before Jewish or Roman authorities (Acts 5:17-42; 7:1-53; 16:20-40; 17:5-8; 18:12-17; 19:23-40; 21:27-22:29; 22:30-23:10; 24:1-23; 26:1-32; 28:17-28).

4:1 captain of the temple guard: high-ranking Jewish official in charge of maintaining order on the temple grounds and safeguarding the temple treasury (see also Acts 5:24, 26). A squad of officers from the temple guard participated in Jesus' arrest (Luke 22:4, 52). Sadducees: elite Jewish group of major influence among temple leaders (Acts 5:17). In contrast to the Pharisees and other parties, the Sadducees didn't believe in the resurrection of the dead (Luke 20:27-38; Acts 23:6-10). This became a sharp bone of contention with the early Jesus movement (Acts 4:2).

4:4 their number grew to about five thousand: expanding from the 3,000 baptized on Pentecost (Acts 2:41). Continued church growth in the face of conflict marks a pattern in Acts (Acts 5:14; 6:7; 8:3-8; 11:19-21; 12:24; 16:5; 19:20).

4:5 leaders, elders, and legal experts: members of the Jerusalem Council, the chief governing body of Jewish affairs in Jerusalem (Luke 22:66; Acts 4:13, 15; 5:41; 6:12; 22:30; 23:1, 15, 28; 24:20). It was led by the high priest (Acts 4:6; 5:17, 21; 7:1; 23:2-5).

4:6 Annas the high priest, Caiaphas: Annas was the high priest from 6 to 15 CE (Luke 3:2). He kept the title after his son-in-law Caiaphas assumed the office (18-37 CE). Caiaphas was the high priest at the time of Jesus' death (Matt 26:3-4, 57-58; John 11:49-53; 18:12-14, 22-24, 28).

4:11 the stone you builders rejected... has become the cornerstone: quoting Psalm 118:22. The early Christians applied this image to Jesus: Though Jesus was rejected by many of his own people, God established the risen Jesus as the cornerstone of God's work (Matt 21:42; Luke 20:17; 1 Pet 2:7). Stonework would also recall the building of God's temple (1 Kgs 5:15-18; 6:7; Luke 21:5; 1 Cor 3:9-17; 1 Pet 2:4-7).

4:12 Salvation... be saved: the heart of God's work in Luke's writings. The saving God seeks to make suffering humanity and all creation whole again. Salvation addresses a wide range of needs, such as forgiving sin, defeating evil, restoring health and ability, and promoting peace and justice. no one else... no other name: The saving purpose of God for the whole world is uniquely fulfilled in the person and work (name) of Jesus Christ.

4:13 confidence: the typical manner with which the early believers bore witness to Christ (Acts 2:29; 4:29, 31; 9:27-28; 13:46; 14:3; 18:26; 19:8; 26:26; 28:31). Speaking with conviction and boldness was valued; such speech was designed to inspire and persuade. uneducated and inexperienced: Peter and John were Galilean fishermen by trade (Luke 5:1-10), not trained public speakers. recognized that they had been followers of Jesus: When Peter was earlier recognized as a disciple at Jesus' trial, he strongly denied he knew Jesus (Luke 22:54-60). Now he shows remarkable loyalty and courage.

4:17 To keep it from spreading: the first of many opponents' attempts to stop the spread of the Christian message. Typically, resistance proves futile. In fact, it sparks further growth! (See Acts 4:20-21, 29-31; 5:40-42; 8:1-4; 9:23-32; 12:24-25; 13:44-52; 14:1-7; 16:25-34; 28:17-31.)

<sup>19</sup>Peter and John responded, “It’s up to you to determine whether it’s right before God to obey you rather than God. <sup>20</sup>As for us, we can’t stop speaking about what we have seen and heard.” <sup>21</sup>They threatened them further, then released them. Because of public support for Peter and John, they couldn’t find a way to punish them. Everyone was praising God for what had happened, <sup>22</sup>because the man who had experienced this sign of healing was over 40 years old.

The believers pray

<sup>23</sup>After their release, Peter and John returned to the brothers and sisters and reported everything the chief priests and elders had said. <sup>24</sup>They listened, then lifted their voices in unison to God, “Master, you are the one who created the heaven, the earth, the sea, and everything in them. <sup>25</sup>You are the one who spoke by the Holy Spirit through our ancestor David, your servant:

Why did the Gentiles rage, and the peoples plot in vain?

<sup>26</sup>The kings of the earth took their stand and the rulers gathered together as one against the Lord and against his Christ.<sup>1</sup>

Sharing among the believers

4:19 to obey you rather than God: Even religious authorities may be in conflict with God’s will (see Acts 5:29).

4:22 the man... was over 40 years old: the final reference to the crippled man healed in Jesus’ name (Acts 3:6-8). His age recalls the period of time the Israelites wandered in the wilderness before entering the promised land (cf. Acts 7:36).

4:24-30 In response to Peter and John’s release from prison (Acts 4:23), the believers pray for strength to continue speaking God’s word with confidence.

4:24 the one who created: Jesus’ followers worshipped and prayed to the one Creator God who made everything in heaven and earth (cf. Acts 14:15; 17:24-28; Gen 1:1; 2:1-4; Ps 146:6; Luke 10:21).

4:25-26 Another quotation from David’s Psalms (cf. Acts 2:25-31, 34-35). This one, from Psalm 2:1-2, forecasts the hostility of Gentile rulers against Christ.

4:27 Herod and Pontius Pilate: Herod Antipas ruled in Galilee under Roman authority. He had John the Baptist beheaded (Luke 3:19-20; 9:7-9) and violently opposed Jesus’ work (Luke 13:31-33). He “became friends” with Pontius Pilate (Luke 23:12), the governor of Judea (see note on Acts 3:13), during Jesus’ trial. Like Pilate, Herod didn’t find Jesus worthy of death, but he still “treated Jesus with contempt” and allowed him to be crucified (Luke 23:6-25). holy servant Jesus: See note on Acts 3:13; compare with Acts 4:30.

4:28 what your power and plan had already determined: See note on Acts 2:23 and sidebar, “Who Killed Jesus?” at Acts 6.

4:30 Stretch out your hand: an image recalling God’s mighty parting of the Red Sea to rescue the Israelites from slavery in Egypt (see Exod 14:21-31; 15:4-6; Ps 136:11-15).

4:31 all filled with the Holy Spirit: a fresh experience of spiritual renewal, like that which occurred on Pentecost (Acts 2:1-4).

4:32-5:11 Describes the communal sharing of money and possessions, beginning with a summary in 4:32-35 that is similar to Acts 2:42-47. Then follow two examples: one positive, featuring Barnabas (4:36-37), and the other negative, involving the married couple, Ananias and Sapphira (5:1-11). The apostles are the authorized distributors of community funds (4:35, 37; 5:2).

4:36 Joseph... nicknamed Barnabas: his first of many appearances, and hereafter he’s referred to only by his nickname (Acts 9:27; 11:22-26, 29-30; 13:1-13, 42-43, 51-52; 14:1-27; 15:12-13, 30-31, 35-41). Barnabas consistently lives up to his name as one who encourages. Levite from Levite from Cyprus. <sup>37</sup>He owned a field, sold it, brought the money, and placed it in the care and under the authority of the apostles.

Pretenders of sharing

5 However, a man named Ananias, along with his wife Sapphira, sold a piece of property. <sup>5</sup>With his wife's knowledge, he withheld some of the proceeds from the sale. He brought the rest and placed it in the care and under the authority of the apostles. <sup>3</sup>Peter asked, "Ananias, how is it that Satan has influenced you to lie to the Holy Spirit by withholding some of the proceeds from the sale of your land? <sup>4</sup>Wasn't that property yours to keep? After you sold it, wasn't the money yours to do with whatever you wanted? What made you think of such a thing? You haven't lied to other people but to God!" <sup>5</sup>When Ananias heard these words, he dropped dead. Everyone who heard this conversation was terrified. <sup>6</sup>Some young men stood up, wrapped up his body, carried him out, and buried him.

<sup>7</sup>About three hours later, his wife entered, but she didn't know what had happened to her husband. <sup>8</sup>Peter asked her, "Tell me, did you and your husband receive this price for the field?"

She responded, "Yes, that's the amount."

<sup>9</sup>He replied, "How could you scheme with each other to challenge the Lord's Spirit? Look! The feet of those who buried your husband are at the door. They will carry you out too." <sup>10</sup>At that very moment, she dropped dead at his feet. When the young men entered and found her dead, they carried her out and buried her with her husband. <sup>11</sup>Trepidation and dread seized the whole church and all who heard what had happened.

Responses to the church

<sup>12</sup>The apostles performed many signs and wonders among the people. They would come together regularly at Solomon's Porch. <sup>13</sup>No one from outside the church dared to join them, even though the people spoke highly of them. <sup>14</sup>Indeed, more and more believers in the Lord, large numbers of both men and women, were added to the church. <sup>15</sup>As a result, they would even bring the sick out into the main streets and lay them on cots and mats so that at least Peter's shadow could fall on some of them as he passed by. <sup>16</sup>Even large numbers of persons from towns around Jerusalem would gather, bringing the sick and those harassed by unclean spirits. Everyone was healed.

Cyprus: A Levite was a member of the priestly tribe of Israel. Cyprus is an island in the eastern Mediterranean Sea. Barnabas had migrated to Jerusalem.

4:37 Selling property and turning all the proceeds over to the apostles for distribution represents the ideal model of community service (cf. Acts 2:45; 4:34-35).

5:1-2 In contrast to Barnabas, Ananias and Sapphira hold back some of the money from a land sale. This recalls Achan's withholding of "some of the things reserved for God" in Joshua 7:1-2. The community now faces its first crisis since dealing with Judas' betrayal (Acts 1:15-26). Judas' problem also involved the misuse of money and property (Acts 1:18-19).

5:3-4 lie to the Holy Spirit . . . lied . . . to God!: The sin of Ananias and Sapphira is that of deception more than stinginess. They pretended to give the full price of the land sale when they had given only part. In the process they lied not only to the community but also to the divine Holy Spirit—a most serious offense (cf. Acts 5:9; Luke 12:10).

5:3 Satan has influenced you: as Satan prompted Judas to betray Jesus (Luke 22:3-6). Satan, another name for the devil (Luke 4:2-13) and Beelzebul (Luke 11:18-19), is the archenemy and accuser of God and God's people (Luke 10:18-19; 11:18; 13:16; 22:3, 31; Acts 26:18).

5:5 dropped dead: Compare with Acts 5:20; 12:23; 28:6.

5:6 wrapped up his body . . . and buried him: Compare with Acts 5:10. Immediate wrapping in cloth and burying the dead was a common practice among the Jews (Tob 2:3-8; Luke 23:50-56).

5:11 Trepidation and dread seized the whole church: Compare with Acts 5:5. The sudden deaths of two members naturally come as a terrible shock to the community. Their dropping dead stands in dramatic contrast to the celebration of resurrection and healing that has characterized Acts up to this point. church: the first use of this term for the believing community in Acts. The Greek word ekklesia can refer to a congregation or assembly gathered for various religious, social, and political purposes.

5:12-16 Summary of the apostles' continued miracle-working and attracting more believers.

5:12 Solomon's Porch: See note on Acts 3:11.

5:13-14 A mixed response, as occurs elsewhere in Acts (Acts 5:33-39; 13:42-52; 14:1-4; 17:1-9; 18:4-8; 28:23-25). On the one hand, outsiders remain wary of gathering with the church in public (perhaps because of the deaths of Ananias and Sapphira); on the other hand, a number of new believers are drawn to Jesus' community.

5:15 Peter's shadow: Peter has said he has no personal power to heal (Acts 3:12), but desperate people hope that even his shadow can cure the sick.

5:16 unclean spirits: harmful spiritual forces or demons resisted by Jesus' followers, as Jesus himself had done (see Luke 4:33-36, 41; 8:2, 26-33; 9:1, 37-43; 10:17-19; 11:14-20; 13:10-16; Acts 8:7; 19:11-17).

The Jerusalem Council harasses the apostles

When the high priest and his colleagues gathered, they convened the Jerusalem Council, that is, the full assembly of Israel's elders. They sent word to the prison to have the apostles brought before them. <sup>22</sup>However, the guards didn't find them in the prison. They returned and reported, <sup>23</sup>"We found the prison locked and well-secured, with guards standing at the doors, but when we opened the doors we found no one inside!" <sup>24</sup>When they received this news, the captain of the temple guard and the chief priests were baffled and wondered what might be happening. <sup>25</sup>Just then, someone arrived and announced, "Look! The people you put in prison are standing in the temple and teaching the people!" <sup>26</sup>Then the captain left with his guards and brought the apostles back. They didn't use force because they were afraid the people would stone them.

<sup>27</sup>The apostles were brought before the council where the high priest confronted them: <sup>28</sup>"In no uncertain terms, we demanded that you not teach in this name. And look at you! You have filled Jerusalem with your teaching. And you are determined to hold us responsible for this man's death."

<sup>29</sup>Peter and the apostles replied, "We must obey God rather than humans! <sup>30</sup>The God of our ancestors raised Jesus from the dead—whom you killed by hanging him on a tree. <sup>31</sup>God has exalted Jesus to his right side as leader and savior so that he could enable Israel to change its heart and life and to find forgiveness for sins. <sup>32</sup>We are witnesses of such things, as is the Holy Spirit, whom God has given to those who obey him."

5:17-42 The apostles offer another spirited defense before the Jerusalem Council (cf. Acts 4:1-22).

5:17 Sadducees: See note on Acts 4:1. jealousy: the motive for opposition (cf. Acts 13:45; 17:5). The temple authorities are worried that their power base among the people is being threatened by the growing popularity of the apostles.

5:19-21 angel from the Lord: a powerful divine agent; the Greek word angelos also means "messenger." The Lord's angel will break Peter out of jail again in Acts 12:7-11. For other appearances of angel-messengers, see Acts 8:26; 10:3-7, 22; 27:23-24.

5:21 Jerusalem Council: See note on Acts 4:5.

5:23 found no one inside: recalls the women's surprise over Jesus' empty tomb (Luke 24:1-4).

5:24-26 A humorous scene at the expense of the confused temple authorities.

5:24 captain of the temple guard: See note on Acts 4:1.

5:25 afraid the people would stone them: Jealousy over the apostles' popularity (Acts 5:17) grows into fear that the people will violently turn against the authorities. However, in the course of Acts, it's Christian leaders, not temple officials, who become targets of stoning by angry mobs (Acts 7:46-50; 14:19-20).

5:28 See sidebar, "Who Killed Jesus?"

5:30 hanging him on a tree: an image of Jesus' execution on a wooden cross. It uses the language of Deuteronomy 21:22-23, which refers to the curse of capital punishment by hanging (cf. Gal 3:13).

5:31 leader: The same Greek word (archēgos) identifies Jesus as leader here and as "the author of life" in Acts 3:15 (cf. Heb 2:10; 12:2). savior: See Luke 2:11; Acts 13:23. change its heart and life: See note on Acts 2:38.

5:34 Pharisee... named Gamaliel: Pharisees were a Jewish group of laymen dedicated to the strict study and practice of God's Law. In contrast to the Sadducees, they believed in the resurrection of the dead. In Luke and Acts the Pharisees have a mixed relationship with Jesus and the early church. Sometimes they're in agreement and fellowship, and sometimes they're in argument and conflict (Luke 5:17-39; 6:1-11; 7:30-50; 11:37-54; 12:1-3; 13:31; 14:1-24; 15:1-2; 16:14-18; 17:20-21; 18:9-14; 19:39-40; Acts 15:5; 23:6-10; 26:4-8). Gamaliel was a highly respected member of the Jerusalem Council and a Pharisaic teacher (cf. Acts 22:2-3). He adopts a wait-and-see approach to the Jesus movement, leaving the final judgment to God (Acts 5:38-39).

5:36-37 Theudas... Judas the Galilean: two leaders of failed Jewish rebel movements in the 1st century, brutally recommendation in this case: Distance yourselves from these men. Let them go! If their plan or activity is of human origin, it will end in ruin. <sup>39</sup>If it originates with God, you won't be able to stop them. Instead, you would actually find yourselves fighting God!" The council was convinced by his reasoning. <sup>40</sup>After calling the apostles back, they had them beaten. They ordered them not to speak in the name of Jesus, then let them go. <sup>41</sup>The apostles left the council rejoicing because they had been regarded as worthy to suffer disgrace for the sake of the name. <sup>42</sup>Every day they continued to teach and proclaim the good news that Jesus is the Christ, both in the temple and in houses.

Selection of seven to serve

6About that time, while the number of disciples continued to increase, a complaint arose. Greek-speaking disciples accused the Aramaic-speaking disciples because their widows were being overlooked in the daily food service. <sup>2</sup>The Twelve called a meeting of all the disciples and said, "It isn't right for us to set aside proclamation of God's word in order to serve tables. <sup>3</sup>Brothers and sisters, carefully choose seven well-respected men from among you. They must be well-respected and endowed by the Spirit with exceptional wisdom. We will put them in charge of this concern. <sup>4</sup>As for us, we will devote ourselves to prayer and the service of proclaiming the word." <sup>5</sup>This proposal pleased the entire community. They selected Stephen, a man endowed by the Holy Spirit with exceptional faith, Philip, Prochorus, Nicanor, Timon, Parmenas, and Nicolaus from Antioch, a convert to Judaism. <sup>6</sup>The community presented these seven to the apostles, who prayed and laid their hands on them. <sup>7</sup>God's word continued to grow. The number of disciples in Jerusalem increased significantly. Even a large group of priests embraced the faith.

squashed by the Romans. Judas was a common name, and this Judas shouldn't be confused with the disciple who betrayed Jesus.

5:39 fighting God: a misguided act doomed to fail (cf. Acts 11:17).

5:41 rejoicing . . . as worthy to suffer disgrace for the sake of the name: See Luke 6:22-23; Acts 9:16; 16:25; 20:23-24; 21:13.

6:1-7 Another internal conflict disrupting the fellowship of the early Jerusalem church (cf. Acts 5:1-11). In this case a group of needy widows aren't being given their daily share of food. The problem is resolved by appointing seven servants to oversee this ministry.

6:1 Greek-speaking . . . Aramaic-speaking disciples: Greek was the common language of business and government in the Mediterranean world at this time. Aramaic was the version of Hebrew spoken by Jews in Jerusalem and surrounding areas. Many 1st-century Jews were bilingual to some degree. But some Jews who had migrated to Jerusalem from distant lands would have been more fluent in Greek. Language divisions could also reflect various cultural differences. widows: Concern for the care and well-being of widows is a prominent theme in the OT (Exod 22:22; Deut 10:18; 14:29; 16:11,14; 24:17-21; 25:5-10;

Who Killed Jesus? Who killed Jesus is an important, recurring issue in the early chapters of Acts. Roman soldiers nailed him to the cross, but blame is spread more widely among Jesus' disloyal disciple Judas (Acts 1:16-17; 2:23), Roman and Jewish authorities, and Jewish crowds (Acts 2:23, 36; 3:13-15, 17; 4:10-11, 25-27). Luke's Gospel associates Peter with Jesus' death because Peter denied all knowledge of Jesus after his arrest (Luke 22:54-62).

Peter fully recovers his role as an apostle (cf. Luke 22:31-34), though, and this holds out hope for others who opposed Jesus. They, too, can change their hearts and lives, and receive God's forgiveness and gift of the Holy Spirit (see note on Acts 2:38). Peter also balances human responsibility with two important observations regarding those who called for and participated in Jesus' death: (1) they acted "in accordance with God's established plan" (see Acts 4:25-28; see note on Acts 2:23); and (2) they "acted in ignorance" (see note on Acts 3:17), not knowing the full significance of what they were doing (cf. Luke 23:34).

26:12-13; 27:19; 1 Kgs 17:8-24; 2 Kgs 4:1-9; Pss 68:5; 146:9; Prov 15:25; Isa 1:17; Jer 7:6; 22:3) and in Luke's writings (Luke 2:36-38; 4:25-26; 7:11-17; 18:1-8; 20:47; 21:1-4; Acts 9:36-43).

6:2-4 serve tables . . . the service of proclaiming the word: Providing food and preaching God's word are both necessary and valuable forms of service (Gk. diakonia) or ministry (cf. Luke 9:10-17; 22:25-27).

6:5 Stephen . . . Philip: All seven selected servants have Greek names. This suggests they are representatives of the Greek-speaking group whose widows have been neglected. Stephen and Philip become the main characters in the following chapters. Their ministry branches out beyond serving tables to include preaching and miracle-working. Nicolaus from Antioch: On Antioch in Syria, see note on Acts 11:20.

6:6-7 laid their hands on them: a gesture of assignment for special service and a pledge of support and fellowship (cf. Acts 8:14-17; 9:17; 13:1-3; 19:6-7). God's word continued to grow: See note on Acts 4:4. large group of priests embraced the faith: remarkable change of heart by a group that had opposed the apostles' message. The high priest and other council members aren't among these converts (see Acts 6:12-15; 7:1, 54).

Arrest and murder of Stephen

<sup>8</sup>Stephen, who stood out among the believers for the way God's grace was at work in his life and for his exceptional endowment with divine power, was doing great wonders and signs among the people. <sup>9</sup>Opposition arose from some who belonged to the so-called Synagogue of Former Slaves. Members from Cyrene, Alexandria, Cilicia, and Asia entered into debate with Stephen. <sup>10</sup>However, they couldn't resist the wisdom the Spirit gave him as he spoke. <sup>11</sup>Then they secretly enticed some people to claim, "We heard him insult Moses and God." <sup>12</sup>They stirred up the people, the elders, and the legal experts. They caught Stephen, dragged him away, and brought him before the Jerusalem Council. <sup>13</sup>Before the council, they presented false witnesses who testified, "This man never stops speaking against this holy place and the Law. <sup>14</sup>In fact, we heard him say that this man Jesus of Nazareth will destroy this place and alter the customary practices Moses gave us." <sup>15</sup>Everyone seated in the council stared at Stephen, and they saw that his face was radiant, just like an angel's.

7 The high priest asked, "Are these accusations true?" <sup>2</sup>Stephen responded, "Brothers and fathers, listen to me. Our glorious God appeared to our ancestor Abraham while he was still in Mesopotamia, before he settled in Haran. <sup>3</sup>God told him, 'Leave your homeland and kin, and go to the land that I will show you.'<sup>4</sup> So Abraham left the land of the Chaldeans and settled in Haran. After Abraham's father died, God had him resettle in this land where you now live. <sup>5</sup>God didn't give him an inheritance here, not even a square foot of land. However, God did promise to give the land as his possession to him and to his descendants, even though Abraham had no child. <sup>6</sup>God put it this way: His descendants will be strangers in a land that belongs to others, who will enslave them and abuse them for four hundred years. <sup>7</sup>And I will condemn the nation they serve as slaves, God said, and afterward they will leave that land and serve me in this place. <sup>8</sup>God gave him the covenant

6:8-8:1 Stephen sparks opposition from a local synagogue in Jerusalem, whose members prosecute him before the Jerusalem Council (6:8-7:1). Stephen gives an extended defense speech, the longest in Acts (7:2-53). However, he angers the council and is stoned to death for his alleged violations of God's Law (7:54-8:1).

6:9 Synagogue of Former Slaves: group of Jewish slaves who had obtained their freedom from Roman masters and gathered together to pray, study the Law, and worship God in a local congregation (synagogue). They are Greek-speaking immigrants who have come to Jerusalem from various regions in northern Africa (Cyrene, Alexandria) and Asia Minor (Cilicia, Asia), or modern-day Turkey. 6:10 couldn't resist the wisdom... as he spoke: Compare with Luke 21:15.

6:11 Moses: leader of Israel out of slavery in Egypt and giver of God's Law. Stephen will devote the largest section of his speech to reviewing Moses' story (Acts 7:17-44).

6:13 this holy place: the Jerusalem temple, the magnificent "house for God" (Acts 7:47) originally built by Solomon and remodeled in grand fashion by Herod the Great beginning in 20 BCE.

6:14 Jesus... will destroy this place: See Luke 21:5-7, 20-24; 23:27-30 (cf. Matt 26:60-61; Mark 14:56-59; John 2:19-22).

6:15 his face was radiant, just like an angel's: sign of divine spotlighting and approval like that experienced by Moses (see Exod 34:29-30; 2 Cor 3:7).

7:2-53 Stephen's speech doesn't directly address the charges brought against him. It presents a sweeping review of Israel's history, focusing on God's dealings with Abraham (7:2-8), Joseph (7:9-16), Moses (7:17-44), Joshua (7:45), David (7:46), and Solomon (7:47-50). Two themes are relevant to Stephen's case: (1) God's gracious pattern of working with his people in lands and places beyond Israel and the temple (7:2, 5-7, 9-16, 30-38, 44, 48-50) and (2) Israel's tragic pattern of rejecting leaders and prophets like Joseph, Moses, and Jesus (7:9-10, 25-29, 35-42, 51-52).

7:2 glorious God: a common way of referring to the majestic, mighty presence of God revealed to God's people (see Exod 16:7, 10; 24:16-17; 29:43; 33:18, 22; 40:34-35; Lev 9:6, 23; Num 14:10, 21-22; 16:19; 20:6; 1 Kgs 8:11; Pss 24:7-10; 57:6; 138:5; Isa 6:3; 40:5; 60:1-2; Luke 2:9, 14; 9:31-32; Acts 7:55; 12:23).

7:4 land of the Chaldeans... this land where you now live: contrast between Abraham's Chaldean land of origin in Mesopotamia, where God first appeared to him (Acts 7:2-3), and this land of Israel (as it came to be known) promised to Abraham.

7:5 not even a square foot: The only property Abraham owned in the promised land was a field with a cave he bought from Ephron the Hittite near Hebron. Abraham made this purchase after his wife Sarah died; he buried her in the cave (Gen 23:1-20), no child: Abraham and Sarah were well beyond normal childbearing years when God promised they would have numerous descendants living in the land (Gen 11:30; 17:15-17).

7:6 strangers in a land: the land of Egypt, where Abraham's descendants would be oppressed slaves for centuries (Gen 15:13).

7:7 this place: The first holy site where the Israelites worshipped God after leaving Egypt was at Mount Sinai/Horeb in the Sinai desert (Exod 3:22; 19:1-25). However, Stephen's audience would most immediately associate this place of service with the Jerusalem temple (Acts 6:14).

7:8 covenant confirmed through circumcision: See Genesis 17:9-27; Leviticus 12:3. Both John the Baptist and confirmed through circumcision. Accordingly, eight days after Isaac's birth, Abraham circumcised him. Isaac did the same with Jacob, and Jacob with the twelve patriarchs.

<sup>9</sup>Because the patriarchs were jealous of Joseph, they sold him into slavery in Egypt. God was with him, however, <sup>10</sup>and rescued him from all his troubles. The grace and wisdom he gave Joseph were recognized by Pharaoh, king of Egypt, who appointed him ruler over Egypt and over his whole palace. <sup>11</sup>A famine came upon all Egypt and Canaan, and great hardship came with it. Our ancestors had nothing to eat. <sup>12</sup>When Jacob heard there was grain in Egypt, he sent our ancestors there for the first time. <sup>13</sup>During their second visit, Joseph told his brothers who he was, and Pharaoh learned about Joseph's family. <sup>14</sup>Joseph sent for his father Jacob and all his relatives—seventy-five in all—and invited them to live with him. <sup>15</sup>So Jacob went down to Egypt, where he and our ancestors died. <sup>16</sup>Their bodies were brought back to Shechem and placed in the tomb that Abraham had purchased for a certain sum of money from Hamor's children, who lived in Shechem.

<sup>17</sup>When it was time for God to keep the promise he made to Abraham, the number of our people in Egypt had greatly expanded. <sup>18</sup>But then another king rose to power over Egypt who didn't know anything about Joseph. <sup>19</sup>He exploited our people and abused our ancestors. He even forced them to abandon their newly born babies so they would die. <sup>20</sup>That's when Moses was born. He was highly favored by God, and for three months his parents cared for him in their home. <sup>21</sup>After he was abandoned, Pharaoh's daughter adopted and cared for him as though he were her own son. <sup>22</sup>Moses learned everything Egyptian wisdom had to offer, and he was a man of powerful words and deeds.

<sup>23</sup>When Moses was 40 years old, he decided to visit his family, the Israelites. <sup>24</sup>He saw one of them being wronged so he came to his rescue and evened the score by killing the Egyptian. <sup>25</sup>He expected his own kin to understand that God was using him to rescue them, but they didn't. <sup>26</sup>The next day he came upon some Israelites who were caught up in an argument. He tried to make peace between them by saying, "You are brothers! Why are you harming each other?" <sup>27</sup>The one who started the fight against his neighbor pushed Moses aside and said, "Who appointed you as our leader and judge?" <sup>28</sup>Are you planning to kill me like you killed that Egyptian yesterday?" <sup>29</sup>When Moses heard this, he fled to Midian, where he lived as an immigrant and had two sons.

Jesus were circumcised on the eighth day after birth, according to Jewish Law (Luke 1:57-59; 2:21). The question of whether Gentiles need to be circumcised becomes a major issue in Acts (see Acts 10:44-11:3; 15:1-5; 16:1-3). 7:9-16 See Joseph's story in Genesis 37-50.

7:9 patriarchs were jealous: Joseph's 10 older brothers became jealous of the special favor shown him by their father, Jacob, and by God (Gen 37:1-10). Compare with the jealousy of the priestly leaders against the apostles in Acts 5:17.

7:10 grace and wisdom: the same qualities that characterized Jesus (Luke 2:40, 52), Stephen (Acts 6:3, 5, 8-10), and Moses (Acts 7:20, 22).

7:16 Shechem: a major Samaritan center. This reference may anticipate the mission to Samaria in Acts 8:4-25 (cf. Acts 1:8; 15:3). On Shechem as the burial place for Israel's ancestors, see Joshua 24:32. For different burial traditions linked with Mamre in Hebron, see Genesis 23:1-20; 25:9; 49:29-33; 50:13-14.

7:17-44 See Moses' extensive story in Exodus through Deuteronomy. Stephen recounts Moses' career in three 40-year segments: (1) born and raised in Egypt through age 40, when he was forced to flee to Midian (7:17-29); (2) called by God Forty years later to lead the Israelites out of Egypt (7:30-35); and (3) led the Israelites on a 40-year journey through the wilderness (7:36-44).

7:19 exploited our people: Moses was born during hard times for his people in Egypt. The new pharaoh had enslaved the Israelites (Hebrews) and ordered all newborn Israelite boys to be drowned in the Nile River (Exod 1:8-22). 7:20-21 favored by God: As with Abraham and Joseph, God watched over Moses and blessed him in a land outside of Israel. Pharaoh's daughter adopted and cared for him: Not all Egyptians wanted to destroy the Israelites. Pharaoh's own daughter rescued the baby Moses from the Nile and raised him as her own son (Exod 2:1-10).

7:25 expected his own kin to understand . . . but they didn't: the start of the Israelites' habit of rejecting Moses as their God-appointed leader and deliverer.

7:29 Midian: desert region in the Sinai Peninsula. As Joseph was forced away from his family by jealous brothers, so Moses had to flee from resentful kinfolk who resisted his leadership.

7:30 angel appeared to Moses: Angels continued to help Moses in delivering his people (Acts 7:35) and giving them God's word (Acts 7:38, 53).

7:32 God of your ancestors: See note on Acts 3:13. Trembling with fear: typical human response to a surprising

Jacob.<sup>60</sup> Trembling with fear, Moses didn't dare to investigate any further. <sup>33</sup>The Lord continued, 'Remove the sandals from your feet, for the place where you are standing is holy ground. <sup>34</sup>I have clearly seen the oppression my people have experienced in Egypt, and I have heard their groaning. I have come down to rescue them. Come! I am sending you to Egypt.'<sup>6</sup>

<sup>35</sup>'This is the same Moses whom they rejected when they asked, 'Who appointed you as our leader and judge?' This is the Moses whom God sent as leader and deliverer. God did this with the help of the angel who appeared before him in the bush. <sup>36</sup>This man led them out after he performed wonders and signs in Egypt at the Red Sea and for forty years in the wilderness. <sup>37</sup>This is the Moses who told the Israelites, 'God will raise up for you a prophet like me from your own people.'<sup>9</sup> <sup>38</sup>This is the one who was in the assembly in the wilderness with our ancestors and with the angel who spoke to him on Mount Sinai. He is the one who received life-giving words to give to us. <sup>39</sup>He's also the one whom our ancestors refused to obey. Instead, they pushed him aside and, in their thoughts and desires, returned to Egypt. <sup>40</sup>They told Aaron, 'Make us gods that will lead us. As for this Moses who led us out of Egypt, we don't know what's happened to him!'<sup>41</sup> That's when they made an idol in the shape of a calf, offered a sacrifice to it, and began to celebrate what they had made with their own hands. <sup>42</sup>So God turned away from them and handed them over to worship the stars in the sky, just as it is written in the scroll of the Prophets:

Did you bring sacrifices and offerings to me for forty years in the wilderness, house of Israel?

<sup>43</sup>No! Instead, you took the tent of Moloch with you, and the star of your god Rephan, the images that you made in order to worship them.

Therefore, I will send you far away, farther than Babylon.<sup>4</sup>

<sup>44</sup>'The tent of testimony was with our ancestors in the wilderness. Moses built it just as he had been instructed by the one who spoke to him and according to the pattern he had seen. <sup>45</sup>In time, when they had received the tent, our ancestors carried it with them when, under Joshua's leadership, they took possession of the land from the nations whom God expelled. This tent remained in the land until the time of David. <sup>46</sup>God approved of David, who asked encounter with God and angels. It combines a swirl of emotions involving sheer terror as well as awe and respect (cf. Luke 1:12, 29-30; 2:8-10; 8:47; 24:4-5, 36-37).

7:33 the place... is holy ground: near Mount Sinai (Acts 7:30), another sacred site outside the land of Israel (see note on Acts 7:7).

7:34 I am sending you: The Lord directly sent Moses on a mission, as he did with Abraham (Acts 7:2-3) and as Jesus did with his followers (Luke 24:46-49; Acts 1:8).

7:35 Who appointed you: See Acts 7:27.

7:36 wonders and signs: The same language describes the miraculous works of Moses, Jesus (Acts 2:22), the apostles (Acts 2:43; 4:30; 5:12), and Stephen (Acts 6:8). wilderness: or "desert," off the beaten path; an important site of ministry, learning, and warning for God's people (see Num 24:20-22; Deut 2:7; 8:2-4, 29:5; 1 Kgs 19:3-15; Neh 9:21; Ps 95:8-11; Luke 3:2-6; 4:1-2; Acts 8:26; Heb 3:7-19).

7:37 raise up for you a prophet like me: See Acts 3:13-23, where Peter identifies this Moses-like prophet (promised in Deut 18:15) with the risen and returning Jesus.

7:38 life-giving words: God's Law for Israel. On the role of angels in helping Moses mediate this Law, see Acts 7:53; Deuteronomy 33:2-4 LXX; Galatians 3:19; Hebrews 2:2.

7:40 Aaron: brother of Moses and his chief spokesman to the people (Exod 4:10-16). we don't know what's happened to him!: Over the 40 straight days and nights Moses spent talking with God on Mount Sinai, the people increasingly worried about whether he would ever return to lead them (see Exod 24:18; 32:1, 23).

7:41 made an idol... with their own hands: Making an image of another god and worshipping it marked an obvious violation of the first two of the Ten Commandments (Exod 20:3-5; Deut 5:7-9). By offering a sacrifice to a human-made object, people were serving themselves and their own creation rather than the Creator God who had made them and everything in the world (cf. Acts 17:22-29).

7:42 scroll of the Prophets: The 12 shortest prophetic writings in the Jewish scriptures were gathered into a single book. The quotation that follows is from Amos 5:25-27 in this collection.

7:43 Moloch... Rephan: Moloch (or Molech) was a Canaanite god associated in the OT with despicable practices of child sacrifice (Lev 18:21; 20:2-5; 2 Kgs 23:10; Jer 32:35). The god Rephan is otherwise unknown. Babylon: a change from "Damascus" in Amos 5:27. Babylon was the capital of a powerful empire that destroyed Jerusalem and its temple in 587 BCE and took many of Judah's citizens into exile.

7:44 tent of testimony: Contrast with "tent of Moloch" in Acts 7:43. The tent of testimony was the portable structure, built according to God's specifications, that the Israelites carried on their wilderness journey (Acts 7:45). Here Moses would meet and talk with God on the people's behalf (see Exod 33:7-11).

7:45 Joshua's leadership: Joshua was Moses' immediate successor. The OT book of Joshua describes how he led the Israelites' entry and settlement in the promised land.

that he might provide a dwelling place for the God of Jacob.<sup>47</sup> But it was Solomon who actually built a house for God.<sup>48</sup> However, the Most High doesn't live in houses built by human hands. As the prophet says,

and the earth is my footstool.

'What kind of house will you build for me,' says the Lord,
'or where is my resting place?'

"You stubborn people! In your thoughts and hearing, you are like those who have had no part in God's covenant! You continuously set yourself against the Holy Spirit, just like your ancestors did.<sup>52</sup> Was there a single prophet your ancestors didn't harass? They even killed those who predicted the coming of the righteous one, and you've betrayed and murdered him!<sup>53</sup> You received the Law given by angels, but you haven't kept it."

The church scatters

At that time, the church in Jerusalem began to be subjected to vicious harassment. Everyone except the apostles was scattered throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria.<sup>2</sup> Some pious men buried Stephen and deeply grieved over him.<sup>3</sup> Saul began to wreak havoc against the church. Entering one house after another, he would drag off both men and women and throw them into prison.

Philip in Samaria

<sup>4</sup>Those who had been scattered moved on, preaching the good news along the way.<sup>5</sup> Philip went down to a city in Samaria<sup>6</sup> and began to preach Christ to them.<sup>6</sup> The crowds were

God: the fixed temple structure in Jerusalem proposed by David and built by his son Solomon. It replaced the moveable tent of testimony as the center of Israelite worship.

7:48 houses built by human hands: Stephen associates the Jerusalem temple with human-made idols like the golden calf (Acts 7:41), unworthy of the Most High Creator God (cf. Acts 17:24; 19:26). This would have been a serious challenge to the beliefs and practices of his council audience.

7:49-50 This quotation (Isa 66:1-2) stresses that God lives in the entire universe God created. Therefore, no human-made structure can contain God.

7:51-53 Stephen shifts from telling Israel's history to accusing his council audience of stubbornly rejecting God's covenant and killing Jesus, the righteous one (see note on Acts 3:14).

7:52 Jesus had also been sad about Israel's habit of violently resisting God's prophets (Luke 11:47-51; 13:33-34).

7:53 Law given by angels: See note on Acts 7:38.

7:54-8:1 The council's hostile reaction to Stephen's testimony, prompting his death by stoning. The scene appears to be more like a mob lynching than a legal act of capital punishment.

7:54 grind their teeth: gesture of vicious opposition to God and God's messengers (cf. Pss 35:16; 112:10; Luke 13:28).

7:55-56 Jesus... the Human One standing at God's right side: On Jesus' exalted position at God's right side, the place of highest honor and power, see Acts 2:33; 5:31. Stephen's vision of Jesus standing in this place is unusual; typically, Jesus is seen as seated at God's right side (Luke 20:42; 22:69; Acts 2:34; Eph 1:20; Col 3:1; Heb 1:3, 13; 8:1; 10:1; 12:2).

7:58 young man named Saul: the first appearance of a major character, also known as Paul (Acts 13:9). Saul supports the brutal death of Stephen (cf. Acts 8:1), either as supervisor of the proceedings or simply as caretaker of the executioners' coats.

7:59-60 Stephen's dying words recall Jesus' prayers from the cross in Luke 23:34, 46.

8:1-3 Saul launches a terrorist campaign against the church (cf. Acts 9:1-2), forcing believers to flee from Jerusalem.

8:4-25 The forced flight from Jerusalem yields positive results, as those who scatter begin to preach in outlying areas. Philip, one of the seven chosen to oversee the church's food service (Acts 6:5), proclaims the good news in Samaria. This fulfills Jesus' outreach plan in Acts 1:8.

8:5 Samaria: center of the Samaritans, a faction within Israel in sharp conflict with most Jews (see Luke 9:51-56; 10:25-37; 17:11-19). A major source of tension was over holy ground. Samaritans worshipped God on Mount united by what they heard Philip say and the signs they saw him perform, and they gave him their undivided attention. <sup>7</sup>With loud shrieks, unclean spirits came out of many people, and many who were paralyzed or crippled were healed. <sup>8</sup>There was great rejoicing in that city.

<sup>9</sup>Before Philip's arrival, a certain man named Simon had practiced sorcery in that city and baffled the people of Samaria. He claimed to be a great person. <sup>10</sup>Everyone, from the least to the greatest, gave him their undivided attention and referred to him as "the power of God called Great." <sup>11</sup>He had their attention because he had baffled them with sorcery for a long time. <sup>12</sup>After they came to believe Philip, who preached the good news about God's kingdom and the name of Jesus Christ, both men and women were baptized. <sup>13</sup>Even Simon himself came to believe and was baptized. Afterward, he became one of Philip's supporters. As he saw firsthand the signs and great miracles that were happening, he was astonished.

<sup>14</sup>When word reached the apostles in Jerusalem that Samaria had accepted God's word, they commissioned Peter and John to go to Samaria. <sup>15</sup>Peter and John went down to Samaria where they prayed that the new believers would receive the Holy Spirit. (<sup>16</sup>This was because the Holy Spirit had not yet fallen on any of them; they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.) <sup>17</sup>So Peter and John laid their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

<sup>18</sup>When Simon perceived that the Spirit was given through the laying on of the apostles' hands, he offered them money. <sup>19</sup>He said, "Give me this authority too so that anyone on whom I lay my hands will receive the Holy Spirit."

<sup>20</sup>Peter responded, "May your money be condemned to hell along with you because you believed you could buy God's gift with money! <sup>21</sup>You can have no part or share in God's word because your heart isn't right with God. <sup>22</sup>Therefore, change your heart and life! Turn from your wickedness! Plead with the Lord in the hope that your wicked intent can be forgiven, <sup>23</sup>for I see that your bitterness has poisoned you and evil has you in chains."

<sup>24</sup>Simon replied, "All of you, please, plead to the Lord for me so that nothing of what you have said will happen to me!" <sup>25</sup>After the apostles had testified and proclaimed the Lord's word, they returned to Jerusalem, preaching the good news to many Samaritan villages along the way.

God's Gift of the Holy Spirit When the apostles lay their hands (see note on Acts 6:6) on people to impart the Holy Spirit, this signifies the bond between the Jewish church in Jerusalem and these new Samaritan believers (Acts 8:14-17). The Samaritans receive the same Spirit that Jesus' earliest followers did on Pentecost (Acts 2:1-4). Similar outpourings of the Spirit show God's blessing of Gentiles (Acts 10:44-48; 11:15-17) and disciples of John the Baptist (Acts 19:1-7). The Spirit serves as the primary agent of unity across social and cultural lines (see sidebar, "Receiving the Spirit at Pentecost" at Acts 2).

The Spirit operates in various ways to bring unity. The basic pattern links receiving the Spirit with having faith and being baptized in Jesus' name (Acts 2:38), but the timing is flexible. The Samaritans receive the Spirit some time after being baptized (Acts 8:16), while some Gentiles suddenly receive the Spirit in the middle of Peter's sermon, before they are baptized (Acts 10:44-45; 11:15). These differences stress the element of surprise and freedom of the Holy Spirit as God's gift.

Gerizim (near Shechem) and rejected the Jerusalem temple (cf. John 4:19-20).

8:9-10 claimed to be a great person . . . "the power of God called Great": amounts to an arrogant claim to be like a god. Philip preaches Christ to the Samaritans (Acts 8:5), but Simon promotes himself.

8:9 Simon had practiced sorcery: Simon had become a popular local figure (Acts 8:10-11) by practicing magical arts. These included works of healing, fortune-telling, cursing enemies, and other assorted tricks (cf. Acts 13:6-10; 16:16-18; 19:18-20).

8:12 God's kingdom: the righteous rule of God established in Christ (see note on Acts 1:3).

8:13 saw firsthand the signs and great miracles: Above all Simon is impressed by Philip's miraculous works. This attitude brings into question the sincerity of Simon's baptism and support of Philip's message. See Acts 8:18-24 for Simon's true motive.

8:18-24 Peter clashes with Simon the sorcerer over the ability to give the Holy Spirit, which Simon tries to buy.

8:20 May your money be condemned: The danger of misusing money is a major theme in Luke's writings (Luke 3:13-14; 11:42; 12:13-34; 16:1-14, 19-31; 18:18-30; 19:8-9, 11-27, 45-46; 20:20-26, 47; 21:1-4; 22:3-5; Acts 1:18-19; 5:1-11; 16:16-24; 19:18-20, 23-28). Simon's error is presuming he can purchase and control God's power for his own ends. Peter makes it clear that the Holy Spirit is God's gift and isn't for sale.

8:21 no part or share in God's word: like the greedy Judas, who forfeited his "share of this ministry" (Acts 1:17).

8:22 change your heart and life: See note on Acts 2:38.

8:23 your bitterness has poisoned you: See Deuteronomy

Philip and the Ethiopian eunuch

<sup>30</sup>Running up to the carriage, Philip heard the man reading the prophet Isaiah. He asked, "Do you really understand what you are reading?"

<sup>31</sup>The man replied, "Without someone to guide me, how could I?" Then he invited Philip to climb up and sit with him. <sup>32</sup>This was the passage of scripture he was reading:

Like a sheep he was led to the slaughter and like a lamb before its shearer is silent so he didn't open his mouth.

Who can tell the story of his descendants because his life was taken from the earth?"

<sup>34</sup>The eunuch asked Philip, "Tell me, about whom does the prophet say this? Is he talking about himself or someone else?" <sup>35</sup>Starting with that passage, Philip proclaimed the good news about Jesus to him. <sup>36</sup>As they went down the road, they came to some water.

The eunuch said, "Look! Water! What would keep me from being baptized?" <sup>38</sup>He ordered that the carriage halt. Both Philip and the eunuch went down to the water, where Philip baptized him. <sup>39</sup>When they came up out of the water, the Lord's Spirit suddenly took Philip away. The eunuch never saw him again but went on his way rejoicing. <sup>40</sup>Philip found himself in Azotus. He traveled through that area, preaching the good news in all the cities until he reached Caesarea.

Saul encounters the risen Jesus

9 Meanwhile, Saul was still spewing out murderous threats against the Lord's disciples. He went to the high priest, <sup>2</sup>seeking letters to the synagogues in Damascus. If he found persons who belonged to the Way, whether men or women, these letters would authorize him to take them as prisoners to Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>During the journey, as he approached Damascus,

<sup>a</sup>Or travel south along <sup>b</sup>Isa 53:7-8 <sup>c</sup>Critical editions of the Gk New Testament do not include 8:37 Philip said to him, "If you believe with all your heart, you can be." The eunuch answered, "I believe that Jesus Christ is God's Son."

29:13, a warning to those who turn away from Israel's Lord to false gods.

8:26 4:3 Philip meets and baptizes a eunuch from Ethiopia.

9:26 At noon, take the road... a desert road: an unlikely time (the hottest part of the day) and place to meet a traveler. This is a special meeting arranged by the Lord's angel and Spirit (8:26, 29). See note on Acts 7:36. Gaza: city southwest of Jerusalem in lower Judea, four miles from the Mediterranean coast.

8:27 Ethiopian: resident of the African land of Ethiopia, located south of Egypt. It was also known in biblical times as Cush and Nubia, and regarded as a distant land at the ends of the earth. from Jerusalem, where he had come to worship: Many Gentiles in the ancient world were attracted to Israel's God and Jewish moral teachings, without becoming converts (cf. Acts 10:1-4, 22, 35; 13:16, 26, 50; 16:14; 17:4; 18:7). eunuch: As a castrated male, a eunuch was unable to participate fully in temple worship and Israel's covenant community (Lev 21:18-20; Deut 23:1). However, two biblical texts held out hope for the restoration and inclusion of devout eunuchs (Isa 56:3-4; Wis 3:14). official... of Candace: Eunuchs could rise to high positions in ancient courts, especially in the service of female rulers.

8:28 carriage: or "chariot"; a horse-drawn mode of travel appropriate for a person of wealth and authority.

8:30 heard... reading the prophet Isaiah: People typically read aloud in the ancient world. Jesus read aloud and commented on a passage from Isaiah at the beginning of his ministry (Luke 4:16-21; Isa 66:1-2; 58:6). Isaiah is an important book in Luke's writings.

8:32-35 Philip applies the passage the eunuch is reading (Isa 53:7-8) to Jesus. What Philip says, however, isn't reported. A likely connection would have been the shared shame and rejection suffered by the eunuch, the figure in Isaiah 52:13-53:12, and the crucified Jesus.

8:39 the Lord's Spirit suddenly took Philip away: recalls the miraculous transport of Elijah (1 Kgs 18:12; 2 Kgs 2:11) and Jesus (Luke 24:31, 36-37, 51; Acts 1:9).

8:40 Caesarea: Caesarea Maritima was a port city built by Herod the Great and dedicated to the Roman emperor (Caesar). It became the provincial capital of Roman Judea.

9:1-31 In a remarkable change of course, the hostile Saul is confronted by the risen Jesus, becomes a disciple, and begins to preach the good news about Jesus.

9:1-2 Continuation of Saul's terror campaign against the early church (cf. Acts 8:1-3).

9:2 Damascus: major city in Syria, northeast of Israel. the Way: a designation for Jesus' followers (Acts 19:9, 23; 22:4; 24:14, 22; cf. 18:25-26). It may refer to their belief that Jesus reveals the way to God (cf. John 14:6) and the way that God's people should live (cf. Deut 10:12; 30:16; Prov 3:5-6).

suddenly a light from heaven encircled him. <sup>4</sup>He fell to the ground and heard a voice asking him, "Saul, Saul, why are you harassing me?"

<sup>5</sup>Saul asked, "Who are you, Lord?"

"I am Jesus, whom you are harassing," came the reply. <sup>6</sup>"Now get up and enter the city. You will be told what you must do."

<sup>7</sup>Those traveling with him stood there speechless; they heard the voice but saw no one.

<sup>8</sup>After they picked Saul up from the ground, he opened his eyes but he couldn't see. So they led him by the hand into Damascus. <sup>9</sup>For three days he was blind and neither ate nor drank anything.

<sup>10</sup>In Damascus there was a certain disciple named Ananias. The Lord spoke to him in a vision, "Ananias!"

He answered, "Yes, Lord."

<sup>17</sup>Ananias went to the house. He placed his hands on Saul and said, "Brother Saul, the Lord sent me—Jesus, who appeared to you on the way as you were coming here. He sent me so that you could see again and be filled with the Holy Spirit." <sup>18</sup>Instantly, flakes fell from Saul's eyes and he could see again. He got up and was baptized. <sup>19</sup>After eating, he regained his strength.

He stayed with the disciples in Damascus for several days. <sup>20</sup>Right away, he began to preach about Jesus in the synagogues. "He is God's Son," he declared.

<sup>21</sup>Everyone who heard him was baffled. They questioned each other, "Isn't he the one who was wreaking havoc among those in Jerusalem who called on this name? Hadn't he come here to take those same people as prisoners to the chief priests?"

9:4 I am Jesus, whom you are harassing: a direct appearance of the risen Jesus to Saul. Even after his ascension to heaven (Acts 1:9-11), Jesus remains concerned about events on earth. In particular, he strongly identifies with his harassed followers and moves to help them (cf. Acts 7:55-60).

9:9 For three days he was blind: reflects the intensity of Saul's life-changing vision of the risen Jesus. The three-day period may recall Jesus' time in the grave before his resurrection (Luke 9:22; 18:33; 24:7, 46). From now on, Saul will see Jesus and the world differently. neither ate nor drank anything: Fasting was a common spiritual practice, particularly for focusing attention at times of crisis and decision making (Judg 20:26; 2 Sam 1:12; 12:16-22; Jdt 4:13; 8:6; Luke 4:1-2; Acts 13:2-3; 14:23).

9:10 In Damascus... certain disciple named Ananias: Some of the scattered members of the Jerusalem church (Acts 8:1, 4) had probably settled in Damascus. But Acts gives no report of Ananias' or any other disciples' settling there. In Saul's flashback in Acts 22:12, we learn that Ananias is a pious observer of the Law and well respected by the Jewish community. vision: The Lord appears to Ananias soon after appearing to Saul. In this way, the Lord prepares Ananias for Saul's visit. For other examples of this way of using two visions to bring people together, see Acts 9:12; 10:1-33.

9:11 Straight Street: This was likely a real roadway in ancient Damascus, but it may also carry symbolic significance in the story as the place where Saul's life was straightened out (cf. Luke 3:4-5). Tarsus: Saul's hometown, "an important city" (Acts 21:39) and port in the province of Cilicia in southeastern Asia Minor.

9:13 holy people: those set apart for serving God, applied to Jesus' disciples here and in Acts 9:32, 41; 26:10.

9:15 agent I have chosen: The risen Lord not only stops Saul's campaign of harassing the church, he also calls Saul to the new work of preaching about Jesus before Gentiles as well as Jews. For Saul/Paul's own account of his commission to the Gentiles, see Galatians 1:13-16.

9:17 filled with the Holy Spirit: Compare with Acts 2:4; 4:31; 6:3, 5.

9:23-24 See Saul/Paul's own account in 2 Corinthians 11:32-33.

9:23 hatched a plot to kill Saul: The harasser becomes the harassed. This fulfills the Lord's forecast in Acts 9:16 concerning "how much [Saul] must suffer for the sake of my name."

found out about their scheme. They were keeping watch at the city gates around the clock so they could assassinate him. <sup>25</sup>But his disciples took him by night and lowered him in a basket through an opening in the city wall.

<sup>26</sup>When Saul arrived in Jerusalem, he tried to join the disciples, but they were all afraid of him. They didn't believe he was really a disciple. <sup>27</sup>Then Barnabas brought Saul to the apostles and told them the story about how Saul saw the Lord on the way and that the Lord had spoken to Saul. He also told them about the confidence with which Saul had preached in the name of Jesus in Damascus. <sup>28</sup>After this, Saul moved freely among the disciples in Jerusalem and was speaking with confidence in the name of the Lord. <sup>29</sup>He got into debates with the Greek-speaking Jews as well, but they tried to kill him. <sup>30</sup>When the family of believers learned about this, they escorted him down to Caesarea and sent him off to Tarsus.

<sup>31</sup>Then the church throughout Judea, Galilee, and Samaria enjoyed a time of peace. God strengthened the church, and its life was marked by reverence for the Lord. Encouraged by the Holy Spirit, the church continued to grow in numbers.

Peter heals and raises the dead

<sup>32</sup>As Peter toured the whole region, he went to visit God's holy people in Lydda. <sup>33</sup>There he found a man named Aeneas who was paralyzed and had been confined to his bed for eight years. <sup>34</sup>Peter said to him, "Aeneas, Jesus Christ heals you! Get up and make your bed." At once he got up. <sup>35</sup>Everyone who lived in Lydda and Sharon saw him and turned to the Lord.

<sup>36</sup>In Joppa there was a disciple named Tabitha (in Greek her name is Dorcas). Her life overflowed with good works and compassionate acts on behalf of those in need. <sup>37</sup>About that time, though, she became so ill that she died. After they washed her body, they laid her in an upstairs room. <sup>38</sup>Since Lydda was near Joppa, when the disciples heard that Peter was there, they sent two people to Peter. They urged, "Please come right away!" <sup>39</sup>Peter went with them. Upon his arrival, he was taken to the upstairs room. All the widows stood beside him, crying as they showed the tunics and other clothing Dorcas made when she was alive.

<sup>40</sup>Peter sent everyone out of the room, then knelt and prayed. He turned to the body and said, "Tabitha, get up!" She opened her eyes, saw Peter, and sat up. <sup>41</sup>He gave her his hand and raised her up. Then he called God's holy people, including the widows, and presented her alive to them. <sup>42</sup>The news spread throughout Joppa, and many put their faith in the Lord.

9:26 didn't believe he was really a disciple: Ananias (Acts 9:13-14) and the Jews in Damascus (Acts 9:21) also doubt at first the sincerity of Saul's faith in Jesus.

9:27 Barnabas: recalls Acts 4:36-37. Here Barnabas lives up to his nickname as "one who encourages" (Acts 4:36).

9:29 debates with the Greek-speaking Jews... but they tried to kill him: ironically similar to the opposition Stephen faced earlier from Saul and Greek-speaking Jews in Jerusalem (Acts 6:9-14; 7:54-8:1).

9:31 Another summary statement of the church's peace and progress after a time of conflict.

9:32-42 Peter performs two uplifting miracles in the coastal area of Judea: (1) healing a paralyzed man named Aeneas at Lydda (9:32-35); and (2) resuscitating a dead woman named Tabitha/Dorcas in Joppa (9:36-42).

9:32 God's holy people: also in Acts 9:41; see note on Acts 9:13. Lydda: important Jewish commercial and academic center in a fertile region of Judea about 10 miles from the Mediterranean coast.

9:33 paralyzed: See Luke 5:17-26; Acts 3:1-10; 8:7; 14:8-10.

9:34 Jesus Christ heals you! Get up: Compare with Acts 3:6.

9:36 Joppa: important Mediterranean port in Israel 35 miles northwest of Jerusalem. In Jewish tradition Joppa (or Jaffa) is best known as the place where the prophet Jonah boarded a ship in his attempt to avoid his God-ordered mission to the Gentiles (Ninevites) (see Jon 1:1-3). disciple named Tabitha... Dorcas: Her Aramaic (Tabitha) and Greek (Dorcas) names both mean "gazelle."

9:37 upstairs room: Compare with Acts 1:13; 9:39; 20:8; Luke 22:12.

9:39 widows... showed the tunics and other clothing Dorcas made: On the care of widows, see note on Acts 6:1; on the vital work of clothing the needy, see Matthew 25:36-46; Luke 3:11; 12:27-28.

9:40-41 Compare with the miracles of raising the dead performed by Elijah (1 Kgs 17:17-24), Elisha (2 Kgs 4:17-37), Jesus (Luke 7:11-17; 8:49-56; John 11:38-44), and Paul (Acts 20:7-12).

9:43 tanner: one who processed animal skins for use in making clothes, tents, writing tablets, and other materials. Tanning was messy, smelly work. In Jewish society tanners would have been ritually unclean most of the time because of their contact with dead animals (cf. Lev 11:24-28; Num 5:1-3; 9:6-10; 19:11-22).

Peter, Cornelius, and the Gentiles

10 There was a man in Caesarea named Cornelius, a centurion in the Italian Company.<sup>a</sup> 2He and his whole household were pious, Gentile God-worshippers. He gave generously to those in need among the Jewish people and prayed to God constantly. 3One day at nearly three o'clock in the afternoon, he clearly saw an angel from God in a vision. The angel came to him and said, "Cornelius!"

4Startled, he stared at the angel and replied, "What is it, Lord?"

The angel said, "Your prayers and your compassionate acts are like a memorial offering to God. 5Send messengers to Joppa at once and summon a certain Simon, the one known as Peter. 6He is a guest of Simon the tanner, whose house is near the seacoast." 7When the angel who was speaking to him had gone, Cornelius summoned two of his household servants along with a pious soldier from his personal staff. 8He explained everything to them, then sent them to Joppa.

9At noon on the following day, as their journey brought them close to the city, Peter went up on the roof to pray. 10He became hungry and wanted to eat. While others were preparing the meal, he had a visionary experience. 11He saw heaven opened up and something like a large linen sheet being lowered to the earth by its four corners. 12Inside the sheet were all kinds of four-legged animals, reptiles, and wild birds.<sup>b</sup> 13A voice told him, "Get up, Peter! Kill and eat!"

14Peter exclaimed, "Absolutely not, Lord! I have never eaten anything impure or unclean."

15The voice spoke a second time, "Never consider unclean what God has made pure." 16This happened three times, then the object was suddenly pulled back into heaven.

17Peter was bewildered about the meaning of the vision. Just then, the messengers sent by Cornelius discovered the whereabouts of Simon's house and arrived at the gate. 18Calling out, they inquired whether the Simon known as Peter was a guest there.

19While Peter was brooding over the vision, the Spirit interrupted him, "Look! Three people are looking for you. 20Go downstairs. Don't ask questions; just go with them because I have sent them."

21So Peter went downstairs and told them, "I'm the one you are looking for. Why have you come?"

22They replied, "We've come on behalf of Cornelius, a centurion and righteous man, a God-worshipper who is well-respected by all Jewish people. A holy angel directed him to summon you to his house and to hear what you have to say." 23Peter invited them into the house as his guests.

10:1-48 God arranges for Peter to visit the home of Cornelius, a Roman officer. During that meeting, the Holy Spirit is poured out on this Gentile household, just as on the Jewish believers at Pentecost (10:44-48).

10:1 centurion: Roman military commander over 100 soldiers (see Acts 22:25-26; 23:23; 24:23; 27:1-6; Luke 7:1-10; 23:47). Italian Company: larger military unit of about 600 soldiers. A centurion in this regiment was likely a Roman citizen of ample wealth and standing.

10:2 whole household: included servants and staff (Acts 10:7) as well as family members (Acts 10:24). Gentile God-worshippers: like the Ethiopian eunuch; see note on Acts 8:27 (cf. Acts 10:22).

10:3 three o'clock in the afternoon: a set hour of daily prayer for pious Jews; see note on Acts 3:1. angel from God in a vision: For similar encounters with angelic figures, see Acts 1:9-11; 5:19-20; 12:7-11; 27:23-24; Luke 1:10-20, 26-38; 9:28-34; 24:4-7.

10:4 memorial offering: prompting God to remember Cornelius and treat him favorably.

10:5 Simon, the one known as Peter: the first mention in Acts of his birth name, Simon (cf. Luke 4:38; 5:3-10; 6:14; 22:31). Peter, meaning "rock," was the nickname Jesus gave him (Matt 16:17-18; Luke 6:14). Here Simon Peter is distinguished from "Simon the tanner" (Acts 10:6).

10:6 tanner: See note on Acts 9:43.

10:9 roof: typically flat and covered with some mixture of mud, clay, and straw. Housetops were common places for rest and privacy.

10:10 visionary experience: Peter's experience pairs with Cornelius' vision to bring the two characters together, as with Saul and Ananias in Acts 9:3-12 (see note on Acts 9:10).

10:12 Common classifications of the animal world (cf. Gen 1:20-25; 6:20; Lev 11:46-47; Rom 1:23). Jews were forbidden to eat some, but not necessarily all, of the creatures shown to Peter (cf. Acts 10:14).

10:14 impure or unclean: not a moral category applied to something sinful or dirty, but a ritual description of things outside the center of God's holy presence. Kosher laws that prohibited eating certain unclean foods (Lev 11:1-47; Deut 14:3-21) reminded the Jews of their covenant relationship with God, of being set apart for God's service.

10:19 On the guidance of the Spirit, see Acts 8:29; 11:12; 15:28; 16:6-7; 19:21; 20:22-23; 21:4, 11; Luke 4:1, 14.

10:22 righteous man: precisely what another centurion called Jesus at the cross in Luke 23:47. well-respected by all Jewish people: like the centurion who had built a synagogue for the Jews in Capernaum (Luke 7:4).

10:23 some of the believers from Joppa: These fellow Jewish believers accompanying Peter are witnesses to the

The next day he got up and went with them, together with some of the believers from Joppa. <sup>24</sup>They arrived in Caesarea the following day. Anticipating their arrival, Cornelius had gathered his relatives and close friends. <sup>25</sup>As Peter entered the house, Cornelius met him and fell at his feet in order to honor him. <sup>26</sup>But Peter lifted him up, saying, "Get up! Like you, I'm just a human." <sup>27</sup>As they continued to talk, Peter went inside and found a large gathering of people. <sup>28</sup>He said to them, "You all realize that it is forbidden for a Jew to associate or visit with outsiders. However, God has shown me that I should never call a person impure or unclean. <sup>29</sup>For this reason, when you sent for me, I came without objection. I want to know, then, why you sent for me."

<sup>34</sup>Peter said, "I really am learning that God doesn't show partiality to one group of people over another. <sup>35</sup>Rather, in every nation, whoever worships him and does what is right is acceptable to him. <sup>36</sup>This is the message of peace he sent to the Israelites by proclaiming the good news through Jesus Christ: He is Lord of all! <sup>37</sup>You know what happened throughout Judea, beginning in Galilee after the baptism John preached. <sup>38</sup>You know about Jesus of Nazareth, whom God anointed with the Holy Spirit and endowed with power. Jesus traveled around doing good and healing everyone oppressed by the devil because God was with him. <sup>39</sup>We are witnesses of everything he did, both in Judea and in Jerusalem. They killed him by hanging him on a tree, <sup>40</sup>but God raised him up on the third day and allowed him to be seen, <sup>41</sup>not by everyone but by us. We are witnesses whom God chose beforehand, who ate and drank with him after God raised him from the dead. <sup>42</sup>He commanded us to preach to the people and to testify that he is the one whom God appointed as judge of the living and the dead. <sup>43</sup>All the prophets testify about him that everyone who believes in him receives forgiveness of sins through his name."

<sup>44</sup>While Peter was still speaking, the Holy Spirit fell on everyone who heard the word. <sup>45</sup>The circumcised believers who had come with Peter were astonished that the gift of the Holy Spirit had been poured out even on the Gentiles. <sup>46</sup>They heard them speaking in other languages and praising God. Peter asked, <sup>47</sup>"These people have received the Holy Spirit just as we have. Surely no one can stop them from being baptized with water, can they?"

surprising events that occur in Cornelius' house (Acts 10:45-46; 11:12).

10:25 Cornelius ... fell at his feet: an extraordinary act of submission to an ordinary Jew (Peter) by a Roman officer accustomed to giving orders and exerting authority (cf. Luke 7:6-8).

10:28 forbidden for a Jew to associate ... with outsiders: a narrow policy of social relations not shared by all Jews. Outside Israel, Jews routinely associated with Gentiles in their daily lives. Gentiles were welcome in Jewish synagogues, and the Jerusalem temple provided space (the Court of the Gentiles) where Jews and Gentiles mingled. Perhaps Peter's extreme statement here reflects his particular aversion to visiting the home of a Roman officer. never call a person impure or unclean: The real point of Peter's vision wasn't to change his diet and view of animals but to change his attitude toward people. In God's eyes, all people are clean and worthy of respect.

10:30-33 Cornelius retells his vision and response to it (cf. Acts 10:3-8).

10:33 gathered in the presence of God: Cornelius affirms his and Peter's common faith in and fellowship with God.

10:34-43 Peter's speech to Cornelius and his household, focusing on God's impartial acceptance of people from all nations. Peter also repeats themes from previous speeches concerning Jesus' life, death, and resurrection.

10:34-35 God doesn't play favorites but instead treats everyone, including immigrants from other nations, with fairness and justice (cf. Deut 10:17-19; Rom 2:6-11).

10:39 hanging him on a tree: crucifying Jesus (Acts 13:29; see note on Acts 5:30).

10:41 ate and drank with him after God raised him: See Luke 24:36-43; Acts 1:3-4.

10:42 commanded us to preach: See Luke 24:44-48; Acts 1:8. the one whom God appointed as judge: See Acts 17:31.

10:44-48 The Holy Spirit is poured on the Gentiles in Cornelius' house, and they're baptized in Jesus' name. This experience, including speaking in other languages, mirrors that of the early Jewish believers on Pentecost (see sidebar, "Receiving the Spirit at Pentecost" at Acts 2).

10:44 While Peter was still speaking, the Holy Spirit fell: See sidebar, "God's Gift of the Holy Spirit" at Acts 8.

10:45 circumcised believers who had come with Peter: Compare with Acts 10:23; 11:12. Noting their circumcised status distinguishes these Jewish believers from the uncircumcised Gentile God-worshippers (Acts 11:2).

<sup>48</sup>He directed that they be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. Then they invited Peter to stay for several days.

Jerusalem church questions Peter

11 The apostles and the brothers and sisters throughout Judea heard that even the Gentiles had welcomed God's word. <sup>2</sup>When Peter went up to Jerusalem, the circumcised believers criticized him. <sup>3</sup>They accused him, "You went into the home of the uncircumcised and ate with them!"

<sup>4</sup>Step-by-step, Peter explained what had happened. <sup>5</sup>"I was in the city of Joppa praying when I had a visionary experience. In my vision, I saw something like a large linen sheet being lowered from heaven by its four corners. It came all the way down to me. <sup>6</sup>As I stared at it, wondering what it was, I saw four-legged animals—including wild beasts—as well as reptiles and wild birds. <sup>7</sup>I heard a voice say, 'Get up, Peter! Kill and eat!' <sup>8</sup>I responded, 'Absolutely not, Lord! Nothing impure or unclean has ever entered my mouth.' <sup>9</sup>The voice from heaven spoke a second time, 'Never consider unclean what God has made pure.' <sup>10</sup>This happened three times, then everything was pulled back into heaven. <sup>11</sup>At that moment three men who had been sent to me from Caesarea arrived at the house where we were staying. <sup>12</sup>The Spirit told me to go with them even though they were Gentiles. These six brothers also went with me, and we entered that man's house. <sup>13</sup>He reported to us how he had seen an angel standing in his house and saying, 'Send to Joppa and summon Simon, who is known as Peter. <sup>14</sup>He will tell you how you and your entire household can be saved.' <sup>15</sup>When I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell on them, just as the Spirit fell on us in the beginning. <sup>16</sup>I remembered the Lord's words: 'John will baptize with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit.' <sup>17</sup>If God gave them the same gift he gave us who believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, then who am I? Could I stand in God's way?"

<sup>18</sup>Once the apostles and other believers heard this, they calmed down. They praised God and concluded, "So then God has enabled Gentiles to change their hearts and lives so that they might have new life."

The Antioch church

<sup>19</sup>Now those who were scattered as a result of the trouble that occurred because of Stephen traveled as far as Phoenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch. They proclaimed the word only to Jews. <sup>20</sup>Among them were some people from Cyprus and Cyrene. They entered Antioch and began to proclaim the good news about the Lord Jesus also to Jews who spoke Greek. <sup>21</sup>The Lord's power was with them, and a large number came to believe and turned to the Lord.

10:48 directed that they be baptized: The baptized group is drawn from the "large gathering" of friends and relatives in Cornelius' home (Acts 10:24, 27). For other baptisms of entire households, see Acts 16:15, 33; 18:8. invited Peter to stay: sign of continuing fellowship between Jewish and Gentile believers. Peter's extended visit no doubt included sharing many meals with Cornelius and his household (cf. Acts 11:3).

11:1-18 Circumcised Jewish believers in the Jerusalem church criticize Peter's fellowship with the Gentiles. In his defense, Peter tells them about his visionary experience and visit to Cornelius' house, stressing that these events were caused by God and God's Spirit.

11:2 went up to Jerusalem: In Jewish tradition travel from any direction toward Jerusalem is upward. This fits the concept of the temple mount as the place of highest importance on earth.

11:12 six brothers also went with me: specifying the number of circumcised believers from Joppa who accompanied Peter to Cornelius' home (Acts 10:23, 45-46). These Jewish brothers in Christ could provide eyewitness confirmation of Peter's testimony.

11:16 See Acts 1:4-5.

11:18 change their hearts and lives: See note on Acts 2:38.

11:19-30 Unnamed missionaries establish a church in Antioch of Syria. Barnabas and Saul come and teach the new believers for a year. During a time of famine, the disciples in Antioch send financial aid to their Christian brothers and sisters in Judea.

11:19 those who were scattered: See Acts 8:1, 4.

11:20 Cyprus and Cyrene: Cyprus, an island in the eastern Mediterranean Sea, was the homeland of Barnabas (Acts 4:36) and another disciple named Mnason (Acts 21:16). Cyrene was a region in northern Africa near Libya. Jews from this area were represented at Pentecost (Acts 2:10). Antioch: third-largest city in the Roman Empire and capital of the province of Syria. It was a busy commercial and multicultural center, and had a sizable Jewish community.

11:21 large number came to believe: In addition to Greek-speaking Jews (Acts 11:20), the diverse population of Antioch and the developing plot of Acts suggest that Gentiles are also included among this large group of new believers. The Antioch church is a mixed Jewish-Gentile congregation.

<sup>22</sup>When the church in Jerusalem heard about this, they sent Barnabas to Antioch. <sup>23</sup>When he arrived and saw evidence of God's grace, he was overjoyed and encouraged everyone to remain fully committed to the Lord. <sup>24</sup>Barnabas responded in this way because he was a good man, whom the Holy Spirit had endowed with exceptional faith. A considerable number of people were added to the Lord. <sup>25</sup>Barnabas went to Tarsus in search of Saul. <sup>26</sup>When he found him, he brought him to Antioch. They were there for a whole year, meeting with the church and teaching large numbers of people. It was in Antioch where the disciples were first labeled "Christians."

<sup>27</sup>About that time, some prophets came down from Jerusalem to Antioch. <sup>28</sup>One of them, Agabus, stood up and, inspired by the Spirit, predicted that a severe famine would overtake the entire Roman world. (This occurred during Claudius' rule.) <sup>29</sup>The disciples decided they would send support to the brothers and sisters in Judea, with everyone contributing to this ministry according to each person's abundance. <sup>30</sup>They sent Barnabas and Saul to take this gift to the elders.

Herod imprisons Peter

12 About that time King Herod began to harass some who belonged to the church. <sup>2</sup>He had James, John's brother, killed with a sword. <sup>3</sup>When he saw that this pleased the Jews, he arrested Peter as well. This happened during the Festival of Unleavened Bread. <sup>4</sup>He put Peter in prison, handing him over to four squads of soldiers, sixteen in all, who guarded him. He planned to charge him publicly after the Passover. <sup>5</sup>While Peter was held in prison, the church offered earnest prayer to God for him.

<sup>6</sup>The night before Herod was going to bring Peter's case forward, Peter was asleep between two soldiers and bound with two chains, with soldiers guarding the prison entrance. <sup>7</sup>Suddenly an angel from the Lord appeared and a light shone in the prison cell. After nudging Peter on his side to awaken him, the angel raised him up and said, "Quick! Get up!" The chains fell from his wrists. <sup>8</sup>The angel continued, "Get dressed. Put on your sandals." Peter did as he was told. The angel said, "Put on your coat and follow me." <sup>9</sup>Following the angel, Peter left the prison. However, he didn't realize the angel had actually done all this. He thought he was seeing a vision. <sup>10</sup>They passed the first and second guards and came to the iron gate leading to the city. It opened for them by itself. After leaving the prison, they proceeded the length of one street, when abruptly the angel was gone.

12:10 Ac 5:19, Ac 16:26

11:22-23 Barnabas... encouraged everyone: Barnabas continues to live up to his nickname (Acts 4:36-37; 9:27).

11:25-26 Barnabas goes to Saul's hometown of Tarsus (Acts 9:11, 30) and brings him back to Antioch to help with the ministry there. Barnabas continues to act as Saul's supporter and mentor.

11:26 disciples were first labeled "Christians": or "ones belonging to Christ." The term appears elsewhere in the NT only in Acts 26:28 and 1 Peter 4:16. Originally, it seems to have been a label applied to Jesus' followers by outsiders.

11:28 Agabus: Judean prophet with a gift for Spirit-inspired predictions (see also Acts 21:10-11). severe famine... the entire Roman world: an exaggerated forecast. However, during this period local famines afflicted certain regions, including Judea. Claudius' rule: as emperor of Rome from 41 to 54 CE.

11:29-30 Providing financial aid to the needy continues to strengthen the bond of early Christian communities.

12:1-19 Peter's imprisonment by Herod and miraculous release by an angel from the Lord. After his escape, Peter goes to Mary's house where many believers have gathered in prayer.

12:1 King Herod: Agrippa I, grandson of Herod the Great, ruled over Judea as Rome's agent from 41 to 44 CE.

12:2-3 James, John's brother: sons of Zebedee, two of Jesus' 12 apostles and fishing partners with Simon Peter (Luke 5:10-11; 6:13-14; 9:28, 37, 54-55). the Jews: a shorthand label applied here to those Jerusalem Jews who opposed Jesus' followers (cf. Acts 12:11). But Peter, James, John, and the other earliest witnesses to Christ were also Jews, and many other Jews joined the Jerusalem church (Acts 2:41; 4:4). Festival of Unleavened Bread: another name for Passover (see Acts 12:4); a weeklong celebration of the Israelites' release from slavery in Egypt. Eating flatbread without leaven, or yeast, symbolizes readiness for escape: there's no time to wait for bread to rise (Exod 12:14-28, 33-39; 13:3-8). Jesus ate the Passover meal with his disciples on the night before his death (Luke 22:1, 7-13).

12:4 four squads of soldiers: probably working in shifts to guard Peter round-the-clock. This is a large security force for one prisoner.

12:5 the church offered earnest prayer: See Acts 12:12; compare with Acts 4:23-30, where the Jerusalem church prayed for courage after Peter and John were released from prison.

12:7-10 An angel leads Peter out of jail (cf. Acts 5:19-20).

12:7-8 "Quick! Get up!... Get dressed. Put on your sandals": echoing the Lord's instructions at the first Passover (Exod 12:11).

12:7 light shone: sign of a divine encounter (cf. Acts 9:3; 22:6, 11; 26:13).

12:9 thought he was seeing a vision: as in Acts 10:9-17; 11:5-10.

<sup>11</sup>At that, Peter came to his senses and remarked, "Now I'm certain that the Lord sent his angel and rescued me from Herod and from everything the Jewish people expected." <sup>12</sup>Realizing this, he made his way to Mary's house. (Mary was John's mother; he was also known as Mark.) Many believers had gathered there and were praying. <sup>13</sup>When Peter knocked at the outer gate, a female servant named Rhoda went to answer. <sup>14</sup>She was so overcome with joy when she recognized Peter's voice that she didn't open the gate. Instead, she ran back in and announced that Peter was standing at the gate.

<sup>15</sup>"You've lost your mind!" they responded. She stuck by her story with such determination that they began to say, "It must be his guardian angel." <sup>16</sup>Meanwhile, Peter remained outside, knocking at the gate. They finally opened the gate and saw him there, and they were astounded.

<sup>17</sup>He gestured with his hand to quiet them down, then recounted how the Lord led him out of prison. He said, "Tell this to James and the brothers and sisters." Then he left for another place.

Barnabas and Saul sent to minister

13The church at Antioch included prophets and teachers: Barnabas, Simeon (nicknamed Niger), Lucius from Cyrene, Manaen (a childhood friend of Herod the ruler),

12:12 Mary's house: This Mary was the mother of John Mark, not the mother of Jesus. She was the head of her household. The fact that Many believers had gathered in her Jerusalem home suggests Mary was a leader in this community.

12:13 outer gate: feature of a large house or villa. A courtyard would lie between the outer gate and the main residence. Rhoda: the only named female servant in Luke's writings (cf. Luke 22:56; Acts 2:18; 16:16).

12:15 guardian angel: divine messenger appointed to care for and protect individual human beings (see Gen 48:16; Job 33:23; Tob 5:21-22; 12:15-22; Matt 18:10).

12:17 James: Jesus' brother and a prominent leader of the Jerusalem church. His importance becomes clear in Acts 15:13-21; 21:18-26 (cf. Acts 1:14; 1 Cor 15:7; Gal 2:9, 12).

12:19 Herod... had them executed: another example of Herod's rash and ruthless behavior (cf. Acts 12:1-4).

12:20-23 Death of Herod (Agrippa). The 1st-century Jewish historian Josephus associates the king's death with festivities in Caesarea, where the crowds hailed him as a divine figure. Agrippa accepted the praise without qualification. In Josephus' report Agrippa saw an owl sitting on a rope above his head, which he took as a bad omen; he began to feel severe stomach pain and died five days later.

12:20 Tyre and Sidon: prominent coastal cities in the region of Phoenicia, north of Caesarea.

12:21 royal attire: The Jewish historian Josephus reports the king wore shimmering silver robes. These reflected the sunlight in such brilliant fashion that the crowd shouted that he was a god. On Jesus' criticism of fancy-dressing royal figures, see Luke 7:24-28.

12:23 angel... struck Herod down: Contrast with the angel's "nudging" Peter to awaken him in Acts 12:7. Ironically, the same Greek verb (patassō) underlies the actions of both "nudging" and striking in Acts 12:7, 23. because he didn't give the honor to God: Contrast with the humble honoring of God by Peter and John (Acts 3:11-13; 10:25-26) and Paul and Barnabas (Acts 14:11-15) when certain people treat them like gods. eaten by worms: gruesome image of death resulting from divine judgment (see Jdt 16:17; 2 Macc 9:9).

12:24 God's word continued to grow: See note on Acts 4:4. 12:25 Barnabas and Saul returned to Antioch from Jerusalem: picking up the story from Acts 11:27-30. John... known as Mark: See Acts 12:12; 13:5, 13; 15:37-39; Colossians 4:10; 2 Timothy 4:11; Philemon 24; 1 Peter 5:13. 13:1-3 The Antioch church sends two of its leaders, Barnabas and Saul, on their first missionary journey.

13:1 Barnabas... Saul: Among the five leaders, Barnabas holds the senior position while Saul, mentioned last, remains a junior partner at this stage. Niger: meaning "black or dark-skinned," suggesting Simeon was of African origin.

and Saul. <sup>2</sup>As they were worshipping the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, "Appoint Barnabas and Saul to the work I have called them to undertake." <sup>3</sup>After they fasted and prayed, they laid their hands on these two and sent them off.

Serving in Cyprus

<sup>4</sup>After the Holy Spirit sent them on their way, they went down to Seleucia. From there they sailed to Cyprus. <sup>5</sup>In Salamis they proclaimed God's word in the Jewish synagogues. John was with them as their assistant. <sup>6</sup>They traveled throughout the island until they arrived at Paphos. There they found a certain man named Bar-Jesus, a Jew who was a false prophet and practiced sorcery. <sup>7</sup>He kept company with the governor of that province, an intelligent man named Sergius Paulus. The governor sent for Barnabas and Saul since he wanted to hear God's word. <sup>8</sup>But Elymas the sorcerer* (for that's what people understood his name meant) opposed them, trying to steer the governor away from the faith. <sup>9</sup>Empowered by the Holy Spirit, Saul, also known as Paul, glared at Bar-Jesus and <sup>10</sup>said, "You are a deceiver and trickster! You devil! You attack anything that is right! Will you never stop twisting the straight ways of the Lord into crooked paths?" <sup>11</sup>Listen! The Lord's power is set against you. You will be blind for a while, unable even to see the daylight." At once, Bar-Jesus' eyes were darkened, and he began to grope about for someone to lead him around by the hand. <sup>12</sup>When the governor saw what had taken place, he came to believe, for he was astonished by the teaching about the Lord.

Paul and Barnabas in Pisidian Antioch

*Or magician (Gk magos)

Cyrene: See note on Acts 11:20. childhood friend: can also mean foster brother. Herod the ruler: Herod Antipas, son of Herod the Great. He ruled over Galilee and Perea (4 BCE–39 CE), had John the Baptist beheaded, and opposed Jesus' ministry (Luke 3:19–20; 9:7–9; 13:31–33; 23:9–11). One of Jesus' followers, named Joanna, was married to Herod's servant (Luke 8:3).

13:2–3 worshipping the Lord and fasting...fasted and prayed: On fasting, see note on Acts 9:9; on prayer and fasting connected with the selection of church leaders, see note on Acts 14:23.

13:2 the Holy Spirit said: Barnabas and Saul's call to missionary service comes directly from God's Spirit (cf. Acts 13:4). The church endorses the Spirit's decision and follows the Spirit's leadership (cf. Acts 15:28).

13:4–14:28 Barnabas and Saul/Paul's first missionary journey extends the Christian movement westward to the island of Cyprus and into the southeastern mainland of Asia Minor (modern-day Turkey).

13:4–12 On Cyprus, Barnabas and Saul/Paul preach to Jews in the synagogues and encounter a Jewish false prophet and sorcerer (Bar-Jesus) and the island's Roman governor (Sergius Paulus).

13:4 Seleucia: seaport near Antioch. Cyprus: Barnabas' homeland (Acts 4:36; cf. Acts 11:19–20; 21:16).

13:5 Salamis: port on the eastern shore of Cyprus. John was with them: John Mark, who had been brought from Jerusalem (Acts 12:12, 25), accompanies Barnabas and Saul as an apprentice.

13:6 Paphos: port on the southwestern shore of Cyprus. Bar-Jesus... false prophet and practiced sorcery: The name literally means "son of Jesus." As a false prophet he arrogantly pretends to speak for God with no real authority or truth (cf. Deut 18:20–22). Like Simon the Samaritan sorcerer (Acts 8:9–11), Bar-Jesus attracts attention through magical acts passed off as divine miracles. On the common practice of sorcery in the ancient world, see also Acts 16:16–18; 19:18–20.

13:8 Elymas: another name for Bar-Jesus, of uncertain meaning, though the people associate it with his sorcery. His false claims to represent God become evident as he opposes Barnabas and Saul and tries to block the local governor from hearing God's word (Acts 13:7).

13:9 See sidebar, "Saul/Paul."

13:10 You devil!: The practice of sorcery, or magic, was thought to derive from the power of the devil rather than from God (cf. Luke 11:15–20). twisting the straight ways... into crooked paths: Recall that Paul himself had been on an evil path until he was confronted by the Lord and brought to Straight Street in Damascus (Acts 9:3–11).

13:11 Being struck blind and led by the hand recalls Paul's own experience in Acts 9:8–9. for a while: Paul holds out hope that Bar-Jesus will regain his sight and change his life, as Paul did.

13:13–52 Paul and Barnabas sail north to Asia Minor, travel inland, and preach about Jesus in Pisidian Antioch.

13:13 Perga in Pamphylia: Located near the Mediterranean coast, Perga was the main city of the region of Pamphylia in southern Asia Minor. Pamphylia means "land of all tribes." It had a sizable number of Jews, some of whom traveled to Jerusalem on Pentecost (Acts 2:10). John deserted them: The motive for John Mark's departure isn't specified. Perhaps he returned home to Jerusalem because he wasn't ready or suited for outreach to the wider Gentile world.

13:14–15 For a similar synagogue order of service, see Luke 4:16–21 (cf. Acts 13:27).

13:14 Antioch in Pisidia: Roman colony in the region of Pisidia, located due north of Pamphylia. Pisidian Antioch, distinguished from Syrian Antioch (Acts 11:19–30; 13:1–3), was located on a major east-west Roman road.

in Pisidia. On the Sabbath, they entered and found seats in the synagogue there. <sup>15</sup>After the reading of the Law and the Prophets, the synagogue leaders invited them, "Brothers, if one of you has a sermon for the people, please speak."

<sup>16</sup>Standing up, Paul gestured with his hand and said, "Fellow Israelites and Gentile God-worshippers, please listen to me. <sup>17</sup>The God of this people Israel chose our ancestors. God made them a great people while they lived as strangers in the land of Egypt. With his great power, he led them out of that country. <sup>18</sup>For about forty years, God put up with them in the wilderness. <sup>19</sup>God conquered seven nations in the land of Canaan and gave the Israelites their land as an inheritance. <sup>20</sup>This happened over a period of about four hundred fifty years.

"After this, he gave them judges until the time of the prophet Samuel. <sup>21</sup>The Israelites requested a king, so God gave them Saul, Kish's son, from the tribe of Benjamin, and he served as their king for forty years. <sup>22</sup>After God removed him, he raised up David to be their king. God testified concerning him, 'I have found David, Jesse's son, a man who shares my desires.' Whatever my will is, he will do." <sup>23</sup>From this man's descendants, God brought to Israel a savior, Jesus, just as he promised. <sup>24</sup>Before Jesus' appearance, John proclaimed to all the Israelites a baptism to show they were changing their hearts and lives. <sup>25</sup>As John was completing his mission, he said, 'Who do you think I am? I'm not the one you think I am, but he is coming after me. I'm not worthy to loosen his sandals.'

<sup>26</sup>Brothers, children of Abraham's family, and you Gentile God-worshippers, the message about this salvation has been sent to us. <sup>27</sup>The people in Jerusalem and their leaders didn't recognize Jesus. By condemning him they fulfilled the words of the prophets that are read

Saul/Paul Saul, also known as Paul: Saul was his Jewish name, one that recalls Israel's first king and hero of the tribe of Benjamin (cf. Acts 13:32; Phil 3:5). Paul (Lat. Paulos), his Roman name, associated him with the wider Mediterranean world and people like Sergius Paulus (a variant of Paulos), "an intelligent man" and Roman governor of Cyprus (Acts 13:7). He'll now be called Paul (as he is in all his NT letters) and begin to emerge as the leading missionary and principal character throughout the rest of Acts.

Saul/Paul's two names remind us of his background in two worlds. He (1) spoke both Aramaic and Greek (Acts 21:37–22:2; 26:14); (2) was born in the leading Greek city of Tarsus (Acts 21:39) and schooled in Jerusalem under the prominent Jewish teacher Gamaliel (see Acts 22:2–3; 26:4–5; see note on Acts 5:34); and (3) enjoyed Roman citizenship from birth (see notes on Acts 16:37; 22:25–29). This background suits him well for fulfilling the mission assigned by the risen Jesus "to carry my name before Gentiles, kings, and Israelites" (Acts 9:15).

Sabbath: seventh day of the week (Friday evening–Saturday evening), a holy day of worship and rest for Jews commanded by God (cf. Acts 13:27, 42, 44; 15:21). It recalls: God's completed work of creation (Gen 2:1–4; Exod 20:8–11) and God's rescue of Israel from slavery in Egypt (Deut 5:12–15).

13:16–41 Paul's first extended speech in Acts, echoing themes in previous speeches. Like Stephen, Paul begins with a survey of Israel's history; however, Paul's account is much briefer and culminates in David's role as Jesus' royal ancestor (13:17–22). Then, like Peter, Paul proclaims the good news of salvation through Jesus' death and resurrection (13:23–41).

13:16 Gentile God-worshippers: See note on Acts 8:27; compare with Acts 13:26, 50.

13:17–22 Paul tracks Israel's history from the exodus out of Egypt to the reign of King David, stressing the power of God in directing these events.

13:17 God... chose our ancestors: See Deuteronomy 4:37; 7:6; 10:15.

13:18 God put up with them: Some early Greek manuscripts have a different verb (varying by only a single letter) meaning God "took care" of the Israelites (cf. Deut 1:31).

13:20 prophet Samuel: See note on Acts 3:24.

13:21 Israelites requested a king: See 1 Samuel 8:1–22. Saul... of Benjamin: Israel's first king and Paul's Jewish namesake (see sidebar, "Saul/Paul"). On God's initial choice of Saul as ruler, see 1 Samuel 9:1–10:17.

13:22 God removed him: God ultimately rejected Saul as king because of his disobedience to God's commands (1 Sam 13:1–14; 15:1–35). he raised up David to be their king: See 1 Samuel 16:1–13; 2 Samuel 5:1–5.

13:23 On Jesus as David's royal descendant and Israel's true savior, see Luke 1:32–33; 2:11; 18:38; 20:41–42; Acts 2:29–36; 13:34–37.

13:24–29 On John's mission of baptism and repentance, preparing the people for Jesus' coming, see Luke 3:1–18; 7:24–29; 20:1–8; Acts 1:5, 21–22; 11:16.

13:26 Paul shifts from reflecting on Israel's past to a direct appeal to his present audience. Gentile God-worshippers: See note on Acts 8:27 (cf. Acts 13:16, 50).

13:27–37 Paul quickly rehearses the events surrounding Jesus' death, burial, resurrection, and appearances to his disciples. He stresses that these events fulfill the message of the OT prophets (13:27) and psalms (13:33–37).

13:27 fulfilled the words of the prophets: Compare with Acts 3:17–24; Luke 24:25–27, 44–48. Sabbath: See note on Acts 13:14.

every Sabbath. <sup>28</sup>Even though they didn't find a single legal basis for the death penalty, they asked Pilate to have him executed. <sup>29</sup>When they finished doing everything that had been written about him, they took him down from the cross<sup>a</sup> and laid him in a tomb. <sup>30</sup>But God raised him from the dead! <sup>31</sup>He appeared over many days to those who had traveled with him from Galilee to Jerusalem. They are now his witnesses to the people.

<sup>32</sup>"We proclaim to you the good news. What God promised to our ancestors, <sup>33</sup>he has fulfilled for us, their children, by raising up Jesus. As it was written in the second psalm, You are my son; today I have become your father.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>34</sup>"God raised Jesus from the dead, never again to be subjected to death's decay. Therefore, God said, I will give to you the holy and firm promises I made to David.<sup>1</sup> <sup>35</sup>In another place it is said, You will not let your holy one experience death's decay.<sup>1</sup> <sup>36</sup>David served God's purpose in his own generation, then he died and was buried with his ancestors. He experienced death's decay,<sup>37</sup> but the one whom God has raised up didn't experience death's decay.

<sup>38</sup>"Therefore, brothers and sisters, know this: Through Jesus we proclaim forgiveness of sins to you. From all those sins from which you couldn't be put in right relationship with God through Moses' Law, <sup>39</sup>through Jesus everyone who believes is put in right relationship with God. <sup>40</sup>Take care that the prophets' words don't apply to you:

marvel and die.*

I'm going to do work in your day — a work you won't believe even if someone told you.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>42</sup>As Paul and Barnabas were leaving the synagogue, the people urged them to speak about these things again on the next Sabbath. <sup>43</sup>When the people in the synagogue were dismissed, many Jews and devout converts to Judaism accompanied Paul and Barnabas, who urged them to remain faithful to the message of God's grace.

<sup>44</sup>On the next Sabbath, almost everyone in the city gathered to hear the Lord's word. <sup>45</sup>When the Jews saw the crowds, they were overcome with jealousy. They argued against what Paul was saying by slandering him. <sup>46</sup>Speaking courageously, Paul and Barnabas said, "We had to speak God's word to you first. Since you reject it and show that you are unworthy to receive eternal life, we will turn to the Gentiles. <sup>47</sup>This is what the Lord commanded us:

I have made you a light for the Gentiles, so that you could bring salvation to the end of the earth.<sup>l</sup>

<sup>48</sup>When the Gentiles heard this, they rejoiced and honored the Lord's word. Everyone who was appointed for eternal life believed, <sup>49</sup>and the Lord's word was broadcast throughout the entire region. <sup>50</sup>However, the Jews provoked the prominent women among the Gentile God-worshippers, as well as the city's leaders. They instigated others to harass Paul and Barnabas, and threw them out of their district. <sup>51</sup>Paul and Barnabas shook the dust from their feet and went to Iconium. <sup>52</sup>Because of the abundant presence of the Holy Spirit in their lives, the disciples were overflowing with happiness.

13:32-37 For a similar appeal to David's psalms, see Acts 2:24-36.

13:38-41 Paul concludes his sermon with a direct entreaty, challenging his audience to believe in Jesus and not to reject God's word as their ancestors did.

13:38-39 The limited ability of Moses' Law to bring sinful people into a right relationship with God isn't a common theme in Acts. It's developed more fully in Paul's letters (see Rom 3:21-31; 8:1-11; Gal 3:19-24).

13:38 forgiveness of sins: connected with faith in Jesus in Acts 2:38; 5:31; 13:43; 26:18 (cf. Luke 5:20-24; 24:47).

13:40-41 Along with predicting the good news of salvation in Jesus, the prophets also foresaw the failure of some Jews to accept Jesus. This quotation (Hab 1:5) warns against not believing the message they've been clearly told.

13:42-44 Many Jews and Gentile converts initially show great interest in Paul and Barnabas' message.

13:43 urged them to remain faithful: Compare with Acts 11:22-23; 14:21-22.

13:45 the Jews... were overcome with jealousy: probably refers to the Jewish leaders who became jealous of Paul and Barnabas' growing influence among the people (cf. Acts 5:17; 17:5).

13:46 This begins a missionary pattern of turning to more receptive Gentile audiences after first preaching to Jews in the synagogue, some of whom resist the message (Acts 14:1-7; 17:1-5; 18:4-11; 19:8-10; 28:23-28). eternal life: also in Acts 13:48; compare with Luke 10:25; 18:18, 30.

13:47 light for the Gentiles: See Isaiah 49:6; Luke 2:32; Acts 26:16-18, 23. end of the earth: goal of the mission announced by Jesus in Acts 1:8, fulfilling the plan of Isaiah 49:6.

13:50 prominent women: See a more positive response from such women in Acts 17:4, 12, 34. Gentile God-worshippers: See note on Acts 8:27.

13:51 shook the dust from their feet: gesture of protest

Paul and Barnabas in Iconium

14The same thing happened in Iconium. Paul and Barnabas entered the Jewish synagogue and spoke as they had before. As a result, a huge number of Jews and Greeks believed. <sup>2</sup>However, the Jews who rejected the faith stirred up the Gentiles, poisoning their minds against the brothers. <sup>3</sup>Nevertheless, Paul and Barnabas stayed there for quite some time, confidently speaking about the Lord. And the Lord confirmed the word about his grace by the signs and wonders he enabled them to perform. <sup>4</sup>The people of the city were divided—some siding with the Jews, others with the Lord’s messengers. <sup>5</sup>Then some Gentiles and Jews, including their leaders, hatched a plot to mistreat and stone Paul and Barnabas. <sup>6</sup>When they learned of it, these two messengers fled to the Lycaonian cities of Lystra and Derbe and the surrounding area, <sup>7</sup>where they continued to proclaim the good news.

Healing a crippled man in Lystra

<sup>8</sup>In Lystra there was a certain man who lacked strength in his legs. He had been crippled since birth and had never walked. Sitting there, he <sup>9</sup>heard Paul speaking. Paul stared at him and saw that he believed he could be healed.

<sup>10</sup>Raising his voice, Paul said, “Stand up straight on your feet!” He jumped up and began to walk.

<sup>11</sup>Seeing what Paul had done, the crowd shouted in the Lycaonian language, “The gods have taken human form and come down to visit us!” <sup>12</sup>They referred to Barnabas as Zeus and to Paul as Hermes, since Paul was the main speaker. <sup>13</sup>The priest of Zeus, whose temple was located just outside the city, brought bulls and wreaths to the city gates. Along with the crowds, he wanted to offer sacrifices to them.

<sup>14</sup>When the Lord’s messengers Barnabas and Paul found out about this, they tore their clothes in protest and rushed out into the crowd. They shouted, <sup>15</sup>“People, what are you doing? We are humans too, just like you! We are proclaiming the good news to you: turn to the living God and away from such worthless things. He made the heaven, the earth, the sea, and everything in them.” <sup>16</sup>In the past, he permitted every nation to go its own way. <sup>17</sup>Nevertheless, he hasn’t left himself without a witness. He has blessed you by giving you rain from above as well as seasonal harvests, and satisfying you with food and happiness.” <sup>18</sup>Even with these words, they barely kept the crowds from sacrificing to them.

against and separation from a territory that rejects God’s message (cf. Acts 18:6; Luke 9:5; 10:10-11).

14:1-7 Paul and Barnabas head east to continue their mission in Iconium. They receive a divided response from both Jews and Gentiles: a huge number believed (14:1), while some hatched a plot to kill them (14:5).

14:1 Iconium: Roman colony established in the 1st century CE alongside the older Greek city of Pisidian Antioch. A mix of various Greek and Roman religions thrived here along with Judaism.

14:3 confidently speaking: continuing the pattern of bold, persistent preaching in the face of opposition (cf. Acts 2:29; 4:13, 29, 31; 9:27-28; 13:46; 18:26; 19:8; 26:26; 28:31). word about his grace: See Acts 4:33; 13:43; 20:24, 32. signs and wonders: See note on Acts 2:19 (cf. Acts 15:12).

14:5 plot to mistreat and stone: Opposition escalates to violent schemes and actions against Christian witnesses, as in Acts 5:33, 40-41; 7:54-8:3; 9:1-2, 23, 29; 12:1-4; 14:5, 19-20; 16:19-24; 17:5-6; 19:30-31; 21:27-36; 23:10, 12-21.

14:6 Lycaonian cities of Lystra and Derbe: Lycaonia was a region east of Phrygia and Pisidia in south-central Asia Minor, retaining its own distinctive language (see Acts 14:11). Lystra and Derbe were two cities along the west-east highway through the region.

14:8-20 At Lystra Paul performs his first healing. As with Peter and John’s first miracle, this one enables a man crippled from birth to walk and jump (Acts 3:2-8; 14:8-10) and sparks enthusiasm among the crowds (Acts 3:9-12; 14:11-13). However, the people in Lystra later turn against Paul and stone him outside the city (14:19-20).

14:9 stared at him: See note on Acts 3:4. saw that he believed: as Jesus saw the faith of a paralyzed man and his carriers before curing him (Luke 5:20, 23-25).

14:11 Popular shouts attributing divine status to human beings recall the crowd’s reaction to Herod in Acts 12:22.

14:12-13 Zeus and Hermes were major gods in Greek mythology. Their Roman counterparts were Jupiter and Mercury. Hermes was the chief messenger god. By identifying Barnabas and Paul with these gods and wanting to offer them sacrifices in the local temple, it’s clear that the priest and people of Lystra practice a religion separate from Judaism.

14:14 tore their clothes: an act of extreme shock and protest (cf. Gen 37:29; Judg 11:35; 2 Sam 1:2, 11; 2 Kgs 2:12; Jdt 14:16, 19; 1 Macc 2:14; 13:45).

14:15 We are humans too, just like you!: See Acts 10:26. turn to the living God and away from such worthless things: a common appeal to turn away from useless gods and idols to the one true Creator God (Acts 11:21; 15:19; 17:29-30; 26:17-20; cf. Wis 13:10-19; Rom 1:20-25; Gal 4:8-9; 1 Thess 1:9).

14:16 Compare with Acts 17:30.

14:17 a witness: God has given everyone evidence of God’s sustaining power and love through the world God <sup>19</sup>Jews from Antioch and Iconium arrived and won the crowds over. They stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, supposing he was dead. <sup>20</sup>When the disciples surrounded him, he got up and entered the city again. The following day he left with Barnabas for Derbe.

Returning to Antioch

<sup>21</sup>Paul and Barnabas proclaimed the good news to the people in Derbe and made many disciples. Then they returned to Lystra, Iconium, and Antioch, where <sup>22</sup>they strengthened the disciples and urged them to remain firm in the faith. They told them, “If we are to enter God’s kingdom, we must pass through many troubles.” <sup>23</sup>They appointed elders for each church. With prayer and fasting, they committed these elders to the Lord, in whom they had placed their trust.

The Jerusalem Council

15 Some people came down from Judea teaching the family of believers, “Unless you are circumcised according to the custom we’ve received from Moses, you can’t be saved.” <sup>2</sup>Paul and Barnabas took sides against these Judeans and argued strongly against their position.

The church at Antioch appointed Paul, Barnabas, and several others from Antioch to go up to Jerusalem to set this question before the apostles and the elders. <sup>3</sup>The church sent this delegation on their way. They traveled through Phoenicia and Samaria, telling stories about the conversion of the Gentiles to everyone. Their reports thrilled the brothers and sisters. <sup>4</sup>When they arrived in Jerusalem, the church, the apostles, and the elders all welcomed them. They gave a full report of what God had accomplished through their activity. <sup>5</sup>Some believers from among the Pharisees stood up and claimed, “The Gentiles must be circumcised. They must be required to keep the Law from Moses.”

has made for them. People thus have every reason to worship the one Creator God (cf. Acts 17:24-28; Wis 13:1-9; Rom 1:19-21).

14:19-20 Some antagonistic Jews from Paul’s previous stops in Pisidian Antioch and Iconium pursue him in Lystra, as Paul (Saul) himself had earlier tracked down Christians. Whereas Paul had once backed those who stoned Stephen to death (Acts 7:54-8:1), now Paul is dragged out of town and stoned. Although left for dead, he’s attended by disciples and able to recover.

14:21-28 Paul and Barnabas retrace their steps from Derbe, heading back through Lystra, Iconium, Pisidian Antioch, and Perga. They nurture the young churches and appoint local leaders. They then sail back to their home base in Syrian Antioch.

14:22 strengthened the disciples: See Acts 15:32, 41; 16:5; 18:23. enter God’s kingdom... through many troubles: On the difficulties and challenges of entering God’s kingdom, see Luke 9:61-62; 16:14-16; 18:16-17, 24-30.

14:23 elders: a common term for leaders in the Jewish community (Luke 7:3-5; 9:22). It also designates associates of the apostles in the Jerusalem church (Acts 11:30; 15:2, 4, 6, 22-23; 16:4) and leaders of the Ephesus church (20:17; cf. 1 Tim 5:17-19; Titus 1:5-6; 1 Pet 5:1-4). prayer and fasting:

These actions mark the beginning and end of Paul’s first missionary journey (see Acts 13:2-3).

14:25 Attalia: Mediterranean seaport near Perga.

14:27 door of faith: an image of open opportunity for preaching and receiving the message of Christ (1 Cor 16:9; 2 Cor 2:12; Col 4:3; Rev 3:8, 20). The emphasis is on the door God has opened for Gentiles, but many Jews also believed in Jesus during Paul and Barnabas’ mission trip (Acts 13:5, 14-15, 42-43; 14:1).

15:1-35 A major church conference is held in Jerusalem. After much debate, it unanimously affirms the Gentile mission of Paul and Barnabas and encourages the Gentiles to avoid certain practices offensive to Jews.

15:1 Unless you are circumcised: Circumcision was a prime marker of Jewish identity and covenant membership (see note on Acts 7:8).

15:5 believers from among the Pharisees: On the Pharisee movement in general, see note on Acts 5:34. Some Pharisees who believe in Christ and have joined the church argue that Gentile believers must become Jews and follow the whole Law, including circumcision.

15:7-11 Peter summarizes his God-arranged meeting with Cornelius. This is the third report of that pioneering breakthrough to the Gentiles (see Acts 10:1-48; 11:1-18).

them, but purified their deepest thoughts and desires through faith. <sup>10</sup>Why then are you now challenging God by placing a burden on the shoulders of these disciples that neither we nor our ancestors could bear? <sup>11</sup>On the contrary, we believe that we and they are saved in the same way, by the grace of the Lord Jesus.”

<sup>12</sup>The entire assembly fell quiet as they listened to Barnabas and Paul describe all the signs and wonders God did among the Gentiles through their activity. <sup>13</sup>When Barnabas and Paul also fell silent, James responded, “Fellow believers, listen to me. <sup>14</sup>Simon reported how, in his kindness, God came to the Gentiles in the first place, to raise up from them a people of God. <sup>15</sup>The prophets’ words agree with this; as it is written,

Letter to the Gentile believers

<sup>22</sup>The apostles and the elders, along with the entire church, agreed to send some delegates chosen from among themselves to Antioch, together with Paul and Barnabas. They selected Judas Barsabbas and Silas, who were leaders among the brothers and sisters. <sup>23</sup>They were to carry this letter:

The apostles and the elders, to the Gentile brothers and sisters in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia. Greetings! <sup>24</sup>We’ve heard that some of our number have disturbed you with unsettling words we didn’t authorize. <sup>25</sup>We reached a united decision to select some delegates

15:10 challenging God: See Acts 5:9; Exodus 17:2; Psalm 78:41. burden on the shoulders: or “yoke,” like that placed on the neck and shoulders of work animals to direct their course. In the Bible it serves as both a positive image of God’s guiding wisdom (Sir 6:23-29; 51:26; Matt 11:28-30) and a negative image of judgment and slavery (Deut 28:47-48; Isa 14:25; Jer 27:12; 1 Macc 13:41).

15:11 saved... by the grace of the Lord Jesus: Salvation is the gift God freely gives to Jews and Gentiles through Jesus (cf. Rom 3:22-24; 4:16; 5:15-17, 20-21; Eph 2:7-8).

15:12 A brief statement noting Barnabas and Paul’s report concerning everything God did for the Gentiles during their first missionary journey. Luke provides no direct speech, but he has recounted details in Acts 13–14.

15:13-21 Jesus’ brother James (first mentioned in passing in Acts 12:17) demonstrates his respected position of leadership in the Jerusalem church. He evaluates the evidence concerning the Gentile mission and proposes the decision that carries the day.

15:14 Simon: Simon Peter (see note on Acts 10:5). The name used in the Greek here is Simeon, another form of Simon. This may recall the prophet Simeon, who rejoiced in God’s plan of salvation for the Gentiles in Luke 2:28-32.

15:16-17 James’ quotation from the prophet Amos emphasizes the Gentiles’ place within David’s restored kingdom.

15:19-21 James proposes that Gentiles need not submit to circumcision and observing the whole Jewish Law. However, he recommends sending a letter to the Gentile believers, urging them not to engage in idolatrous and immoral conduct. The list of forbidden practices is similar to that imposed on Jews and Gentile immigrants to Israel in Leviticus chapters 17–18.

15:19 turn to God: away from idols (see note on Acts 14:15).

15:20 pollution associated with idols: The letter is particularly concerned with eating meat that has been sacrificed to false gods (cf. Acts 15:29; 21:25; 1 Cor 8:1-13; 10:14-33; Rev 2:20). sexual immorality: For various examples, see Leviticus 18:6-23. eating... strangled animals, and consuming blood: eating meat from animals that have been improperly slaughtered and from which the blood hasn’t been fully drained. Such dietary laws are based on the principle that “a creature’s life is in the blood” (Lev 17:11, 14; cf. Lev 17:3-16).

15:21 Moses... is read: the Law of Moses contained in the first five books of the Bible (Genesis–Deuteronomy), which are called the Torah.

15:22 Judas Barsabbas and Silas: leading prophets from the Jerusalem church (cf. Acts 15:32-33) who deliver the letter to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas. Silas will later replace Barnabas as Paul’s principal missionary partner (Acts 15:40; 16:19, 25, 29; 17:4, 10, 14-15; 18:5).

15:25 united decision: Along with the reference to “the entire church” in Acts 15:22, this implies that the Christian Pharisees have changed their minds (cf. Acts 15:1, 5) and endorse this letter to the Gentiles.

The Jerusalem Council The Jerusalem Council is a major event reported here in the middle of Acts (Acts 15:1-35). Luke tells the story of a large assembly that meets in Jerusalem to discuss the place of Gentiles in the church. One group argues that Gentiles must be circumcised and keep the Law of Moses in order to be saved (Acts 15:1, 5). After hearing from Peter, Barnabas, Paul, and James, the council reaches a united decision that faith in Christ is sufficient for Gentiles' salvation; they aren't required to keep the whole Law, though it's recommended they observe a few vital Jewish restrictions (Acts 15:28). A letter is written to spell out the council's opinion (Acts 15:22-29). Accompanied by delegates from Jerusalem, Paul and Barnabas take the letter to Antioch, where it's warmly received (Acts 15:30-35).

Paul's account of these events in Galatians 2:1-14 includes some distinctive elements. He affirms that the Jerusalem church leaders approved of his Gentile mission, but he says nothing about a letter reporting this decision and urging Gentiles to avoid certain practices. The only extra item is a request that Gentiles remember the poor, which Paul gladly supports (Gal 2:10). As for how this news was received in Antioch, Paul presents a much less rosy picture than Acts. He describes a bitter incident in which he sternly opposed representatives of James, Peter, and even Barnabas because they refused to eat with uncircumcised Gentile believers (Gal 2:11-14).

and send them to you along with our dear friends Barnabas and Paul. <sup>26</sup>These people have devoted their lives to the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>27</sup>Therefore, we are sending Judas and Silas. They will confirm what we have written. <sup>28</sup>The Holy Spirit has led us to the decision that no burden should be placed on you other than these essentials: <sup>29</sup>refuse food offered to idols, blood, the meat from strangled animals, and sexual immorality. You will do well to avoid such things. Farewell.

<sup>30</sup>When Barnabas, Paul, and the delegates were sent on their way, they went down to Antioch. They gathered the believers and delivered the letter. <sup>31</sup>The people read it, delighted with its encouraging message. <sup>32</sup>Judas and Silas were prophets, and they said many things that encouraged and strengthened the brothers and sisters. <sup>33</sup>Judas and Silas stayed there awhile, then were sent back with a blessing of peace from the brothers and sisters to those who first sent them. <sup>34</sup>Paul and Barnabas stayed in Antioch, where, together with many others, they taught and proclaimed the good news of the Lord's word.

Paul and Barnabas part company

<sup>36</sup>Some time later, Paul said to Barnabas, "Let's go back and visit all the brothers and sisters in every city where we preached the Lord's word. Let's see how they are doing." <sup>37</sup>Barnabas wanted to take John Mark with them. <sup>38</sup>Paul insisted that they shouldn't take him along, since he had deserted them in Pamphylia and hadn't continued with them in their work. <sup>39</sup>Their argument became so intense that they went their separate ways. Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus. <sup>40</sup>Paul chose Silas and left, entrusted by the brothers and sisters to the Lord's grace. <sup>41</sup>He traveled through Syria and Cilicia, strengthening the churches.

Paul adds Timothy

16 Paul reached Derbe, and then Lystra, where there was a disciple named Timothy. He was the son of a believing Jewish woman and a Greek father. <sup>2</sup>The brothers and sisters in Lystra and Iconium spoke well of him. <sup>3</sup>Paul wanted to take Timothy with him, so he 15:33 blessing of peace: another sign of mutual fellowship between the churches at Antioch and Jerusalem (cf. Acts 11:22-24, 27-30).

15:36-41 In an ironic twist after a unifying church conference, a sharp disagreement over John Mark causes Paul and Barnabas to separate from each other. Barnabas gives Mark a second chance, while Paul takes on a new partner, Silas. This is Barnabas' last appearance in Acts.

15:41 Syria and Cilicia: provinces addressed in the letter to Gentile believers (see Acts 15:23).

16:1-5 Paul recruits Timothy to his missionary team. The group revisits the churches established on the first journey and reports the decision of the Jerusalem conference.

16:1 Timothy: See Acts 17:14-15; 18:5; 19:22; 20:24. Paul's letters portray Timothy as a key supporter of Paul's work (Rom 16:21; 1 Cor 4:17; 16:10; 2 Cor 1:1, 19; Phil 1:1; 2:19-22; 1 Thess 1:1; 3:2-6; Phlm 1).

circumcised him. This was because of the Jews who lived in those areas, for they all knew Timothy's father was Greek. <sup>4</sup>As Paul and his companions traveled through the cities, they instructed Gentile believers to keep the regulations put in place by the apostles and elders in Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup>So the churches were strengthened in the faith and every day their numbers flourished.

Vision of the Macedonian

<sup>6</sup>Paul and his companions traveled throughout the regions of Phrygia and Galatia because the Holy Spirit kept them from speaking the word in the province of Asia. <sup>7</sup>When they approached the province of Mysia, they tried to enter the province of Bithynia, but the Spirit of Jesus wouldn't let them. <sup>8</sup>Passing by Mysia, they went down to Troas instead. <sup>9</sup>A vision of a man from Macedonia came to Paul during the night. He stood urging Paul, "Come over to Macedonia and help us!" <sup>10</sup>Immediately after he saw the vision, we prepared to leave for the province of Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to proclaim the good news to them.

Lydia's conversion

<sup>11</sup>We sailed from Troas straight for Samothrace and came to Neapolis the following day. <sup>12</sup>From there we went to Philippi, a city of Macedonia's first district and a Roman colony. We stayed in that city several days. <sup>13</sup>On the Sabbath we went outside the city gate to the riverbank, where we thought there might be a place for prayer. We sat down and began to talk with the women who had gathered. <sup>14</sup>One of those women was Lydia, a Gentile God-worshipper from the city of Thyatira, a dealer in purple cloth. As she listened, the Lord enabled her to embrace Paul's message. <sup>15</sup>Once she and her household were baptized, she urged, "Now that you have decided that I am a believer in the Lord, come and stay in my house." And she persuaded us.

father and hadn't been circumcised as a baby. Paul now has him undergo this operation, an action that may appear to contradict the church's decision in the previous chapter. However, Timothy's mother was a Jewish believer in Christ, and Paul doesn't want to offend his Jewish brothers and sisters. The Jerusalem conference only addressed the Gentiles' situation and didn't question the requirement of circumcision for Jews (cf. Acts 21:18-26).

16:4 regulations: See Acts 15:20, 29.

16:5 On the strengthening and growth of the church, see Acts 2:41; 4:4 (and note); 5:14; 6:7; 9:31; 11:21-24; 12:24-25; 14:22; 19:20.

16:6-18:23 Paul's second missionary journey, spreading the gospel to major cities in Greece.

16:6-10 Paul receives a vision, directing him to start a new mission in Macedonia.

16:6-7 Phrygia, Galatia, Asia, Mysia, and Bithynia designate various regions within the wider territory of Asia Minor (modern-day Turkey). Paul's plans to preach in the northern provinces of Asia and Bithynia are blocked by the Holy Spirit.

16:7 Spirit of Jesus: another name for the Holy Spirit. In Acts 2:33 Jesus is credited with pouring out the Holy Spirit, which he received from the Father, on the early believers.

16:8 Troas: main seaport in northwestern Asia Minor. Paul will return here in Acts 20:5-12 (cf. 2 Cor 2:12; 2 Tim 4:13).

16:9 vision: a common means of revelation and guidance (Acts 2:17; 9:3-12; 10:1-20, 30-33; 11:4-14; 12:9; 18:9-11; 22:6-11, 17-21; 26:12-19; 27:23-24). Macedonia: Roman province in northern Greece stretching between the Adriatic and Aegean Seas.

16:10 we: sudden shift in the narrative viewpoint from third to first person, continuing through Acts 16:17 and picking up again in Acts 20:6-16; 21:1-18; 27:1-28:16. This use of "we" gives the sense of an eyewitness report and draws the reader more personally into the events.

16:11-40 The mission in Philippi. Paul and his group are welcomed by a businesswoman named Lydia, who believes and is baptized (16:11-15, 40). But Paul and Silas are imprisoned by local authorities until God arranges for their miraculous escape (16:19-28). The jailer in charge of their custody also accepts Jesus as Lord and is baptized (16:29-34).

16:11 Troas... to Neapolis: heading northwest across the Aegean Sea to Greece, passing by the island of Samothrace.

16:12 Philippi: city in northeastern Macedonia named after the father of Alexander the Great, Philip of Macedon. In the 1st century it was a Roman colony with a large settlement of war veterans. It was located on the Egnatian Way, a major east-west thoroughfare across Greece. Paul's letter to the Philippians was addressed to the church here.

16:13 Sabbath: See note on Acts 13:14. place for prayer: gathering place for Jewish teaching and prayer, like a synagogue.

16:14 Gentile God-worshipper: See note on Acts 8:27. Thyatira: city in west-central Asia Minor known for its manufacture of purple-dyed fabrics. On the early church at Thyatira, see Revelation 2:18-29. dealer in purple cloth: Lydia is a merchant who trades in expensive clothing worn by royalty and other rich clients (cf. Luke 16:19; Mark 15:17, 20; John 19:2, 5). She's thus a woman of some wealth but not necessarily of high social status.

16:15 she and her household were baptized: Compare with Acts 10:47-48; 16:31-34; 18:8. Lydia is portrayed as the head of her household (cf. Acts 16:40), like Mary in Jerusalem (see note on Acts 12:12). It's possible that Lydia had been married but is now widowed or divorced.

Paul and Silas in prison

<sup>16</sup>One day, when we were on the way to the place for prayer, we met a slave woman. She had a spirit that enabled her to predict the future. She made a lot of money for her owners through fortune-telling. <sup>17</sup>She began following Paul and us, shouting, "These people are servants of the Most High God! They are proclaiming a way of salvation to you!" <sup>18</sup>She did this for many days.

This annoyed Paul so much that he finally turned and said to the spirit, "In the name of Jesus Christ, I command you to leave her!" It left her at that very moment.

<sup>19</sup>Her owners realized that their hope for making money was gone. They grabbed Paul and Silas and dragged them before the officials in the city center. <sup>20</sup>When her owners approached the legal authorities, they said, "These people are causing an uproar in our city. They are Jews <sup>21</sup>who promote customs that we Romans can't accept or practice." <sup>22</sup>The crowd joined in the attacks against Paul and Silas, so the authorities ordered that they be stripped of their clothes and beaten with a rod. <sup>23</sup>When Paul and Silas had been severely beaten, the authorities threw them into prison and ordered the jailer to secure them with great care. <sup>24</sup>When he received these instructions, he threw them into the innermost cell and secured their feet in stocks.

<sup>25</sup>Around midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the other prisoners were listening to them. <sup>26</sup>All at once there was such a violent earthquake that it shook the prison's foundations. The doors flew open and everyone's chains came loose. <sup>27</sup>When the jailer awoke and saw the open doors of the prison, he thought the prisoners had escaped, so he drew his sword and was about to kill himself. <sup>28</sup>But Paul shouted loudly, "Don't harm yourself! We're all here!"

<sup>29</sup>The jailer called for some lights, rushed in, and fell trembling before Paul and Silas. <sup>30</sup>He led them outside and asked, "Honorable masters, what must I do to be rescued?"

Paul's Arrests This marks the first of five conflict scenes in which Paul is arrested and accused of breaking Roman or Jewish law:

1. In Philippi, Gentile owners of a fortune-telling slave woman, whom Paul frees, accuse Paul of disturbing the peace and violating Roman customs (Acts 16:19-24).
2. In Thessalonica, jealous Jewish leaders stir up a mob that charges Paul with disturbing the peace and violating Caesar's orders (Acts 17:5-8).
3. In Corinth, Jewish opponents accuse Paul before the Roman governor Gallio of encouraging unlawful worship practices (Acts 18:12-13).
4. In Ephesus, Gentile workers accuse Paul of hindering the practice of religious freedom in the Roman Empire (Acts 19:23-27).
5. In Jerusalem, Jews from Asia stir up a mob that charges Paul with threatening the Jewish Law and defiling the holy temple (Acts 21:27-28).

Recurring elements in these scenes include: (1) grabbing Paul and his companions and dragging them before the authorities; (2) mob violence; (3) declaring specific charges that have no basis; and (4) Paul's ultimate escape, release, or protection by Roman authorities.

16:13-19 Paul frees a slave woman who is oppressed in two ways: by a spirit that uses her voice to tell fortunes and by owners who take advantage of her ability for profit.

16:16 a spirit: or "a python-spirit." In Greek mythology Apollo killed a python or serpent that guarded the holy place at Delphi, thought to be the navel of the earth. A temple dedicated to Apollo was built at Delphi. The female priest who presided there was believed to channel Apollo's voice and predict the future. People came from far and wide to consult her supernatural oracle. A similar fortune-telling spirit possesses the slave woman Paul encounters in Philippi.

16:17 Most High God: exalted title used by Jews for their God (Luke 1:32, 35, 76; 8:28; cf. Pss 57:2; 78:56; Dan 3:26; Jdt 13:18; Sir 7:9; 24:23) but also applied by Gentiles to various non-Jewish deities.

16:18 Paul's first exorcism. Casting out evil spirits was a major part of Jesus' ministry (Luke 4:31-37, 41; 8:26-39; 9:1, 37-43; 10:17-20; 13:10-17). For other examples in Acts, see Acts 8:7; 19:12-17.

16:19-21 The slave woman's owners accuse Paul and Silas of anti-Roman political activity (16:21), but their main concern is financial loss. When Paul expelled the woman's fortune-telling spirit, he ruined her moneymaking value for her handlers (Acts 16:16, 19).

16:23-24 On tight prison security, see Acts 12:4, 6.

16:25-26 The earthquake that opens the prison doors and loosens the prisoners' chains is an act of God for this situation, not an area-wide natural disaster. The narrative implies that God responds to the prayers and hymns of Paul and Silas.

16:25 midnight: Compare with Acts 20:7; 27:27.

16:27 jailer... was about to kill himself: See Acts 12:19, where Herod had the prison guards executed after Peter's escape.

<sup>31</sup>They replied, "Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved—you and your entire household." <sup>32</sup>They spoke the Lord's word to him and everyone else in his house. <sup>33</sup>Right then, in the middle of the night, the jailer welcomed them and washed their wounds. He and everyone in his household were immediately baptized. <sup>34</sup>He brought them into his home and gave them a meal. He was overjoyed because he and everyone in his household had come to believe in God.

<sup>35</sup>The next morning the legal authorities sent the police to the jailer with the order "Release those people."

<sup>36</sup>So the jailer reported this to Paul, informing him, "The authorities sent word that you both are to be released. You can leave now. Go in peace."

<sup>37</sup>Paul told the police, "Even though we are Roman citizens, they beat us publicly without first finding us guilty of a crime, and they threw us into prison. And now they want to send us away secretly? No way! They themselves will have to come and escort us out." <sup>38</sup>The police reported this to the legal authorities, who were alarmed to learn that Paul and Silas were Roman citizens. <sup>39</sup>They came and consoled Paul and Silas, escorting them out of prison and begging them to leave the city.

More troubles for Paul

17 Paul and Silas journeyed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, then came to Thessalonica, where there was a Jewish synagogue. <sup>2</sup>As was Paul's custom, he entered the synagogue and for three Sabbaths interacted with them on the basis of the scriptures. <sup>3</sup>Through his interpretation of the scriptures, he demonstrated that the Christ had to suffer and rise from the dead. He declared, "This Jesus whom I proclaim to you is the Christ." <sup>4</sup>Some were convinced and joined Paul and Silas, including a larger number of Greek God-worshippers and quite a few prominent women.

<sup>5</sup>But the Jews became jealous and brought along some thugs who were hanging out in the marketplace. They formed a mob and started a riot in the city. They attacked Jason's house, intending to bring Paul and Silas before the people. <sup>6</sup>When they didn't find them, they dragged Jason and some believers before the city officials. They were shouting, "These people who have been disturbing the peace throughout the empire have also come here. <sup>7</sup>What is

16:31-34 The jailer's hospitality to Christian messengers and the baptism of his household recall the activities of Cornelius (Acts 10:44-48; 11:14-17) and Lydia (Acts 16:14-16).

16:33 washed their wounds: See Luke 10:34.

16:37 we are Roman citizens: important new information about Paul. Here and later in Acts, Paul's Roman citizenship accords him protective legal rights in the face of opposition (Acts 16:37-39; 22:25-29; 23:26-30; 25:10-12, 16, 21, 25-27).

16:40 Lydia's house: Lydia's residence also functions as a house church, made up of Christian brothers and sisters in Philippi. Lydia is probably a leader of the church as well as head of her household.

17:1-14 Paul's mission in Thessalonica and Berea, opposed in both places by some rabble-rousing Jews from Thessalonica. The response of the Berean Jews is more favorable (17:11-12).

17:1 Amphipolis and Apollonia... to Thessalonica: Paul and Silas head southwest along the Egnatian Way (see Acts 16:12 and note), remaining near the Aegean coast. Thessalonica was the capital of the Roman province of Macedonia at this time. Paul addressed two letters, 1-2 Thessalonians, to the church in this city (cf. Acts 20:4; 27:2; Phil 4:16; 2 Tim 4:10).

17:2-3 On using the OT to demonstrate the necessity of Jesus' death and resurrection, see Luke 24:25-27, 44-47; Acts 3:18; 13:27-30.

17:3 Jesus... is the Christ: See note on Acts 2:36.

17:4-5 Another divided response to Paul's message in the synagogue (cf. Acts 13:42-50; 14:1-5).

17:4 Greek God-worshippers: See note on Acts 8:27. prominent women: In contrast with those who were hostile toward Paul and Barnabas in Acts 13:50, these leading God-worshipping women welcome Paul and his message (see also Acts 17:12, 34).

17:5 the Jews became jealous: some Jews, probably driven by their leaders; on jealousy, see notes on Acts 5:17; 13:45. thugs: or some bad or evil men, standing around looking for a fight. Jason's house: Jason welcomes Paul and Silas into his home, and the rioting mob hopes to find the missionaries there (Acts 17:6-7). Jason's residence is also a gathering place (house church) for believers in Thessalonica. Nothing else is known about him.

17:6 disturbing the peace throughout the empire: similar to the charge against Paul and Silas at Philippi (Acts 16:20-21). On one level the charge is false. Paul doesn't directly attack Roman law and customs, and his influence hasn't yet spread across the empire. On another level Paul does promote a completely different way of life in Christ, and the impact of his mission is growing.

17:7 someone else as king: Jesus: Paul doesn't encourage people to overthrow Caesar as emperor, but his proclamation of Jesus as the Christ (Acts 17:3) implicitly challenges Caesar's royal authority. On Christ as king, see Luke 23:1-5, 36-43.

more, Jason has welcomed them into his home. Every one of them does what is contrary to Caesar's decrees by naming someone else as king: Jesus." <sup>8</sup>This provoked the crowd and the city officials even more. <sup>9</sup>After Jason and the others posted bail, they released them.

<sup>10</sup>As soon as it was dark, the brothers and sisters sent Paul and Silas on to Bereoa. When they arrived, they went to the Jewish synagogue. <sup>11</sup>The Berean Jews were more honorable than those in Thessalonica. This was evident in the great eagerness with which they accepted the word and examined the scriptures each day to see whether Paul and Silas' teaching was true. <sup>12</sup>Many came to believe, including a number of reputable Greek women and many Greek men.

<sup>13</sup>The Jews from Thessalonica learned that Paul also proclaimed God's word in Bereoa, so they went there too and were upsetting and disturbing the crowds. <sup>14</sup>The brothers and sisters sent Paul away to the seacoast at once, but Silas and Timothy remained at Bereoa. <sup>15</sup>Those who escorted Paul led him as far as Athens, then returned with instructions for Silas and Timothy to come to him as quickly as possible.

<sup>16</sup>While Paul waited for them in Athens, he was deeply distressed to find that the city was flooded with idols. <sup>17</sup>He began to interact with the Jews and Gentile God-worshippers in the synagogue. He also addressed whoever happened to be in the marketplace each day. <sup>18</sup>Certain Epicurean and Stoic philosophers engaged him in discussion too. Some said, "What an amateur! What's he trying to say?" Others remarked, "He seems to be a proclaimer of foreign gods." (They said this because he was preaching the good news about Jesus and the resurrection.) <sup>19</sup>They took him into custody and brought him to the council on Mars Hill. "What is this new teaching? Can we learn what you are talking about?" <sup>20</sup>You've told us some strange things and we want to know what they mean." (<sup>21</sup>They said this because all Athenians as well as the foreigners who live in Athens used to spend their time doing nothing but talking about or listening to the newest thing.)

<sup>22</sup>Paul stood up in the middle of the council on Mars Hill and said, "People of Athens, I see that you are very religious in every way. <sup>23</sup>As I was walking through town and carefully observing your objects of worship, I even found an altar with this inscription: 'To an unknown God.' What you worship as unknown, I now proclaim to you. <sup>24</sup>God, who made the world and everything in it, is Lord of heaven and earth. He doesn't live in temples made with human hands. <sup>25</sup>Nor is God served by human hands, as though he needed something, since he is the one who gives life, breath, and everything else. <sup>26</sup>From one person God created every human nation to live on the whole earth, having determined their appointed times and the boundaries of their lands. <sup>27</sup>God made the nations so they would seek him, perhaps even reach out to him and find him. In fact, God isn't far away from any of us. <sup>28</sup>In God we live, move, and exist. As some of your own poets said, 'We are his offspring.'

17:10 Bereoa: sizable city 50 miles southwest of Thessalonica. The journey now moves off the Egnatian Way (see Acts 16:12 and note).

17:11 examined the scriptures: admirable distinguishing mark of the Berean Jews. Paul's teaching about Christ invites confirmation by careful study of the OT.

17:12 reputable Greek women: Compare with Acts 13:50; 17:4, 34.

17:15-34 Paul's mission in Athens in the synagogue, the marketplace, and before the council on Mars Hill.

17:16 Athens: major city on the southeastern end of the Greek peninsula in the Roman province of Achaia. It had been the center of classical Greek philosophy, politics, and culture in the days of Plato, Aristotle, Epicurus, and Zeno. flooded with idols: Built on a large rock (Gk. acropolis) overlooking the city was the Parthenon, the magnificent temple of Athena. Athens also had numerous other temples and statues honoring other gods and powers.

17:17 marketplace: The Athens agora (Gk.) was the main public square and center of Greek cultural life (cf. Acts 16:19; 17:5). It was surrounded by open porches and columns, which served as gathering places for philosophical discussion and debate.

17:18 Epicurean and Stoic philosophers: two prominent schools of Greek thought. Epicureans opposed religious ideas associated with fear of death, judgment, and divine control of the world. They promoted a life of peace, pleasure, and avoidance of pain. Stoics believed in a principle of divine reason (Gk. logos) guiding the world, and they strived to live a life of virtue and self-control. amateur: or "seed picker," a sarcastic image of unqualified teachers who pick up odd bits of information and spit them out without thinking. the resurrection: Some may have thought Paul was proclaiming a new god named Anastasis, which means "resurrection."

17:19 council on Mars Hill: supreme judicial court in Athens that convened on a hill dedicated to the Roman war god Mars.

17:22-31 Paul's speech before the Athenian council, focusing on the one Creator God worthy of devotion. As a Jew, Paul identified the Creator God with the God of Israel. But since he now addresses a non-Jewish Greek audience, Paul makes no reference to the OT or Israel's history.

17:24 On God as Lord and Creator of heaven and earth, see Luke 10:21; Acts 4:24; 7:49-50; 14:15. On not confining God to human-made structures, see Acts 7:41, 48-50; 19:26.

17:28 'We are his offspring': quoting the 3rd-century BCE Greek poet Aratus, who was speaking of Zeus' offspring.

<sup>29</sup>"Therefore, as God's offspring, we have no need to imagine that the divine being is like a gold, silver, or stone image made by human skill and thought. <sup>30</sup>God overlooks ignorance of these things in times past, but now directs everyone everywhere to change their hearts and lives. <sup>31</sup>This is because God has set a day when he intends to judge the world justly by a man he has appointed. God has given proof of this to everyone by raising him from the dead."

<sup>34</sup>Some people joined him and came to believe, including Dionysius, a member of the council on Mars Hill, a woman named Damaris, and several others.

Paul In Corinth

18 After this, Paul left Athens and went to Corinth. <sup>2</sup>There he found a Jew named Aquila, a native of Pontus. He had recently come from Italy with his wife Priscilla because Claudius had ordered all Jews to leave Rome. Paul visited with them. <sup>3</sup>Because they practiced the same trade, he stayed and worked with them. They all worked with leather. <sup>4</sup>Every Sabbath he interacted with people in the synagogue, trying to convince both Jews and Greeks. <sup>5</sup>Once Silas and Timothy arrived from Macedonia, Paul devoted himself fully to the word, testifying to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ. <sup>6</sup>When they opposed and slandered him, he shook the dust from his clothes in protest and said to them, "You are responsible for your own fates! I'm innocent! From now on I'll go to the Gentiles!" <sup>7</sup>He left the synagogue and went next door to the home of Titius Justus, a Gentile God-worshipper. <sup>8</sup>Crispus, the synagogue leader, and his entire household came to believe in the Lord. Many Corinthians believed and were baptized after listening to Paul.

<sup>9</sup>One night the Lord said to Paul in a vision, "Don't be afraid. Continue speaking. Don't be silent. <sup>10</sup>I'm with you and no one who attacks you will harm you, for I have many people in this city." <sup>11</sup>So he stayed there for eighteen months, teaching God's word among them.

17:30 change their hearts and lives: See note on Acts 2:38.

17:31 man he has appointed: anonymous reference to Jesus, whom God raised from the dead. God has authorized Jesus to make the world right at a set day of final judgment (cf. Acts 10:42).

17:32 resurrection from the dead: resurrection of dead bodies. While some Greek thinkers believed in the soul's immortality, most mocked the idea of bodily existence after death.

17:34 Dionysius . . . Damaris: Luke's writings often pair male and female characters, for example, Simeon and Anna (Luke 2:25-38), the widow of Zarephath and Naaman the Syrian (Luke 4:25-27), Aeneas and Tabitha (Acts 9:32-43), Lydia and the Philippian jailer (Acts 16:11-34). Some ancient Greek manuscripts omit Damaris, while others indicate her high social standing (cf. Acts 13:50; 17:4, 12).

18:1-17 Paul's mission in Corinth. The pattern continues of sabbath preaching in the synagogue, receiving a mixed response from Jews and Gentile God-worshippers, and being charged with misconduct before the local court.

18:1 Corinth: located about 50 miles southwest of Athens across a narrow strip of land surrounded by water. Corinth was the capital of the region of Achaia and a bustling commercial center with a diverse population. Paul wrote the letters of 1-2 Corinthians to the church here.

18:2 Aquila . . . Priscilla: married couple who teams up with Paul in his leatherworking trade (Acts 18:3) and missionary work (Acts 18:18-19, 26). In his letters Paul uses Priscilla's more formal name, Prisca (Rom 16:3; 1 Cor 16:19; 2 Tim 4:19). Pontus: region in northern Asia Minor bordering the Black Sea. Jews from Pontus were among the pilgrims at Pentecost (Acts 2:9). Claudius had ordered all Jews to leave Rome: The Roman historian Suetonius reports that Emperor Claudius expelled all Jews from Rome in 49 CE because of conflicts over Chrestus, perhaps referring to Christus, or Christ.

18:3 worked with leather: making and repairing various goods, such as sandals, coverings, and tents. They likely also worked with other materials, like canvas and linen. Paul supported himself as a manual laborer so he wouldn't be a financial burden on his churches (see Acts 20:34-35; 1 Cor 4:12; 9:6-15; 1 Thess 2:5-9).

18:5 Silas and Timothy: See Acts 17:14-15. Jesus was the Christ: See note on Acts 2:36.

18:6 shook the dust from his clothes: act of protest similar to shaking the dust from one's feet (see note on Acts 13:51; cf. Acts 22:23). I'm innocent: Paul's experience of being falsely charged by some of his fellow Jews recalls that of Jesus (Luke 23:1-5, 13-23) and of Stephen (Acts 6:11-15).

18:7 Titius Justus, a Gentile God-worshipper: See note on Acts 8:27. Titius Justus is otherwise unknown.

18:8 Crispus, the synagogue leader: In contrast to some Jews who forced Paul out of the synagogue, the leader became a believer together with his household (see note on Acts 10:48). In 1 Corinthians 1:14 Paul mentions that he personally baptized Crispus.

18:9-10 For other visions encouraging Paul during times of crisis, see Acts 9:12; 23:11; 27:23-25.

18:11 eighteen months: Paul's longest stay in a city thus far during his missionary travels.

18:12-17 Jewish opponents charge Paul before the main city court, which has no interest in dealing with the case.

18:12 Gallio: leading government official in the region appointed by Rome.

opposition against Paul and brought him before the court. <sup>13</sup>"This man is persuading others to worship God unlawfully," they declared.

<sup>14</sup>Just as Paul was about to speak, Gallio said to the Jews, "If there had been some sort of injury or criminal behavior, I would have reason to accept your complaint. <sup>15</sup>However, since these are squabbles about a message, names, and your own Law, deal with them yourselves. I have no desire to sit in judgment over such things." <sup>16</sup>He expelled them from the court, <sup>17</sup>but everyone seized Sosthenes, the synagogue leader, and gave him a beating in the presence of the governor. None of this mattered to Gallio.

<sup>18</sup>After Paul stayed in Corinth for some time, he said good-bye to the brothers and sisters. At the Corinthian seaport of Cenchræe he had his head shaved, since he had made a solemn promise. Then, accompanied by Priscilla and Aquila, he sailed away to Syria. <sup>19</sup>After they arrived in Ephesus, he left Priscilla and Aquila and entered the synagogue and interacted with the Jews. <sup>20</sup>They asked him to stay longer, but he declined. <sup>21</sup>As he said farewell to them, though, he added, "God willing, I will return." Then he sailed off from Ephesus. <sup>22</sup>He arrived in Caesarea, went up to Jerusalem and greeted the church, and then went down to Antioch.

<sup>24</sup>Meanwhile, a certain Jew named Apollos arrived in Ephesus. He was a native of Alexandria and was well-educated and effective in his use of the scriptures. <sup>25</sup>He had been instructed in the way of the Lord and spoke as one stirred up by the Spirit. He taught accurately the things about Jesus, even though he was aware only of the baptism John proclaimed and practiced. <sup>26</sup>He began speaking with confidence in the synagogue. When Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they received him into their circle of friends and explained to him God's way more accurately. <sup>27</sup>When he wanted to travel to Achaia, the brothers and sisters encouraged him and wrote to the disciples so they would open their homes to him. Once he arrived, he was 18:13 worship God unlawfully: a vague charge; it isn't clear whether Paul's opponents accuse him of violating Jewish or Roman law.

18:15 Gallio dismisses the case against Paul as an internal Jewish dispute about fine points of religious law (cf. Acts 25:19).

18:17 everyone seized Sosthenes, the synagogue leader: Some Greek manuscripts limit everyone to either "all the Jews" or "all the Greeks." It isn't clear why they have turned against Sosthenes. Perhaps he had followed Crispus (another synagogue leader) in supporting Paul (Acts 18:8). Paul mentions "Sosthenes our brother" in 1 Corinthians 1:1, but this may not be the same person.

18:18-23 Paul leaves Corinth with Priscilla and Aquila and sails to Ephesus, where he stays for a short time. He then travels on his own to revisit Jerusalem, Antioch of Syria, and the regions of Galatia and Phrygia in Asia Minor. The trip is briefly reported with few details.

18:18 Cenchræe: In Romans 16:1 Paul refers to a church at Cenchræe and a female leader there named Phoebe. head shaved, since he had made a solemn promise: likely refers to a nazirite promise of special dedication to the Lord for a set period of time (see Num 6:1-21). As a sign of the promise, no haircutting was permitted. Paul's head shaving marks the fulfillment of his promise. Priscilla and Aquila: It was unusual for a woman to be named before her husband. Priscilla's first position here suggests her leading role in Paul's mission (see also Acts 18:19, 26; Rom 16:3; 2 Tim 4:19).

18:19 Ephesus: major city of about a quarter-million people, the fourth largest in the Roman Empire. It was located east of Corinth on the western coast of Asia Minor. It served as the capital of the province of Asia, the center of worship of "the great goddess Artemis" (Acts 19:27), and a hub for business and commerce. Paul wrote 1 Corinthians (cf. 1 Cor 15:32; 16:8, 19), and possibly other letters, from Ephesus.

18:21 God willing: Compare with Luke 22:42; Acts 21:14. I will return: Paul comes back to Ephesus for an extended mission in Acts 19:1.

18:23 Galatia and . . . Phrygia: See Acts 16:6. strengthening all the disciples: See Acts 14:22; 15:32, 41; 16:5.

18:24-28 Apollos preaches about Jesus in Ephesus, Priscilla and Aquila welcome and instruct him, and the believers send him to Corinth in Achaia (cf. Acts 18:1; 19:1).

18:24 Apollos: a gifted, persuasive preacher who becomes an influential leader in the church at Corinth after Paul's departure (cf. 1 Cor 1:12; 3:4-6, 21-22; 4:6; 16:12). Alexandria: major city on the Mediterranean coast of Egypt, founded by and named after Alexander the Great in 331 BCE. It became a leading educational center for Greek language and philosophy. A sizable Jewish community also settled here, examining the relationship between the OT and Greek thought. The ancient Greek translation of the Hebrew Bible (known as the LXX) and numerous Greek writings of the Jewish scholar Philo Judaeus came from Alexandria.

18:25-26 the way of the Lord . . . God's way: See note on Acts 9:2. In relation to John the Baptist's message, see Luke 3:3-18 (especially "Prepare the way for the Lord" in 3:4).

18:26 speaking with confidence: See note on Acts 4:13. more accurately: Apollos has spoken accurately about Jesus (Acts 18:25), but he needs further instruction. The details aren't reported, but they likely include teaching about the practice of baptism in Jesus' name, since Apollos knows only about John's baptism (Acts 18:25; cf. Acts 19:4-5).

of great help to those who had come to believe through grace. <sup>20</sup>He would vigorously defeat Jewish arguments in public debate, using the scriptures to prove that Jesus was the Christ.

Paul in Ephesus

19 While Apollos was in Corinth, Paul took a route through the interior and came to Ephesus, where he found some disciples. <sup>2</sup>He asked them, “Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you came to believe?”

They replied, “We’ve not even heard that there is a Holy Spirit.”

<sup>3</sup>Then he said, “What baptism did you receive, then?”

They answered, “John’s baptism.”

<sup>4</sup>Paul explained, “John baptized with a baptism by which people showed they were changing their hearts and lives. It was a baptism that told people about the one who was coming after him. This is the one in whom they were to believe. This one is Jesus.” <sup>5</sup>After they listened to Paul, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>6</sup>When Paul placed his hands on them, the Holy Spirit came on them, and they began speaking in other languages and prophesying. <sup>7</sup>Altogether, there were about twelve people.

<sup>13</sup>There were some Jews who traveled around throwing out evil spirits. They tried to use the power of the name of the Lord Jesus against some people with evil spirits. They said, “In the name of the Jesus whom Paul preaches, I command you!” <sup>14</sup>The seven sons of Sceva, a Jewish chief priest, were doing this.

18:28 Like Paul in Acts 17:2-3, Apollos demonstrates through scripture that Jesus was the Christ.

19:1–20:38 Paul’s three-year stay in Ephesus (see 20:31), the focal point of his final missionary journey. After various experiences in Ephesus (19:1-41), Paul goes to Greece for three months (20:1-3), comes back to Asia Minor at Troas (20:4-12), and then heads to Miletus, where he meets the elders of the Ephesian church and gives a moving good-bye speech (20:13-38).

19:1 7 Paul encounters a group who has received only John’s baptism. He teaches them about faith in Jesus, baptizes them in Jesus’ name, and enables them to receive the Holy Spirit.

19:1 through the interior: across inland Asia Minor from the central regions of Galatia and Phrygia (Acts 18:23), westward to Ephesus. disciples: a term normally used for followers of Jesus, but it could also designate followers of John the Baptist (Luke 5:33; 7:18; 11:1; John 1:35, 40), some of whom may have believed he was the Christ (Luke 3:15; 9:18-19).

19:2-4 On John’s baptism, see Luke 3:1-19; 7:24-30; 20:3-7; Acts 13:24-25. It’s surprising these disciples knew nothing about the Holy Spirit, since John announced that Jesus would baptize with the Holy Spirit (Luke 3:16; Acts 1:4-5; 11:16) and Apollos was inspired by the Spirit, even though he had received only John’s baptism (Acts 18:25).

19:6 the Holy Spirit came on them: recalls the experience of the Jews at Pentecost (Acts 2:1-4), the Samaritans (Acts 8:14-17), and the Gentiles in Cornelius’ house at Caesarea (Acts 10:44-48; 11:15-17). See sidebar, “God’s Gift of the Holy Spirit” at Acts 8.

19:7 about twelve people: the same number as Jesus’ select group of disciples, symbolizing the restored people of Israel (see Luke 6:12-16; 22:28-30; see note on Acts 1:15-26). Perhaps these Ephesian disciples viewed themselves in a similar special light.

19:8-12 Paul preaches, teaches, and works miracles among Jews and Greeks from Ephesus and the surrounding province of Asia.

19:8 spoke confidently: See note on Acts 4:13. God’s kingdom: See notes on Acts 1:3; 8:12.

19:9 the Way: See note on Acts 9:2; compare with Acts 19:23. Tyrannus’ lecture hall: an auditorium, probably connected with some sort of school. Paul likely rented this space from its owner, Tyrannus, who may have also been a philosopher or teacher. It’s uncertain whether Tyrannus supported Paul’s cause. Some Greek manuscripts specify that Paul used the facility from eleven to four o’clock in the middle of the day.

19:11-12 The method of these unusual miracles is unparalleled in the NT, though somewhat similar to the apparent healing by contact with Peter’s shadow in Acts 5:15-16.

19:12 evil spirits left them: See note on Acts 16:18.

19:13-20 Paul’s conflict with a traveling group of exorcists and those who practice sorcery.

19:13 These exorcists are trying to use Jesus’ name for their own aims without any true knowledge of Jesus as Lord and Christ. For a similar case of attempting to manipulate the power of God in Christ, see Simon’s actions in Acts 8:18-24.

19:14 Sceva, a Jewish chief priest: We have no other evidence of a high priest by this name. It’s possible that Sceva

<sup>15</sup>The evil spirit replied, "I know Jesus and I'm familiar with Paul, but who are you?" <sup>16</sup>The person who had an evil spirit jumped on them and overpowered them all with such force that they ran out of that house naked and wounded. <sup>17</sup>This became known to the Jews and Greeks living in Ephesus. Everyone was seized with fear and they held the name of the Lord Jesus in the highest regard.

<sup>18</sup>Many of those who had come to believe came, confessing their past practices. <sup>19</sup>This included a number of people who practiced sorcery. They collected their sorcery texts and burned them publicly. The value of those materials was calculated at more than someone might make if they worked for one hundred sixty-five years.<sup>p</sup> <sup>20</sup>In this way the Lord's word grew abundantly and strengthened powerfully.

<sup>21</sup>Once these things had come to an end, Paul, guided by the Spirit, decided to return to Jerusalem, taking a route that would carry him through the provinces of Macedonia and Achaia. He said, "After I have been there, I must visit Rome as well." <sup>22</sup>He sent two of his assistants, Timothy and Erastus, to Macedonia, while he remained awhile in the province of Asia.

<sup>23</sup>At that time a great disturbance erupted about the Way. <sup>24</sup>There was a silversmith named Demetrius. He made silver models of Artemis' temple, and his business generated a lot of profit for the craftspeople. <sup>25</sup>He called a meeting with these craftspeople and others working in related trades and said, "Friends, you know that we make an easy living from this business. <sup>26</sup>And you can see and hear that this Paul has convinced and misled a lot of people, not only in Ephesus but also throughout most of the province of Asia. He says that gods made by human hands aren't really gods. <sup>27</sup>This poses a danger not only by discrediting our trade but also by completely dishonoring the great goddess Artemis. The whole province of Asia—the entire civilized world—worships her, but her splendor will soon be extinguished."

19:19 practiced sorcery: See notes on Acts 8:9; 13:6. The value of those materials: The moneymaking potential of sorcery recalls the case of the fortune-telling slave woman in Acts 16:16, 19.

19:20 the Lord's word grew: See note on Acts 4:4.

19:21 Paul's ambitious future plans, guided by the Spirit, to return to Jerusalem and then make the long westward trek to Rome. He will reach Jerusalem (Acts 21:17) and eventually make it to Rome—as a prisoner (Acts 27:1–28:31). More immediately, his plans are threatened by a riot in Ephesus (Acts 19:23–41). Macedonia and Achaia: provinces of Greece.

19:22 Timothy: See note on Acts 16:1. Erastus: Paul mentions an associate named Erastus who was the city treasurer at Corinth (Rom 16:23; cf. 2 Tim 4:22). This may be the same person mentioned here, but we can't be certain.

19:23–41 A major riot breaks out in Ephesus, sparked by a group of silversmiths who think Paul is disrupting their business. The mob assembles in the city's theater and seizes two of Paul's companions. After much shouting and confusion, the crowd disperses without violence.

19:23 the Way: See note on Acts 9:2; compare with Acts 19:9.

19:24–25 Paul's mission again creates a stir by cutting into the financial profits of local businessmen (cf. Acts 16:16–19).

19:24 Artemis' temple: Artemis was a popular and prominent Greek mother goddess associated with fertility. The temple dedicated to her at Ephesus was one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World and served as a religious, social, and commercial hub for the province of Asia (cf. Acts 19:27).

19:26 gods made by human hands aren't really gods: Compare with Acts 7:41, 48; 17:24–29; 1 Cor 8:4–6.

19:29 theater: large arena for public entertainment, including dramatic productions, circus acts, athletic games, and other popular and cultural events. Gaius and Aristarchus: associates of Paul from Macedonia. This Gaius should be distinguished from others of the same name from different places (Acts 20:4 [from Derbe]; Rom 16:23; 1 Cor 1:14; 3 John 1). Aristarchus appears again with Paul in Acts 20:4 and Acts 27:2 as a Macedonian from Thessalonica (cf. Phm 24).

19:31 some officials: high-ranking officials known as Asiarchs, drawn from elite families in the province of Asia.

had gathered. <sup>33</sup>The Jews sent Alexander to the front, and some of the crowd directed their words toward him. He gestured that he wanted to offer a defense before the assembly, <sup>34</sup>but when they realized he was a Jew, they all shouted in unison, "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!" This continued for about two hours.

<sup>35</sup>The city manager brought order to the crowd and said, "People of Ephesus, doesn't everyone know that the city of Ephesus is guardian of the temple of the great Artemis and of her image, which fell from heaven? <sup>36</sup>Therefore, since these facts are undeniable, you must calm down. Don't be reckless. <sup>37</sup>The men you brought here have neither robbed the temple nor slandered our goddess. <sup>38</sup>Therefore, if Demetrius and the craftspeople with him have a charge against anyone, the courts are in session and governors are available. They can press charges against each other there. <sup>39</sup>Additional disputes can be resolved in a legal assembly. <sup>40</sup>As for us, we are in danger of being charged with rioting today, since we can't justify this unruly gathering." <sup>41</sup>After he said this, he dismissed the assembly.

Paul visits Macedonia and Greece

20 When the riot was over, Paul sent for the disciples, encouraged them, said good-bye, and left for the province of Macedonia. <sup>2</sup>He traveled through that region with a message of encouragement. When he came to Greece, <sup>3</sup>he stayed for three months. Because the Jews hatched a plot against Paul as he was about to sail for Syria, he decided instead to return through Macedonia. <sup>4</sup>He was accompanied by Sopater, Pyrrhus' son from Beroea, Aristarchus and Secundus from Thessalonica, Gaius from Derbe, Timothy, and Tychicus and Trophimus from the province of Asia. <sup>5</sup>They went on ahead and waited for us in Troas. <sup>6</sup>We sailed from Philippi after the Festival of Unleavened Bread and met them five days later in Troas, where we stayed for a week.

Meeting with believers in Troas

<sup>7</sup>On the first day of the week, as we gathered together for a meal, Paul was holding a discussion with them. Since he was leaving the next day, he continued talking until midnight. <sup>8</sup>There were many lamps in the upstairs room where we had gathered. <sup>9</sup>A young man named

As a controversial figure, Paul makes some friends as well as enemies in high places.

19:33 The Jews sent Alexander. Beyond being a Jew (cf. Acts 19:34), Alexander's identity is unknown, and it's unclear what kind of defense he wanted to offer and whether he supported Paul. This uncertainty contributes to the scene's "state of confusion" (Acts 19:32).

19:34 when they realized he was a Jew: All Jews, including Paul, would have opposed worshipping the goddess Artemis.

19:35-41 The city manager calms the crowd, defends Paul, and instructs the agitators to take proper legal action in the courts rather than acting as an unruly mob.

19:35 temple of the great Artemis: See note on Acts 19:24. her image, which fell from heaven: a local legend of Artemis' divine origin, in contrast to Paul's view of the human manufacture of idols (Acts 19:26).

19:37 Although Paul preaches Christ and doesn't support pagan worship, he doesn't launch a negative campaign against Artemis or her temple. The Jewish historian Josephus reports that Jewish custom didn't permit slandering other gods or defiling their temples.

20:1-6 Paul revisits believers in Greece for a few months and then comes back to the Asian province at Troas.

20:3 The Jews hatched a plot: Compare with Acts 9:23; 14:5; 17:5-6, 13; 18:12; 20:19; 23:12-15.

20:4 Sopater... from Beroea: Sopater and Pyrrhus are otherwise unknown. On Beroea, see note on Acts 17:10. Aristarchus and Secundus from Thessalonica: See notes on Acts 19:29 (Aristarchus); 17:1 (Thessalonica). Secundus is otherwise unknown. The pair may have accompanied Paul in bringing funds from the churches in Macedonia for the poor in Jerusalem (cf. Acts 24:17; 2 Cor 8:1-9:15). Gaius from Derbe: See notes on Acts 19:29 (Gaius); 14:6 (Derbe). Timothy: See note on Acts 16:1. Tychicus and Trophimus from... Asia: possible custodians of the Asian churches' collection for the poor in Jerusalem (cf. Acts 24:17; 1 Cor 16:1-4). Tychicus appears to be the bearer of Paul's letters to the Colossians (Col 4:7-9) and Ephesians (Eph 6:21-22) and is also mentioned as Paul's associate in 2 Timothy 4:12; Titus 3:12. "Trophimus the Ephesian" appears later in Acts in connection with conflict in the temple (Acts 21:29) and in 2 Timothy 4:12.

20:5-6 us... We: On the use of "we" (which continues through Paul's arrival in Jerusalem in Acts 21:18), see note on Acts 16:10.

20:5 Troas: See note on Acts 16:8.

20:6 Philippi: See note on Acts 16:12. Festival of Unleavened Bread: See note on Acts 12:2.

20:7-12 Paul speaks all night with believers in Troas and resuscitates an unfortunate young man who falls to his death during the evening.

20:7 first day of the week: Saturday evening to Sunday evening (after the Sabbath), the day of Jesus' resurrection (Luke 24:1). meal: or "breaking bread," possibly including a reenactment of Jesus' last Passover meal (Luke 22:7-20; see note on Acts 2:46). midnight: Compare with Acts 16:25; 27:27.

20:8 many lamps: a random detail, possibly symbolizing Paul's enlightening teaching and the need to pay close attention to it (cf. Luke 8:16-18; 11:33-36). upstairs room: Compare with Luke 22:12; Acts 1:13; 9:37, 39 (where Peter raised Tabitha from the dead).

20:9 Eutychus: an ironic name in the present scene,

Eutychus was sitting in the window. He was sinking into a deep sleep as Paul talked on and on. When he was sound asleep, he fell from the third floor and died. <sup>10</sup>Paul went down, fell on him and embraced him, then said, “Don’t be alarmed. He’s alive!” <sup>11</sup>Then Paul went back upstairs and ate. He talked for a long time—right up until daybreak—then he left. <sup>12</sup>They took the young man away alive, and they were greatly comforted.

Farewell to the Ephesian leaders

<sup>13</sup>We went on to the ship and sailed for Assos, where we intended to take Paul on board. Paul had arranged this, since he intended to make his way there by land. <sup>14</sup>When he met us at Assos, we took him aboard and went on to Mitylene. <sup>15</sup>The next day we sailed from there and arrived opposite Chios. On the day after, we sailed to Samos, and on the following day we came to Miletus. <sup>16</sup>Paul had decided to sail past Ephesus so that he wouldn’t need to spend too much time in the province of Asia. He was hurrying to reach Jerusalem, if possible, by Pentecost Day.

<sup>17</sup>From <sup>17</sup>Miletus he sent a message to Ephesus calling for the church’s elders to meet him. <sup>18</sup>When they arrived, he said to them, “You know how I lived among you the whole time I was with you, beginning with the first day I arrived in the province of Asia. <sup>19</sup>I served the Lord with great humility and with tears in the midst of trials that came upon me because of the Jews’ schemes. <sup>20</sup>You know I held back nothing that would be helpful so that I could proclaim to you and teach you both publicly and privately in your homes. <sup>21</sup>You know I have testified to both Jews and Greeks that they must change their hearts and lives as they turn to God and have faith in our Lord Jesus. <sup>22</sup>Now, compelled by the Spirit, I’m going to Jerusalem. I don’t know what will happen to me there. <sup>23</sup>What I do know is that the Holy Spirit testifies to me from city to city that prisons and troubles await me. <sup>24</sup>But nothing, not even my life, is more important than my completing my mission. This is nothing other than the ministry I received from the Lord Jesus: to testify about the good news of God’s grace.

<sup>25</sup>I know that none of you will see me again—you among whom I traveled and proclaimed the kingdom. <sup>26</sup>Therefore, today I testify to you that I’m not responsible for anyone’s fate. <sup>27</sup>I haven’t avoided proclaiming the entire plan of God to you. <sup>28</sup>Watch yourselves and the whole flock, in which the Holy Spirit has placed you as supervisors, to shepherd God’s church, which he obtained with the death of his own Son. <sup>29</sup>I know that, after my departure, savage wolves will come in among you and won’t spare the flock. <sup>30</sup>Some of your own people will distort the word in order to lure followers after them. <sup>31</sup>Stay alert! Remember that for three years I constantly and tearfully warned each one of you. I never stopped warning you! <sup>32</sup>Now I entrust you to God and the message of his grace, which is able to build you up and give you meaning “lucky.” deep sleep: On sleep as a perilous sign of inattentiveness, see Luke 22:45-46.

20:10 Paul . . . fell on him: For similar action in bringing a deceased boy back to life, see the work of Elijah (1 Kgs 17:19-23) and Elisha (2 Kgs 4:32-37).

20:11 Paul’s nonchalant return to eating and teaching (until daybreak!) after resuscitating Eutychus adds humor to the scene.

20:13-15 Paul and his party sail south along the western coast of Asia Minor, from Troas to Assos, to Mitylene (on the island of Lesbos), around the islands of Chios and Samos, and then to Miletus, some 30 miles south of Ephesus.

20:16 hurrying to reach Jerusalem: as planned in Acts 19:21. Pentecost Day: late-spring Jewish festival (see note on Acts 2:1).

20:17-38 Paul’s emotional good-bye speech to the leaders of the Ephesian church, stressing his honorable dealings throughout his three-year ministry and warning them to care for the vulnerable congregation in his absence.

20:17 church’s elders: See note on Acts 14:23.

20:19 the Jews’ schemes: On Jewish opposition at Ephesus, see Acts 19:9, 13-16 (and maybe Acts 19:33), though most of Paul’s troubles came from Gentiles (Acts 19:23-34).

20:20 publicly and privately in your homes: Acts 19 reports only Paul’s public activity. On the combination of public and home-based ministries, see Acts 2:46; 5:42; 16:11-40; 18:1-8.

20:21 testified to both Jews and Greeks: See Acts 19:10, 17. change their hearts and lives: See note on Acts 2:38.

20:22-23 Paul’s Spirit-driven course to Jerusalem (Acts 19:21-22) includes a foreboding sense of the hostility he’ll encounter there (cf. Acts 20:38; 21:13).

20:24 the ministry I received from the Lord Jesus: See Acts 9:15-16; 22:10, 14-21; 26:15-20.

20:26 I’m not responsible for anyone’s fate: Compare with Acts 18:6.

20:27 plan of God: Compare with Acts 2:23; 4:28; 13:36.

20:28-30 Paul pictures the elders as shepherds (pastors) tending God’s flock of sheep. Sheep need protection from wolves and other predators. Paul warns about internal attackers in sheep’s clothing. On pastoral images for the church, see Luke 12:32; John 10:1-16; 21:15-17; 1 Peter 5:1-4.

an inheritance among all whom God has made holy. <sup>33</sup>I haven't craved anyone's silver, gold, or clothing. <sup>34</sup>You yourselves know that I have provided for my own needs and for those of my companions with my own hands. <sup>35</sup>In everything I have shown you that, by working hard, we must help the weak. In this way we remember the Lord Jesus' words: 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'

<sup>36</sup>After he said these things, he knelt down with all of them to pray. <sup>37</sup>They cried uncontrollably as everyone embraced and kissed Paul. <sup>38</sup>They were especially grieved by his statement that they would never see him again. Then they accompanied him to the ship.

Paul travels to Jerusalem

21 After we tore ourselves away from them, we set sail on a straight course to Cos, reaching Rhodes the next day, and then Patara. <sup>2</sup>We found a ship crossing over to Phoenicia, boarded, and put out to sea. <sup>3</sup>We spotted Cyprus, but passed by it on our left. We sailed on to the province of Syria and landed in Tyre, where the ship was to unload its cargo. <sup>4</sup>We found the disciples there and stayed with them for a week. Compelled by the Spirit, they kept telling Paul not to go to Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup>When our time had come to an end, we departed. All of them, including women and children, accompanied us out of town where we knelt on the beach and prayed. <sup>6</sup>We said good-bye to each other, then we boarded the ship and they returned to their homes.

<sup>7</sup>Continuing our voyage, we sailed from Tyre and arrived in Ptolemais. We greeted the brothers and sisters there and spent a day with them. <sup>8</sup>The next day we left and came to Caesarea. We went to the house of Philip the evangelist, one of the Seven, and stayed with him. <sup>9</sup>He had four unmarried daughters who were involved in the work of prophecy. <sup>10</sup>After staying there for several days, a prophet named Agabus came down from Judea. <sup>11</sup>He came to us, took Paul's belt, tied his own feet and hands, and said, "This is what the Holy Spirit says: 'In Jerusalem the Jews will bind the man who owns this belt, and they will hand him over to the Gentiles.'" <sup>12</sup>When we heard this, we and the local believers urged Paul not to go up to Jerusalem.

<sup>13</sup>Paul replied, "Why are you doing this? Why are you weeping and breaking my heart? I'm ready not only to be arrested but even to die in Jerusalem for the sake of the name of the Lord Jesus."

<sup>14</sup>Since we couldn't talk him out of it, the only thing we could say was, "The Lord's will be done."

reward in God's kingdom (cf. Luke 6:23; 12:31-34; 18:29-30; Eph 1:11, 14, 18; 5:5; Col 3:24; Heb 9:15; 1 Pet 1:4).

20:33-34 See note on Acts 18:3.

20:35 Jesus' words: This precise quotation doesn't appear in the Gospels, but it fits well with Jesus' teaching (Luke 6:30, 38; 14:33; 18:22; 21:3-4).

20:36 knelt... to pray: typical posture for prayer in emotionally charged situations (cf. Luke 5:8; 22:41; Acts 7:60; 9:40; 21:5).

20:38 they would never see him again: a worrisome statement, recalling Paul's forecast of life-threatening troubles in Jerusalem (Acts 20:22-24; cf. Acts 21:13).

21:1-14 Paul and his companions travel to Jerusalem. They sail in one ship around the southwestern coast of Asia Minor via the islands of Cos and Rhodes to the port of Patara. From there they take another ship to the eastern shore of the Mediterranean Sea at Tyre in Syrophenicia. They then head south along the coast to Ptolemais and Caesarea, spending some time with local believers before going overland to Jerusalem.

21:3 Tyre: major Phoenician commercial center in the province of Syria. The origin of the church at Tyre may be traced to early missionaries who scattered from Jerusalem to Phoenicia after Stephen's death (Acts 11:19).

21:4 the Spirit... telling Paul not to go to Jerusalem: A conflict of interest arises between the Tyrian disciples' view that the Spirit isn't leading Paul to Jerusalem and Paul's own sense that the Spirit is directing him there, despite the hardships that await him (cf. Acts 19:21; 20:22-23).

21:5 knelt... prayed: See note on Acts 20:36.

21:7 Ptolemais: major Mediterranean port city in Galilee, about 20 miles south of Tyre.

21:8 Caesarea: See note on Acts 8:40 (where Philip was last mentioned). Philip the evangelist, one of the Seven: "Evangelist" means "one who proclaims the good news" of Jesus Christ. On Philip's evangelistic work, see Acts 8:4-13, 26-40; on his role as one of the seven servants (with Stephen) in Jerusalem, see Acts 6:1-6.

21:9 daughters... in the work of prophecy: Compare with Acts 2:17-18.

21:10-11 On Agabus, see Acts 11:28. OT prophets often illustrated their messages with dramatic displays. Here Agabus' action (binding himself with Paul's belt) confirms the Spirit's forecast of Paul's pending troubles in Jerusalem (Acts 20:22-23).

21:12 The believers try again to persuade Paul to stay away from Jerusalem. However, this time they aren't said to speak through the Spirit (see note on Acts 21:4).

21:14 "The Lord's will be done": Compare with Luke 22:42; Acts 18:21.

<sup>15</sup>After this, we got ready and made our way up to Jerusalem. <sup>16</sup>Some of the disciples from Caesarea accompanied us and led us to Mnason's home, where we were guests. He was from Cyprus and had been a disciple a long time. <sup>17</sup>When we arrived in Jerusalem, the brothers and sisters welcomed us warmly.

Meeting the Jerusalem church leaders

<sup>18</sup>On the next day Paul and the rest of us went to see James. All of the elders were present. <sup>19</sup>After greeting them, he gave them a detailed report of what God had done among the Gentiles through his ministry. <sup>20</sup>Those who heard this praised God. Then they said to him, "Brother, you see how many thousands of Jews have become believers, and all of them keep the Law passionately. <sup>21</sup>They have been informed that you teach all the Jews who live among the Gentiles to reject Moses, telling them not to circumcise their children nor to live according to our customs. <sup>22</sup>What about this? Without a doubt, they will hear that you have arrived. <sup>23</sup>You must therefore do what we tell you. Four men among us have made a solemn promise. <sup>24</sup>Take them with you, go through the purification ritual with them, and pay the cost of having their heads shaved. Everyone will know there is nothing to those reports about you but that you too live a life in keeping with the Law. <sup>25</sup>As for the Gentile believers, we wrote a letter about what we decided, that they avoid food offered to idols, blood, the meat from strangled animals, and sexual immorality." <sup>26</sup>The following day Paul took the men with him and went through the purification ritual with them. He entered the temple and publicly announced the completion of the days of purification, when the offering would be presented for each one of them.

Paul seized by the people

<sup>27</sup>When the seven days of purification were almost over, the Jews from the province of Asia saw Paul in the temple. Grabbing him, they threw the whole crowd into confusion by shouting, <sup>28</sup>"Fellow Israelites! Help! This is the man who teaches everyone everywhere against our people, the Law, and this place. Not only that, he has even brought Greeks into the temple and defiled this holy place." (<sup>29</sup>They said this because they had seen Trophimus the Ephesian in the city with him earlier, and they assumed Paul had brought him into the temple.) <sup>30</sup>The entire city was stirred up. The people came rushing, seized Paul, and dragged him out of the temple. Immediately the gates were closed. <sup>31</sup>While they were trying to kill him, a report reached the commander of a company of soldiers that all Jerusalem was in a state of confusion. <sup>32</sup>Without a moment's hesitation, he took some soldiers and officers and ran down to the mob. When the mob saw the commander and his soldiers, they stopped beating Paul. <sup>33</sup>When the commander arrived, he arrested Paul and ordered him to be bound with two chains. Only then did he begin to ask who Paul was and what he had done.

21:15–23:22 Paul's experience in Jerusalem, beginning with a warm welcome by the Jerusalem church but ending with Paul's arrest in the temple and trial before the Jerusalem Council. Throughout this section, Paul defends himself as a faithful keeper of the Jewish Law.

21:15 up to Jerusalem: See note on Acts 11:2.

21:16 Paul's host, Mnason, is otherwise unknown; for other disciples from Cyprus, see Acts 4:36 (Barnabas); Acts 11:20.

21:18–26 A scene similar to the Jerusalem conference in Acts 15:6–35, with the key distinction being that now the issue focuses on whether Jewish believers in Christ should continue circumcising their children. Paul confirms his support for Jewish obedience to the Law.

21:18 James . . . the elders: leaders in the Jerusalem church (Acts 15:2, 4, 6, 13–21). On James, see note on Acts 12:17.

21:19 The "we" group drops out until Acts 27:1. The spotlight falls on Paul alone during his upcoming trials.

21:20 many thousands: Along with the growth of the Gentile mission, numerous Jews continue to believe in Christ (cf. Acts 2:41; 4:4).

21:21 A false report. On Paul's continuing personal practice of the Jewish Law, see Acts 16:1–3 (circumcising Timothy) and Acts 18:18 (completing a vow).

21:23–26 Paul personally completed a solemn promise by shaving his head (see note on Acts 18:18). Now he supports four other Jewish believers fulfilling a similar vow.

21:25 a letter: the same letter to the Gentile believers quoted in Acts 15:20, 23–29, though strangely reported as if Paul is just now learning about it.

21:27–39 Commotion surrounds Paul in the temple, prompting his arrest.

21:27–28 Similar false charges were brought by some Jews from Asia against Stephen in Acts 6:9–14.

21:28 brought Greeks into the temple: Non-Jews were prohibited from going into the temple area beyond the outer Court of the Gentiles. The Jewish historian Josephus reports that Gentiles could be killed for crossing this boundary.

21:29 Trophimus the Ephesian: Compare with Acts 20:4; he'd been seen with Paul in the city, not in the temple.

21:30–36 For similar mob action against Paul, see Acts 14:19; 16:19–23; 17:5–8; 19:28–36.

21:31 commander of . . . soldiers: high-ranking Roman military officer in charge of up to 1,000 men. This commander is later identified as Claudius Lysias (Acts 23:26).

21:33 bound with two chains: fulfilling Agabus' prophecy in Acts 21:11. Paul will remain a prisoner throughout the rest of Acts.

<sup>34</sup>Some in the crowd shouted one thing, others shouted something else. Because of the commotion, he couldn't learn the truth, so he ordered that Paul be taken to the military headquarters. <sup>35</sup>When Paul reached the steps, he had to be carried by the soldiers in order to protect him from the violence of the crowd. <sup>36</sup>The mob that followed kept screaming, "Away with him!"

<sup>37</sup>As Paul was about to be taken into the military headquarters, he asked the commander, "May I speak with you?"

He answered, "Do you know Greek? <sup>38</sup>Aren't you the Egyptian who started a revolt and led four thousand terrorists into the desert some time ago?"

<sup>39</sup>Paul replied, "I'm a Jew from Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of an important city. Please, let me speak to the people." <sup>40</sup>With the commander's permission, Paul stood on the steps and gestured to the people. When they were quiet, he addressed them in Aramaic.

Paul's defense before his accusers

22 "Brothers and fathers, listen now to my defense." <sup>2</sup>When they heard him address them in Aramaic, they became even more quiet. <sup>3</sup>Paul continued, "I'm a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia but raised in this city. Under Gamaliel's instruction, I was trained in the strict interpretation of our ancestral Law. I am passionately loyal to God, just like you who are gathered here today. <sup>4</sup>I harassed those who followed this Way to their death, arresting and delivering both men and women into prison. <sup>5</sup>The high priest and the whole Jerusalem Council can testify about me. I received letters from them, addressed to our associates in Damascus, then went there to bring those who were arrested to Jerusalem so they could be punished.

<sup>6</sup>"During that journey, about noon, as I approached Damascus, suddenly a bright light from heaven encircled me. <sup>7</sup>I fell to the ground and heard a voice asking me, 'Saul, Saul, why are you harassing me?' <sup>8</sup>I answered, 'Who are you, Lord?' 'I am Jesus the Nazarene, whom you are harassing,' he replied. <sup>9</sup>My traveling companions saw the light, but they didn't hear the voice of the one who spoke to me. <sup>10</sup>I asked, 'What should I do, Lord?' 'Get up,' the Lord replied, 'and go into Damascus. There you will be told everything you have been appointed to do.' <sup>11</sup>I couldn't see because of the brightness of that light, so my companions led me by the hand into Damascus.

<sup>12</sup>"There was a certain man named Ananias. According to the standards of the Law, he was a pious man who enjoyed the respect of all the Jews living there. <sup>13</sup>He came and stood beside me. 'Brother Saul, receive your sight!' he said. Instantly, I regained my sight and I could see him. <sup>14</sup>He said, 'The God of our ancestors has selected you to know his will, to see the righteous one, and to hear his voice. <sup>15</sup>You will be his witness to everyone concerning what you have seen and heard. <sup>16</sup>What are you waiting for? Get up, be baptized, and wash away your sins as you call on his name.'

<sup>17</sup>"When I returned to Jerusalem and was praying in the temple, I had a visionary experience. <sup>18</sup>I saw the Lord speaking to me. 'Hurry!' he said. 'Leave Jerusalem at once because they won't accept your testimony about me.' <sup>19</sup>I responded, 'Lord, these people know I used to go from one synagogue to the next, beating those who believe in you and throwing them

21:36 "Away with him!": Compare with Acts 22:2 and the cry of the Jerusalem crowd against Jesus in Luke 23:18.

21:38 the Egyptian: The Jewish historian Josephus mentions an Egyptian prophet who led an unsuccessful Jewish rebellion against Roman rule in Jerusalem. While most of his men were killed, the Egyptian escaped. The Roman commander's initial identification of Paul with this Egyptian puts Paul in serious trouble.

21:39–22:21 Paul offers a defense before a hostile temple audience. Much of this speech parallels Luke's account of Paul's call to follow Jesus in Acts 9:1–19 (cf. Acts 26:1–23).

21:39 Jew from Tarsus... a citizen: Paul's birth citizenship in the leading Greek city of Tarsus (Acts 22:3), coupled with his ability to speak Greek (Acts 21:37), proves he is not the uneducated Egyptian terrorist the commander takes him to be (Acts 21:38).

21:40 Aramaic: local Jewish language (see note on Acts 6:1). By addressing the crowd in Aramaic rather than Greek, Paul hopes for a sympathetic hearing (cf. Acts 22:2).

22:3 Under Gamaliel's instruction: On the respected Jewish teacher Gamaliel, see note on Acts 5:34. Paul's strict education as a youth under Gamaliel certifies his devotion to God and God's Law.

22:6 about noon: A time reference is added to the story told in Acts 9:3 (cf. Acts 26:13; 8:27; 10:9).

22:9 Curious reversal of Acts 9:7, where Paul's companions "heard the voice but saw no one."

22:12 To emphasize his commitment to the Jewish Law, Paul stresses Ananias' piety (see note on Acts 9:10).

22:17–21 Adding to the earlier report of his experience in Jerusalem after meeting the risen Lord (Acts 9:26–30), Paul now tells of another vision he had while praying in the temple. He proves his devotion to this holy place.

Paul's Defense Speeches This marks the beginning of five defense speeches Paul offers while he's a prisoner. These are given to a variety of audiences:

1. Roman commander Claudius Lysias (cf. Acts 23:26) and temple crowds in Jerusalem (Acts 21:37–22:29)
2. High priest Ananias and the Jewish council of Sadducees and Pharisees in Jerusalem (Acts 22:30–23:10)
3. Roman governor Antonius Felix, high priest Ananias, and Jewish prosecutors, in Caesarea (Acts 24:1–23)
4. Roman governor Porcius Festus and Jewish chief priests in Caesarea (Acts 25:1–12)
5. King Agrippa II, his sister Bernice, Roman governor Porcius Festus, and other military and public officials in Caesarea (Acts 25:23–26:32)

Recurring elements in these speeches include: (1) Paul's identity as a Roman citizen with rights to protection and due process, his appeal to Caesar, and his insistence that he hasn't violated Roman law (Acts 22:25–29; 25:8–11); (2) his upbringing as a dedicated Jew and his continuing observance of the Jewish Law and respect for the Jerusalem temple (Acts 22:3–5, 17; 23:1–5; 24:10–13, 16–20; 25:8–10; 26:2–8, 22); (3) his life-changing encounter with the risen Jesus (Acts 22:6–16; 26:9–20); and (4) his belief in the hope of resurrection (see sidebar, "Hope in the Resurrection" at Acts 24).

into prison. <sup>20</sup>When Stephen your witness was being killed, I stood there giving my approval, even watching the clothes that belonged to those who were killing him.' <sup>21</sup>Then the Lord said to me, 'Go! I will send you far away to the Gentiles.'

<sup>22</sup>The crowd listened to Paul until he said this. Then they shouted, "Away with this man! He's not fit to live!" <sup>23</sup>As they were screaming, throwing off their garments, and flinging dust into the air, <sup>24</sup>the commander directed that Paul be taken into the military headquarters. He ordered that Paul be questioned under the whip so that he could find out why they were shouting at him like this.

<sup>25</sup>As they were stretching him out and tying him down with straps, Paul said to the centurion standing there, "Can you legally whip a Roman citizen who hasn't been found guilty in court?"

<sup>26</sup>When the centurion heard this, he went to the commander and reported it. He asked, "What are you about to do? This man is a Roman citizen!"

<sup>27</sup>The commander went to Paul and demanded, "Tell me! Are you a Roman citizen?" He said, "Yes."

Paul said, "I'm a citizen by birth." <sup>29</sup>At once those who were about to examine him stepped away. The commander was alarmed when he realized he had bound a Roman citizen.

Paul appears before the Jewish council

<sup>30</sup>The commander still wanted to know the truth about why Paul was being accused by the Jews. Therefore, the next day he ordered the chief priests and the entire Jerusalem Council to assemble. Then he took Paul out of prison and had him stand before them.

23 Paul stared at the council and said, "Brothers, I have lived my life with an altogether clear conscience right up to this very day." <sup>2</sup>The high priest Ananias ordered those standing beside Paul to strike him in the mouth. <sup>3</sup>Then Paul said to him, "God is about to strike you, you whitewashed wall! You sit and judge me according to the Law, yet disobey the Law by ordering that I be struck."

22:20 On Paul's participation in Stephen's death, see Acts 7:58; 8:1.

22:21 far away to the Gentiles: Compare with Acts 2:39. Paul's first mention of his Gentile mission in this speech provokes the crowd's anger (Acts 22:22).

22:22 "Away with this man!": Compare with Acts 21:36; Luke 23:18.

22:23 flinging dust: See notes on Acts 13:51; 18:6.

22:25–29 To guarantee his protection and legal rights, Paul announces that he is a citizen of Rome (cf. Acts 16:37–39), as well as of Tarsus (Acts 21:39). The fact that Paul was born a Roman citizen suggests a life of greater privilege than that of the commander, who had to buy his citizenship (22:28).

22:26 centurion... went to the commander: On these Roman military ranks, see notes on Acts 10:1; 21:31.

22:30–23:10 Paul is brought before the Jerusalem Council, recalling the earlier trials of Jesus (Luke 22:66–71), Peter and John (Acts 4:1–22; 5:17–42), and Stephen (Acts 6:12–7:54) before the same judicial body.

22:30 Jerusalem Council: See note on Acts 4:5.

23:1 stared: Compare with Paul's intense look in his dealings with Bar-Jesus (Acts 13:9) and a crippled man (Acts 14:9). clear conscience: Compare with Acts 24:16; Romans 9:1; 2 Corinthians 1:12; 4:2; 5:11; 2 Timothy 1:3.

23:2 high priest Ananias: appointed by Herod Agrippa II (see Acts 25:13) around 48 CE.

<sup>4</sup>Those standing near him asked, "You dare to insult God's high priest?"

<sup>5</sup>Paul replied, "Brothers, I wasn't aware that he was the high priest. It is written, You will not speak evil about a ruler of your people."

<sup>6</sup>Knowing that some of them were Sadducees and the others Pharisees, Paul exclaimed in the council, "Brothers, I'm a Pharisee and a descendant of Pharisees. I am on trial because of my hope in the resurrection of the dead!"

<sup>7</sup>These words aroused a dispute between the Pharisees and Sadducees, and the assembly was divided. <sup>8</sup>This is because Sadducees say that there's no resurrection, angel, or spirit, but Pharisees affirm them all. <sup>9</sup>Council members were shouting loudly. Some Pharisees who were legal experts stood up and insisted forcefully, "We find nothing wrong with this man! What if a spirit or angel has spoken to him?" <sup>10</sup>The dispute became so heated that the commander feared they might tear Paul to pieces. He ordered soldiers to go down and remove him by force from their midst. Then they took him back to the military headquarters.

<sup>11</sup>The following night the Lord stood near Paul and said, "Be encouraged! Just as you have testified about me in Jerusalem, so too you must testify in Rome."

A murder plot discovered

<sup>12</sup>The next morning some Jewish leaders formulated a plot and solemnly promised that they wouldn't eat or drink until they had killed Paul. <sup>13</sup>More than forty people were involved in the conspiracy. <sup>14</sup>They went to the chief priests and elders and said, "We have solemnly promised to eat nothing until we have killed Paul. <sup>15</sup>You and the council must explain to the commander that you need Paul brought down to you. Pretend that you want to examine his case more closely. We're prepared to kill him before he arrives."

<sup>16</sup>Paul's sister had a son who heard about the ambush and he came to the military headquarters and reported it to Paul. <sup>17</sup>Paul called for one of the centurions and said, "Take this young man to the commander because he has something to report to him."

<sup>18</sup>He took him to the commander and said, "The prisoner Paul asked me to bring this young man to you. He has something to tell you."

<sup>19</sup>The commander took him by the hand and withdrew to a place where they could speak privately. He asked, "What do you have to report to me?"

<sup>20</sup>He replied, "The Jewish leaders have conspired to ask that you bring Paul down to the council tomorrow. They will pretend that they want to investigate his case more closely.

<sup>21</sup>Don't fall for it! More than forty of them are waiting to ambush him. They have solemnly promised not to eat or drink until they have killed him. They are ready now, awaiting your consent."

religious leaders who promise false security (Ezek 13:10-16) and try to cover up corrupt schemes and actions (Matt 23:27).

23:5 I wasn't aware that he was the high priest: Since the high priest was a well-known figure, it's likely that Paul's cagey response has a critical undertone. In Paul's judgment, Ananias isn't acting as a true high priest should.

23:6 Sadducees and... Pharisees: On these religious groups, see notes on Acts 4:1; 5:34. I'm a Pharisee: new information about Paul, though not surprising in light of his early instruction by Gamaliel (Acts 22:3; 5:34; cf. Phil 3:5). See sidebar, "Hope in the Resurrection" at Acts 24.

23:11 you must testify in Rome: Compare with Acts 19:21.

23:12-22 Some Jewish leaders hatch a plot against Paul's life (cf. Acts 9:23, 29; 14:5, 19-20).

23:12-15 The plot to assassinate Paul is driven by extreme religious zeal, as shown in the solemn promise of the conspirators to fast (23:12, 14, 21) until their mission has been completed.

23:16-22 Paul's nephew gets wind of the murder plot, which he reports to Paul and then the commander.

23:16 Paul's sister had a son: These and other members of Paul's family are otherwise unknown.

23:23-26:32 Paul's trials in Caesarea before the Roman governor, Felix, and the Jewish king (appointed by Rome), Agrippa.

23:23-35 Paul's transfer to Caesarea for his safety.

23:23-25 The commander orders a large military squad, about half of his forces, to escort Paul to Caesarea. This excessive response shows how seriously the commander takes his duty to protect a Roman citizen (cf. Acts 22:29; 23:27).

23:23 Caesarea: See note on Acts 8:40.

<sup>26</sup>Claudius Lysias, to the most honorable Governor Felix: Greetings. <sup>27</sup>This man was seized by the Jews and was almost killed by them. I was nearby with a unit of soldiers, and I rescued him when I discovered that he was a Roman citizen. <sup>28</sup>I wanted to find out why they were accusing him, so I brought him to their council. <sup>29</sup>I discovered that they were accusing him about questions related to their Law. I found no charge deserving of death or imprisonment. <sup>30</sup>When I was informed of a conspiracy against his life, I sent him to you at once and ordered his accusers to bring their case against him before you.

24 Five days later the high priest Ananias came down with some elders and a lawyer named Tertullus. They pressed charges against Paul before the governor. <sup>2</sup>After the governor summoned Paul, Tertullus began to make his case against him. He declared, “Under your leadership, we have experienced substantial peace, and your administration has brought reforms to our nation. <sup>3</sup>Always and everywhere, most honorable Felix, we acknowledge this with deep gratitude. <sup>4</sup>I don’t want to take too much of your time, so I ask that you listen with your usual courtesy to our brief statement of the facts. <sup>5</sup>We have found this man to be a troublemaker who stirs up riots among all the Jews throughout the empire. He’s a ringleader of the Nazarene faction <sup>6</sup>and even tried to defile the temple. That’s when we arrested him.” <sup>8</sup>By examining him yourself, you will be able to verify the allegations we are bringing against him.” <sup>9</sup>The Jews reinforced the action against Paul, affirming the truth of these accusations.

*Critical editions of the Gk New Testament do not include We wanted to put him on trial according to our Law, <sup>7</sup>but Lysias the commander arrived and took him from our hands with great force. <sup>8</sup>Then he ordered his accusers to appear before you.

23:24 Felix: A former slave of Emperor Claudius’ wife, Antonius Felix became governor of the Roman province of Judea. Felix held this office during a period of increasing Jewish resistance (52–59 CE) that he failed to control.

23:25-30 The Roman commander Claudius Lysias sends a formal letter to Governor Felix, endorsing Paul’s legal innocence and Roman citizenship. He conveniently omits that he arrested and chained Paul and was about to have him whipped before learning Paul is a citizen (Acts 21:33; 22:22-29). The commander blames the Jews for Paul’s mistreatment.

23:25 letter: Letters were the primary means of authorizing official actions and conveying important information (cf. Acts 9:2; 15:20-29; 18:27; 21:25; 22:5; 23:33-34; 25:26; 28:21).

23:35 Herod’s palace: royal residence built by Herod the Great that now serves as the headquarters of Roman government in Judea.

24:1-22 Paul’s trial before Governor Felix is the most orderly judicial proceeding thus far in Acts. A lawyer retained by the Jewish leaders presents the case for the prosecution (24:1-9), followed by Paul’s self-defense (24:10-21). Both sides address the governor with due respect (24:2-4, 10).

24:1 Ananias: See note on Acts 23:2. lawyer named Tertullus: With his Latin name, speaking skills, and knowledge of Roman and Jewish law (Acts 24:2-8), Tertullus is well suited to represent Jewish interests before a Roman court. He is unknown beyond this text.

24:2-4 Praising the judge was a common way to begin trial speeches and gain his favor. However, historical reports about Felix’s character are much more negative.

24:5 stirs up riots . . . throughout the empire: serious charge against Paul of trying to overthrow the government (cf. Acts 16:20-21; 17:6). Nazarene faction: believers in Jesus of Nazareth as Lord and Christ. Jesus’ Nazarene identity is frequently mentioned (Acts 2:22; 3:6; 4:6; 6:14; 22:8; 26:9), but this is the only NT text that labels the movement surrounding him in this way.

24:6 when we arrested him: Notice Tertullus’ identification (“we”) with the Roman commander and soldiers who arrested Paul in the temple (Acts 21:27-33).

He responded, "I know that you have been judge over this nation for many years, so I gladly offer my own defense. <sup>11</sup>You can verify that I went up to worship in Jerusalem no more than twelve days ago. <sup>12</sup>They didn't find me arguing with anyone in the temple or stirring up a crowd, whether in the synagogue or anywhere else in the city. <sup>13</sup>Nor can they prove to you the allegations they are now bringing against me. <sup>14</sup>I do admit this to you, that I am a follower of the Way, which they call a faction. Accordingly, I worship the God of our ancestors and believe everything set out in the Law and written in the Prophets.

<sup>15</sup>The hope I have in God I also share with my accusers, that there will be a resurrection of both the righteous and the unrighteous.

<sup>16</sup>On account of this, I have committed myself to maintaining a clear conscience before God and with all people. <sup>17</sup>After an absence of several years, I came to Jerusalem to bring gifts for the poor of my nation and to offer sacrifices. <sup>18</sup>When they found me in the temple, I was ritually pure. There was no crowd and no disturbance. <sup>19</sup>But there were some Jews from the province of Asia. They should be here making their accusations, if indeed they have something against me. <sup>20</sup>In their absence, have these people who are here declare what crime they found when I stood before the Jerusalem Council. <sup>21</sup>Perhaps it concerns this one statement that I blurted out when I was with them: 'I am on trial before you today because of the resurrection of the dead.'

<sup>22</sup>Felix, who had an accurate understanding of the Way, adjourned the meeting. He said, "When Lysias the commander arrives from Jerusalem, I will decide this case." <sup>23</sup>He arranged for a centurion to guard Paul. He was to give Paul some freedom, and his friends were not to be hindered in their efforts to provide for him.

<sup>24</sup>After several days, Felix came with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish, and summoned Paul. He listened to him talk about faith in Christ Jesus. <sup>25</sup>When he spoke about upright behavior, self-control, and the coming judgment, Felix became fearful and said, "Go away for now! When I have time, I'll send for you." <sup>26</sup>At the same time, he was hoping that Paul would offer him some money, so he often sent for him and talked with him.

Paul in custody

<sup>24</sup>After several days, Felix came with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish, and summoned Paul. He listened to him talk about faith in Christ Jesus. <sup>25</sup>When he spoke about upright behavior, self-control, and the coming judgment, Felix became fearful and said, "Go away for now! When I have time, I'll send for you." <sup>26</sup>At the same time, he was hoping that Paul would offer him some money, so he often sent for him and talked with him.

24:10-21 Paul's defense summarizes the events of Acts 21:27-22:29 in the temple and his statement in Acts 23:6 before the Jerusalem Council, insisting that he didn't defile the temple or deliberately stir up trouble.

24:10 Paul's opening statement of respect for Felix is less gushy than the one Tertullus offered (Acts 24:2-4).

24:14 The Way: Paul freely admits he's part of Jesus' movement; but he prefers to call it "the Way" (cf. Acts 22:4; 24:22; see note on Acts 9:2) rather than "the Nazarene faction," Tertullus' more dismissive term (Acts 24:5).

24:15 The hope I have: See sidebar, "Hope in the Resurrection" (cf. Acts 24:21). resurrection of both the righteous and the unrighteous: Compare with Daniel 12:2.

24:16 clear conscience: Compare with Acts 23:1.

24:17 I came . . . to bring gifts for the poor: new information about Paul's visit to Jerusalem. This corresponds with reports in Paul's letters about funds he collected from

Hope in the Resurrection Paul refers to the resurrection at the end of the present age of all who have died (Acts 23:6). This belief is shared by many Jews, including the Pharisees, but not the Sadducees (cf. Acts 4:1-2). Paul deliberately drives a wedge between these two groups.

Paul's hope in the resurrection becomes a major point of his testimony to the end of Acts (Acts 24:15, 21; 25:19; 26:6-8, 23; 28:20). His notion of a general resurrection is closely linked with two specific ideas. The first is the past resurrection (and continuing life) of Jesus Christ (Acts 25:19), which guarantees that God will one day raise everyone from the dead and justly judge them (Acts 17:31). Jesus is "the first to rise from the dead" (Acts 26:23), and his personal resurrection anticipates the general resurrection (cf. Rom 8:29; 1 Cor 15:20-28; Rev 1:5). The second is the future restoration of Israel as God's people saved from sin, death, and exile (Acts 26:6-8; 28:20). This in turn guarantees God's ultimate renewal of the entire world through Israel's Christ, the risen and returning Jesus (see Acts 3:19-21).

churches in Greece and Asia Minor for the poor in Jerusalem (Rom 15:25-28; 1 Cor 16:1-4; 2 Cor 8:1-9:15; Gal 2:10).

24:22 accurate understanding of the Way: basic familiarity with the Christian faith. We can assume that like Apollos, if not more so, Felix needs instruction to understand Jesus "more accurately" (cf. Acts 18:25-26).

24:23 provide for him: Imprisonment in the ancient world, even for citizens, didn't typically include state provision of food and other necessities. Prisoners' survival depended on the care of family, friends, and charity workers (cf. Acts 27:3; Phil 1:7; 2:25; 4:15-18; Phlm 13).

24:24 Drusilla: daughter of Herod Agrippa I (Acts 12:1), known for her great beauty. Felix broke up her previous marriage to a Syrian king to take her as his wife.

24:25-26 Felix's discomfort with Paul's message may stem from Felix's well-known corrupt and immoral behavior, <sup>27</sup>When two years had passed, Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus. Since Felix wanted to grant a favor to the Jews, he left Paul in prison.

Paul appeals to Caesar

25 Three days after arriving in the province, Festus went up to Jerusalem from Caesarea. <sup>2</sup>The chief priests and Jewish leaders presented their case against Paul. Appealing to him, <sup>3</sup>they asked as a favor from Festus that he summon Paul to Jerusalem. They were planning to ambush and kill him along the way. <sup>4</sup>But Festus responded by keeping Paul in Caesarea, since he was to return there very soon himself. <sup>5</sup>"Some of your leaders can come down with me," he said. "If he's done anything wrong, they can bring charges against him."

<sup>6</sup>He stayed with them for no more than eight or ten days, then went down to Caesarea. The following day he took his seat in the court and ordered that Paul be brought in. <sup>7</sup>When he arrived, many Jews who had come down from Jerusalem surrounded him. They brought serious charges against him, but they couldn't prove them. <sup>8</sup>In his own defense, Paul said, "I've done nothing wrong against the Jewish Law, against the temple, or against Caesar."

<sup>10</sup>Paul replied, "I'm standing before Caesar's court. I ought to be tried here. I have done nothing wrong to the Jews, as you well know. <sup>11</sup>If I'm guilty and have done something that deserves death, then I won't try to avoid death. But if there is nothing to their accusations against me, no one has the authority to hand me over to them. I appeal to Caesar!"

<sup>12</sup>After Festus conferred with his advisors, he responded, "You have appealed to Caesar. To Caesar you will go."

King Agrippa informed about Paul

<sup>13</sup>After several days had passed, King Agrippa and Bernice arrived in Caesarea to welcome Festus. <sup>14</sup>Since they were staying there for many days, Festus discussed the case against Paul with the king. He said, "There is a man whom Felix left in prison. <sup>15</sup>When I was in Jerusalem, the Jewish chief priests and elders brought charges against him and requested a guilty verdict in his case. <sup>16</sup>I told them it is contrary to Roman practice to hand someone over before they have faced their accusers and had opportunity to offer a defense against the charges. <sup>17</sup>When they came here, I didn't put them off. The very next day I took my seat in the court and ordered that the man be brought before me. <sup>18</sup>When the accusers took the floor, they didn't charge him with any of the crimes I had expected. <sup>19</sup>Instead, they quibbled with him about their own religion and about some dead man named Jesus, who Paul claimed was alive. <sup>20</sup>Since I had no idea how to investigate these matters, I asked if he would be willing to go to Jerusalem to stand trial there on these issues. <sup>21</sup>However, Paul appealed that he be held in custody pending a decision from His Majesty the emperor, so I ordered that he be held until I could send him to Caesar."

which he demonstrates in his repeated efforts to get Paul to offer him a bribe.

24:27 Porcius Festus: Roman governor of Judea from 59 to 62 CE. In contrast to his negative portrait of Felix, the Jewish historian Josephus presents Festus more favorably as one who kept the peace and remained sensitive to Jewish concerns.

25:1-12 Paul appears before Festus and appeals his case to the emperor Nero.

25:3 planning to ambush and kill him: another unsuccessful plot to murder Paul, hatched by Jewish officials (cf. Acts 9:23, 29; 14:5, 19-20; 23:12-22).

25:7 Those who bring charges against Paul fail to produce trustworthy witnesses or any solid evidence (cf. Acts 18:14-15; 19:37-39; 22:30; 23:9, 28-29; 24:12-13).

25:8 This verse neatly summarizes the three main institutions Paul is falsely accused of attacking in Acts.

25:9 On rulers' attempts to please their Jewish subjects, see also Acts 12:3 (Herod) and Acts 24:17 (Felix).

25:10-12 Exercising his right as a Roman citizen, Paul appeals his case to Caesar in Rome rather than risking another trial in Jerusalem. The emperor at this time is Nero (54-68 CE), who Paul seems to think will give him a fairer hearing than the chief priests of his own people.

25:13-22 Festus discusses Paul's case with King Agrippa II. 25:13 King Agrippa and Bernice: Agrippa II was the son of Agrippa I (see note on Acts 12:1). He ruled over areas formerly controlled by Herod Philip (Luke 3:1) and parts of Galilee and Perea. Although loyal to Rome, he maintained sympathetic interest in Jewish beliefs and customs (Acts 26:2-3, 26-27) and retained his father's authority to appoint high priests in Jerusalem. Bernice was the sister of Agrippa II. After her first husband died, she came to live with her unmarried brother, sparking scandalous gossip about their relationship. They often appeared together at court.

25:14-21 Festus tells about the recent events of Acts 25:1-12.

25:19 they quibbled with him about their own religion: Compare with Governor Gallio's response in Acts 18:14-15. some dead man named Jesus, who Paul claimed was alive: Part of Paul's defense of his core "hope in the resurrection"

<sup>22</sup>Agrippa said to Festus, "I want to hear the man myself."

"Tomorrow," Festus replied, "you will hear him."

<sup>23</sup>The next day Agrippa and Bernice came with great fanfare. They entered the auditorium with the military commanders and the city's most prominent men. Festus then ordered that Paul be brought in. <sup>24</sup>Festus said, "King Agrippa and everyone present with us: You see this man! The entire Jewish community, both here and in Jerusalem, has appealed to me concerning him. They've been calling for his immediate death. <sup>25</sup>I've found that he has done nothing deserving death. When he appealed to His Majesty, I decided to send him to Rome. <sup>26</sup>I have nothing definite to write to our lord emperor. Therefore, I've brought him before all of you, and especially before you, King Agrippa, so that after this investigation, I might have something to write. <sup>27</sup>After all, it would be foolish to send a prisoner without specifying the charges against him."

Paul's defense before Agrippa

26 Agrippa said to Paul, "You may speak for yourself."

So Paul gestured with his hand and began his defense. <sup>2</sup>King Agrippa, I consider myself especially fortunate that I stand before you today as I offer my defense concerning all the accusations the Jews have brought against me. <sup>3</sup>This is because you understand well all the Jewish customs and controversies. Therefore, I ask you to listen to me patiently. <sup>4</sup>Every Jew knows the way of life I have followed since my youth because, from the beginning, I was among my people and in Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup>They have known me for a long time. If they wanted to, they could testify that I followed the way of life set out by the most exacting group of our religion. I am a Pharisee. <sup>6</sup>Today I am standing trial because of the hope in the promise God gave our ancestors. <sup>7</sup>This is the promise our twelve tribes hope to receive as they earnestly worship night and day. The Jews are accusing me, King Agrippa, because of this hope! <sup>8</sup>Why is it inconceivable to you that God raises the dead?

<sup>9</sup>I really thought that I ought to oppose the name of Jesus the Nazarene in every way possible. <sup>10</sup>And that's exactly what I did in Jerusalem. I locked up many of God's holy people in prison under the authority of the chief priests. When they were condemned to death, I voted against them. <sup>11</sup>In one synagogue after another—indeed, in all the synagogues—I would often torture them, compelling them to slander God. My rage bordered on the hysterical as I pursued them, even to foreign cities.

<sup>12</sup>On one such journey, I was going to Damascus with the full authority of the chief priests. <sup>13</sup>While on the road at midday, King Agrippa, I saw a light from heaven shining around me and my traveling companions. That light was brighter than the sun. <sup>14</sup>We all fell this time focuses on the risen Jesus (see sidebar, "Hope in the Resurrection" at Acts 24). This is all strange news to Festus, who has no previous knowledge of Jesus.

25:23–26:32 Paul defends himself before King Agrippa II in Festus' court.

25:23–24 The setting surrounding Paul's appearance before Agrippa and Festus features much pomp and circumstance, and touches of exaggeration. For example, it's the priestly leaders, not The entire Jewish community, who have brought charges against Paul.

25:26 something to write: Roman law required careful documentation of specific charges against citizens (see note on Acts 23:25).

26:1–32 Paul's address to Agrippa, relating for the third time the events surrounding his life-changing visionary encounter with Christ (cf. Acts 9:1–19; 21:39–22:21).

26:1 gestured with his hand: a common movement to quiet the audience and signal the beginning of an important speech (cf. Acts 12:17; 13:16; 21:40).

26:4–5 Compare with Acts 22:3; 23:6.

26:4 Every Jew knows: an exaggerated way of speaking

(cf. Acts 25:24), stressing Paul's lifelong loyalty to his Jewish faith.

26:5 I am a Pharisee: Compare with Acts 23:6; see note on Acts 5:34.

26:6–8 Paul continues to defend his hope of resurrection (see sidebar, "Hope in the Resurrection" at Acts 24), stressing here God's promise to revive God's covenant people from all 12 tribes of Israel (cf. Ezek 37:1–14).

26:9–11 On Paul's former harassment of Jesus' followers, see Acts 8:1–3; 9:1–2; 22:4–5; 1 Corinthians 15:9; Galatians 1:13–14, 23; Philippians 3:6; 1 Timothy 1:13. Here Paul confesses the extreme zeal that drove him to torture the early Christians.

26:14 We all fell to the ground: in contrast to Acts 9:4, 8, and Acts 22:7, where only Paul fell in response to the heavenly light. Aramaic: Only here do we learn that the risen Jesus spoke to Paul in the Jews' native language (see notes on Acts 6:1; 21:40). It's hard for you to kick against a spear: a common saying (not included in the previous accounts), used here to remind Paul that it's useless to resist God's will. The image is of a work animal to the ground, and I heard a voice that said to me in Aramaic, 'Saul, Saul, why are you harassing me? It's hard for you to kick against a spear.'<sup>c</sup> 15Then I said, 'Who are you, Lord?' The Lord replied, 'I am Jesus, whom you are harassing.' 16Get up! Stand on your feet! I have appeared to you for this purpose: to appoint you as my servant and witness of what you have seen and what I will show you. 17I will rescue you from your own people and from the Gentiles. I am sending you 18to open their eyes. Then they can turn from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God, and receive forgiveness of sins and a place among those who are made holy by faith in me.'

19'So, King Agrippa, I wasn't disobedient to that heavenly vision. 20Instead, I proclaimed first to those in Damascus and Jerusalem, then to the whole region of Judea and to the Gentiles. My message was that they should change their hearts and lives and turn to God, and that they should demonstrate this change in their behavior. 21Because of this, some Jews seized me in the temple and tried to murder me. 22God has helped me up to this very day. Therefore, I stand here and bear witness to the lowly and the great. I'm saying nothing more than what the Prophets and Moses declared would happen: 23that the Christ would suffer and that, as the first to rise from the dead, he would proclaim light both to my people and to the Gentiles."

24At this point in Paul's defense, Festus declared with a loud voice, "You've lost your mind, Paul! Too much learning is driving you mad!"

25But Paul replied, "I'm not mad, most honorable Festus! I'm speaking what is sound and true. 26King Agrippa knows about these things, and I have been speaking openly to him. I'm certain that none of these things have escaped his attention. This didn't happen secretly or in some out-of-the-way place. 27King Agrippa, do you believe the prophets? I know you do."

28Agrippa said to Paul, "Are you trying to convince me that, in such a short time, you've made me a Christian?"

29Paul responded, "Whether it is a short or a long time, I pray to God that not only you but also all who are listening to me today will become like me, except for these chains."

30The king stood up, as did the governor, Bernice, and those sitting with them. 31As they left, they were saying to each other, "This man is doing nothing that deserves death or imprisonment."

32Agrippa said to Festus, "This man could have been released if he hadn't appealed to Caesar."

being poked and prodded by a pointed instrument to go in the right direction.

26:15-18 Unlike earlier accounts, where Ananias first conveyed Paul's mission to proclaim Christ (Acts 9:13-16; 22:12-15), here Christ himself directly appoints Paul for service (cf. Acts 22:17-21).

26:18 from darkness to light: Compare with Acts 26:23, from the power of Satan to God: On Satan, see note on Acts 5:3. On Jesus' power to set free those who have fallen under Satan's harmful control, see Luke 10:18-19; 13:11-13, 16.

26:20 On Paul's early ministry in Damascus and Jerusalem, see Acts 9:20-30. change their hearts and lives: See note on Acts 2:38.

26:21 some Jews seized me in the temple: See Acts 21:27-36. 26:22-23 the Prophets and Moses declared... that the Christ would suffer and... rise from the dead: Compare with Luke 24:25-27, 44-47; Acts 3:18-22; 10:43; 13:27-41; 17:2-3.

26:22 bear witness to the lowly and the great: suitable summary of the breadth of Paul's mission, including both the poor and weak (cf. Acts 20:24-25) and the powerful and wealthy.

26:23 Christ... as the first to rise from the dead: See sidebar, "Hope in the Resurrection" at Acts 24. proclaim light: The light-bearing mission to both Jews and Gentiles that Christ ordered Paul to carry out (Acts 13:47; 26:17-18; cf. Luke 2:30-32) is now presented as being first practiced by Christ himself.

26:24-28 Festus blurts out that Paul's learning is making him talk crazy nonsense (cf. Acts 12:15). However, by making this groundless charge, Festus only indicates how incomplete his presumed "accurate understanding of the Way" (Acts 24:22) really is (cf. Acts 24:24-26). Paul quickly dismisses Festus' remarks and returns to addressing Agrippa, the more knowledgeable and sympathetic judge.

26:28 you've made me a Christian?: On the term "Christian," see note on Acts 11:26. Agrippa's question can be taken sarcastically (Do you really think I would ever become a Christian?) or seriously (You're starting to persuade me; can you tell me more?).

26:31 nothing that deserves death or imprisonment: confirming yet again Paul's innocence (cf. Acts 23:29; 25:7-11, 25).

26:32 This man could have been released: Evidently, once the appeal process to Caesar is set in motion, it must be carried out.

Paul's voyage to Rome

27When it was determined that we were to sail to Italy, Paul and some other prisoners were placed in the custody of a centurion named Julius of the Imperial Company.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup>We boarded a ship from Adramyttium that was about to sail for ports along the coast of the province of Asia. So we put out to sea. Aristarchus, a Macedonian from Thessalonica, came with us. <sup>3</sup>The next day we landed in Sidon. Julius treated Paul kindly and permitted him to go to some friends so they could take care of him. <sup>4</sup>From there we sailed off. We passed Cyprus, using the island to shelter us from the headwinds. <sup>5</sup>We sailed across the open sea off the coast of Cilicia and Pamphylia, and landed in Myra in Lycia. <sup>6</sup>There the centurion found an Alexandrian ship headed for Italy and put us on board. <sup>7</sup>After many days of slow and difficult sailing, we arrived off the coast of Cnidus. The wind wouldn't allow us to go farther, so we sailed under the shelter of Crete off Salmone. <sup>8</sup>We sailed along the coast only with difficulty until we came to a place called Good Harbors,<sup>b</sup> near the city of Lasea.

<sup>9</sup>Much time had been lost, and the voyage was now dangerous since the Day of Reconciliation had already passed. Paul warned them, <sup>10</sup>"Men, I see that our voyage will suffer damage and great loss, not only for the cargo and ship but also for our lives." <sup>11</sup>But the centurion was persuaded more by the ship's pilot and captain than by Paul's advice. <sup>12</sup>Since the harbor was unsuitable for spending the winter, the majority supported a plan to put out to sea from there. They thought they might reach Phoenix in Crete and spend the winter in its harbor, which faced southwest and northwest.

27:1–28:16 Paul is transferred with other prisoners to Rome. The long voyage across the Mediterranean Sea is complicated by stormy weather and a shipwreck. Shipwrecks were a common threat in the ancient world (Wis 14:1–7) and for Paul in particular (2 Cor 11:25–26).

27:1 we were to sail: The text reintroduces the "we" group of Paul's traveling companions, last seen in Acts 21:18. This continues through Acts 28:16. Paul and some other prisoners: Up to this point Paul has been treated as a special, isolated prisoner; here his being lumped in with other prisoners recalls the dying Jesus' association with criminals (Luke 23:32–43). centurion . . . of the Imperial Company: See note on Acts 10:1. The Imperial Company was a military unit established by Emperor Augustus.

27:2 Adramyttium: port on the Aegean Sea in northwest-ern Asia Minor. Aristarchus: See note on Acts 19:29.

27:3 Sidon: port on the Mediterranean Sea in Syrophenicia, north of Caesarea and Tyre. On the Christian community in the area, see Acts 11:19; 21:2–6. Julius treated Paul kindly: continuing the generally positive portrayal of Roman military officers (Acts 27:43; 10:1–8, 24–33; 22:26–29; 23:16–35; Luke 7:1–10; 23:47). For Paul's dependence on the care of friends while he was in custody, see note on Acts 24:23.

27:4–14 The course of the voyage runs along the southern coast of Asia Minor and then southwest toward the island of Crete in the middle of the Mediterranean Sea. The cities of Salmone, Good Harbors, Lasea (Acts 27:8), and Phoenix (Acts 27:12) are all on Crete.

27:6 Alexandrian ship: probably carrying grain from Egypt, which provided much of Rome's food supply.

27:7 slow and difficult sailing: the first hint of a dangerous voyage. Even for experienced sailors, sea travel in the ancient world was risky.

27:9 Day of Reconciliation: annual Jewish observance (Yom Kippur) on the tenth day of the seventh month (late September/early October), focusing on rituals of forgiveness and fasting. Weather conditions at this time of year make for rough sailing on the Mediterranean Sea.

27:10–11 Paul will prove to be a better guide on the voyage than the ship's captain (see Acts 27:21). The story stresses Paul's leadership, inspired by God (see Acts 27:23–25), even though he's a prisoner.

27:14 hurricane-strength wind . . . swept down: The sudden eruption of a violent sea storm recalls the dangerous boating experience of Jesus and his disciples on Lake Gennesaret (Luke 8:22–25).

27:17 Gulf of Syrtis: shallow waters off the northern coast of Africa, unsuitable for sailing.

27:18–19 Lightening the ship's load makes for easier navigation (cf. Acts 27:38; Jon 1:5).

27:20 neither the sun nor the moon appeared: recalls the world-shaking signs associated with the Spirit's climatic

<sup>21</sup>For a long time no one had eaten. Paul stood up among them and said, “Men, you should have complied with my instructions not to sail from Crete. Then we would have avoided this damage and loss. <sup>22</sup>Now I urge you to be encouraged. Not one of your lives will be lost, though we will lose the ship. <sup>23</sup>Last night an angel from the God to whom I belong and whom I worship stood beside me. <sup>24</sup>The angel said, ‘Don’t be afraid, Paul! You must stand before Caesar! Indeed, God has also graciously given you everyone sailing with you.’ <sup>25</sup>Be encouraged, men! I have faith in God that it will be exactly as he told me. <sup>26</sup>However, we must run aground on some island.”

<sup>27</sup>On the fourteenth night, we were being carried across the Adriatic Sea. Around midnight the sailors began to suspect that land was near. <sup>28</sup>They dropped a weighted line to take soundings and found the water to be about one hundred twenty feet deep. After proceeding a little farther, we took soundings again and found the water to be about ninety feet deep. <sup>29</sup>Afraid that we might run aground somewhere on the rocks, they hurled out four anchors from the stern and began to pray for daylight. <sup>30</sup>The sailors tried to abandon the ship by lowering the lifeboat into the sea, pretending they were going to lower anchors from the bow. <sup>31</sup>Paul said to the centurion and his soldiers, “Unless they stay in the ship, you can’t be saved from peril.” <sup>32</sup>The soldiers then cut the ropes to the lifeboat and let it drift away.

<sup>39</sup>In the morning light they saw a bay with a sandy beach. They didn’t know what land it was, but they thought they might possibly be able to run the ship aground. <sup>40</sup>They cut the anchors loose and left them in the sea. At the same time, they untied the ropes that ran back to the rudders. They raised the foresail to catch the wind and made for the beach. <sup>41</sup>But they struck a sandbar and the ship ran aground. The bow was stuck and wouldn’t move, and the stern was broken into pieces by the force of the waves. <sup>42</sup>The soldiers decided to kill the prisoners to keep them from swimming to shore and escaping. <sup>43</sup>However, the centurion wanted to save Paul, so he stopped them from carrying out their plan. He ordered those who could swim to jump overboard first and head for land. <sup>44</sup>He ordered the rest to grab hold of planks or debris from the ship. In this way, everyone reached land safely.

On the Island of Malta

28 After reaching land safely, we learned that the island was called Malta. <sup>2</sup>The islanders showed us extraordinary kindness. Because it was rainy and cold, they built a fire and outpouring (Joel 2:30-31; see note on Acts 2:19-20). all hope of our being saved: Although tied here to a specific crisis, the ideas of “hope” and “saved” (salvation) carry wide religious significance in Acts (cf. Acts 27:31; see note on Acts 4:12).

 27:21-25 Paul serves as an agent of God’s salvation in the midst of the storm (cf. Luke 8:22-25; Acts 16:25-34 [after an earthquake]).
 27:21 no one had eaten: not for lack of food (see Acts 27:33-38). Perhaps they’re fasting or just seasick.
 27:23 angel from . . . God: See note on Acts 5:19-20.
 27:24 You must stand before Caesar!: Compare with Acts 19:21; 23:11; 25:11.
 27:26 Exactly what will happen in Acts 27:41.
 27:27 Adriatic Sea: extension of the Mediterranean Sea between the peninsulas of Italy and Greece. midnight: Compare with Acts 16:25; 20:7.
 27:29 they . . . began to pray: In desperation the sailors pray to some unspecified deity (cf. Jonah 1:5). Their panic stands in contrast to Paul’s calm assurance, anchored in his faith in the true God (Acts 27:25).
 27:31 On Paul’s leadership in this story as an agent of salvation, see note on Acts 27:10-11.

27:34 None of you will lose a single hair: Compare with Luke 12:7.
 27:35 he took bread, gave thanks to God . . . broke it: recalls Jesus’ Last Supper (Passover) with his disciples in Luke 22:19.
 27:38 eaten as much as they wanted: recalls the crowd’s eating “until they were full” of Jesus’ provision of bread and fish in Luke 9:16-17.
 27:39-28:10 The ship stalls on the coast of Malta, all the passengers are saved, and Paul ministers to the population there.
 27:41 the ship ran aground: as Paul had predicted in Acts 27:26.
 27:42-43 The soldiers’ plan to kill the prisoners contrasts with Paul’s aim to save everyone on board. The centurion’s intention to protect Paul fits the pattern noted in Acts 27:3.
 27:44 everyone reached land safely: as Paul had promised in Acts 27:34; it’s repeated for emphasis in Acts 28:1.
 28:1 Malta: island south of Sicily and Italy.
 28:2 showed us extraordinary kindness: as the centurion Julius had shown Paul in Acts 27:3.

welcomed all of us. <sup>3</sup>Paul gathered a bunch of dry sticks and put them on the fire. As he did, a poisonous snake, driven out by the heat, latched on to his hand. <sup>4</sup>When the islanders saw the snake hanging from his hand, they said to each other, "This man must be a murderer! He was rescued from the sea, but the goddess Justice hasn't let him live!" <sup>5</sup>Paul shook the snake into the fire and suffered no harm. <sup>6</sup>They expected him to swell up with fever or suddenly drop dead. After waiting a long time and seeing nothing unusual happen to him, they changed their minds and began to claim that he was a god.

<sup>7</sup>Publius, the island's most prominent person, owned a large estate in that area. He welcomed us warmly into his home as his guests for three days. <sup>8</sup>Publius' father was bedridden, sick with a fever and dysentery. Paul went to see him and prayed. He placed his hand on him and healed him. <sup>9</sup>Once this happened, the rest of the sick on the island came to him and were healed. <sup>10</sup>They honored us in many ways. When we were getting ready to sail again, they supplied us with what we needed.

Paul makes it to Rome

<sup>11</sup>After three months we put out to sea in a ship that had spent the winter at the island. It was an Alexandrian ship with carvings of the twin gods Castor and Pollux as its figurehead. <sup>12</sup>We landed in Syracuse where we stayed three days. <sup>13</sup>From there we sailed to Rhegium. After one day a south wind came up, and we arrived on the second day in Puteoli. <sup>14</sup>There we found brothers and sisters who urged us to stay with them for a week. In this way we came to Rome. <sup>15</sup>When the brothers and sisters there heard about us, they came as far as the Forum of Appius and the Three Taverns to meet us. When Paul saw them, he gave thanks to God and was encouraged. <sup>16</sup>When we entered Rome, Paul was permitted to live by himself, with a soldier guarding him.

Paul meets Jewish leaders in Rome

<sup>17</sup>Three days later, Paul called the Jewish leaders together. When they gathered, he said, "Brothers, although I have done nothing against our people or the customs of our ancestors, I'm a prisoner from Jerusalem. They handed me over to the Romans, <sup>18</sup>who intended to release me after they examined me, because they couldn't find any reason for putting me to death. <sup>19</sup>When the Jews objected, I was forced to appeal to Caesar. Don't think I appealed to Caesar because I had any reason to bring charges against my nation. <sup>20</sup>This is why I

28:4 goddess Justice: a divine personification of justice and judgment in Greco-Roman mythology.

28:5 Authority over snakes was associated with defeating demonic powers of evil (cf. Luke 10:17-19; Mark 16:18).

28:6 suddenly drop dead: This actually happened to Ananias and Sapphira (Acts 5:5, 10) and Herod Agrippa I (Acts 12:23) in situations of misconduct and judgment. claim that he was a god: recalls the Lystrans' worship of Paul (and Barnabas) as a Greek god, which Paul strongly denounced (Acts 14:11-18).

28:7 most prominent person: probably indicates Publius' position as the Roman governor of Malta, like Sergius Paulus in Cyprus (Acts 13:7). welcomed us warmly into his home: For other examples of hospitality shown to Paul, see Acts 16:15, 33-34, 40; 17:7; 18:2-3, 7; 21:4-17; 27:3; 28:14.

28:8-9 Even as a prisoner, Paul continues his ministry of healing. Compare with Jesus' healing of one of the men who arrested him (Luke 22:50-51).

28:8 Compare with Jesus' relieving the high fever of Simon's mother-in-law in Luke 4:38-39.

28:11-16 The final leg of the journey: northward by sea to Syracuse, Rhegium, and Puteoli, then overland to Rome.

28:11 Alexandrian ship: See note on Acts 27:6. Castor and Pollux: sons of Zeus whose images were carved on the prows of ships to guide and protect sailors. In Paul's voyage, however, only his God (not represented by any image) provides safety through the storm (cf. Acts 27:23-25).

28:12 Syracuse: port with a large natural harbor on the southeast side of Sicily.

28:13 Rhegium: port on the boot tip of Italy, across the Strait of Messina from Sicily. Puteoli: port on the Tyrrhenian Sea in western Italy. The origins of the Christian community here (Acts 28:14) are unknown.

28:15 brothers and sisters... came... to meet us: The roots of the church at Rome may trace back to Jewish pilgrims returning from celebrating Pentecost in Jerusalem (Acts 2:10). Although Paul has never visited the Christians in Rome, his reputation has preceded him, perhaps helped by reports from associates Aquila and Priscilla, who had lived there (see Acts 18:2-3; Rom 1:8-14; 15:22-24; 16:3-4). Forum of Appius and the Three Taverns: market towns 34 miles from Rome on the Appian Way, the major road connecting Rome with southern Italy.

28:16 Paul's relative freedom while awaiting trial (cf. Acts 24:23) reflects his status as a Roman citizen and allows him to continue meeting people and witnessing to them (Acts 28:17-31).

28:17-31 Paul's testimony in Rome before local Jewish leaders (28:17-28) and anyone who comes to visit him (28:30-31). However, Acts ends rather abruptly without reporting Paul's trial before Caesar.

28:17-20 Paul invites the (non-Christian) Jewish leaders to his residence. He briefly summarizes his trial history and stresses his innocence on all counts.

28:20 hope of Israel: See sidebar, "Hope in the Resurrection" at Acts 24.

asked to see you and speak with you: it's because of the hope of Israel that I am bound with this chain."

<sup>21</sup>They responded, "We haven't received any letters about you from Judea, nor have any of our brothers come and reported or said anything bad about you. <sup>22</sup>But we think it's important to hear what you think, for we know that people everywhere are speaking against this faction."

<sup>23</sup>On the day scheduled for this purpose, many people came to the place where he was staying. From morning until evening, he explained and testified concerning God's kingdom and tried to convince them about Jesus through appealing to the Law from Moses and the Prophets. <sup>24</sup>Some were persuaded by what he said, but others refused to believe. <sup>25</sup>They disagreed with each other and were starting to leave when Paul made one more statement: "The Holy Spirit spoke correctly when he said to your ancestors through Isaiah the prophet,

You will hear, to be sure, but never understand; and you will certainly see but never recognize what you are seeing.

<sup>27</sup>This people's senses have become calloused, and they've become hard of hearing, and they've shut their eyes so that they won't see with their eyes or hear with their ears

or understand with their minds, and change their hearts and lives that I may heal them.<sup>28</sup>

<sup>28</sup>"Therefore, be certain of this: God's salvation has been sent to the Gentiles. They will listen!"<sup>29</sup>

Paul's ministry in Rome

<sup>30</sup>Paul lived in his own rented quarters for two full years and welcomed everyone who came to see him. <sup>31</sup>Unhindered and with complete confidence, he continued to preach God's kingdom and to teach about the Lord Jesus Christ.

28:21-22 Bad publicity continues to haunt Paul (cf. Acts 21:20-21; 24:5-9), even though the Jews in Rome have received no direct word about him.

28:21 letters: See note on Acts 23:25.

28:22 this faction: splinter group of Jews and Gentiles following Jesus of Nazareth (see note on Acts 24:5).

28:23-28 Paul speaks about Jesus all day long with a large audience (many people) of Jews (more than just the leaders) who come to his quarters. He connects Jesus with two familiar themes: God's kingdom (see notes on Acts 1:3; 8:12; cf. Acts 14:22; 19:8; 20:25; 28:31) and God's word through Moses and the prophets (cf. Acts 13:26-27, 38-40; 17:3; 26:22-23, 27).

28:24-25 Continued divided response and debate among Jews to Paul's message (cf. Acts 13:42-44; 14:1-4; 17:1-15; 18:4-17).

28:25-27 The Gospels also cite Isaiah 6:9-10 to help explain the failure of some Jews to understand Jesus' parables (Matt 13:13-14; Mark 4:11-12; Luke 8:10) and believe his miraculous signs (John 12:37-41).

28:28 God's salvation has been sent to the Gentiles: major theme from the beginning of Luke's Gospel (Acts 2:30-32; 3:6) to the end of Acts. It doesn't mean that salvation has been transferred from the Jews to the Gentiles; instead, it acknowledges Israel's calling to be a "light to the nations," announced in Isaiah 49:6 (cited in Luke 2:32; Acts 13:47; 26:23). On previous occasions, Paul forcefully proclaimed his intention to turn from Jews who resisted his message to more receptive Gentiles (Acts 13:46-47; 18:6); but thereafter he continued to preach to both Jews (first) and Gentiles in other cities.

28:30 See note on Acts 28:16.

28:31 Unhindered: This is the very last word in the Greek text, because Greek sentence structure is different from that of English. Ending with unhindered suggests that Acts ends on a note of openness and opportunity. Although the story has anticipated Paul's trial and possible death in Rome (Acts 20:23-24; 21:11-13; 25:11, 21, 25; 26:31-32), it stops before relating those events. complete confidence: See note on Acts 4:13. God's kingdom: Compare with Acts 28:23; see notes on Acts 1:3; 8:12.

ROMANS

Paul's letter to the early Christian believers in Rome is surely the most significant letter in the history of Christianity. It's also quite possibly the most influential letter in all of human history. The impact of the book of Romans on Christian belief, behavior, spirituality, and worship has been profound. It's also been important for relations among Christians, as well as relations between Christians and Jews. Romans has ignited movements with far-reaching implications for the Christian church, for culture, and even for politics. As the longest of Paul's letters, it's the bridge between the stories about Paul in Acts and the rest of Paul's letters. For many people, therefore, Romans has become the guide to interpreting Paul's letters as a whole.

Romans continues to raise many questions about its original purpose and its ongoing significance. It's called Paul's Letter to the Romans, but Martin Luther's collaborator, Melancthon, called it a handbook of the Christian religion. Can it somehow be both? Romans was written to the believers in Rome, who were probably assembled in various house churches (Rom 16:5), to address one or more of the concrete issues facing them. Yet it has an obvious systematic quality to it that's unlike any of the other letters bearing Paul's name. This blending of forms has led some to call it a letter-essay. To compose it, Paul drew on the OT, early Christian traditions, and even his own letters (especially Galatians and 1–2 Corinthians).

The subject matter of Romans is as complex as its literary form. Over the centuries many themes in the letter have been recognized. Some of these have been proposed as the theme of the letter: the gospel of God, salvation for both Jews and non-Jews, justification (or righteousness) by faith, the righteousness or justice of God, freedom from sin and death, dying and rising with Christ, resurrection, hope for the glory of God, unity in Christ, and others. All of these themes are present, and each one expresses some aspect of the multilayered yet unified message Paul sent to the believers in Rome.

These features of Romans are due in part to the fact that Paul was writing to a community he had neither founded nor visited, though he knew a number of people there (Rom 16). Paul wrote the letter, in part, to introduce himself and his gospel to the house churches in Rome before paying them a visit (Rom 15:22-33). This planned visit may have been both pastoral and practical, taken in part to raise support for his mission trip westward to Spain. This was to follow a trip east to Jerusalem with funds collected from (largely) Gentile churches for the poor Jewish believers in Jerusalem (Rom 15:25-29).

Paul's letter was likely prompted also by tensions between groups of (largely) Gentile and (largely) Jewish believers in Rome, perhaps in different house churches. Some Gentile believers seem to have developed a sense of superiority toward Jews. It's possible that this situation arose after the emperor Claudius expelled members of the Jewish community from Rome in 49 CE (Acts 18:2). If so, it's also possible that new tensions arose when Jews returned to the city, and thus also to the churches, in 54. Since so few Jews had believed the gospel, some Gentile believers may have felt that God had given up on the chosen people. At the same time, many Jewish believers may have wondered if God was fair and just. Had God in fact rejected them?

Writing from Corinth (16:1 refers to Cenchreae, one of Corinth's ports) in the winter of 56–57 or 57–58, Paul explains that the gospel of God's liberating and transforming salvation in Christ is for all people, both Jews and non-Jews. Romans contains the good news of God's faithfulness and mercy shown in the faithful death of Christ to bring about our response of faith and faithfulness. Christ's death and resurrection free us from the power of sin and death, reconciling us to God and to each other as we believe the gospel. When we come to faith, we die and rise with Christ into a new Spirit-led life in a multicultural community. Believing Gentiles and Jews—that is, people of all ethnic groups and races—are united in Christ, restored to humanity's lost righteousness and glory in order to praise God together.

The great themes of Romans, then, were not meant merely to address issues of doctrine, or even to answer burning individual questions such as, "How can I be right with God?" They are, rather, part of Paul's response to questions about God's purposes for Israel, humanity, and the entire creation. The ultimate purpose of Romans is to invite us to share in, and to pass on, that good news.

Greeting

1 From Paul, a slave of Christ Jesus, called to be an apostle and set apart for God's good news. <sup>2</sup>God promised this good news about his Son ahead of time through his prophets in the holy scriptures. His Son was descended from David. <sup>4</sup>He was publicly identified as God's Son with power through his resurrection from the dead, which was based on the Spirit of holiness. This Son is Jesus Christ our Lord. <sup>5</sup>Through him we have received God's grace and our appointment to be apostles. This was to bring all Gentiles to faithful obedience for his name's sake. <sup>6</sup>You who are called by Jesus Christ are also included among these Gentiles.

<sup>7</sup>To those in Rome who are dearly loved by God and called to be God's people. Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving and Paul's plans to visit

<sup>8</sup>First of all, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you, because the news about your faithfulness is being spread throughout the whole world. <sup>9</sup>I serve God in my spirit by preaching the good news about God's Son, and God is my witness that I continually mention you <sup>10</sup>in all my prayers. I'm always asking that somehow, by God's will, I might succeed in visiting you at last. <sup>11</sup>I really want to see you to pass along some spiritual gift to you so that you can be strengthened. <sup>12</sup>What I mean is that we can mutually encourage each other while I am with you. We can be encouraged by the faithfulness we find in each other, both your faithfulness and mine.

<sup>13</sup>I want you to know, brothers and sisters, that I planned to visit you many times, although I have been prevented from coming until now. I want to harvest some fruit among you, just as I have done among the other Gentiles. <sup>14</sup>I have a responsibility both to Greeks and to those who don't speak Greek, both to the wise and to the foolish.

God's righteousness is revealed

<sup>15</sup>That's why I'm ready to preach the gospel also to you who are in Rome. <sup>16</sup>I'm not ashamed of the gospel: it is God's own power for salvation to all who have faith in God, to the Jew first and also to the Greek. <sup>17</sup>God's righteousness is being revealed in the gospel, from faithfulness<sup>a</sup> for faith,<sup>b</sup> as it is written, The righteous person will live by faith.<sup>c</sup>

1:1-7 Paul introduces himself, the good news (or "gospel") he proclaims, Jesus as the content of the good news, and his readers' participation in it.

1:1 slave of Christ: Paul is like Christ himself (Phil 2:6-8) and like other key figures in Israel and the early church who saw themselves as the Lord's servant. apostle: authorized and commissioned representative. For Paul, an apostle is someone who's seen the risen Jesus (1 Cor 9:1; 15:8) and been set apart to proclaim the good news (Gal 1:15).

1:2-3 Paul points out the Jewishness of the gospel: It was promised by the OT prophets and is about Jesus, who is both God's Son and David's "descendant," or son. The Christ (Messiah) was often expected to be a royal descendant of David and, like Israel's earlier kings, would be called God's son (Pss 2:7; 110:1). Paul implies that the Roman emperor isn't God's Son.

1:4 the resurrection of Jesus is God's act—through the power of the Spirit of holiness, or Holy Spirit (Eph 1:19-20)—of demonstrating that Jesus is, in fact, God's Son, the promised Christ, and Lord.

1:5 we: Paul, or Paul and his fellow apostles. The source of Paul's apostleship is God's grace (1 Cor 15:8-10); its primary focus is Gentiles, or non-Jews (Rom 11:13; 15:15-18); and its goal is their faithful obedience, or obedient faith (Rom 6:15-20; 10:16; 15:18; 16:26). Faith and faithfulness, or obedience, are inseparable because Jesus was faithful and obedient (Rom 3:21-26; 5:12-21).

1:6-7 God's gracious call has included the believers living in Rome. It reveals that they are God's dearly loved.

1:7 Grace . . . peace: divine favor and harmony (Heb. shalom), Paul's standard letter greeting. It initiates an atmosphere of prayer. God's people: or, "God's holy ones."

1:8-12 In the letter's thanksgiving Paul affirms the authenticity of his readers' call and explains how his own call has prevented him from visiting them.

1:8 faithfulness: The evidence that the gospel has truly reached Rome is the church's reputation not merely for belief but also for faithfulness (see Rom 1:5).

1:10 somehow, by God's will: Paul wants to be clear that it's his ministry, not disinterest, that has stopped him from visiting Rome, and he's waiting for God to create an opportunity for him to go there (cf. Rom 1:13).

1:11-12 Sharing the gospel's spiritual benefits isn't a one-way street but a mutual sharing. Paul promotes mutuality within the churches in Rome (Rom 12:1-15:13) and shows his own practice of it in ministry (Rom 16). spiritual gift: not a specific gift but mutual encouragement (1:12).

1:13-15 prevented: by ministry commitments and, therefore, by God (Rom 15:22-24). harvest some fruit: proclaim the gospel in a way that both strengthens believers and brings in new converts.

1:14 don't speak Greek: or "barbarians," the simple and uneducated.

1:16-17 Paul announces the letter's theme. not

Gentiles are without excuse

<sup>18</sup>God's wrath is being revealed from heaven against all the ungodly behavior and the injustice of human beings who silence the truth with injustice. <sup>19</sup>This is because what is known about God should be plain to them because God made it plain to them. <sup>20</sup>Ever since the creation of the world, God's invisible qualities—God's eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, because they are understood through the things God has made. So humans are without excuse. <sup>21</sup>Although they knew God, they didn't honor God as God or thank him. Instead, their reasoning became pointless, and their foolish hearts were darkened. <sup>22</sup>While they were claiming to be wise, they made fools of themselves. <sup>23</sup>They exchanged the glory of the immortal God for images that look like mortal humans: birds, animals, and reptiles. <sup>24</sup>So God abandoned them to their hearts' desires, which led to the moral corruption of degrading their own bodies with each other. <sup>25</sup>They traded God's truth for a lie, and they worshipped and served the creation instead of the creator, who is blessed forever. Amen.

<sup>26</sup>That's why God abandoned them to degrading lust. Their females traded natural sexual relations for unnatural sexual relations. <sup>27</sup>Also, in the same way, the males traded natural sexual relations with females, and burned with lust for each other. Males performed shameful actions with males, and they were paid back with the penalty they deserved for their mistake in their own bodies. <sup>28</sup>Since they didn't think it was worthwhile to acknowledge God, God abandoned them to a defective mind to do inappropriate things. <sup>29</sup>So they were filled with all injustice, wicked behavior, greed, and evil behavior. They are full of jealousy, murder, fighting, deception, and malice. They are gossips, <sup>30</sup>they slander people, and they hate God. They are rude and proud, and they brag. They invent ways to be evil, and they are disobedient to their parents. <sup>31</sup>They are without understanding, disloyal, without affection, and without mercy. <sup>32</sup>Though they know God's decision that those who persist in such practices deserve death, they not only keep doing these things but also approve others who practice them.

Jews are without excuse

2So every single one of you who judge others is without any excuse. You condemn yourself when you judge another person because the one who is judging is doing the same things.

ashamed: The gospel of the crucified, resurrected Christ is the focus of Paul's life and the source of his honor (1 Cor 1:18-25). power... salvation: The gospel is God's means of rescuing humans from sin and death and restoring them to the life for which we have been created. faith in God: "in God" is implied in the Greek, as it is in Romans 3:22. Jew... Greek: non-Jew, or Gentile, the letter's refrain (Rom 2:9-10; 3:9, 28-30; 10:12; 11:11-14; 15:8-9). God's righteousness: or saving justice, a key term for Paul that refers to God's holy character and covenant faithfulness—God's integrity and determination to set things right (e.g., Ps 98; Isa 45:20-25; 51:1-8). faithfulness: either God's or Christ's (see Rom 3:21-26). for faith: not merely belief but faithfulness (see alternative in the translation note), as in Romans 1:8. God's faithfulness manifested in Christ's faithful death is proclaimed as good news and has as its goal the response of faith and faithfulness in all who hear it (Rom 1:5; 15:26). In this way human beings receive and share in God's own faithfulness and righteousness. written: The OT quotation (Hab 2:4) sums up the key elements of the theme of Romans: righteousness, faith/faithfulness, and life.

1:18-4:25 From the perspective of being in Christ, Paul uses OT testimony (4:1-25) to describe humanity's terrible situation (1:18-3:20) and God's faithful and merciful response (3:21-31).

1:18-3:20 Paul portrays the hopeless, unrighteous situation of humanity outside Christ, summarized in Romans 3:9, 23: under the power of sin, like slaves, all people have sinned and missed out on God's glory. This charge reminds believers, whether Gentile or Jewish, of the mess from which God has delivered them.

1:18-32 Humanity's terrible situation before God, with special focus on Gentile idolatry and immorality. When people don't recognize, honor, and thank God, it leads to foolishness, idolatry, immorality, and various unjust and unrighteous practices. Their minds, hearts, and bodies are all affected, and they live in a state of deception. Similar perspectives appear in Wisdom of Solomon 13-15.

1:18 is being revealed: God's wrath is revealed in the present consequences of turning from God. ungodly behavior: or "impiety," humanity's improper treatment of God (Rom 1:19-23, 25). injustice: or "unrighteousness," people's improper treatment of each other (Rom 1:24, 26-32).

1:23-25 Worship of the creator becomes worship of the creature, whether in idolatry or immorality or both (Exod 32; Ps 106:19-20). exchanged: See also traded in Romans 1:25-27. God abandoned them: God lets humans reap the consequences of their foolish decisions (cf. Rom 1:26, 28; Ps 81:11-12).

1:26-27 Like other Jews of his time, Paul sees sexual activity between persons of the same sex as an expression of deception and disorder in human relations. Its place in the discussion suggests that sexual sin negatively affects one's relationship both with God and with other people. natural... unnatural: according to the structure of reality given in the creation account in Genesis.

1:28-32 The list of unrighteous and unjust practices is almost poetic in its description of the human condition. Paul later quotes the OT to make the same point (Rom 3:10-18).

1:32 deserve death: don't deserve eternal life (Rom 3:23; 6:22-23).

2:1-16 God's way of unbiased judgment according to Righteousness “Righteousness” is one of the most important words in Paul’s vocabulary. When he speaks of God’s righteousness, he is naming God’s most basic character quality. This quality includes God’s holiness, faithfulness (especially to the covenant with Israel), integrity, deliverance, saving activity, and life-giving power. The word may also be translated as God’s “justice,” but this doesn’t mean God’s revenge or punishment. Rather, it means God’s restoration of people and all creation to peace and wholeness. God’s righteousness in action sets things right.

According to Paul, humans were created to share in God’s righteousness. Left to themselves, however, they are unrighteous. They fail to live in right relationship with God and with each other. The gospel is the message that the righteous God of Israel is now re-creating a righteous people consisting of both Jews and Gentiles. God’s righteousness comes by grace through Christ’s righteous death for unrighteous humanity.

Those who believe the gospel are set right with God, share in Christ’s righteousness, and are given new life in him. (Other translations use words like “justify” and “justification” to translate the same family of Greek words.) They become part of the righteous people of God. By the power of God’s Spirit, they practice God’s kind of righteousness and generous justice in their daily lives.

<sup>2</sup>We know that God’s judgment agrees with the truth, and his judgment is against those who do these kinds of things. <sup>3</sup>If you judge those who do these kinds of things while you do the same things yourself, think about this: Do you believe that you will escape God’s judgment? <sup>4</sup>Or do you have contempt for the riches of God’s generosity, tolerance, and patience? Don’t you realize that God’s kindness is supposed to lead you to change your heart and life? <sup>5</sup>You are storing up wrath for yourself because of your stubbornness and your heart that refuses to change. God’s just judgment will be revealed on the day of wrath. <sup>6</sup>God will repay everyone based on their works. <sup>7</sup>On the one hand, he will give eternal life to those who look for glory, honor, and immortality based on their patient good work. <sup>8</sup>But on the other hand, there will be wrath and anger for those who obey wickedness instead of the truth because they are acting out of selfishness and disobedience. <sup>9</sup>There will be trouble and distress for every human being who does evil, for the Jew first and also for the Greek. <sup>10</sup>But there will be glory, honor, and peace for everyone who does what is good, for the Jew first and also for the Greek. <sup>11</sup>God does not have favorites.

<sup>12</sup>Those who have sinned outside the Law will also die outside the Law, and those who have sinned under the Law will be judged by the Law. <sup>13</sup>It isn’t the ones who hear the Law who are righteous in God’s eyes. It is the ones who do what the Law says who will be treated as righteous. <sup>14</sup>Gentiles don’t have the Law. But when they instinctively do what the Law requires they are a Law in themselves, though they don’t have the Law. <sup>15</sup>They show the proof of the Law written on their hearts, and their consciences affirm it. Their conflicting thoughts will accuse them, or even make a defense for them, <sup>16</sup>on the day when, according to my gospel, God will judge the hidden truth about human beings through Christ Jesus.

people’s deeds—not merely knowing about the good and right, but doing it.

2:1-5 A stinging critique of hypocrites who judge others while taking God’s favor and grace toward themselves for granted. The singular “you” isn’t directed at a specific person but is meant to include anyone and everyone.

2:2 these kinds of things: See Romans 1:18-32.

2:4 change your heart and life: the meaning of repentance.

2:5 day of wrath: Judgment Day (Rom 5:9; 12:19; 14:10).

2:6-11 The scriptural principle of God’s universal judgment according to deeds. This doesn’t undermine Paul’s later statements about righteousness by God’s grace. Rather, it’s the foundation for grace, because all have sinned.

2:6 Paul quotes from Psalms (28:4; 62:12) and Proverbs (24:12).

2:7-10 Paul applies the OT text to both Gentiles (the Greek) and Jews. He’s already said that Gentiles don’t seek honor or do good, and he’s about to accuse Jews of being in the same boat. He’ll later conclude that no one seeks honor or does good (Rom 3:9-20). Therefore the righteousness and proper glory that humans need, but don’t seek, comes by God’s grace in Christ.

2:7 eternal life: See Romans 5:21; 6:22-23.

2:11 A summary of Paul’s main point.

2:12-16 Paul restates his principle: What matters isn’t having the Law but doing it, or not.

2:12 outside the Law: Gentiles. under the Law: Jews.

2:14-16 Paul raises the possibility of Gentiles who seek glory and righteousness by performing the requirements of the Law without having the Law. His main point isn’t to suggest the existence of countless righteous Gentiles, but to strengthen the principle that God will judge people on the basis of doing, not just knowing, God’s will. a Law in themselves . . . written on their hearts: an internal, unwritten testimony to God’s will that is written in the Jewish Law.

Jews will be judged as well

- <sup>17</sup>But, if you call yourself a Jew;
if you rely on the Law;
if you brag about your relationship to God;
<sup>18</sup>if you know the will of God;
if you are taught by the Law so that you can figure out the things that really matter; <sup>19</sup>if you have persuaded yourself that you are:
a guide for the blind;
a light to those who are in darkness;
<sup>20</sup>an educator of the foolish;
a teacher of infants (since you have the full content of knowledge and truth in the Law);
<sup>21</sup>then why don't you who are teaching others teach yourself?
If you preach, "No stealing," do you steal?
<sup>22</sup>If you say, "No adultery," do you commit adultery?
If you hate idols, do you rob temples?
<sup>23</sup>If you brag about the Law, do you shame God by breaking the Law? <sup>24</sup>As it is written: The name of God is discredited by the Gentiles because of you.<sup>e</sup>
<sup>25</sup>Circumcision is an advantage if you do what the Law says. But if you are a person who breaks the Law, your status of being circumcised has changed into not being circumcised.
<sup>26</sup>So if the person who isn't circumcised keeps the Law, won't his status of not being circumcised be counted as if he were circumcised? <sup>27</sup>The one who isn't physically circumcised but keeps the Law will judge you. You became a lawbreaker after you had the written Law and circumcision. <sup>28</sup>It isn't the Jew who maintains outward appearances who will receive praise from God, and it isn't people who are outwardly circumcised on their bodies. <sup>29</sup>Instead, it is the person who is a Jew inside, who is circumcised in spirit, not literally. That person's praise doesn't come from people but from God.

God's faithfulness and justice

- 3 So what's the advantage of being a Jew? Or what's the benefit of circumcision? <sup>2</sup>Plenty in every way. First of all, the Jews were trusted with God's revelations. <sup>3</sup>What does it matter, then, if some weren't faithful? Their lack of faith won't cancel God's faithfulness, will it? <sup>4</sup>Absolutely not! God must be true, even if every human being is a liar, as it is written:
*So that it can show that you are right in your words;

2:17–3:8 The Jewish situation before God, balancing the emphasis on the Gentiles (Rom 1:18–32). Although Paul may exaggerate in order to make his point, he's serious about the extent of the human problem.

2:17–24 This stinging charge is written in the poetic style of a prophet like Amos. Paul applies the principles of Romans 2:1–16 to his own people. "You" (singular) is both any of his fellow Jews and his people as a whole. Paul accuses them of pride and especially hypocrisy, discrediting God's reputation.

2:17–20 The "if" phrases reflect certain aspects of Jewish self-understanding in Paul's day.

2:18 the things that really matter: the essential rather than the nonessential aspects of Jewish Law.

2:19 guide... darkness: representatives of God to the Gentiles (Rom 2:19–21; Isa 42:6–7).

2:21–24 Paul claims that, in breaking their own commandments, his fellow Jews are hypocrites, bring God public shame (Ezek 36:16–24), and fail to keep the covenant.

2:22 rob temples: perhaps a reference to occasional attacks on non-Jewish temples.

2:25–29 Paul redefines "Jew" in terms of inward rather than outward circumcision.

2:25–27 The mark of the covenant, circumcision, is valuable and valid only when the covenant is actually kept.

2:29 Jew inside... circumcised in spirit: Paul draws on themes from Deuteronomy (10:16; 30:6), Jeremiah (4:4; 9:23–26; 31:31–34), and Ezekiel (36:25–27) about a new covenant in which the Law will be written on people's hearts so that they'll keep their covenant responsibilities. Paul is preparing the way for his emphasis on the Spirit (Rom 5:5; 7:6; 8).

3:1–8 By creating an imaginary dialogue, Paul raises and answers possible objections to the claims of Romans 2:17–29. Being Jewish does have advantages, and the Jews' unfaithfulness doesn't mean that God is unfaithful.

3:2 Plenty: See Romans 9:4–5.

3:4 The quotation from Psalm 51:4 is spoken to God.

just, how could he judge the world? <sup>7</sup>But if God's truth is demonstrated by my lie and it increases his glory, why am I still judged as a sinner? <sup>8</sup>Why not say, "Let's do evil things so that good things will come out of it"? (Some people who slander us accuse us of saying that, but these people deserve criticism.)

All are under the power of sin

<sup>9</sup>So what are we saying? Are we better off? Not at all. We have already stated the charge: both Jews and Greeks are all under the power of sin. <sup>10</sup>As it is written,

There is no righteous person, not even one.

<sup>11</sup>There is no one who understands.

There is no one who looks for God.

<sup>12</sup>They all turned away.

They have become worthless together.

There is no one who shows kindness.

There is not even one.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Their throat is a grave that has been opened.

They are deceitful with their tongues, and the poison of vipers is under their lips.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>19</sup>Now we know that whatever the Law says, it speaks to those who are under the Law, in order to shut every mouth and make it so the whole world has to answer to God. <sup>20</sup>It follows that no human being will be treated as righteous in his presence by doing what the Law says, because the knowledge of sin comes through the Law.

God's righteousness through faithfulness of Christ

<sup>21</sup>But now God's righteousness has been revealed apart from the Law, which is confirmed by the Law and the Prophets. <sup>22</sup>God's righteousness comes through the faithfulness of Jesus Christ for all who have faith in him. There's no distinction. <sup>23</sup>All have sinned and fall short of God's glory, <sup>24</sup>but all are treated as righteous freely by his grace because of a ransom that was

3:7-8 The imaginary speaker draws a completely misguided conclusion. Apparently some people had reached this conclusion from Paul's teaching.

3:9-20 Paul concludes the discussion that began in Romans 1:18. He provides a chain of OT quotations to support his claim about universal human sin.

3:9 All people share a wide range of symptoms that reveal an underlying disease. Their practices or sins (plural) show that they share a common problem: like slaves, humans are under the dominion of a power that Paul calls sin (singular). Today the singular form is sometimes capitalized (i.e., "Sin") to highlight its difference from "sins."

3:10-18 The texts Paul quotes from Ecclesiastes, the Psalms, and Isaiah indicate the extent of sin's effects throughout the human race (no... not even one... no one... no one... all... no one... not even one). The texts also attest to the variety of humanity's evil practices. Misusing various parts of their bodies (throat... tongues... lips... mouths... feet), they are fearlessly (3:18) sinful from head to toe. Humanity's sins include especially violence in speech and action, the opposite of the OT vision of peace (3:17).

3:19-20 The ultimate conclusion of the argument that started in Romans 1:18. The Law (OT) confirms that the whole world is under God's judgment; God will consider no human being righteous (Ps 143:2; Gal 2:16) by doing the Law. Jews as well as Gentiles need the new life that comes from freedom; the Law provides only knowledge of sin (Rom 7:7-12).

3:21-26 Paul expands on the letter's theme (Rom 1:16-17), presented now as the solution to humanity's hopeless situation described in Romans 1:18-3:20. What humans lack and cannot attain on their own is provided by God in Christ. God's righteousness, grace, mercy, and faithfulness have been revealed in Jesus' faithful death. All who respond in faith receive that righteousness.

3:21 confirmed: Although the Law isn't the means of receiving God's righteousness, both the Law and the Prophets (the whole OT) actually confirm the good news Paul summarizes. OT quotations therefore abound in Romans. 3:22 God's righteousness: either God's saving work that restores sinners to right relations with him, or the gift of right relations and behavior that results from God's saving work. faithfulness of Jesus Christ: his saving death as an act of faithfulness and obedience (Rom 5:18-19). in him: in God (implied). no distinction: The means of salvation is the same for all, whether Jew or Gentile (Rom 2:10-11; 10:11-13).

3:23 God's glory: the eternal splendor and holiness of God that humans were created to recognize, confess, and share (cf. Rom 1:23; 2:7, 10; 5:2; 8:17, 21, 30).

3:24 treated as righteous: God's gracious salvation restores paid by Christ Jesus. <sup>25</sup>Through his faithfulness, God displayed Jesus as the place of sacrifice where mercy is found by means of his blood. He did this to demonstrate his righteousness in passing over sins that happened before, <sup>26</sup>during the time of God's patient tolerance. He also did this to demonstrate that he is righteous in the present time, and to treat the one who has faith in Jesus as righteous.

<sup>27</sup>What happens to our bragging? It's thrown out. With which law? With what we have accomplished under the Law? <sup>28</sup>No, not at all, but through the law of faith. We consider that a person is treated as righteous by faith, apart from what is accomplished under the Law. <sup>29</sup>Or is God the God of Jews only? Isn't God the God of Gentiles also? Yes, God is also the God of Gentiles. <sup>30</sup>Since God is one, then the one who makes the circumcised righteous by faith will also make the one who isn't circumcised righteous through faith. <sup>31</sup>Do we then cancel the Law through this faith? Absolutely not! Instead, we confirm the Law.

Abraham's faith was credited as righteousness

4 So what are we going to say? Are we going to find that Abraham is our ancestor on the basis of genealogy? <sup>2</sup>Because if Abraham was made righteous because of his actions, he would have had a reason to brag, but not in front of God. <sup>3</sup>What does the scripture say? Abraham had faith in God, and it was credited to him as righteousness.<sup>1</sup> <sup>4</sup>Workers' salaries aren't credited to them on the basis of an employer's grace but rather on the basis of what they deserve. <sup>5</sup>But faith is credited as righteousness to those who don't work, because they have faith in God who makes the ungodly righteous. <sup>6</sup>In the same way, David also pronounces a blessing on the person to whom God credits righteousness apart from actions:

<sup>9</sup>Is this state of happiness only for the circumcised or is it also for those who aren't circumcised? We say, "Faith was credited to Abraham as righteousness." <sup>10</sup>So how was it credited? When he was circumcised, or when he wasn't circumcised? In fact, it was credited while he still wasn't circumcised, not after he was circumcised. <sup>11</sup>He received the sign of circumcision sinners (Rom 3:23) to right relations with God and makes them righteous (Rom 4:5, 13). God's treatment isn't a fiction but the beginning of a new reality, ransom that was paid: not a payoff to someone (whether Satan or God) but an act of liberation from slavery.

3:25 Christ's death is the demonstration of God's faithfulness, mercy, and righteousness. place of sacrifice... mercy... blood: the mercy seat in the holy of holies (Lev 16:12-16). The emphasis is on grace, not punishment.

3:26 who has faith in Jesus: or "shares in the faithfulness of Jesus" by accepting and identifying with his faithful, saving death (cf. Rom 4:16).

3:27-31 There's no room for pride in a community made righteous solely by God's grace and the response of faith.

3:27-28 With which law?: a play on words (cf. Rom 8:2-3). Paul asks, "Which principle (law), or way, of attaining righteousness excludes pride?" He responds, "The way of grace and faith, rather than the way of following the Law."

3:29-30 The one God has only one way of making people, both Jews and Gentiles, righteous. This is a summary of Paul's gospel (Rom 3:22; 1:16-17; 10:11-13).

3:31 Paul expects to be charged with disregard for the Law, either the books of Moses or the OT as a whole. Chapter 4 is part of his proof that the gospel actually upholds the Law, and vice versa.

4:1-25 The story of Abraham and Sarah, with support from David, serves as OT testimony (see Rom 3:31) to the gospel. Paul focuses on three things: (1) God's grace as the source of Abraham's righteousness; (2) Abraham's faithful trust in God's promise—not in his circumcision, his deeds, or the Law—as the basis for his being considered righteous; and (3) the story of Abraham and Sarah as a story of death and resurrection. All who share in this kind of faith in the gospel's promise of new life through death and resurrection with Christ (Rom 6) are Abraham's descendants, whether circumcised or not (cf. Gal 3:6-18).

4:1-8 Paul cites two OT texts (Gen 15:6; Ps 32:1-2) to show that righteousness comes from God's grace, not human action.

4:1 genealogy: or "the flesh." The point of Paul's question is that what matters is being a spiritual descendant of Abraham by faith, not a physical descendant.

4:2 made righteous: The CEB translation stresses the fact that when God "credited" Abraham's faith as righteousness (Rom 4:3), God wasn't misrepresenting reality but creating a new reality (Rom 3:24).

4:3 Paul and James use the word "faith" in different ways, but they agree that belief and action are inseparable (Gen 15:6; cf. Gal 3:6-9; Jas 2:21-24).

4:4-5 credited: Paul draws on the accounting language of the Greek translation of Genesis 15:6 to show that righteousness is an unearned gift of God's grace given to the unrighteous. Righteousness isn't something earned, like wages. ungodly: Compare with Romans 1:18; 5:6.

4:6-8 David's words in Psalm 32:1-2 are a second witness, again using an accounting image, to God's undeserved grace, specifically God's forgiveness.

4:9-12 See Romans 4:3. Because God regarded Abraham's as a seal of the righteousness that comes from the faith he had while he still wasn't circumcised. It happened this way so that Abraham could be the ancestor of all those people who aren't circumcised, who have faith in God, and so are counted as righteous. <sup>12</sup>He could also be the ancestor of those circumcised people, who aren't only circumcised but who also walk in the path of faith, like our ancestor Abraham did while he wasn't circumcised.

Abraham's promise is received through faith

<sup>13</sup>The promise to Abraham and to his descendants, that he would inherit the world, didn't come through the Law but through the righteousness that comes from faith. <sup>14</sup>If they inherit because of the Law, then faith has no effect and the promise has been canceled. <sup>15</sup>The Law brings about wrath. But when there isn't any law, there isn't any violation of the law. <sup>16</sup>That's why the inheritance comes through faith, so that it will be on the basis of God's grace. In that way, the promise is secure for all of Abraham's descendants, not just for those who are related by Law but also for those who are related by the faith of Abraham, who is the father of all of us. <sup>17</sup>As it is written: I have appointed you to be the father of many nations. <sup>18</sup>So Abraham is our father in the eyes of God in whom he had faith, the God who gives life to the dead and calls things that don't exist into existence. <sup>19</sup>When it was beyond hope, he had faith in the hope that he would become the father of many nations, in keeping with the promise God spoke to him: That's how many descendants you will have. <sup>20</sup>Without losing faith, Abraham, who was nearly 100 years old, took into account his own body, which was as good as dead, and Sarah's womb, which was dead. <sup>21</sup>He didn't hesitate with a lack of faith in God's promise, but he grew strong in faith and gave glory to God. <sup>22</sup>He was fully convinced that God was able to do what he promised. <sup>23</sup>Therefore, it was credited to him as righteousness.

<sup>24</sup>But the scripture that says it was credited to him<sup>p</sup> wasn't written only for Abraham's sake. <sup>25</sup>It was written also for our sake, because it is going to be credited to us too. It will be credited to those of us who have faith in the one who raised Jesus our Lord from the dead. <sup>26</sup>He was handed over because of our mistakes, and he was raised to meet the requirements of righteousness for us.

Therefore, we have peace with God

5 Therefore, since we have been made righteous through his faithfulness<sup>q</sup> combined with our faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>2</sup>We have access by faith as proof of his righteousness before Abraham was circumcised (Gen 17:9-14), circumcision wasn't required for righteousness. Nor is it required now.

4:11-12 seal: confirmation. Abraham is the ancestor, or "father" (Gal 3:7-9), of Gentiles (the uncircumcised), who share his faith in God; and of Jews (the circumcised), who also share his faith. Neither circumcision nor uncircumcision matters (cf. Gal 5:6).

4:13-17 Just as Abraham's descendants aren't defined by being circumcised, neither are they defined by possessing the Law.

4:13 inherit the world: have many descendants throughout the world (see Gen 17:5; 15:5, which are both quoted in Rom 4:17, 18). The promise to Abraham came before the Law was given to Moses.

4:15 wrath: rather than life (cf. Rom 3:20). isn't any law: See Romans 5:13.

4:16 Grace and faith have become the new way of defining who is part of Abraham's family, his descendants and heirs of the promise made to him (Gal 3:18, 23-29).

4:17 The promise from Genesis 17:5 means that Gentiles (many nations) will be Abraham's descendants. the God who gives life: the God who brings resurrection out of death, whether for Abraham, for Jesus, or for believers.

4:18-22 Abraham's hope and trust in God's promise (Gen 15:5-6).

4:18 beyond hope: beyond the age for childbearing.

4:19 The "deadness" of Abraham's body and Sarah's womb emphasizes God's resurrection power, demonstrated in the birth of Isaac (Gen 21:1-8). Paul assumes his readers know the story.

4:20-22 Abraham's faith was robust and full of hope, trust, and praise. credited: See Romans 4:3, 9 (Gen 15:6).

4:23-25 The story of Abraham's faith and righteousness points ahead to the gospel and to believers in Paul's own day.

4:24 faith in the one who raised: As with Abraham (Rom 4:17), the faith that leads to righteousness is faith in the God of resurrection (Rom 8:34; 10:9).

4:25 Compare with Isaiah 53. handed over: to death (Rom 8:32). mistakes: sins. was raised: See Romans 6:4; 8:34; 1 Corinthians 15:4. Sinners who, by faith, share in Jesus' death and resurrection (Rom 6) are made righteous by God, just like Abraham.

5:1-8:39 This section of Romans contains some of Paul's most significant teaching on the salvation and new life that come through Christ's death and resurrection. Paul isn't presenting a sequential outline of phases in the Christian life. Rather, he looks at new life in Christ from a variety of angles. A succinct overview in Romans 5:1-11 is followed by three passages that contrast life outside of Christ with new life in Christ. Concrete practices of the new life are discussed in Romans 12:1-15:13.

faith into this grace in which we stand through him, and we boast in the hope of God's glory. <sup>3</sup>But not only that! We even take pride in our problems, because we know that trouble produces endurance, <sup>4</sup>endurance produces character, and character produces hope. <sup>5</sup>This hope doesn't put us to shame, because the love of God has been poured out in our hearts through the Holy Spirit, who has been given to us.

<sup>6</sup>While we were still weak, at the right moment, Christ died for ungodly people. <sup>7</sup>It isn't often that someone will die for a righteous person, though maybe someone might dare to die for a good person. <sup>8</sup>But God shows his love for us, because while we were still sinners Christ died for us. <sup>9</sup>So, now that we have been made righteous by his blood, we can be even more certain that we will be saved from God's wrath through him. <sup>10</sup>If we were reconciled to God through the death of his Son while we were still enemies, now that we have been reconciled, how much more certain is it that we will be saved by his life? <sup>11</sup>And not only that: we even take pride in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, the one through whom we now have a restored relationship with God.

Grace now rules

<sup>12</sup>So, in the same way that sin entered the world through one person, and death came through sin, so death spread to all human beings with the result that all sinned. <sup>13</sup>Although sin was in the world, since there was no Law, it wasn't taken into account until the Law came. <sup>14</sup>But death ruled from Adam until Moses, even over those who didn't sin in the same way Adam did—Adam was a type of the one who was coming.

<sup>15</sup>But the free gift of Christ isn't like Adam's failure. If many people died through what one person did wrong, God's grace is multiplied even more for many people with the gift—of the one person Jesus Christ—that comes through grace. <sup>16</sup>The gift isn't like the consequences of one person's sin. The judgment that came from one person's sin led to punishment, but the free gift that came out of many failures led to the verdict of acquittal. <sup>17</sup>If death ruled because of one person's failure, those who receive the multiplied grace and the gift of righteousness will even more certainly rule in life through the one person Jesus Christ.

chapters 1–4 to chapters 5–8. Paul summarizes the past, present, and future aspects of the new life of reconciliation and righteousness (see also 2 Cor 5:14–21). This life is the result of God's gracious love to sinful humanity, which was demonstrated in Christ's death. Continued now in the gift of the Spirit, this new life is the source of certain hope for future salvation. The language about the saving activity of God, Christ, and the Spirit anticipates the Christian doctrine of the Trinity (see also Rom 8:9–11; 15:17–19, 30). 5:1 made righteous: restored to right relations with God and made to share in God's righteousness; this phrase summarizes Romans 3:21–4:25. through his faithfulness combined with our faith: The Greek text has only "through faith," which could mean the human response of faith (the ordinary interpretation) or Christ's faithfulness in his death. The CEB translation includes both, since that seems to be precisely the point Paul has been making (see notes on Rom 1:16–17; 3:21–26).

5:2 this grace: the new situation of peace and favor with God. God's glory: God's eternal splendor, which those outside of Christ lack (Rom 3:23) and which is believers' destiny. boast: the opposite of bragging about deserving God's favor (Rom 3:27–28). In the honor-shame culture of Rome, which celebrated its own eternal glory and power, the gospel's hope of God's glory is the source of "pride" (honor), not shame (Rom 5:3; 1:16).

5:3–5 problems: sufferings that, in Christ, strengthen character and increase hope (2 Cor 11:30).

5:5 love of God: See Romans 8:39. Holy Spirit: See Romans 8.

5:6–8 Christ's death shows God's gracious, surprising love for the undeserving but needy. weak . . . ungodly . . . sinners: Compare with Romans 3:25; 4:25; 8:32.

5:9–10 God's past action to make enemies into friends

(made righteous . . . reconciled) guarantees that those friends (believers) will be saved from the coming divine wrath (1 Thess 1:10). the death of his Son . . . his life: God's salvation comes through both the death and the resurrection of Jesus (Rom 4:25; 6:1–11).

5:11 restored relationship: restates the themes of peace, reconciliation, and being made righteous.

5:12–21 In the first of three passages that contrast life outside Christ and in Christ, Paul carefully analyzes the differences between the unrighteous disobedience of Adam (see Gen 3) and the righteous obedience of Christ (his death), including the consequences (5:16) of each.

5:12 Paul summarizes the story of Adam in terms of its consequences. sin . . . death: the two powers unleashed by Adam's disobedience that enslave the human race and from which Christ provides liberation. with the result that: Sinful acts are the consequence of the powers of sin and death at work in the world.

5:13–14 The power of death ruled humanity after Adam, even though sins weren't counted before Moses gave the Law. type: a figure that foreshadows another. Adam foreshadows Christ in his differences (Rom 5:15–19).

5:15–19 Paul describes Adam's act as a failure (or transgression), a wrong, a sin, and a disobedience. The consequences for the human race are death, judgment, punishment, and being made sinners. Paul describes Christ's act as a free gift, an act of divine grace, a righteous act, and obedience. Its consequences for humanity are acquittal, righteousness, life, and being made righteous. grace: the undeserved, saving mercy of God, which is the unifying theme in Paul's treatment of Christ's death here, as in Romans 3:24; 5:6–8.

5:17–18 The righteousness needed for full and eternal life (Rom 2:1–16), but not attainable by humans enslaved to Life/Eternal Life God's desire for humans is that they experience the fullness of life intended for them, both now and forever. This life consists of sharing in God's character (righteousness) and God's glory (eternal splendor). But the power of sin in the world and the reality of human evil have created a culture of death, rather than life. That death is both present and future.

In Christ's death and resurrection, God has defeated both sin and death. The resurrection creates a new reality of life that, like death, is both present and future. Believers are already raised to new life in the present, a life that is lived to and for God. They'll also be raised to eternal life in the future as part of the renewal of the entire creation.

For this reason, all present human activity in the body should reflect God's will. Individually and together, believers offer every aspect of their lives to God as a holy act of daily worship. By glorifying God in this way, they recover in part the glory that humanity had lost, even as they suffer with Christ and the whole creation in the present. Their certain hope is that this suffering will soon give way to eternal glory.

<sup>18</sup>So now the righteous requirements necessary for life are met for everyone through the righteous act of one person, just as judgment fell on everyone through the failure of one person. <sup>19</sup>Many people were made righteous through the obedience of one person, just as many people were made sinners through the disobedience of one person. <sup>20</sup>The Law stepped in to amplify the failure, but where sin increased, grace multiplied even more. <sup>21</sup>The result is that grace will rule through God's righteousness, leading to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord, just as sin ruled in death.

Our new life in Christ

6 So what are we going to say? Should we continue sinning so grace will multiply? <sup>2</sup>Absolutely not! All of us died to sin. How can we still live in it? <sup>3</sup>Or don't you know that all who were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death? <sup>4</sup>Therefore, we were buried together with him through baptism into his death, so that just as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, we too can walk in newness of life. <sup>5</sup>If we were united together in a death like his, we will also be united together in a resurrection like his. <sup>6</sup>This is what we know: the person that we used to be was crucified with him in order to get rid of the corpse that had been controlled by sin. That way we wouldn't be slaves to sin anymore, <sup>7</sup>because a person who has died has been freed from sin's power. <sup>8</sup>But if we died with Christ, we have faith that we will also live with him. <sup>9</sup>We know that Christ has been raised from the dead and he will never die again. Death no longer has power over him. <sup>10</sup>He died to sin once sin (Rom 3:9-20), is displayed in Christ's death (see Rom 3:21-26; 8:3-4).

5:20-21 The Law of Moses meant the increase of sin because sin was now identified as such (see Rom 5:13). But God's response to greater sin was greater grace: Christ's gracious death. This statement was probably misunderstood as giving humans freedom to sin in order to elicit more of God's grace; Paul squashes this misinterpretation in Romans 6. grace will rule: The rule of grace has already begun, displacing the reign of sin among those who believe. One power (sin) leads to death, while the other (grace) leads to eternal life (cf. Rom 6:22-23).

6:1-7:6 Paul builds on the end of chapter 5, continuing to see sin and grace each as powerful masters. He contrasts life without Christ as slavery to sin with life in Christ as slavery to God and righteousness. He does this by expounding on the meaning of baptism and the pattern of life it inaugurates. Both baptism itself and the life that follows mean sharing in Christ's righteous death and his resurrection, the key events in the gospel (1 Cor 15:3-5). Freedom from "the power of sin" (Rom 3:9), or death to it, is followed by resurrection to new life now (6:4) and to eternal life later (6:8, 23). In this new life, the master sin is replaced by the master righteousness (6:18). Those who have been made righteous by Christ's obedient, righteous death will lead a life of righteousness and obedience to God.

6:1-11 In baptism believers are immersed into Christ (cf. Gal 3:27). They are co-crucified (6:5, 6) and co-buried (6:4) with Jesus. They are already raised to new life (6:4) and will be co-raised (6:5, 8) with Jesus to live with him. Sharing in Jesus' defeat of the powers of sin and death, they are freed from the power of sin now, and they will be freed from the power of death in the future.

6:1-2 Paul's tone and questions indicate the foolishness of the position he opposes and the logic of what he will propose. multiply: See Romans 5:20. Apparently, Paul's emphasis on grace wrongly led some to think he didn't take sin seriously, or even promoted it (Rom 3:8). died to sin: ended the relationship to sin as master (Rom 6:6).

6:4 glory of the Father: God's splendor and power (Col 2:12; Eph 1:20). newness of life: We share in Christ's resurrection now by living a new life of faith and righteousness.

6:6 person that we used to be . . . corpse: the former self who was dead with respect to God. Sharing in Christ's death and resurrection creates a new person (Gal 2:19-20).

6:10-11 once and for all: one time. he lives: now and continually. Like Jesus, those who have died once in relation to sin (in baptism) are permanently dead to sin as their master and permanently alive for God.

and for all with his death, but he lives for God with his life. <sup>11</sup>In the same way, you also should consider yourselves dead to sin but alive for God in Christ Jesus.

<sup>12</sup>So then, don't let sin rule your body, so that you do what it wants. <sup>13</sup>Don't offer parts of your body to sin, to be used as weapons to do wrong. Instead, present yourselves to God as people who have been brought back to life from the dead, and offer all the parts of your body to God to be used as weapons to do right. <sup>14</sup>Sin will have no power over you, because you aren't under Law but under grace.

Freedom from sin

<sup>15</sup>So what? Should we sin because we aren't under Law but under grace? Absolutely not! <sup>16</sup>Don't you know that if you offer yourselves to someone as obedient slaves, that you are slaves of the one whom you obey? That's true whether you serve as slaves of sin, which leads to death, or as slaves of the kind of obedience that leads to righteousness. <sup>17</sup>But thank God that although you used to be slaves of sin, you gave wholehearted obedience to the teaching that was handed down to you, which provides a pattern. <sup>18</sup>Now that you have been set free from sin, you have become slaves of righteousness. <sup>19</sup>(I'm speaking with ordinary metaphors because of your limitations.) Once, you offered the parts of your body to be used as slaves to impurity and to lawless behavior that leads to still more lawless behavior. Now, you should present the parts of your body as slaves to righteousness, which makes your lives holy. <sup>20</sup>When you were slaves of sin, you were free from the control of righteousness. <sup>21</sup>What consequences did you get from doing things that you are now ashamed of? The outcome of those things is death. <sup>22</sup>But now that you have been set free from sin and become slaves to God, you have the consequence of a holy life, and the outcome is eternal life. <sup>23</sup>The wages that sin pays are death, but God's gift is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Freedom from the Law

7 Brothers and sisters, I'm talking to you as people who know the Law. Don't you know that the Law has power over someone only as long as he or she lives? <sup>2</sup>A married woman is united with her husband under the Law while he is alive. But if her husband dies, she is released from the Law concerning her husband. <sup>3</sup>So then, if she lives with another man while her husband is alive, she's committing adultery. But if her husband dies, she's free from the Law, so she won't be committing adultery if she marries someone else. <sup>4</sup>Therefore, my brothers and sisters, you also died with respect to the Law through the body of Christ, so that you could be united with someone else. You are united with the one who was raised from the dead so that we can bear fruit for God. <sup>5</sup>When we were self-centered, the sinful passions

6:12-14 The consequences of what Paul has said in Romans 6:1-11. Freedom from sin requires ongoing resistance to it and active self-offering to God (6:12-13). under grace: under its power (Rom 5:21). Grace acts like a force, bringing victory over sin and power for righteousness.

6:13 present... offer: The body and its various parts are instruments for serving God (Rom 6:16-19; 12:1-2; 1 Cor 6:12-20). weapons: Obedience is a form of spiritual struggle and combat.

6:14 See Galatians 5:18.

6:15-21 A description of the old life and the new life in the language of slavery. Slavery to sin leads to death; slavery to God leads to righteousness and life.

6:15 Paul addresses another foolish misunderstanding of his teaching. Should: May.

6:17 used to be: before faith and baptism. teaching... pattern: Even though the believers in Rome heard the gospel from someone other than Paul, the story of Christ always provides a pattern of death and resurrection like what Paul has presented in Romans 6:1-11.

6:18 See Galatians 5:13.

6:19 Once... Now: before and after faith and baptism; part of the common pattern of early Christian teaching (Rom 6:17; 1 Cor 6:9-11; Gal 4:8-9; Eph 2:2-5; 5:8; Col 1:21-22; Titus 3:3-7; 1 Pet 2:10). holy: dedicated to God and sharing God's righteous character.

6:22-23 The contrast between the results of slavery to sin and slavery to God. Like wages, death—separation from God, now and forever—is deserved, but eternal life is God's gracious gift in Christ (see also Rom 4:4-5).

7:1-6 Paul offers another image for the freedom of those who are in Christ. Death ends a marriage relationship and frees a person to remarry. In the same way, Christ's death and believers' sharing in it has ended their relationship to the Jewish Law and freed them to belong to Christ.

7:1 Law: the Law from Moses, or Jewish law more generally.

7:2-3 Jewish marriage laws obviously apply only when both spouses are living.

7:4-6 with respect to the Law is deliberately parallel to the language of death to sin (Rom 6:11). Paul sees sin and the Law as partners (Rom 7:7-25), though sin is the main culprit (Rom 7:11-12). body of Christ: his death. Christ's death frees people from their marriage to sin so that they may be united with Christ to have children (bear fruit) for God. This is the righteous fruit produced when one lives in God's Spirit (Rom 8:1-17; Gal 5:16-26). It's in contrast to the fruit for death produced when one lives a self-centered existence, or "in the flesh" (i.e., in opposition to God's Spirit).

aroused through the Law were at work in all the parts of our body, so that we bore fruit for death. <sup>6</sup>But now we have been released from the Law. We have died with respect to the thing that controlled us, so that we can be slaves in the new life under the Spirit, not in the old life under the written Law.

The function of the Law

<sup>7</sup>So what are we going to say? That the Law is sin? Absolutely not! But I wouldn't have known sin except through the Law. I wouldn't have known the desire for what others have if the Law had not said, Don't desire to take what others have. <sup>8</sup>But sin seized the opportunity and used this commandment to produce all kinds of desires in me. Sin is dead without the Law. <sup>9</sup>I used to be alive without the Law, but when the commandment came, sin sprang to life, <sup>10</sup>and I died. So the commandment that was intended to give life brought death. <sup>11</sup>Sin seized the opportunity through the commandment, deceived me, and killed me. <sup>12</sup>So the Law itself is holy, and the commandment is holy, righteous, and good.

Living under the Law

<sup>13</sup>So did something good bring death to me? Absolutely not! But sin caused my death through something good so that sin would be exposed as sin. That way sin would become even more thoroughly sinful through the commandment. <sup>14</sup>We know that the Law is spiritual, but I'm made of flesh and blood, and I'm sold as a slave to sin. <sup>15</sup>I don't know what I'm doing, because I don't do what I want to do. Instead, I do the thing that I hate. <sup>16</sup>But if I'm doing the thing that I don't want to do, I'm agreeing that the Law is right. <sup>17</sup>But now I'm not the one doing it anymore. Instead, it's sin that lives in me. <sup>18</sup>I know that good doesn't live in me—that is, in my body. The desire to do good is inside of me, but I can't do it. <sup>19</sup>I don't do the good that I want to do, but I do the evil that I don't want to do. <sup>20</sup>But if I do the very thing that I don't want to do, then I'm not the one doing it anymore. Instead, it is sin that lives in me that is doing it.

<sup>21</sup>So I find that, as a rule, when I want to do what is good, evil is right there with me. <sup>22</sup>I gladly agree with the Law on the inside, <sup>23</sup>but I see a different law at work in my body. It wages a war against the law of my mind and takes me prisoner with the law of sin that is in

7:7-8:39 Paul contrasts life under the Law, enslaved to sin and self-centered desire, with life in Christ, which is also life in the Spirit. The slave-master sin has been replaced by the Spirit as the internal power that drives human action. The Spirit enables believers to do the righteousness that the Law demands but doesn't empower people to perform. The slavery to righteousness portrayed in Romans 6:1-7:6 is made possible and real by the indwelling Spirit (see Rom 7:6).

7:7-12 Paul explains how the good Law and the power he calls sin worked together to deliver humanity to death and keep them from life. He draws on the story of the sin of Adam and Eve (Gen 2:15-17; 3:1-24). He sees that story as true for all who are outside Christ, facing God's command but seduced and mastered by sin.

7:7 Paul speaks for all people outside Christ (i.e., in Adam). The Law isn't evil, but it does name sinful desires, making them known as sin. Don't desire: See Exodus 20:17; Deuteronomy 5:21.

7:8-9 Sin and the Law work together to increase human disobedience, resulting in spiritual death. seized... sprang to life: vivid images for the reality of sin as a powerful master and force.

7:10 I died: with respect to God (Rom 6:13, 21; Eph 2:1). intended to give life: The Law was (and is) disabled by sin and cannot provide the life with God it was meant to provide (see Rom 8:3-4).

7:11 seized... deceived... killed: The actions of sin resemble those of the serpent in Genesis (Gen 3:1-5, 13).

7:12 Paul reemphasizes that the Law and its commandments aren't sin or evil (Rom 7:7).

7:13-20 Paul presents the ongoing reality of the power of sin in human life outside of Christ. He again uses "I" and "me" in order to speak for the situation of all those under the power of sin.

7:13 Even more emphatically, Paul again puts the primary blame on sin, not the Law.

7:14 sold... sin: a succinct summary of the human condition outside Christ. Those in Christ are no longer sin's slaves (Rom 6).

7:15-16 Paul insightfully describes the real human struggles that result from slavery to sin.

7:17-20 For Paul, the desire to do good but the inability to accomplish it reveals that humans are in the grip of the powerful master sin. This slave master is not only over them but is actually within them. Paul doesn't excuse humans, however. This is because they've gotten themselves into this mess (Rom 1:18-3:20). The solution will be the replacement of indwelling sin by the indwelling Spirit.

7:21-23 Paul describes this situation of desire but inability as a war (7:23). Although primarily meant to describe the situation of those outside Christ, the internal struggles named in this passage may also be experienced by my body.<sup>24</sup>I'm a miserable human being. Who will deliver me from this dead corpse?<sup>25</sup>Thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord! So then I'm a slave to God's Law in my mind, but I'm a slave to sin's law in my body.

Set free by the Spirit

So now there isn't any condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus.<sup>2</sup>The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set you free from the law of sin and death.<sup>3</sup>God has done what was impossible for the Law, since it was weak because of selfishness. God condemned sin in the body by sending his own Son to deal with sin in the same body as humans, who are controlled by sin.<sup>4</sup>He did this so that the righteous requirement of the Law might be fulfilled in us. Now the way we live is based on the Spirit, not based on selfishness.<sup>5</sup>People whose lives are based on selfishness think about selfish things, but people whose lives are based on the Spirit think about things that are related to the Spirit.<sup>6</sup>The attitude that comes from selfishness leads to death, but the attitude that comes from the Spirit leads to life and peace.<sup>7</sup>So the attitude that comes from selfishness is hostile to God. It doesn't submit to God's Law, because it can't.<sup>8</sup>People who are self-centered aren't able to please God.

<sup>9</sup>But you aren't self-centered. Instead you are in the Spirit, if in fact God's Spirit lives in you. If anyone doesn't have the Spirit of Christ, they don't belong to him.<sup>10</sup>If Christ is in you, the Spirit is your life because of God's righteousness, but the body is dead because of sin.<sup>11</sup>If the Spirit of the one who raised Jesus from the dead lives in you, the one who raised Christ from the dead will give life to your human bodies also, through his Spirit that lives in you.

<sup>12</sup>So then, brothers and sisters, we have an obligation, but it isn't an obligation to ourselves to live our lives on the basis of selfishness.<sup>13</sup>If you live on the basis of selfishness, you are going to die. But if by the Spirit you put to death the actions of the body, you will live.<sup>14</sup>All who are led by God's Spirit are God's sons and daughters.<sup>15</sup>You didn't receive a spirit of slavery to lead you back again into fear, but you received a Spirit that shows you believers. But they have the Spirit to give them success in the battle.

7:24-25 miserable . . . Thank God: a request of great despair because of the human condition, and of great hope because of God's gracious provision in Christ (Rom 8). corpse: See note on Romans 6:6.

8:1-39 New life in Christ as life in the Spirit (Rom 7:6). The Spirit replaces sin and self-centered desire as the driving force within believers. This new life in the Spirit continues to be shaped by dying and rising with Christ (Rom 6). It's also a life of hope; being conformed to Christ in his death guarantees a future share in his resurrection glory. Already believers have a foretaste of that glory, knowing God's love in Christ through the Spirit.

8:1-8 Paul contrasts life in the Spirit with life governed by sin and selfishness (Rom 7:7-25). The word "selfishness" (or "flesh") throughout the passage refers (as in Rom 7:5, 14) to the core of the human who opposes God's Spirit. The word "you" in the Greek is consistently plural ("all of you"), indicating all who are addressed, both each individually and all together as a community.

8:1 condemnation: the results, or "wages," of sin, both present (misery, as in Rom 7:24) and future ("death," Rom 6:23). Compare with Romans 5:16, 18.

8:2-3 law . . . law . . . Law: A play on words (see also Rom 3:27-28), this sentence doesn't contrast two legal systems but summarizes the difference between the principle (law), or way of life inside Christ and outside Christ. impossible for the Law: a summary of Romans 7:7-25. Although the Law was intended to give righteousness and life, it was disabled by sin and human selfish desire. condemned . . . deal with sin: This complex phrase seems primarily to indicate that God sent Christ to live, and especially die, to forgive sins and to disable the power of sin (cf. Rom 3:21-26; 2 Cor 5:21). controlled by sin: See Romans 7:13-25.

8:4 righteous requirement . . . might be fulfilled: The covenant responsibilities, summarized in the word "love" (Rom 13:8-10), that humans couldn't fulfill while under the power of sin and selfish desire can now be fulfilled in Christ by the work of the Spirit.

8:6 life and peace: The Spirit provides what humans seek and need (Rom 2:10) but cannot achieve on their own.

8:9-11 Paul summarizes the new condition of being in the Spirit of God and having the Spirit of God within. This also means being "in Christ" (Rom 8:1) and having Christ within, because the Spirit of God is also the Spirit of Christ (8:9). Paul's language anticipates later Christian language about the Trinity.

8:10 body is dead: Human life without the Spirit is dead toward God.

8:11 will give life: As in Romans 6:1-11, the life mentioned here is probably both the present new life of righteousness and the future, eternal life.

8:12-13 Although empowered by the Spirit, believers have an obligation to terminate actions that are rooted in their old life of selfishness. actions of the body: those motivated by selfishness. The positive counterpart to this prohibition is the self-offering described in Romans 6:12-23; 12:1-2.

8:14-16 All who are in Christ and led by God's Spirit are God's adopted children, not slaves (Gal 4:7). fear: of rejection and "condemnation" (Rom 8:1). "Abba, Father": The way Jesus addressed God as father in Aramaic (Mark 14:36) was used in churches Paul founded (cf. Gal 4:6).

are adopted as his children. With this Spirit, we cry, “Abba, Father.” <sup>16</sup>The same Spirit agrees with our spirit, that we are God’s children. <sup>17</sup>But if we are children, we are also heirs. We are God’s heirs and fellow heirs with Christ, if we really suffer with him so that we can also be glorified with him.

Our suffering and our hope

<sup>18</sup>I believe that the present suffering is nothing compared to the coming glory that is going to be revealed to us. <sup>19</sup>The whole creation waits breathless with anticipation for the revelation of God’s sons and daughters. <sup>20</sup>Creation was subjected to frustration, not by its own choice—it was the choice of the one who subjected it—but in the hope <sup>21</sup>that the creation itself will be set free from slavery to decay and brought into the glorious freedom of God’s children. <sup>22</sup>We know that the whole creation is groaning together and suffering labor pains up until now. <sup>23</sup>And it’s not only the creation. We ourselves who have the Spirit as the first crop of the harvest also groan inside as we wait to be adopted and for our bodies to be set free. <sup>24</sup>We were saved in hope. If we see what we hope for, that isn’t hope. Who hopes for what they already see? <sup>25</sup>But if we hope for what we don’t see, we wait for it with patience.

<sup>26</sup>In the same way, the Spirit comes to help our weakness. We don’t know what we should pray, but the Spirit himself pleads our case with unexpressed groans. <sup>27</sup>The one who searches hearts knows how the Spirit thinks, because he pleads for the saints, consistent with God’s will. <sup>28</sup>We know that God works all things together for good for the ones who love God, for those who are called according to his purpose. <sup>29</sup>We know this because God knew them in advance, and he decided in advance that they would be conformed to the image of his Son. That way his Son would be the first of many brothers and sisters. <sup>30</sup>Those who God decided in advance would be conformed to his Son, he also called. Those whom he called, he also made righteous. Those whom he made righteous, he also glorified.

<sup>31</sup>So what are we going to say about these things? If God is for us, who is against us?

8:17 By Roman law, adopted children, unlike slaves, were full heirs of the father’s estate. The inheritance Paul refers to is the glory, or eternal life in God’s presence, that God intended for humanity (Rom 2:7, 10; 3:23; 5:2) and that Christ has already received. Sharing in Christ’s glory (receiving the inheritance) first requires sharing in his suffering. Paul explains all of this with words that mean being co-heirs, enduring co-suffering, and being co-glorified.

8:18-39 Paul explains that suffering is a normal part of sharing in Christ, but that it can be experienced with hope and the assurance of God’s love.

8:18-25 Paul puts the suffering of believers into the larger context of the suffering of the entire creation and the hope of future salvation. Paul here sees the story of the universe as a dramatic sequence: human sin, creation’s subjection and decay, believers’ present experience of the Spirit, believers’ salvation, salvation of the universe.

8:18 See Romans 5:3-4; 2 Corinthians 4:17.

8:19-21 breathless with anticipation: a dramatic image of hope. revelation: at the second coming of Christ, when God’s heirs will be made known.

8:20-21 Creation was subjected: probably the cursing of the earth (Gen 3:17-19). the one who subjected it: a reference to Adam/humanity or, possibly, God. The fates of humanity and of all creation are inseparable. As with believers, God’s intention for all of creation is freedom from slavery.

8:22 Paul joins other Jewish writers in using the image of labor pains to indicate both the suffering and the joyful hope associated with the birth of the renewed creation promised by the prophets (Isa 65:17-22; Mark 13:8).

8:23 Believers share in the suffering of the entire creation. first crop of the harvest: The Spirit is the believers’ share in the first portion of God’s promised salvation, even in the midst of suffering (2 Cor 1:22; Eph 1:14).

8:24-25 Salvation isn’t yet complete; believers wait in hope for the future glory.

8:26-27 The ministry of the Spirit is to help believers pray, and even to pray for them, especially that they can know and do God’s will (cf. Rom 12:1-2). Jesus also prays for believers (Rom 8:34). The one who searches hearts: God the Father. pleads: a courtroom image.

8:28-30 Paul describes God’s will (see Rom 8:27) for all believers.

8:28 all things: even suffering, as the biblical stories of figures like Joseph (Gen 50:20) and Jesus testify. for good: spiritual welfare. those who are called: all believers (Rom 1:6-7).

8:29 Paul isn’t making a general statement about predestination to salvation or damnation. Instead, this text affirms that the ultimate purpose of God’s call is for believers to become like Christ (Phil 3:10-11). conformed to the image: See Genesis 1:26. Christ is the second Adam (1 Cor 15:45-49). True humanity means becoming like Jesus in his faithfulness in suffering and dying, and especially in his resurrection glory (Rom 8:17).

8:30 called... made righteous... glorified: not an orderly sequence, but three aspects of God’s saving activity. God is creating a family (Rom 8:29) of Christlike siblings who already partially share in God’s righteousness and glory.

8:31-39 Paul eloquently concludes the first half of Romans with a flurry of questions. They communicate God’s constant love for believers no matter what sufferings and other difficulties come their way.

8:31 these things: especially the suffering and groaning described in Romans 8:18-25.

<sup>32</sup>He didn't spare his own Son but gave him up for us all. Won't he also freely give us all things with him?

<sup>33</sup>Who will bring a charge against God's elect people? It is God who acquits them. <sup>34</sup>Who is going to convict them? It is Christ Jesus who died, even more, who was raised, and who also is at God's right side. It is Christ Jesus who also pleads our case for us.

<sup>35</sup>Who will separate us from Christ's love? Will we be separated by trouble, or distress, or harassment, or famine, or nakedness, or danger, or sword? <sup>36</sup>As it is written,
We are being put to death all day long for your sake.

We are treated like sheep for slaughter.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>37</sup>But in all these things we win a sweeping victory through the one who loved us. <sup>38</sup>I'm convinced that nothing can separate us from God's love in Christ Jesus our Lord: not death or life, not angels or rulers, not present things or future things, not powers <sup>39</sup>or height or depth, or any other thing that is created.

The tragedy of Israel's unbelief

G'm speaking the truth in Christ—I'm not lying, as my conscience assures me with the Holy Spirit: <sup>2</sup>I have great sadness and constant pain in my heart. <sup>3</sup>I wish I could be cursed, cut off from Christ if it helped my brothers and sisters, who are my flesh-and-blood relatives. <sup>4</sup>They are Israelites. The adoption as God's children, the glory, the covenants, the giving of the Law, the worship, and the promises belong to them. <sup>5</sup>The Jewish ancestors are theirs, and the Christ descended from those ancestors. He is the one who rules over all things, who is God, and who is blessed forever. Amen.

Israel and God's choice

<sup>6</sup>But it's not as though God's word has failed. Not all who are descended from Israel are part of Israel. <sup>7</sup>Not all of Abraham's children are called Abraham's descendants, but instead your descendants will be named through Isaac. <sup>8</sup>That means it isn't the natural children who are God's children, but it is the children from the promise who are counted as descendants. <sup>9</sup>The words in the promise were: A year from now I will return, and Sarah will have a son.<sup>b</sup>

8:32 See Romans 3:21–26; 5:6–8; 8:3–4; John 3:16. all things: everything needed for faithfulness in suffering, as well as future glory.

8:33–34 Paul uses the language of the courtroom to stress that God and Christ, like the Spirit (Rom 8:26–27), are on the believers' side, especially in suffering. Suffering isn't a sign of divine judgment. died . . . was raised: See Romans 4:23–25; 6:1–11. pleads our case: as the Spirit does (Rom 8:27).

8:35 Paul answers his own question in Romans 8:38. No suffering can separate believers from Christ's love. Paul speaks from experience (2 Cor 11:21–12:10).

8:36 Paul sees himself and all believers in the text he quotes from Psalm 44:22.

8:37 win a sweeping victory: Believers conquer suffering not by avoiding or denying it, but by enduring it with the confidence of God's love and the certain hope of God's glory.

8:38 Here's Paul's answer to the question in Romans 8:35: No power in the universe and no earthly, political power can separate believers from God's love in Christ (Rom 5:6–8).

9:1–11:36 In this long section Paul raises and addresses a question that is at once deeply theological and highly practical. Since so few Jews have believed the good news about the Jewish Messiah ("Messiah" is the Hebrew word for "Christ"), does their unfaithfulness mean that God has abandoned them and now cares only about Gentiles? Is God unfaithful, unfair, or even unrighteous? Paul answers this question with a forceful no by citing and interpreting more than 30 OT texts, many from Isaiah. He understands Israel's current unbelief within the larger context of God's purposes for Gentiles as well as Jews. He concludes with reflections about, and praise for, the mystery and magnificence of God's mercy.

9:1–5 Paul's deep sadness and frustration over the general failure of his fellow Jews to believe the gospel.

9:3 Like Moses (see Exod 32:32) and like Christ's self-giving death for others, Paul would be willing to sacrifice his own salvation for the sake of his fellow Jews (cf. Rom 10:1).

9:4–5 The irony of Jewish advantages (Rom 3:1–2), culminating in the coming of Christ himself. who is God: The unclear Greek grammar could mean either God the Father or Jesus the Christ.

9:6–29 Paul makes his central claim: Despite appearances to the contrary, God isn't unfaithful but merciful.

9:6–9 Paul picks up themes from Romans 2:25–29 and Romans 4: Being descendants or children of Abraham—and God's children—isn't a matter of biology but of being connected to God's promise (cf. Gal 3:29; 4:28). son: Isaac.

9:10–13 God's promise continued through Isaac and Rebecca, but only through one son, Jacob. The choice of because of what was done but because of God's call. This was said to her: The older child will be a slave to the younger one.<sup>v</sup> <sup>13</sup>As it is written, I loved Jacob, but I hated Esau.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>14</sup>So what are we going to say? Isn't this unfair on God's part? Absolutely not! <sup>15</sup>He says to Moses, I'll have mercy on whomever I choose to have mercy, and I'll show compassion to whomever I choose to show compassion.<sup>x</sup> <sup>16</sup>So then, it doesn't depend on a person's desire or effort. It depends entirely on God, who shows mercy. <sup>17</sup>Scripture says to Pharaoh, I have put you in this position for this very thing: so I can show my power in you and so that my name can be spread through the entire earth.<sup>y</sup> <sup>18</sup>So then, God has mercy on whomever he wants to, but he makes resistant whomever he wants to.

<sup>19</sup>So you are going to say to me, "Then why does he still blame people? Who has ever resisted his will?" <sup>20</sup>You are only a human being. Who do you think you are to talk back to God? Does the clay say to the potter, "Why did you make me like this?"<sup>z</sup> <sup>21</sup>Doesn't the potter have the power over the clay to make one pot for special purposes and another for garbage from the same lump of clay? <sup>22</sup>What if God very patiently puts up with pots made for wrath that were designed for destruction, because he wanted to show his wrath and to make his power known? <sup>23</sup>What if he did this to make the wealth of his glory known toward pots made for mercy, which he prepared in advance for glory? <sup>24</sup>We are the ones God has called. We don't come only from the Jews but we also come from the Gentiles.

<sup>25</sup>As it says also in Hosea,
I will call "my people" those who aren't my people, and the one who isn't well loved, I will call "loved one."<sup>aa</sup>

<sup>26</sup>And in the place where it was said to them,
"You aren't my people," there they will be called "the living God's children."<sup>ab</sup>

<sup>27</sup>But Isaiah cries out for Israel,
Though the number of Israel's children will be like the sand of the sea, only a remaining part will be saved,

<sup>28</sup>because the Lord does what he says completely and quickly.<sup>c</sup>

If the Lord of the heavenly forces had not left descendants for us, we would have been like Sodom, and we would have become like Gomorrah.<sup>d</sup>

Israel and God's righteousness

<sup>30</sup>So what are we going to say? Gentiles who weren't striving for righteousness achieved righteousness, the righteousness that comes from faith. <sup>31</sup>But though Israel was striving for a Law of righteousness, they didn't arrive. <sup>32</sup>Why? It's because they didn't go for it by faith but they went for it as if it could be reached by doing something. They have tripped over a stumbling block. <sup>33</sup>As it is written:

Jacob over Esau wasn't due to the goodness or evilness of either one but solely to God's call.

9:13 loved... hated: not divine emotions but decisions (Mal 1:2-3).

9:14-18 Paul responds to the charge of divine unfairness that can be found in Malachi 1:2-3 by quoting more scripture. The texts from Exodus (Exod 33:19; 9:16) speak of God's freedom and God's mercy in salvation (cf. Rom 11:31-32).

9:19-23 Paul now responds to the charge of divine unfairness in holding people accountable that can be seen in the texts from Exodus. Once again he quotes the OT (Isa 29:16; 45:9), explaining that God's freedom isn't random because it serves a greater purpose. It's part of God's plan to share God's glory with humans.

9:24-29 We are the ones: The point of Paul's use of the OT now becomes clear: The God revealed in scripture has freely and mercifully (in Christ) called both Jews and Gentiles to be God's children.

9:25-26 Paul applies the words of Hosea (Hos 1:10), first spoken to disobedient Israelites, to the calling of the Gentiles.

9:27-29 Paul interprets Isaiah's theme of a remaining part, or remnant (9:27; cf. Rom 11:1-6; Isa 10:20-23), as testimony not only to God's past faithfulness to Israel, but also to God's ongoing faithfulness. Some Jews have, in fact, believed the gospel.

9:30-10:21 Paul restates his theme: the good news of salvation for Jews and non-Jews. He also again raises the question of Jewish unbelief in the gospel.

9:30-10:4 Paul describes Jewish unbelief in the gospel as a failed attempt to achieve righteousness by doing the Law rather than receiving it from God through Christ.

9:32-33 stumbling block: Jesus, the crucified Christ (Isa 28:16; 1 Cor 1:23; Gal 5:11). not be put to shame: See Romans 10:11; 1:16; Isaiah 8:14.

Look! I'm putting a stumbling block in Zion, which is a rock that offends people.

*And the one who has faith in him will not be put to shame.**

10 Brothers and sisters, my heart's desire is for Israel's salvation. That's my prayer to God for them. <sup>2</sup>I can vouch for them: they are enthusiastic about God. However, it isn't informed by knowledge. <sup>3</sup>They don't submit to God's righteousness because they don't understand his righteousness, and they try to establish their own righteousness. <sup>4</sup>Christ is the goal of the Law, which leads to righteousness for all who have faith in God.

<sup>5</sup>Moses writes about the righteousness that comes from the Law: The person who does these things will live by them.<sup>6</sup> But the righteousness that comes from faith talks like this: Don't say in your heart, "Who will go up into heaven?"<sup>a</sup> (that is, to bring Christ down) or "Who will go down into the region below?"<sup>b</sup> (that is, to bring Christ up from the dead). <sup>8</sup>But what does it say? The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart<sup>c</sup> (that is, the message of faith that we preach). <sup>9</sup>Because if you confess with your mouth "Jesus is Lord" and in your heart you have faith that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved. <sup>10</sup>Trusting with the heart leads to righteousness, and confessing with the mouth leads to salvation. <sup>11</sup>The scripture says, All who have faith in him won't be put to shame.<sup>1</sup> <sup>12</sup>There is no distinction between Jew and Greek, because the same Lord is Lord of all, who gives richly to all who call on him. <sup>13</sup>All who call on the Lord's name will be saved.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>14</sup>So how can they call on someone they don't have faith in? And how can they have faith in someone they haven't heard of? And how can they hear without a preacher? <sup>15</sup>And how can they preach unless they are sent? As it is written, How beautiful are the feet of those who announce the good news.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>18</sup>But I ask you, didn't they hear it? Definitely! Their voice has gone out into the entire earth, and their message has gone out to the corners of the inhabited world.<sup>n</sup> <sup>19</sup>But I ask you again, didn't Israel understand? First, Moses says, I will make you jealous of those who aren't a people,

Jews and Gentiles in Christ "Both Jew and Gentile" is one way of stating the theme of Romans. Paul understood his call to be primarily as an apostle to the Gentiles, or nations. His message centered on the crucified and resurrected Jesus as the Jewish Christ who is also Lord of all. But Paul was also deeply concerned about his own people, who hadn't embraced the good news about Jesus. In Romans he explains his strong conviction that God's mercy to the Gentiles is united with God's faithfulness to God's chosen people.

Paul's vision of community in Christ shows his passion for God's grace extended to all people. He believes that Jews and Gentiles, the cultured and the uncultured, men and women are called to a Spirit-filled unity in which they live Christ-like lives and worship God together. In such a community they must respect cultural differences while holding on to the essentials of the gospel. Paul hopes to see this unity and solidarity expressed not only among the house churches in Rome but also between the largely Gentile churches he has founded and the Jewish church in Jerusalem.

10:1 my heart's desire: See Romans 9:1-3.

10:2 enthusiastic about: or "zealous for."

10:4 goal: See Galatians 3:24. The Law's purpose was to point people to Christ as the source of righteousness (Rom 8:3-4).

10:5-13 The gospel Paul preaches is summarized in the form of a chain of OT texts that are linked together with brief remarks by Paul.

10:5-8 The message of righteousness from faith rather than from the Law has been preached and is within reach.

10:9-10 Paul names the essential message of the gospel and the need for both inner trust and public confession of faith. "Jesus is Lord": See 1 Corinthians 12:3; Philippians 2:11. will be saved: on the future day of judgment. For Paul, salvation isn't yet final (Rom 8:24).

10:11-13 The context makes it clear that Paul applies OT texts about believing in and calling on "the Lord" (Isa 28:16; Joel 2:32) to Jesus. no distinction: See Romans 3:22 and the note on Romans 1:16-17.

10:14-15 Four questions and an OT quotation (Isa 52:7) emphasize the importance of preachers to spreading the good news.

10:16-21 Paul again wrestles with Jewish unbelief and Gentile belief, citing OT texts to interpret the situation. Not all (Jews) have believed and obeyed (10:16-17, 21) even though the gospel has gone out (10:18). However, those who aren't God's people have understood and believed (10:19-20). Yet God is persistent and faithful (10:21). Paul's use of Isaiah 65:1-2 (10:20-21) as a reference to both Gentiles and Jews is striking.

of a people without understanding.<sup>o</sup> <sup>20</sup>And Isaiah even dares to say, I was found by those who didn't look for me; I revealed myself to those who didn't ask for me.<sup>21</sup> But he says about Israel, All day long I stretched out my hands to a disobedient and contrary people.<sup>q</sup>

Israel and God's faithfulness

11 So I ask you, has God rejected his people? Absolutely not! I'm an Israelite, a descendant of Abraham, from the tribe of Benjamin. <sup>2</sup>God hasn't rejected his people, whom he knew in advance. Or don't you know what the scripture says in the case of Elijah, when he pleads with God against Israel? <sup>3</sup>Lord, they have killed your prophets, and they have torn down your altars. I'm the only one left, and they are trying to take my life.<sup>4</sup> But what is God's reply to him? I have kept for myself seven thousand people who haven't bowed their knees to Baal.<sup>5</sup> So also in the present time there is a remaining group by the choice of God's grace. <sup>6</sup>But if it is by grace, it isn't by what's done anymore. If it were, God's grace wouldn't be grace.

<sup>7</sup>So what? Israel didn't find what it was looking for. Those who were chosen found it, but the others were resistant. <sup>8</sup>As it is written, God gave them a dull spirit, so that their eyes would not see and their ears not hear, right up until the present day.<sup>8</sup> <sup>9</sup>And David says,

Their table should become a pitfall and a trap, a stumbling block and payback to them for what they have done.

<sup>11</sup>So I'm asking you: They haven't stumbled so that they've fallen permanently, have they? Absolutely not! But salvation has come to the Gentiles by their failure, in order to make Israel jealous. <sup>12</sup>But if their failure brings riches to the world, and their defeat brings riches to the Gentiles, how much more will come from the completion of their number! <sup>13</sup>I'm speaking to you Gentiles. Considering that I'm an apostle to the Gentiles, I publicize my own ministry <sup>14</sup>in the hope that somehow I might make my own people jealous and save some of them. <sup>15</sup>If their rejection has brought about a close relationship between God and the world, how can their acceptance mean anything less than life from the dead?

<sup>16</sup>But if part of a batch of dough is offered to God as holy, the whole batch of dough is holy too. If a root is holy, the branches will be holy too. <sup>17</sup>If some of the branches were broken off, and you were a wild olive branch, and you were grafted in among the other branches and shared the root that produces the rich oil of the olive tree, <sup>18</sup>then don't brag like you're better than the other branches. If you do brag, be careful: it's not you that sustains the root, but it's the root that sustains you. <sup>19</sup>You will say then, "Branches were broken off so that I could be grafted in." <sup>20</sup>Fine. They were broken off because they weren't faithful, but you stand only by your faithfulness.<sup>o</sup> So don't think in a proud way; instead be afraid. <sup>21</sup>If God didn't spare the natural branches, he won't spare you either. <sup>22</sup>So look at God's kindness and harshness.

11:1-36 Paul reaffirms God's faithfulness and outlines God's mysterious plan of mercy and salvation for all.

11:1-6 The critical issue for Paul is whether Jewish unbelief in the gospel means that God has rejected the Jews. His answer is an emphatic no. He offers himself (11:1) and a remaining group, or remnant (11:5; cf. Rom 9:27), as proof.

11:2-5 The story of Elijah (1 Kgs 19) is an example of how God has saved a part of God's people when it appears that all have been faithless.

11:7-10 Paul once again uses OT texts to understand Jewish unbelief in the gospel as part of a larger divine plan (see Rom 10:16-21).

11:11-15 Paul stresses that Jewish unbelief is temporary (cf. Rom 11:25) and part of God's plan to bring salvation to the Gentiles. Gentile belief in the gospel, Paul hopes, will make Israel jealous and bring some Jews to faith.

11:11-12 stumbled: over the gospel of a crucified Christ (Rom 9:33). failure... defeat: unbelief.

11:13 you Gentiles: Paul wants to make sure that Gentile believers understand that their salvation is due to God's mysterious mercy.

11:15 their acceptance... life from the dead: God's faithfulness guarantees that Jews will also share in the new life promised in the gospel.

11:16-24 With the olive tree image, Paul portrays the salvation of Jews and Gentiles in terms of the OT image of God's people as his planting (Isa 5:1-7; 60:21; Jer 11:16; Ezek 19:10-14).

11:16 part of a batch... root: either the original Jews (the patriarchs) or the "remaining group" of believing Jews (Rom 11:1-6; 9:27). holy: set apart as God's people and not rejected.

11:17 some of the branches were broken off: Jews who haven't believed the gospel are currently removed from God's people. grafted in: Believing Gentiles are like branches grafted onto the tree that is God's people.

11:18-22 A warning against Gentile pride. (cf. Rom 11:25; 3:27-31).

It's harshness toward those who fell, but it's God's kindness for you, provided you continue in his kindness; otherwise, you could be cut off too. <sup>23</sup>And even those who were cut off will be grafted back in if they don't continue to be unfaithful, because God is able to graft them in again. <sup>24</sup>If you were naturally part of a wild olive tree and you were cut off from it, and then, contrary to nature, you were grafted into the cultivated olive tree, won't these natural branches stand an even better chance of being grafted back onto their own olive tree?

All Israel will be saved

<sup>25</sup>I don't want you to be unaware of this secret,<sup>W</sup> brothers and sisters. That way you won't think too highly of yourselves. A part of Israel has become resistant until the full number of the Gentiles comes in. <sup>26</sup>In this way, all Israel will be saved, as it is written:

The deliverer will come from Zion.

He will remove ungodly behavior from Jacob.

<sup>28</sup>According to the gospel, they are enemies for your sake, but according to God's choice, they are loved for the sake of their ancestors. <sup>29</sup>God's gifts and calling can't be taken back.

<sup>30</sup>Once you were disobedient to God, but now you have mercy because they were disobedient. <sup>31</sup>In the same way, they have also been disobedient because of the mercy that you received, so now they can receive mercy too. <sup>32</sup>God has locked up all people in disobedience, in order to have mercy on all of them.

<sup>33</sup>God's riches, wisdom, and knowledge are so deep! They are as mysterious as his judgments, and they are as hard to track as his paths!

<sup>34</sup>Who has known the Lord's mind?

Or who has been his mentor?<sup>N</sup>

<sup>35</sup>Or who has given him a gift and has been paid back by him?<sup>N</sup>

<sup>36</sup>All things are from him and through him and for him.

May the glory be to him forever. Amen.

Living sacrifice and transformed lives

12 So, brothers and sisters, because of God's mercies, I encourage you to present your bodies as a living sacrifice that is holy and pleasing to God. This is your appropriate 11:22), human faithfulness is required, as the story of Israel's unfaithfulness demonstrates.

11:23-24 Paul's final words about God's people as an olive tree hint at the next section: God will, in fact, graft the branches back on. That is, God will restore those Jews who currently don't believe the gospel.

11:25-32 Paul draws his discussion to a close. God's faithfulness means Israel will be saved.

11:25 secret: a mystery that's now being revealed (Rom 16:25). won't think too highly: Paul aims to eliminate pride on the part of Gentile believers (you). A part . . . until: Jewish unbelief is partial (Rom 11:1-6) and temporary (Rom 11:11). full number: either a set number or, more likely, the spread of the gospel to all peoples.

11:26-27 all Israel will be saved: This phrase raises difficult questions: Who is "all Israel"? When will they be saved, and how? The context of Romans 9-11 suggests that "all Israel" means ethnic Jews. The OT quotation suggests that it will occur at the (second) coming of the deliverer, Christ.

11:28-32 you . . . they: Paul reminds believers, especially Gentiles, that God will be faithful and merciful to unbelieving Israel, just as God has been merciful to them.

11:29 This statement about God is the foundation for the entire discussion in Romans 9-11.

11:33-36 Paul now concludes his heart-wrenching struggle with Jewish unbelief in the gospel, scripture, and God's faithfulness by writing a hymn of praise to God's mysterious mercy.

12:1-15:13 Paul urges faithful and merciful living before the faithful and merciful God revealed in Christ. He calls the Roman believers to reflect God's love and hospitality in their life together, with special attention to Gentile-Jewish relations.

12:1-13:14 An overview of new life in the community of those who are in Christ.

12:1-2 A summary of, and preface to, the last major section of the letter. The transformation of believers' minds and bodies reverses the disorder of minds and bodies portrayed in Romans 1:18-32. So . . . because of God's mercies: The logical consequence of hearing the good news of God's mercy to all, as set forth in the first 11 chapters. present your bodies: See Romans 6:12-19. living sacrifice . . . priestly service: Every believer, and all believers together, exercise a new kind of priesthood by offering not animals but themselves, including the concrete activities of their bodies, to God (cf. Rom 6:11, "alive for God"). conformed . . . transformed: suggests external forces at work (the spirit of this age or the Spirit of God) and also human cooperation with those forces. this world: or "this age." renewing of your minds . . . God's will: Transformation of the mind makes possible the discerning and doing (12:1) of God's intentions for human life.

priestly service. <sup>2</sup>Don't be conformed to the patterns of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your minds so that you can figure out what God's will is—what is good and pleasing and mature.

Transformed relationships

<sup>3</sup>Because of the grace that God gave me, I can say to each one of you: don't think of yourself more highly than you ought to think. Instead, be reasonable since God has measured out a portion of faith to each one of you. <sup>4</sup>We have many parts in one body, but the parts don't all have the same function. <sup>5</sup>In the same way, though there are many of us, we are one body in Christ, and individually we belong to each other. <sup>6</sup>We have different gifts that are consistent with God's grace that has been given to us. If your gift is prophecy, you should prophesy in proportion to your faith. <sup>7</sup>If your gift is service, devote yourself to serving. If your gift is teaching, devote yourself to teaching. <sup>8</sup>If your gift is encouragement, devote yourself to encouraging. The one giving should do it with no strings attached. The leader should lead with passion. The one showing mercy should be cheerful.

<sup>18</sup>If possible, to the best of your ability, live at peace with all people. <sup>19</sup>Don't try to get revenge for yourselves, my dear friends, but leave room for God's wrath. It is written, Revenge belongs to me; I will pay it back, says the Lord.<sup>a</sup> <sup>20</sup>Instead, If your enemy is hungry, feed him; if he is thirsty, give him a drink. By doing this, you will pile burning coals of fire upon his head.<sup>b</sup> <sup>21</sup>Don't be defeated by evil, but defeat evil with good.

13 Every person should place themselves under the authority of the government. There isn't any authority unless it comes from God, and the authorities that are there have 12:3-8 In a text echoing 1 Corinthians 12 and preparing for the difficult subject of divisions (Rom 14:1–15:13), Paul urges all to fulfill their role in the community, the one body of Christ, by exercising their gifts with humility, devotion, and mutual dependence.

12:3 don't think . . . more highly: See Philippians 2:1-5. portion of faith: not differing quantities of faith but various manifestations of it.

12:4-5 See 1 Corinthians 12:12-27.

12:5 belong to each other: Individuals in the church, like individual parts of the body, depend on each other and work together as one unit.

12:6 grace: See 1 Corinthians 12:1-11. different gifts: Compare with 1 Corinthians 12:28-30; Ephesians 4:11-13.

12:8 no strings attached: or "generously."

12:9-21 Paul outlines practices of genuine love (cf. 1 Cor 13), including goodness and peacemaking, for the community to put into action. Elsewhere he calls these the "fruit of the Spirit" (Gal 5:22). These practices aren't to be directed only toward those in the church but also toward those outside. In addition to love, he also mentions faith and hope (12:11-12).

12:10-11 The body of believers is a family in which the Roman quest for surpassing others in acquiring honor is transformed into a quest for giving honor to others. be enthusiastic: a new form of zeal (cf. Rom 10:2).

12:12 stand your ground . . . in trouble: a call for those in the church to remain faithful when they suffer for their faith (Rom 5:3; 8:35-39).

12:14 See Romans 12:17-21; Luke 6:27-28.

12:16 See Romans 12:3. The good news of God's love for sinners (Rom 5:6-8) translates into believers' treatment of each other as equals, giving special attention not to those with high status but also to those with no status (Rom 15:1-4; 1 Cor 1:26-31).

12:17-18 See Romans 12:14; Matthew 5:38-42. everyone else . . . all people: those outside the church (Gal 6:10; 1 Thess 5:15).

12:19 Retaliation infringes on God's judgment of the enemies of God's people. It is written: See Deuteronomy 32:35.

12:20 Doing good rather than evil to enemies is based on the example and teaching of Jesus (Rom 12:14, 17), the certainty of divine judgment (Rom 12:19), and the hope of prompting enemies to change their hearts and lives (pile burning coals of fire).

been put in place by God. <sup>2</sup>So anyone who opposes the authority is standing against what God has established. People who take this kind of stand will get punished. <sup>3</sup>The authorities don't frighten people who are doing the right thing. Rather, they frighten people who are doing wrong. Would you rather not be afraid of authority? Do what's right, and you will receive its approval. <sup>4</sup>It is God's servant given for your benefit. But if you do what's wrong, be afraid because it doesn't have weapons to enforce the law for nothing. It is God's servant put in place to carry out his punishment on those who do what is wrong. <sup>5</sup>That is why it is necessary to place yourself under the government's authority, not only to avoid God's punishment but also for the sake of your conscience. <sup>6</sup>You should also pay taxes for the same reason, because the authorities are God's assistants, concerned with this very thing. <sup>7</sup>So pay everyone what you owe them. Pay the taxes you owe, pay the duties you are charged, give respect to those you should respect, and honor those you should honor.

<sup>8</sup>Don't be in debt to anyone, except for the obligation to love each other. Whoever loves another person has fulfilled the Law. <sup>9</sup>The commandments, Don't commit adultery, don't murder, don't steal, don't desire what others have,<sup>c</sup> and any other commandments, are all summed up in one word: You must love your neighbor as yourself.<sup>d</sup> <sup>10</sup>Love doesn't do anything wrong to a neighbor; therefore, love is what fulfills the Law.

The day is near

<sup>11</sup>As you do all this, you know what time it is. The hour has already come for you to wake up from your sleep. Now our salvation is nearer than when we first had faith. <sup>12</sup>The night is almost over, and the day is near. So let's get rid of the actions that belong to the darkness and put on the weapons of light. <sup>13</sup>Let's behave appropriately as people who live in the day, not in partying and getting drunk, not in sleeping around and obscene behavior, not in fighting and obsession. <sup>14</sup>Instead, dress yourself with the Lord Jesus Christ, and don't plan to indulge your selfish desires.

in Paul with political overtones. It should be read with attention to its immediate context in the letter, the letter's overall purpose, the political and religious situation in Rome, Paul's convictions and practices more broadly, and other biblical passages, including Revelation 13. It isn't a call to uncritical obedience to authority, government or otherwise; for challenging power when it opposes God is part of the biblical tradition. The primary purpose of this passage is narrow: a call for the believers in Rome to pay their taxes (13:6-7) rather than resist paying them (13:2, 4), as some Jewish revolutionaries advocated. Such tax resistance could be understood as a form of retaliation against authorities that have been put in place by God (13:1), a reference to the OT and Jewish tradition that God has put order into the public realm for the common good (Prov 8:15-16).

13:7 taxes . . . duties: various kinds of taxes. respect . . . honor: gospel values that contribute to living peaceably with all (Rom 12:18), but without implying uncritical devotion or worship (Mark 12:13-17).

13:8-10 Paul returns to the subject of love begun in Romans 12:9 by picking up on the language of debt in Romans 13:7. Believers' only ultimate debt is their obligation to love and thereby to fulfill the Law (Rom 8:3-4; Gal 5:14; Mark 12:28-34). The commandments are from the second table of the Ten Commandments, which focus on love of neighbor. Paul doesn't say that love replaces these commandments, but that the commandments are summed up in the word "love."

13:11-14 To conclude the overview of life in Christ that began at Romans 12:1, Paul offers a collection of rich images and specific instructions (cf. 1 Thess 5:11-22). It's time to wake up (13:11), dress yourself with Christ (13:14), and engage in practices appropriate to the light of day (13:12-13). These images draw on end-time beliefs that Paul shared with many other Jews, now reworked in light of the coming of Christ. In him the coming age of God's kingdom (see Rom 14:17; Mark 1:15) has begun. Its light has already started to shine, and the darkness of this age (see Rom 12:2) will soon give way to the fullness of day, the fullness of God's kingdom (Rom 13:12).

13:12 weapons: the Christ-like practices expected of believers, understood as sharing in a spiritual battle against the forces of this age as well as their own "selfish desires" (Rom 13:14). Compare with 1 Thessalonians 5:8; Ephesians 6:10-17.

13:13 behave appropriately: The negative practices associated with the night, which believers are to replace with daytime practices, are both literal and figurative. For instance, sleeping around may refer both to literal sexual immorality and to spiritual unfaithfulness (as in Hosea). fighting and obsession: Hints at the subject that begins in Romans 14:1.

13:14 dress yourself: Those baptized into Christ (Rom 6) and therefore in Christ (Rom 8) must still continually put on Christ by adopting the Christ-like practices Paul has urged since Romans 12:1. Life in Christ, or life in the Spirit (Rom 8:1-17), is the opposite of a life ruled by selfish desires (Rom 7:7-25).

Welcoming each other like Christ

14 Welcome the person who is weak in faith—but not in order to argue about differences of opinion. <sup>2</sup>One person believes in eating everything, while the weak person eats only vegetables. <sup>3</sup>Those who eat must not look down on the ones who don't, and the ones who don't eat must not judge the ones who do, because God has accepted them. <sup>4</sup>Who are you to judge someone else's servants? They stand or fall before their own Lord (and they will stand, because the Lord has the power to make them stand). <sup>5</sup>One person considers some days to be more sacred than others, while another person considers all days to be the same. Each person must have their own convictions. <sup>6</sup>Someone who thinks that a day is sacred, thinks that way for the Lord. Those who eat, eat for the Lord, because they thank God. And those who don't eat, don't eat for the Lord, and they thank the Lord too. <sup>7</sup>We don't live for ourselves and we don't die for ourselves. <sup>8</sup>If we live, we live for the Lord, and if we die, we die for the Lord. Therefore, whether we live or die, we belong to God. <sup>9</sup>This is why Christ died and lived: so that he might be Lord of both the dead and the living. <sup>10</sup>But why do you judge your brother or sister? Or why do you look down on your brother or sister? We all will stand in front of the judgment seat of God. <sup>11</sup>Because it is written,

As I live, says the Lord, every knee will bow to me, and every tongue will give praise to God.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>12</sup>So then, each of us will give an account of ourselves to God.

<sup>13</sup>So stop judging each other. Instead, this is what you should decide: never put a stumbling block or obstacle in the way of your brother or sister. <sup>14</sup>I know and I'm convinced in the Lord Jesus that nothing is wrong to eat in itself. But if someone thinks something is wrong to eat, it becomes wrong for that person. <sup>15</sup>If your brother or sister is upset by your food, you are no longer walking in love. Don't let your food destroy someone for whom Christ died. <sup>16</sup>And don't let something you consider to be good be criticized as wrong. <sup>17</sup>God's kingdom

14:1-15:13 The climax of Paul's pastoral concerns about the churches in Rome. It appears (14:2, 5) that some believers, or perhaps particular house churches, follow certain Jewish practices (the weak noted in Rom 14:1-2; 15:1) while others don't (the powerful, or strong, noted in Rom 15:1). The two factions are highly critical of each other, with the nonobservant, mostly Gentile group probably being especially judgmental. Paul wants the church to live out the letter's theme of Jews and Gentiles as one body in Christ, equally in need of God's grace and equally recipients of it. This will happen only if they lovingly welcome each other, including their cultural differences—matters that ultimately don't matter in Christ. Then they'll be able to worship God together harmoniously as one body, a small but powerful example of God's intentions for the whole world (15:5-13). In other words, they are to welcome each other as God in Christ has loved and welcomed them in their need and even weakness (Rom 5:6-8; 14:1, 3; 15:7). Paul therefore puts the greater responsibility on the nonobservant, powerful believers (14:1, 13-21; 15:1-4; 1 Cor 8:1-13; 11:17-34).

14:1-12 Paul describes the behaviors of the two culturally different groups, chastising each for lacking hospitality, but already hinting in Romans 14:1 that admonishing the powerful (Rom 15:1) is the focus of his concern.

14:1 weak in faith: not in the gospel's essential claims or in commitment to Christ, but in convictions about disputed practices.

14:2 only vegetables: The exact reasons for this diet are unknown.

14:3 God's hospitable welcome of sinners from all cultures is the basis of mutual respect of culturally different practices in the church.

14:4-12 All are God's servants, each responsible to their Lord and called to do everything in life for the Lord Christ, who died for them (14:7-9; 1 Cor 10:31; 2 Cor 5:15). Paul is advocating individual devotion to Christ and individual accountability about nonessential practices, not self-rule or freedom from responsibility to others. In fact, every person will be accountable to God face-to-face (14:11, citing Isa 45:23).

14:13-23 Without discarding his commitment to welcoming culturally different practices, Paul emphasizes the special responsibility of those whose practices could do harm to others (cf. Rom 15:1-4; 1 Cor 8:1-13).

14:13 stumbling block or obstacle: See also Romans 14:20; 1 Corinthians 8:9, 13. brother or sister: fellow believer.

14:14 Paul rejects the idea that, in and of themselves, some foods are unacceptable for those in Christ to eat. He does allow, however, for different convictions about specific dietary practices that might still negatively affect someone's total devotion to the Lord.

14:15 upset: seriously distressed or grieved, not mildly displeased. Christ-like, self-denying love is the standard even for decisions about everyday, normally acceptable practices that could threaten another's salvation (cf. 1 Cor 8).

14:16 Paul again insists that a practice, such as eating meat, that one leaves behind out of love for others isn't wrong in and of itself.

14:17 An important summary of the themes of the gospel of God's kingdom proclaimed in Romans and therefore of the things that actually do matter. Paul's relatively isn't about eating food and drinking but about righteousness, peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit. <sup>18</sup>Whoever serves Christ this way pleases God and gets human approval.

<sup>19</sup>So let's strive for the things that bring peace and the things that build each other up.

<sup>20</sup>Don't destroy what God has done because of food. All food is acceptable, but it's a bad thing if it trips someone else. <sup>21</sup>It's a good thing not to eat meat or drink wine or to do anything that trips your brother or sister. <sup>22</sup>Keep the belief that you have to yourself—it's between you and God. People are blessed who don't convict themselves by the things they approve.

<sup>23</sup>But those who have doubts are convicted if they go ahead and eat, because they aren't acting on the basis of faith. Everything that isn't based on faith is sin.

15 We who are powerful need to be patient with the weakness of those who don't have power, and not please ourselves. <sup>2</sup>Each of us should please our neighbors for their good in order to build them up. <sup>3</sup>Christ didn't please himself, but, as it is written, The insults of those who insulted you fell on me.<sup>f</sup> <sup>4</sup>Whatever was written in the past was written for our instruction so that we could have hope through endurance and through the encouragement of the scriptures. <sup>5</sup>May the God of endurance and encouragement give you the same attitude toward each other, similar to Christ Jesus' attitude. <sup>6</sup>That way you can glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ together with one voice.

<sup>7</sup>So welcome each other, in the same way that Christ also welcomed you, for God's glory. <sup>8</sup>I'm saying that Christ became a servant of those who are circumcised for the sake of God's truth, in order to confirm the promises given to the ancestors, <sup>9</sup>and so that the Gentiles could glorify God for his mercy. As it is written,

Because of this I will confess you among the Gentiles, and I will sing praises to your name.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>10</sup>And again, it says,

Rejoice, Gentiles, with his people.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>11</sup>And again,

Praise the Lord, all you Gentiles, and all the people should sing his praises.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>12</sup>And again, Isaiah says,

There will be a root of Jesse, who will also rise to rule the Gentiles.

The Gentiles will place their hope in him.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>13</sup>May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in faith so that you overflow with hope by the power of the Holy Spirit.

rare use of Jesus' term God's kingdom captures the spirit of his words about devotion to God and Christ the Lord throughout this chapter. righteousness... Spirit: See Romans 5:1-11; 8:1-17.

14:19-21 Paul recalls his general admonitions to peace and love (Rom 12:3-21; 13:8-14) and applies them to the situation at hand, summarizing his position. All food: See Mark 7:19.

14:22-23 Individual convictions about specific non-essential practices should be rooted in faith as expressions of individual faithfulness to the Lord (as in Rom 14:1-9). Everything: all habits and practices, but especially those about which there are cultural differences among believers.

15:1-6 Paul urges Christ-like love, especially for the weaker members of the body, to create a harmonious community. The good news of God's love for the weak, seen in Christ's death (Rom 5:6-8), is the basis for Paul's request.

15:1-2 powerful... don't have power: those with and without status, in this case due to their different cultural practices. please: seek the other's good (cf. 1 Cor 10:33-11:1).

15:3-6 Christ didn't please himself: His death on the cross wasn't self-serving but was for the benefit of others, specifically sinners. Paul writes as though Jesus himself spoke the words of Psalm 69:9. The words of the psalm and Jesus' death are the standard for believers. Christ-like love that takes its pattern from Jesus' selfless death on the cross creates harmony (cf. Phil 2:1-11).

15:6-9 glorify... glory... glorify: In Christ, humanity's first sin, failure to glorify God (Rom 1:18-25), has been reversed. When Gentiles and Jews join Paul (Rom 11:36; 16:25, 27) in glorifying God together in Christ, they also, like Christ and like their common father-in-the-faith, Abraham (Rom 6:4; 4:20), share in God's promised glory that will soon come in fullness (Rom 2:7, 10; 5:2; 8:17-18, 21, 29). Humanity had sought but failed to attain this glory on its own (see Rom 1:23; 3:23).

15:7-13 The dramatic pastoral conclusion of the letter: Jews and Gentiles together.

15:7 So welcome: summarizes the whole point since Romans 14:1.

15:8-12 God's truth, or integrity, is demonstrated in Christ's mission to Jews and Gentiles alike (15:8-9). The chain of OT citations (15:9-12) focuses on God's promise to include the Gentiles.

15:13 A concluding prayer for the presence and power of the Holy Spirit (see Rom 5:5; 14:17; Gal 5:22), meaning especially the power to show Christ-like hospitality.

Paul's ministry to the Gentiles

<sup>14</sup>My brothers and sisters, I myself am convinced that you yourselves are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, and are able to teach each other. <sup>15</sup>But I've written to you in a sort of daring way, partly to remind you of what you already know. I'm writing to you in this way because of the grace that was given to me by God. <sup>16</sup>It helps me to be a minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles. I'm working as a priest of God's gospel so that the offering of the Gentiles can be acceptable and made holy by the Holy Spirit. <sup>17</sup>So in Christ Jesus I brag about things that have to do with God. <sup>18</sup>I don't dare speak about anything except what Christ has done through me to bring about the obedience of the Gentiles. He did it by what I've said and what I've done, <sup>19</sup>by the power of signs and wonders, and by the power of God's Spirit. So I've completed the circuit of preaching Christ's gospel from Jerusalem all the way around to Illyricum. <sup>20</sup>In this way, I have a goal to preach the gospel where they haven't heard of Christ yet, so that I won't be building on someone else's foundation. <sup>21</sup>Instead, as it's written, Those who hadn't been told about him will see, and those who hadn't heard will understand.<sup>k</sup>

Travel plans to visit Rome

<sup>22</sup>That's why I've been stopped so many times from coming to see you. <sup>23</sup>But now, since I don't have any place to work in these regions anymore, and since I've wanted to come to see you for many years, <sup>24</sup>I'll visit you when I go to Spain. I hope to see you while I'm passing through. And I hope you will send me on my way there, after I have first been reenergized by some time in your company.

<sup>25</sup>But now I'm going to Jerusalem, to serve God's people. <sup>26</sup>Macedonia and Achaia have been happy to make a contribution for the poor among God's people in Jerusalem. <sup>27</sup>They were happy to do this, and they are actually in debt to God's people in Jerusalem. If the Gentiles got a share of the Jewish people's spiritual resources, they ought to minister to them with material resources. <sup>28</sup>So then after I have finished this job and have safely delivered the final amount of the Gentiles' offering to them, I will leave for Spain, visiting you on the way. <sup>29</sup>And I know that when I come to you I will come with the fullest blessing of Christ.

<sup>30</sup>Brothers and sisters, I urge you, through our Lord Jesus Christ and through the love of the Spirit, to join me in my struggles in your prayers to God for me. <sup>31</sup>Pray that I will be rescued from the people in Judea who don't believe. Also, pray that my service for Jerusalem will be acceptable to God's people there <sup>32</sup>so that I can come to you with joy by God's will and be reenergized with your company. <sup>33</sup>May the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

15:14-33 Paul describes his mission work as part of God's plan to bring the gospel to the Gentiles and to unite Jews and Gentiles in Christ.

15:14-21 Paul explains his ministry to the Gentiles, perhaps in part to gather support for his planned trip to Spain (Rom 15:24).

15:14-16 Paul clarifies the purpose of this rather daring, or bold, letter to a community he didn't found. It's to remind them of what they could teach each other and to explain his ministry among the Gentiles.

15:16 priest... offering of the Gentiles: Paul's ministry is like that of a priest in the temple. His sacrifice consists of presenting to God those Gentiles who have believed the good news (Isa 66:18-23; see also "living sacrifice" in Rom 12:1-2).

15:17-21 Paul credits the success of his ministry to God, Christ, and God's Spirit, an early expression of belief in the Trinity (cf. 15:30; see note on 5:1-11).

15:17 brag: The source of Paul's satisfaction and pride in ministry isn't what he has done but what God has done.

15:19 Illyricum: a region across the Adriatic Sea from Italy.
 15:20-21 Paul sees his specific call in the words of Isaiah 52:15: proclaiming the gospel where it's unknown.

15:22-29 Paul's description of his upcoming ministry begins with an explanation for his not yet having visited the churches in Rome (15:22-23; Rom 1:13-15) and his plan to be reenergized (cf. Rom 1:11-12) by a visit with them on his way to Spain, once he takes a financial collection from (largely) Gentile churches to the poor Jewish believers in Jerusalem (1 Cor 16:1-4; 2 Cor 8-9). The collection is a concrete expression of Gentile and Jewish unity in Christ.

15:26 Macedonia: a Roman province in northern Greece that included Philippi and Thessaloniki. Achaia: a Roman province in southern Greece that included Athens and Corinth.

15:27 in debt: as those who have received the gospel, which started in Jerusalem.

15:30-33 Paul's words about prayer are another early expression of belief in the Trinity (cf. Rom 15:17-21). His request for prayer reveals concern about possible opposition from unbelieving Jews (cf. 1 Thess 2:14-16; Acts 21:27-39) and rejection by believing ones.

15:33 A prayer of blessing before the greetings. God of peace: summarizes God's character and activity of reconciling people to God and to each another (Rom 1:7; 2:10; 5:1; 8:6; 12:18; 14:17, 19; 15:13; 16:20).

Introduction to Phoebe

16 I'm introducing our sister Phoebe to you, who is a servant<sup>1</sup> of the church in Cencreae. <sup>2</sup>Welcome her in the Lord in a way that is worthy of God's people, and give her whatever she needs from you, because she herself has been a sponsor of many people, myself included.

Greetings to Roman Christians

<sup>3</sup>Say hello to Prisca and Aquila, my coworkers in Christ Jesus, <sup>4</sup>who risked their own necks for my life. I'm not the only one who thanks God for them, but all the churches of the Gentiles do the same. <sup>5</sup>Also say hello to the church that meets in their house. Say hello to Epänetus, my dear friend, who was the first convert<sup>2</sup> in Asia for Christ. <sup>6</sup>Say hello to Mary, who has worked very hard for you. <sup>7</sup>Say hello to Andronicus and Junia, my relatives and my fellow prisoners. They are prominent among the apostles, and they were in Christ before me. <sup>8</sup>Say hello to Ampliatius, my dear friend in the Lord. <sup>9</sup>Say hello to Urbanus, our coworker in Christ, and my dear friend Stachys. <sup>10</sup>Say hello to Apelles, who is tried and true in Christ. Say hello to the members of the household of Aristobulus. <sup>11</sup>Say hello to my relative Herodion. Say hello to the members of the household of Narcissus who are in the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Say hello to Tryphaena and Tryphosa, who are workers for the Lord. Say hello to my dear friend Persis, who has worked hard in the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Say hello to Rufus, who is an outstanding believer, along with his mother and mine. <sup>14</sup>Say hello to Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Hermas, and the brothers and sisters who are with them. <sup>15</sup>Say hello to Philologus and Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas, and all the saints who are with them. <sup>16</sup>Say hello to each other with a holy kiss. All the churches of Christ say hello to you.

Warning against divisions

<sup>17</sup>Brothers and sisters, I urge you to watch out for people who create divisions and problems against the teaching that you learned. Keep away from them. <sup>18</sup>People like that aren't serving the Lord. They are serving their own feelings. They deceive the hearts of innocent people with smooth talk and flattery. <sup>19</sup>The news of your obedience has reached everybody, so I'm happy for you. But I want you to be wise about what's good, and innocent about what's evil. <sup>20</sup>The God of peace will soon crush Satan<sup>3</sup> under your feet. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

Greetings from Paul's coworkers

<sup>21</sup>Timothy my coworker says hello to you, and Lucius, Jason, and Sosipater, my relatives. <sup>22</sup>I'm Tertius, and I'm writing this letter to you in the Lord—hello! <sup>23</sup>Gaius, who is host to me and to the whole church, says hello to you. Erastus the city treasurer says hello to you, along with our brother Quartus.<sup>4</sup>

16:1-16 This chapter reveals both Paul's personal connections to the believers in Rome and his collaborative style of ministry. Especially clear is his deep respect for women believers generally and women ministers of the good news in particular. The names reflect a wide range of social strata and both Gentiles and Jews.

16:1-2 Paul introduces Phoebe, who will deliver the letter. She will therefore probably also interpret it to the Roman believers. servant... sponsor: a servant to the church, perhaps in an official capacity, and a financial supporter of Paul and others. Cencreae: the eastern port for Corinth.

16:3 Prisca and Aquila: according to Acts, Jewish coworkers of Paul and fellow tentmakers (Acts 18:1-3; 1 Cor 16:19; 2 Tim 4:19).

16:5 first convert: or "first fruits" (of Paul's mission work). Asia: a Roman province, inclusive of Ephesus, in what is now western Turkey.

16:7 Andronicus and Junia: Perhaps a married couple, this man and woman were at some time jailed with Paul. relatives: either blood relatives or siblings in Christ. apostles:

See note on Romans 1:1. Both men and women could be God's authorized representatives of the good news.

16:10 tried and true: probably refers to harassment.

16:11 members of the household: would include slaves.

16:12 Tryphaena and Tryphosa: perhaps sisters.

16:13 his mother and mine: Paul's spiritual, not physical, mother.

16:14-15 These two groups may represent two different house churches.

16:16 All the churches of Christ: the various house churches in and around Corinth and Cencreae.

16:17-20 Paul approves of the original message proclaimed to those in Rome but opposes certain current teachers. His letter may be intended, in part, to affirm the original message they heard and to show the errors of the new teachers. crush Satan: possibly a reference to the downfall of the teachers, but more likely to the final victory over Satan that will occur at Christ's return.

16:21 Timothy: one of Paul's most trusted coworkers (e.g., 1 Cor 4:17; 16:10; 2 Cor 1:1, 19; Phil 1:1; 2:19-24; 1 Thess 1:1; 3:1-7). relatives: See note on Romans 16:7.

Final prayer

<sup>25</sup>May the glory be to God who can strengthen you with my good news and the message that I preach about Jesus Christ. He can strengthen you with the announcement of the secret<sup>P</sup> that was kept quiet for a long time. <sup>26</sup>Now that secret is revealed through what the prophets wrote. It is made known to the Gentiles<sup>Q</sup> in order to lead to their faithful obedience based on the command of the eternal God. <sup>27</sup>May the glory be to God, who alone is wise! May the glory be to him through Jesus Christ forever! Amen.

16:25-27 Paul's final prayer of blessing and burst of praise reminds the believers in Rome that the good news Paul preaches is for their good and God's glory. secret: or mystery revealed, the good news of God's grace that includes Gentiles.

16:26 faithful obedience: echoes Romans 1:5, restating the goal of the good news Paul preaches.

1 CORINTHIANS

Sometime around 51 CE, the apostle Paul—the best-known of the early Christian missionaries—arrived in the flourishing commercial city of Corinth, a major city located on the narrow neck of land between the Greek mainland and the Peloponnese Peninsula. Because of its location, Corinth was a major trading port linking the eastern Mediterranean Sea with Italy and Rome to its west. Corinth had been destroyed in 146 BCE during a revolt against Rome. Just over a hundred years later, in 44 BCE, Julius Caesar reestablished the city as a major Roman colony in Greece. As a result, in Paul's day it was more Roman than Greek in terms of its dominant culture and social classes. Its size, strategic location, and the extent of its commercial activities made it one of the most important Roman cities outside Italy itself. These factors, along with a significant Jewish population, also made it an attractive center for Paul's missionary activity.

While Paul gives us limited details about his mission to Corinth (see 1 Cor 1:14-18;

2:1-5; 9:1-23), Acts 18:1-11 says that he spent 18 months in Corinth establishing and developing the Christian community there. According to Acts, Paul began by preaching to members of the Jewish synagogue community, but then he was rejected by them and turned to preaching to the Gentiles. The length of Paul's stay suggests that he sought to build a flourishing Christian community in and around Corinth.

From 1 Corinthians itself we can conclude that Paul and those who worked with him managed to bring people from a variety of social classes into the church. Paul indicates that most of them weren't educated or socially powerful (1 Cor 1:26). We learn that the church included both slaves and freed persons (i.e., people who had been slaves but had been freed; see 1 Cor 7:21-22). Some, perhaps a majority, lived in poverty (1 Cor 11:22).

At the same time, some members of the Corinthian church were of high social status (see 1 Cor 1:26). For example, in the Roman legal system, only people with a degree of wealth and social standing could take others to court. This was happening among church members in Corinth (see 1 Cor 6:1-8). The person Paul wanted expelled from the church (1 Cor 5:1-5) must have been socially powerful in civil society, since only such a person could have gotten away with living with his stepmother—an obvious violation of Roman law at the time. Socially important and powerful members also competed with each other for influence and recognition in the church (1 Cor 1:10-13; 3:3-4; 11:18).

Temple of Apollo in Corinth

After establishing the Corinthian church, Paul left the city to continue his missionary work, but he maintained close contact with the church in Corinth through visitors (1 Cor 1:11-12; 16:17-18) and the exchange of letters (see 1 Cor 5:9-11; 7:1). Paul received at least two sets of visitors from Corinth before writing 1 Corinthians from Ephesus sometime before Pentecost (see 1 Cor 16:8), probably in either 54 or 55 CE.

The news he received from Corinth led Paul to write 1 Corinthians. The first group Paul mentions visiting him were probably slaves or freed slaves from the household of a woman named Chloe. They told Paul that people from different groups in the church were engaged in conflict with each other, and that this conflict had created divisions (1 Cor 1:11-12). They may have told him of other related problems in the church. For example, Paul learned that a certain man was living with his stepmother as his wife (see 1 Cor 5:1-5) and that some Christians were suing each other in the civil courts (1 Cor 6:1-8). He also learned of abuses during the Lord's Supper (1 Cor 11:17-22).

At the time of writing the letter, Paul had three other visitors from Corinth: Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus. Stephanas and his household were the first to become new believers under Paul's missionary work in Corinth. Through service to the church, they became leaders (1 Cor 16:15-16). These three probably brought the letter from the church whose concerns Paul refers to (1 Cor 7:1, 25; 8:1; 12:1; 16:1, 12). This letter raised several troubling issues. These included questions around marriage and divorce (1 Cor 7:1-40); eating food sacrificed to idols (1 Cor 8:1-11:1); and the use and abuse of the gifts of the Spirit (1 Cor 12:1-14:40). In addition, either from the letter or from oral reports, Paul learned that some in Corinth were denying the resurrection of the dead (1 Cor 15:12-19). In each case the church, or a group within the church, sought Paul's help. Thus 1 Corinthians represents Paul's attempt to resolve questions and serious problems in the life of the church at Corinth. It's likely that Stephanas and his people took Paul's letter back to Corinth and presented it to the church as Paul's representatives.

Greeting

1 From Paul, called by God's will to be an apostle of Jesus Christ, and from Sosthenes our brother.

2 To God's church that is in Corinth:

To those who have been made holy to God in Jesus Christ, who are called to be God's people. Together with all those who call upon the name of our Lord Jesus Christ in every place— he's their Lord and ours!

3 Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving for the Corinthians

4 I thank my God always for you, because of God's grace that was given to you in Jesus Christ. 5 That is, you were made rich through him in everything: in all your communication and every kind of knowledge, 6 in the same way that the testimony about Christ was confirmed with you. 7 The result is that you aren't missing any spiritual gift while you wait for our Lord Jesus Christ to be revealed. 8 He will also confirm your testimony about Christ until the end so that you will be blameless on the day of our Lord Jesus Christ. 9 God is faithful, and you were called by him to partnership with his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

Rival groups in Corinth

10 Now I encourage you, brothers and sisters, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ: Agree with each other and don't be divided into rival groups. Instead, be restored with the same mind and the same purpose. 11 My brothers and sisters, Chloe's people gave me some information about you, that you're fighting with each other. 12 What I mean is this: that each one of you says, "I belong to Paul," "I belong to Apollos," "I belong to Cephas," "I belong to Christ."

1:1 From Paul, called... an apostle... from Sosthenes our brother. Paul regularly identifies himself as an apostle or divinely appointed missionary (1 Cor 9:2; 15:9; Rom 1:1; 2 Cor 1:1). An apostle must be a witness to the resurrected Jesus (1 Cor 15:7-8); demonstrate signs of his apostleship (2 Cor 12:12); and prove himself through turning people to the faith (1 Cor 9:2). Sosthenes may be the secretary to whom Paul dictated the letter.

1:3 Grace to you and peace: Grace refers to the benefits given by a patron or sponsor. God and the Lord Jesus Christ are the patrons of the community, and they grant favors and gifts, including peace or general well-being.

1:4-9 These verses report Paul's thanks for the Corinthians.

1:4 I thank my God: The greeting of Paul's letters is often followed by a report of him giving thanks to God for the readers (Rom 1:5-12; Phil 1:3-8; 1 Thess 1:2-10). The report is intended to invite their goodwill. because of God's grace: expresses the reason that Paul gave thanks. The Corinthians have received God's special favor.

1:5 you were made rich: explains the nature of the favor granted by God (see 1 Cor 4:8). in all your communication: a reference to spiritual communication through such things as prophecy, speaking in tongues, and the interpretation of tongues (see 1 Cor 14:1-33a). every kind of knowledge: They have a deep spiritual knowledge about God and various religious matters, though this is later questioned (see 1 Cor 8:1-3).

1:7 spiritual gift: See 1 Corinthians 12:7-10, 28-31. Spiritual gifts seem to have contributed to divisions in the community (1 Cor 12:12-31). while you wait for our Lord Jesus Christ to be revealed: refers to the public return of Christ from heaven at the end of the age. Paul expected this to happen during his lifetime (1 Cor 7:29-31; 1 Thess 4:15-17).

1:8 you will be blameless: That is, the community, not individual members, will be free from divine condemnation. the day of our Lord Jesus Christ: the day of judgment at the end of the age (Amos 5:18; Rom 2:5, 16; 1 Thess 5:2-4).

1:9 God is faithful: God can be trusted to deliver on God's promises. you were called... to partnership with his Son... our Lord: God had chosen and invited the Corinthian Christians to share in their special relationship of partnership with Christ.

1:10-17 These verses introduce one of the major issues that led to Paul's writing 1 Corinthians. He had received a report that the church was divided into competing groups (1:11). These divisions don't appear to have been based on theological differences, because Paul makes no attempt to connect particular groups to specific theological positions. Instead, he identifies the division between rich and poor, those of high social status and those of low status, as a significant problem in the church (1 Cor 1:26-31; 11:17-22).

1:10 Paul regularly refers to his readers as brothers and sisters to indicate that they should act as family members toward each other. Agree... don't be divided into rival groups: Paul calls for them to speak with one voice as a cure for the divisions that had formed. be restored... same mind... same purpose: These words emphasize that Paul wanted them to return to their previous condition of unity in how they viewed themselves and how they acted toward each other (see Phil 2:1-11).

1:11 Chloe's people: slaves or freed persons (i.e., former slaves) from the household of a woman named Chloe. She would have been a person of some wealth. fighting with each other: Rivalry between groups led to fighting in the community.

1:12 each one of you says, "I belong to Paul": The basic problem was hostility, which resulted when groups that were joined to wealthy patrons or sponsors competed with each other. This was how people behaved in the city of Corinth, and these Christ-followers seem to have brought this practice into the church. Competing groups identified with different Christian leaders, like Paul; Apollos (see Acts 18:24-28); and Cephas (the apostle Peter) as their spiritual patrons.

<sup>13</sup>Has Christ been divided? Was Paul crucified for you, or were you baptized in Paul's name? <sup>14</sup>Thank God that I didn't baptize any of you, except Crispus and Gaius, <sup>15</sup>so that nobody can say that you were baptized in my name! <sup>16</sup>Oh, I baptized the house of Stephanas too. Otherwise, I don't know if I baptized anyone else. <sup>17</sup>Christ didn't send me to baptize but to preach the good news. And Christ didn't send me to preach the good news with clever words so that Christ's cross won't be emptied of its meaning.

Human wisdom versus the cross

<sup>18</sup>The message of the cross is foolishness to those who are being destroyed. But it is the power of God for those of us who are being saved. <sup>19</sup>It is written in scripture: I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and I will reject the intelligence of the intelligent. <sup>20</sup>Where are the wise? Where are the legal experts? Where are today's debaters? Hasn't God made the wisdom of the world foolish? <sup>21</sup>In God's wisdom, he determined that the world wouldn't come to know him through its wisdom. Instead, God was pleased to save those who believe through the foolishness of preaching. <sup>22</sup>Jews ask for signs, and Greeks look for wisdom. <sup>23</sup>But we preach Christ crucified, which is a scandal to Jews and foolishness to Gentiles. <sup>24</sup>But to those who are called—both Jews and Greeks—Christ is God's power and God's wisdom. <sup>25</sup>This is because the foolishness of God is wiser than human wisdom, and the weakness of God is stronger than human strength.

<sup>26</sup>Look at your situation when you were called, brothers and sisters! By ordinary human standards not many were wise, not many were powerful, not many were from the upper class. <sup>27</sup>But God chose what the world considers foolish to shame the wise. God chose what the world considers weak to shame the strong. <sup>28</sup>And God chose what the world considers

1:13 Has Christ been divided?: The term "Christ" refers to the whole church, since the church is the body of Christ (see 1 Cor 12:12-13, 27).

1:14 Crispus: See Acts 18:8. Gaius: See Romans 16:23.

1:16 Stephanas: See 1 Corinthians 16:15-18.

1:17 Christ didn't send me to preach the good news with clever words: Paul contrasts true preaching of the gospel with speeches employing the clever words of specialists trained in speech-making. Such speakers were more interested in impressing people than in changing their lives for the better.

1:18-25 Paul sets out six contrasts to show how different groups of people in his culture perceived the message of Christ crucified.

1:18 The message of the cross is foolishness to those who are being destroyed: Crucifixion was a dehumanizing form of torture and death. To preach that a crucified Jew was God's means of saving the world would have seemed complete nonsense to Greeks. Instead, they valued learning, philosophy, and high social status. By way of contrast, it is the power of God for those... being saved: The message of the cross is experienced as powerful because it is able to transform people's lives, bringing about their salvation.

1:19 Paul quotes Isaiah 29:14 as a scriptural proof for God's judgment against the wise and learned, the elite who fail to understand God and God's wisdom.

1:20-21 Where are the wise?: the wealthy and educated elite. the legal experts: Jewish scholars of the Law of Moses. today's debaters: people trained in public speaking who engaged in public performances to demonstrate their skills. wisdom of the world: the knowledge and values of the educated elite who trusted in their own cleverness. This wisdom stands in contrast to God's wisdom for human salvation through believing in what unbelievers see as the foolishness of preaching the cross of Christ.

1:22 signs: indications of God's involvement in the world. wisdom: the understanding and knowledge of how the world works from a human perspective.

1:23 a scandal to Jews: because the "Christ" wasn't supposed to be executed. Some Jews would have viewed Jesus as cursed by God because of his death on a cross (or tree; see Deut 21:23; Gal 3:13). foolishness to Gentiles: They would have found it ridiculous that one dying a slave's death could be a savior figure.

1:24 But to those who are called: Those who respond to the invitation of the gospel in complete trust see Christ for who he really is. He is the power and wisdom of God for human salvation.

1:26-31 The Corinthian Christians received God's call and experienced changed hearts and lives. This shows how God's wisdom differs from human wisdom. God turns human expectations upside down about who and what is important, to shame those who consider themselves wise and powerful.

1:26 not many... wise... powerful... upper class: The majority of Corinthian Christians were from the urban poor, but this verse suggests that some were from the upper classes of the city.

1:27 God chose what the world considers foolish to shame the wise... weak to shame the strong: A person's worth was determined by the social respect they possessed and received from others. The poor and powerless members of the society were considered to be foolish and weak by their social superiors. By choosing the weak to receive salvation, God shamed the wise and the socially superior members of that society, turning the tables on them (see Mark 10:37).

1:28 God chose what the world considers low-class: God overthrows the way the world values people by choosing the powerless and poor to receive salvation in Christ.

low-class and low-life—what is considered to be nothing—to reduce what is considered to be something to nothing.<sup>29</sup> So no human being can brag in God's presence.<sup>30</sup> It is because of God that you are in Christ Jesus. He became wisdom from God for us. This means that he made us righteous and holy, and he delivered us.<sup>31</sup> This is consistent with what was written: The one who brags should brag in the Lord!<sup>b</sup>

2 When I came to you, brothers and sisters, I didn't come preaching God's secrets to you like I was an expert in speech or wisdom. <sup>2</sup> I had made up my mind not to think about anything while I was with you except Jesus Christ, and to preach him as crucified. <sup>3</sup> I stood in front of you with weakness, fear, and a lot of shaking. <sup>4</sup> My message and my preaching weren't presented with convincing wise words but with a demonstration of the Spirit and of power. <sup>5</sup> I did this so that your faith might not depend on the wisdom of people but on the power of God.

Definition of wisdom

<sup>6</sup> What we say is wisdom to people who are mature. It isn't a wisdom that comes from the present day or from today's leaders who are being reduced to nothing. <sup>7</sup> We talk about God's wisdom, which has been hidden as a secret. God determined this wisdom in advance, before time began, for our glory. <sup>8</sup> It is a wisdom that none of the present-day rulers have understood, because if they did understand it, they would never have crucified the Lord of glory! <sup>9</sup> But this is precisely what is written: God has prepared things for those who love him that no eye has seen, or ear has heard, or that haven't crossed the mind of any human being.<sup>c</sup> <sup>10</sup> God has revealed these things to us through the Spirit. The Spirit searches everything, including the depths of God. <sup>11</sup> Who knows a person's depths except their own spirit that lives in them? In the same way, no one has known the depths of God except God's Spirit. <sup>12</sup> We haven't received the world's spirit but God's Spirit so that we can know the things given to us by God. <sup>13</sup> These are the things we are talking about—not with words taught by human wisdom but with words taught by the Spirit—we are interpreting spiritual things to spiritual people.

1:29 So no human being can brag: If God had primarily chosen the wise and the socially powerful for salvation, then such people would claim that they deserved this gift from God because of their elite status. The poor know they don't deserve such gifts.

1:31 The one who brags: See Jeremiah 9:23-24. Church members aren't to brag about their own virtues or social position, but only about what God has done for them in Christ Jesus.

2:1-5 Paul reminds the Corinthians of his own behavior and his preaching of the message of the cross in weakness and with simple speech.

2:1 God's secrets: Paul preached the relevance of Christ and the cross for human salvation, something clearly hidden from unbelievers (see 1 Cor 2:7).

2:3 weakness, fear, and a lot of shaking: Public speakers were judged on their self-presentation as strong and confident, since audiences believed that this contributed to the impressiveness and validity of their message. Paul claimed to have been the opposite kind of speaker when he preached to the Corinthians.

2:4 convincing wise words: Good speakers won over their audiences with their persuasive words, but Paul denies that he did this. demonstration of the Spirit and of power: Because Paul refused to play the part of a polished public speaker, he was forced to rely on the power of the Holy Spirit to turn the Corinthians toward following Christ.

2:5 faith . . . on the power of God: Paul's purpose was to persuade people to trust in God and God's power rather than in his ability as a flashy public speaker.

2:6-16 Paul explains the nature of the divine wisdom he taught to the spiritually mature. This wisdom has its origins in God, and is revealed by the Holy Spirit to the spiritual, but remains hidden to the unspiritual.

2:6 What we say is wisdom to people who are mature: Paul's preaching and teaching were based on God's wisdom (see 1 Cor 1:18-25). The maturity he speaks of is a maturity that comes from having God's Spirit (however, see 1 Cor 3:1-3). It isn't a wisdom . . . from today's leaders who are being reduced to nothing: The political rulers of Paul's day were responsible for Jesus' crucifixion, and therefore rejected God's wisdom. But Paul saw ahead of time that they would be reduced to a state of complete powerlessness (see 1 Cor 15:23-28).

2:7 God determined this wisdom . . . before time began: God had a plan for human salvation through the death of Jesus Christ from before time began. for our glory: God's plan will bring great honor or respect to those trusting in Christ for their salvation (see 1 Cor 6:2-3).

2:8 a wisdom that none of the present-day rulers have understood: These are the human rulers of the world who haven't understood how God could use the death of Jesus Christ to bring about salvation for all.

2:9 what is written: This phrase introduces an OT quotation. God has prepared: The passage quoted is probably Isaiah 64:4, but Paul paraphrases the original text so that it makes sense in this new context.

2:10 revealed these things: the secret of God's salvation through Christ that was unavailable to human wisdom. through the Spirit: Christians understand God's secret plan because they have received the Holy Spirit in their lives. depths of God: God's inner thoughts that planned salvation ahead of time for those trusting in Christ.

2:13 interpreting spiritual things to spiritual people: Only

<sup>14</sup>But people who are unspiritual don't accept the things from God's Spirit. They are foolishness to them and can't be understood, because they can only be comprehended in a spiritual way. <sup>15</sup>Spiritual people comprehend everything, but they themselves aren't understood by anyone. <sup>16</sup>Who has known the mind of the Lord, who will advise him?<sup>a</sup> But we have the mind of Christ.

Wisdom applied to divisions in the church

3 Brothers and sisters, I couldn't talk to you like spiritual people but like unspiritual people, like babies in Christ. <sup>2</sup>I gave you milk to drink instead of solid food, because you weren't up to it yet. <sup>3</sup>Now you are still not up to it because you are still unspiritual. When jealousy and fighting exist between you, aren't you unspiritual and living by human standards? <sup>4</sup>When someone says, "I belong to Paul," and someone else says, "I belong to Apollos," aren't you acting like people without the Spirit? <sup>5</sup>After all, what is Apollos? What is Paul? They are servants who helped you to believe. Each one had a role given to them by the Lord: <sup>6</sup>I planted, Apollos watered, but God made it grow. <sup>7</sup>Because of this, neither the one who plants nor the one who waters is anything, but the only one who is anything is God who makes it grow. <sup>8</sup>The one who plants and the one who waters work together, but each one will receive their own reward for their own labor. <sup>9</sup>We are God's coworkers, and you are God's field, God's building.

<sup>10</sup>I laid a foundation like a wise master builder according to God's grace that was given to me, but someone else is building on top of it. Each person needs to pay attention to the way they build on it. <sup>11</sup>No one can lay any other foundation besides the one that is already laid, which is Jesus Christ. <sup>12</sup>So, whether someone builds on top of the foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, grass, or hay, <sup>13</sup>each one's work will be clearly shown. The day will make it clear, because it will be revealed with fire—the fire will test the quality of each one's work. <sup>14</sup>If anyone's work survives, they'll get a reward. <sup>15</sup>But if anyone's work goes up in flames, they'll lose it. However, they themselves will be saved as if they had gone through a fire. <sup>16</sup>Don't you know that you are God's temple and God's Spirit lives in you? <sup>17</sup>If someone those with the Spirit in them are spiritual and are able to understand the spiritual things that Paul is explaining.

2:16 Who has known the mind of the Lord: Paul quotes Isaiah 40:13. we have the mind of Christ: Spiritual Christians possess the attitude that Christ demonstrated through his life and death (see Phil 2:4-11).

3:1-17 Paul employs a series of images to explain his ministry to the church in Corinth. Each image emphasizes his apostolic authority in relation to the Corinthians and other church leaders, including Apollos.

3:1-4 Paul explains why he was unable to give the Corinthians more advanced teachings, blaming the problem on their spiritual immaturity.

3:2 I gave you milk to drink: Paul's image suggests that he was like a nursing mother who decides when her infants are ready to start taking solid food. While he was with them, they remained in a childish spiritual state that prevented him from telling them the secret wisdom of God discussed in 1 Corinthians 2:6-16.

3:4 "I belong to Paul" and ... "I belong to Apollos": See 1 Corinthians 1:10-13.

3:5-9 Paul draws on agricultural practices in order to explain the different roles played by himself and Apollos.

3:5 They are servants ... a role given to them by the Lord: Paul downplays the differences between himself and Apollos by labeling them both as servants of God, each fulfilling the roles given to them by the Lord.

3:6 I planted, Apollos watered: Though this may not be immediately obvious, Paul's image actually positions him ahead of Apollos. This is because the planter was considered more skillful and important than those tending the crops.

3:10-17 Paul introduces, explains, and applies a complex set of images based on builders and buildings.

3:10 I laid a foundation like a wise master builder: Paul compares himself to the head of a building project who sets out the foundations for the building. Other builders then build on those foundations and are accountable to the master builder for the quality of their work. according to God's grace: Paul was the lead missionary because of God's favor. To challenge Paul was to challenge God.

3:11 No one can lay any other foundation ... which is Jesus Christ: Paul claims a unique position in establishing the church (see also 1 Cor 4:14-15). No one can start over again to replace his work or change his foundation, since his foundation was the good news regarding Jesus Christ.

3:12-15 whether someone builds ... each one's work will be clearly shown: Paul is speaking about the work of local leaders and possibly teachers and missionaries who arrived after he left. We know that Paul thought these outsiders were troublemakers (see 2 Cor 11:4-27). This is why he warns of The Day, the day of final judgment, when God will test such people's work.

3:16 Don't you know that: Paul uses this expression 10 times in 1 Corinthians when he wishes to express himself strongly about something that should be obvious (see 1 Cor 5:6; 6:2, 3, 9, 15, 16, 19; 9:13, 24). you are God's temple: This image refers to the church community as a whole, not its individual members, as the holy place of God's presence. Since the community is the temple, it follows that God's Spirit lives in the community (cf. 1 Cor 6:19).

3:17 If someone destroys God's temple: Paul threatens destroys God's temple, God will destroy that person, because God's temple is holy, which is what you are.

<sup>18</sup>Don't fool yourself. If some of you think they are worldly-wise, then they should become foolish so that they can become wise. <sup>19</sup>This world's wisdom is foolishness to God. As it's written, He catches the wise in their cleverness.<sup>6</sup> <sup>20</sup>And also, The Lord knows that the thoughts of the wise are silly.<sup>7</sup> <sup>21</sup>So then, no one should brag about human beings. Everything belongs to you—<sup>22</sup>Paul, Apollos, Cephas, the world, life, death, things in the present, things in the future—everything belongs to you, <sup>23</sup>but you belong to Christ, and Christ belongs to God.

Paul's role as an apostle

4 So a person should think about us this way—as servants of Christ and managers of God's secrets. <sup>2</sup>In this kind of situation, what is expected of a manager is that they prove to be faithful. <sup>3</sup>I couldn't care less if I'm judged by you or by any human court; I don't even judge myself. <sup>4</sup>I'm not aware of anything against me, but that doesn't make me innocent, because the Lord is the one who judges me. <sup>5</sup>So don't judge anything before the right time—wait until the Lord comes. He will bring things that are hidden in the dark to light, and he will make people's motivations public. Then there will be recognition for each person from God.

<sup>6</sup>Brothers and sisters, I have applied these things to myself and Apollos for your benefit. I've done this so that you can learn what it means not to go beyond what has been written and so none of you will become arrogant by supporting one of us against the other. <sup>7</sup>Who says that you are better than anyone else? What do you have that you didn't receive? And if you received it, then why are you bragging as if you didn't receive it? <sup>8</sup>You've been filled already! You've become rich already! You rule like kings without us! I wish you did rule so that we could be kings with you! <sup>9</sup>I suppose that God has shown that we apostles are at the end of the line. We are like prisoners sentenced to death, because we have become a spectacle in divine judgment and destruction on any person who would destroy the church community, because God's temple is holy. It is dedicated to the service of God.

3:18-23 These verses offer instruction about acquiring true wisdom.

3:18 This verse summarizes aspects of the theme of wisdom and foolishness found in 1 Corinthians 1:18-27; 2:6-8, 14. If some of you think they are worldly-wise, then they should become foolish so that they can become wise: This is an instruction or command. The "worldly-wise" were those of higher social status who considered themselves culturally sophisticated and, therefore, superior to the poor and the weak. Paul tells them to reject their feelings of cultural and social superiority in favor of the true wisdom that comes from God.

3:19-20 Paul supports his argument that the world's wisdom is foolishness to God with references to Job 5:13 and Psalm 94:11.

3:21 no one should brag about human beings: As in 1 Corinthians 3:18, this is a command. In the ancient world, the role of clients, who came from the poor and socially insignificant, was publicly to boost their patrons' status. From this emerged divisions within the church. Paul instructs the poor not to engage in activities that further lift up the status of the socially prominent or that reinforce the divisions in the church. See 1 Corinthians 1:28-31.

3:22 Paul, Apollos, Cephas . . . everything belongs to you: The Corinthians were wrong to claim to belong to one or another group associated with Paul, Apollos, or Peter. These people belonged to them as their servants in Christ.

3:23 you belong to Christ: They were wrong to belong to groups within the church since they should belong only to Christ.

4:1-5 Paul identifies himself and Apollos as servants of Christ whose work and motivations can be judged only when Christ comes and everyone's thoughts and deeds are put under divine examination.

4:1 managers of God's secrets: Paul compares Christian preachers and teachers to household managers or estate managers, who were often slaves. On God's secrets, see notes on 1 Corinthians 2:1, 7.

4:2 prove to be faithful: prove to be worthy of God's trust through thoughts and actions.

4:5 recognition . . . from God: Leaders such as Paul will receive praise from God according to their intentions as well as their achievements (see 1 Cor 3:13-15). Recognition or praise was the highest reward possible in a society built on public honor and public shame.

4:6-13 In 4:6, Paul summarizes the major point he has been trying to make in 1 Corinthians 1:10-4:5. In 4:7-13 he presents his apostolic experience as a true model of leadership. True leadership is based on loyalty to Christ and self-sacrifice in the face of constant hardship and abuse.

4:6 See sidebar, "The Source of the Divisions at Corinth."

4:7 Paul's three questions in this verse belittle those who are self-important and therefore arrogant toward others in the community.

4:8 You've been filled already!: Paul is ironic and belittling toward those who have misled themselves about their own spiritual maturity (see 1 Cor 3:1-3) and who have an inflated sense of their status as Christians.

4:9 we apostles are at the end of the line . . . like prisoners sentenced to death: Paul plainly contrasts the situation of himself and other apostles with the misguided self-importance of the Corinthian Christians.

The Source of the Divisions at Corinth 1 Corinthians 4:6 is one of the most difficult verses in the letter to understand. Recent insights have clarified matters, though. When Paul says, "I have applied these things to myself and Apollos for your benefit," the words "these things" refer back to 1 Corinthians 3:1-5, and probably include the whole of 1 Corinthians 1:10-4:5. In 1 Corinthians 3:4-5 Paul accuses the Corinthians of being unspiritual because some claim loyalty to him and others to Apollos. This suggests that Paul and Apollos were somehow the source of the divisions in the community mentioned in 1 Corinthians 3:3 (see also 1 Cor 1:11). But this can't be the case, since the problem of divisions arose after they both had left. When Paul referred to himself and Apollos in 1 Corinthians 3:3-5, then, he was really talking about local leaders who were encouraging divisions among the members of the church. These were the people whose work would be judged (1 Cor 3:12-15). They were the ones warned about destroying God's temple (1 Cor 3:17). Paul doesn't mention anyone by name, probably because their high social status prevented direct criticism. The readers, however, were to make the correct application for themselves.

The words "not to go beyond what has been written" (1 Cor 4:6) refer to the OT texts mentioned in 1 Corinthians 1:19, 31; 2:9, 16; 3:19-20. Taken together, these texts point to the uselessness of human wisdom when compared with God's wisdom. From Paul's perspective, the human pride and arrogance of some of the local leaders and their supporters was the real source of the divisions in the community.

the world, both to angels and to humans. <sup>10</sup>We are fools for Christ, but you are wise through Christ! We are weak, but you are strong! You are honored, but we are dishonored! <sup>11</sup>Up to this very moment we are hungry, thirsty, wearing rags, abused, and homeless. <sup>12</sup>We work hard with our own hands. When we are insulted, we respond with a blessing; when we are harassed, we put up with it; <sup>13</sup>when our reputation is attacked, we are encouraging. We have become the scum of the earth, the waste that runs off everything, up to the present time.

<sup>14</sup>I'm not writing these things to make you ashamed but to warn you, since you are my loved children. <sup>15</sup>You may have ten thousand mentors in Christ, but you don't have many fathers. I gave birth to you in Christ Jesus through the gospel, <sup>16</sup>so I encourage you to follow my example. <sup>17</sup>This is why I've sent Timothy to you; he's my loved and trusted child in the Lord; he'll remind you about my way of life in Christ Jesus. He'll teach the same way as I teach everywhere in every church. <sup>18</sup>Some have become arrogant as if I'm not coming to see you. <sup>19</sup>But, if the Lord is willing, I'll come to you soon. Then I won't focus on what these

4:10 wise, strong, and honored are terms characterizing the socially powerful of secular Corinth. These characteristics stand in obvious contrast to Paul's public status, as well as to God and God's way for human salvation (see 1 Cor 1:18-2:5).

4:11 we are hungry, thirsty, wearing rags, abused, and homeless: Paul presents himself as someone held in low esteem by others, as one who is worthy of no respect according to the world's value system.

4:12a We work hard with our own hands: See 1 Thessalonians 2:9; Acts 18:1-3. Working with one's hands was considered undignified by those of high social status because manual labor was viewed as dishonorable.

4:12b-13 Paul lists his unexpected response to three different types of attack on his honor or social standing. In each case his response is the complete opposite of what the socially powerful would have expected and wanted from a true leader. We have become the scum of the earth: Paul portrays himself as offensive and without honor or dignity in human terms.

4:14-21 Paul develops an elaborate image based on the relation between fathers and children to claim his rightful authority over his Corinthian converts.

4:14 these things: This refers back to 1 Corinthians 4:6-13, which should have caused the Corinthians to feel ashamed about their behavior and attitude. In a world where people sought status through social recognition of their virtue, Paul's self-description would have caused social embarrassment. since you are my loved children: Paul claims to have a parent-like relationship with the Corinthians. Such a relationship suggests a great deal of power on Paul's part. Fathers in the ancient world literally had the right of life or death over their children.

4:15 I gave birth to you in Christ Jesus: They may have countless Christian mentors who direct them, but they have only one Christian parent. Paul's relation with them is unique. He has the power of a father over them (see 1 Cor 4:21), and they should obey him.

4:16 follow my example: Children were expected to model their attitudes and behavior on that of their parents, particularly their fathers. To follow Paul's example means not to follow others who challenge or contradict Paul.

4:17 I've sent Timothy... my loved and trusted child: Paul sent Timothy as his representative. In doing so, he was sending his spiritual son to continue educating the Corinthians in his ways.

4:18 Some have become arrogant: Paul refers to the problem of arrogance in this letter more than any of his other letters (1 Cor 4:6, 19; 5:2; 8:1; 13:4). This suggests that some had an exaggerated sense of their own self-importance when Paul was absent.

4:19 I'll find out what power they possess: Power is the ability to impose one's will on others. In Paul's world it was closely connected to one's honor. Paul issues a strong arrogant people say, but I'll find out what power they possess. <sup>20</sup>God's kingdom isn't about words but about power. <sup>21</sup>Which do you want? Should I come to you with a big stick to punish you, or with love and a gentle spirit?

Confronting sexual immorality in the church

5 Everyone has heard that there is sexual immorality among you. This is a type of immorality that isn't even heard of among the Gentiles—a man is having sex with his father's wife! <sup>2</sup>And you're proud of yourselves instead of being so upset that the one who did this thing is expelled from your community. <sup>3</sup>Though I'm absent physically, I'm present in the spirit and I've already judged the man who did this as if I were present. <sup>4</sup>When you meet together in the name of our Lord Jesus, I'll be present in spirit with the power of our Lord Jesus. <sup>5</sup>At that time we need to hand this man over to Satan to destroy his human weakness so that his spirit might be saved on the day of the Lord.

<sup>6</sup>Your bragging isn't good! Don't you know that a tiny grain of yeast makes a whole batch of dough rise? <sup>7</sup>Clean out the old yeast so you can be a new batch of dough, given that you're supposed to be unleavened bread. Christ our Passover lamb has been sacrificed, <sup>8</sup>so let's celebrate the feast with the unleavened bread of honesty and truth, not with old yeast or with the yeast of evil and wickedness.

<sup>9</sup>I wrote to you in my earlier letter not to associate with sexually immoral people. <sup>10</sup>But I wasn't talking about the sexually immoral people in the outside world by any means—or the greedy, or the swindlers, or people who worship false gods—otherwise, you would have to leave the world entirely! <sup>11</sup>But now I'm writing to you not to associate with anyone who calls themselves “brother” or “sister” who is sexually immoral, greedy, someone who worships social challenge to those who oppose his leadership at Corinth. He claims that he will test whether they can impose their will in his presence. This is a challenge to their social standing.

4:20 God's kingdom isn't about words but about power: Paul ties the social challenge of 1 Corinthians 4:19 to his claim to power based on his role as the mediator of God's kingdom to the Corinthians.

4:21 Should I come to you with a big stick to punish you, or with love...?: Paul returns to his “father” image, used in 1 Corinthians 4:14-15.

5:1-13 Paul's threat in 1 Corinthians 4:21 paves the way for demanding obedience from the Corinthians in 5:1-8. In 1 Corinthians 5:1-8, Paul calls for the church to expel a person of high social status who was guilty of outrageous sexual immorality. He then applies the principle of expulsion to other forms of immorality in 5:9-13.

5:1 Everyone has heard: The behavior was so scandalous that it would have been a matter of gossip in Corinth and beyond. a type of immorality that isn't even heard of among the Gentiles: It was socially offensive as well as an offense under Roman law. having sex with his father's wife: The man had taken his father's wife, almost certainly his stepmother, for his own wife or mistress, probably after his father had died.

5:2 you're proud of yourselves: The Corinthians' pride probably came from having a person of high social standing as a patron of the community. Because of this man's power, status, and support, the church was unwilling and unable to take appropriate action against him. They would have feared his retaliation should he be offended by those beneath his social rank.

5:3 I'm present in the spirit: Paul probably means that he is present through his connection with the Spirit of the Lord Jesus, who is present in the church community (see 1 Cor 6:17).

5:5 we need to hand this man over to Satan: Satan is portrayed as assisting God's purpose in this passage since he is to destroy the human weakness of the man practicing outrageous sexual immorality (see Gal 5:24), so that his spirit might be saved: Paul takes a pastoral interest in the wrongdoer, whose life as a Christian can still be rescued. on the day of the Lord: the day of judgment (see 1 Tim 1:19-20).

5:6 Your bragging isn't good!: See 1 Corinthians 5:2.

5:7 Clean out the old yeast: Paul uses three images from the Jewish Passover (see Exod 12:1-27; Deut 16:1-8): (1) The first stresses the need to purify the community through expelling the sinful man whose presence is like the contaminating effect of yeast on bread dough (see Exod 12:15). you're supposed to be unleavened bread: (2) The Corinthians are to be pure and uncontaminated, like the Passover bread (see 1 Cor 5:8; Exod 12:15). Christ our Passover lamb has been sacrificed: (3) This is the first reference in Christian literature to Jesus as the lamb sacrificed for humans (see John 1:29; Rev 5:6). The Passover lamb wasn't a sacrifice for sin. Its blood was a source of salvation from the angel of death at the time of the exodus from Egypt.

5:9-13 Paul calls for moral purity in the church community and the exclusion of any who are immoral in their practices. 5:9 I wrote to you in my earlier letter: We don't have this letter, nor do we know anything about it other than what Paul says here. This reference tells us something about the lively exchange and complicated relationship between Paul and the Corinthians.

5:11 But now I'm writing to you: Paul interprets what he meant in his earlier letter, applying it to members of the community who may be guilty of various types of immoral behavior. It isn't about outsiders. Don't even eat: Meals were important for social bonding. Paul doesn't want Christians interacting with those in the church who engage in immoral behavior. Not interacting with them serves to exclude them from the community.

false gods, an abusive person, a drunk, or a swindler. Don't even eat with anyone like this. <sup>12</sup>What do I care about judging outsiders? Isn't it your job to judge insiders? <sup>13</sup>God will judge outsiders. Expel the evil one from among you!<sup>18</sup>

Confronting lawsuits in the church

GWhen someone in your assembly has a legal case against another member, do they dare to take it to court to be judged by people who aren't just, instead of by God's people? <sup>2</sup>Or don't you know that God's people will judge the world? If the world is to be judged by you, are you incompetent to judge trivial cases? <sup>3</sup>Don't you know that we will judge angels? Why not ordinary things? <sup>4</sup>So then if you have ordinary lawsuits, do you appoint people as judges who aren't respected by the church? <sup>5</sup>I'm saying this because you should be ashamed of yourselves! Isn't there one person among you who is wise enough to pass judgment between believers? <sup>6</sup>But instead, does a brother or sister have a lawsuit against another brother or sister, and do they do this in front of unbelievers? <sup>7</sup>The fact that you have lawsuits against each other means that you've already lost your case. Why not be wronged instead? Why not be cheated? <sup>8</sup>But instead you are doing wrong and cheating—and you're doing it to your own brothers and sisters.

5:12 outsiders: those who aren't members of the Christian community. insiders: members of the Christian community.

5:13 Expel the evil one from among you!: This quotation represents a common theme in Deuteronomy (Deut 13:5; 17:7; 19:19; 22:21, 24). Paul uses it to authorize and demand the expulsion of immoral persons from the community.

6:1-11 Paul introduces yet another problem that likely had its roots in the divisive competition to become leaders of the church. Some members of the church community were engaged in lawsuits against their fellow believers. Lawsuits in Roman courts were frequently used by people who wanted to claim their own superior social position over others whom they sought to humiliate in the public setting of a courtroom.

6:1 do they dare: Paul uses strong language to claim that lawsuits of believers against each other are completely scandalous. people who aren't just: In this context, this phrase refers to wicked, morally corrupt unbelievers who were unlikely to hand out real justice. It contrasts with God's people, who are (or should be) devout and above reproach in their decisions.

6:2 don't you know: See note on 1 Corinthians 3:16. God's people will judge the world: They will judge with Christ, who is judge of the world (see Rom 2:16; Acts 10:42; 2 Tim 4:1; Matt 19:28; Rev 20:4). are you incompetent to judge trivial cases? If they are to judge the world with Christ (the greater), then surely they should be able to settle minor disputes among themselves (the lesser).

6:3 angels: These are perhaps the fallen angels associated with the devil (Matt 25:41; 2 Pet 2:4). This verse has the same structure as 1 Corinthians 6:2: If they will judge angels (the greater), why can't they judge the ordinary things of everyday life (the lesser)?

6:6 in front of unbelievers: Paul is concerned with the impression outsiders will have about the community when they see one member of the church suing another member (see 1 Cor 14:23).

6:7 you've already lost your case: Regardless of who wins or loses the legal case, they've all lost because the unity and love of the church family will be broken.

6:8 you are doing wrong and cheating . . . your own brothers and sisters: For Paul the Corinthians were guilty of serious moral and spiritual failure. That's because they were acting unjustly toward each other, thereby destroying the very basis of their relation as brothers and sisters in the family of God.

6:9-10 people who are unjust won't inherit God's kingdom: The phrase "God's kingdom" occurs regularly in the Gospels and generally refers to God's just and merciful rule that was at the heart of Jesus' teaching. For Paul, God's kingdom is still in the future and will come about when Christ returns and destroys all opposition to God (1 Cor 15:24-25). Because God is righteous and just, those who are unjust won't receive access to God's kingdom when Christ returns. both participants in same-sex intercourse: Paul's language is difficult to translate, though it clearly refers to forms of same-sex intercourse. Some interpreters think he refers to male prostitution or sexual relations between an adult male and a boy. It seems likely that a Jew, like Paul, found all kinds of same-sex intercourse offensive (see Rom 1:26-27), based on passages like Leviticus 18:22; 20:13.

6:11 you were washed clean . . . made holy to God . . . made right with God: While some of the Corinthians may have engaged in sins like those listed in 1 Corinthians 6:9-10 in the past, their faith in Christ completely transformed them and brought them into a new relation with God through Christ.

Avoid sexual immorality

<sup>12</sup>I have the freedom to do anything, but not everything is helpful. I have the freedom to do anything, but I won't be controlled by anything. <sup>13</sup>Food is for the stomach and the stomach is for food, and yet God will do away with both. The body isn't for sexual immorality but for the Lord, and the Lord is for the body. <sup>14</sup>God has raised the Lord and will raise us through his power. <sup>15</sup>Don't you know that your bodies are parts of Christ? So then, should I take parts of Christ and make them a part of someone who is sleeping around?<sup>1</sup> No way! <sup>16</sup>Don't you know that anyone who is joined to someone who is sleeping around is one body with that person? The scripture says, The two will become one flesh.<sup>1</sup> <sup>17</sup>The one who is joined to the Lord is one spirit with him. <sup>18</sup>Avoid sexual immorality! Every sin that a person can do is committed outside the body, except those who engage in sexual immorality commit sin against their own bodies. <sup>19</sup>Or don't you know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit who is in you? Don't you know that you have the Holy Spirit from God, and you don't belong to yourselves?<sup>2</sup> <sup>20</sup>You have been bought and paid for, so honor God with your body.

Marriage and celibacy

7Now, about what you wrote: "It's good for a man not to have sex with a woman."<sup>2</sup> Each man should have his own wife, and each woman should have her own husband because

6:12-20 This paragraph focuses on sexual immorality, particularly sexual relations with prostitutes. The Greek term porneia refers to "forbidden sexual intercourse," which in a context like Corinth would have been expressed above all in prostitution. Paul condemns and calls on Christians to avoid the behavior, because sexual immorality is against one's own body and because the body of the Christian is the temple of the Holy Spirit, who dwells within.

6:12 I have the freedom to do anything: This reflects a general Greek and Roman cultural view that a man (not a woman) is free to do what he wants sexually. Paul rejects the notion of uninhibited freedom on two grounds: (1) not everything is helpful: for one's own self or for others; for a church to flourish people must think of what is good for others, above what is in their own interest (see 1 Cor 8:4-13). (2) I won't be controlled by anything: such as sexual desire and other bodily appetites, but also other personal desires like social status.

6:13 The body isn't for sexual immorality but for the Lord, and the Lord is for the body: For Paul, both food and stomach belong to the present age, but the body belongs to the Lord Jesus. Therefore, those who think that they can do anything they want because their bodies will be destroyed haven't understood the gospel. If the body belongs to the Lord, it shouldn't be given to prostitutes. After all, the body isn't destined for destruction but for resurrection (see 1 Cor 15:50-57).

6:15 Don't you know: See 1 Corinthians 3:16. your bodies are parts of Christ: In their bodily existence Christians are individually part of Christ's total presence in the world (see 1 Cor 12:27). should I take parts of Christ: This is a delicate way of referring to one's sexual organs, which are part of the whole of our bodies that belong to Christ. make them a part of someone who is sleeping around: In the ancient world prostitutes were the people who slept around, since sexual access was generally controlled outside prostitution. For many in today's world, sex has become much more casual, and such behavior isn't confined to prostitutes. This explains the translation of the Greek word pornê as someone "sleeping around" rather than as "prostitute."

6:16 The two will become one flesh: Genesis 2:24 (see Mark 10:7-8).

6:17 The one who is joined to the Lord is one spirit with him: As with the joining of bodies through sexual intercourse, when one is joined to the Lord Jesus through faith, that person is united with him (see Rom 8:9-11).

6:18 Every sin... is committed outside the body, except... sexual immorality: Paul argues that sexual immorality differs from other sins for the Christian. It contaminates the person's body, a body that has been redeemed by Christ's death and is destined for a resurrection like his (see 1 Cor 6:20; 15:49-58).

6:19 your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit who is in you: Individual Christians are united with the Lord (1 Cor 6:17) through the presence of God's Spirit in them. This makes the human body a temple for God's presence through the Spirit. (In 1 Cor 3:16-17 the reference is to the community, not the individual, as the temple.)

6:20 honor God with your body: This phrase serves as a fitting conclusion to 1 Corinthians 6:12-20, and even to 5:1-13. Sexual immorality dishonors God, since it contaminates the body in which God's own Spirit dwells.

7:1-39 Paul takes up a variety of issues around marriage and divorce in the context of living at the end of the present age. From 7:1-25 it is apparent that some of the issues were raised by the Corinthians themselves in a letter they sent to Paul.

7:1-7 Sexual activity within marriage is permitted in order to avoid sexual immorality.

7:1 Now, about what you wrote: Beginning at this point in his letter, Paul addresses questions and issues raised by the Corinthians in a letter that they sent to him (see 1 Cor 8:1; 12:1; 16:1). "It's good for a man not to have sex with a woman": Some Corinthians seem to have believed that it was an honorable decision not to have sex with a woman (probably a reference to one's wife).

7:2 Paul sees marriage as a safeguard against the kind of sexual immorality. <sup>3</sup>The husband should meet his wife's sexual needs, and the wife should do the same for her husband. <sup>4</sup>The wife doesn't have authority over her own body, but the husband does. Likewise, the husband doesn't have authority over his own body, but the wife does. <sup>5</sup>Don't refuse to meet each other's needs unless you both agree for a short period of time to devote yourselves to prayer. Then come back together again so that Satan might not tempt you because of your lack of self-control. <sup>6</sup>I'm saying this to give you permission; it's not a command. <sup>7</sup>I wish all people were like me, but each has a particular gift from God: one has this gift, and another has that one.

<sup>8</sup>I'm telling those who are single and widows that it's good for them to stay single like me. <sup>9</sup>But if they can't control themselves, they should get married, because it's better to marry than to burn with passion. <sup>10</sup>I'm passing on the Lord's command to those who are married: A wife shouldn't leave her husband, <sup>11</sup>but if she does leave him, then she should stay single or be reconciled to her husband. And a man shouldn't divorce his wife.

<sup>12</sup>I'm telling everyone else (the Lord didn't say this specifically): If a believer has a wife who doesn't believe, and she agrees to live with him, then he shouldn't divorce her. <sup>13</sup>If a woman has a husband who doesn't believe and he agrees to live with her, then she shouldn't divorce him. <sup>14</sup>The husband who doesn't believe belongs to God because of his wife, and the wife who doesn't believe belongs to God because of her husband. Otherwise, your children would be contaminated by the world, but now they are spiritually set apart. <sup>15</sup>But if a spouse who doesn't believe chooses to leave, then let them leave. The brother or sister isn't tied down in these circumstances. God has called you to peace. <sup>16</sup>How do you know as a wife if you will save your husband? Or how do you know as a husband if you will save your wife?

<sup>17</sup>Nevertheless, each person should live the kind of life that the Lord assigned when he called each one. This is what I teach in all the churches. <sup>18</sup>If someone was circumcised when of sexual immorality that he criticized in 1 Corinthians 6:9-10, 12-19.

7:3-4 Paul calls for sexual equality between husbands and wives by recognizing the sexual needs of both.

7:5 unless you both agree: A decision to avoid sex for a time in marriage, even for the purpose of devoting oneself to prayer, requires the agreement of both marriage partners. so that Satan might not tempt you: Paul recognizes that sexual desire is a powerful force for temptation to sin. He sees sex within marriage as a safeguard against immorality.

7:6 I'm saying this to give you permission: The "this" seems to refer back to 1 Corinthians 7:2 and concerns permission for people to marry.

7:7 I wish all people were like me: Paul was unmarried (see 1 Cor 7:8). In order to help people avoid sexual immorality (1 Cor 7:2), he allowed for marriage. each has a particular gift from God: The ability to remain unmarried and refrain from sexual intercourse is a divine gift that only some are given. 7:8-11 Paul offers advice to Christians who are single or widows, as well as to those who are married but separated.

7:8 it's good for them to stay single: not for reasons of self-denial, but because of the approaching crisis that will lead to judgment day (see 1 Cor 7:25-31).

7:10-11 I'm passing on the Lord's command: This, along with 1 Corinthians 7:25 and 9:14, is one of the few direct references in Paul to commands of Jesus. What follows carries the direct authority of Jesus. a wife shouldn't leave her husband: See Mark 10:2-12; Matthew 19:3-9. This specific statement seems to be directed to married Christian women who wanted to be freed from their marriages to serve the Lord more fully. she should stay single or be reconciled: See Mark 10:11-12. Paul doesn't allow Christians to divorce or to remarry.

7:12-16 Paul gives instructions about marriage and divorce when one partner is a Christian and the other isn't.

7:12-13 the Lord didn't say this specifically: Paul doesn't have a word from the Lord about believers married to unbelievers. But he offers his view that believers should stay married to unbelievers if possible.

7:14 The husband who doesn't believe belongs to God because of his wife: The woman's spiritual state positively affects her husband's spiritual state. Most likely the husband's acceptance of her faith and Christian lifestyle makes up for his own unbelief (see 1 Cor 7:13). The same is true regarding a believing husband and an unbelieving wife. The spiritual setting-apart of both partners has the important consequence that their children are also spiritually set apart.

7:15 The brother or sister isn't tied down in these circumstances: When an unbelieving spouse rejects and separates from the believing spouse, the believer is freed from the marriage bond. God has called you to peace: Marriage shouldn't be a place of conflict for the Christian but a place of harmony and wholeness. Thus if a marriage leads to conflict with an unbelieving partner, peace shouldn't be sacrificed in order to maintain this kind of marriage.

7:16 How do you know... if you will save your husband [or] wife?: A Christian doesn't have to remain in a conflict-ridden marriage in the hopes of changing the heart and life of the unbelieving partner.

7:17-24 Three times Paul states the general principle that people should live the kind of life that the Lord assigned to them when they became Christians (7:17, 20, 24). He then deals with two specific cases, circumcision and slavery, as examples of the principle.

7:17 Nevertheless: What follows is the general principle. Paul recognizes marriage as a special case, though, since he recognizes that not everyone has the divine gift to remain unmarried and to refrain from sexual intercourse (see 1 Cor 7:7).

7:18 reverse it: circumcision. Jewish circumcision (see Gen 17:10-12) was sometimes reversed through an operation called, he shouldn't try to reverse it. If someone wasn't circumcised when he was called, he shouldn't be circumcised. <sup>19</sup>Circumcision is nothing; not being circumcised is nothing. What matters is keeping God's commandments. <sup>20</sup>Each person should stay in the situation they were in when they were called. <sup>21</sup>If you were a slave when you were called, don't let it bother you. But if you are actually able to be free, take advantage of the opportunity. <sup>22</sup>Anyone who was a slave when they were called by the Lord has the status of being the Lord's free person. In the same way, anyone who was a free person when they were called is Christ's slave. <sup>23</sup>You were bought and paid for. Don't become slaves of people. <sup>24</sup>So then, brothers and sisters, each of you should stay with God in the situation you were in when you were called.

<sup>25</sup>I don't have a command from the Lord about people who have never been married,<sup>h</sup> but I'll give you my opinion as someone you can trust because of the Lord's mercy. <sup>26</sup>So I think this advice is good because of the present crisis: Stay as you are. <sup>27</sup>If you are married, don't get a divorce. If you are divorced, don't try to find a spouse. <sup>28</sup>But if you do marry, you haven't sinned; and if someone who hasn't been married gets married, they haven't sinned. But married people will have a hard time, and I'm trying to spare you that. <sup>29</sup>This is what I'm saying, brothers and sisters: The time has drawn short. From now on, those who have wives should be like people who don't have them. <sup>30</sup>Those who are sad should be like people who aren't crying. Those who are happy should be like people who aren't happy. Those who buy something should be like people who don't have possessions. <sup>31</sup>Those who use the world should be like people who aren't preoccupied with it, because this world in its present form is passing away.

called "epispasm," because circumcised males couldn't otherwise participate in various Greek activities such as athletic contests. To reverse circumcision was to reject one's Jewish identity. shouldn't be circumcised: Gentiles converting to Christianity shouldn't be circumcised in order to become Jews (see Gal 5:2-12).

7:21 If you were a slave . . . don't let it bother you: Roman society was built on slavery. Paul doesn't attack the institution of slavery itself. Instead he claims that being a slave doesn't affect the person's status as a Christian. if you are actually able to be free, take advantage of the opportunity: This contradicts the general principle, but it is reasonable. 7:22 Paul uses a play on words to claim that all are free and all are slaves. In this way Paul rejects social status, since this is determined in the outside world and should not have any significance in the church.

7:23 You were bought and paid for: Whatever a person's status in the world, they have been set free by Christ's death on the cross. Paul borrows language from the buying and selling of slaves in order to emphasize the cost of purchasing the freedom of believers.

7:25-31 Following the principle set out in 1 Corinthians 7:17-24, Paul calls for a similar response in relation to marriage and divorce. This time, however, the perceived crisis situation leading to the end of the present age motivates his views. Normal affairs and actions are no longer appropriate because of the crisis.

7:25 people who have never been married: The Greek text refers to young, unmarried women.

7:26 the present crisis: Paul believed that he lived at the end of the age, a time characterized by severe disasters (see Mark 13:5-27). Christ would return soon to exercise the dominion given to him by God before finally subjecting himself to God's rule (see 1 Cor 15:20-28). Stay as you are: This is a restatement of the principle from 1 Corinthians 7:17, 20, but now applied to marriage.

7:28 if you do marry, you haven't sinned: Paul addresses men here. Men had the active role in making marriages. if someone who hasn't been married gets married, they haven't sinned: The Greek text refers to a female "virgin" who marries. Thus the apostle addressed both men and young, unmarried women. Even though Paul advises people not to marry, should anyone decide to get married, they aren't guilty of disobedience to God. married people will have a hard time: because their loyalties are divided between Christ and their marriage partner (see 1 Cor 7:32-35).

7:29-31 The time has drawn short: The general resurrection is coming soon (1 Cor 15:20-24). Thus, Paul says, this world in its present form is passing away (7:31; see 1 Cor 10:11). The nearness of the end requires people to be focused on the things of Christ (see 1 Cor 7:32) rather than on everyday human experiences such as marriage, sorrow, joy, and possessions.

7:32-35 Paul maintains that unmarried men or women can focus solely on the Lord, while married men and women have divided commitments between their spouses and the Lord. Paul's goal isn't to limit people's life

<sup>36</sup>If someone thinks he is acting inappropriately toward an unmarried woman whom he knows, and if he has strong feelings and it seems like the right thing to do, he should do what he wants—he's not sinning—they should get married. <sup>37</sup>But if a man stands firm in his decision, and doesn't feel the pressure, but has his own will under control, he does right if he decides in his own heart not to marry the woman. <sup>38</sup>Therefore, the one who marries the unmarried woman does right, and the one who doesn't get married will do even better. <sup>39</sup>A woman is obligated to stay in her marriage as long as her husband is alive. But if her husband dies, she is free to marry whomever she wants, only it should be a believer in the Lord. <sup>40</sup>But in my opinion, she will be happier if she stays the way she is. And I think that I have God's Spirit too.

Meat sacrificed to false gods

O Now concerning meat that has been sacrificed to a false god: We know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge makes people arrogant, but love builds people up. <sup>2</sup>If anyone thinks they know something, they don't yet know as much as they should know. <sup>3</sup>But if someone loves God, then they are known by God.

<sup>4</sup>So concerning the actual food involved in these sacrifices to false gods, we know that a false god isn't anything in this world, and that there is no God except for the one God. <sup>5</sup>Granted, there are so-called "gods," in heaven and on the earth, as there are many gods and many lords. <sup>6</sup>However, for us believers,

There is one God the Father.

All things come from him, and we belong to him.

And there is one Lord Jesus Christ.

All things exist through him, and we live through him.

options but to encourage people to serve the Lord with undivided attention.

7:36-40 This paragraph deals with male choices about whether to marry based on control of sexual passions. It also deals with the situation of married women who are to remain married and widows who may marry a Christian.

7:36 unmarried woman whom he knows: The Greek text refers to a man's fiancée. If someone thinks he is acting inappropriately, or "dishonorably," a reference to a man who may have decided not to fulfill his engagement promise to marry his fiancée (see 1 Cor 7:37). if he has strong feelings: experiences strong sexual desire for his fiancée. he's not sinning: Some may have come to the conclusion that getting married—and thus not being fully committed to the Lord and his work—was the same as committing sin. Paul rejects this view.

7:37 doesn't feel the pressure: doesn't experience the social pressure to fulfill his promise to marry the woman. has his own will under control: is in control of his sexual desires. he does right... not to marry the woman: He shouldn't be blamed for breaking his engagement, nor should he feel guilty for doing so.

7:38 the unmarried woman: or "his fiancée" (see note on 1 Cor 7:36).

7:40 And I think that I have God's Spirit too: Perhaps someone other than Paul was making claims based on their experience of God's Spirit. Paul offers his advice in this verse based on his own claim to possessing the Spirit.

8:1-13 Paul addresses another issue raised by the Corinthians (see 1 Cor 7:1). What attitude should Christians have toward meat sacrificed to idols? He devotes the whole of 1 Corinthians 8:1-11:1 to this problem. Food sacrificed in Greek and Roman temples was a difficult problem for Gentiles who had become Christians (see Acts 15:1-29; Rev 2:14-17, 20). Since it was assumed that people would eat in temples, and since the Corinthian Christians had undoubtedly done so prior to their coming to faith, this practice raised questions about their social identity and their relationship to their pre-Christian culture. Eating in temples was more about social belonging than religious conviction.

8:1-3 Paul deals with the basic problem of arrogance on the part of some, probably members of the social elite, who claimed superior knowledge in order to justify the continued practice of eating food sacrificed to idols.

8:1 Now concerning: This introduces another issue raised by the Corinthians (see 1 Cor 7:1). we all have knowledge: Paul may be quoting the words of some Corinthians, who thus claimed special spiritual knowledge that made them superior and allowed them to eat in Greek and Roman temples. Knowledge makes people arrogant: This is a clear criticism of people who value their knowledge too highly. love builds people up: love contrasted with knowledge. Love builds relations in the community rather than dividing the community (see 1 Cor 13:1-13).

8:3 if someone loves God, then they are known by God: The arrogant don't understand the importance of loving God and being known by God. These things are more important than the knowledge that they think makes them superior to other believers.

8:4-6 Paul offers a clear statement of Christian belief in one God, over against Greek and Roman claims regarding many gods.

8:4 a false god isn't anything in this world: The gods worshipped in Greek and Roman temples don't actually exist. there is no God except for the one God: This assertion, along with 1 Corinthians 8:6, is Paul's most powerful statement of his Jewish and Christian belief that there is only one true God (see Deut 6:4-5).

8:5 Granted, there are so-called "gods": See 1 Corinthians 10:20, where false gods are identified as demons.

8:6 There is one God the Father... And there is one Lord Jesus Christ: This carefully balanced statement sounds like a confession of faith for the early church.

<sup>7</sup>But not everybody knows this. Some are eating this food as though it really is food sacrificed to a real idol, because they were used to idol worship until now. Their conscience is weak because it has been damaged. <sup>8</sup>Food won't bring us close to God. We're not missing out if we don't eat, and we don't have any advantage if we do eat. <sup>9</sup>But watch out or else this freedom of yours might be a problem for those who are weak. <sup>10</sup>Suppose someone sees you (the person who has knowledge) eating in an idol's temple. Won't the person with a weak conscience be encouraged to eat the meat sacrificed to false gods? <sup>11</sup>The weak brother or sister for whom Christ died is destroyed by your knowledge. <sup>12</sup>You sin against Christ if you sin against your brothers and sisters and hurt their weak consciences this way. <sup>13</sup>This is why, if food causes the downfall of my brother or sister, I won't eat meat ever again, or else I may cause my brother or sister to fall.

Waiving rights for the gospel

9 Am I not free? Am I not an apostle? Haven't I seen Jesus our Lord? Aren't you my work in the Lord? <sup>2</sup>If I'm not an apostle to others, at least I am to you! You are the seal that shows I'm an apostle. <sup>3</sup>This is my defense against those who criticize me. <sup>4</sup>Don't we have the right to eat and drink? <sup>5</sup>Don't we have the right to travel with a wife who believes like the rest of the apostles, the Lord's brothers, and Cephas? <sup>6</sup>Or is it only I and Barnabas who don't have the right to not work for our living? <sup>7</sup>Who joins the army and pays their own way? Who plants a vineyard and doesn't eat its fruit? Who shepherds a flock and doesn't drink its milk? <sup>8</sup>I'm not saying these things just based on common sense, am I? Doesn't the Law itself say these things? <sup>9</sup>In Moses' Law it's written: You will not muzzle the ox when it is threshing.<sup>1</sup> Is God worried about oxen, <sup>10</sup>or did he say this entirely for our sake? It was written for our sake because the one who plows and the one who threshes should each do so with the hope of sharing the produce. <sup>11</sup>If we sowed spiritual things in you, is it so much to ask to harvest some material things from you?

8:7-13 Paul warns of the dangerous consequences of eating food sacrificed in Greek and Roman temples, both for the people eating and for those seeing them eat.

8:7 Their conscience is weak: Their understanding of right and wrong is immature because they have only recently come to believe in the one true God.

8:9 this freedom of yours: the knowledge that the gods represented by idols don't exist and have no power; also that food sacrificed to idols presents no dangers. those who are weak: those mentioned in 1 Corinthians 8:7, who have weak consciences and therefore lack moral understanding and judgment.

8:11 The weak brother or sister for whom Christ died is destroyed by your knowledge: Those with immature moral judgment may be led back into the very idolatry from which Christ had rescued them. This would lead to their eternal condemnation.

8:13 I won't eat meat ever again: Since almost all meat was sacrificed to idols, the issue Paul addresses is especially important. Even meat eaten at home was contaminated by idolatry and therefore might cause a weak Christian to fall.

9:1-18 Paul shows how he has set aside his rights as an apostle in order to win as many as possible to the gospel of Jesus Christ. This provides evidence for those with superior knowledge (1 Cor 8:1-2, 10) that Paul has made significant personal sacrifices for the sake of others. They should do so as well by giving up meat sacrificed to idols.

9:1 Am I not free?: In a world filled with slaves, to be free meant that a person didn't have to answer to others for their actions or seek their approval. Am I not an apostle?:

See 1 Corinthians 1:1. Haven't I seen Jesus our Lord?: See 1 Corinthians 15:8.

9:2 You are the seal: A "seal" designates ownership or certifies that something is real. When the Corinthians turned to Christ and changed their hearts and lives in response to Paul's preaching, they certified that his apostleship was authentic. This was true whatever others might say.

9:4 Don't we have the right to eat and drink?: that is, to receive hospitality from those who responded to Paul's preaching.

9:5 the Lord's brothers: See Mark 6:3. The best-known brother was James, one of the key leaders of the church in Jerusalem (Gal 1:19; 2:9; Acts 15:13-21). Cephas: the apostle Peter.

9:6 Barnabas: For his relationship with Paul, see Acts 9:7; 13:1-3; 15:1-3, 39; Galatians 2:1, 9, 13. to not work for our living?: Paul and Barnabas, unlike other apostles and missionaries, worked for their living rather than asking for support from the churches they had established (see 1 Thess 2:9-10; Acts 18:1-4).

9:8 common sense: The three examples in 1 Corinthians 9:7 are common sense, but Paul also speaks with the divine authority of Moses' Law found in the first five books of the OT. These books contain the teaching and expectations governing the Jewish people.

9:9-10 You will not muzzle the ox: Paul quotes Deuteronomy 25:4 (see 1 Tim 5:17-18) and applies it to his own situation as a worker for the gospel.

9:11 sowed spiritual things: that is, preached the gospel of Jesus Christ (see 1 Cor 3:5-9). harvest some material things

<sup>12</sup>If others have these rights over you, don't we deserve them all the more? However, we haven't made use of this right, but we put up with everything so we don't put any obstacle in the way of the gospel of Christ. <sup>13</sup>Don't you know that those who serve in the temple get to eat food from the temple, and those who serve at the altar share part of what is sacrificed on the altar? <sup>14</sup>In the same way, the Lord commanded that those who preach the gospel should get their living from the gospel. <sup>15</sup>But I haven't taken advantage of this. And I'm not writing this so that it will be done for me. It's better for me to die than to lose my right to brag about this! <sup>16</sup>If I preach the gospel, I have no reason to brag, since I'm obligated to do it. I'm in trouble if I don't preach the gospel. <sup>17</sup>If I do this voluntarily, I get rewarded for it. But if I'm forced to do it, then I've been charged with a responsibility. <sup>18</sup>What reward do I get? That when I preach, I offer the good news free of charge. That's why I don't use the rights to which I'm entitled through the gospel.

<sup>19</sup>Although I'm free from all people, I make myself a slave to all people, to recruit more of them. <sup>20</sup>I act like a Jew to the Jews, so I can recruit Jews. I act like I'm under the Law to those under the Law, so I can recruit those who are under the Law (though I myself am not under the Law). <sup>21</sup>I act like I'm outside the Law to those who are outside the Law, so I can recruit those outside the Law (though I'm not outside the law of God but rather under the law of Christ). <sup>22</sup>I act weak to the weak, so I can recruit the weak. I have become all things to all people, so I could save some by all possible means. <sup>23</sup>All the things I do are for the sake of the gospel, so I can be a partner with it.

<sup>24</sup>Don't you know that all the runners in the stadium run, but only one gets the prize? So run to win. <sup>25</sup>Everyone who competes practices self-discipline in everything. The runners from you?: food, shelter, and other material necessities (see Rom 15:27).

9:12 If others: possibly Jewish Christian missionaries whom Paul calls "false apostles" in 2 Corinthians 11:12-23. have these rights over you: claims to hospitality and payments of money. don't we deserve them all the more?: as the founding apostle of the church in Corinth and not merely as a missionary newly arrived on the scene.

9:13 See Leviticus 6:16-18; Deuteronomy 18:1-5.

9:15 I haven't taken advantage of this: of Paul's right to receive his living from the churches he had established for preaching the gospel to them. to lose my right to brag about this: Paul took pride in the fact that he didn't burden his churches for support the way other missionaries did (see 1 Cor 9:4-6; 2 Cor 11:7-12).

9:16 If I preach . . . I'm obligated to: Paul understands himself to be called by God to preach the gospel to the Gentiles (Gal 1:15-16). This is why he has a duty to preach the gospel. As a result he can't brag about preaching the gospel. He can brag, however, about doing so without asking for any material support for his ministry. I'm in trouble: Not to preach would be to fail in carrying out God's commission.

9:17-18 If I do this voluntarily, I get rewarded: Paul recognizes that he deserves no reward for preaching because he preaches out of the necessity of fulfilling his divine commission. What reward do I get? . . . That's why I don't use the rights: Since Paul is obligated to preach, the only way to gain a benefit is to go beyond what other preachers do. They receive their livelihood by preaching (1 Cor 9:14), but he sets this right aside in order to have a grounds for boasting (1 Cor 9:15). His boast is that his own commitment to God exceeds that of other missionaries. He doesn't specify the reward, but it is probably divine praise. 9:19-23 Paul explains the flexibility he has exercised in order to successfully present the gospel of Jesus Christ to various groups of people who hold very different values from each other.

9:19 Although I'm free from all people: See 1 Corinthians 9:1. 9:20 I act like a Jew: Paul was Jewish by birth (Rom 9:3-5; Phil 3:5-6). But even after turning to Christ, he placed himself under Jewish authority. This is demonstrated by the number of times he was whipped in Jewish synagogues (2 Cor 11:24). I act like I'm under the Law . . . (though I myself am not under the Law): For Paul the Law of Moses had served its purpose and was no longer binding on him as a Christian. Salvation understood as righteousness was available only through faith in Christ, not through the Law (see Gal 2:15-21; 3:19-25).

9:21 I act like I'm outside the Law to those who are outside the Law: Paul acted like a Gentile in order to proclaim the good news to Gentiles. He refused to yield on this point when faced by challenges from Jewish Christians, including the apostle Peter (Gal 2:11-21). though I'm not outside the law of God but rather under the law of Christ: Paul stresses that he isn't lawless as a Christian. Rather, he is subject to the law of Christ, which is based on the gospel and rooted in love (see Rom 8:2; Gal 6:2). But it isn't a specific set of commandments that must be obeyed.

9:22 I act weak to the weak: The weak were the poor, slaves, and others in socially dependent relations who made up the majority of the population in ancient society, but were largely powerless. all things to all people: Paul didn't try to deceive people, but he did try to identify with the social and ethnic experiences of all those whom he attempted to win for Christ.

9:24-27 To win the Christian victory crown requires self-discipline, even to the extent of subduing one's own body and its desires. Paul practiced this rigorous self-control to ensure that even after preaching the gospel he wasn't disqualified for some reason.

9:25 practices self-discipline: The Corinthians think they have knowledge (1 Cor 8:7-13) about eating food sacrificed to idols, but Paul wants them to practice self-restraint with their freedom. to receive a crown that never dies: The do this to get a crown of leaves that shrivel up and die, but we do it to receive a crown that never dies. <sup>26</sup>So now this is how I run—not without a clear goal in sight. I fight like a boxer in the ring, not like someone who is shadowboxing. <sup>27</sup>Rather, I'm landing punches on my own body and subduing it like a slave. I do this to be sure that I myself won't be disqualified after preaching to others.

Warning from the wilderness generation

10 Brothers and sisters, I want you to be sure of the fact that our ancestors were all under the cloud and they all went through the sea. <sup>2</sup>All were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea. <sup>3</sup>All ate the same spiritual food, <sup>4</sup>and all drank the same spiritual drink. They drank from a spiritual rock that followed them, and the rock was Christ. <sup>5</sup>However, God was unhappy with most of them, and they were struck down in the wilderness. <sup>6</sup>These things were examples for us, so we won't crave evil things like they did. <sup>7</sup>Don't worship false gods like some of them did, as it is written, The people sat down to eat and drink and they got up to play.<sup>m</sup> <sup>8</sup>Let's not practice sexual immorality, like some of them did, and twenty-three thousand died in one day. <sup>9</sup>Let's not test Christ, like some of them did, and were killed by the snakes. <sup>10</sup>Let's not grumble, like some of them did, and were killed by the destroyer. <sup>11</sup>These things happened to them as an example and were written as a warning for us to whom the end of time has come. <sup>12</sup>So those who think they are standing need to watch out or else they may fall. <sup>13</sup>No temptation has seized you that isn't common for people. But God is faithful. He won't allow you to be tempted beyond your abilities. Instead, with the temptation, God will also supply a way out so that you will be able to endure it.

crown Paul has in mind is a heavenly one that symbolizes the triumph of life over death through the resurrection (1 Cor 15:50-57).

10:1-13 Paul uses the OT exodus to warn the Corinthians about how they could be excluded from Christ's salvation. He does this by showing parallels between Israelite and Christian experiences. In 10:1-4 he shows parallels in the experience of salvation. In 10:5-10 he warns of possible parallels between the deeds that disqualified the Israelites from entering the promised land and the possible moral and religious failures by the Corinthians that might lead to their rejection by Christ.

10:1 our ancestors: Through faith in Christ, Gentile believers are connected to the redemptive experience of Israel in the OT. under the cloud: The cloud signified God's protective presence for the people of Israel during the exodus (Exod 13:21). all went through the sea: the place where God saved the Israelites from their Egyptian oppressors (Exod 14:21-31).

10:2 All were baptized into Moses: Paul portrays the journey through the Reed Sea (see Exod 14:21-31) as a model for understanding Christian baptism into Christ.

10:3-4 spiritual food... spiritual drink: The food and drink were spiritual because they pointed to God as the source of what physically sustained Israel in the wilderness (see Exod 16:4, 35; 17:5-6; Num 20:11). At the same time, the wilderness food and drink point to the Lord's Supper (1 Cor 10:16). They drank from a spiritual rock that followed them, and the rock was Christ: Christ was the source of the life-sustaining water during the wilderness journey.

10:5 However, God was unhappy with most of them, and they were struck down: See Numbers 14:26-35; 26:63-65.

10:6 These things were examples for us: God may act to bring about salvation, but when God's people reject God they will be punished. so we won't crave evil things like they did: See Psalm 106:14; 1 Corinthians 10:7-10.

10:7 Don't worship false gods like some of them did: See Exodus 32:1-6. The people sat down to eat: See Exodus 32:6. Paul chose this passage because it concerns eating food sacrificed to idols. The Israelites craved idols and were destroyed. Similarly, the Corinthians were in danger of rejection by God if they participated in idolatry through eating food sacrificed to idols.

10:8 Let's not practice sexual immorality: See Numbers 25:1-9. This passage combines the themes of sexual immorality with idolatry (on sexual immorality at Corinth, see 1 Cor 5:1-13; 6:12-20).

10:9 See Numbers 21:5-9; Psalm 78:17-18. Let's not test Christ, like some of them did: Because Christ is identified as the spiritual rock that followed Israel in the wilderness (1 Cor 10:4), Paul can say that these people of God in the OT tested Christ instead of God. This, then, provides a warning to those Corinthians engaged in idolatry through what they eat (1 Cor 8:7-11).

10:10 Let's not grumble, like some of them did, and were killed: Israel constantly grumbled against Moses and God in the wilderness, leading to the deaths of many (see Exod 17:1-7; 32:1-10; Num 14:26-35; 16:41-49; 25:1-9). This serves as a warning to those who might grumble against Paul's instruction regarding the eating of food sacrificed to idols.

10:11 These things happened... as an example and were written as a warning for us: Paul interprets the exodus as a warning intended for the people of his own generation.

10:12 So those who think they are standing need to watch out: The "so" indicates that this is the conclusion to the argument in 1 Corinthians 10:1-11. Those with superior knowledge may think that they are secure in Christ's salvation (1 Cor 8:7-13). However, they are deceiving themselves if they cause weaker Christians to sin through following their example (1 Cor 8:11-12). they may fall: They may lose their own salvation if they cause others to fall away from the faith.

10:13 No temptation has seized you that isn't common for people: Paul is dealing with the problem of idolatry and

Avoid false gods to glorify God

<sup>14</sup>So then, my dear friends, run away from the worship of false gods! <sup>15</sup>I'm talking to you like you are sensible people. Think about what I'm saying. <sup>16</sup>Isn't the cup of blessing that we bless a sharing in the blood of Christ? Isn't the loaf of bread that we break a sharing in the body of Christ? <sup>17</sup>Since there is one loaf of bread, we who are many are one body, because we all share the one loaf of bread. <sup>18</sup>Look at the people of Israel. Don't those who eat the sacrifices share from the altar? <sup>19</sup>What am I saying then? That food sacrificed to a false god is anything, or that a false god is anything? <sup>20</sup>No, but this kind of sacrifice is sacrificed to demons and not to God. I don't want you to be sharing in demons. <sup>21</sup>You can't drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons; you can't participate in the table of the Lord and the table of demons. <sup>22</sup>Or should we make the Lord jealous? We aren't stronger than he is, are we?

faithlessness (see 1 Cor 10:14), not temptation in general. The temptation for some was to maintain their social positions and relationships through participation in the normal religious practices of Corinthian public life. This included eating in the temples of false gods or eating food that had been sacrificed to idols. Refusal to do so might have had terrible social and even economic consequences for them. God is faithful: See Deuteronomy 7:9; 1 Corinthians 1:8-9. God can be relied upon in the situation of temptation to supply a way out so that you... endure it: Those worried about losing their social status or assistance from unbelievers are promised other options so that they don't have to participate in idolatrous practices. 10:14-23 Paul calls for avoiding idolatry on the grounds that one can't participate in the Lord's Supper and share in food sacrificed to false gods. False gods are actually demons or evil spirits that seek to take over God's position. 10:14 my dear friends: Paul uses affectionate language to remind his readers that he doesn't want to condemn them but to encourage them.

10:16-17 the cup of blessing that we bless: These two verses, along with 1 Corinthians 10:21, provide one of only two references to the Lord's Supper in the writings of Paul (see 1 Cor 11:17-34). one body, because we all share the one loaf of bread: This emphasizes the unity of the community since the one body refers to the church. Those with superior knowledge and those who are weak share a common identity and existence in Christ (1 Cor 8:7-13).

10:18 See Leviticus 7:6.

10:20 this kind of sacrifice is sacrificed to demons: Paul has denied the existence of the gods represented by idols (1 Cor 8:4-5; 10:19), but now he identifies idols with second-rate spirits. Demons are hostile, evil spirits who are opposed to God and God's rule. sharing in demons: To participate in idolatrous sacrifices and to eat food sacrificed to idols is to participate with the evil spirits who oppose God. Those with superior knowledge may know that idols don't really exist. But there is an evil force behind them that Christians must take seriously and avoid.

10:23-11:1 Paul makes the point that Christians must consider the needs and views of their brothers and sisters ahead of their own interests and desires (10:23-24). He then offers practical advice on how to deal with the problem of avoiding food sacrificed to idols or at least avoiding a bad conscience regarding it. He ends with a request not to offend Jews, Greeks, or God's church but to imitate Paul as he imitates Christ (10:25-11:1).

10:23 Everything is permitted, but everything isn't beneficial... everything doesn't build others up: See 1 Corinthians 6:12 for a slightly different version of this saying. Paul places a limit on individual freedom by suggesting that it must benefit others. Thus he recalls 1 Corinthians 8:7-13. On building up others, see 1 Corinthians 8:1; 14:3-5, 17, 26; Romans 14:19.

10:24 See Philippians 2:3-4.

10:25 Eat everything that is sold... without asking questions: Almost all meat in the marketplace came from sacrifices in Greco-Roman temples, as did other foods. Paul recommends that Christians not ask about the origins of the food they purchase in order to avoid an ethical conflict.

10:26 Paul quotes Psalm 24:1 to make the point that even food sacrificed to idols actually belongs to God.

10:27-28 If an unbeliever invites you: Paul didn't expect Christians to live in social isolation from unbelievers or to cut themselves off from their previous social circles. don't eat it for the sake of the one who told you: The host may be expecting the Christian to refuse the sacrificed food as an act of faithfulness to the Christian God. Or the host may be trying to trick the Christian into supporting idolatry. In these cases the Christian shouldn't eat the food for the sake of the one telling them.

10:29-30 Why should my freedom be judged by someone else's conscience?: This question relates to 1 Corinthians participate with gratitude, why should I be blamed for food I thank God for? <sup>31</sup>So, whether you eat or drink or whatever you do, you should do it all for God's glory. <sup>32</sup>Don't offend either Jews or Greeks, or God's church. <sup>33</sup>This is the same thing that I do. I please everyone in 11 everything I do. ### Appropriate dress in worship

<sup>2</sup>I praise you because you remember all my instructions, and you hold on to the traditions exactly as I handed them on to you. <sup>3</sup>Now I want you to know that the head of every man is Christ, and the head of the woman is the man, and the head of Christ is God. <sup>4</sup>Every man who prays or prophesies with his head covered shames his head. <sup>5</sup>Every woman who prays or prophesies with her head uncovered disgraces her head. It is the same thing as having her head shaved. <sup>6</sup>If a woman doesn't cover her head, then she should have her hair cut off. If it is disgraceful for a woman to have short hair or to be shaved, then she should keep her head covered. <sup>7</sup>A man shouldn't have his head covered, because he is the image and glory of God; but the woman is man's glory. <sup>8</sup>Man didn't have his origin from woman, but woman from man; <sup>9</sup>and man wasn't created for the sake of the woman, but the woman for the sake of the man. <sup>10</sup>Because of this a woman should have authority over her head, because of the angels. <sup>11</sup>However, woman isn't independent from man, and man isn't independent from woman

11:8 Gn 2:21; 1Ti 2:13 11:9 Gn 2:18 11:11 1Co 7:10; Ga 3:28

10:27. If someone wants to eat with unbelievers, that person shouldn't be discouraged from doing so for the sake of other people's consciences. If I participate with gratitude, why should I be blamed for food I thank God for? If a person eats in the home of an unbeliever, and offers thanksgiving to God for the food, then other Christians shouldn't blame that person for eating with unbelievers.

10:31 do it all for God's glory: The ultimate test of whether something is right or wrong is whether it honors God. Knowingly eating food sacrificed to idols and thereby causing a weaker brother or sister to be destroyed can never honor God (1 Cor 8:11).

10:32-33 Don't offend either Jews or Greeks, or God's church: The first two groups include people with whom the good news needs to be shared. The third group includes people who might be led away from the faith through ill-considered participation in meals where food sacrificed to idols is knowingly consumed. This is the same thing that I do. I please everyone . . . so that they can be saved: See 1 Corinthians 9:19-23.

11:1 Follow my example, just like I follow Christ's: Paul's final word on the subject. If everyone—including those with superior knowledge (1 Cor 8:7-13)—followed Paul's example, then the problem of food sacrificed to idols would no longer exist. To imitate Paul is to imitate Christ, a reference to a life oriented sacrificially toward the good of others (see 1 Thess 1:6).

11:2-16 Paul introduces a new issue that has come to his attention. Some women were participating in worship with their hair uncovered. For Paul this was completely unacceptable because it raised cultural questions about the place of women in relation to men within the worship life of the church.

11:2 I praise you: Paul appeals to the goodwill of his audience before raising an issue where, intentionally or unintentionally, they weren't following his teaching and the church traditions that he had given to them (see 1 Cor 11:16).

11:3 I want you to know: The introduction suggests that what follows is an important principle. The principle is that men, women, and even Christ have someone in a position of authority over them.

11:4 On the function of prophetic speech, see 1 Corinthians 14:3-4, 24-25. with his head covered shames his head: In Greco-Roman religions male worshippers covered their heads with their clothing as a mark of respect for the god. For a Christian man to do this would dishonor his head, Christ, by treating him as though he were one of those gods.

11:5 Every woman who prays or prophesies with her head uncovered disgraces her head: Women were free to speak in the worship service of the church (but see 1 Cor 14:33-35). However, they had to do so with their heads covered as a mark of their public virtue and modesty. In doing so they were simply putting into practice the cultural values of the wider society. Respectable women were expected to present themselves modestly in public with their heads covered. This was to prevent sexual interest from males. For a woman not to cover her head was to bring dishonor to her head, that is, to her husband or father.

11:6 If a woman doesn't cover her head, then she should have her hair cut off: Uncovered hair in public was a cultural sign of sexual looseness and shamefulness. In Roman law an adulteress was to have her hair shaved as a sign of her shamefulness. So if a woman in the church service refused to cover her hair, then she should be publicly shamed by having her hair cut off. This would have shamed not only her but also her family.

11:7 because he is the image and glory of God: According to the contemporary understanding of Genesis 1:27, males were created in the image of God and therefore exhibited God's glory. the woman is man's glory: The first woman was created from the rib of the first man, Adam (Gen 2:21-23), and therefore is a reflection of male glory. Paul implies this is the reason women should worship with their heads covered.

11:8-9 See Genesis 2:18-23.

11:10 a woman should have authority over her head: By wearing a head covering, an ancient woman exercised control over her hair, preventing men from thinking about her sexually because of the beauty of her hair.

11:11 woman isn't independent from man, and man isn't in the Lord. <sup>12</sup>As woman came from man so also man comes from woman. But everything comes from God. <sup>13</sup>Judge for yourselves: Is it appropriate for a woman to pray to God with her head uncovered? <sup>14</sup>Doesn't nature itself teach you that if a man has long hair, it is a disgrace to him; <sup>15</sup>but if a woman has long hair, it is her glory? This is because her long hair is given to her for a covering. <sup>16</sup>But if someone wants to argue about this, we don't have such a custom, nor do God's churches.

The community meal

<sup>17</sup>Now I don't praise you as I give the following instruction because when you meet together, it does more harm than good. <sup>18</sup>First of all, when you meet together as a church, I hear that there are divisions among you, and I partly believe it. <sup>19</sup>It's necessary that there are groups among you, to make it clear who is genuine. <sup>20</sup>So when you get together in one place, it isn't to eat the Lord's meal. <sup>21</sup>Each of you goes ahead and eats a private meal. One person goes hungry while another is drunk. <sup>22</sup>Don't you have houses to eat and drink in? Or do you look down on God's churches and humiliate those who have nothing? What can I say to you? Will I praise you? No, I don't praise you in this.

<sup>23</sup>I received a tradition from the Lord, which I also handed on to you: on the night on which he was betrayed, the Lord Jesus took bread. <sup>24</sup>After giving thanks, he broke it and said, "This is my body, which is for you; do this to remember me." <sup>25</sup>He did the same thing with the cup, after they had eaten, saying, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Every time you drink it, do this to remember me." <sup>26</sup>Every time you eat this bread and drink this cup, you broadcast the death of the Lord until he comes.

independent from woman: Who women are and what they do affect men and vice versa. in the Lord: In the sphere where Christ is Lord, there is a mutual interdependence of women and men that differs from the created order and the social order of the day.

11:13-15 The answer to the question in 11:13 should now be a forceful "No." Doesn't nature itself teach you: Paul is actually referring to the social norms of the day. He assumes that these are set forth by nature. if a man has long hair, it is a disgrace to him: Men with long hair were considered weak, womanly, and morally confusing in Paul's culture.

11:17-34 Paul deals with abuses at the Lord's meal.

11:17-22 People of higher social status made a mockery of the Lord's meal by humiliating the poor. They ate private meals in the church assembly while the poor went hungry. This reflects a common practice associated with Roman banquets. The rich used banquet meals to reinforce social distinctions between themselves and the poor.

11:17 I don't praise you: because of the seriousness of the abuses around eating practices and inappropriate and careless participation in the church's meal.

11:18 I hear that there are divisions among you: 1 Corinthians 11:22 makes it clear that social divisions existed between rich and poor. These divisions were expressed in the church's meal (see 1 Cor 1:10-13).

11:19 It's necessary that there are groups . . . to make it clear who is genuine: This implies that a process of judgment was beginning to reveal who the true believers were.

11:20 it isn't to eat the Lord's meal: The eating of the bread and the drinking of the cup of wine that constitute what we today call the Lord's Supper were part of a larger banquet meal. The well-off distinguished themselves from the poorer members of the community by the food they ate and the wine they drank. The following two verses explain why Paul thought that their meeting and eating together didn't honor the Lord.

11:21 Each of you goes ahead and eats a private meal: People bringing their own food to social gatherings and eating it without sharing with others was a common practice outside the church. Naturally this reinforced the social distinctions between those of means and those with little or no means. Apparently, this practice was brought into the church assembly, so that some went hungry while others got drunk.

11:23-26 Paul reminds his readers of the tradition that he had passed on to them regarding Jesus' Last Supper with his disciples, which provided the basis for the church's practice of the Lord's Supper.

11:23 I received a tradition from the Lord: The origin of the tradition goes back to the Last Supper on the night of Jesus' betrayal. What follows is the only direct quotation by Paul of a tradition from the ministry of Jesus also found in the Gospels (see Luke 22:19-20; Matt 26:26-28; Mark 14:22-24).

11:24 This is my body, which is for you: Christ offered up his life for the salvation of his followers (1 Thess 5:9-10).

11:25 after they had eaten: This phrase refers to the eating of a meal, not simply to the eating of the bread. The following may represent the order of the Lord's meal at Corinth: (1) the thanksgiving and breaking of bread that represented Christ's body; (2) a self-catered meal in which those with food didn't necessarily share with those who had no food (see 1 Cor 11:21); (3) the thanksgiving and drinking of a cup of wine, which represented the blood shed by Christ for human salvation. This cup is the new covenant in my blood: The cup represented Christ's blood, which signified a new declaration from God about God's relationship to humans (see Jer 31:31-34).

11:26 you broadcast the death of the Lord until he comes: The Lord's Supper announces the meaning and significance of the redemptive death of the Lord Jesus. It will do so until the day of his return from heaven (see 1 Cor 15:52-55; 1 Thess 4:13-18).

<sup>27</sup>This is why those who eat the bread or drink the cup of the Lord inappropriately will be guilty of the Lord's body and blood. <sup>28</sup>Each individual should test himself or herself, and eat from the bread and drink from the cup in that way. <sup>29</sup>Those who eat and drink without correctly understanding the body are eating and drinking their own judgment. <sup>30</sup>Because of this, many of you are weak and sick, and quite a few have died. <sup>31</sup>But if we had judged ourselves, we wouldn't be judged. <sup>32</sup>However, we are disciplined by the Lord when we are judged so that we won't be judged and condemned along with the whole world. <sup>33</sup>For these reasons, my brothers and sisters, when you get together to eat, wait for each other. <sup>34</sup>If some of you are hungry, they should eat at home so that getting together doesn't lead to judgment. I will give directions about the other things when I come.

Spiritual gifts

12 Brothers and sisters, I don't want you to be ignorant about spiritual gifts. <sup>2</sup>You know that when you were Gentiles you were often misled by false gods that can't even speak. <sup>3</sup>So I want to make it clear to you that no one says, "Jesus is cursed!" when speaking by God's Spirit, and no one can say, "Jesus is Lord," except by the Holy Spirit. <sup>4</sup>There are different spiritual gifts but the same Spirit; <sup>5</sup>and there are different ministries and the same Lord; <sup>6</sup>and there are different activities but the same God who produces all of them in everyone. <sup>7</sup>A demonstration of the Spirit is given to each person for the common good. <sup>8</sup>A word of wisdom is given by the Spirit to one person, a word of knowledge to another according to the same Spirit, <sup>9</sup>faith to still another by the same Spirit, gifts of healing to another in the one Spirit, <sup>10</sup>performance of miracles to another, prophecy to another, the ability to tell spirits apart to another, different kinds of tongues<sup>o</sup> to another, and the interpretation of <sup>o</sup>Or ecstatic speech or languages could be used for tongues or tongue throughout chaps 12–14.

11:27–34 Paul warns those who mistreat the poor during the shared meal that they dishonor the Lord's body and blood and bring God's judgment upon themselves. He closes by offering some basic instructions regarding how the Corinthians should behave with respect to the shared meal.

11:27 inappropriately: This refers to the behavior Paul criticized in 1 Corinthians 11:17–22. They eat a "private meal" instead of the "Lord's meal," since they eat selfishly and without concern for the poor among them.

11:28 test himself or herself: People should prepare for participating in the Lord's Supper by a critical self-examination of their own motives and behavior toward each other to see if their lives are shaped by the selfless sacrifice of Christ.

11:29 the body: the body of Christ sacrificed on the cross and represented in the bread of the Lord's Supper, and the church, which gains its identity from Christ's sacrifice.

11:30 Because of this: Paul blames physical weakness, illness, and even death on inappropriate participation in the Lord's meal.

11:31 See 1 Corinthians 11:28–29.

11:33 See 1 Corinthians 11:20–22.

12:1–14:40 Paul discusses the nature and significance of the spiritual gifts given by the Holy Spirit to believers for the sake of the community. The gifts of prophecy and speaking in tongues and their use in the church's worship receive special treatment in chapter 14. But in 13:1–13 Paul emphasizes that communal love is far more important than gifts of the Spirit. This is because love is the core Christian value that binds and holds the community together. Love has the power to overcome the divisions within the Corinthian church that have led to many of the problems Paul has discussed.

12:1–11 Paul focuses on the gifts that God's Spirit gives to individual Christians for the well-being of the community. Paul stresses that all of the gifts come from one and the same Spirit. Therefore, they aren't in opposition to or in competition with each other.

12:1 I don't want you to be ignorant about spiritual gifts: Paul addresses this issue because it had been raised by the letter addressed to him by the Corinthians (see 1 Cor 7:1; 8:1; 16:1).

12:2 when you were Gentiles you were often misled by false gods: Many, if not most, of the Corinthians, like others in Paul's churches (1 Thess 1:9), were Gentiles who worshipped the gods of the Greco-Roman religions. This accounts for many of the issues that Paul deals with in this letter (e.g., the problem of food sacrificed to idols), since he was attempting to form them fully into a Christian community.

12:3 no one says, "Jesus is cursed!" when speaking by God's Spirit: It's hard to imagine that any Christian would willingly say, "Jesus is cursed!" when speaking in the Spirit! The Greek simply has "Jesus curse." The reader must supply the verb in the Greek. Based on ancient curse formulas, perhaps the missing verb is "Jesus grant a curse." Perhaps Christians were using the name of Jesus in an attempt to put a curse on other people or their rivals in the community.

12:4–6 The NT doesn't have a fully developed doctrine of the Trinity, but passages like this provided building blocks for Trinitarian theology since the Spirit, the Lord Jesus, and God appear in the same context with different functions.

12:7 A demonstration of the Spirit: that is, a gift of the Spirit for the common good: The gifts of the Spirit are to support and sustain the Christian community. They aren't personal entitlements for the sake of the person possessing the gift.

12:10 prophecy: Paul values prophecy more highly than tongues because it builds people up and gives the tongues to another. <sup>11</sup>All these things are produced by the one and same Spirit who gives what he wants to each person.

<sup>12</sup>Christ is just like the human body—a body is a unit and has many parts; and all the parts of the body are one body, even though there are many. <sup>13</sup>We were all baptized by one Spirit into one body, whether Jew or Greek, or slave or free, and we all were given one Spirit to drink. <sup>14</sup>Certainly the body isn't one part but many. <sup>15</sup>If the foot says, "I'm not part of the body because I'm not a hand," does that mean it's not part of the body? <sup>16</sup>If the ear says, "I'm not part of the body because I'm not an eye," does that mean it's not part of the body? <sup>17</sup>If the whole body were an eye, what would happen to the hearing? And if the whole body were an ear, what would happen to the sense of smell? <sup>18</sup>But as it is, God has placed each one of the parts in the body just like he wanted. <sup>19</sup>If all were one and the same body part, what would happen to the body? <sup>20</sup>But as it is, there are many parts but one body. <sup>21</sup>So the eye can't say to the hand, "I don't need you," or in turn, the head can't say to the feet, "I don't need you." <sup>22</sup>Instead, the parts of the body that people think are the weakest are the most necessary. <sup>23</sup>The parts of the body that we think are less honorable are the ones we honor the most. The private parts of our body that aren't presentable are the ones that are given the most dignity. <sup>24</sup>The parts of our body that are presentable don't need this. But God has put the body together, giving greater honor to the part with less honor <sup>25</sup>so that there won't be division in the body and so the parts might have mutual concern for each other. <sup>26</sup>If one part suffers, all the parts suffer with it; if one part gets the glory, all the parts celebrate with it. <sup>27</sup>You are the body of Christ and parts of each other. <sup>28</sup>In the church, God has appointed first apostles, second prophets, third teachers, then miracles, then gifts of healing, the ability to help others, leadership skills, different kinds of tongues. <sup>29</sup>All aren't apostles, are they? All aren't prophets, are they? All aren't teachers, are they? All don't perform miracles, do they? <sup>30</sup>All don't have gifts of healing, do they? All don't speak in different tongues, do they? All don't interpret, do they? <sup>31</sup>Use your ambition to try to get the greater gifts. And I'm going to show you an even better way.

encouragement and comfort (see 1 Cor 14:3). the ability to tell spirits apart: This gift involves evaluating claims to prophetic inspiration. People may claim to prophesy without doing so under the influence of the Holy Spirit (see 1 Cor 12:3). different kinds of tongues . . . and the interpretation of the tongues: Spirit-inspired speech in languages unknown to the gathered community have no meaning unless they are interpreted by someone inspired by the Spirit (see 1 Cor 14:27-28).

12:12-27 Paul compares the church community, the body of Christ, with the human body and its separate parts. Just as each part of the human body is necessary and interconnected with every other part of the body, so are the members of the church. His goal is to stress unity in the community, over against the apparent divisions (1 Cor 1:10-12; 11:18).

12:12 Christ is just like the human body: Christ is a shortened way of referring to the "body of Christ" (see 1 Cor 12:27). The human body provides an image for understanding the character of the church community.

12:13 We were all baptized by one Spirit into one body, whether Jew or Greek, or slave or free: It's unclear whether this refers to water baptism or to some form of Spirit baptism. Whatever the case, baptism creates a unity among people from highly diverse and even conflicting social backgrounds (see Gal 3:27-28). Paul uses the image of the body to discourage divisions in the church.

12:22 the parts of the body that people think are the weakest are the most necessary: Paul seeks to raise the status of the socially weak members of the community, the slaves and the poor. He does so by suggesting that they are the most important in the community through their similarity to weak or less powerful parts of the human body.

12:23 The parts of the body . . . less honorable are the ones we honor the most: By comparison to the body, the powerless members of the community who have little social standing and, therefore, receive little or no respect, should receive greater respect and be treated with dignity.

12:24 greater honor to the part with less honor: Covering our genitals with clothing gives greater dignity to parts of the body that are considered to have less dignity and that even bring shame on us when they are publicly exposed.

12:25 so that there won't be division in the body and so the parts might have mutual concern for each other: This is the real goal of the body image. Paul wants to end divisions in the church and create mutual care among its members.

12:27 parts of each other: Mutual interdependence of the members of Christ's body is stressed as an antidote to the divisions that destroy the unity of the community.

12:28 God has appointed first apostles, second prophets, third teachers, then miracles . . . different kinds of tongues: The first three suggest a ranking based on their functions within the church. However, those on the list beginning with "then miracles" don't seem to be ranked in terms of importance. The church requires a variety of ministries or works of service (see Eph 4:11) and all come from God for the well-being of the community. None exist for their own sake. All are intended to enable the church to function as a whole.

12:31 Use your ambition . . . to get the greater gifts: Some gifts are more important than others. In 1 Corinthians 14:5 Paul identifies prophecy as more important than speaking in tongues, unless tongues are accompanied with interpretation. But 12:31 makes it clear that people may seek the more important gifts, regardless of their social position within the community. I'm going to show you an

Love: the universal spiritual gift

13If I speak in tongues of human beings and of angels but I don't have love, I'm a clanging gong or a clashing cymbal. <sup>2</sup>If I have the gift of prophecy and I know all the mysteries and everything else, and if I have such complete faith that I can move mountains but I don't have love, I'm nothing. <sup>3</sup>If I give away everything that I have and hand over my own body to feel good about what I've done but I don't have love, I receive no benefit whatsoever.

<sup>8</sup>Love never fails. As for prophecies, they will be brought to an end. As for tongues, they will stop. As for knowledge, it will be brought to an end. <sup>9</sup>We know in part and we prophesy in part; <sup>10</sup>but when the perfect comes, what is partial will be brought to an end. <sup>11</sup>When I was a child, I used to speak like a child, reason like a child, think like a child. But now that I have become a man, I've put an end to childish things. <sup>12</sup>Now we see a reflection in a mirror; then we will see face-to-face. Now I know partially, but then I will know completely in the same way that I have been completely known. <sup>13</sup>Now faith, hope, and love remain—these three things—and the greatest of these is love.

Spiritual gifts and church order

14Pursue love, and use your ambition to try to get spiritual gifts but especially so that you might prophesy. <sup>2</sup>This is because those who speak in a tongue don't speak to

13:13 Ga 5:6; Col 1:5 14:1 1Co 12:1, 1Co 12:31, 1Co 13:2, 1Co 14:39, 1Co 16:14 14:2 Mk 16:17; 1Co 12:10, 1Co 12:28, 1Co 12:30, 1Co 13:1

even better way: the way of love. Love is more important than all the other gifts combined, because it builds unity and commitment within the community.

13:1-13 The beauty and the spiritual power of this passage make it one of the most remarkable texts Paul ever wrote. It offers a poem to perhaps the most important core value of the Christian faith: love. In Paul, as with other writers of the Bible, love is primarily about attachment or bonding to God and to one's own group. This attachment may include warm emotional affection, but it doesn't have to. Most important, love involves commitment to and concern for the well-being of others to whom one is attached. In the context of a community torn apart by divisions, such as the church at Corinth, love offers a "better way" (1 Cor 12:31). Love does so by marking out the key characteristic necessary for the members of a church community to function smoothly and harmoniously.

13:2 the mysteries: secret, divine knowledge that surpasses human knowledge and understanding, if I have... faith that I can move mountains: See Mark 11:23. Faith is complete and unquestioning trust, loyalty, and commitment to God and to the Lord Jesus Christ.

13:3 give away everything that I have: The Greek text suggests giving, bit by bit, all one's possessions to the poor and needy.

13:4-7 Paul beautifully defines the very nature of love by its positive attributes, but also by what it isn't and doesn't do. As defined here, love would lead to the unity and well-being of the community.

13:8 Love never fails: Love, like God's love for us, can never be destroyed, nor can the true love of Christians for their fellow believers ever be destroyed. prophecies... will be brought to an end: Paul pronounces the ultimate inadequacy of the gifts of the Spirit that the Corinthians seem to have valued so highly (see 1 Cor 12:7-11). Unlike love, those gifts have no place in the perfected world to come.

13:9 We know... and we prophesy in part: Full knowledge of God, of God's will, and of God's purposes can be obtained only in the age to come (see 1 Cor 13:10). Prophecy continues to be necessary until the end of the current age, but in the age to come it will have achieved its purpose.

13:10 when the perfect comes: This refers to the coming age when God's purposes for this world will have been completed. Then God will be all in all (1 Cor 15:24-28). When the new age comes, then knowledge, prophecy, and everything else that is incomplete will be brought to an end.

13:12 Now we see a reflection in a mirror; then we will see face-to-face: In the present age we don't see God directly, but we see reflections of God and God's kingdom. In the age to come, we will see God and God's kingdom directly. Now I know partially, but then I will know completely: We have only partial knowledge of God's purposes now. But in the age to come, we will have complete knowledge regarding God. in the same way that I have been completely known: known by God.

13:13 faith: the loyalty and commitment that bind one to God regardless of the external circumstances. hope: the confident expectation that God will fulfill God's promises regarding the resurrection and future salvation (see Rom 8:24). love: the unbreakable attachment that Christians should have to God and to each other. The triad of faith, hope, and love represents the enduring values that Paul places at the heart of the Christian faith (see Rom 5:1-5; Gal 5:5-6; 1 Thess 1:3). They bind Christians to God and to each other. the greatest of these is love: Love is the glue that binds Christians to God and to each other, leading to loyalty and commitment (faith) and confident expectation in God's future salvation (hope).

14:1-40 Paul evaluates the importance of the gifts of prophecy and speaking in tongues in the life of the church. He clearly favors prophecy over the Spirit-inspired speech of tongues because intelligible speech can build up the community. If messages spoken in tongues can be interpreted, then they can have a place in worship. Paul's primary concern becomes apparent in 14:26-40: He wants people but to God; no one understands it—they speak mysteries by the Spirit. <sup>3</sup>Those who prophesy speak to people, building them up, and giving them encouragement and comfort. <sup>4</sup>People who speak in a tongue build up themselves; those who prophesy build up the church. <sup>5</sup>I wish that all of you spoke in tongues, but I'd rather you could prophesy. Those who prophesy are more important than those who speak in tongues, unless they are able to interpret them so that the church might be built up. <sup>6</sup>After all, brothers and sisters, if I come to you speaking in tongues, how will I help you unless I speak to you with a revelation, some knowledge, a prophecy, or a teaching? <sup>7</sup>Likewise, things that aren't alive like a harp or a lyre can make a sound, but if there aren't different notes in the sounds they make, how will the tune from the harp or the lyre be recognized? <sup>8</sup>And if a trumpet call is unrecognizable, then who will prepare for battle? <sup>9</sup>It's the same way with you: If you don't use language that is easy to understand when you speak in a tongue, then how will anyone understand what is said? <sup>10</sup>It will be as if you are speaking into the air! There are probably many language families in the world, and none of them are without meaning. <sup>11</sup>So if I don't know the meaning of the language, then I will be like a foreigner to those who speak it, and they will be like foreigners to me. <sup>12</sup>The same holds true for you: since you are ambitious for spiritual gifts, use your ambition to try to work toward being the best at building up the church.

<sup>13</sup>Therefore, those who speak in a tongue should pray to be able to interpret. <sup>14</sup>If I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays but my mind isn't productive. <sup>15</sup>What should I do? I'll pray in the Spirit, but I'll pray with my mind too; I'll sing a psalm in the Spirit, but I'll sing the psalm with my mind too. <sup>16</sup>After all, if you praise God in the Spirit, how will the people who aren't trained in that language say "Amen!" to your thanksgiving, when they don't know what you are saying? <sup>17</sup>You may offer a beautiful prayer of thanksgiving, but the other person is not being built up. <sup>18</sup>I thank God that I speak in tongues more than all of you. <sup>19</sup>But in the church I'd rather speak five words in my right mind than speak thousands of words in a tongue so that I can teach others.

<sup>20</sup>Brothers and sisters, don't be like children in the way you think. Well, be babies when it comes to evil, but be adults in your thinking. <sup>21</sup>In the Law it is written: I will speak to this people with foreign languages and foreigners' lips, but they will not even listen to me this way,<sup>P</sup> says the Lord. <sup>22</sup>So then, tongues are a sign for those who don't believe, not for those who order maintained in worship, and he gives instructions to ensure that it is.

14:1-19 Paul argues that tongues, unlike prophecy, are not intelligible to the human mind, nor do they build up the church community. He concludes that intelligible speech is better than tongues in the church's worship gatherings. If people speak in tongues, what is spoken must be interpreted for the community.

14:2-4 Paul compares the value of prophecy to tongues. building them up: Those who prophesy increase the knowledge and understanding of God and God's ways in the community. build up themselves: Those who speak in tongues enhance their own spiritual lives without causing the church to grow in maturity.

14:5 I'd rather you could prophesy: Prophecy is valued over speaking in tongues because it builds up the church. unless they are able to interpret them: Tongues have value for the church only if someone is able to interpret them in order to build up the church.

14:6 revelation: a divine disclosure of some hidden knowledge, truth, or future happening. 1 Corinthians 14:29-31 suggests that revelation is often given in the form of prophecy.

14:12 since you are ambitious for spiritual gifts: Apparently, the Corinthians competed with each other in seeking the gifts that were considered more impressive. try to work toward being the best at building up the church: More important than what gift a person receives is how they use the gift. The gifts of the Spirit should be used for the social and spiritual development of the church community.

14:13 pray to be able to interpret: Speaking in tongues can build up the church only if it is accompanied by an interpretation that allows it to be understood in everyday language. Prayer is the spiritual activity that can lead to the gift of interpretation for the person speaking in tongues.

14:16 'Amen!': This is one of the earliest Christian references we have to the use of the word "amen" in worship. It was familiar in Jewish worship (see Pss 41:13; 72:19; 89:52; 106:48). In this context it means "Let it be so."

14:17 You may offer a beautiful prayer of thanksgiving, but the other person is not being built up: Even prayer must build up the church or it is of no value in the context of worship.

14:18 I speak in tongues more than all of you: Paul is clearly not opposed to Spirit-inspired speech or tongues, but he doesn't want it to control and twist the worship life of the church, where everything should build up the community.

14:20-25 Paul explains the impact that tongues and prophecy may have on outsiders or unbelievers who may visit a church worship gathering. He clearly favors prophecy for the positive impact that it can have in convincing an unbeliever to worship God.

14:22 tongues are a sign for those who don't believe: Unbelievers will interpret tongues as madness (1 Cor 14:23). As a result, they won't receive the message of the gospel. But prophecy is a sign for believers: Prophecy is a positive sign believe. But prophecy is a sign for believers, not for those who don't believe. <sup>23</sup>So suppose that the whole church is meeting and everyone is speaking in tongues. If people come in who are outsiders or unbelievers, won't they say that you are out of your minds? <sup>24</sup>But if everyone is prophesying when an unbeliever or outsider comes in, they are tested by all and called to account by all. <sup>25</sup>The secrets of their hearts are brought to light. When that happens, they will fall on their faces and worship God, proclaiming out loud that truly God is among you!

<sup>26</sup>What is the outcome of this, brothers and sisters? When you meet together, each one has a psalm, a teaching, a revelation, a tongue, or an interpretation. All these things must be done to build up the church. <sup>27</sup>If some speak in a tongue, then let two or at most three speak, one at a time, and someone must interpret. <sup>28</sup>However, if there is no interpreter, then they should keep quiet in the meeting. They should speak privately to themselves and to God. <sup>29</sup>In the case of prophets, let two or three speak and have the rest evaluate what is said. <sup>30</sup>And if some revelation comes to someone else who is sitting down, the first one should be quiet. <sup>31</sup>You can all prophesy one at a time so that everyone can learn and be encouraged. <sup>32</sup>The spirits of prophets are under the control of the prophets. <sup>33</sup>God isn't a God of disorder but of peace. Like in all the churches of God's people, <sup>34</sup>the women should be quiet during the meeting. They are not allowed to talk. Instead, they need to get under control, just as the Law says. <sup>35</sup>If they want to learn something, they should ask their husbands at home. It is disgraceful for a woman to talk during the meeting.

<sup>36</sup>Did the word of God originate with you? Has it come only to you? <sup>37</sup>If anyone thinks that they are prophets or "spiritual people," then let them recognize that what I'm writing to you is the Lord's command. <sup>38</sup>If someone doesn't recognize this, they aren't recognized.

Women in Worship Today in Western cultures, notions of male domination of women and female subordination to men are widely rejected. For some contemporary Christians, what Paul writes in 1 Corinthians 14:33b-35 is a cause for debate. Some readers claim that Paul didn't actually write these words; that a later writer added them to the text. However, we have no manuscript evidence to suggest that this is correct. Language and cultural considerations are crucial for interpreting these two verses. In 1 Corinthians 14:34 the Greek term translated as "women," gynaikes, can refer to either an adult female or a married female. Thus verse 34 may be translated either as "the women should be quiet during the meeting" (most English translations) or "the wives should be quiet during the meeting." In any case, the meaning "wives," is implied by verse 35, which says: "If they want to learn something, they should ask their husbands at home." Accordingly, Paul's remark in verse 34 isn't directed to women in general but to married women. If married women have questions and want to talk about something discussed in the church gathering, they should ask their questions in their homes. Why? In Paul's culture, married women could bring shame to their husbands and their families by speaking out of turn in public. This shame was particularly true if a wife seemed to challenge or contradict her husband's authority or that of other men in public discussions. It's in this kind of setting and cultural context, then, that Paul prevented women from participating in discussions during worship. As 1 Corinthians 11:5 indicates, women with covered heads could pray and prophesy in the worship service.

because it has the power to convince unbelievers of the truth of the Christian gospel, thereby confirming Christians in their own faith (1 Cor 14:24-25).

14:24 tested by all and called to account by all: That is, those prophesying will expose and convince unbelievers of their sins.

14:26-40 Paul insists on exercising proper order in the church's worship and gives instructions on how this is to be done.

14:26 This verse gives us a very good idea of the activities that took place in the worship service of the earliest Christians. psalm: This may refer to OT psalms or more generally to songs praising God. revelation: See 1 Corinthians 14:6.

14:29 the rest: This may refer to other prophets, but more likely it refers to the community as a whole (see 1 Thess 5:20-21). evaluate what is said: They are to assess the value of the prophecy, since people may claim to prophesy while speaking only their own views.

14:32-33a The spirits of prophets are under the control of the prophets: To avoid disorder in the worship meeting, prophets must exercise self-control so that no one prophet controls the church's gathering for worship. This is because God isn't a God of disorder but of peace.

14:33b-35 A new matter is introduced, regarding the behavior of wives in the worship service. The interpretation of these verses is debated. See sidebar, "Women in Worship."

14:36 Did the word of God originate with you? Has it come only to you?: The Corinthians mustn't think that they have a special right to set their own standards regarding worship and in the process turn away from the practices of other churches.

14:37-38 the Lord's command: Paul calls on the Lord Jesus as the source of authority for what he has written about prophecy, tongues, and married women keeping silent in 1 Corinthians 14:26-35. To reject what Paul has written is to reject the Lord.

<sup>39</sup>So then, brothers and sisters, use your ambition to try to get the gift of prophecy, but don't prevent speaking in tongues. <sup>40</sup>Everything should be done with dignity and in proper order.

The resurrection

15 Brothers and sisters, I want to call your attention to the good news that I preached to you, which you also received and in which you stand. <sup>2</sup>You are being saved through it if you hold on to the message I preached to you, unless somehow you believed it for nothing. <sup>3</sup>I passed on to you as most important what I also received: Christ died for our sins in line with the scriptures, <sup>4</sup>he was buried, and he rose on the third day in line with the scriptures. <sup>5</sup>He appeared to Cephas, then to the Twelve, <sup>6</sup>and then he appeared to more than five hundred brothers and sisters at once—most of them are still alive to this day, though some have died. <sup>7</sup>Then he appeared to James, then to all the apostles, <sup>8</sup>and last of all he appeared to me, as if I were born at the wrong time. <sup>9</sup>I'm the least important of the apostles. I don't deserve to be called an apostle, because I harassed God's church. <sup>10</sup>I am what I am by God's grace, and God's grace hasn't been for nothing. In fact, I have worked harder than all the others—that is, it wasn't me but the grace of God that is with me. <sup>11</sup>So then, whether you heard the message from me or them, this is what we preach and this is what you have believed.

<sup>12</sup>So if the message that is preached says that Christ has been raised from the dead, then how can some of you say, "There's no resurrection of the dead"? <sup>13</sup>If there's no resurrection of the dead, then Christ hasn't been raised either. <sup>14</sup>If Christ hasn't been raised, then our preaching is useless and your faith is useless. <sup>15</sup>We are found to be false witnesses about God, because we testified against God that he raised Christ, when he didn't raise him if it's the case that the dead aren't raised. <sup>16</sup>If the dead aren't raised, then Christ hasn't been raised either. <sup>17</sup>If Christ hasn't been raised, then your faith is worthless; you are still in your sins, 14:40 with dignity and in proper order: Paul's primary concern is that the worship meeting be conducted in a way that doesn't invite criticism from outsiders.

15:1-58 For Paul and the early Christians, the resurrection of Christ was at the heart of the gospel because it confirmed the claim that Jesus' death was for our sins (15:17). Here he presents the nature, meaning, and significance of the resurrection for Christians.

15:1-11 Paul introduces the theme of the resurrection by reminding the Corinthians of its central place in his own missionary preaching and his own experience as a Christian.

15:1 the good news that I preached: The gospel about Jesus Christ. (The words "gospel" and "good news" translate the Greek word euangelion, which also translates into our English word "evangelism.")

15:2 You are being saved through it: Paul conceives of salvation as a process connected with receiving the gospel or good news (see Rom 1:16).

15:3-4 I passed on to you... what I also received: Paul received the gospel message from those who were Christians before him. Christ died for our sins... rose on the third day in line with the scriptures: the core message of Paul's preaching. scriptures: This refers exclusively to the OT since the NT didn't exist. Christ's death and resurrection are seen in alignment with the OT (see Isa 53:1-12; Ps 110:1).

15:5-8 These verses list the resurrection appearances known by Paul. He believed that the risen Jesus was visibly seen by the various people and groups that he mentions. Cephas: the apostle Peter. the Twelve: the 12 disciples of Jesus (see Mark 3:16, though according to Acts 1:15-26, Judas was replaced by Matthias). Paul, however, didn't think the Twelve were the only apostles (see 15:7). James: the brother of Jesus (see Gal 1:19). all the apostles: For Paul, the term "apostle" designated the missionaries who were sent out by various churches to preach the gospel. last of all... to me, as if I were born at the wrong time: Christ's appearance to Paul was the last of his resurrection appearances and came much later in time than the other appearances Paul mentions here (see Acts 9:1-16; 22:6-11; 26:12-18).

15:9 because I harassed God's church: See Galatians 1:13-14; Acts 7:54-8:1; 9:2-3.

15:10 I am what I am: an apostle of Jesus Christ in spite of his having harassed the church of God. by God's grace: God chose to act as Paul's divine patron, giving him favor to make him an apostle (see 1 Cor 1:3-4). God's grace hasn't been for nothing: Paul accomplished a great deal for his patron by winning many for Christ in response to the favor God gave him when making him an apostle.

15:11 this is what we preach and... what you have believed: See 1 Corinthians 15:3-4.

15:12-19 Paul presents the negative consequences if there is no resurrection of the dead.

15:12 how can some of you say, "There's no resurrection of the dead"?: Some Corinthians accepted the notion of Christ's resurrection as preached, but didn't believe in their own future resurrection. They probably believed in the immortality of the soul, holding that the soul would be separated from the body at death. This idea was widely held in the 1st-century Greco-Roman world. Another widely held belief claimed that death was the end of all human existence, with no afterlife at all.

15:13 If there's no resurrection... then Christ hasn't been raised either: Paul doesn't allow an argument that separates Christ's resurrection from the more general phenomenon of bodily resurrection. He argues that if there is no general resurrection, then Christ cannot have been raised from the dead.

15:17 you are still in your sins: They haven't been freed from the consequences of their past disobedience to God if Christ hasn't been raised from the dead.

<sup>18</sup>and what's more, those who have died in Christ are gone forever. <sup>19</sup>If we have a hope in Christ only in this life, then we deserve to be pitied more than anyone else.

<sup>20</sup>But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead. He's the first crop of the harvest<sup>a</sup> of those who have died. <sup>21</sup>Since death came through a human being, the resurrection of the dead came through one too. <sup>22</sup>In the same way that everyone dies in Adam, so also everyone will be given life in Christ. <sup>23</sup>Each event will happen in the right order: Christ, the first crop of the harvest,<sup>b</sup> then those who belong to Christ at his coming, <sup>24</sup>and then the end, when Christ hands over the kingdom to God the Father, when he brings every form of rule, every authority and power to an end. <sup>25</sup>It is necessary for him to rule until he puts all enemies under his feet.<sup>c</sup> <sup>26</sup>Death is the last enemy to be brought to an end, <sup>27</sup>since he has brought everything under control under his feet. When it says that everything has been brought under his control, this clearly means everything except for the one who placed everything under his control. <sup>28</sup>But when all things have been brought under his control, then the Son himself will also be under the control of the one who gave him control over everything so that God may be all in all.

<sup>29</sup>Otherwise, what are those who are getting baptized for the dead doing? If the dead aren't raised, then why are they being baptized for them? <sup>30</sup>And what about us? Why are we in danger all day every day? <sup>31</sup>Brothers and sisters, I swear by the pride I have in you in Christ Jesus our Lord, I'm facing death every day. <sup>32</sup>From a human point of view, what good does it do me if I fought wild animals in Ephesus? 15:18 those who have died in Christ are gone forever. If there is no resurrection, then death is the final end of Christians (and of all humanity).

15:20-28 Paul presents the positive consequences of Jesus' resurrection, since his resurrection did happen.

15:20 But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead: Paul rejects all of the claims in 1 Corinthians 15:13-19 as contrary to fact. He's the first crop of the harvest of those who have died: Paul doesn't see Christ's resurrection as a solitary event. Rather, it's the beginning of the general resurrection (see 1 Cor 15:23; cf. Dan 12:1-3). In the OT "the first crop of the harvest" refers to the portion of the crop ("early produce") dedicated to God and given to the priests (see Num 18:8-15).

15:21-22 death came through a human being: See Genesis 3:17-24; Romans 5:12-14. the resurrection of the dead came through one too: See Romans 5:15-18.

15:23-24 Paul provides us with the order of the events associated with the end of the age (see 1 Thess 4:13-18). Christ, the first crop of the harvest, then those who belong to Christ at his coming: Christ's resurrection is the beginning of the general resurrection of the dead. The word "coming" translates the Greek term parousia, which refers to the coming of a king or emperor for an official visit. Christ's coming is the visitation of the heavenly king to gather his people, both the living and the dead (see 1 Thess 4:16-17). he brings every form of rule, every authority and power to an end: This may refer to earthly rulers (e.g., the Roman emperor), or spiritual forces opposed to God (e.g., Satan), or both.

15:25 he puts all enemies under his feet: a paraphrase of Psalm 110:1. This is a well-known image for conquering one's enemies. It refers to Christ's activity in defeating God's enemies.

15:26 Death is the last enemy. Mortality, which is connected to human sin (see 1 Cor 15:56; Rom 5:12), is mankind's final and unwavering enemy until the resurrection.

15:27 the one who placed everything under his control: that is, God, the Father, who has placed everything under Christ's control.

15:28 brought under his control: that is, under the control of Jesus Christ, God's Son. the one who gave him control: that is, God, the Father. that God may be all in all: This represents the final goal and end of the process begun with Christ's resurrection and concluding with his defeat of all human and spiritual rule, authority, and power (see Phil 2:9-11). God will be all in all when all creation is reconciled to God and acknowledges its dependence on God.

15:29-34 Paul offers arguments for the reality of the resurrection from Christian experience.

15:29 what are those who are getting baptized for the dead doing? It's unclear to what Paul refers. The most obvious interpretation is that Christians were being baptized on behalf of deceased people, like parents or spouses, so that they could be joined together again in the resurrection. This practice isn't mentioned anywhere else in the Bible.

15:30 Why are we in danger all day every day?: See 2 Corinthians 11:22-33. If there is no salvation, no hope of the resurrection and future life with God, why would Paul constantly put himself at risk?

15:32 what good does it do me if I fought wild animals in Ephesus?: "Wild animals" is an image for the human opposition Paul faced in the city of Ephesus (1 Cor 16:8-9; see Acts 19:21-41). If there is no resurrection, what reward would there be for the danger that Paul experienced in preaching the gospel in Ephesus? let's eat and drink because tomorrow we'll die: quoted from Isaiah 22:13. If there is no resurrection, then this life is all there is. And if this life is all there is, then enjoy it while it lasts.

15:33 Don't be deceived, bad company corrupts good character: This warning flows from the viewpoint Paul mentions (and rejects) in 1 Corinthians 15:32. Paul deals with this issue in 1 Corinthians 5:1-13 more extensively. The acting like you should and don't sin. Some of you are ignorant about God—I say this because you should be ashamed of yourselves!

<sup>35</sup>But someone will say, "How are the dead raised? What kind of body will they have when they come back?" <sup>36</sup>Look, fool! When you put a seed into the ground, it doesn't come back to life unless it dies. <sup>37</sup>What you put in the ground doesn't have the shape that it will have, but it's a bare grain of wheat or some other seed. <sup>38</sup>God gives it the sort of shape that he chooses, and he gives each of the seeds its own shape. <sup>39</sup>All flesh isn't alike. Humans have one kind of flesh, animals have another kind of flesh, birds have another kind of flesh, and fish have another kind. <sup>40</sup>There are heavenly bodies and earthly bodies. The heavenly bodies have one kind of glory, and the earthly bodies have another kind of glory. <sup>41</sup>The sun has one kind of glory, the moon has another kind of glory, and the stars have another kind of glory (but one star is different from another star in its glory). <sup>42</sup>It's the same with the resurrection of the dead: a rotting body is put into the ground, but what is raised won't ever decay. <sup>43</sup>It's degraded when it's put into the ground, but it's raised in glory. It's weak when it's put into the ground, but it's raised in power. <sup>44</sup>It's a physical body when it's put into the ground, but it's raised as a spiritual body.

If there's a physical body, there's also a spiritual body. <sup>45</sup>So it is also written, The first human, Adam, became a living person,<sup>a</sup> and the last Adam became a spirit that gives life. <sup>46</sup>But the physical body comes first, not the spiritual one—the spiritual body comes afterward. <sup>47</sup>The first human was from the earth made from dust; the second human is from heaven. <sup>48</sup>The nature of the person made of dust is shared by people who are made of dust, and the nature of the heavenly person is shared by heavenly people. <sup>49</sup>We will look like<sup>b</sup> the heavenly person in the same way as we have looked like the person made from dust.

<sup>50</sup>This is what I'm saying, brothers and sisters: Flesh and blood can't inherit God's kingdom. Something that rots can't inherit something that doesn't decay. <sup>51</sup>Listen, I'm telling you a secret: All of us won't die, but we will all be changed—<sup>52</sup>in an instant, in the blink of an warning is a well-known moral proverb from a now-lost play by Menander (died 292 BCE).

15:34 Sober up by acting like you should: Essentially, Paul is saying that his readers should come to their senses and act responsibly. Some of you are ignorant about God: a charge that some lacked spiritual insight, having no knowledge or understanding of God's ways.

15:35–49 Paul deals with the nature of the resurrection body.

15:35 What kind of body will they have when they come back?: in the resurrection. This question has two parts: What is the relation of the resurrection body to the mortal human body? And what is the nature of the resurrection body? The verses that follow answer these questions.

15:36–38 These verses use seeds to suggest something about the mortal human body and the resurrection body. Seeds have a particular form, but when they are planted and grow they have a different form. In the same way, our bodies, when dead and buried, will rise in a different form.

15:40 Paul distinguishes between earthly bodies and heavenly bodies by suggesting that they have different types of glory. "Glory" refers to the radiance of a particular body, and naturally Paul thought of heavenly bodies as possessing greater radiance.

15:44 a physical body... a spiritual body: Paul refers to one kind of body suited for life in this world and to another kind of body suited for life in the world to come. Whether in this world or the next, human life is embodied. spiritual body: a transformed body no longer subject to the power of sin and death, and therefore fit to inherit God's kingdom, where sin and death no longer reign (see 1 Cor 15:50; 15:53–56).

15:45 The first human, Adam, became a living person: See Genesis 2:7. By way of contrast, Paul maintains that the last Adam (Jesus Christ) became a spirit that gives life. For the contrast between Adam and Christ, see also Romans 5:12–21. the last Adam: the risen Christ who is the source of resurrection life for all who are being saved (Phil 3:20–21).

15:47–49 The first human (Adam) was from the earth made from dust. See Genesis 2:7. the second human (the risen Christ) is from heaven: These two figures have a representative function. Mortal humans share the mortal nature of the first Adam, while heavenly people will share the heavenly nature of the second Adam.

15:50–58 Paul writes about the end of the age, the general resurrection, and transformation of the body.

15:50 Flesh and blood can't inherit God's kingdom: For Jesus, God's kingdom referred primarily to God's authority and rule in human history (see Luke 17:20–21). For Paul, the Kingdom of God comes into our possession through the resurrection body. Unlike the decaying and dying human body, the resurrection body doesn't wear out and die and is therefore fit for the place where God reigns forever.

15:51–52 a secret: God's hidden plans for the future of those who belong to Christ, both the living and the dead. All of us won't die, but we all will be changed: If only the dead are raised with a heavenly body that can't be destroyed, what of those who haven't died at Christ's coming? They will be transformed so that they possess imperishable heavenly bodies as well. the final trumpet: associated with the day on which the Lord God acts to save God's people (see Isa 27:12–13; Zech 9:14; Matt eye, at the final trumpet. The trumpet will blast, and the dead will be raised with bodies that won't decay, and we will be changed. <sup>53</sup>It's necessary for this rotting body to be clothed with what can't decay, and for the body that is dying to be clothed in what can't die. <sup>54</sup>And when the rotting body has been clothed in what can't decay, and the dying body has been clothed in what can't die, then this statement in scripture will happen:

Death has been swallowed up by a victory.<sup>w</sup>

Where is your sting, Death?<sup>m</sup>

(<sup>56</sup>Death's sting is sin, and the power of sin is the Law.) <sup>57</sup>Thanks be to God, who gives us this victory through our Lord Jesus Christ! <sup>58</sup>As a result of all this, my loved brothers and sisters, you must stand firm, unshakable, excelling in the work of the Lord as always, because you know that your labor isn't going to be for nothing in the Lord.

Collection for Jerusalem

16 Concerning the collection of money for God's people: You should do what I have directed the churches in Galatia to do. <sup>2</sup>On the first day of the week, each of you should set aside whatever you can afford from what you earn so that the collection won't be delayed until I come. <sup>3</sup>Then when I get there, I'll send whomever you approve to Jerusalem with letters of recommendation to bring your gift. <sup>4</sup>If it seems right for me to go too, they'll travel with me.

Plans to visit

<sup>5</sup>I'll come to you after I go through Macedonia, and because I'm going through Macedonia, <sup>6</sup>I may stay with you or even spend the winter there in Corinth so that you can send me on my way to wherever I'm off to next. <sup>7</sup>I don't want to make a quick visit to you, since I hope to spend some time with you if the Lord lets it happen. <sup>8</sup>I'll stay here in Ephesus until the Festival of Pentecost. <sup>9</sup>In spite of the fact that there are many opponents, a big and productive opportunity has opened up for my mission here.

<sup>10</sup>If Timothy comes to you, be sure that he has no reason to be afraid while he's with you, because he does the work of the Lord just like I do. <sup>11</sup>So don't let anyone disrespect him, but send him on in peace so he can join me. I'm waiting for him along with the brothers and 24:29-31; 1 Thess 4:16). the dead will be raised . . . and we will be changed: The order is fixed. The dead are raised with heavenly bodies, and then those who are alive will have their bodies transformed into heavenly bodies (see 1 Thess 4:13-17).

15:54-55 Paul draws on two OT texts, Isaiah 25:8 and Hosea 13:14, though he modifies them to create his taunt against death. The taunt shows that death is humankind's final and greatest enemy. Paul's point is that the resurrection overthrows the power of death to corrupt and destroy the human body.

15:56 See Romans 5:12-14; 7:7-13.

15:57 Christ's victory over death achieved through his resurrection offers certainty for Christians of their own victory over death through the resurrection.

15:58 The resurrection and immortality of the transformed body are here seen as the reward for faithful Christian living.

16:1-24 Paul deals briefly with three concluding matters before his final greeting to the church.

16:1-4 First, Paul gives directions for the collection to aid Christians in Jerusalem.

16:1 the collection of money for God's people: The leaders of the church in Jerusalem asked Paul and Barnabas to help the poor of the church (Gal 2:10). This collection was the means of doing so (see Rom 15:22-28; 2 Cor 8-9).

16:2 the first day of the week: The Greek idiom is "the first of the Sabbath," which is Sunday, the meeting day of the early church. This is our earliest reference to the church's practice of gathering on Sunday.

16:5-12 Paul sets out his intended travel plans as well as the plans of others.

16:5-6 Macedonia: the northern part of Greece where Paul established several churches, including the churches of Philippi and Thessalonica.

16:7 if the Lord lets it happen: Christ is the one in control of Paul's life (cf. Jas 4:13-16).

16:8 I'll stay here in Ephesus until the Festival of Pentecost: Pentecost was 50 days after the Passover (see Lev 23:15-16), so Paul was planning to stay until late spring when sea travel was safer.

16:9 many opponents: those opposed to Paul's preaching of the gospel in Ephesus. See 1 Corinthians 15:32; Acts 19:23-41.

16:10 If Timothy comes to you: The uncertainty surrounding Timothy's coming to the Corinthians is a bit surprising in light of 1 Corinthians 4:17. be sure that he has no reason to be afraid while he's with you: Perhaps Paul thought Timothy, in carrying out his instructions (1 Cor 4:17), might be subject to arrogant and even hostile behavior from some in the community (1 Cor 4:18; 16:11).

16:11 Paul seems to be worried about the reception Timothy will receive as his ambassador, and with good reason given what was to happen to Paul on his second visit (see 2 Cor 2:5; 10:2; 13:1-2). along with the brothers and sisters:

sisters. <sup>12</sup>Concerning Apollos our brother: I strongly encouraged him to visit you with the brothers and sisters, but he didn't want to go now. He'll come when he has an opportunity.

Final greeting

<sup>15</sup>Brothers and sisters, I encourage you to do something else. You know that the people in Stephanas' household were the first crop of the harvest to come from the mission to Achaia. They have dedicated themselves to the service of God's people. <sup>16</sup>So accept the authority of people like them and of anyone who cooperates and works hard. <sup>17</sup>I'm so happy that Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus have arrived; they've made up for my missing you. <sup>18</sup>Indeed they've provided my spirit<sup>a</sup> and yours with a much-needed rest. Therefore, give them proper recognition.

probably those traveling with Timothy since group travel was important for safety.

16:12 Some have thought that there was conflict and rivalry between Paul and Apollos (see 1 Cor 3:4), but this suggests that they worked together cooperatively (see sidebar, "The Source of the Divisions at Corinth" at 1 Cor 4). 16:13-18 Paul gives final instructions.

16:13 Stay awake: Be watchful for threats and dangers to the community.

16:14 Everything should be done in love: Paul calls for love in the sense of the community being bound together in mutual support and commitment. For him this is the solution to the problems and divisions destroying the church. Love is the greatest of the three core Christian virtues, according to 1 Corinthians 13:13.

16:15-16 the first crop of the harvest: See note on 1 Corinthians 15:20. So accept the authority of people like them and of anyone who cooperates and works hard: that is, anyone who cooperates and works hard with them. His goal is to affirm the leadership role played by Stephanas' household, as well as those who work together with them.

16:17 I'm so happy that Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus have arrived: These three probably brought the letter mentioned in 1 Corinthians 7:1 as well as gave an oral report about the troubled situation in the church at Corinth. 16:18 give them proper recognition: Stephanas and his companions almost certainly took 1 Corinthians as a letter back to Corinth. These words, along with 1 Corinthians 16:15-16, give them the status and authority necessary to deliver Paul's message to the church. They would have read the letter to the community and expanded on what Paul had written. This was the practice in the Roman world.

16:19-24 Paul's final greetings to the church in Corinth.

16:19-21 Aquila and Prisca: See Acts 18:1-5, 18, 26; Romans 16:3-5. greet each other with a holy kiss: This was a standard practice in the early church (Rom 16:16; 2 Cor 13:12; 1 Thess 5:26; 1 Pet 5:14). It was intended to show that in Christ a close-knit community was being formed among people who previously had not been socially connected. Here is my greeting in my own handwriting: Paul didn't write his own letters but used a trained secretary to whom he dictated the letters. His signature showed that his letters were really his (2 Thess 3:17).

16:22 A curse on anyone who doesn't love the Lord: This curse is directed toward any who show a lack of love for the Lord by causing problems in the community. Come, Lord!: This is the translation of an Aramaic phrase, marana tha, which appears in the Greek text. The use of a word borrowed from the Aramaic language indicates that this expression came from the Jewish homeland and was a prayer for the return of the Lord Jesus Christ from heaven. Paul implies that those who cause problems in the community will be judged and condemned by the Lord Jesus at his coming.

2 CORINTHIANS

2 Corinthians is one of Paul's most personal and heartfelt letters. Paul was the founder of the congregation at Corinth, the capital city of Roman Achaia. But he and the Corinthian congregation had a serious conflict that enabled rival missionaries to question his ministry and lead the Corinthian church in directions he didn't like. Paul wrote this letter to defend his ministry as “an apostle of Christ Jesus” (2 Cor 1:1) and to direct the congregation in the way he thought they should go.

The conflict between Paul and the Corinthian church had something to do with the fact that Paul changed his plans after he sent them the letter we call 1 Corinthians. At the time he wrote 1 Corinthians, Paul was apparently on good terms with the believers in Corinth, as he could tell them to start a relief fund for the poor believers in Jerusalem (1 Cor 16:1-4). Writing from Ephesus, Paul said he planned to visit Macedonia and then Corinth, where he would pick up the collection to send to Jerusalem (1 Cor 16:3-8). But he changed his plans and went to Corinth first, intending to travel from there north to Macedonia and then back south to Corinth before leaving for Jerusalem (2 Cor 1:15-16; 12:14; 13:1-2). This change seems to have upset the Corinthians (2 Cor 1:23; 2:1; 7:12). As a result, Paul left Corinth for Asia Minor, probably first for Ephesus, his base of operations in the region for several years (Acts 19:1-40; 20:31), and then for Troas (2 Cor 2:12). After leaving Corinth he wrote the Corinthians a letter, marked with his tears, about his recent painful visit with them (2 Cor 2:3-4). Unfortunately, we don’t have this letter. By the time he wrote 2 Corinthians, Paul had left Asia Minor for Macedonia (2 Cor 2:13), where he received a report from his associate Titus that the Corinthians had welcomed Paul’s “letter of tears” and were reconciled to Paul. The news greatly encouraged the apostle (2 Cor 7:5-16).

Writing in this context of newly mended fences, Paul begins 2 Corinthians by explaining why he had to change his travel plans (2 Cor 1:15-20), and he spends the first seven chapters defending his ministry. In the letter’s remaining chapters Paul discusses two topics: the relief fund and his conflict with rival missionaries. First he encourages the Corinthians to begin contributing again to the Jerusalem relief fund, an activity they had apparently stopped during their dispute with the apostle (2 Cor 8-9). Next he attacks the rival missionaries and defends his apostolic authority (2 Cor 10-13).

There’s a noticeable shift in tone in 2 Corinthians 10-13 away from the generally warm language of 2 Corinthians 1-9. Some scholars have proposed that 2 Corinthians 10-13 is from a different letter. These chapters could be from the tearful letter mentioned in 2 Corinthians 2:4, or maybe they were written after 2 Corinthians 1-9 had already been sent to Corinth. A growing number of scholars, however, think the 2 Corinthians we have is just as Paul wrote it. In fact, in 2 Corinthians 1-7 Paul refers to criticisms of his apostolic authority (cf. 2 Cor 3:1; 4:1-6; 5:11-13). So perhaps he opens the letter with an extended defense of his ministry (2 Cor 2:14-7:4) in order to pave the way later in the letter for a more pointed response to the criticism of the rival missionaries, whom he sarcastically labels “super-apostles” (2 Cor 11:5; 12:11). Since Paul’s letters were generally written (or dictated) over a period of days or weeks, it could be that Paul drafted 2 Corinthians 1-9 just before he received news of a worsening situation in Corinth, a state of affairs that called for the severe response in 2 Corinthians 10-13. Those who delivered Paul’s letters would have been able, and expected, to share with the Corinthians additional information not included in the letter itself (cf. Col 4:7-9; Eph 6:21-22).

2 Corinthians seems to have successfully defended Paul’s ministry and reconciled the church (once again) to its apostle. The best evidence for this is in Paul’s letter to the Romans, where he reports he’s preparing to travel to Jerusalem with a contribution for the poor believers there from “Macedonia and Achaia” (Rom 15:25-27). In the end, and in spite of much disagreement over the fund-raising effort, the Corinthians appear to have supported Paul’s collection for Jerusalem.

Since the major theme of 2 Corinthians centers on Paul’s defense of his missionary work in the face of conflict and criticism, the letter’s theology is deeply tied to Paul’s understanding of his apostolic ministry. A significant concern is the paradoxical relationship between suffering and power. Paul’s opponents point to his physical suffering as a sign of his weakness (2 Cor 10:10; 11:5-6, 21). But Paul says his suffering and weakness—of which there is plenty of evidence (2 Cor 1:5-6; 4:7-12, 16; 6:4-10; 11:22-33; 12:8-10)—show he’s an authentic apostle. Indeed, Paul's suffering points to his identification with the crucified Jesus. It's through the embodiment of Jesus' death that Paul and his associates bear witness to Jesus' life and are used by God to extend life and grace to others (2 Cor 4:7-15). Paul's own ministry of reconciliation (including his attempt to reconcile with the Corinthians) is a testimony to the reconciliation God has accomplished for sinners through Christ (2 Cor 5:18-19). This is not an abstract theological confession; it is a claim that has profound implications for the ethics of the Corinthians, especially as Paul maintains that those who have experienced the grace of Christ (2 Cor 8:9) are called and enabled to extend grace to others. Paul develops this theme in 2 Corinthians 8-9 with particular reference to the tangible "grace" of sharing in the collection for the poor believers in Jerusalem.

2 Corinthians is Paul's defense of his apostolic work to the Corinthians, but it isn't narrowly focused on his own work. It's a theologically rooted review of his ministry among the Corinthians as "an apostle of Christ Jesus" (2 Cor 1:1), one that invites his readers to understand the close connection between the Christlike suffering of those who work for the gospel, the enabling grace of God, and the transformed lives of those who have received God's grace. As Paul reminds the Corinthians near the end of the letter, "Have you been thinking up to now that we are defending ourselves to you? Actually, we are speaking in the sight of God and in Christ. Dear friends, everything is meant to build you up" (2 Cor 12:19).

Greeting

1 From Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by God's will, and Timothy our brother.
To God's church that is in Corinth, along with all of God's people throughout Achaia.
2 Grace to you and peace from God our Father and from our Lord Jesus Christ.

God's comfort in trouble

3 May the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ be blessed! He is the compassionate Father and God of all comfort. 4 He's the one who comforts us in all our trouble so that we can comfort other people who are in every kind of trouble. We offer the same comfort that we ourselves received from God. 5 That is because we receive so much comfort through Christ in the same way that we share so many of Christ's sufferings. 6 So if we have trouble, it is to bring you comfort and salvation. If we are comforted, it is to bring you comfort from the experience of endurance while you go through the same sufferings that we also suffer. 7 Our hope for you is certain, because we know that as you are partners in suffering, so also you are partners in comfort.

8 Brothers and sisters, we don't want you to be unaware of the troubles that we went through in Asia. We were weighed down with a load of suffering that was so far beyond our strength that we were afraid we might not survive. 9 It certainly seemed to us as if we had gotten the death penalty. This was so that we would have confidence in God, who raises the dead, instead of ourselves. 10 God rescued us from a terrible death, and he will rescue us. We have set our hope on him that he will rescue us again, 11 since you are helping with your prayer for us. Then many people can thank God on our behalf for the gift that was given to us through the prayers of many people.

Paul explains his change of plans

12 We have conducted ourselves with godly sincerity and pure motives in the world, and especially toward you. This is why we are confident, and our conscience confirms this. We didn't act with human wisdom but we relied on the grace of God. 13 We don't write anything to you except what you can read and also understand. I hope that you will understand totally 14 since you have already understood us partly. Understand that in the day of our Lord Jesus, we will make you proud as you will also make us proud.

15 Because I was sure of this, I wanted to visit you first so that you could have a second opportunity to see me. 16 I wanted to visit you on my way to Macedonia, and then come to you again on my way back from Macedonia, at which point I was hoping you would help me on my way to Judea.

1:1-2 The letter opens with a customary greeting, including an indication of the senders and the recipients (1:1). In most of his letters Paul identifies himself as an apostle (cf. "slaves of Christ Jesus" in Phil 1:1; "prisoner for the cause of Christ Jesus" in Phm 1). Paul understands his role as apostle to be closely tied to his commission by the risen Jesus to bring the good news to the Gentiles (see Rom 11:13; 1 Cor 9:1-2; 15:1-9; Gal 1:11-17; 2 Tim 1:8-12).

1:1 Timothy, a close associate of Paul, often traveled with the apostle and to the Pauline churches on Paul's behalf (see Acts 16-20; 1 Cor 4:17; 16:10; Phil 1:1; 2:19-24; Col 1:1; 1 Thess 1:1; 3:1-6; 2 Thess 1:1; Phm 1). Paul calls Timothy his "son" (Phil 2:22) and his "true child in the faith" (1 Tim 1:2; cf. 2 Tim 1:2), and Paul addresses the letters of 1 and 2 Timothy to this younger and cherished partner in ministry. Achaia: Corinth was the capital city of the Roman province of Achaia, which included the Peloponnese (a large peninsula in southern Greece) and southern mainland Greece (see map 21).

1:2 Grace to you and peace: Paul's standard letter greeting (cf. Rom 1:7; 1 Cor 1:3; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2; Phil 1:2; Col 1:2; 1 Thess 1:1; 2 Thess 1:2; Titus 1:4; Phm 3). In 1 Timothy 1:2 and 2 Timothy 1:2 Paul adds "mercy" to "grace" and "peace." 1:3-7 The letter's opening blesses the God of all comfort (1:3), who gives consolation in the midst of suffering.

Sharing in the sufferings of Christ (1:5) allows Paul to experience divine comfort and enables him to comfort others.

1:8-11 Paul cites a specific example of his suffering, perhaps the threat of death during an instance of intense harassment in Asia Minor (cf. 1 Cor 15:32; Acts 19:23-40).

1:12 This verse introduces the body of the letter and marks the beginning of Paul's extended defense of his actions and his apostolic ministry (2 Cor 1:12-7:4). The section of Paul's defense starts with a summary of and response to recent events (2 Cor 1:12-2:13). grace of God: Paul refers to the grace of God several times in the letter (2 Cor 4:15; 6:1; 8:1; 9:8, 14; 12:9; cf. 2 Cor 1:2; 8:9; 13:13).

1:14 the day of our Lord Jesus: a phrase adopted from OT prophets' references to a coming day of God's judgment (Isa 13:1-13; Joel 1:15; 2:1, 11, 31; Amos 5:18-20; Mal 4:5). In Paul's letters it refers to Christ's future return in judgment (1 Cor 4:4-5; 5:5; 1 Thess 5:2; 2 Thess 2:2; 2 Tim 1:18; cf. 2 Pet 3:10), when, according to Paul, believers will be declared blameless (1 Cor 1:8; 2 Tim 4:8).

1:15-16 second opportunity: Although this might refer to a second opportunity to see Paul (as the CEB indicates), it may also refer to a second opportunity to contribute to the relief fund for the poor believers in Jerusalem. The Greek word Paul uses in 2 Corinthians 1:15 to refer to this

<sup>17</sup>So I wasn't unreliable when I planned to do this, was I? Or do I make decisions with a substandard human process so that I say "Yes, yes" and "No, no" at the same time? <sup>18</sup>But as God is faithful, our message to you isn't both yes and no. <sup>19</sup>God's Son, Jesus Christ, is the one who was preached among you by us—through me, Silvanus, and Timothy—he wasn't yes and no. In him it is always yes. <sup>20</sup>All of God's promises have their yes in him. That is why we say Amen through him to the glory of God.

<sup>21</sup>God is the one who establishes us with you in Christ and who anointed us. <sup>22</sup>God also sealed us and gave the Spirit as a down payment in our hearts. <sup>23</sup>I call on God as my witness—I didn't come again to Corinth because I wanted to spare you. <sup>24</sup>It isn't that we are trying to control your faith, but we are working with you for your happiness, because you stand firm in your faith. <sup>25</sup>So I decided that, for my own sake, I wouldn't visit you again while I was upset. <sup>26</sup>If I make you sad, who will be there to make me glad when you are sad because of me?

Paul's former letter

<sup>3</sup>That's why I wrote this very thing to you, so that when I came I wouldn't be made sad by the ones who ought to make me happy. I have confidence in you, that my happiness means your happiness. <sup>4</sup>I wrote to you in tears, with a very troubled and anxious heart. I didn't write to make you sad but so you would know the overwhelming love that I have for you.

<sup>5</sup>But if someone has made anyone sad, that person hasn't hurt me but all of you to some degree (not to exaggerate). <sup>6</sup>The punishment handed out by the majority is enough for this person. <sup>7</sup>This is why you should try your best to forgive and to comfort this person now instead, so that this person isn't overwhelmed by too much sorrow. <sup>8</sup>So I encourage you to show your love for this person.

<sup>9</sup>This is another reason why I wrote you. I wanted to test you and see if you are obedient in everything. <sup>10</sup>If you forgive anyone for anything, I do too. And whatever I've forgiven (if I've forgiven anything), I did it for you in the presence of Christ. <sup>11</sup>This is so that we won't be taken advantage of by Satan, because we are well aware of his schemes.

Paul's ministry

<sup>12</sup>When I came to Troas to preach Christ's gospel, the Lord gave me an opportunity to preach. <sup>13</sup>But I was worried because I couldn't find my brother Titus there. So I said good-bye to them and went on to Macedonia.

"opportunity" (elsewhere often translated as "grace") is used three times in 2 Corinthians 8 in reference to the collection for Jerusalem (2 Cor 8:6, 7, 19).

1:17-22 Theological support for Paul's defense of his ministry: The faithfulness of Paul and his message are rooted in the faithfulness of God and of God's Son.

1:19 Silvanus is the Latin name of a man called "Silas" in Acts (for Silvanus, see 1 Thess 1:1; 2 Thess 1:1; 1 Pet 5:12; for Silas, see Acts 15-18). Silvanus/Silas accompanied Paul on the missionary journeys described in Acts 15:40-18:5. For Timothy, see 2 Corinthians 1:1.

1:22 Spirit as a down payment: God has established, anointed, and sealed Paul and the Corinthians in Christ and given them the Spirit as a down payment (i.e., a sign that the Spirit is the first installment of what God will give to believers at the resurrection). See 2 Corinthians 5:5; see note on 2 Corinthians 5:1.

1:23-2:2 After a brief digression (2 Cor 1:17-22), Paul returns to the narration of recent events between him and the Corinthians. After leaving Corinth for Macedonia, Paul decided to change his plans and not make another visit to the Corinthians (see 2 Cor 1:15-16).

2:3-13 Instead of returning to Corinth, Paul went to Troas, where he wrote the Corinthians a letter marked with tears and a troubled and anxious heart (2:3-4). Later he'll admit the letter caused the Corinthians sorrow as well (2 Cor 7:8). The letter seems to have dealt with the actions of someone who offended Paul during his recent visit to Corinth and whom Paul wants the Corinthians to forgive (2 Cor 2:5-11; 7:12). Unfortunately, we no longer have this "letter of tears."

2:7 to forgive and to comfort: Paul was in favor of communal discipline among his congregations but often with the accompanying hope of restoration (see 1 Cor 5:1-5).

2:11 Satan: originally a Hebrew word that means "adversary" or "accuser." In the OT the noun "satan" can refer to adversaries who are either humans (1 Sam 29:4; 2 Sam 19:22; 1 Kgs 5:4; Pss 71:13; 109) or divine beings (Num 22:22, 32; 1 Chron 21:1; Job 1-2; Zech 3:1-2). In the NT Satan is an enemy of God and God's people. Satan is also called "the tempter" (Matt 4:3; 1 Thess 3:5); "this world's ruler" (John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11); "the god of this age" (2 Cor 4:4); and "the devil" (Matt 4:1-11; Rev 12:9; 20:2).

2:12 Troas: the city where Paul came to preach the gospel (perhaps following a brief stay in Ephesus) after the conflict in Corinth. Troas was an important commercial hub near the coast of the Aegean Sea in northwest Asia Minor. It was in Troas that Paul received a vision to extend his missionary activity from Asia Minor into Macedonia (Acts 16:7-12).

2:13 Titus was a Gentile convert and a valued missionary associate of Paul (see Gal 2:1-10). Paul gave Titus the difficult task of visiting Corinth, most probably to deliver the "letter of tears" mentioned in 2 Corinthians 2:3-4, in the <sup>14</sup>But thank God, who is always leading us around through Christ as if we were in a parade. He releases the fragrance of the knowledge of him everywhere through us. <sup>15</sup>We smell like the aroma of Christ's offering to God, both to those who are being saved and to those who are on the road to destruction. <sup>16</sup>We smell like a contagious dead person to those who are dying, but we smell like the fountain of life to those who are being saved.

Who is qualified for this kind of ministry? <sup>17</sup>We aren't like so many people who hustle the word of God to make a profit. We are speaking through Christ in the presence of God, as those who are sincere and as those who are sent from God.

3 Are we starting to commend ourselves again? We don't need letters of introduction to you or from you like other people, do we? <sup>2</sup>You are our letter, written on our hearts, known and read by everyone. <sup>3</sup>You show that you are Christ's letter, delivered by us. You weren't written with ink but with the Spirit of the living God. You weren't written on tablets of stone but on tablets of human hearts.

<sup>4</sup>This is the confidence that we have through Christ in the presence of God. <sup>5</sup>It isn't that we ourselves are qualified to claim that anything came from us. No, our qualification is from God. <sup>6</sup>He has qualified us as ministers of a new covenant, not based on what is written but on the Spirit, because what is written kills, but the Spirit gives life.

Ministers of the new covenant

<sup>7</sup>The ministry that brought death was carved in letters on stone tablets. It came with such glory that the Israelites couldn't look for long at Moses' face because his face was shining with glory, even though it was a fading glory. <sup>8</sup>Won't the ministry of the Spirit be much more glorious? <sup>9</sup>If the ministry that brought condemnation has glory, how much more glorious is the ministry that brings righteousness? <sup>10</sup>In fact, what was glorious isn't glorious now, because of the glory that is brighter. <sup>11</sup>If the glory that fades away was glorious, how much more glorious is the one that lasts!

<sup>12</sup>So, since we have such a hope, we act with great confidence. <sup>13</sup>We aren't like Moses, who used to put a veil over his face so that the Israelites couldn't watch the end of what was fading away. <sup>14</sup>But their minds were closed. Right up to the present day the same veil remains wake of Paul's painful visit there (2 Cor 7:5-16). After reuniting with Paul in Macedonia, Titus was sent back to Corinth to help with the collection for Jerusalem (2 Cor 8:6, 16-18; see sidebar, "The Collection for Jerusalem" at 2 Cor 8). Later Titus served the Pauline mission on the island of Crete (see Titus 1:5). Titus was a trusted companion, and Paul refers to him as his "partner and coworker" (2 Cor 8:23) and "my true child in a common faith" (Titus 1:4). Macedonia: a Roman province in the northern part of Greece.

3:13 Ex 34:33; 2Co 3:7 3:14 Ac 13:15; Ro 11:7; Ro 11:25; 2Co 3:6, 2Co 4:4

2:14-3:6 This passage opens a long section in which Paul defends his understanding of his apostolic calling and ministry (2 Cor 2:14-7:4). He opens with a summary of his sacrificial ministry (2:14-17) and then reminds the Corinthians, who know his work firsthand (3:1-3), that his qualification comes from God (3:4-6).

2:14 parade: a triumphal parade of military victory led by a Roman general or emperor. The unusual aspect of this image is that Paul and his fellow apostles aren't the conquerors but the captives. In this image, God is the victorious power who leads Paul and his associates as captives.

2:15 offering: Drawing on OT references that speak of the pleasing smell of burned sacrificial offerings (Gen 8:21; Exod 29:18, 25, 41; Lev 1:2-17; Num 28:1-6), Paul pictures himself and his associates as sweet-smelling offerings. To those who are dying, they smell like death; but to those who are being saved, they smell like life (2 Cor 2:15-16).

2:17 We aren't like so many... profit: Paul indirectly critiques his opponents in Corinth and anticipates several defenses of his own financial practices that he'll make later in the letter (2 Cor 8:19-24; 11:7-9; 12:14-18).

3:1-6 Careful at this point to avoid the charge that he's boastfully commending himself (cf. 2 Cor 5:12; 6:4; 10:12). Paul reminds the Corinthians he doesn't need letters of commendation. The Corinthians themselves are that letter (3:1-3). The statement that the Corinthians are a human letter from Christ leads Paul to reflect on the distinction between writing in ink on stone, on the one hand, and writing by the Spirit on human hearts, on the other (3:3). Paul recalls God's writing of the Mosaic Law on stone tablets (Exod 24:12; 31:18; 34:1-5; Deut 4:13; 5:22; 9:9-11; 1 Kgs 8:9). The reference to writing with the Spirit of the living God on human hearts recalls Ezekiel 11:19.

3:6 new covenant: The concept of a new covenant written on human hearts is taken from Jeremiah 31:31-34. In the NT the language of "new covenant" is used by Jesus (Luke 22:20); Paul (1 Cor 11:25); and the author of Hebrews (Heb 8:8; 13; 9:15; 12:24). According to Paul, this new covenant isn't based on what is written ("letters on stone tablets," 2 Cor 3:7) but on God's life-giving Spirit. the Spirit gives life: recalls Ezekiel 37, which speaks of God's Spirit bringing life to a valley full of dry bones (especially Ezek 37:5-6, 14).

3:7-18 This section contrasts the ministries of Moses and Paul (see sidebar, "Moses and Paul"). The first part (3:7-11) compares the temporary glory of the one with the lasting glory of the other. The second part (3:12-18) comments on Exodus 34:33-35, a passage that describes Moses' practice of veiling his face when speaking with the Israelites. With this commentary Paul shows his actions aren't hidden but are clear to everyone (the phrase great confidence in 3:12 could also be translated as "frank when the old covenant is read. The veil is not removed because it is taken away by Christ. <sup>15</sup>Even today, whenever Moses is read, a veil lies over their hearts. <sup>16</sup>But whenever someone turns back to the Lord, the veil is removed. <sup>17</sup>The Lord is the Spirit, and where the Lord's Spirit is, there is freedom. <sup>18</sup>All of us are looking with unveiled faces at the glory of the Lord as if we were looking in a mirror. We are being transformed into that same image from one degree of glory to the next degree of glory. This comes from the Lord, who is the Spirit.

4 This is why we don't get discouraged, given that we received this ministry in the same way that we received God's mercy. <sup>2</sup>Instead, we reject secrecy and shameful actions. We don't use deception, and we don't tamper with God's word. Instead, we commend ourselves to everyone's conscience in the sight of God by the public announcement of the truth. <sup>3</sup>And even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled to those who are on the road to destruction. <sup>4</sup>The god of this age has blinded the minds of those who don't have faith so they couldn't see the light of the gospel that reveals Christ's glory. Christ is the image of God.

<sup>5</sup>We don't preach about ourselves. Instead, we preach about Jesus Christ as Lord, and we describe ourselves as your slaves for Jesus' sake. <sup>6</sup>God said that light should shine out of the darkness. He is the same one who shone in our hearts to give us the light of the knowledge of God's glory in the face of Jesus Christ.

Physical bodies and eternal glory

<sup>7</sup>But we have this treasure in clay pots so that the awesome power belongs to God and doesn't come from us. <sup>8</sup>We are experiencing all kinds of trouble, but we aren't crushed. We are confused, but we aren't depressed. <sup>9</sup>We are harassed, but we aren't abandoned. We are knocked down, but we aren't knocked out.

<sup>10</sup>We always carry Jesus' death around in our bodies so that Jesus' life can also be seen in our bodies. <sup>11</sup>We who are alive are always being handed over to death for Jesus' sake so that openness"; cf. 2 Cor 4:2). He also shows that the Spirit brings freedom and transformation for those who turn to the Lord, both in the act of reading the OT (3:16-17) and in all of life (3:18).

3:16-17 turns back to the Lord... The Lord is the Spirit: If the Lord of 2 Corinthians 3:16 to whom individuals turn is the risen Jesus, then Paul appears to be drawing a very close connection between Christ and the Holy Spirit in 2 Corinthians 3:17. This connection may lie in their shared role in bringing about redemption (cf. Gal 4:6; Rom 8:9-11; Phil 1:19). Paul often distinguishes clearly between the risen Jesus and the Spirit of God (see, e.g., Rom 1:4; 1 Cor 6:11; 12:3-6; 2 Cor 13:13). Perhaps, then, 2 Corinthians 3:17 clarifies Paul's interpretation of Exodus in 2 Corinthians 3:16: "the Lord" in Exodus 34:34 (i.e., the Lord to whom individuals return) is the same Spirit whose presence brings freedom to Paul's readers.

3:18 transformed into that same image: Believers not only clearly see the glory of the Lord, but their gaze is as if it's fixed upon a mirror because they see and share in that glory as they are transformed into that same image (see Rom 6:3-8; 8:16-29; Gal 2:19-20; as well as many of the 83 instances of the phrase "in Christ" in Paul's letters).

4:1-6 Having compared his ministry with that of Moses (2 Cor 3:7-18; see sidebar, "Moses and Paul"), Paul now returns to the defense of his apostolic ministry. His defense highlights the divine approval of his mission (4:1) and the honest and public nature of his behavior (4:2).

4:4 The god of this age: Satan (see 2 Cor 2:11; cf. Rom 16:20; 5:5; 7:5; 2 Cor 2:11; 6:15; 11:14; 12:7; 1 Thess 2:18; 2 Thess 2:9; 1 Tim 1:20; 5:15).

4:7-12 Three times in the letter Paul lists the hardships he's experienced in the course of his apostolic ministry (2 Cor 4:8-10; 6:4-10; 11:22-33; see 2 Cor 1:5). Here Paul emphasizes that his own sufferings bear witness to his union with the crucified Jesus.

4:7 clay pots: The treasure of the gospel message (or of the knowledge of God's glory) is held within the inferior vessel

Jesus' life can also be seen in our bodies that are dying. <sup>12</sup>So death is at work in us, but life is at work in you.

<sup>13</sup>We have the same faithful spirit as what is written in scripture: I had faith, and so I spoke.<sup>a</sup> We also have faith, and so we also speak. <sup>14</sup>We do this because we know that the one who raised the Lord Jesus will also raise us with Jesus, and he will bring us into his presence along with you. <sup>15</sup>All these things are for your benefit. As grace increases to benefit more and more people, it will cause gratitude to increase, which results in God's glory.

<sup>16</sup>So we aren't depressed. But even if our bodies are breaking down on the outside, the person that we are on the inside is being renewed every day. <sup>17</sup>Our temporary minor problems are producing an eternal stockpile of glory for us that is beyond all comparison. <sup>18</sup>We don't focus on the things that can be seen but on the things that can't be seen. The things that can be seen don't last, but the things that can't be seen are eternal.

5 We know that if the tent that we live in on earth is torn down, we have a building from God. <sup>1</sup>It's a house that isn't handmade, which is eternal and located in heaven. <sup>2</sup>We groan while we live in this residence. We really want to dress ourselves with our building from heaven—<sup>3</sup>since we assume that when we take off this tent, we won't find out that we are naked. <sup>4</sup>Yes, while we are in this tent we groan, because we are weighed down. We want to be dressed not undressed, so that what is dying can be swallowed up by life. <sup>5</sup>Now the one who prepared us for this very thing is God, and God gave us the Spirit as a down payment for our home.

<sup>6</sup>So we are always confident, because we know that while we are living in the body, we are away from our home with the Lord. <sup>7</sup>We live by faith and not by sight. <sup>8</sup>We are confident, and we would prefer to leave the body and to be at home with the Lord. <sup>9</sup>So our goal is to be acceptable to him, whether we are at home or away from home. <sup>10</sup>We all must appear before Christ in court so that each person can be paid back for the things that were done while in the body, whether they were good or bad.

Ministry of reconciliation

<sup>11</sup>So we try to persuade people, since we know what it means to fear the Lord. We are well known by God, and I hope that in your heart we are well known by you as well. <sup>12</sup>We aren't trying to commend ourselves to you again. Instead, we are giving you an opportunity to be proud of us so that you could answer those who take pride in superficial appearance, and not in what is in the heart.

of Paul's weak body. His inglorious body is compared to an earthenware pot, an image that stresses the fragility and brokenness of the afflicted apostle. Yet though Paul and his associates possess no outward splendor, their bodies contain "the light of the gospel that reveals Christ's glory" (2 Cor 4:4).

4:13–18 Continuing the link between himself and Jesus, Paul quotes Psalm 116:10 (LXX 115:1): I had faith, and so I spoke (4:13). It's likely that Paul understands Jesus as the speaker of this psalm. This interpretation fits with other references in the Pauline Letters to Jesus' own faith (or faithfulness) or trusting obedience, particularly during his crucifixion (see Gal 2:16; 3:22; Rom 3:22; 5:19; Phil 2:6–11; 3:9; 2 Tim 3:15; cf. Mark 14:34–36). Paul and his associates possess the same faithful spirit as Jesus (this is attested by Jesus in the psalm), and so they, too, speak, confident they'll share in Jesus' resurrection.

4:16–5:10 Throughout this section Paul contrasts the passing nature of earthly existence with the permanent nature of resurrection existence. His discussion of his suffering for Jesus' sake and his expression of hope that he and the Corinthians will share in Jesus' resurrection lead him to reflect on the weakness and the future of the body of Christians. Framing his present apostolic suffering in an eternal perspective (4:17–18), Paul reflects on the nature of life beyond death for those in Christ (5:1–10).

5:1 if the tent . . . we have a building from God: This may be a reference to the resurrection body of Christ (or to a heavenly temple, see Mark 14:58). But more likely it refers to the resurrected body of believers (see 1 Cor 15:35–58). we have: refers to a future reality. Those in Christ will inhabit this heavenly house (i.e., a spiritual body) after the return of Jesus, as Paul also indicates in 1 Corinthians 15.

5:5 Spirit as a down payment: The Spirit is the first installment, as the guaranty, of what God will give to Christians at the resurrection. See the same expression in 2 Corinthians 1:22.

5:10 We all must appear before Christ: The notion of a future judgment of believers according to deeds occurs here and in several other places in Paul's letters (see Rom 2:6–16; 14:10–12; 1 Cor 3:13–15; 4:1–5; 2 Cor 11:15; Col 3:22–25; cf. 1 Cor 6:2–3 for the idea that believers will judge the world and angels).

5:11–6:10 Paul moves toward the conclusion of the discussion of his apostolic ministry by describing his work as that of an ambassador who represents Christ. Opening with another brief defense of his actions (5:11–13), Paul turns to a summary of the good news, highlighting two points. First,

<sup>13</sup>If we are crazy, it's for God's sake. If we are rational, it's for your sake. <sup>14</sup>The love of Christ controls us, because we have concluded this: one died for the sake of all; therefore, all died. <sup>15</sup>He died for the sake of all so that those who are alive should live not for themselves but for the one who died for them and was raised.

<sup>16</sup>So then, from this point on we won't recognize people by human standards. Even though we used to know Christ by human standards, that isn't how we know him now. <sup>17</sup>So then, if anyone is in Christ, that person is part of the new creation. The old things have gone away, and look, new things have arrived!

<sup>18</sup>All of these new things are from God, who reconciled us to himself through Christ and who gave us the ministry of reconciliation. <sup>19</sup>In other words, God was reconciling the world to himself through Christ, by not counting people's sins against them. He has trusted us with this message of reconciliation.

<sup>20</sup>So we are ambassadors who represent Christ. God is negotiating with you through us. We beg you as Christ's representatives, "Be reconciled to God!" <sup>21</sup>God caused the one who didn't know sin to be sin for our sake so that through him we could become the righteousness of God. <sup>1</sup>Since we work together with him, we are also begging you not to receive the grace of God in vain. <sup>2</sup>He says, I listened to you at the right time, and I helped you on the day of salvation. <sup>b</sup>Look, now is the right time! Look, now is the day of salvation!

<sup>3</sup>We don't give anyone any reason to be offended about anything so that our ministry won't be criticized. <sup>4</sup>Instead, we commend ourselves as ministers of God in every way. We did this with our great endurance through problems, disasters, and stressful situations. <sup>5</sup>We went through beatings, imprisonments, and riots. We experienced hard work, sleepless nights, and hunger. <sup>6</sup>We displayed purity, knowledge, patience, and generosity. We served with the Holy Spirit, genuine love, <sup>7</sup>telling the truth, and God's power. We carried the weapons of righteousness in our right hand and our left hand. <sup>8</sup>We were treated with honor and dishonor and with verbal abuse and good evaluation. We were seen as both fake and real, <sup>9</sup>as unknown and well known, as dying—and look, we are alive! We were seen as punished but not killed, <sup>10</sup>as going through pain but always happy, as poor but making many rich, and as having nothing but owning everything.

Call to relationship and holiness

<sup>11</sup>Corinthians, we have spoken openly to you, and our hearts are wide open. <sup>12</sup>There are no limits to the affection that we feel for you. You are the ones who placed boundaries on your affection for us. <sup>13</sup>But as a fair trade—I'm talking to you like you are children—open your hearts wide too.

Christ's death for all people has resulted in a new creation for those in Christ (5:14-17). Second, God's reconciliation with sinners through Christ has resulted in the ministry of Paul and his colleagues, as they represent Christ in bringing people into reconciled relationships with God (5:18-21). The next section (6:1-10) contains a charge for the Corinthians not to receive the grace of God in vain (6:1-2) and an additional defense of Paul's ministry (6:3-10), including the second of three lists of the hardships Paul endured during the course of his mission (6:4-10; cf. 2 Cor 4:8-10; 11:22-33; see 2 Cor 1:5).

5:17 if anyone is in Christ... new creation: The new reality created for those united to Christ in faith is individual, communal, and cosmic. The language of "new creation" reflects passages in Isaiah that speak of the "new things" God will do in restoring Israel (Isa 42:9; 43:18-19; 48:6; 65:17-18) and in renewing the entire created order (Isa 65:17; cf. 2 Pet 3:13). Here and in Galatians 6:15, Paul's language of "new creation" emphasizes the transformation of the individual and the believing community (see Eph 2:15; 4:22-24). Elsewhere Paul anticipates the renewal of all creation (Rom 8:18-25).

5:18 ministry of reconciliation: the restoration of friendly relations among those who've been divided. It's an important image that Paul uses to describe God's saving activity (see Rom 5:1-11; 11:13-16; Col 1:20-22), including the end of hostility among Jews and Gentiles as the result of the good news of peace (Eph 2:11-22). The image is both vertical (i.e., restored relations between God and sinners) and horizontal (i.e., restored relations among humans).

5:21 God caused... the righteousness of God: This densely packed statement describes a divine interchange whereby the sinless Christ assumes the human condition so that sinful humans might become the righteousness of God. In the words of the 2nd-century bishop Irenaeus, "Christ became what we are, in order that we might become what he is." For this idea of interchange in Paul's letters, see also 2 Corinthians 8:9; Galatians 3:13-14; Romans 8:3-4.

6:2 I listened to you: a quotation of Isaiah 49:8. Paul believes the day of salvation spoken of by Isaiah has arrived in Christ.

6:11-7:4 Paul draws the defense of his ministry to a conclusion with a personal appeal, reminding the Corinthians of the fatherly role he's played in their lives

<sup>14</sup>Don't be tied up as equal partners with people who don't believe. What does righteousness share with that which is outside the Law? What relationship does light have with darkness? <sup>15</sup>What harmony does Christ have with Satan?<sup>c</sup> What does a believer have in common with someone who doesn't believe? <sup>16</sup>What agreement can there be between God's temple and idols? Because we are the temple of the living God. Just as God said, I live with them, and I will move among them. I will be their God, and they will be my people.<sup>d</sup> <sup>17</sup>Therefore, come out from among them and be separated, says the Lord. Don't touch what is unclean. Then I will welcome you.<sup>e</sup> <sup>18</sup>I will be a father to you, and you will be my sons and daughters, says the Lord

7 Almighty.<sup>f</sup> <sup>1</sup>My dear friends, since we have these promises, let's cleanse ourselves from anything that contaminates our body or spirit so that we make our holiness complete in the fear of God.

<sup>2</sup>Make room in your hearts for us. We didn't do anything wrong to anyone. We didn't ruin anyone. We didn't take advantage of anyone. <sup>3</sup>I'm not saying this to make you feel guilty. I've already said that you are in our hearts so that we die and live together with you. <sup>4</sup>I have every confidence in you. I'm terribly proud of you. I'm filled with encouragement. I'm overwhelmed with happiness while in the middle of our problems.

Titus' good report

<sup>5</sup>Even after we arrived in Macedonia, we couldn't rest physically. We were surrounded by problems. There was external conflict, and there were internal fears. <sup>6</sup>However, God comforts people who are discouraged, and he comforted us by Titus' arrival. <sup>7</sup>We weren't comforted only by his arrival but also by the comfort he had received from you. He told us about your desire to see me, how you were sorry, and about your concern for me, so that I was even happier.

<sup>8</sup>Even though my letter hurt you, I don't regret it. Well—I did regret it just a bit because I see that that letter made you sad, though only for a short time. <sup>9</sup>Now I'm glad—not because you were sad but because you were made sad enough to change your hearts and lives. You felt godly sadness so that no one was harmed by us in any way. <sup>10</sup>Godly sadness produces a changed heart and life that leads to salvation and leaves no regrets, but sorrow under the influence of the world produces death. <sup>11</sup>Look at what this very experience of godly sadness has produced in you: such enthusiasm, what a desire to clear yourselves of blame, such indignation, what fear, what purpose, such concern, what justice! In everything you have shown yourselves to be innocent in the matter.

<sup>12</sup>So although I wrote to you, it wasn't for the sake of the one who did wrong, or for the sake of the one who was wronged, but to show you your own enthusiasm for us in the sight of God. <sup>13</sup>Because of this we have been encouraged. And in addition to our own encouragement, we were even more pleased at how happy Titus was. His mind has been put at rest by

(6:11-13; see 1 Cor 4:14-15; 1 Thess 2:11; for instances of motherly imagery used to describe Paul's relationship with his churches, see Gal 4:19; 1 Thess 2:7; 1 Cor 3:1-2). Since 2 Corinthians 6:14-7:1 seems to interrupt the flow of thought from 2 Corinthians 6:13 to 2 Corinthians 7:2, some scholars suggest, though there's no actual manuscript evidence for it, that Paul or someone else must have inserted the section sometime later. However, the ethical encouragement and call to holiness in 2 Corinthians 6:14-7:1 may simply function as a short detour for reminding the Corinthians not to be closely aligned with the values of pagan society.

6:16 Just as God said: Paul puts together several different OT texts in 2 Corinthians 6:16-18: Leviticus 26:11-12 (see Ezek 37:27); Isaiah 52:11 (see LXX Ezek 20:34, 41); 2 Samuel 7:14 (see Isa 43:6). He alters the wording of these passages to show their significance to the believers in Corinth.

7:2-4 Paul ends his extended defense of his apostolic ministry with an appeal (7:2a); a summary of his appropriate actions (7:2b); a reminder of the close bond he shares with the Corinthians (7:3); and an expression of hope and encouragement (7:4).

7:5-16 After a long digression to defend his apostolic ministry (2 Cor 2:14-7:4), Paul returns to the narration of the events related to his change of travel plans that caused the conflict with the Corinthians. He begins this section by describing the physical and emotional sufferings he experienced in Macedonia (7:5). He then reports how the positive news about the Corinthian believers, which Titus had brought back to him, comforted and delighted him. The Corinthians' change of heart seems to have been aroused by the tearful letter Paul sent them after his difficult visit to Corinth (7:8, 12; see 2 Cor 2:3-4). For Titus, see note on 2 Corinthians 2:13.

7:12 the one who did wrong: Paul never mentions the name of this person. Earlier, Paul encouraged the Corinthians to forgive this person (2 Cor 2:5-8).

all of you. <sup>14</sup>If I've bragged about you to him in any way, I haven't been embarrassed. Instead, our bragging to Titus has also been proven to be true, just like everything we said to you was true. <sup>15</sup>His devotion to you is growing even more as he remembers how all of you were obedient when you welcomed him with fear and trembling. <sup>16</sup>I'm happy, because I can completely depend on you.

Encouragement to give generously

O Brothers and sisters, we want to let you know about the grace of God that was given to the churches of Macedonia. <sup>2</sup>While they were being tested by many problems, their extra amount of happiness and their extreme poverty resulted in a surplus of rich generosity. <sup>3</sup>I assure you that they gave what they could afford and even more than they could afford, and they did it voluntarily. <sup>4</sup>They urgently begged us for the privilege<sup>6</sup> of sharing in this service for the saints. <sup>5</sup>They even exceeded our expectations, because they gave themselves to the Lord first and to us, consistent with God's will. <sup>6</sup>As a result, we challenged Titus to finish this work of grace with you the way he had started it.

<sup>7</sup>Be the best in this work of grace in the same way that you are the best in everything, such as faith, speech, knowledge, total commitment, and the love we inspired in you. <sup>8</sup>I'm not giving an order, but by mentioning the commitment of others, I'm trying to prove the authenticity of your love also. <sup>9</sup>You know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. Although he was rich, he became poor for our sakes, so that you could become rich through his poverty.

<sup>10</sup>I'm giving you my opinion about this. It's to your advantage to do this, since you not only started to do it last year but you wanted to do it too. <sup>11</sup>Now finish the job as well so that you finish it with as much enthusiasm as you started, given what you can afford. <sup>12</sup>A gift is appreciated because of what a person can afford, not because of what that person can't afford, if it's apparent that it's done willingly. <sup>13</sup>It isn't that we want others to have financial ease and you financial difficulties, but it's a matter of equality. <sup>14</sup>At the present moment, your surplus can fill their deficit so that in the future their surplus can fill your deficit. In this way there is equality. <sup>15</sup>As it is written, The one who gathered more didn't have too much, and the one who gathered less didn't have too little.<sup>b</sup>

8:1-9:15 Having defended his ministry and expressed happiness about his restored relations with the Corinthians, Paul urges the Corinthians to contribute to a relief fund for poor believers in Jerusalem (see 1 Cor 16:1-4; Rom 15:22-33; see sidebar, "The Collection for Jerusalem").

8:1-6 Paul begins his appeal for the relief fund by pointing to the example of the churches in the Roman province of Macedonia, a group that likely included the congregations Paul founded in Berea, Thessalonica, and Philippi (see Phil 4:10-20). He emphasizes the grace of God shown in the generosity of the Macedonians. The Greek word translated as "grace" in 2 Corinthians 8:1 is used with a variety of meanings in 2 Corinthians 8-9: "grace" (2 Cor 8:1, 9; 9:8, 14); "privilege" (8:4); "work of grace" (or "benefit"; 2 Cor 8:6, 7, 19); "thank" (or "thank God"; 2 Cor 8:16; 9:15). The implied challenge to the letter's readers is clear: Because the Macedonians showed generosity in the midst of extreme poverty, the Corinthians have no excuse not to contribute from "their surplus" (2 Cor 8:14). Paul notes that Titus has been sent to Corinth to see to the completion of a work of grace the Corinthians had stopped (see 1 Cor 16:1-4).

8:2 extreme poverty: Although the financial position of the Corinthians (or at least some of them) appears to have been relatively more secure than that of the believers in Jerusalem and Macedonia, many of the Corinthians lived subsistence-level lives (i.e., with enough resources to obtain the minimum number of daily calories for survival) (see 1 Cor 12:26-28; 11:17-34, especially the reference to "those who have nothing" in 1 Cor 11:22). According to some estimates, more than 90 percent of the general population of the Roman Empire lived at, near, or below subsistence level.

8:7-12 Paul commends the Corinthians for their Spirit-empowered faith, speech, knowledge, total commitment, and love (see 1 Cor 12:8-9; 13:2, 8, 13; 14:6, 9). Wanting to be clear that he isn't issuing a command, Paul notes that he's trying to prove (or, perhaps, "testing") the sincerity of the Corinthians' love by mentioning the genuine eagerness of others (8:8). He then points to the example of Jesus (8:9). Throughout this section, Paul maintains a careful balance between getting the Corinthians to do what he wants them to do and insisting their participation is entirely voluntary.

8:9 Although he was rich . . . his poverty: Paul refers to Jesus' willingness to leave his heavenly state for the (comparable) poverty of human existence, a self-giving act that brought spiritual riches to the Corinthians. The belief that the preexistent, divine Christ took on human form is known as the "incarnation" (see Phil 2:6-11; Col 1:15-20; John 1:14).

8:13-15 Paul indicates that one goal of the collection for the saints was financial equality (see sidebar, "The Collection for Jerusalem"). The one who gathered . . . too little: Communities of Jesus-worshippers should have an equal balance of material goods, just as the Israelites in the wilderness did (Exod 16:18).

The Collection for Jerusalem The fund-raising effort called “the collection of money for God’s people” (1 Cor 16:1) had a complicated history, both in Corinth and in other churches of Paul’s mission. The Corinthians knew about the project before they received 1 Corinthians. In that letter Paul provided them with directions on how to gather funds, with the implication that he wasn’t introducing a new idea to them (1 Cor 16:1-4). The Corinthians were instructed to follow the example of the Galatians: “On the first day of the week, each of you should set aside whatever you can afford from what you earn so that the collection won’t be delayed until I come” (1 Cor 16:2). In the midst of the conflict between Paul and the Corinthians that resulted in the writing of 2 Corinthians, the believers in Corinth seem to have stopped their fund-raising efforts. Paul encourages them in 2 Corinthians 8:1-9:15 to renew their support of the collection. It appears his appeal is successful, for in Romans 15:26, written as he was planning to depart Corinth for Jerusalem to deliver the money, Paul reports, “Macedonia and Achaia have been happy to make a contribution for the poor among God’s people in Jerusalem.”

Paul attaches a variety of meanings to the collection for the saints: (1) It will alleviate very real financial need among poor believers in Jerusalem (2 Cor 8:13-15; Rom 15:26; see Gal 2:10); (2) it will create some degree of financial equality among followers of Jesus, especially since Corinthian contributors to the fund might someday find themselves in need of financial assistance from Jerusalem (2 Cor 8:14); (3) it will serve the goal of uniting the Gentile believers with Jewish followers of Jesus in Jerusalem and strengthening bonds among the geographically diverse Gentile churches of Paul’s mission (Rom 15:27); and (4) it will provide donors with the opportunity to offer worship to God and produce thanksgiving—not for themselves but for the God who has graciously enabled their generosity (2 Cor 9:5-15).

Plans for the Collection

<sup>16</sup>But thank God, who put the same commitment that I have for you in Titus’ heart. <sup>17</sup>Not only has he accepted our challenge but he’s on his way to see you voluntarily, and he’s excited. <sup>18</sup>We are sending the brother who is famous in all the churches because of his work for the gospel along with him.

<sup>19</sup>In addition to this, he is chosen by the churches to be our traveling companion in this work of grace, which we are taking care of for the sake of the glory of the Lord himself, and to show our desire to help. <sup>20</sup>We are trying to avoid being blamed by anyone for the way we take care of this large amount of money. <sup>21</sup>We care about doing the right thing, not only in the Lord’s eyes but also in the eyes of other people.

<sup>22</sup>We are sending our brother with them. We have tested his commitment in many ways and many times. Now he’s even more committed, because he has so much confidence in you. <sup>23</sup>If there is any question about Titus, he is my partner and coworker among you. If there is any question about our brothers, they are the churches’ apostles and an honor to Christ. <sup>24</sup>So show them the proof of your love and the reason we are so proud of you, in such a way that the churches can see it.

9 It’s unnecessary for me to write to you about this service for God’s people. <sup>2</sup>I know about your willingness to help. I brag about you to the Macedonians, saying, “Greece has been ready since last year,” and your enthusiasm has motivated most of them.

<sup>3</sup>But I’m sending the brothers so that our bragging about you in this case won’t be empty words, and so that you can be prepared, just as I keep telling them you will be. <sup>4</sup>If some Macedonians should come with me and find out that you aren’t ready, we (not to mention you) would be embarrassed as far as this project goes.

<sup>5</sup>This is why I thought it was necessary to encourage the brothers to go to you ahead of time and arrange in advance the generous gift you have already promised. I want it to be a real gift from you. I don’t want you to feel like you are being forced to give anything.

8:16-24 This section includes Paul’s recommendation of three delegates—Titus (8:16, 23) and two unnamed brothers (8:18-19, 22-23)—whom the apostle sends to Corinth, along with this letter, in order to coordinate the fund-raising effort there. Letters and notes of commendation, such as this section functions as, were a common means of introducing and ensuring hospitality for travelers within the broad geographical networks of the early Christian mission (see Acts 15:25-27; 18:27; Rom 16:1-2; 1 Cor 16:10-11; Eph 6:21-22; Phil 2:25-30; Col 4:7-10; Phlm 17-19; 3 John 5-7; for Paul’s figurative use of this convention, see 2 Cor 3:1-3).

9:1-5 Having emphasized the generosity of the Macedonians (2 Cor 8:1-6), Paul now points out that he has been boasting in Macedonia of the Corinthians’ willingness to support the relief fund (2 Cor 9:1-2). The not-so-subtle <sup>6</sup>What I mean is this: the one who sows a small number of seeds will also reap a small crop, and the one who sows a generous amount of seeds will also reap a generous crop.

<sup>7</sup>Everyone should give whatever they have decided in their heart. They shouldn't give with hesitation or because of pressure. God loves a cheerful giver. <sup>8</sup>God has the power to provide you with more than enough of every kind of grace. That way, you will have everything you need always and in everything to provide more than enough for every kind of good work. <sup>9</sup>As it is written, He scattered everywhere; he gave to the needy; his righteousness remains forever.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>10</sup>The one who supplies seed for planting and bread for eating will supply and multiply your seed and will increase your crop, which is righteousness. <sup>11</sup>You will be made rich in every way so that you can be generous in every way. Such generosity produces thanksgiving to God through us. <sup>12</sup>Your ministry of this service to God's people isn't only fully meeting their needs but it is also multiplying in many expressions of thanksgiving to God. <sup>13</sup>They will give honor to God for your obedience to your confession of Christ's gospel. They will do this because this service provides evidence of your obedience, and because of your generosity in sharing with them and with everyone. <sup>14</sup>They will also pray for you, and they will care deeply for you because of the outstanding grace that God has given to you. <sup>15</sup>Thank God for his gift that words can't describe!

Paul's personal request for obedience

10I, Paul, make a personal request to you with the gentleness and kindness of Christ. <sup>1</sup>I'm shy when I'm with you, but I'm bossy when I'm away from you! <sup>2</sup>I beg you that when I'm with you in person, I won't have to boss you around. I'm afraid that I may have to use that kind of behavior with those people who think we live by human standards. <sup>3</sup>Although we live in the world, we don't fight our battles with human methods. <sup>4</sup>Our weapons that we fight with aren't human, but instead they are powered by God for the destruction of fortresses. They destroy arguments, <sup>5</sup>and every defense that is raised up to oppose the knowledge of God. They capture every thought to make it obedient to Christ. <sup>6</sup>Once your obedience is complete, we are ready to punish any disobedience.

<sup>7</sup>Look at what is right in front of you! If anyone is sure about belonging to Christ, that person should think again. We belong to Christ just like that person. <sup>8</sup>Even if I went on to brag about our authority, I wouldn't be ashamed of it. The Lord gave us that authority to build you up and not to destroy you.

<sup>9</sup>I don't want it to seem like I'm trying to intimidate you with my letters. <sup>10</sup>I know what some people are saying: "His letters are severe and powerful, but in person he is weak and his speech is worth nothing." <sup>11</sup>These people need to think about this—that when we are with you, our actions will show that we are the same as the words we wrote when we were away from you. <sup>12</sup>We won't dare to place ourselves in the same league or to compare ourselves with warning is that, should the delegates arrive and find the Corinthians unprepared to contribute, both Paul and the Corinthians will be embarrassed (2 Cor 9:3-5).

9:6-10 While assuring them that their giving is voluntary (2 Cor 9:5, 7), Paul stresses that as they do good work, so shall they be rewarded. The agricultural image of sowing and reaping is drawn from Jewish wisdom tradition (see Job 4:8; Prov 11:26; Sir 7:3; cf. Gal 6:7-9) and emphasizes God's enabling grace. God's provision of every kind of grace (or "every benefit") allows the Corinthians to help others through their good works (9:8).

9:10 Paul recalls Isaiah 55:10 to make the claim that God will not only provide for the material needs of the Corinthians, God will also increase spiritual benefits (i.e., righteousness) to those who support the poor in Jerusalem. God is responsible for multiplying both the seed for sowing and the increase of the harvest.

9:11-15 The extended section on the Jerusalem collection ends with a reminder that Corinthian participation in the relief fund will result in thanksgiving—not to those who contribute, but to God. In 1st-century Greco-Roman society, people usually donated financial gifts for the purpose of receiving public praise for their contribution. Paul challenges these cultural assumptions by insisting it is God, not human gift givers, who will receive thanksgiving for the Corinthians' generosity.

10:1-13:10 A marked shift in tone occurs at the beginning of 2 Corinthians 10, as Paul provides an energetic defense against personal attacks.

10:1-11 shy . . . bossy: Paul returns once again to the defense of his ministry, responding to the charge that there's a difference between his weak personal appearance and the sternness and power of his letters (10:1, 10). He insists his authority comes from the Lord (10:8) and his letters are consistent with his actions in Corinth (10:11).

10:1 I, Paul: The opening of this section is personal and forceful (see Gal 5:2).

10:2 by human standards: See also 2 Corinthians 1:17; 5:16.

10:12-18 Paul sarcastically says he and his associates won't compare themselves with those people who

Paul's Opponents in Corinth In the final three chapters of 2 Corinthians, Paul responds to attacks on him and his ministry in Corinth by those whom he twice sarcastically labels "super-apostles" (2 Cor 11:5; 12:11; it's possible Paul also indirectly addresses these opponents and their criticism of him earlier in the letter, see, e.g., 2 Cor 1:12; 2:17; 3:1-3; 4:2-3; 7:2). Since Paul is writing to people who need no introduction to these opponents, the letter gives few details about their message or the reason for their criticism of Paul. They seem to have come to Corinth from outside Greece, because Paul believes they have invaded his own missionary territory (2 Cor 10:13-15). Their critique appears to be focused on charges related to Paul's personal weakness (2 Cor 10:2, 10; 11:21, 29; 13:3-4); his lack of knowledge and power as an orator (2 Cor 11:6); problems with his financial practices (2 Cor 11:7-9; 12:13-18); and, perhaps, his lack of signs and wonders (2 Cor 12:12). Paul pulls no punches in his response: His opponents are given to self-promotion (2 Cor 10:12); they preach "a different gospel" (2 Cor 11:4); they are false apostles and servants of Satan (2 Cor 11:14-15); and they are involved in enslaving, exploiting, and abusing the Corinthians (2 Cor 11:20). Whatever the nature of the message of Paul's opponents, we see Paul in 2 Corinthians 10-13 waging a heartfelt battle to defend the legitimacy and the integrity of his apostolic activity, and we catch a glimpse of the diversity and the conflict that existed in the early Christian movement.

some of those who are promoting themselves. When they measure themselves by themselves, and compare themselves with themselves, they have no understanding.

<sup>13</sup>We won't take pride in anything more than what is appropriate. Let's look at the boundaries of our work area that God has assigned to us. It's an area that includes you. <sup>14</sup>We aren't going out of bounds, as if our work area doesn't extend as far as you. We were the first ones to travel as far as Corinth with the gospel of Christ. <sup>15</sup>We don't take pride in what other people do outside of our boundaries. We hope that our work will be extended even more by you as your faith grows, until it expands fully (within the boundaries, of course). <sup>16</sup>We hope that our work grows even to the point of the gospel being preached in places beyond Corinth, without bragging about what has already been done in another person's work area. <sup>17</sup>But, the one who brags should brag in the Lord.<sup>18</sup>It isn't the person who promotes himself or herself who is approved but the person whom the Lord commends.

Confrontation of the super-apostles

11 I hope that you will put up with me while I act like a fool. Well, in fact, you are putting up with me! <sup>2</sup>I'm deeply concerned about you with the same concern that God has. As your father, I promised you in marriage to one husband. I promised to present you as an innocent virgin to Christ himself. <sup>3</sup>But I'm afraid that your minds might be seduced in the same way as the snake deceived Eve with his devious tricks. You might be unable to focus completely on a genuine and innocent commitment to Christ.

<sup>4</sup>If a person comes and preaches some other Jesus than the one we preached, or if you receive a different Spirit than the one you had received, or a different gospel than the one you embraced, you put up with it so easily! <sup>5</sup>I don't consider myself as second-rate in any way compared to the "super-apostles." <sup>6</sup>But even if I'm uneducated in public speaking, I'm not uneducated in knowledge. We have shown this to you in every way and in everything we have done. <sup>7</sup>Did I commit a sin by humbling myself to give you an advantage because I preached the gospel of God to you free of charge? <sup>8</sup>I robbed other churches by taking a salary from them in order to serve you! <sup>9</sup>While I was with you, I didn't burden any of you even though I needed things. The believers who came from Macedonia gave me everything I promote and use themselves as a standard of measurement (10:12). He reminds the Corinthians that he has ministered only in the area God assigned to him, faithfully keeping the boundaries of ministry (10:13-16).

10:17 the one . . . Lord: a verse from Jeremiah 9:24 that Paul has already used with the Corinthians (see 1 Cor 1:31).

11:1-15 Concerned the Corinthians are being deceived by his opponents, rival missionaries (11:1-3), Paul turns to address more directly the different message being proclaimed by those he ironically labels super-apostles (2 Cor 11:5; 12:11). The statement that he is acting like a fool (11:1) introduces and anticipates the "fool's speech" in 2 Corinthians 11:21-12:10. See sidebar, "Paul's Opponents in Corinth."

11:7 Did I commit a sin . . . free of charge?: Paul usually didn't request or accept financial support from the churches where he was actively doing his missionary work. In 1 Corinthians 9:1-23 he provided an extended defense of this policy; although as an apostle he possessed the right to receive pay for his work among the Corinthians, he chose not to do so in order that he might "offer the good news free of charge" (1 Cor 9:18). Another reason needed. I kept myself from being a financial drain on you in any way, and I will continue to keep myself from being a burden.

<sup>10</sup>Since Christ's truth is in me, I won't stop telling the entire area of Greece that I'm proud of what I did. <sup>11</sup>Why? Is it because I don't love you? God knows that I do! <sup>12</sup>But I'm going to continue to do what I'm doing. I want to contradict the claims of the people who want to be treated like they are the same as us because of what they brag about. <sup>13</sup>Such people are false apostles and dishonest workers who disguise themselves as apostles of Christ. <sup>14</sup>And no wonder! Even Satan disguises himself as an angel of light. <sup>15</sup>It is no great surprise then that his servants also disguise themselves as servants of righteousness. Their end will be what their actions deserve.

Paul defends himself

<sup>16</sup>I repeat, no one should take me for a fool. But if you do, then allow me to be a fool so that I can brag like a fool for a bit. <sup>17</sup>I'm not saying what I'm saying because the Lord tells me to. I'm saying it like I'm a fool. I'm putting my confidence in this business of bragging. <sup>18</sup>Since so many people are bragging based on human standards, that is how I'm going to brag too. <sup>19</sup>Because you, who are so wise, are happy to put up with fools. <sup>20</sup>You put up with it if someone enslaves you, if someone exploits you, if someone takes advantage of you, if someone places themselves over you, or if someone hits you in the face. <sup>21</sup>I'm ashamed to say that we have been weak in comparison! But in whatever they challenge me, I challenge them (I'm speaking foolishly).

<sup>22</sup>Are they Hebrews? So am I. Are they Israelites? So am I. Are they descendants of Abraham? So am I. <sup>23</sup>Are they ministers of Christ? I'm speaking like a crazy person. What I've done goes well beyond what they've done. I've worked much harder. I've been imprisoned much more often. I've been beaten more times than I can count. I've faced death many times. <sup>24</sup>I received the "forty lashes minus one" from the Jews five times. <sup>25</sup>I was beaten with rods three times. I was stoned once. I was shipwrecked three times. I spent a day and a night on the open sea. <sup>26</sup>I've been on many journeys. I faced dangers from rivers, robbers, my people, and Gentiles. I faced dangers in the city, in the desert, on the sea, and from false brothers and sisters. <sup>27</sup>I faced these dangers with hard work and heavy labor, many sleepless nights, hunger and thirst, often without food, and in the cold without enough clothes.

for Paul's refusal of pay from the Corinthians seems to be his worry of becoming obligated to the Corinthian church (1 Cor 9:15-16, 19). But there's a problem now because Paul, against his usual policy, has accepted pay from believers in Macedonia (2 Cor 11:8-9; 12:13; see Phil 4:10-20). To Paul's opponents this could have appeared inconsistent or, worse, insulting, for to refuse a gift was to refuse friendship. See sidebar, "Paul's Opponents in Corinth." 11:16-12:13 The section has three parts. The first contains another appeal for the Corinthians to put up with Paul as he prepares to respond to the challenge of his opponents in Corinth (11:16-21a). The second represents the "fool's speech" (11:21b-12:10). The third concludes the speech with an acknowledgment of Paul's foolishness and a final defense of his actions toward the Corinthians (12:11-13).

11:21b-12:10 The "fool's speech." Paul has portrayed himself as one forced into a corner. Although he has reason to brag (2 Cor 10:7, 13), he doesn't want to engage in a boastful contest with his opponents (2 Cor 10:12, 16-17; 11:17), whom he believes are all too willing to brag about their achievements (2 Cor 10:12; 11:12, 18). As a way of resolving this dilemma, Paul assumes the character of a fool, reluctantly agreeing to play the game of foolish boasting his opponents have introduced. There follows in 2 Corinthians 11:21b-12:10 a list of Paul's achievements, including his Jewish heritage (11:22); apostolic credentials (11:23a); hard work (11:23b); imprisonments, beatings, and sufferings (11:23c-25); difficulties in travel (11:25b-26); physical hardships (11:27); worry about his churches (11:28); a dangerous experience in Damascus (11:32); and visions and revelations from the Lord (12:1-9).

11:22 Are they Hebrews?: Paul often indicated pride in his Jewish heritage (see Phil 3:4-5; Gal 1:13-14).

11:24 "forty lashes minus one": The punishment of 39 lashes for offenders of the Jewish synagogue originates in Deuteronomy 25:2-3 (see Matt 10:17; 23:34). Although none of these floggings are mentioned in Acts, Paul does frequently experience hostility from leaders of synagogues in Acts (see Acts 13:50-51; 14:1-7; 17:5-15; 18:1-8). 11:32 King Aretas: Aretas IV was ruler of Nabatea, a region to the southeast of Judea (also called "Arabia" in Gal 1:17) from 9 BCE to 39 CE. Since Aretas IV took over

Paul's visions and revelations from the Lord

12 It is necessary to brag, not that it does any good. I'll move on to visions and revelations from the Lord. <sup>2</sup>I know a man in Christ who was caught up into the third heaven fourteen years ago. I don't know whether it was in the body or out of the body. God knows. <sup>3-4</sup>I know that this man was caught up into paradise and that he heard unspeakable words that were things no one is allowed to repeat. I don't know whether it was in the body or apart from the body. God knows. <sup>5</sup>I'll brag about this man, but I won't brag about myself, except to brag about my weaknesses.

<sup>6</sup>If I did want to brag, I wouldn't make a fool of myself because I'd tell the truth. I'm holding back from bragging so that no one will give me any more credit than what anyone sees or hears about me. <sup>7</sup>I was given a thorn in my body because of the outstanding revelations I've received so that I wouldn't be conceited. It's a messenger from Satan sent to torment me so that I wouldn't be conceited.

<sup>8</sup>I pleaded with the Lord three times for it to leave me alone. <sup>9</sup>He said to me, "My grace is enough for you, because power is made perfect in weakness." So I'll gladly spend my time bragging about my weaknesses so that Christ's power can rest on me. <sup>10</sup>Therefore, I'm all right with weaknesses, insults, disasters, harassments, and stressful situations for the sake of Christ, because when I'm weak, then I'm strong.

<sup>11</sup>I've become a fool! You made me do it. Actually, I should have been commended by you. I'm not inferior to the super-apostles in any way, even though I'm a nonentity. <sup>12</sup>The signs of an apostle were performed among you with continuous endurance through signs, wonders, and miracles. <sup>13</sup>How were you treated worse than the other churches, except that I myself wasn't a financial burden on you? Forgive me for this wrong!

Paul's plans to visit and a warning

<sup>14</sup>Look, I'm ready to visit you a third time, and I won't be a burden on you. I don't want your things; I want you. It isn't the children's responsibility to save up for their parents but parents for children. <sup>15</sup>I will very gladly spend and be spent for your sake. If I love you more, will you love me less?

<sup>16</sup>We all know that I didn't place a burden on you, but in spite of that you think I'm a con artist who fooled you with a trick. <sup>17</sup>I haven't taken advantage of you through any of the people I sent to you, have I? <sup>18</sup>I strongly encouraged Titus to go to you and sent the brother with him. Titus didn't take advantage of you, did he? Didn't we live by the same Spirit? Didn't we walk in the same footsteps?

12:18 Ro 4:12; 2Co 2:13, 2Co 8:6, 2Co 8:16, 2Co 8:18

Damascus in 36 CE and surrendered control by 37 CE, Paul's dramatic escape from the city can reasonably be dated sometime between late 36 and early summer 37. The incident is reported with slightly different details in Acts 9:23-25.

12:2 I know a man: Although Paul speaks in the third person about a man in Christ, he's certainly referring to his own experience of heavenly ascent. Since Paul is uncomfortable with the boastful contest in which he's engaged with his opponents, this may explain his reluctance to speak of his visionary ascent in the first person.

12:7 thorn in my body: It's impossible to know for sure what Paul's thorn was. Suggestions have included spiritual anguish, opposition to his mission (perhaps especially his struggles in Corinth), or some physical ailment. messenger from Satan: It isn't clear whether Paul is saying the thorn was given to him by God or by Satan (or Satan's messenger). For Satan, see note on 2 Corinthians 2:11. The point isn't the specific identity or the source of Paul's "thorn" but the extent to which the grace and power of Christ dwells in Paul in spite of the apostle's weakness (2 Cor 12:8-9).

12:11-13 Conclusion of the "fool's speech." First, Paul justifies his foolish boasting by insisting he's been forced to do so. Second, summarizing his speech, he emphasizes he's in no way inferior to his rival missionaries.

12:14-13:10 Paul plans his forthcoming, and third, visit to Corinth (12:14; 13:1). The first was his founding visit (see Acts 18:1-18). The second was the visit that caused the conflict with the Corinthians that led to Paul's retreat to Asia Minor and the composition of the "letter of tears" (see 2 Cor 1:15-16; 2:3-4).

12:14-18 Preparing for his forthcoming visit, Paul again addresses the touchy issue of his refusal to accept financial assistance from the Corinthians (see 1 Cor 9:1-23). On the one hand, Paul insists he won't continue to burden the Corinthians; as a parental figure to them (2 Cor 6:13; see 1 Cor 3:1-2; 4:14-15), he shouldn't take their money. On the other hand, Paul seems to be aware that his efforts to raise money for poor believers in Jerusalem opens him to the charge of inappropriate behavior with regard to finances, and he insists he isn't involved in any trickery (12:17-18). He's sending Titus and the other delegates to Corinth precisely to ensure the funds are gathered properly and honestly (2 Cor 8:20-21; see sidebar, "The Collection for Jerusalem" at 2 Cor 8).

<sup>19</sup>Have you been thinking up to now that we are defending ourselves to you? Actually, we are speaking in the sight of God and in Christ. Dear friends, everything is meant to build you up. <sup>20</sup>I'm afraid that maybe when I come you will be different from the way I want you to be, and that I'll be different from the way you want me to be. I'm afraid that there might be fighting, obsession, losing your temper, competitive opposition, backstabbing, gossip, conceit, and disorderly conduct. <sup>21</sup>I'm afraid that when I come again, my God may embarrass me in front of you. I might have to go into mourning over all the people who have sinned before and haven't changed their hearts and lives from what they used to practice: moral corruption, sexual immorality, and doing whatever feels good.

13 This is the third time that I'm coming to visit you. Every matter is settled on the evidence of two or three witnesses. <sup>2</sup>When I was with you on my second visit, I already warned those who continued to sin. Now I'm repeating that warning to all the rest of you while I'm at a safe distance: if I come again, I won't spare anyone. <sup>3</sup>Since you are demanding proof that Christ speaks through me, Christ isn't weak in dealing with you but shows his power among you. <sup>4</sup>Certainly he was crucified because of weakness, but he lives by the power of God. Certainly we also are weak in him, but we will live together with him, because of God's power that is directed toward you.

<sup>5</sup>Examine yourselves to see if you are in the faith. Test yourselves. Don't you understand that Jesus Christ is in you? Unless, of course, you fail the test. <sup>6</sup>But I hope that you will realize that we don't fail the test. <sup>7</sup>We pray to God that you don't do anything wrong, not because we want to appear to pass the test but so that you might do the right thing, even if we appear to fail.

<sup>8</sup>We can't do anything against the truth but only to help the truth. <sup>9</sup>We are happy when we are weak but you are strong. We pray for this: that you will be made complete. <sup>10</sup>This is why I'm writing these things while I'm away. I'm writing so that I won't need to act harshly when I'm with you by using the authority that the Lord gave me. He gave it to me so that I could build you up, not tear you down.

Final greeting

<sup>11</sup>Finally, brothers and sisters, good-bye. Put things in order, respond to my encouragement, be in harmony with each other, and live in peace—and the God of love and peace will be with you.

<sup>12</sup>Say hello to each other with a holy kiss.<sup>k</sup> All of God's people say hello to you.

<sup>13</sup>The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all.

<sup>k</sup>2 Cor 13:12-13 is in some versions equivalent to 13:12-14.

12:19-21 Paul expresses his apostolic concern that he may find, when visiting Corinth, those believers who are still practicing inappropriate behaviors (12:20-21).

12:19 we are speaking . . . to build you up: Although he's been defending himself throughout this letter, Paul insists his defense isn't for his own benefit but for the building up of the Corinthians (for the language of "building up" or "edifying" others, see 2 Cor 13:10; 1 Cor 8:1; 10:23; 14:4, 12, 26).

13:1-10 Paul sternly warns the Corinthian congregation that, upon his arrival, he'll exercise his apostolic authority on those who are behaving inappropriately to the faith. He finishes the main body of his letter by highlighting this warning; to direct the Corinthians in the way they should go is his very purpose for writing this letter (13:10).

13:3-4 Since you are demanding proof . . . by the power of God: Paul returns to the language of weakness and power to restate the point that his own suffering isn't a sign of his weakness but of his sharing in the power of Christ. Since he's in Christ, who was crucified in weakness but lives (in resurrection) by the power of God, Paul, too, shares in the weakness of Christ (2 Cor 4:10) but also in Christ's power. Thus, Christ's power is shown to the Corinthians through Paul (13:3).

13:11-13 The letter concludes, as is common in Paul's letters, with greetings (13:11-12) and a final blessing (13:13).

13:11 the God of love and peace: This portrait of God both emphasizes how the Corinthians are to act toward each other and toward Paul (be in harmony with each other, and live in peace) and reminds readers of the reconciliation they've experienced with God through the love of Christ (2 Cor 5:14, 19).

13:13 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ . . . all: The three-part blessing—which calls upon the Lord Jesus Christ, God, and the Holy Spirit—is larger than the customary blessing Paul gives at the end of his letters (see Rom 16:20; 1 Cor 16:23; Gal 6:18; Phil 4:23; 1 Thess 5:28; 2 Thess 3:16; Phlm 25; cf. Eph 6:23-24; shorter blessings are found in Col 4:18; 1 Tim 6:21; 2 Tim 4:22; Titus 3:15). This verse became important for the later development of Trinitarian theology.

GALATIANS

Paul's letter to the Galatians has had an immense impact on the Christian understanding of the role of faith in our being made right before God. Responding to a severe challenge to his gospel and apostleship, Paul defends "the truth of the gospel" (Gal 2:5, 14): A person is made right before God on the basis of what God has done in the saving death and resurrection of Jesus Christ rather than on the basis of doing the works of Moses' Law. The letter's thesis is found in Galatians 2:16: "We know that a person isn't made righteous by the works of the Law but rather through the faithfulness of Jesus Christ." Salvation is God's gift; it cannot be earned.

The identity of the Galatians and the date of the letter are disputed. If Paul wrote to the congregations he and Barnabas established on their first missionary journey (see Acts 13–14), he may have written Galatians as early as 49 CE. According to this scenario, Paul was writing to congregations in the southern part of the Roman province of Galatia (part of modern-day Turkey): Antioch of Pisidia, Iconium, Lystra, and Derbe. But if Paul was writing to the Celtic tribes that had settled in the northern part of the province of Galatia (also part of modern-day Turkey), he was writing in the mid-50s to congregations around Ancyra, which he established on his second missionary journey (Acts 16:6).

Either way, the letter was occasioned by the appearance of Jewish-Christian missionaries who came to Galatia and questioned Paul's apostolic authority and the gospel he preached. That gospel didn't require the Galatians, who were Gentiles, to be circumcised or to adopt Moses' Law. These missionaries, however, insisted that if the Galatians were to become Abraham's children and enjoy the benefits of the Jewish Messiah, they must be circumcised and do what the Law required. Paul maintained that the Galatians were already in a right relation with God because of their faith in what God had done in Christ; but these missionaries were adamant that the Galatians must be circumcised and adopt a Jewish way of life in addition to believing in Christ. Here's the question Paul addresses: Is faith in what God has done in Christ sufficient for salvation, or is something else required?

Paul responds to the crisis at Galatia in three ways: First, he reviews the events of his past to show the Galatians he received his gospel and apostleship from God and Jesus Christ rather than from humans (Gal 1:10–2:21). Therefore, the Galatians can rely on the gospel he preached to them. Second, he explains that the Galatians are Abraham's children because they've been baptized into Christ and received the gift of the Spirit (Gal 3:1–5:12). Therefore, they don't need to be circumcised. Finally, Paul argues that even though the Galatians are not under the Law's authority, they fulfill the Law by practicing the love commandment through the power of the Spirit (Gal 5:13–6:10).

- A. Paul greets the Galatians (1:1-5)
- B. Paul expresses his astonishment at what has happened (1:6-9)

II. The Events of Paul's Life Verify the Truth of the Gospel He Preaches (1:10–2:21)

- A. The origin of Paul's gospel (1:10-12)
- B. Paul's former way of life in Judaism (1:13-14)
- C. Paul was called to bring the gospel to the Gentiles (1:15-17)
- D. Three years after his call, Paul visited Jerusalem (1:18-20)
- E. Paul went to the regions of Syria and Cilicia (1:21-24)
- F. Paul didn't compromise the truth of the gospel at Jerusalem (2:1-10)
- G. Peter compromised the truth of the gospel at Antioch (2:11-14)
- H. Paul summarizes the truth of the gospel he preaches (2:15-21)

III. God's Promise to Abraham Verifies the Truth of the Gospel Paul Preaches (3:1–5:12)

- A. The Galatians received the Spirit on the basis of faith (3:1-5)
- B. Scripture announced the blessings of the gospel to Abraham (3:6-9)

- C. Christ freed humanity from the curse (3:10-14)
- D. The Law doesn't cancel the promise God made to Abraham (3:15-18)
- E. Paul explains the Law's purpose (3:19-24)
- F. Those baptized into Christ are Abraham's descendants (3:25-29)
- G. The Galatians shouldn't regress to their former state (4:1-11)
- H. Paul appeals to the Galatians to become as he is (4:12-20)
- I. The Galatians belong to the line of Abraham's free descendants (4:21–5:1)
- J. The Galatians must not have themselves circumcised (5:2-12)

IV. The Spirit Enables Those Who Believe to Fulfill the Law (5:13–6:10)

- A. Those who believe fulfill the Law through the love commandment (5:13-15)
- B. Those who believe live according to the Spirit (5:16-26)
- C. Those who believe live according to the Law of Christ (6:1-10)

The gospel challenged in Galatia

6I'm amazed that you are so quickly deserting the one who called you by the grace of Christ to follow another gospel. 7It's not really another gospel, but certain people are confusing you and they want to change the gospel of Christ. 8However, even if we ourselves or a heavenly angel should ever preach anything different from what we preached to you, they should be under a curse. 9I'm repeating what we've said before: if anyone preaches something different from what you received, they should be under a curse!

Paul's leadership

10Am I trying to win over human beings or God? Or am I trying to please people? If I were still trying to please people, I wouldn't be Christ's slave. 11Brothers and sisters, I want you to know that the gospel I preached isn't human in origin. 12I didn't receive it or learn it from a human. It came through a revelation from Jesus Christ.

13You heard about my previous life in Judaism, how severely I harassed God's church and tried to destroy it. 14I advanced in Judaism beyond many of my peers, because I was much more militant about the traditions of my ancestors. 15But God had set me apart from birth and called me through his grace. He was pleased 16to reveal his Son to me, so that I might preach about him to the Gentiles. I didn't immediately consult with any human being. 17I didn't go up to Jerusalem to see the men who were apostles before me either, but I went

1:1-5 The letter begins with a greeting in which Paul emphasizes the divine origin of his apostleship.

1:1 an apostle: one sent by another with a specific message. not sent from human authority or commissioned through human agency: Paul wasn't commissioned by the church at Jerusalem. through Jesus Christ and God the Father: Paul received a divine call (see Rom 1:1, 5).

1:2 the churches in Galatia: either the congregations in the south or the north of the Roman province of Galatia.

1:3 Grace: God's unmerited favor manifested in Christ. peace: the new relationship between God and humanity that results from God's grace in Christ.

1:4 present evil age: the period before Christ, under the domination of sin and hostile cosmic powers (see Gal 4:9).

1:6-9 Instead of beginning with his usual prayer of thanksgiving, Paul expresses how surprised and frustrated he is with the Galatians.

1:6 deserting the one who called you: The Galatians are like deserters from an army. The one who called them is God. another gospel: a gospel that requires circumcision and obeying Moses' Law.

1:7 certain people: the missionaries who have come to Galatia who required the Galatians to adopt a Jewish way of life. the gospel of Christ: the good news of what God has done in Christ.

1:8-9 under a curse: the opposite of blessing. Blessing and curse play an important role in Galatians 3:6-14.

1:10-2:21 Paul uses his autobiography to explain the divine origin of the gospel he preaches and how he defended it at Jerusalem and Antioch.

1:10-12 Just as Paul insisted on the divine origin of his apostleship (Gal 1:1), so he insists on the divine origin of his gospel.

1:10 Christ's slave: See Romans 1:1; Titus 1:1.

1:12 through a revelation from Jesus Christ: Paul's call/conversion, which Luke describes in Acts 9; 22; 26; and to which Paul alludes in Galatians 1:16.

1:13-14 Paul describes his pre-Christian life to show the dramatic reversal that's taken place in his life. See 1 Timothy 1:12-17 for another description of his past.

1:13 I harassed God's church: See 1 Corinthians 15:9. According to Acts 8:3; 9:1-2, Paul tried to destroy the church in Jerusalem and intended to do the same to the church in Damascus.

1:14 traditions of my ancestors: the special traditions regarding observance of the Law that Paul practiced as a Pharisee (see Acts 22:3; 23:6; 26:4-5).

1:15-17 Paul's account of his call/conversion shows that he received his apostleship—to bring the gospel to the Gentiles—directly from God and Jesus Christ.

1:15 set me apart from birth: The language echoes the call of Jeremiah (Jer 1:5) and the Servant (Isa 49:1). called me through his grace: Just as God called the Galatians by grace (Gal 1:6), so God called Paul by grace.

1:16 to reveal his Son: Paul learns that Jesus, whom he viewed as being under God's curse because he had been crucified (see Deut 21:23), is God's Son. to the Gentiles: The purpose of the call is to make Paul the apostle to the Gentiles. I didn't immediately consult: It wasn't necessary to ask about the revelation; its meaning was apparent to him.

1:17 Jerusalem: He didn't consult with the Jerusalem apostles. Arabia: the territory of Nabatea, east of the Dead Sea. Damascus: a city in Syria near where he was called.

away into Arabia and I returned again to Damascus. <sup>18</sup>Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to visit Cephas and stayed with him fifteen days. <sup>19</sup>But I didn't see any other of the apostles except James the brother of the Lord. <sup>20</sup>Before God, I'm not lying about the things that I'm writing to you! <sup>21</sup>Then I went into the regions of Syria and Cilicia, <sup>22</sup>but I wasn't known personally by the Christian churches in Judea. <sup>23</sup>They only heard a report about me: "The man who used to harass us now preaches the faith that he once tried to destroy." <sup>24</sup>So they were glorifying God because of me.

Confirmation of Paul's leadership

2Then after fourteen years I went up to Jerusalem again with Barnabas, and I took Titus along also. <sup>2</sup>I went there because of a revelation, and I laid out the gospel that I preach to the Gentiles for them. But I did it privately with the influential leaders to make sure that I wouldn't be working or that I hadn't worked for nothing. <sup>3</sup>However, not even Titus, who was with me and who was a Greek, was required to be circumcised. <sup>4</sup>But false brothers and sisters, who were brought in secretly, slipped in to spy on our freedom, which we have in Christ Jesus, and to make us slaves. <sup>5</sup>We didn't give in and submit to them for a single moment, so that the truth of the gospel would continue to be with you.

<sup>6</sup>The influential leaders didn't add anything to what I was preaching—and whatever they were makes no difference to me, because God doesn't show favoritism. <sup>7</sup>But on the contrary, they saw that I had been given the responsibility to preach the gospel to the people who aren't circumcised, just as Peter had been to the circumcised. <sup>8</sup>The one who empowered Peter to become an apostle to the circumcised empowered me also to be one to the Gentiles. <sup>9</sup>James, Cephas, and John, who are considered to be key leaders, shook hands with me and Barnabas as equals when they recognized the grace that was given to me. So it was agreed that we would go to the Gentiles, while they continue to go to the people who were circumcised. <sup>10</sup>They asked only that we would remember the poor, which was certainly something I was willing to do.

The Jewish-Gentile controversy

<sup>11</sup>But when Cephas came to Antioch, I opposed him to his face, because he was wrong. <sup>12</sup>He had been eating with the Gentiles before certain people came from James. But when they came, he began to back out and separate himself, because he was afraid of the people

1:18–20. Paul recounts his first visit to Jerusalem after his call.

1:18 after three years: three years after his call, probably about 36 CE. Cephas: Peter's Aramaic name.

1:19 James the brother of the Lord: This James isn't one of the Twelve. He's identified as Jesus' brother (Mark 6:3) and the head of the church in Jerusalem (Acts 21:18).

1:21–24 Paul describes what he did in the period between his first and second visits to Jerusalem. According to Galatians 2:1, this was a period of 14 years.

1:21 the regions of Syria and Cilicia: The church of Antioch, mentioned in Galatians 2:11, was located in Syria. Paul was a citizen of Tarsus, a city in the Roman province of Cilicia (Acts 21:39). He preached the gospel in these locations for about 14 years after his call.

1:22 churches in Judea: the congregations around Jerusalem.

2:1–10 Paul describes his second visit to Jerusalem after his call. Acts 15 recounts a similar incident. During this visit Paul defends the truth of the gospel.

2:1 after fourteen years: about 49–50 CE. Barnabas: Paul's companion on his first missionary journey (Acts 13:1–3). Titus: Paul's missionary companion who plays a prominent role in 2 Corinthians. Paul addresses a letter to him.

2:2 because of a revelation: Paul wasn't summoned; he took the initiative. the gospel that I preach to the Gentiles: a gospel that doesn't require Gentiles to be circumcised. the influential leaders: James, Cephas (Peter), and John, who are mentioned in Galatians 2:9.

2:3 not even Titus: Paul brought Titus to Jerusalem as an example of an uncircumcised Gentile who believes in Christ.

2:4 false brothers and sisters: people who supported the position of the missionaries who came to Galatia. our freedom: from circumcision and the Law.

2:5 the truth of the gospel: A person is made righteous through Christ's faithfulness rather than by doing the works of the Law.

2:6 didn't add anything: They didn't require the Gentiles to become circumcised and follow a Jewish way of life.

2:8 The one who empowered Peter: God.

2:9 James: the head of the Jerusalem church. Cephas: Peter, the most important member of the Twelve. John: one of the Twelve. the grace that was given to me: the grace to be the apostle to the Gentiles.

2:10 remember the poor: Paul was involved in taking up a collection among his Gentile congregations for the poor Christians in Jerusalem (see 2 Cor 8–9).

2:11–14 Paul recounts an episode that occurred at Antioch in Syria, during which he defended the truth of the gospel against certain people who supported James, whereas Peter, Barnabas, and others betrayed it.

2:11 Cephas came to Antioch: He came to see the new expression of Christian faith that was developing there among the Gentiles.

2:12 certain people came from James: These supporters of James interpreted the agreement made at Jerusalem differently than Paul did.

who promoted circumcision. <sup>13</sup>And the rest of the Jews also joined him in this hypocrisy so that even Barnabas got carried away with them in their hypocrisy. <sup>14</sup>But when I saw that they weren't acting consistently with the truth of the gospel, I said to Cephas in front of everyone, "If you, though you're a Jew, live like a Gentile and not like a Jew, how can you require the Gentiles to live like Jews?"

<sup>15</sup>We are born Jews—we're not Gentile sinners. <sup>16</sup>However, we know that a person isn't made righteous by the works of the Law but rather through the faithfulness of Jesus Christ. We ourselves believed in Christ Jesus so that we could be made righteous by the faithfulness of Christ and not by the works of the Law—because no one will be made righteous by the works of the Law. <sup>17</sup>But if it is discovered that we ourselves are sinners while we are trying to be made righteous in Christ, then is Christ a servant of sin? Absolutely not! <sup>18</sup>If I rebuild the very things that I tore down, I show that I myself am breaking the Law. <sup>19</sup>I died to the Law through the Law, so that I could live for God. <sup>20</sup>I have been crucified with Christ and I no longer live, but Christ lives in me. And the life that I now live in my body, I live by faith, indeed, by the faithfulness of God's Son, who loved me and gave himself for me. <sup>21</sup>I don't ignore the grace of God, because if we become righteous through the Law, then Christ died for no purpose.

Works versus the Spirit

3You irrational Galatians! Who put a spell on you? Jesus Christ was put on display as crucified before your eyes! <sup>2</sup>I just want to know this from you: Did you receive the Spirit by doing the works of the Law or by believing what you heard? <sup>3</sup>Are you so irrational? After you started with the Spirit, are you now finishing up with your own human effort? <sup>4</sup>Did you experience so much for nothing? I wonder if it really was for nothing. <sup>5</sup>So does the one providing you with the Spirit and working miracles among you do this by you doing the works of the Law or by you believing what you heard?

Abraham: an example of righteousness

<sup>6</sup>Understand that in the same way that Abraham believed God and it was credited to him as righteousness, <sup>7</sup>those who believe are the children of Abraham. <sup>8</sup>But when it saw ahead of 2:13 the rest of the Jews: Jewish believers in Christ. joined him in this hypocrisy: by withdrawing from table fellowship with the Gentiles when James' supporters arrived.

2:14 weren't acting consistently with the truth of the gospel: by separating from the Gentile believers with whom they had formerly eaten. how can you require the Gentiles to live like Jews?: Peter changed the way he acted among the Gentiles. Now he requires them to adopt a Jewish way of life.

2:15-21 Paul explains what he means by the truth of the gospel.

2:15 we're not Gentile sinners: The Gentiles are sinners because they don't possess God's Law, which reveals how one should behave. Jews are in a more advantageous position (Rom 3:1-2).

2:16 made righteous: put in a right relation with God. by the works of the Law: the prescriptions of the Law, especially circumcision, sabbath observance, and dietary regulations. through the faithfulness of Jesus Christ: Jesus' obedience to God is the basis of salvation. We ourselves believed in Christ Jesus: Even Jews like Paul have believed in Christ so that they can be righteous before God.

2:17 But if it is discovered that we ourselves are sinners: Those who follow Paul appear to be like Gentile sinners since they rely on faith rather than on doing what the Law requires. is Christ a servant of sin?: Has Christ become an excuse to do away with the Law and become like Gentile sinners?

2:18 If I rebuild the very things that I tore down: Paul set aside the Law that divided Gentiles and Jews. I show that I myself am breaking the Law: If he restored the Law that divided Gentiles and Jews, Paul would betray the gospel.

2:19 I died to the Law: Paul set aside his loyalty to the Law to give his loyalty to God through Christ.

2:20 The new center of Paul's being is Christ rather than himself.

2:21 That Christ died for sins (Gal 1:4) indicates that righteousness cannot come through doing what the Law requires. Otherwise, why did God send God's Son into the world?

3:1-5:12 Paul provides the Galatians with several scriptural arguments to show that they are Abraham's descendants by believing in the gospel. Consequently, there's no need to be circumcised and embrace the Law. In Christ they are already made righteous.

3:1-5 Paul argues that since the Galatians have already received the gift of the Spirit on the basis of faith, there's no need for them to do what the Law requires in order to be made right before God.

3:1 was put on display as crucified: Paul recalls how he preached Christ crucified to them.

3:2 doing the works of the Law: the requirements of the Law, especially circumcision, sabbath observance, and dietary regulations. believing what you heard: the message of the crucified Christ.

3:5 the one providing you with the Spirit: God.

3:6-9 Paul argues that God previously announced the gospel to Abraham, the gospel that promised the Gentiles would be made right before God.

3:6 In Genesis 15 God established a covenant with Abraham. The quotation of Genesis 15:6 shows that Abraham was made right before God because of his faith.

time that God would make the Gentiles righteous on the basis of faith, scripture preached the gospel in advance to Abraham: All the Gentiles will be blessed in you.<sup>b</sup> Therefore, those who believe are blessed together with Abraham who believed.

<sup>10</sup>All those who rely on the works of the Law are under a curse, because it is written, Everyone is cursed who does not keep on doing all the things that have been written in the Law scroll.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>11</sup>But since no one is made righteous by the Law as far as God is concerned, it is clear that the righteous one will live on the basis of faith.<sup>d</sup> <sup>12</sup>The Law isn't based on faith; rather, the one doing these things will live by them.<sup>e</sup> <sup>13</sup>Christ redeemed us from the curse of the Law by becoming a curse for us—because it is written, Everyone who is hung on a tree is cursed.<sup>f</sup> <sup>14</sup>He redeemed us so that the blessing of Abraham would come to the Gentiles through Christ Jesus, and that we would receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

<sup>15</sup>Brothers and sisters, I'll use an example from human experience. No one ignores or makes additions to a validated will. <sup>16</sup>The promises were made to Abraham and to his descendant. It doesn't say, "and to the descendants," as if referring to many rather than just one. It says, "and to your descendant," who is Christ. <sup>17</sup>I'm saying this: the Law, which came four hundred thirty years later, doesn't invalidate the agreement that was previously validated by God so that it cancels the promise. <sup>18</sup>If the inheritance were based upon the Law, it would no longer be from the promise. But God has given it graciously to Abraham through a promise.

The Law's origin and purpose

<sup>19</sup>So why was the Law given? It was added because of offenses, until the descendant would come to whom the promise had been made. It was put in place through angels by the hand of a mediator. <sup>20</sup>Now the mediator does not take one side; but God is one. <sup>21</sup>So, is the Law against the promises of God? Absolutely not! If a Law had been given that was able to give life, then righteousness would in fact have come from the Law. <sup>22</sup>But scripture locked up all things under sin, so that the promise based on the faithfulness of Jesus Christ might be given to those who have faith. <sup>23</sup>Before faith came, we were guarded under the Law, locked up until faith that was coming would be revealed, <sup>24</sup>so that the Law became our custodian until Christ so that we might be made righteous by faith.

God's children are heirs in Christ

<sup>25</sup>But now that faith has come, we are no longer under a custodian.

<sup>26</sup>You are all God's children through faith in Christ Jesus. <sup>27</sup>All of you who were baptized to Abraham. For Paul the promise foreshadows the gospel he preaches to the Gentiles.

3:10-14 Paul employs a scriptural argument to show that, because those under the Law are under the threat of a curse, those who are made righteous have been freed from the curse by Christ.

3:10 Deuteronomy 27:26 pronounces a curse on those who don't do everything the Law requires.

3:11 Alluding to Habakkuk 2:4, Paul says that righteousness is based on faith.

3:12 Leviticus 18:5 shows that the Law is based on doing what it requires rather than on faith.

3:13 By dying on the cross, Christ took on himself the curse mentioned in Deuteronomy 21:23.

3:14 the blessing of Abraham: The blessing is the gift of the Spirit (see Gal 3:9).

3:15-18 The Law, which came after God's promise to Abraham, doesn't cancel the promise based on faith.

3:16 and to his descendant: Paul refers to Genesis 12:7. Both here and in Genesis, the Greek text uses the term sperma. This is a singular noun, but it can be used either for a single descendant or for all of one's descendants. Here Paul understands it as a reference to a single descendant, allowing him to identify Christ as the one to whom the Lord made promises.

3:17 which came four hundred thirty years later: Having compared the promise to a will (Gal 3:15), Paul argues that the Law can't alter the will's stipulations (faith) since the Law came later.

3:18 the inheritance: the promised gift of the Spirit.

3:19-24 After affirming that the Law doesn't cancel the promise, Paul must explain why God gave the Law.

3:19 because of offenses: The Law was given to deal with sins. until the descendant: Christ. by the hand of a mediator: Moses.

3:21 If a Law had been given that was able to give life: The Law wasn't intended to give life but to control sins until Christ came (cf. Gal 2:21).

3:22 But scripture locked up all things under sin: Scripture reveals that all are under the power of sin (cf. Rom 3:9).

3:23 Before faith came: faith in Christ. guarded under the Law: The Law was intended to keep people from transgressing. until faith: The role of the Law was temporary.

3:24 the Law became our custodian until Christ: Paul compares the Law to a household slave in charge of a young boy who will become the master of the household. Once Christ comes, the role of the Law ends.

3:25-29 Paul concludes the first part of his argument by noting that those baptized into Christ are Abraham's descendants.

3:25 now that faith has come: The appearance of Christ marks the end of the role of the Law (see Rom 10:4).

into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ. <sup>28</sup>There is neither Jew nor Greek; there is neither slave nor free; nor is there male and female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus. <sup>29</sup>Now if you belong to Christ, then indeed you are Abraham's descendants, heirs according to the promise.

4 I'm saying that as long as the heirs are minors, they are no different from slaves, though they really are the owners of everything. <sup>2</sup>However, they are placed under trustees and guardians until the date set by the parents. <sup>3</sup>In the same way, when we were minors, we were also enslaved by this world's system. <sup>4</sup>But when the fulfillment of the time came, God sent his Son, born through a woman, and born under the Law. <sup>5</sup>This was so he could redeem those under the Law so that we could be adopted. <sup>6</sup>Because you are sons and daughters, God sent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, crying, "Abba, Father!" <sup>7</sup>Therefore, you are no longer a slave but a son or daughter, and if you are his child, then you are also an heir through God.

Paul's concern for the Galatians

<sup>8</sup>At the time, when you didn't know God, you were enslaved by things that aren't gods by nature. <sup>9</sup>But now, after knowing God (or rather, being known by God), how can you turn back again to the weak and worthless world system? Do you want to be slaves to it again? <sup>10</sup>You observe religious days and months and seasons and years. <sup>11</sup>I'm afraid for you! Perhaps my hard work for you has been for nothing.

<sup>12</sup>I beg you to be like me, brothers and sisters, because I have become like you! You haven't wronged me. <sup>13</sup>You know that I first preached the gospel to you because of an illness. <sup>14</sup>Though my poor health burdened you, you didn't look down on me or reject me, but you welcomed me as if I were an angel from God, or as if I were Christ Jesus! <sup>15</sup>Where then is the great attitude that you had? I swear that, if possible, you would have dug out your eyes and given them to me. <sup>16</sup>So then, have I become your enemy by telling you the truth? <sup>17</sup>They are so concerned about you, though not with good intentions. Rather, they want to shut you out so that you would run after them. <sup>18</sup>However, it's always good to have people concerned about you with good intentions, and not just when I'm there with you. <sup>19</sup>My little children, I'm going through labor pains again until Christ is formed in you. <sup>20</sup>But I wish I could be with you now and change how I sound, because I'm at a loss about you.

Slave versus free

<sup>21</sup>Tell me—those of you who want to be under the Law—don't you listen to the Law? <sup>22</sup>It's written that Abraham had two sons, one by the slave woman and one by the free woman.

3:28 neither Jew nor Greek: Christ overcomes all ethnic barriers. slave nor free: Christ overcomes all social barriers. male and female: Christ overcomes all sexual barriers.

3:29 you are Abraham's descendants: because they are in Christ, who is Abraham's singular descendant. heirs according to the promise: See Galatians 3:8.

4:1-11 Paul reminds the Galatians they are now adults and shouldn't act like children by placing themselves under the Law.

4:2 until the date set by the parents: the date when they'll receive their inheritance.

4:3 when we were minors: when they were under the Law's authority and the powers of the present age (Gal 1:4) from which Christ freed them.

4:4 God sent his Son: Paul alludes to the preexistence of the Son (see Rom 8:3). born under the Law: This highlights Jesus' Jewish origin.

4:5 so that we could be adopted: as God's sons and daughters through Christ (see Rom 8:15-17).

4:6 Abba: the Aramaic word for "father" (see Mark 14:36; Rom 8:15).

4:8 when you didn't know God: the period before their conversion, when they didn't know Israel's God, the Father of Jesus Christ.

4:9 how can you turn back: by doing what the Law requires and being circumcised.

4:10 You observe religious days: The Galatians are following Jewish festivals.

4:12-20 Paul makes a personal appeal based on his friendship with the Galatians.

4:12 be like me: They ought to imitate Paul, who relies on Christ's faithfulness rather than on doing what the Law requires. I have become like you: He lived as a Gentile when he was among them (see 1 Cor 9:21).

4:13 because of an illness: An illness caused Paul to remain with the Galatians.

4:15 you would have dug out your eyes and given them to me: The Galatians would have given Paul what was most precious to them.

4:16 by telling you the truth: that a person is made righteous through Christ's faithfulness rather than by doing what the Law requires.

4:17 They are so concerned about you: the missionaries who would require them to become circumcised. they want to shut you out: They desire the Galatians for themselves.

4:19 My little children: Paul is the father of the Galatians because he brought the gospel to them. until Christ is formed in you: Like a mother, Paul must give birth anew to the community.

4:21-5:1 Paul employs a scriptural argument to show the Galatians there are two lines of descent from Abraham. One leads to slavery, the other to freedom.

4:22 It's written: Paul alludes to the birth stories of Ishmael (Gen 16) and Isaac (Gen 21). the slave woman: Hagar. the free woman: Sarah.

<sup>23</sup>The son by the slave woman was conceived the normal way, but the son by the free woman was conceived through a promise. <sup>24</sup>These things are an allegory: the women are two covenants. One is from Mount Sinai, which gives birth to slave children; this is Hagar. <sup>25</sup>Hagar is Mount Sinai in Arabia, and she corresponds to the present-day Jerusalem, because the city is in slavery with her children. <sup>26</sup>But the Jerusalem that is above is free, and she is our mother. <sup>27</sup>It's written:

*Rejoice, barren woman, you who have not given birth.
Break out with a shout,
you who have not suffered labor pains;
because the woman who has been deserted will have many more children than the woman who has a husband.<sup>6</sup>*

<sup>28</sup>Brothers and sisters, you are children of the promise like Isaac. <sup>29</sup>But just as it was then, so it is now also: the one who was conceived the normal way harassed the one who was conceived by the Spirit. <sup>30</sup>But what does the scripture say? Throw out the slave woman and her son, because the slave woman's son won't share the inheritance with the free woman's son.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>31</sup>Therefore, brothers and sisters, we aren't the slave woman's children, but we are the free woman's children. <sup>1</sup>Christ has set us free for freedom. Therefore, stand firm and don't submit to the bondage of slavery again.

Arguments against being circumcised

<sup>2</sup>Look, I, Paul, am telling you that if you have yourselves circumcised, having Christ won't help you. <sup>3</sup>Again I swear to every man who has himself circumcised that he is required to do the whole Law. <sup>4</sup>You people who are trying to be made righteous by the Law have been estranged from Christ. You have fallen away from grace! <sup>5</sup>We eagerly wait for the hope of righteousness through the Spirit by faith. <sup>6</sup>Being circumcised or not being circumcised doesn't matter in Christ Jesus, but faith working through love does matter.

<sup>7</sup>You were running well—who stopped you from obeying the truth? <sup>8</sup>This line of reasoning doesn't come from the one who calls you. <sup>9</sup>A little yeast works through the whole lump of dough. <sup>10</sup>I'm convinced about you in the Lord that you won't think any other way. But the one who is confusing you will pay the penalty, whoever that may be. <sup>11</sup>Brothers and sisters, if I'm still preaching circumcision, why am I still being harassed? In that case, the offense of the cross would be canceled. <sup>12</sup>I wish that the ones who are upsetting you would castrate themselves!

<sup>13</sup>You were called to freedom, brothers and sisters; only don't let this freedom be an opportunity to indulge your selfish impulses, but serve each other through love. <sup>14</sup>All the Law has been fulfilled in a single statement: Love your neighbor as yourself.<sup>15</sup> But if you bite and devour each other, be careful that you don't get eaten up by each other!

Two different ways of living

<sup>16</sup>I say be guided by the Spirit and you won't carry out your selfish desires. <sup>17</sup>A person's selfish desires are set against the Spirit, and the Spirit is set against one's selfish desires. They are opposed to each other, so you shouldn't do whatever you want to do. <sup>18</sup>But if you are being led by the Spirit, you aren't under the Law. <sup>19</sup>The actions that are produced by selfish motives are obvious, since they include sexual immorality, moral corruption, doing whatever feels good, <sup>20</sup>idolatry, drug use and casting spells, hate, fighting, obsession, losing your temper, competitive opposition, conflict, selfishness, group rivalry, <sup>21</sup>jealousy, drunkenness, partying, and other things like that. I warn you as I have already warned you, that those who do these kinds of things won't inherit God's kingdom.

<sup>22</sup>But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, <sup>23</sup>gentleness, and self-control. There is no law against things like this. <sup>24</sup>Those who belong to Christ Jesus have crucified self with its passions and its desires.

<sup>25</sup>If we live by the Spirit, let's follow the Spirit. <sup>26</sup>Let's not become arrogant, make each other angry, or be jealous of each other.

Caring and sharing

6 Brothers and sisters, if a person is caught doing something wrong, you who are spiritual should restore someone like this with a spirit of gentleness. Watch out for yourselves so you won't be tempted too. <sup>2</sup>Carry each other's burdens and so you will fulfill the law of Christ. <sup>3</sup>If anyone thinks they are important when they aren't, they're fooling themselves. <sup>4</sup>Each person should test their own work and be happy with doing a good job and not compare themselves with others. <sup>5</sup>Each person will have to carry their own load.

<sup>6</sup>Those who are taught the word should share all good things with their teacher. <sup>7</sup>Make no mistake, God is not mocked. A person will harvest what they plant. <sup>8</sup>Those who plant only for their own benefit will harvest devastation from their selfishness, but those who plant for the benefit of the Spirit will harvest eternal life from the Spirit. <sup>9</sup>Let's not get tired of doing good, because in time we'll have a harvest if we don't give up. <sup>10</sup>So then, let's work for the good of all whenever we have an opportunity, and especially for those in the household of faith.

<sup>11</sup>Look at the large letters I'm making with my own handwriting! <sup>12</sup>Whoever wants to look good by human standards will try to get you to be circumcised, but only so they won't be harassed for the cross of Christ. <sup>13</sup>Those who are circumcised don't observe the Law themselves, but they want you to be circumcised, so they can boast about your physical body.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Lev 19:18 <sup>1</sup>In Gk the word traditionally rendered as flesh is rendered here as physical body, but it has a wide range of meaning. Gal 5:13-25; 6:8, 12 contain nine close occurrences of the same word in Gk, but it is rendered as selfish in regard to impulses, desires, motives, or benefit, and human standards in 6:12.

EPHESIANS

According to Acts, Paul spent more time in Ephesus than anywhere else (Acts 19). He would have known this church more intimately than any other. But this letter is his least personal and most general. It isn't written to address any specific problem, and there aren't many references to people in the church. It's likely, therefore, that Ephesians was sent to the churches Paul knew about in Asia Minor, including the church in Ephesus. Over the years the letter became closely associated with the Ephesian Christians, so it has come to have this title. A great benefit of the letter's general character is that it gives us a good summary of Paul's basic understanding of Christian thought and Christian living.

Some NT scholars note unusual features like these and question whether Paul is its author. Perhaps someone else wrote it using his name. It makes good sense, however, to regard this letter as genuinely from Paul. Church leaders in the generations that followed the apostles assumed Paul wrote it, and it fits well within a reconstruction of Paul's life and ministry. Moreover, it contains much personal information that reads most naturally with Paul as its author.

The letter contains a basic presentation of Paul's gospel, meant for teaching and worship among Christian gatherings. It begins with a celebration of Christian identity, where Paul lists all the blessings believers enjoy in their salvation (Eph 1:3-14). Paul's prayer (Eph 1:15-19) leads him into his main theme, which he states in Ephesians 1:20-23: God has triumphed over the powers of darkness by raising Jesus from the dead and making him the Lord over all creation. Paul then discusses God's activities in salvation. God is transforming people's lives from slavery and oppression to freedom and empowerment for obedience (Eph 2:1-10).

Furthermore, God is uniting humanity together, especially former enemies (Eph 2:11-22).

God isn't limited by Paul's being in prison either. God still works through Paul the prisoner to make the gospel known (Eph 3:1-13). This leads to Paul's second prayer of praise for God's mighty power to work in any situation (Eph 3:14-21).

In the second half of Ephesians (Eph 4-6), Paul gives instructions for Christians to live out God's salvation. Each church community should consider itself a "body of Christ" and live as if they are the presence of Jesus on earth. Their unity is a major priority, and God gave gifted people to each community to bring about their growth in maturity (Eph 4:1-16). Christians should also be different. They should identify and then avoid ways of life that destroy relationships and harm the community's health. They should think about behaviors that would be good for community health and develop habits of doing these kinds of things (Eph 4:17-24). Paul gives some examples of how they can do this (Eph 4:25-32).

Because God has transformed believers into children, they are to imitate God's love. This is especially seen in self-sacrificial actions toward others (Eph 5:1-5). Paul then contrasts two general ways of living. Christians should live as light and not as darkness (Eph 5:6-14). They should live wisely in the world and not foolishly (Eph 5:15-21). Paul means that they are to avoid the destructive behaviors that are part of the surrounding culture. He doesn't say specifically what these are. He leaves it up to each community to determine which behaviors and habits are harmful and which ones will bring about goodness for others and from others.

The final major section of the letter (Eph 5:22-6:9) gives a concrete example of how Christians should live as communities. Paul uses the model of a household, which in the ancient world would have included the basic family unit and also servants, slaves, and a number of other family relatives. The model household functions well when everyone serves, loves, and honors one another. This is how churches should live as communities that are Christ's body on earth.

Paul closes Ephesians with a call to spiritual warfare (Eph 6:10-17) and some final greetings (Eph 6:18-21). Evil spiritual beings, he warns, tempt people to engage in the destructive behaviors we encounter in the world. Paul isn't calling for believers to engage evil spirits directly but rather to use God's power to resist the spirits' temptations and to develop communities of love and service to others. That's how Christians wage war against the "forces of cosmic darkness" (Eph 6:12).

Greeting

1 From Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by God's will.
1 To the holy and faithful people in Christ Jesus in Ephesus.<sup>a</sup>
2 Grace and peace to you from God our Father and our Lord Jesus Christ.

The believers' blessings

3 Bless the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! He has blessed us in Christ with every spiritual blessing that comes from heaven. 4 God chose us in Christ to be holy and blameless in God's presence before the creation of the world. 5 God destined us to be his adopted children through Jesus Christ because of his love. This was according to his goodwill and plan 6 and to honor his glorious grace that he has given to us freely through the Son whom he loves. 7 We have been ransomed through his Son's blood, and we have forgiveness for our failures based on his overflowing grace, 8 which he poured over us with wisdom and understanding. 9 God revealed his hidden design<sup>b</sup> to us, which is according to his goodwill and the plan that he intended to accomplish through his Son. 10 This is what God planned for the climax of all times:<sup>c</sup> to bring all things together in Christ, the things in heaven along with the things on earth. 11 We have also received an inheritance in Christ. We were destined by the plan of God, who accomplishes everything according to his design. 12 We are called to be an honor to God's glory because we were the first to hope in Christ. 13 You too heard the word of truth in Christ, which is the good news of your salvation. You were sealed with the promised Holy Spirit because you believed in Christ. 14 The Holy Spirit is the down payment on our inheritance, which is applied toward our redemption as God's own people, resulting in the honor of God's glory.

Paul's prayer for the Ephesians

15 Since I heard about your faith in the Lord Jesus and your love for all God's people, this is the reason that 16 I don't stop giving thanks to God for you when I remember you in my prayers. 17 I pray that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, will give you a spirit of wisdom and revelation that makes God known to you. 18 I pray that the eyes of your heart will have enough light to see what is the hope of God's call, what is the richness of God's glorious inheritance among believers, 19 and what is the overwhelming greatness of God's power that is working among us believers. This power is conferred by the energy of

1:3-14 Paul opens by celebrating all that God has done among his readers in salvation. Paul wants them to think of themselves in these new and wonderful ways.

1:4 God chose us: God set God's love on these people from before the creation of the world. This is true of anyone who joins the church by receiving Christ. It is how believers ought to regard themselves in relation to God. They shouldn't think of those outside the church in terms of God's choosing, however. If those outside the church join God's people, then being God's chosen becomes their identity, too.

1:9 God revealed: Paul's audience is mostly lower-class people, including many slaves. They haven't enjoyed many privileges, but God has chosen to share with them the eternal plan for summing up history.

1:10 things ... earth: God's salvation has to do with setting everything right, including things on earth and things in heaven. On earth, God is fixing people's lives and bringing people together in healed communities. In the heavenly realm, God is working to defeat rebellious spiritual powers, including the devil, that are trying to ruin God's creation (Eph 2:2; 6:11-12).

1:12 first ... Christ: Paul refers to himself and his ministry team. They were the first to hope in Christ from the beginning of the Christian movement. In the next verse he then refers to "you," his readers. The great blessings named in this passage belong equally to longtime Christians and to new ones as well.

1:13 sealed: The Holy Spirit puts a spiritual mark on Christians, indicating God's ownership of them and guaranteeing their final salvation. promised: Israel's prophets promised that God would restore the nation from exile by sending the Spirit of God to give them new hearts (e.g., Ezek 11:19; 26:26). God's presence would come to them, bring the blessings of salvation, and give them power to live renewed lives.

1:14 down payment: Paul sees salvation as occurring mainly at the end of history. God's salvation rests on Christians now, though, because God's Spirit lives among them. The Spirit's presence guarantees that they will enjoy the fullness of salvation in the future.

1:17 spirit ... revelation: "Wisdom" and "revelation" are common words in biblical texts that speak of a heavenly kind of knowledge. Paul wants his readers to see the world and their lives from the perspective of heaven, from the realm where God reigns and rules over all creation.

God's powerful strength. <sup>20</sup>God's power was at work in Christ when God raised him from the dead and sat him at God's right side in the heavens, <sup>21</sup>far above every ruler and authority and power and angelic power, any power that might be named not only now but in the future. <sup>22</sup>God put everything under Christ's feet and made him head of everything in the church, <sup>23</sup>which is his body. His body, the church, is the fullness of Christ, who fills everything in every way.

Saved from sin to life

2At one time you were like a dead person because of the things you did wrong and your offenses against God. <sup>2</sup>You used to live like people of this world. You followed the rule of a destructive spiritual power. This is the spirit of disobedience to God's will that is now at work in persons whose lives are characterized by disobedience. <sup>3</sup>At one time you were like those persons. All of you used to do whatever felt good and whatever you thought you wanted so that you were children headed for punishment just like everyone else.

<sup>4-5</sup>However, God is rich in mercy. He brought us to life with Christ while we were dead as a result of those things that we did wrong. He did this because of the great love that he has for us. You are saved by God's grace! <sup>6</sup>And God raised us up and seated us in the heavens with Christ Jesus. <sup>7</sup>God did this to show future generations the greatness of his grace by the goodness that God has shown us in Christ Jesus.

<sup>8</sup>You are saved by God's grace because of your faith. <sup>9</sup>This salvation is God's gift. It's not something you possessed. <sup>9</sup>It's not something you did that you can be proud of. <sup>10</sup>Instead, we are God's accomplishment, created in Christ Jesus to do good things. God planned for these good things to be the way that we live our lives.

The reconciliation of God's people

<sup>11</sup>So remember that once you were Gentiles by physical descent, who were called "uncircumcised" by Jews who are physically circumcised. <sup>12</sup>At that time you were without Christ. You were aliens rather than citizens of Israel, and strangers to the covenants of God's promise. In this world you had no hope and no God. <sup>13</sup>But now, thanks to Christ Jesus, you who once were so far away have been brought near by the blood of Christ.

<sup>14</sup>Christ is our peace. He made both Jews and Gentiles into one group. With his body, he broke down the barrier of hatred that divided us. <sup>15</sup>He canceled the detailed rules of the Law

2:14 Lk 2:14; 1Co 12:13; Ga 3:28; Col 1:20; Col 3:11 2:15 Col 2:14; Col 2:20

1:20-23 These verses contain the main point of this letter: God has achieved a great victory. God defeated death by raising Christ from the dead and has begun to defeat the evil powers that have corrupted the world. God has given Christ the position of ruling Lord over all creation.

1:21 ruler . . . power: See sidebar, "The Powers and Authorities" at Ephesians 3.

1:22 put . . . feet: Christ is now ruler over all creation, but he isn't yet finished defeating the evil powers that have corrupted the world. In the meantime, Christ is the ruler of the church.

1:23 his body: While Jesus was on earth, his physical body was where Christ was located. Now that Jesus is in heaven, the church is Christ's earthly body. The Spirit lives among Christians so that the presence of Jesus is there. The church should have the same effect on earth as Jesus did when he was here.

1:23 fullness . . . fills: "Fullness" expresses the idea of Jesus' presence filling the church. God's presence used to fill the temple in Jerusalem. Now God's presence fills the church whenever Christians are together.

2:1 dead person: This is spiritual death. People fail to respond to God because they're trapped in repeated patterns of disobedience. They're unable to live rightly.

2:2 destructive . . . power: Paul refers to the devil (see Eph 6:11-12), sometimes known as Satan, God's chief spiritual enemy and agent of evil who's trying to destroy humanity and creation. spirit of disobedience: People are responsible for their choices, but evil powers have taken control of creation. An evil spirit is at work among humans to draw their wills away from God and doing what's right.

2:6 with Christ: Believers are with Christ, so that what God has done to Christ (brought him to life, raised him up, and seated him) God has also done to believers.

2:8-9 possessed . . . proud of: Nothing that we possess or don't possess, nothing that we do or don't do moves God to save people. God saves because of God's love.

2:10 God planned: Paul reminds his readers that they can't brag about the good things they do. God planned for them to do those things. Therefore, if they do good things, that doesn't make them any better than anyone else. God saves people, and God saves them so that they will do good things to others.

2:11 Gentiles . . . "uncircumcised": Paul reminds them of the racial hostility that used to exist between them and Jews, who'd been part of God's people for ages.

2:14 our peace: All believers, Jewish and non-Jewish, are made into one new people in Christ. God unites them so that their new common bond is their faith in Christ, despite their ethnic identity.

2:15 detailed rules: The Law of Moses distinguished between Jews and non-Jews. Being Jewish no longer defines so that he could create one new person out of the two groups, making peace. <sup>16</sup>He reconciled them both as one body to God by the cross, which ended the hostility to God.

<sup>17</sup>When he came, he announced the good news of peace to you who were far away from God and to those who were near. <sup>18</sup>We both have access to the Father through Christ by the one Spirit. <sup>19</sup>So now you are no longer strangers and aliens. Rather, you are fellow citizens with God's people, and you belong to God's household. <sup>20</sup>As God's household, you are built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets with Christ Jesus himself as the cornerstone. <sup>21</sup>The whole building is joined together in him, and it grows up into a temple that is dedicated to the Lord. <sup>22</sup>Christ is building you into a place where God lives through the Spirit.

Paul, apostle to the Gentiles

3 This is why I, Paul, am a prisoner of Christ for you Gentiles.

<sup>8</sup>God gave his grace to me, the least of all God's people, to preach the good news about the immeasurable riches of Christ to the Gentiles. <sup>9</sup>God sent me to reveal the secret plan<sup>g</sup> that had been hidden since the beginning of time by God, who created everything. <sup>10</sup>God's purpose is now to show the rulers and powers in the heavens the many different varieties of his wisdom through the church. <sup>11</sup>This was consistent with the plan he had from the beginning

The Powers and Authorities These figures show up at key places in Ephesians. God has exalted Christ as triumphant Lord far above these "angelic power[s]" in Ephesians 1:21. In Ephesians 3:10 God's work in building the church becomes a lesson for "the rulers and powers" of God's great wisdom. And in Ephesians 6:12 these are the church's enemies in the cosmic battle. According to Paul's Jewish understanding of the world, God had originally created these spiritual rulers to ensure justice and the proper ordering of creation. But they rebelled against God and now hold creation in their enslaving grip of oppression. They're responsible for the varieties of sinful and destructive patterns of life in which people engage. People are responsible for their own actions, but these figures have made available within creation various idolatrous practices, hostilities between ethnic groups, and conflicts between social classes. God overcomes these angelic powers by putting hostility to death (Eph 2:14-16) and creating a space where groups can be reconciled to each other and make peace. This is the purpose of the church, which is made up of various ethnicities in Christ. Further, the church battles against these angelic powers (Eph 6:11, 13). The church resists destructive practices, seeks peace, and celebrates together reconciliation with God. In this way, the church enjoys God's victory over the evil powers.

God's people. This part of the Law is no longer effective. new person: All believers take part in a new humanity. They make up a new person, and that new person should function on earth the way Jesus did.

2:18 both... access: The former situation is reversed in Christ. Jews and non-Jews are both near to God, and they've been united to one another in God's new people. 2:21-22 building... temple: God's new people don't gather at the temple to worship God. They gather as the temple. They're the building itself, and God dwells among them. This reality is ongoing, becoming more and more effective.

3:2 to distribute: Along with other apostles and preachers, Paul had the great responsibility of announcing to the world the gospel of Jesus. God's plan of salvation was dependent on the messengers' getting the word out. That's why Paul speaks of this as a great responsibility.

3:3 revelation: The scriptures didn't reveal God's plan of uniting Jews and non-Jews in one community. God revealed it to Paul. This may be a reference to Paul's encounter with the Lord on the Damascus road (Acts 9).

3:5 Earlier generations: Israel's prophets speak of God saving the nations along with Israel (e.g., Isa 42:6; 49:6; 60:3), but it wasn't revealed until Paul's day that this would happen through uniting Jews and non-Jews in the church as equals.

3:10 to show: Paul stresses his humiliating circumstances in this passage. He's in prison, and he's "the least of all God's people" (Eph 3:8). The growth of the church through humble ministers serves as a demonstration to the evil of time that he accomplished through Christ Jesus our Lord. <sup>12</sup>In Christ we have bold and confident access to God through faith in him.<sup>b</sup> <sup>13</sup>So then, I ask you not to become discouraged by what I'm suffering for you, which is your glory.

Paul's prayer for the Ephesians

<sup>14</sup>This is why I kneel before the Father. <sup>15</sup>Every ethnic group in heaven or on earth is recognized by him. <sup>16</sup>I ask that he will strengthen you in your inner selves from the riches of his glory through the Spirit. <sup>17</sup>I ask that Christ will live in your hearts through faith. As a result of having strong roots in love, <sup>18</sup>I ask that you'll have the power to grasp love's width and length, height and depth, together with all believers. <sup>19</sup>I ask that you'll know the love of Christ that is beyond knowledge so that you will be filled entirely with the fullness of God.

<sup>20</sup>Glory to God, who is able to do far beyond all that we could ask or imagine by his power at work within us; <sup>21</sup>glory to him in the church and in Christ Jesus for all generations, forever and always. Amen.

Unity of the body of Christ

4 Therefore, as a prisoner for the Lord, I encourage you to live as people worthy of the call you received from God. <sup>2</sup>Conduct yourselves with all humility, gentleness, and patience. Accept each other with love, <sup>3</sup>and make an effort to preserve the unity of the Spirit with the peace that ties you together. <sup>4</sup>You are one body and one spirit, just as God also called you in one hope. <sup>5</sup>There is one Lord, one faith, one baptism, <sup>6</sup>and one God and Father of all, who is over all, through all, and in all.

<sup>7</sup>God has given his grace to each one of us measured out by the gift that is given by Christ. <sup>8</sup>That's why scripture says, When he climbed up to the heights, he captured prisoners, and he gave gifts to people.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>9</sup>What does the phrase "he climbed up" mean if it doesn't mean that he had first gone down into the lower regions, the earth? <sup>10</sup>The one who went down is the same one who climbed up above all the heavens so that he might fill everything.

<sup>11</sup>He gave some apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers. <sup>12</sup>His purpose was to equip God's people for the work of serving and building up the body of Christ <sup>13</sup>until we all reach the unity of faith and knowledge of God's Son. God's goal is for us to become mature adults—to be fully grown, measured by the standard of

The Heavens Paul refers to "heaven" and activity in "the heavens" five times in Ephesians. God's blessings flow "from heaven" (Eph 1:3). Christ has been raised to sit at God's right side "in the heavens" (Eph 1:20). Believers are also raised up and placed "in the heavens" with Christ (Eph 2:6). In Ephesians 3:10 the powers and authorities "in the heavens" learn about God's wisdom. Paul refers again to these evil powers "in the heavens" against whom believers struggle (Eph 6:12). All of this activity that occurs in the heavenly realm indicates the cosmic scope of Paul's message. The gospel relates to the whole of creation, including all that is in the heavens and on earth. Paul sees a direct connection between the earthly and heavenly spheres, so that everything that happens on earth reflects heavenly realities. This is especially important for the nature of the conflict described in Ephesians. Although God's people live on earth, they're also united with God in heaven, and they engage in conflict with the evil cosmic powers in the heavenly realm. The evil powers want to make humans see earthly reality in ways that will tempt us to live in rebellion against God. These behaviors will keep us in spiritual death (Eph 2:1). Believers battle against the heavenly powers by living in obedience to Jesus, by loving one another, by being gentle and patient with each other, and by being united (Eph 4:2-4).

4:8 climbed... people: The imagery here is taken from Psalm 68, where God has won victories, proceeds to the throne, and then showers Israel with gifts. In the same way, Christ has defeated the evil powers in his death and resurrection. When he proceeds to his heavenly throne, he gives gifts to the church. These gifts are actually gifted people (Eph 4:11) who'll help to lead churches to maturity in Christ.

4:9 What... earth?: Christ's heavenly enthronement is a triumphant climbing up to the throne because his victory was achieved through his coming to earth, dying, and powers of how great God's wisdom is. God can use people in very bad circumstances to do great work.

3:13 discouraged: Paul's readers may have been alarmed to hear that he was in prison when he wrote this. He's encouraging them that God is still working out the plan of salvation despite Paul's humiliating circumstances.

3:18 love's: This is God's love for the church. Paul says in Ephesians 3:19 that this love can't be fully understood, but if they increasingly get to know this love as a church, they'll be a community that truly enjoys God's presence and fullness.

the fullness of Christ. <sup>14</sup>As a result, we aren't supposed to be infants any longer who can be tossed and blown around by every wind that comes from teaching with deceitful scheming and the tricks people play to deliberately mislead others. <sup>15</sup>Instead, by speaking the truth with love, let's grow in every way into Christ, <sup>16</sup>who is the head. The whole body grows from him, as it is joined and held together by all the supporting ligaments. The body makes itself grow in that it builds itself up with love as each one does its part.

The old and new life

<sup>17</sup>So I'm telling you this, and I insist on it in the Lord: you shouldn't live your life like the Gentiles anymore. They base their lives on pointless thinking, <sup>18</sup>and they are in the dark in their reasoning. They are disconnected from God's life because of their ignorance and their closed hearts. <sup>19</sup>They are people who lack all sense of right and wrong, and who have turned themselves over to doing whatever feels good and to practicing every sort of corruption along with greed.

<sup>20</sup>But you didn't learn that sort of thing from Christ. <sup>21</sup>Since you really listened to him and you were taught how the truth is in Jesus, <sup>22</sup>change the former way of life that was part of the person you once were, corrupted by deceitful desires. <sup>23</sup>Instead, renew the thinking in your mind by the Spirit <sup>24</sup>and clothe yourself with the new person created according to God's image in justice and true holiness.

<sup>25</sup>Therefore, after you have gotten rid of lying, Each of you must tell the truth to your neighbor<sup>3</sup> because we are parts of each other in the same body. <sup>26</sup>Be angry without sinning.<sup>4</sup> Don't let the sun set on your anger. <sup>27</sup>Don't provide an opportunity for the devil. <sup>28</sup>Thieves should no longer steal. Instead, they should go to work, using their hands to do good so that they will have something to share with whoever is in need.

<sup>29</sup>Don't let any foul words come out of your mouth. Only say what is helpful when it is needed for building up the community so that it benefits those who hear what you say. <sup>30</sup>Don't make the Holy Spirit of God unhappy—you were sealed by him for the day of redemption. <sup>31</sup>Put aside all bitterness, losing your temper, anger, shouting, and slander, along with every other evil. <sup>32</sup>Be kind, compassionate, and forgiving to each other, in the same way God forgave you in Christ.

5 Therefore, imitate God like dearly loved children. <sup>2</sup>Live your life with love, following the example of Christ, who loved us and gave himself for us. He was a sacrificial offering that smelled sweet to God.

<sup>3</sup>Sexual immorality, and any kind of impurity or greed, shouldn't even be mentioned among you, which is right for holy persons. <sup>4</sup>Obscene language, silly talk, or vulgar jokes aren't acceptable for believers. Instead, there should be thanksgiving. <sup>5</sup>Because you know being buried in the lower regions, the grave. His resurrection was a victory that gives him the right to ascend his heavenly throne as cosmic champion.

4:14 aren't . . . infants: Gifted people help believers grow spiritually so that they aren't captive to fads. Paul sees growth as increasing in discernment and discretion, which helps believers avoid being taken in by false shortcuts to growth.

4:16 body: Personal growth and community growth work together here so that mature believers contribute to a mature church. The energy for each aspect of this is supplied by Christ.

4:17 Gentiles: Paul isn't referring to non-Jews in the churches to which he writes (see Eph 2:11). He's referring to the destructive ways of life that are found in the wider culture. This is a way of talking among Jews like Paul, but he doesn't intend to speak in a way that makes Jews superior to non-Jews.

4:26 Be angry: Paul isn't commending anger. Anger is natural in communities because people hurt each other in various ways. But when this happens, Paul wants them to deal with it right away so that no one sins against another by feeding on that anger and doing further damage.

4:27 opportunity . . . devil: One of the ways the church loses ground to spiritual powers of darkness is by failing to deal with anger-causing problems. This creates division and is an opening for evil powers to destroy relationships and communities.

4:30 Holy Spirit . . . unhappy: The church is where God's Spirit dwells, and the Spirit is causing the growth of individuals and the community. The Spirit is unhappy when believers speak destructive words about others and when people divide against one another.

5:2 smelled . . . God: an expression for Israel's sacrifices that were especially pleasing to God because they came from sincere hearts (Exod 29:18; Lev 2:9; Ezek 20:41). Paul uses this expression to describe the gift the Philippians sent him in prison (Phil 4:18).

5:4 language . . . thanksgiving: This verse refers specifically for sure that persons who are sexually immoral, impure, or greedy—which happens when things become gods—those persons won't inherit the kingdom of Christ and God.

Be children of light

<sup>6</sup>Nobody should deceive you with stupid ideas. God's anger comes down on those who are disobedient because of this kind of thing. <sup>7</sup>So you shouldn't have anything to do with them. <sup>8</sup>You were once darkness, but now you are light in the Lord, so live your life as children of light. <sup>9</sup>Light produces fruit that consists of every sort of goodness, justice, and truth. <sup>10</sup>Therefore, test everything to see what's pleasing to the Lord. <sup>11</sup>and don't participate in the unfruitful actions of darkness. Instead, you should reveal the truth about them. <sup>12</sup>It's embarrassing to even talk about what certain persons do in secret. <sup>13</sup>But everything exposed to the light is revealed by the light. <sup>14</sup>Everything that is revealed by the light is light. Therefore, it says, Wake up, sleeper!<sup>1</sup> Get up from the dead,<sup>m</sup> and Christ will shine on you.<sup>n</sup>

Be filled with the Spirit

<sup>15</sup>So be careful to live your life wisely, not foolishly. <sup>16</sup>Take advantage of every opportunity because these are evil times. <sup>17</sup>Because of this, don't be ignorant, but understand the Lord's will. <sup>18</sup>Don't get drunk on wine, which produces depravity. Instead, be filled with the Spirit in the following ways: <sup>19</sup>speak to each other with psalms, hymns, and spiritual songs; sing and make music to the Lord in your hearts; <sup>20</sup>always give thanks to God the Father for everything in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ; <sup>21</sup>and submit to each other out of respect for Christ. <sup>22</sup>For example, wives should submit to their husbands as if to the Lord. <sup>23</sup>A husband is the head of his wife like Christ is head of the church, that is, the savior of the

The Household Code Paul gives instructions to various family members in Ephesians 5:22–6:9. The sets of relationships among the family members made up a household in the ancient world. Paul is doing something a little different here than just talking about how families should operate. In the ancient world philosophers would talk about the ideal society by discussing the basic unit that made up societies. That was the household, made up of a patriarch and his wife, their children, and all the household slaves. In ancient thought the patriarch ruled his household in such a way that his wife furthered his public reputation, his children were controlled and regarded as less than fully human, and his slaves were seen as being subhuman. This was a system that served the patriarch. Paul's instruction assumes the same form (husband and wife, parents and children, masters and slaves), but differs in important ways. Paul uses the household unit to talk about how the church (God's ideal society) is supposed to operate. In contrast to ancient thinkers, Paul addresses the weaker member of each pair first, indicating that the church includes and serves all its members, not just one person at the top. Each member has dignity and a role to play. No one is to be controlled or manipulated. Husbands must love their wives, parents must treat their children with dignity, and masters and slaves are both responsible to the Lord Christ. Paul doesn't overthrow ancient social structures, and he doesn't call for slaves to be freed. But his instruction to treat slaves with dignity as equals probably paved the way for the eventual elimination of this dehumanizing practice.

to the conduct of the church gathering. Believing communities should focus on praising God and giving thanks rather than on destructive talk that doesn't build up community life.

5:6 stupid ideas: Paul said in Ephesians 5:5 that destructive behaviors will lead to judgment. The stupid ideas here are those that lead Christians to believe that this isn't the case. What is stupid is the notion that a person can live in a destructive pattern of behavior and doing so won't have any consequences.

5:14 revealed: When a community that practices goodness and justice comes into contact with people who behave destructively, the community's behavior is shown for what it truly is. The hope, then, is that the people who behave destructively will be exposed by the light and transformed to become part of the community that is light—the believing and renewed community.

5:17 Lord's will: The church is to live out the Lord's will, which is that people trapped in destructive behaviors will turn and join communities of goodness and justice. The Lord's will is that creation will be renewed, and this should be seen in renewed communities. Churches need to live in view of this will, finding out how that should look in each location that reads this letter.

5:18 following ways: In Ephesians 5:19-21 Paul sketches actions that indicate how churches show they are places on earth where God dwells by the Spirit. This includes everyone "submit[ting] to each other" (5:21).

body. <sup>24</sup>So wives submit to their husbands in everything like the church submits to Christ. <sup>25</sup>As for husbands, love your wives just like Christ loved the church and gave himself for her. <sup>26</sup>He did this to make her holy by washing her in a bath of water with the word. <sup>27</sup>He did this to present himself with a splendid church, one without any sort of stain or wrinkle on her clothes, but rather one that is holy and blameless. <sup>28</sup>That's how husbands ought to love their wives—in the same way as they do their own bodies. Anyone who loves his wife loves himself. <sup>29</sup>No one ever hates his own body, but feeds it and takes care of it just like Christ does for the church <sup>30</sup>because we are parts of his body. <sup>31</sup>This is why a man will leave his father and mother and be united with his wife, and the two of them will be one body. <sup>32</sup>Marriage is a significant allegory,<sup>o</sup> and I'm applying it to Christ and the church. <sup>33</sup>In any case, as for you individually, each one of you should love his wife as himself, and wives should respect<sup>q</sup> their husbands.

6As for children, obey your parents in the Lord, because it is right. <sup>2</sup>The commandment Honor your father and mother is the first one with a promise attached: <sup>3</sup>so that things will go well for you, and you will live for a long time in the land.<sup>r</sup> <sup>4</sup>As for parents, don't provoke your children to anger, but raise them with discipline and instruction about the Lord.

<sup>5</sup>As for slaves, obey your human masters with fear and trembling and with sincere devotion to Christ. <sup>6</sup>Don't work to make yourself look good and try to flatter people, but act like slaves of Christ carrying out God's will from the heart. <sup>7</sup>Serve your owners enthusiastically, as though you were serving the Lord and not human beings. <sup>8</sup>You know that the Lord will reward every person who does what is right, whether that person is a slave or a free person. <sup>9</sup>As for masters, treat your slaves in the same way. Stop threatening them, because you know that both you and your slaves have a master in heaven. He doesn't distinguish between people on the basis of status.

Put on the armor of God

<sup>10</sup>Finally, be strengthened by the Lord and his powerful strength. <sup>11</sup>Put on God's armor so that you can make a stand against the tricks of the devil. <sup>12</sup>We aren't fighting against human enemies but against rulers, authorities, forces of cosmic darkness, and spiritual powers of evil in the heavens. <sup>13</sup>Therefore, pick up the full armor of God so that you can stand your ground on the evil day and after you have done everything possible to still stand. <sup>14</sup>So stand with the belt of truth around your waist, justice as your breastplate, <sup>15</sup>and put shoes on your feet so that you are ready to spread the good news of peace. <sup>16</sup>Above all, carry the shield of faith so that you can extinguish the flaming arrows of the evil one. <sup>17</sup>Take the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is God's word.

<sup>18</sup>Offer prayers and petitions in the Spirit all the time. Stay alert by hanging in there and praying for all believers. <sup>19</sup>As for me, pray that when I open my mouth, I'll get a message that confidently makes this secret plan<sup>o</sup> of the gospel known. <sup>20</sup>I'm an ambassador in chains for the sake of the gospel. Pray so that the Lord will give me the confidence to say what I have to say.

5:25 husbands...wives: See sidebar, "The Household Code." Husbands and wives related to one another in the ancient world in ways that weren't equal. Paul's instruction here calls for greater justice in this standard relationship.

6:9 slaves in the same way: Paul doesn't call for masters to free their slaves, but his instruction is still radical in the ancient world. Masters are to realize that they will give an account to God for how they treat their slaves. They are to relate to their slaves in the same way as slaves are to relate to their masters. Although Paul's words used to be used to support the practice of slavery, they are, in fact, instruction that lays the groundwork for the eventual elimination of slavery.

6:11 the devil: Paul sees the devil as God's spiritual enemy, and his tricks are to tempt the church to live in destructive patterns of communal behavior so that the church is unjust, lacks goodness, and doesn't do anything to bless the surrounding culture.

6:13 armor of God: These are virtuous practices the church should cultivate, such as justice, peacemaking, righteousness, and faithfulness. Living in these ways is a way of putting on God's armor, which protects local communities of Jesus-followers.

Final greeting

<sup>21</sup>Tychicus, my loved brother and faithful servant of the Lord, can inform you about my situation and what I'm doing. <sup>22</sup>I've sent him for this reason—so that you will know about us. He can reassure you.

<sup>23</sup>May there be peace with the brothers and sisters as well as love with the faith that comes from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>24</sup>May grace be with all those who love our Lord Jesus Christ forever.

6:21 Tychicus: He was likely a ministry partner of Paul who carried this letter and read it aloud to various church communities around Asia Minor, including Ephesus. He could have helped explain anything in the letter that was unclear and answer any questions about Paul's condition while in prison.

PHILIPPIANS

PHILIPPIANS: THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE PHILIPPIANS

APRIL 1

Paul writes Philippians from prison (Phil 1:7, 13-19). He's to appear in court soon to face the charges against him. While the verdict could lead to execution, he expects he'll be released (Phil 1:24-26). According to Acts, Paul was in prison in Rome at the end of his life and in Caesarea just before that. He was in prison in other places, too, because he says in another letter that he's been in prison multiple times (2 Cor 11:23-27, 30-33). Since he lived in Ephesus for a few years, that may be one of the places he was imprisoned. If Philippians was written from Ephesus, it could have been written as early as 55 CE. Otherwise, it was written between 57 and 62 (the likely date of Paul's death), probably from Rome. So the letter comes from the later years of his ministry.

Philippians is known for its emphasis on joy. This joy or gladness isn't just happiness of the moment. It's a confident disposition rooted in hope. It shows trust in God's faithfulness to preserve believers for salvation. Believers have this gladness because they know that having problems, or even enduring harassment, doesn't mean God has deserted them. This joy helps the Philippians overcome fear and put aside their quarrels. Because of his confidence in God, Paul is able to put aside his personal needs and wants, even to suffer or to die, for their benefit—and to maintain Christian joy while doing it (Phil 2:17-18). Paul calls the Philippians to be glad about his suffering for them, because of the salvation they share. So this gladness is a steady and hopeful disposition that shapes believers' lives as they rely on God's love for their salvation.

Even more central than its emphasis on joy is the letter's focus on problems in the Philippian church. Paul gives instructions about a dispute between two church leaders, likely the leaders of different house churches in Philippi. Paul doesn't mention the problem directly until Philippians 4:2-3, where he calls these women by name and urges them to resolve their differences. Knowing that this dispute is disturbing the church, however, sheds a different light on Paul's calls for the Philippians to be united and to agree with each other (Phil 2:1-4). His mention of people who want to make his life difficult (Phil 1:15-17) shows that he knows what he's asking when he encourages them to get along.

In addition, the Philippian church faces harassment. Like other early churches, they need help understanding why. Paul's discussion of his imprisonment both comforts them about his conditions and helps them think about the harassment they're experiencing. Paul's hardships show that such difficulties don't mean that God is angry. Instead, believers should expect this kind of treatment from those who reject the gospel. Paul is also worried that teachers who require non-Jewish church members to be circumcised will visit Philippi. He warns against this teaching by assuring the Philippians that they receive the fullness of God's blessings through faith in Christ.

The letter serves a very practical purpose as well: Paul thanks the church for sending money to support him and his ministry. He describes this gift as participation in the proclamation of the gospel, borrowing the language Leviticus uses to speak of sacrifices in the temple (Phil 4:17-18). Their gift to him is an offering to God.

One of the outstanding features of Philippians is the hymn-like passage in Philippians 2:6-11. This text was in use, probably even in Philippi, before Paul inserted it into this letter. It reveals something of what the early church confessed about Christ. These verses acknowledge his preexistence, his coming to earth, and his dying in obedience to God. They also proclaim that God has given Christ authority over all things. From this position, Christ is the source of salvation.

Paul doesn't use this hymn-like piece to teach something new about Christ but to encourage the Philippians to follow Christ's example of putting others before themselves (Phil 2:3-5). This encouraging word is the primary ethical message of Paul's letter to the Philippians. Putting the good of others before their own is the central way that Paul calls them to achieve unity. He presents Timothy and Epaphroditus as people who imitate Christ by putting others' needs first (Phil 2:19-30). They're examples for the Philippians to emulate. Paul's an example, too, because he willingly endures suffering for their good (Phil 1:23-26). Much of Philippians, then, is an appeal for the readers to imitate Christ by putting the good of others above themselves so that the church can live in unity.

I. Introduction (1:1-11)

- A. Greeting (1:1-2)
- B. Thanksgiving and prayer (1:3-11)

II. Body (1:12-4:20)

- A. Paul's imprisonment and its consequences (1:12-26)
- B. Call to follow Christ's example (1:27-2:18)
  - 1. The church's life must be shaped by the salvation they have received (1:27-30)
  - 2. Call for unity (2:1-5)
  - 3. The story of Christ's work (2:6-11)
  - 4. Call to follow Christ's example in their relations with one another (2:12-18)

C. Good and bad examples of imitating Christ (2:19-3:16)

- 1. Timothy and Epaphroditus, examples to imitate (2:19-30)
- 2. Those who demand circumcision, an example to avoid (3:1-16)
- D. Calls to living the Christian life (3:17-4:9)
  - 1. Call to imitate the faithful (3:17-4:1)
  - 2. Appeal for unity between leaders (4:2-3)
  - 3. Appeal for preparedness and virtue (4:4-9)
- E. Thanking the Philippians for their gift (4:10-20)

III. Closing Greetings (4:21-23)

Greeting

1 From Paul and Timothy, slaves of Christ Jesus.
 1 To all those in Philippi who are God's people in Christ Jesus, along with your supervisors<sup>a</sup> and servants.<sup>b</sup>
 2 May the grace and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

Thanksgiving and prayer

3 I thank my God every time I mention you in my prayers. 4 I'm thankful for all of you every time I pray, and it's always a prayer full of joy. 5 I'm glad because of the way you have been my partners in the ministry of the gospel from the time you first believed it until now. 6 I'm sure about this: the one who started a good work in you will stay with you to complete the job by the day of Christ Jesus. 7 I have good reason to think this way about all of you because I keep you in my heart. You are all my partners in God's grace, both during my time in prison and in the defense and support of the gospel. 8 God is my witness that I feel affection for all of you with the compassion of Christ Jesus.

9 This is my prayer: that your love might become even more and more rich with knowledge and all kinds of insight. 10 I pray this so that you will be able to decide what really matters and so you will be sincere and blameless on the day of Christ. 11 I pray that you will then be filled with the fruit of righteousness, which comes from Jesus Christ, in order to give glory and praise to God.

Priority of the gospel

12 Brothers and sisters, I want you to know that the things that have happened to me have actually advanced the gospel. 13 The whole Praetorian Guard and everyone else knows that I'm in prison for Christ. 14 Most of the brothers and sisters have had more confidence through the Lord to speak the word boldly and bravely because of my jail time. 15 Some certainly preach Christ with jealous and competitive motives, but others preach with good motives. 16 They are motivated by love, because they know that I'm put here to give a defense of the gospel; 17 the others preach Christ because of their selfish ambition. They are insincere, hoping to cause me more pain while I'm in prison.

18 What do I think about this? Just this: since Christ is proclaimed in every possible way, whether from dishonest or true motives, I'm glad and I'll continue to be glad. 19 I'm glad because I know that this will result in my release through your prayers and the help of the

1:1 slaves: Paul sometimes identifies himself as a slave of Christ (Rom 1:1; Gal 1:10) and sometimes of his congregations (2 Cor 4:5). God's people: or "holy ones," a title Paul often uses for Christians. supervisors and servants: church leaders.

1:5 my partners in the ministry: refers primarily to their financial contributions to support his mission work (see 1:7), but also encompasses wider support of Paul, including their love and prayers for him.

1:6 day of Christ Jesus: the end of time with the final judgment.

1:7 because I keep you in my heart: The CEB translation credits Paul's care for them as the reason for his certainty. Alternatively, the original Greek can be translated so that the parties are reversed: "because you have me in your heart." The alternative shifts the focus to the way the Philippians remember Paul. my time in prison: Paul has been imprisoned several times for his preaching (see 2 Cor 11:23-27, 30-33).

1:8 God is my witness: a solemn promise to emphasize the statement. with the compassion of Christ: Throughout Philippians, Paul uses examples as instruction on how they should live (see intro.). He follows the example of Christ's compassion in the way he loves the Philippians; just as Christ was moved to accept disadvantage for others (see Phil 2:6-7), so Paul loves the Philippians so much that he's willing to suffer for their good. Paul wants them to follow this example in the ways they relate to each other.

1:10 decide what really matters: the ability to discern God's will. day of Christ: See Philippians 1:6.

1:11 to give glory and praise to God: The ultimate purpose of their salvation is to give glory to God.

1:12-14 Surprisingly, rather than hindering Paul's spread of the gospel, his imprisonment has caused the word to spread more widely.

1:13 Praetorian Guard: an elite group under the command of the emperor that served as his bodyguards. They were present only where there were imperial palaces and provincial governors.

1:15-20 Differing reactions to Paul's imprisonment.

1:15 jealous and competitive motives: Some missionaries teach the same things Paul does, but they dislike him and see themselves in competition with him for church members.

1:18 whether from dishonest or true motives: Paul's attention is on the result of the proclamation rather than the motives of the preachers. The spread of the gospel is more important than what other preachers think of him or whether their intentions are pure. I'm glad: Paul's joy as a Christian is strengthened when the gospel brings

Spirit of Jesus Christ. <sup>20</sup>It is my expectation and hope that I won't be put to shame in anything. Rather, I hope with daring courage that Christ's greatness will be seen in my body, now as always, whether I live or die. <sup>21</sup>Because for me, living serves Christ and dying is even better. <sup>22</sup>If I continue to live in this world, I get results from my work. <sup>23</sup>But I don't know what I prefer. I'm torn between the two because I want to leave this life and be with Christ, which is far better. <sup>24</sup>However, it's more important for me to stay in this world for your sake. <sup>25</sup>I'm sure of this: I will stay alive and remain with all of you to help your progress and the joy of your faith, <sup>26</sup>and to increase your pride in Christ Jesus through my presence when I visit you again.

Live worthy of the gospel

<sup>27</sup>Most important, live together in a manner worthy of Christ's gospel. Do this, whether I come and see you or I'm absent and hear about you. Do this so that you stand firm, united in one spirit and mind as you struggle together to remain faithful to the gospel. <sup>28</sup>That way, you won't be afraid of anything your enemies do. Your faithfulness and courage are a sign of their coming destruction and your salvation, which is from God. <sup>29</sup>God has generously granted you the privilege, not only of believing in Christ but also of suffering for Christ's sake. <sup>30</sup>You are having the same struggle that you saw me face and now hear that I'm still facing.

Imitate Christ

2Therefore, if there is any encouragement in Christ, any comfort in love, any sharing in the Spirit, any sympathy, <sup>2</sup>complete my joy by thinking the same way, having the same love, being united, and agreeing with each other. <sup>3</sup>Don't do anything for selfish purposes, but with humility think of others as better than yourselves. <sup>4</sup>Instead of each person watching out for their own good, watch out for what is better for others. <sup>5</sup>Adopt the attitude that was in Christ Jesus:

<sup>6</sup>Though he was in the form of God, he did not consider being equal with God something to exploit.

<sup>7</sup>But he emptied himself by taking the form of a slave and by becoming like human beings.

salvation to more people, even if those who preach have bad motives.

1:20 I won't be put to shame: He won't deny his faith under pressure. whether I live or die: Paul thinks about his death. At this time, he doesn't think he'll live until Christ's second coming.

1:21-26 Paul chooses to continue living for the good of the Philippians. He seems to think he can influence the outcome of his trial. His comments about the end of his life recall those of ancient philosophers who discussed whether a life of suffering was better than dying. Paul determines that if he can help others live a proper life he should remain alive.

1:23 leave this life and be with Christ: to die. Paul envisions being immediately in the presence of Christ after death.

1:25 to help your progress: Paul chooses to remain alive in order to strengthen the Philippians' faith.

1:26 when I visit you again: Paul assumes he'll be released from prison if he isn't executed.

1:27-30 The church's life must conform to the example of Christ.

1:27 live together in a manner worthy of Christ's gospel: The phrase "live together" is drawn from the noun that means "citizen." Paul calls them to live as citizens of Christ's realm rather than as Roman citizens. united in one spirit and mind: Paul calls them to cease their inner-church disputes (see Phil 4:2-3). to remain faithful: One goal of unity is to help them maintain their faith in the face of harassment.

1:28 your enemies: the non-Christians who are harassing them. Such harassment usually involved treating Christians as social outcasts or refusing to do business with them, rather than imprisonment or execution.

1:29 the privilege... of suffering for Christ's sake: Harassment isn't a sign that God is unhappy; rather, such suffering is the result of being faithful.

1:30 the same struggle that you saw me face: Paul's harassment confirms that this kind of suffering comes because a believer is faithful, not as a punishment.

2:1-5 A call for unity and harmony in the church. if there is any: The word "if" doesn't express doubt but means "since." The blessings listed here serve as the basis for the church's unity.

2:2 complete my joy: Paul's experience of the blessings given through Christ grows when he sees the church follow Christ's example by working for others instead of for themselves. thinking the same way... being united, and agreeing: These terms are taken from the political context, where they were used to call citizens to come together for the common good.

2:4 watch out for what is better for others: the central message of Philippians. Christians are to work for the good of others rather than putting their own good first. The following discussions of Christ, Paul, and other Christians provide examples of those who have put the good of others ahead of their own.

2:5 Adopt the attitude... Jesus: This verse introduces the confession of Philippians 2:6-11 and calls readers to follow the example of Jesus seen in those verses.

2:6-11 The church was already familiar with this hymn-like confession before Paul wrote it in his letter. The hymn

When he found himself in the form of a human,

<sup>8</sup> he humbled himself by becoming obedient to the point of death, even death on a cross.

<sup>9</sup> Therefore, God highly honored him and gave him a name above all names,

<sup>10</sup> so that at the name of Jesus everyone in heaven, on earth, and under the earth might bow

<sup>11</sup> and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Carry out your salvation

<sup>12</sup> Therefore, my loved ones, just as you always obey me, not just when I am present but now even more while I am away, carry out your own salvation with fear and trembling.

<sup>13</sup> God is the one who enables you both to want and to actually live out his good purposes. <sup>14</sup> Do everything without grumbling and arguing <sup>15</sup> so that you may be blameless and pure, innocent children of God surrounded by people who are crooked and corrupt. Among these people you shine like stars in the world <sup>16</sup> because you hold on to the word of life. This will allow me to say on the day of Christ that I haven't run for nothing or worked for nothing. <sup>17</sup> But even if I am poured out like a drink offering upon the altar of service for your faith, I am glad. I'm glad with all of you. <sup>18</sup> You should be glad about this in the same way. Be glad with me!

Sending Timothy and Epaphroditus

<sup>19</sup> I hope in the Lord Jesus to send Timothy to see you soon so that I may be encouraged by hearing about you. <sup>20</sup> I have no one like him. He is a person who genuinely cares about your well-being. <sup>21</sup> All the others put their own business ahead of Jesus Christ's business. <sup>22</sup> You know his character, how he labors with me for the gospel like a son works with his father.

traces the work of Christ from his preexistence to his resurrection and exaltation.

2:6 in the form of God: The preexistent Christ shared God's glory. something to exploit: Instead of using his position to gain things for himself, Christ used it to give to others.

2:7 emptied himself: Christ himself chooses to give up his place of honor. form of a slave... human beings: Christ's status before the incarnation was so high that becoming human is compared here to accepting the position of a slave.

2:8 becoming obedient: While Christ chose to give himself, that decision was made in obedience to God's will. even death on a cross: shows the extreme that Christ was willing to endure to obey God and bring salvation.

2:9 God highly honored him: God's response to Christ's obedience. name above all names: has the highest status, position, and influence.

2:10 everyone... might bow: All beings in all regions of the universe are to submit to Christ's authority.

2:11 confess... Christ is Lord: All must acknowledge Christ's power and position. to the glory of God: The ultimate goal of the work of Christ is to bring honor to God.

2:12-18 An appeal to imitate Christ's example in their relations with each other.

2:12 carry out your own salvation: Live in a way that reflects the grace and salvation you receive through Christ. with fear and trembling: Believers face God's evaluation, even though their salvation is from God.

Worship and Christology Poetic rhythm sets Philippians 2:6-11 apart as one of our earliest examples of the church's worship. This passage, which is perhaps a hymn, shows that the early Pauline churches understood Christ to be a preexistent being who was obedient to God. His extreme obedience and humiliation are seen in his death on the cross. God responds to that obedience by exalting Christ to the highest position in the universe. There Christ defeats the powers of evil and is in a position to grant salvation to those who have faith in him. Paul quotes this worship text to remind the Philippians of Christ's willingness to accept disadvantage for the good of others and to set up Christ as the example of the way they should relate to one another.

PHILIPPIANS 2:22

2:13 God... enables you: God enables believers to live as they should. to want and to actually live: God helps believers change both what they desire and how they live.

2:14 without grumbling: Paul compares the disputes in the church with the grumbling Israelites in the desert (Exod 16:2, 7-8; Num 18:5).

2:15 innocent children... surrounded by... crooked and corrupt: a dramatic contrast between those who have faith and those who don't.

2:16 word of life: the gospel. day of Christ: See Philippians 1:6.

2:17 drink offering... for your faith: Paul's willing to die for God in order to strengthen their faith. I am glad: because they are children of God, and maybe because Paul's able to imitate Christ by putting their good above his own.

2:18 be glad about this: Paul wants the Philippians to celebrate their identity as children of God and to recognize that the blessings they receive as God's children are a cause for joy, even if the blessings come at the expense of Paul's suffering.

2:19-30 Examples of people who imitate Christ by putting the good of others above their own.

2:19 Timothy: a regular missionary companion of Paul and named as the cowriter of this letter (Phil 1:1).

2:21 others put their own business ahead: Timothy is their example because he doesn't do this.

<sup>23</sup>So he is the one that I hope to send as soon as I find out how things turn out here for me.

<sup>24</sup>I trust in the Lord that I also will visit you soon.

<sup>25</sup>I think it is also necessary to send Epaphroditus to you. He is my brother, coworker, and fellow soldier; and he is your representative who serves my needs. <sup>26</sup>He misses you all, and he was upset because you heard he was sick. <sup>27</sup>In fact, he was so sick that he nearly died. But God had mercy on him—and not just on him but also on me, because his death would have caused me great sorrow. <sup>28</sup>Therefore, I am sending him immediately so that when you see him again you can be glad and I won't worry. <sup>29</sup>So welcome him in the Lord with great joy and show great respect for people like him. <sup>30</sup>He risked his life and almost died for the work of Christ, and he did this to make up for the help you couldn't give me.

Values and priorities

3 So then, my brothers and sisters, be glad in the Lord. It's no trouble for me to repeat the same things to you because they will help keep you on track. <sup>2</sup>Watch out for the "dogs." Watch out for people who do evil things. Watch out for those who insist on circumcision, which is really mutilation. <sup>3</sup>We are the circumcision. We are the ones who serve by God's Spirit and who boast in Christ Jesus. We don't put our confidence in rituals performed on the body, <sup>4</sup>though I have good reason to have this kind of confidence. If anyone else has reason to put their confidence in physical advantages, I have even more:

<sup>5</sup>I was circumcised on the eighth day.

I am from the people of Israel and the tribe of Benjamin.

I am a Hebrew of the Hebrews.

With respect to observing the Law, I'm a Pharisee.

<sup>6</sup>With respect to devotion to the faith, I harassed the church.

With respect to righteousness under the Law, I'm blameless.

<sup>7</sup>These things were my assets, but I wrote them off as a loss for the sake of Christ. <sup>8</sup>But even beyond that, I consider everything a loss in comparison with the superior value of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord. I have lost everything for him, but what I lost I think of as sewer trash, so that I might gain Christ <sup>9</sup>and be found in him. In Christ I have a righteousness that is not my own and that does not come from the Law but rather from the

Paul and Judaism Paul, who was born a Jew and remained one his entire life, lists the benefits he sees of being a Jew (Phil 3:5-6). He counts his covenant relationship with God and his keeping of the Law as real advantages. While these former things were indeed genuine assets to him (Phil 3:7), Paul has found a fuller way to be related to God. With his relationship with God now founded on Christ instead of on the Mosaic Law, Paul knows that nothing is as valuable as what he receives from Christ. Paul isn't opposed to Jewish Christians who continue to keep the Law. Rather, his reaction to "the dogs" (Phil 3:2) is against those who require non-Jewish church members to keep the Law in the same way Jews do. He argues that non-Jews experience a full relationship with God without adopting those elements of the Law that were intended only for Jews.

3:5 eighth day: the traditional day for Jewish babies to be circumcised. Hebrew of the Hebrews: All the things Paul claims in this verse are proof that he is thoroughly and fully Jewish.

3:6 righteousness under the Law: Paul observed the Jewish Law fully.

3:7 my assets: His Jewish descent and faithfulness to the Law are valuable and good. loss for the sake of Christ: Paul gave up these goods as primary identity markers to be identified by his faith in Christ.

3:8 superior value of knowing Christ: Nothing is as valuable as what one receives through Christ. sewer trash: Paul uses strong language to compare everything else to the blessings he receives in Christ.

3:9 the faithfulness of Christ: Christ's firm obedience to God's will in his incarnation, ministry, and death. Christ's faithfulness is the basis of Paul's relationship with God. righteousness . . . based on faith: Paul trusts, puts his faith in, God to identify him with the faithfulness of Christ and so grant him right relationship and salvation.

2:25-30 The second example of imitating Christ.

2:25 Epaphroditus: a member of the Philippian church, perhaps the same person as Epaphras (Phlm 23). coworker, and fellow soldier: He served as a minister in Paul's mission work. serves my needs: Epaphroditus brought a gift from the Philippians.

2:30 help you couldn't give me: The Philippians couldn't help because Paul isn't in Philippi.

3:1-11 Paul cites an example of not imitating Christ.

3:1 brothers and sisters: Paul includes all members of the church. be glad in the Lord: Even in the face of false teaching that threatens the church, Paul calls the church to stay joyful as they remember God's blessings.

3:2 "dogs": This insulting term refers to people who require Gentile church members to become fully Jewish in order to be full members of the church. circumcision: the sign that a man has converted to Judaism. Paul sees it as mutilation only if non-Jews receive it with that meaning.

3:3 We are the circumcision: Paul claims that believers in Christ are now God's people.

faithfulness of Christ. It is the righteousness of God that is based on faith. <sup>10</sup>The righteousness that I have comes from knowing Christ, the power of his resurrection, and the participation in his sufferings. It includes being conformed to his death <sup>11</sup>so that I may perhaps reach the goal of the resurrection of the dead.

<sup>12</sup>It's not that I have already reached this goal or have already been perfected, but I pursue it, so that I may grab hold of it because Christ grabbed hold of me for just this purpose. <sup>13</sup>Brothers and sisters, I myself don't think I've reached it, but I do this one thing: I forget about the things behind me and reach out for the things ahead of me. <sup>14</sup>The goal I pursue is the prize of God's upward call in Christ Jesus. <sup>15</sup>So all of us who are spiritually mature should think this way, and if anyone thinks differently, God will reveal it to him or her. <sup>16</sup>Only let's live in a way that is consistent with whatever level we have reached.

Imitate Paul

<sup>17</sup>Brothers and sisters, become imitators of me and watch those who live this way—you can use us as models. <sup>18</sup>As I have told you many times and now say with deep sadness, many people live as enemies of the cross. <sup>19</sup>Their lives end with destruction. Their god is their stomach, and they take pride in their disgrace because their thoughts focus on earthly things. <sup>20</sup>Our citizenship is in heaven. We look forward to a savior that comes from there—the Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>21</sup>He will transform our humble bodies so that they are like his glorious body, by the power that also makes him able to subject all things to himself.

Stand firm in the Lord

4 Therefore, my brothers and sisters whom I love and miss, who are my joy and crown, stand firm in the Lord.

Loved ones, <sup>21</sup>I urge Euodia and I urge Syntyche to come to an agreement in the Lord. <sup>3</sup>Yes, and I'm also asking you, loyal friend, to help these women who have struggled together with me in the ministry of the gospel, along with Clement and the rest of my coworkers whose names are in the scroll of life.

<sup>4</sup>Be glad in the Lord always! Again I say, be glad! <sup>5</sup>Let your gentleness show in your treatment of all people. The Lord is near. <sup>6</sup>Don't be anxious about anything; rather, bring up all of your requests to God in your prayers and petitions, along with giving thanks. <sup>7</sup>Then the peace of God that exceeds all understanding will keep your hearts and minds safe in Christ Jesus.

<sup>8</sup>From now on, brothers and sisters, if anything is excellent and if anything is admirable, focus your thoughts on these things: all that is true, all that is holy, all that is just, all that is pure, all that is lovely, and all that is worthy of praise. <sup>9</sup>Practice these things: whatever you learned, received, heard, or saw in us. The God of peace will be with you.

3:10 participation in his sufferings: Believers can expect to suffer for their faith because they reject the values of the dominant culture. conformed to his death: The acceptance of disadvantage in order to be faithful is a way of imitating Christ's willingness to die in obedience to God.

3:12-16 Striving to live for God.

3:12 this goal: The goal is knowing Christ fully and the blessings that come through him. been perfected: or "become mature." Paul's still growing in his faith. Christ grabbed... me: Paul strives to know Christ because Christ initiated their relationship.

3:13 the things ahead: his deepening experience of knowing Christ, including the resurrection.

3:14 upward call: a call that has God as its source or that invites Paul to life with God.

3:17-4:1 A call to imitate the faithful.

3:17 become imitators: In Philippians imitation is a central way of learning how to live the Christian life. those who live this way: Christians other than Paul are also models of how to live the Christian life.

3:18 enemies of the cross: nonbelievers who oppose the church.

3:19 Their god is their stomach: an image for people who are self-centered and reject the gospel and Christ's example.

3:20-21 Our citizenship is in heaven: The true home of Christians is where the values of the gospel govern life. like his glorious body: The resurrected body of Christians will be like Christ's resurrected body. the power that also makes him able: Christ's power continues to come from God.

4:1 stand firm: remain faithful because of the promise of the resurrection.

4:2-9 Paul appeals for unity, preparedness, and virtue.

4:2 Euodia and... Syntyche: two women who are leaders in Philippian churches. We don't know what their dispute is about, but it's causing trouble in the church.

4:3 these women... in the ministry: They serve in ministry roles in Paul's mission efforts. Clement: an otherwise unknown associate of Paul.

4:9 saw in us: a return to the theme of imitation as a way to learn the Christian life.

Paul's thanks for gifts

<sup>10</sup>I was very glad in the Lord because now at last you have shown concern for me again. (Of course you were always concerned but had no way to show it.) <sup>11</sup>I'm not saying this because I need anything, for I have learned how to be content in any circumstance. <sup>12</sup>I know the experience of being in need and of having more than enough; I have learned the secret to being content in any and every circumstance, whether full or hungry or whether having plenty or being poor. <sup>13</sup>I can endure all these things through the power of the one who gives me strength. <sup>14</sup>Still, you have done well to share my distress.

<sup>15</sup>You Philippians know from the time of my first mission work in Macedonia how no church shared in supporting my ministry except you. <sup>16</sup>You sent contributions repeatedly to take care of my needs even while I was in Thessalonica. <sup>17</sup>I'm not hoping for a gift, but I am hoping for a profit that accumulates in your account. <sup>18</sup>I now have plenty and it is more than enough. I am full to overflowing because I received the gifts that you sent from Epaphroditus. Those gifts give off a fragrant aroma, an acceptable sacrifice that pleases God. <sup>19</sup>My God will meet your every need out of his riches in the glory that is found in Christ Jesus. <sup>20</sup>Let glory be given to God our Father forever and always. Amen.

Final greeting

<sup>21</sup>Greet all God's people in Christ Jesus. The brothers and sisters with me send you their greeting. <sup>22</sup>All God's people here, especially those in Caesar's household, send you their greeting. <sup>23</sup>The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirits.

4:10-20 Paul thanks the Philippians for their financial support of his mission.

4:13 endure all these things: Paul retains his faith in spite of the hardships he encounters in his ministry. power . . . gives me strength: Paul doesn't maintain his faith through his own willpower; God enables his faithfulness. 4:15 Macedonia: the region in northern Greece that includes Philippi. no church . . . except you: Paul didn't accept support from a church while on his founding visit, and then he accepted support only from churches who wouldn't misunderstand what support meant for the relationship between apostle and congregation. Financial support symbolizes a partnership in Paul's mission. It shouldn't mean that Paul owes the Philippians anything.

4:18 Epaphroditus: See 2:25. fragrant aroma, an acceptable sacrifice: Paul uses the language of offering a sacrifice at the temple to describe their contribution to his mission (Lev 1:9, 13, 17; 2:20).

4:21-23 Ancient letters often close with greetings to and from people known to the writer and the recipients.

4:21 God's people: See Philippians 1:1. brothers and sisters: See Philippians 3:1.

4:22 God's people: See Philippians 1:1. Caesar's household: the network of relatives, slaves, and dependents associated with the emperor's family.

COLOSSIANS

THE BIBLE KNOWLEDGE PROJECT

Colossians begins by identifying Paul and Timothy as its authors (Col 1:1) and ends with a reference to Paul's imprisonment (Col 4:18). Thus, the letter has often been grouped with Philemon, Philippians, and Ephesians as a prison letter. Paul would have written these letters during his imprisonment in Rome (Acts 28:16), or possibly during an earlier imprisonment in Ephesus or Caesarea (Acts 24–26). Several factors, however, have caused scholars to question whether Paul is the author. In contrast to other letters bearing Paul's name, Colossians says that the church extends throughout the world (Col 1:18, 24). It depicts Christ as ruler of the earth because of his preexistence (Col 1:16-17), not because of his resurrection (see Rom 1:4). Finally, the believer's resurrection is spoken of as a present reality (Col 3:1) rather than as a future hope (see Rom 6:5, 8).

Colossians shares a good deal of material with Ephesians. Colossians also stands in close proximity to Paul's letter to Philemon. In both,

Paul is in prison, Timothy is a co-sender, and Epaphras, Aristarchus, Demas, Luke, and Onesimus are Paul's current companions.

The city of Colossae is approximately 135 miles east of Ephesus. It's quite close to the city of Laodicea, and Paul anticipates that believers in the two cities will share with each other the letters he writes (Col 4:16). Paul himself has never been to either city (Col 2:1). Epaphras seems to be the person who first preached the gospel in Colossae (Col 1:6-7), and he's with Paul when Colossians is being written (Col 4:12).

Most important for understanding Colossians are the circumstances to which Paul's responding. Colossians 2:8-23 indicates that the Colossians are facing temptation to turn to distinctively Jewish practices, such as circumcision (Col 2:11), food laws (Col 2:16), and sabbath keeping (Col 2:16). Some scholars propose that these verses suggest a form of early Jewish Gnosticism. Gnosticism is a religion that seeks special knowledge in order to escape from this corrupt world.

However, the material in Colossians 2 is better explained by the potential appeal of Judaism to non-Jewish converts to Christianity.

Throughout, the letter demonstrates that Christ is better than all alternative means of salvation. It insists that Christ is enough for salvation: no additional knowledge or special Jewish practices are needed. Christ created the universe and set it free from hostile powers. His story shapes the story of the world and of all the people in it. Those who wish to know the great secret of how God will restore the world need only listen to the openly declared gospel of Christ (Col 2:2). The future hope for the whole universe (Col 1:20), and everyone in it (Col 1:27-28), is known in Christ. Freedom from enslaving powers (Col 1:16) and transformed lives that please God (Col 3:1-17) are known only in Christ. The death and resurrection of Christ decide the fate of the universe.

  - 3. A community living the life of Christ (3:12-17)
  - 4. Household life in the Lord (3:18-4:1)
  - 5. Speaking to God and to others (4:2-6)

IV. Greetings and Blessings (4:7-18)

J. R. Daniel Kirk

Greeting

1 From Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by God's will, and Timothy our brother.
2 To the holy and faithful brothers and sisters in Christ in Colossae.
 Grace and peace to you from God our Father.

Thanksgiving and prayer for the Colossians

3 We always give thanks to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, when we pray for you. 4 We've done this since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus and your love for all God's people. 5 You have this faith and love because of the hope reserved for you in heaven. You previously heard about this hope through the true message, the good news, 6 which has come to you. This message has been bearing fruit and growing among you since the day you heard and truly understood God's grace, in the same way that it is bearing fruit and growing in the whole world. 7 You learned it from Epaphras, who is the fellow slave we love and Christ's faithful minister for your sake. 8 He informed us of your love in the Spirit.

9 Because of this, since the day we heard about you, we haven't stopped praying for you and asking for you to be filled with the knowledge of God's will, with all wisdom and spiritual understanding. 10 We're praying this so that you can live lives that are worthy of the Lord and pleasing to him in every way: by producing fruit in every good work and growing in the knowledge of God; 11 by being strengthened through his glorious might so that you endure everything and have patience; 12 and by giving thanks with joy to the Father. He made it so you could take part in the inheritance, in light granted to God's holy people. 13 He rescued us from the control of darkness and transferred us into the kingdom of the Son he loves. 14 He set us free through the Son and forgave our sins.

Hymn about Christ's work

15 The Son is the image of the invisible God, the one who is first over all creation,<sup>a</sup>

16 Because all things were created by him: both in the heavens and on the earth,

<sup>a</sup>Or firstborn of all creation

1:1-2 Writing to a church he neither founded nor visited (see Col 2:1), Paul mentions his unique role as an apostle but focuses on their shared family bonds: God is our Father, and they are all siblings.

1:3-8 A paragraph of thanksgiving like this is a common feature of ancient letters. It can be found in almost all of Paul's letters (e.g., Rom 1:8-12; 1 Cor 1:4-9; Phil 1:3-8).

1:3 Father of our Lord: In Colossians 1:2 Paul called God "our Father." Jesus is the firstborn and oldest brother in God's family (Col 1:15; see Rom 8:29).

1:4-5 faith... love... hope: Receiving the gospel doesn't mean just accepting and believing in Jesus, but also loving God's family and looking forward to God's future action (see 1 Cor 13:13; 1 Thess 1:3).

1:4 in Christ: indicates Christ as the one to whom believers look as well as the place in which Christian life unfolds (see Col 2:20; 3:1). This means that we participate in his story. Christ died to the enslaving powers of the world, and in him Christians die to those powers, too (Col 2:20-23; 3:5-11). Christ is raised up to sit in the presence of God, and this is where Christians are to envision themselves as well (Col 3:1-4). It also means that as Christ is the image of God, so we bear that image now (Col 3:10-11).

1:6 The continuing growth of the Colossians' faith is an important theme of the letter (see Col 2:6-7).

1:9-14 Paul's prayer connects understanding what God wants concerning good works in the world with a patient endurance that looks forward to a future inheritance.

1:10 good work: Across Paul's letters, work is an important part of Christian faith and faithfulness (see 1 Thess 1:3; Rom 1:5).

1:12 Colossians looks forward to a future inheritance (see Rom 8:17). In the OT, God's people understand the land of Israel as their inheritance (e.g., Exod 23:20; Num 34:2; Deut 15:4). Paul transforms this expectation. Now inheritance refers to "the kingdom of the Son" (Col 1:13), in light: God's people don't live under the control of "darkness" (Col 1:13), an image of evil and ignorance. Rather, God's people live in and inherit the Son's kingdom. Light is a metaphor image for knowledge. It indicates that one has what is necessary to walk without stumbling.

1:13-14 Sin is an enslaving debt (see Col 2:14-15). The problem here isn't guilt or wrath, for example, but slavery. Therefore, the solution to sin is liberation.

1:15-20 Probably an early Christian hymn. It uses language for humanity from Genesis 1 to describe the preexistent Christ. Paul reflects on the authority of the preexistent Christ in Colossians 1:15-17, and in Colossians 1:18-20 he celebrates Christ's authority as the first human raised from the dead.

1:15 The OT describes Adam (translated in the CEB as "humanity") as the firstborn of God's children, as the bearer of God's image, and as creation's ruler (see Gen 1:26-27). Here we discover that Jesus comes before Adam as image-bearing, first-born ruler (cf. Wis 7:26). See sidebar, "Christ as New Adam" at Colossians 2.

Paul's service for the church

<sup>24</sup>Now I'm happy to be suffering for you. I'm completing what is missing from Christ's sufferings with my own body. I'm doing this for the sake of his body, which is the church. <sup>25</sup>I became a servant of the church by God's commission, which was given to me for you, in order to complete God's word. <sup>26</sup>I'm completing it with a secret plan<sup>c</sup> that has been hidden for ages and generations but which has now been revealed to his holy people. <sup>27</sup>God wanted to make the glorious riches of this secret plan<sup>d</sup> known among the Gentiles, which is Christ living in you, the hope of glory. <sup>28</sup>This is what we preach as we warn and teach every person with all wisdom so that we might present each one mature in Christ. <sup>29</sup>I work hard and struggle for this goal with his energy, which works in me powerfully.

2I want you to know how much I struggle for you, for those in Laodicea, and for all who haven't known me personally. <sup>2</sup>My goal is that their hearts would be encouraged and in creation. Elsewhere that role belongs to Wisdom (see Prov 8:22-36).

1:19-20 Humans and, in fact, the whole universe were set against God, but now they're restored to peace through Jesus' death. As in Romans 5:18-19, universal language shows that Jesus' saving work reaches everyone (reconciled all things), but people must be united to Christ for his saving death to be applied to them (see Col 1:21-23; 2:10-12).

1:19 fullness: Both God (Jer 23:24) and Wisdom (Wis 1:6-7) fill the earth, showing God's universal presence and supreme power. Here that filling is focused on Christ, who is God's presence and saving, supreme power (see Col 2:9-10).

1:21-22 The reconciling action Paul spoke of in the hymn to Christ (Col 1:15-20) is applied to the Colossians. Those in Christ are no longer under "the control of darkness" (Col 1:14) but are free to walk in a way that pleases God.

1:23 Paul's desire that the Colossians continue in what they learned is a constant theme of this letter (e.g., Col 1:6; 2:7). The good news includes a past act of reconciliation as well as hope for the future. all creation: The breadth of the gospel's proclamation has already equaled the extent of Christ's actions in creation (Col 1:15-16) and redemption (Col 1:20). See Romans 10:18.

1:24 Paul sees his own suffering in ministry as an extension of Christ's work on the cross (see 2 Cor 4:10-12). He's completing, or "filling up," the work of reconciliation by creating communities that share in the reconciliation Christ has already accomplished.

1:25 complete: The "completing" of Christ's afflictions (Col 1:24) has as its goal the completing of God's larger plan to bring everyone into God's family.

1:26-27 secret plan: or, "mystery." This secret has now been made known. It's that God intended all people, both Jews and Gentiles, to receive Christ. Just as God's "fullness" dwells in Christ (Col 1:19), so Christ dwells in all God's people. All anyone could want of God is therefore available to all who are reconciled to God through Christ.

2:1 Paul's struggle[s] (see Col 1:29) aren't merely for the churches he planted. He probably means that he's struggling through prayer (see Col 4:12).

united together in love so that they might have all the riches of assurance that come with understanding, so that they might have the knowledge of the secret plan* of God, namely Christ. <sup>3</sup>All the treasures of wisdom and knowledge are hidden in him. <sup>4</sup>I'm telling you this so that no one deceives you with convincing arguments, <sup>5</sup>because even though I am absent physically, I'm with you in spirit. I'm happy to see the discipline and stability of your faith in Christ.

Error threatening the church

<sup>6</sup>So live in Christ Jesus the Lord in the same way as you received him. <sup>7</sup>Be rooted and built up in him, be established in faith, and overflow with thanksgiving just as you were taught. <sup>8</sup>See to it that nobody enslaves you with philosophy and foolish deception, which conform to human traditions and the way the world thinks and acts rather than Christ. <sup>9</sup>All the fullness of deity lives in Christ's body. <sup>10</sup>And you have been filled by him, who is the head of every ruler and authority. <sup>11</sup>You were also circumcised by him. This wasn't performed by human hands—the whole body was removed through this circumcision by Christ. <sup>12</sup>You were buried with him through baptism and raised with him through faith in the power of God, who raised him from the dead. <sup>13</sup>When you were dead because of the things you had done wrong and because your body wasn't circumcised, God made you alive with Christ and forgave all the things you had done wrong. <sup>14</sup>He destroyed the record of the debt we owed, with its requirements that worked against us. He canceled it by nailing it to the cross. <sup>15</sup>When he disarmed the rulers and authorities, he exposed them to public disgrace by leading them in a triumphal parade.

<sup>16</sup>So don't let anyone judge you about eating or drinking or about a festival, a new moon observance, or sabbaths. <sup>17</sup>These religious practices are only a shadow of what was coming—the body that cast the shadow is Christ. <sup>18</sup>Don't let anyone who wants to practice harsh self-denial and worship angels rob you of the prize. They go into detail about what they have seen in visions and have become unjustifiably arrogant by their selfish way of thinking. <sup>19</sup>They don't stay connected to the head. The head nourishes and supports the whole body through the joints and ligaments, so the body grows with a growth that is from God.

2:2 God's secret plan is Christ. This is why love, not intellectual argument (see Col 2:4), is the way to both assurance and knowledge.

2:3 Because wisdom and knowledge are in Christ, and Christ is in us, we don't need to seek far and wide for God's special knowledge. Nor do we have to turn to ourselves. Instead, we turn to Christ in us and among us.

2:6-7 Rather than turning away from Christ to pursue knowledge elsewhere, Paul encourages the Colossians to continue a life built on faith in Christ that leads to thanksgiving.

2:6 live in Christ Jesus: This begins an extensive section on being in Christ (see sidebar, "Christ as New Adam"), a life that involves both dying and living with Christ.

2:8 traditions: may refer to Jewish traditions the Colossians were considering (see intro).

2:9-10 The Colossians share in the story of Christ, who ruled over all things from the beginning of creation and who rules over them now as the resurrected king (see Col 1:16, 19, 20 and notes for Col 1:16, 19). fullness: See Colossians 1:19 and its note.

2:11-13 Union with Christ happens at baptism (see Rom 6:3-4). Baptism is into Christ's death and resurrection. Therefore, it involves dying to the old humanity's way of life and rising again to the new humanity that Jesus brings (see Col 1:19-22 and notes for Col 1:19-20; 1:21-22).

2:11 circumcision: The Jewish custom of circumcision, the removal of foreskin, is a way of marking God's people and signifying their unity with God. Paul uses circumcision as an expression of being in union with Christ, showing that the Colossians don't need to keep Jewish laws.

2:13-14 Believers are joined to the resurrected Christ and therefore experience God's resurrection power. This power enables them to live faithfully.

2:14-15 Forgiveness of sins brings freedom from hostile, enslaving powers (see Col 1:13-14).

2:14 record of the debt: likely a reference to heavenly books recording what people have done on earth (see Rev 20:12). God wipes clean this record of debt. nailing it to the cross: The certificate of debt itself is nailed. In the crucifixion, Christ's power wasn't destroyed. Instead, those powers that enslave humanity lost their power.

2:15 Victorious Roman generals would lead captives in parade to shame Rome's enemies and show their own glory. The word translated as "disarmed" means to be stripped of everything, even one's clothes. This emphasizes the shame experienced by the defeated enemies. Paul probably thinks this happened at Jesus' resurrection. 2:16 Food laws, sabbath days, and circumcision (see Col 2:11) were the three primary markers of Jewish identity in the ancient world.

2:17 body that cast the shadow: Christ is the true substance of the OT Law, laws that God's people no longer have to keep. The Law looked forward to Christ's work.

2:18-19 Some 1st-century Jews saw their worship as bringing them into heaven. The Colossians, however, should <sup>20</sup>If you died with Christ to the way the world thinks and acts, why do you submit to rules and regulations as though you were living in the world? <sup>21</sup>"Don't handle!" "Don't taste!" "Don't touch!" <sup>22</sup>All these things cease to exist when they are used. Such rules are human commandments and teachings. <sup>23</sup>They look like they are wise with this self-made religion and their self-denial by the harsh treatment of the body, but they are no help against indulging in selfish immoral behavior.

Your life hidden in Christ

3Therefore, if you were raised with Christ, look for the things that are above where Christ is sitting at God's right side. <sup>2</sup>Think about the things above and not things on earth. <sup>3</sup>You died, and your life is hidden with Christ in God. <sup>4</sup>When Christ, who is your life, is revealed, then you also will be revealed with him in glory.

<sup>5</sup>So put to death the parts of your life that belong to the earth, such as sexual immorality, moral corruption, lust, evil desire, and greed (which is idolatry). <sup>6</sup>The wrath of God is coming upon disobedient people because of these things. <sup>7</sup>You used to live this way, when you were alive to these things. <sup>8</sup>But now set aside these things, such as anger, rage, malice, slander, and obscene language. <sup>9</sup>Don't lie to each other. Take off the old human nature with its practices <sup>10</sup>and put on the new nature, which is renewed in knowledge by conforming to the image of the one who created it. <sup>11</sup>In this image there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcised nor uncircumcised, barbarian, Scythian, slave nor free, but Christ is all things and in all people.

<sup>12</sup>Therefore, as God's choice, holy and loved, put on compassion, kindness, humility, gentleness, and patience. <sup>13</sup>Be tolerant with each other and, if someone has a complaint against anyone, forgive each other. As the Lord forgave you, so also forgive each other. <sup>14</sup>And over all these things put on love, which is the perfect bond of unity. <sup>15</sup>The peace of Christ must control your hearts—a peace into which you were called in one body. And be thankful people. <sup>16</sup>The word of Christ must live in you richly. Teach and warn each other with all wisdom

Christ as New Adam The idea of Christ as a second Adam is found throughout Colossians. Adam stands for all humanity. He was created in God's glorious image, and he represents the sin and death to which all people are subject. As second Adam, Jesus turns sin and death into forgiveness and life (Col 1:15, 18).

As an Adam figure, Jesus represents humanity before God. His death embodies the death of the old humanity (Col 2:11). His resurrection signals the creation of a new humanity (Col 3:10). This new humanity is reconciled to God, whereas the old was hostile to God (Col 1:20, 21).

In Genesis the first people are given rule over all creation. Therefore, when they disobey God, the effects extend throughout the whole created order. As an Adam figure, Jesus' obedience also extends to all creation. He reconciles humanity but also establishes a new, redeemed order in the universe (Col 1:20; 2:15) and rules on God's behalf (Col 1:18).

This Adam theology underlies Paul's language of being in Christ. One must be crucified with Christ in order to die to the old humanity. When we die with Christ, we die to an old, sinful way of life (Col 2:11-12, 20-23; 3:5-9). One must be raised with Christ in order to participate in the new humanity, of which Christ is the first member (Col 2:9, 13; 3:1, 10-11).

Finally, this Adam theology means that Christians aren't merely saved individuals but are a saved people. People who belong to Christ are members of his body. God calls people to live as communities that reflect the reconciliation, love, and forgiveness that reflect the work of Christ (Col 3:12-17).

hold fast to Christ. Note the contrast between arrogant and selfish here with "united" and "love" in Colossians 2:2.

2:20-23 Dying with Christ joins believers to the true power that God provides for overcoming sin's mastery.

3:1-4 This isn't a denial of the earth's goodness (recall that in Col 1:20 all things have been reconciled). Instead, it's a reminder that the place to look for power and fulfillment is the resurrected Christ, with whom believers have been raised.

3:5-11 Living in Christ's resurrection-life requires putting to death the old sinful way of life.

3:9-11 human nature... image... image: Christ is a new Adam (see Rom 5:12-21; 1 Cor 15:22, 44-49; Col 1:15-20). His death puts to death the old humanity, marked by sin and death. And his resurrection brings about a new humanity that redefines what it means to bear the image of God (see Rom 8:29). See sidebar, "Christ as New Adam."

3:11 Greek... uncircumcised: It isn't necessary to adopt Jewish practices. Christ is sufficient.

3:12-17 The Colossians are called to a new life in community. This life reflects their identity as the loved, forgiven, reconciled people of God in Christ.

by singing psalms, hymns, and spiritual songs. Sing to God with gratitude in your hearts. <sup>17</sup>Whatever you do, whether in speech or action, do it all in the name of the Lord Jesus and give thanks to God the Father through him.

<sup>22</sup>Slaves, obey your masters on earth in everything. Don't just obey like people pleasers when they are watching. Instead, obey with the single motivation of fearing the Lord. <sup>23</sup>Whatever you do, do it from the heart for the Lord and not for people. <sup>24</sup>You know that you will receive an inheritance as a reward. You serve the Lord Christ. <sup>25</sup>But evildoers will receive their reward for their evil actions. There is no discrimination.

4 Masters, be just and fair to your slaves, knowing that you yourselves have a master in heaven.

<sup>2</sup>Keep on praying and guard your prayers with thanksgiving. <sup>3</sup>At the same time, pray for us also. Pray that God would open a door for the word so we can preach the secret plan<sup>f</sup> of Christ—which is why I'm in chains. <sup>4</sup>Pray that I might be able to make it as clear as I ought to when I preach. <sup>5</sup>Act wisely toward outsiders, making the most of the opportunity. <sup>6</sup>Your speech should always be gracious and sprinkled with insight so that you may know how to respond to every person.

Final greeting

<sup>7</sup>Tychicus, our dearly loved brother, faithful minister, and fellow slave in the Lord, will inform you about everything that has happened to me. <sup>8</sup>This is why I sent him to you, so that you'll know all about us and so he can encourage your hearts. <sup>9</sup>I sent him with Onesimus, our faithful and dearly loved brother, who is one of you. They will let you know about everything here.

<sup>10</sup>Aristarchus, my fellow prisoner, says hello to you. So does Mark, Barnabas' cousin (you received instructions about him; if he comes to you, welcome him). <sup>11</sup>Jesus, called Justus, also says hello. These are my only fellow workers for God's kingdom who are Jewish converts. They have been an encouragement to me. <sup>12</sup>Epaphras, who is one of you, says hello. He's a slave of Christ Jesus who always wrestles for you in prayers so that you will stand firm and be fully mature and complete in the entire will of God. <sup>13</sup>I can vouch for him that he has worked hard for you and for those in Laodicea and Hierapolis. <sup>14</sup>Luke, the dearly loved physician, and Demas say hello.

<sup>15</sup>Say hello to the brothers and sisters in Laodicea, along with Nympha and the church

3:18-4:1 This is a common type of instruction from the ancient world known as a household code. The instruction was given to pairs of people. In the ancient world, one member of the pair (husband, parent, master) was assumed to be inherently superior. The other (wife, child, slave) was thought to be inherently inferior. Both members were to act their parts. Paul may have used this form of instruction to show how important life in the household was for the church and for wider society. Or, it may have been a way to show a world hostile to Christians that Christians were respectable. However, hierarchy doesn't have the last word. Paul has taught the Colossians that everyone is equal in Christ (Col 3:11). See Ephesians sidebar, "The Household Code."

4:2-6 These verses weave together the community's practice of prayer with Christian attitudes and behavior toward people outside the church. They should pray for

Paul's part in fulfilling the ministry of uniting Gentiles to the people of God (see Col 1:27), and their own words to outsiders should be courteous and timely.

4:7-13 These verses indicate that Colossians was written at about the same time as both Ephesians (Eph 6:21-22) and Philemon (Phm 17, 23). All three may have been carried at the same time.

4:10 This may be an example of reconciliation. Paul speaks in support of the same Mark whose actions resulted in a broken relationship between Paul and Barnabas in Acts 15:36-41.

4:11 Jewish converts: This may refer to a conservative, law-keeping, Jewish party in early Christianity (see Acts 10:45; 11:2; Gal 2:12).

4:12 Epaphras: See Colossians 1:7-8.

4:15 Nympha... house: As host to the church, this early Christian woman was a leader and authority in the church.

1 THESSALONIANS

1 Thessalonians is written to Christians in the city of Thessalonica in the Roman province of Macedonia. The letter's greeting names Paul, Timothy, and Silvanus as its authors. This team also wrote a letter to Corinth (2 Cor 1:1, 19), and some think they wrote a second letter to Thessalonica (2 Thess 1:1) as well. That Paul took the most active role in composing the letter is indicated by the use of the first person pronoun "I" at several points in the letter (1 Thess 2:18; 3:5; 5:27). Timothy is identified as Paul's companion in Paul's letters and in Acts (Rom 16:21; 1 Cor 4:17; Acts 16:9-40; 1 Tim 1:2, 18; 6:20; 2 Tim 1:2). With Paul, Timothy is a coauthor of Philippians, Philemon, and Colossians. As for Silas, we learn the most about him from the book of Acts, where he is called "Silvanus" (Acts 15:22-40; 16:19, 25, 29; 17:4, 10, 15; 18:5). Although it's difficult to relate some of the details of Paul's ministry in Acts to Paul's own letters, the two agree that Silas and Timothy were Paul's close companions in ministry.

Many believe that 1 Thessalonians is among the earliest of Paul's letters, if not the very first. Paul probably wrote it in 51 CE, just two decades after Jesus' death and resurrection, making 1 Thessalonians the earliest book in the NT. The letter is addressed to the Gentile Christians of Thessalonica (1 Thess 2:14), who had left pagan gods and practices for the worship of the God of Jesus Christ (1 Thess 1:9; 4:5). Paul had an especially close relationship with these Christians and with the church he founded in Philippi, also located in the province of Macedonia (1 Thess 1:7; 2 Cor 8:1-5; Rom 15:26; Phil 4:15-16).

Ancient letters often served as a stand-in for a visit, and this one certainly fits that description. Shortly after Paul left Thessalonica and arrived in Athens (1 Thess 3:1), he became anxious that their troubles would cause the Thessalonian Christians to leave the church (1 Thess 2:14; 3:2c). These followers of Christ were experiencing pressure from their neighbors because of their Christian beliefs and practices. Timothy visited them for news, and Paul wrote this letter after hearing Timothy's report. This letter is one of the most intimate in the NT, full of love, prayer, thanksgiving, and images of the Christian family. Clearly, Paul uses it to renew his relationship with them. Above all, he exhorts them to remain faithful to Christ and to the Christian community under trying circumstances. He encourages the community to continue in love for each other and in faithful labor.

Ancient Roman marketplace at Thessalonica

Paul frequently mentions Christ's return in this letter (1 Thess 1:10; 2:19; 3:13; 4:15; 5:23). This may be because Christians in Thessalonica are concerned about those believers who die before Christ's return. So Paul describes the sequence of events surrounding Christ's coming in order to assure them that believers who die won't be excluded from the gathering of the church at the end time (1 Thess 4:13–5:11). The letter ends with a series of teachings about living holy lives. Paul wants to strengthen the Christian community at Thessalonica and to solidify its friendship with him and his team. He encourages them to stand firm during times of intense opposition and to maintain love for each other.

Greeting

1 From Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy.
To the Thessalonians' church that is in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.
Grace and peace to all of you.

Thanksgiving to God

<sup>2</sup>We always thank God for all of you when we mention you constantly in our prayers. <sup>3</sup>This is because we remember your work that comes from faith,<sup>a</sup> your effort that comes from love, and your perseverance that comes from hope in our Lord Jesus Christ in the presence of our God and Father. <sup>4</sup>Brothers and sisters, you are loved by God, and we know that he has chosen you. <sup>5</sup>We know this because our good news didn't come to you just in speech but also with power and the Holy Spirit and with deep conviction. You know as well as we do what kind of people we were when we were with you, which was for your sake. <sup>6</sup>You became imitators of us and of the Lord when you accepted the message that came from the Holy Spirit with joy in spite of great suffering. <sup>7</sup>As a result you became an example to all the believers in Macedonia and Achaia. <sup>8</sup>The message about the Lord rang out from you, not only in Macedonia and Achaia but in every place. The news about your faithfulness to God has spread so that we don't even need to mention it. <sup>9</sup>People tell us about what sort of welcome we had from you and how you turned to God from idols. As a result, you are serving<sup>b</sup> the living and true God, <sup>10</sup>and you are waiting for his Son from heaven. His Son is Jesus, who is the one he raised from the dead and who is the one who will rescue us from the coming wrath.

Paul's ministry in Thessalonica

2 As you yourselves know, brothers and sisters, our visit with you wasn't a waste of time. <sup>2</sup>On the contrary, we had the courage through God to speak God's good news in spite of a lot of opposition, although we had already suffered and were publicly insulted, as you know. <sup>3</sup>Our appeal isn't based on false information, the wrong motives, or deception. <sup>4</sup>Rather, we have been examined and approved by God to be trusted with the good news, and that's exactly how we speak. We aren't trying to please people, but we are trying to please God, who continues to examine our hearts. <sup>5</sup>As you know, we never used flattery, and God is our witness that we didn't have greedy motives. <sup>6</sup>We didn't ask for special treatment from people—not from you or from others—<sup>7</sup>although we could have thrown our weight around as Christ's apostles. Instead, we were gentle with you like a nursing mother caring for her

1:1 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy: On the identity of the authors, see the introduction.

1:3-5 Paul prays and gives thanks for the Thessalonians' faithfulness and the way God's love has led to God's choosing them (cf. Rom 11:28).

1:3 These three phrases are especially important for understanding the goals of 1 Thessalonians: work that comes from faith: For Paul, "work" usually refers to labor in ministry (1 Cor 3:13-15; 9:1; 16:10; Gal 6:4; Phil 2:30; 1 Thess 5:13). effort... from love: anticipates Paul's pleas that the congregation will continue in their love "for each other and for everyone" (1 Thess 3:12). Paul is especially concerned that the congregation will continue to pursue unity and faithful action. hope in our Lord Jesus: Paul refers to Jesus' return several times in the letter (1 Thess 1:10; 2:19; 3:13; 5:23), and this phrase hints at this theme. The main section of the letter tells readers that the fact that some of them have died before Christ's return shouldn't cause them to lose hope (1 Thess 4:13-5:11).

1:6 imitators... Lord: Paul encourages Christians to imitate Jesus' faithfulness in the midst of trials.

1:9 turned to God from idols: This verse recalls how the church rejected pagan gods. Clearly, this is a Gentile congregation (cf. Acts 17:1-4).

1:10 waiting for his Son: Paul will discuss Jesus' return and the day of the Lord in the body of the letter (1 Thess 4:13-5:11). Each major section of the letter ends by mentioning Jesus' return.

2:1-12 This chapter begins by recollecting the earliest days of Paul's visit to the Thessalonians. Paul hopes that if they remember their earliest attachment to the gospel, they will continue in it.

2:1-2 suffered... publicly insulted: Words for "suffering" occur three times in 1 Thessalonians (1 Thess 2:1-2, 14; 3:4; cf. 2 Cor 1:5-7; Phil 1:29). The situation probably involved insults and public pressure rather than outright physical abuse.

2:3-4 aren't trying... please people, but... please God: Paul is focused on winning the approval of the God who tests human hearts (cf. 1 Thess 4:8).

2:5-7 gentle... like a... mother... children: Paul assumes a humble, socially inferior manner rather than throwing his weight around. The Greek word translated as "gentle" appears as "infants" in some important Greek manuscripts, which would mean "we were infants among you" instead of "we were gentle with you." Paul uses many family metaphors in the letter: mother (1 Thess 2:7), children (1 Thess 2:7), father (1 Thess 2:11), orphans (1 Thess 2:17), and brothers and sisters (1 Thess 1:4; 2:1, 9, 14, 17; 3:2, 7; 4:1, 6, 10, 13; 5:1, 4, 12, 14, 25-27).

2:7 apostles: Paul refers to the whole team as apostles.

own children. <sup>8</sup>We were glad to share not only God's good news with you but also our very lives because we cared for you so much. <sup>9</sup>You remember, brothers and sisters, our efforts and hard work. We preached God's good news to you, while we worked night and day so we wouldn't be a burden on any of you. <sup>10</sup>You and God are witnesses of how holy, just, and blameless we were toward you believers. <sup>11</sup>Likewise, you know how we treated each of you like a father treats his own children. <sup>12</sup>We appealed to you, encouraged you, and pleaded with you to live lives worthy of the God who is calling you into his own kingdom and glory.

How the Thessalonians received God's message

<sup>13</sup>We also thank God constantly for this: when you accepted God's word that you heard from us, you welcomed it for what it truly is. Instead of accepting it as a human message, you accepted it as God's message, and it continues to work in you who are believers. <sup>14</sup>Brothers and sisters, you became imitators of the churches of God in Judea, which are in Christ Jesus. This was because you also suffered the same things from your own people as they did from the Jews. <sup>15</sup>They killed both the Lord Jesus and the prophets and drove us out. They don't please God, and they are hostile to the entire human race <sup>16</sup>when they try to stop us from speaking to the Gentiles so they can be saved. Their sins are constantly pushing the limit.<sup>6</sup> God's wrath has caught up with them in the end.

Paul's desire to visit

<sup>17</sup>Brothers and sisters, we were separated from you for a while physically but not in our hearts. We made every effort in our desire to see you again face-to-face. <sup>18</sup>We wanted to come to you—I, Paul, tried over and over again—and Satan stopped us. <sup>19</sup>What is our hope, joy, or crown that we can brag about in front of our Lord Jesus when he comes? Isn't it all of you? <sup>20</sup>You are our glory and joy!

3 So when we couldn't stand it any longer, we thought it was a good idea to stay on in Athens by ourselves, <sup>2</sup>and we sent you Timothy, who is our brother and God's coworker in the good news about Christ. We sent him to strengthen and encourage you in your faithfulness. <sup>3</sup>We didn't want any of you to be shaken by these problems. You know very well that we were meant to go through this. <sup>4</sup>In fact, when we were with you, we kept on predicting that we were going to face problems exactly like what happened, as you know. <sup>5</sup>That's why I sent Timothy to find out about your faithfulness when I couldn't stand it anymore. I was worried that the tempter might have tempted you so that our work would have been a waste of time.

2:8-9 cared for you so much: Paul describes his love for this church repeatedly (1 Thess 1:3-4; 2:8; 3:6, 12; 4:9; 5:8, 13). 1 Thessalonians is one of the most intimate letters in the NT.

2:9-12 worked night and day... live lives... worthy of... God: Paul points to his labor among them as an illustration of his love for them. He didn't ask for support but worked for free. In this way, he set an example of a work ethic that would prevent bad habits from forming. People in this church may have felt that manual labor was beneath their status. Paul wants them to remember his work habits so that they will continue to work for good.

2:14-16 Many interpreters believe these verses were added to the letter long after Paul's death, since their perspective is very different from his positive attitude about Jews in Romans 9-11. He doesn't want believers in Thessalonica to think that such conflicts are out of the ordinary; believers can expect a degree of opposition from their non-Christian neighbors (1 Pet 2:12; 4:3-4; Matt 5:10-12). Paul's later positive comments about Jews show that he doesn't harbor lasting hostility toward them as a result of these conflicts (Rom 9:2-5; 11:25-26).

2:16 pushing the limit: This traditional language about sinfulness describes the seriousness of actions that prevent evangelism (cf. Dan 8:23). God's wrath has caught up with them: What event does Paul have in mind that exhibits the wrath of God on the opposing Jews? Some think this verse refers to the death of King Agrippa in 44 CE. Others point to the revolt in Judea in 44-46 CE, a famine in 46-47 CE, or the expulsion of Jews from Rome in 49 CE.

2:17-20 These verses show Paul's great love for the Thessalonians. They also reveal his anxiety about them and his deep desire to see them. According to Paul, the faith of this church is important evidence of his apostleship (cf. 1 Cor 9:1-2; 2 Cor 1:14).

3:1-2 encourage you: more evidence of Paul's concern for this congregation. Paul says it's unbearable to be apart from them because he's worried about their faith. faithfulness: A form of the word appears five times in this chapter alone (1 Thess 3:2, 5, 6, 7, 10). Paul is worried that the pressure they're experiencing will cause them to leave Christ and the church.

3:3-4 predicting... face problems: Paul sets new expectations about what Christians can face. He reminds them

Paul's prayer for the Thessalonians

<sup>6</sup>Now Timothy has returned to us from you and has given us good news about your faithfulness and love! He says that you always have good memories about us and that you want to see us as much as we want to see you. <sup>7</sup>Because of this, brothers and sisters, we were encouraged in all our distress and trouble through your faithfulness. <sup>8</sup>For now we are alive if you are standing your ground in the Lord. <sup>9</sup>How can we thank God enough for you, given all the joy we have because of you before our God? <sup>10</sup>Night and day, we pray more than ever to see all of you in person and to complete whatever you still need for your faith. <sup>11</sup>Now may our God and Father himself guide us on our way back to you. <sup>12</sup>May the Lord cause you to increase and enrich your love for each other and for everyone in the same way as we also love you. <sup>13</sup>May the love cause your hearts to be strengthened, to be blameless in holiness before our God and Father when our Lord Jesus comes with all his people. Amen.

Living that pleases God

4 So then, brothers and sisters, we ask and encourage you in the Lord Jesus to keep living the way you already are and even do better in how you live and please God—just as you learned from us. <sup>2</sup>You know the instructions we gave you through the Lord Jesus. <sup>3</sup>God's will is that your lives are dedicated to him. <sup>4</sup>This means that you stay away from sexual immorality <sup>4a</sup>and learn how to control your own body in a pure <sup>4b</sup>and respectable way. <sup>5</sup>Don't be controlled by your sexual urges like the Gentiles who don't know God. <sup>6</sup>No one should mistreat or take advantage of their brother or sister in this issue. The Lord punishes people for all these things, as we told you before and sternly warned you. <sup>7</sup>God didn't call us to be immoral but to be dedicated to him. <sup>8</sup>Therefore, whoever rejects these instructions isn't rejecting a human authority. They are rejecting God, who gives his Holy Spirit to you.

<sup>9</sup>You don't need us to write about loving your brothers and sisters because God has already taught you to love each other. <sup>10</sup>In fact, you are doing loving deeds for all the brothers and sisters throughout Macedonia. Now we encourage you, brothers and sisters, to do so even more. <sup>11</sup>Aim to live quietly, mind your own business, and earn your own living, just as I told you. <sup>12</sup>That way you'll behave appropriately toward outsiders, and you won't be in need.

that he experienced trouble just as other churches have and just as Jesus himself did (1 Thess 2:14-16; 1:6).

3:6 Paul encourages the Thessalonians to maintain good relationships with him and with other Christians. These relationships will help the church resist temptation and social pressure from its neighbors.

3:7-8 Here Paul says that his life stands and falls as the Thessalonians' lives stand or fall (cf. 1 Cor 12:26). His very life is tied up with theirs. Unity with other Christians will help the community resist the lure of cultural values that are opposed to Christ.

3:10-13 complete whatever you still need for your faith: This phrase summarizes a key aim of the letter: to strengthen the church's ability to resist local social pressure.

3:12 love... each other and... everyone: This verse reinforces the community's boundaries while also enlarging them. Paul thinks believers should live lives of service to others inside and outside of the church (cf. Gal 6:10).

4:1 So then: a transition from the section of the letter that focuses on the relationship with Paul to the main instruction portion of the letter.

4:3-7 lives... dedicated to him: Paul emphasizes the importance of holiness (1 Thess 4:3, 4, 7). Sexual immorality begins the list of sins that must be avoided. This is probably because many Jews of the day saw sexual immorality as a standard feature of Gentile society (cf. 1 Cor 5:1; 6:13, 18; 7:2). Here Paul commands self-control in a way that avoids sexual exploitation (see 1 Cor 7:1-5, 8-9).

4:8 Holy Spirit: The Spirit gives believers the power to resist immorality (cf. Gal 5:16-26). The God who gives the Holy Spirit is also the one who gives commands about sexual immorality. Those who reject these moral ideals reject God.

4:9-12 The best way to achieve a community of holiness is by strengthening the bonds of love within the community, and those bonds are strengthened by caring for each other.

4:10 do so even more: Paul calls for a love that overflows the boundaries of the church and the region, even reaching beyond the Christian community (cf. 1 Thess 3:12).

4:11-12 Aim: The Greek word translated as "aim" can refer to the kind of grasping for honor and privilege that was common among the upper classes in Paul's time. But Paul uses it to commend a peaceful and responsible life as a member of society. earn your own living: Many interpreters think this phrase implies that some in Thessalonica had quit their jobs because they expected Jesus to return soon. Another possibility is that they quit working to devote themselves to evangelism. The thought that they were taking advantage of other believers is speculative.

Believers who have died

<sup>13</sup>Brothers and sisters, we want you to know about people who have died<sup>a</sup> so that you won't mourn like others who don't have any hope. <sup>14</sup>Since we believe that Jesus died and rose, so we also believe that God will bring with him those who have died in Jesus. <sup>15</sup>What we are saying is a message from the Lord: we who are alive and still around at the Lord's coming definitely won't go ahead of those who have died. <sup>16</sup>This is because the Lord himself will come down from heaven with the signal of a shout by the head angel and a blast on God's trumpet. First, those who are dead in Christ will rise. <sup>17</sup>Then, we who are living and still around will be taken up together with them in the clouds to meet with the Lord in the air. That way we will always be with the Lord. <sup>18</sup>So encourage each other with these words.

The "Rapture" 1 Thessalonians 4:13-18 describes the reunion of Christ and the church at Jesus' return, which is sometimes called "the Rapture" (from the Latin term raptus, "a carrying off"; see 1 Thess 4:17: "will be taken up"). Here Paul uses trumpets, angels, and clouds, traditional images of the end time, to describe the splendor of Jesus' return (Dan 7:13; 10:6; Rev 14:14-16; 19:11-16; cf. Exod 19:18-19). The image of meeting the Lord in the air also contributes to the majesty of the scene, pointing to Jesus' lordship over heaven and earth. Given the early date of 1 Thessalonians, it's likely that the congregation hadn't expected believers to die before Jesus' return. Indeed, Paul's response maintains the sense that Jesus would return in the near future. He's answering a question raised by the congregation about whether dead Christians will remain separated from Christ (1 Thess 4:17: "That way we will always be with the Lord"). Paul insists that, far from being left behind, Christians who have died will be the first to be reunited with the Lord when he returns.

The Lord's coming

5 We don't need to write to you about the timing and dates, brothers and sisters. <sup>2</sup>You know very well that the day of the Lord is going to come like a thief in the night. <sup>3</sup>When they are saying, "There is peace and security," at that time sudden destruction will attack them, like labor pains start with a pregnant woman, and they definitely won't escape. <sup>4</sup>But you aren't in darkness, brothers and sisters, so the day won't catch you by surprise like a thief. <sup>5</sup>All of you are children of light and children of the day. We don't belong to night or darkness. <sup>6</sup>So then, let's not sleep like the others, but let's stay awake and stay sober. <sup>7</sup>People who sleep sleep at night, and people who get drunk get drunk at night. <sup>8</sup>Since we belong to the day, let's stay sober, wearing faithfulness and love as a piece of armor that protects our body<sup>b</sup> and the hope of salvation as a helmet. <sup>9</sup>God didn't intend for us to suffer his wrath but rather to possess salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>10</sup>Jesus died for us so that, whether we are awake or asleep, we will live together with him. <sup>11</sup>So continue encouraging each other and building each other up, just like you are doing already.

<sup>a</sup>Or fallen asleep <sup>b</sup>Or breastplate

In any case, Paul insists on the value of work as a public witness.

4:13-18 This section describes Jesus' return and responds to a concern raised by the congregation.

4:13 people who have died: Paul consoles the church's grief about its members' deaths by reminding them that their hope in Jesus is based on his resurrection (1 Cor 15:16-18; 2 Cor 4:14).

4:15-17 message from the Lord: This phrase usually refers to a message from God through Paul (Rom 9:28; cf. 1 Thess 1:8). Does the message refer to the teaching in 1 Thessalonians 4:14, or the teaching in 1 Thessalonians 4:15-17, or both? Most likely, Paul is summarizing Jesus' teaching from Matthew 24:30-31.

5:1-11 This section continues Paul's teaching on the end times by describing the day of the Lord (see sidebar, "The Day of the Lord").

5:2-3 thief in the night... labor pains... pregnant woman:

These are common images for the suddenness of the end of this present age (Matt 24:19, 43-44; 2 Pet 3:10; Rev 3:3; cf. Isa 13:8).

5:4-5 darkness... children of light: Paul uses common end-time contrasts (day/light, night/dark) to refer to the division of this age from the age to come. Believers behave in a way that suits their identity as members of the next age.

5:6 sleep: This refers to those who are morally lax (see Matt 25:5-13; 26:40-42; Mark 13:34-36; Luke 22:44-46).

5:8-10 possess salvation: Hebrews 10:39 is similar to 1 Thessalonians 5:8-9. Both authors highlight faithfulness and salvation as the believer's destiny. live together with him: This verse describes the purpose of Christ's death for us in terms of community.

5:8 faithfulness and love... hope of salvation: Believers focus on faithful action, mutual love, and hope, the same three elements identified in 1 Thessalonians 1:3 (cf. 1 Cor

Final instructions and blessing

<sup>12</sup>Brothers and sisters, we ask you to respect those who are working with you, leading you, and instructing you. <sup>13</sup>Think of them highly with love because of their work. Live in peace with each other. <sup>14</sup>Brothers and sisters, we urge you to warn those who are disorderly. Comfort the discouraged. Help the weak. Be patient with everyone. <sup>15</sup>Make sure no one repays a wrong with a wrong, but always pursue the good for each other and everyone else. <sup>16</sup>Rejoice always. <sup>17</sup>Pray continually. <sup>18</sup>Give thanks in every situation because this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus. <sup>19</sup>Don't suppress the Spirit. <sup>20</sup>Don't brush off Spirit-inspired messages, <sup>21</sup>but examine everything carefully and hang on to what is good. <sup>22</sup>Avoid every kind of evil. <sup>23</sup>Now, may the God of peace himself cause you to be completely dedicated to him; and may your spirit, soul, and body be kept intact and blameless at our Lord Jesus Christ's coming. <sup>24</sup>The one who is calling you is faithful and will do this.

Final greeting

<sup>25</sup>Brothers and sisters, pray for us. <sup>26</sup>Greet all the brothers and sisters with a holy kiss. <sup>27</sup>By the Lord's authority, I order all of you to have this letter read aloud to all the brothers and sisters. <sup>28</sup>The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with all of you.

13:13). armor... helmet: These images recall the divine warrior who fights for God's people (Isa 59:17; cf. Eph 6:14-17), though here they refer to believers who act as God's agents.

5:12-22 The final set of instructions focuses on strengthening the bonds of community.

5:12-13 working... leading... instructing: These three activities identify the duties of those who work in congregations. because of their work: Paul tells church members to love their leaders, not in order to set them on a pedestal but for the sake of their service (1 Cor 16:16).

5:14-15 Paul encourages harmony in the church and

The Day of the Lord Paul uses several images in 1 Thessalonians 5:1-11 to describe the abrupt end of this present age. The image of the day of the Lord draws on OT texts from the Prophets. These include Joel 2, where judgment comes through like an invading army, and Isaiah 13:6-8 and Amos 5:18-24, where the Lord God judges sin. In the NT, writers use OT images to describe the day of the Lord as sneaking up on people "like a thief in the night" (1 Thess 5:2) and as coming suddenly, like a woman's labor pains (1 Thess 5:2; 1 Cor 5:5; cf. 2 Pet 3:10). According to these images, many will be unaware of its coming and unprepared for the Lord's wrath and the sudden destruction (1 Thess 5:6-9). Like the prophets, Paul uses these images to call people to greater moral watchfulness so that they will be prepared to greet the Lord Jesus at his return.

community. The virtues of discipline, mercy, patience, and good works are directed toward the needy inside and outside of the church.

5:19-22 Believers shouldn't reject Spirit-inspired prophecy. Instead, the church must identify what is good and what is bad in each case.

5:23-24 Paul believes this congregation will grow in holiness. He hopes God will keep them unified and faithful (see Heb 6:9).

5:25 pray for us: Paul asks for prayer from his friends in Thessalonica. He makes this request only one other time, before facing hostilities in Jerusalem (Rom 15:30-31).

2 THESSALONIANS

In 2 Thessalonians the author writes to encourage the congregation to continue in faithful action as they await the return of Christ. The author uses material from the OT and early Christian traditions about the day of the Lord to help people understand where they stand in relationship to Jesus' return (2 Thess 2:1-12). Perhaps as the result of false teaching (2 Thess 2:2), some in Thessalonica mistakenly think that the day of the Lord has already come.

Although it's similar to 1 Thessalonians, many scholars doubt that Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy wrote 2 Thessalonians. First, some claim that the author overemphasizes his identity in 2 Thessalonians 3:17 in a way Paul wouldn't have. Second, the author knows about letters that weren't written by Paul but list him as their author (2 Thess 2:2). This situation wouldn't have happened until long after Paul's death. Third, the author of 2 Thessalonians seems to have used the outline of 1 Thessalonians. Fourth, both letters address the topic of the day of the Lord, but the problem in one is the opposite of the problem in the other. In 1 Thessalonians 4:13-18 the problem is that the day of the Lord hasn't come yet, which causes worry that the Christians who have already died will miss the Lord's return. In 2 Thessalonians 2:1-2 the congregation is worried that the day of the Lord has already occurred. Furthermore, 1 Thessalonians 5:2-8 says the day of the Lord comes suddenly and without warning, while 2 Thessalonians 2:3-4 lists signs that will precede the arrival of that day. If the author isn't Paul, he writes to correct or supplement the earlier letter as a way of continuing Paul's legacy.

When was this letter written? If Paul is its author, he must have written it near the end of his life in the early 60s CE, years after writing 1 Thessalonians early in his ministry. A long separation between the writing of 1 and 2 Thessalonians helps to account for the different ways these two letters talk about the end time. If Paul didn't write it, then the letter probably appeared long after his death. In this case, the unknown author wrote it perhaps as late as the end of the 1st century or early in the 2nd century.

Regarding the subject of the return of Christ, the author explains that Jesus' second coming won't happen until after a period of increased immorality, a period that, he says, has already begun. A figure called “the person who is lawless” (2 Thess 2:3, 8) will emerge. He will try to deceive believers and cause them to fall away from God, but Christ will defeat him. The letter frequently issues apostolic commands (2 Thess 3:4, 6, 10, 12, 14), especially when addressing the topic of a Christian work ethic. A mistaken belief about the day of the Lord may have led some followers of Christ in Thessalonica to quit working.

Greeting

1 From Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy:
 1 To the church of the Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Jesus Christ.
 2 Grace and peace to all of you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving and encouragement

3 Brothers and sisters, we must always thank God for you. This is only right because your faithfulness is growing by leaps and bounds, and the love that all of you have for each other is increasing. 4 That's why we ourselves are bragging about you in God's churches. We tell about your endurance and faithfulness in all the harassments and trouble that you have put up with. 5 This shows that God's judgment is right, and that you will be considered worthy of God's kingdom for which you are suffering. 6 After all, it's right for God to pay back the ones making trouble for you with trouble 7 and to pay back you who are having trouble with relief along with us. This payback will come when the Lord Jesus is revealed from heaven with his powerful angels. 8 He will give justice with blazing fire to those who don't recognize God and don't obey the good news of our Lord Jesus. 9 They will pay the penalty of eternal destruction away from the Lord's presence and away from his mighty glory. 10 This will happen when he comes on that day to receive honor from his holy people and to be admired by everyone who has believed—and our testimony to you was believed.

11 We are constantly praying for you for this: that our God will make you worthy of his calling and accomplish every good desire and faithful work by his power. 12 Then the name of our Lord Jesus will be honored by you, and you will be honored by him, consistent with the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Day of the Lord

2 Brothers and sisters, we have a request for you concerning our Lord Jesus Christ's coming and when we are gathered together to be with him. 2 We don't want you to be easily confused in your mind or upset if you hear that the day of the Lord is already here, whether you hear it through some spirit, a message, or a letter supposedly from us. 3 Don't let anyone deceive you in any way.

The Lawless Person

The main concern of 2 Thessalonians 2:3-4 is how to identify a person who is to appear before Jesus' return. The text is similar to Jesus' warnings in Matthew 24, which in turn resemble those in Daniel 11 (cf. Matt 24:4, 10-12, 14-15; Dan 9:26-27; 11:31-39). All three passages describe the end time and warn about someone who will lead God's people off track and cause them to fall away from the Lord. In addition, these passages use language that recalls the Maccabean uprising in 166-160 BCE, a time when Jewish people led by Judas Maccabeus rebelled against a foreign ruler who was known as Antiochus IV Euphianes. In 2 Thessalonians the author describes the rise of an antichrist figure who will precede the return of Christ. He prophesies that the lawless one will act like Antiochus did in the Maccabean period. Like Antiochus, the lawless person will deceive the people, take God's place by sitting in the temple, and cause many to fall away in rebellion.

1:1 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy: For more on who wrote this letter, see the introduction.

1:2 Grace and peace to all of you: This is a common greeting in Paul's letters (see 1 Cor 1:3; 2 Cor 1:2; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2; Phil 1:2; Phlm 1:3).

1:5-10 At the end of the age, when Jesus returns, God will do justice on behalf of suffering believers. God will grant them relief from harassment and repay their enemies for what they've done to God's people. The thought here is similar to the "eye for an eye" model of justice in Deuteronomy 19:16-21 (cf. Jer 16:5-6).

1:5 This shows: The believer's endurance is a sign that points forward to God's judgment on the church's enemies (cf. Phil 1:27-28). worthy of God's kingdom: Christians can demonstrate their faith by standing strong during troubling times.

1:6-8a Jesus is revealed... powerful angels... blazing fire: These images are traditional in descriptions of the day of the Lord at the end of the age. They depict the invasion of divine power that disrupts the normal order of life (see Mark 13:24-27; Jer 19:11-16).

1:9-10 God will take vengeance on the church's enemies when Jesus comes. By contrast, believers will honor and admire Jesus. eternal destruction: The penalty for lack of belief is eternal separation from Jesus' presence (cf. 1 Thess 4:17; 5:10).

1:11 accomplish... by his power: God accomplishes good in the lives of believers and empowers their faithful action. make you worthy: Faithful action is what makes the believer worthy of God's call (cf. 1 Thess 2:12; Phil 1:27; Eph 4:1; Col 1:10), and believers need God's help in order to be faithful.

2:1-2 To comfort believers who worry that they have missed Jesus' return, the author describes events that will precede the day of the Lord.

2:3-4 the person who is lawless: This lawless person will stir up rebellion against God and claim divine status. The author predicts that this person will appear before Jesus'

That day won't come unless the rebellion comes first and the person who is lawless is revealed, who is headed for destruction. <sup>4</sup>He is the opponent of every so-called god or object of worship and promotes himself over them. So he sits in God's temple, displaying himself to show that he is God. <sup>5</sup>You remember that I used to tell you these things while I was with you, don't you? <sup>6</sup>Now you know what holds him back so that he can be revealed when his time comes. <sup>7</sup>The hidden plan to live without any law is at work now, but it will be secret only until the one who is holding it back is out of the way. <sup>8</sup>Then the person who is lawless will be revealed. The Lord Jesus will destroy him with the breath from his mouth. When the Lord comes, his appearance will put an end to him. <sup>9</sup>When the person who is lawless comes, it will happen through Satan's effort, with all kinds of fake power, signs, and wonders. <sup>10</sup>It will happen with every sort of wicked deception of those who are heading toward destruction because they have refused to love the truth that would allow them to be saved. <sup>11</sup>This is why God will send them an influence that will mislead them so that they will believe the lie. <sup>12</sup>The result will be that everyone will be judged who is not convinced by the truth but is happy with injustice.

What Holds Back Lawlessness? The identity of the force that holds back lawlessness isn't clear in 2 Thessalonians 2:6-8. Possibilities include God, the Holy Spirit, the preaching of the gospel, the church, Rome, or Caesar. Perhaps God delays the final events to give time for worldwide evangelism. Whoever or whatever the force is, most people think that it holds evil at bay before the coming of the lawless person but withdraws right before Jesus comes to defeat evil. Other people focus on 2 Thessalonians 2:6b, which says that this force helps to reveal the lawless person. If that is the case, then this force will be yet another agent of lawlessness. Suggestions for who this other agent might be include Satan, a false teacher (one who teaches that the Lord has already returned), or evil in general. This interpretation holds that this force helps to create the rebellious conditions that favor the coming of "the person who is lawless." The author isn't as clear as we might want on this point because his main concern lies elsewhere. He wants believers to know that they haven't missed Jesus' return. After all, there hasn't yet been a widespread falling away from the faith, an evil period, he says, that will precede the coming of the lawless person and the final victory of Jesus.

Prayer of thanks and encouragement

<sup>13</sup>But we always must thank God for you, brothers and sisters who are loved by God. This is because he chose you from the beginning to be the first crop of the harvest. This brought salvation, through your dedication to God by the Spirit and through your belief in the truth. <sup>14</sup>God called all of you through our good news so you could possess the honor of our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>15</sup>So then, brothers and sisters, stand firm and hold on to the traditions we taught you, whether we taught you in person or through our letter. <sup>16</sup>Our Lord Jesus Christ himself and God our Father loved us and through grace gave us eternal comfort and a good return. temple: The author uses traditions about ungodly leaders who defile the temple to describe the end of the age (cf. Matt 24:4-6, 10-13, 15; Dan 11:31; 12:11; 9:27). He prophesies the coming of a leader who promotes immorality through deception (cf. 2 Thess 2:9; see sidebar, "The Lawless Person").

2:6-7 holds him back... The hidden plan: a force that precedes or perhaps prepares for the coming of the person who is lawless (see sidebar, "What Holds Back Lawlessness?").

2:9 Satan's effort: "The person who is lawless" (2 Thess 2:3-4) acts as Satan's agent. The author prophesies that Satan will help this person deceive the church by duplicating the signs and wonders that normally accompany God's prophets (cf. Jer 12:9; 13:11-18; 20:1-3).

2:10-12 refused to love the truth... to be saved: The letter emphasizes that people are responsible for their unbelief. Unbelievers also mislead others in turn. God will... mislead: The author maintains that God controls events that lead to unbelief (cf. Exod 8:32; 9:12; Rom 1:18-32).

2:10 those... heading toward destruction: At the end of the age, humanity will be divided into those who are saved and those who are perishing.

2:13 he chose you: God's choice of those who are being saved is evidence of God's love (see Col 3:12; Titus 1:1). first crop: This verse may indicate that this congregation was one of Paul's first churches.

2:15 traditions: Traditions are rules and practices handed down by a community's elders (Mark 7:3; 1 Cor 11:2). Believers should cling to Paul's traditions and to this letter's instructions.

2:16-17 The thanksgiving and prayer in these verses anticipate the instructions in 2 Thessalonians 3:6-15. Together they urge the congregation to do good works that honor the Lord.

hope. <sup>17</sup>May he encourage your hearts and give you strength in every good thing you do or say.

Prayer request

3 Finally, brothers and sisters, pray for us so that the Lord's message will spread quickly and be honored, just like it happened with you. <sup>2</sup>Pray too that we will be rescued from inappropriate and evil people since everyone that we meet won't respond with faith. <sup>3</sup>But the Lord is faithful and will give you strength and protect you from the evil one. <sup>4</sup>We are confident about you in the Lord—that you are doing and will keep doing what we tell you to do. <sup>5</sup>May the Lord lead your hearts to express God's love and Christ's endurance.

Discipline for the undisciplined

<sup>6</sup>Brothers and sisters, we command you in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ to stay away from every brother or sister who lives an undisciplined life that is not in line with the traditions that you received from us. <sup>7</sup>You yourselves know how you need to imitate us because we were not undisciplined when we were with you. <sup>8</sup>We didn't eat anyone's food without paying for it. Instead, we worked night and day with effort and hard work so that we would not impose on you. <sup>9</sup>We did this to give you an example to imitate, not because we didn't have a right to insist on financial support. <sup>10</sup>Even when we were with you we were giving you this command: "If anyone doesn't want to work, they shouldn't eat." <sup>11</sup>We hear that some of you are living an undisciplined life. They aren't working, but they are meddling in other people's business. <sup>12</sup>By the Lord Jesus Christ, we command and encourage such people to work quietly and put their own food on the table. <sup>13</sup>Brothers and sisters, don't get discouraged in doing what is right. <sup>14</sup>Take note of anyone who doesn't obey what we have said in this letter. Don't associate with them so they will be ashamed of themselves. <sup>15</sup>Don't treat them like enemies, but warn them like you would do for a brother or sister.

Final greeting

<sup>16</sup>May the Lord of peace himself give you peace always in every way. The Lord be with all of you. <sup>17</sup>I, Paul, am writing this greeting with my own hand. This verifies that the letter is from me, as in every letter of mine. This is how I write. <sup>18</sup>The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with all of you.

3:3 the Lord is faithful: The letter stresses Jesus' faithfulness in order to emphasize the need for keeping the faith in anticipation of the end of the age (2 Thess 3:5; cf. 1 Thess 5:24). Christ's faithfulness is a model for the believer's faithful endurance. the evil one: The author refers either to Satan or to one of his agents (2 Thess 2:3-4, 9; cf. Matt 6:13), or to the kind of person who does evil (2 Thess 3:2; cf. Matt 12:35).

3:4 what we tell you to do: The author is confident that readers will be obedient to the traditions handed down to them. Words and phrases that are synonyms of "command" appear four times in this section (2 Thess 3:4, 6, 10, 12).

3:6 undisciplined: Had the local people stopped working because they thought the end had already come? Believers should remain separate from idle people; this will motivate the idle to return to the community (2 Thess 3:14b-15; cf. 1 Cor 5:4-5, 11).

3:8-12 Christians should imitate Paul's work habits (cf. 1 Thess 2:9; 4:11). The emphasis isn't on refusing to care for those who can't work but on promoting the attitudes found in 1 Thessalonians 4:11.

3:12 work quietly: This command also echoes the concerns of 1 Thessalonians 4:11 (see 1 Tim 2:11-12).

3:15 Don't treat them like enemies: This verse is similar to the advice found in Matthew 18:15-17.

3:17 with my own hand . . . the letter is from me . . . every letter of mine. This is how I write: Some think this verse confirms that the author is Paul, who offers his handwriting as proof of his identity. Others suggest that Paul wouldn't need to offer such proof. See the introduction for a discussion about authorship.

1 TIMOTHY

The Pastoral Letters

The Pastoral Letters—1 Timothy, 2 Timothy, and Titus—are placed as a collection at the end of Paul's letters. They have been called "pastoral" for the past 200 years because they talk about issues that concern a pastor: running the Christian community, how believers live their lives together, how the community is managed, how members are expected to behave, and how the church should behave as a whole. However, they weren't written to pastors. They are addressed to two core members of Paul's ministry team—two letters (1 and 2 Timothy) are written to Timothy, who was sent by Paul to Ephesus to deal with false teaching; and one letter is written to Titus, who was sent by Paul to deal with similar problems in the church on the island of Crete. These three letters include commissions for Timothy and Titus to work with the churches as Paul's representatives.

All three letters say that they are written by Paul, but this is debated today. The three stand out as more similar to each other than to the rest of the Pauline letters. All three include events that can't be found in Acts or the other Pauline letters, and that would seem to require Paul's release from prison (rather than his death) after the end of Acts. 1 Timothy and Titus are especially similar in style, arrangement, setting, and theology, but all three letters share distinctive vocabulary and style. All three are concerned with guarding the teaching that has been entrusted to Paul, Timothy, and Titus, and with regulating life in Christian communities. All three letters also share extensive themes with the rest of the Pauline letters and material in Acts. However, characteristic ideas found among Paul's other letters—including justification by faith and the church as the body of Christ—are missing here.

Most scholars think that the letters were written by someone else in Paul's name sometime after his death. They think that the differences with the rest of the Pauline letters show that he didn't write them. They also believe that the letters reflect a church organization that was more advanced than it could have been in Paul's time. These comments refer more to 1 Timothy and Titus than to 2 Timothy, however. Others support the view that Paul wrote these letters. They note claims about Pauline authorship in the texts themselves as well as in church traditions. They account for the differences in topics, vocabulary, and style by recognizing that Paul used secretaries, by referring to changes in Paul's age and circumstances, by drawing attention to the fact that in these letters he was writing to individuals rather than communities, by recognizing that he had close relationships with Timothy and Titus, and by noting that these three letters share goals and purposes that were distinct from the other Pauline letters.

Whatever one thinks about the question of authorship, it's still helpful to read each letter on its own terms to appreciate what each one contributes to the life of following Jesus as part of a community.

1–2 Timothy

In 1 and 2 Timothy the author identifies himself as Paul in the first verse of each letter. This would indicate the same Paul who wrote well-known letters such as Romans and 1 Corinthians.

Both letters are addressed to Timothy. According to Acts and the Pauline letters, Timothy was part of Paul's inner circle and probably the most loyal and valuable member of his mission team (Phil 2:19-23). He was born in Lystra and met Paul there during Paul's second missionary journey (Acts 16:1-3). His mother and grandmother were Jewish followers of Jesus, and they raised him in the faith (2 Tim 1:5), but his father was Greek. Paul had him circumcised, and he joined Paul's team. Timothy often acts as Paul's representative to churches (Acts 17:14; 19:22; 1 Cor 4:17; 1 Thess 3:2), and he is named as a coauthor of six of Paul's letters (2 Cor 1:1; Phil 1:1; Col 1:1; 1 Thess 1:1; 2 Thess 1:1; Phlm 1:1).

Both letters were written to Timothy at Ephesus. The two letters have so many common ties that they are clearly related to each other. In organization and style, though, 1 Timothy is more like Titus, while 2 Timothy is more personal. Most scholars believe that 1 Timothy reflects an earlier time in Paul's ministry, right after he sent Timothy to Ephesus, and 2 Timothy reflects Paul's circumstances directly before his death.

1 Timothy

How does 1 Timothy fit into what we know of Paul's life? Paul includes a description of the harassment of the church that fits the accounts of his life and his change of heart and life in Acts (Acts 9:1-4; 22:4-5, 19-20; 26:10-11). However, the travel described in 1 Timothy 1:3, where Paul leaves Timothy in Ephesus and goes to Macedonia, isn't recorded in Acts. If 1 Timothy was written by Paul, then this journey would have happened after the events reported in Acts, when Paul would have been released from prison.

This letter was written to help Timothy correct problems in Ephesus with false teaching, which is why Paul left Timothy there in the first place (1 Tim 1:3). The opening and closing of the letter (1 Tim 6:20-21) indicate that specific issues of false teaching explain the content of the letter. Throughout, the letter contrasts the sound teaching that Paul entrusted to Timothy with false teaching. This false teaching concerned the Law, myths, genealogies, arguments and disagreements, exploitation of the church for money, materialism, and slander. Paul's sound teaching has a heavy focus on ethics and behavior as well as on having a good conscience.

I. Introduction (1:1-20)

- A. Greeting (1:1-2)
- B. Timothy's purpose in Ephesus: correction of false teaching (1:3-11)
- C. Thanksgiving (1:12-17)
- D. Importance of faith and a good conscience (1:18-20)

II. Body (2:1–6:19)

- A. First steps for correction (2:1-15)
  - 1. Prayer for everyone (2:1-7)
  - 2. Instructions for men and women (2:8-15)

B. Instructions for God's household (3:1-13)

- 1. Supervisors in God's household (3:1-7)
- 2. Servants in God's household (3:8-13)

C. Instructions to Timothy as a leader (3:14–6:19)

- 1. Leading God's household (3:14–4:7a)
- 2. Practices of spiritual leadership (4:7b-16)
- 3. Caring for God's family (5:1-16)
- 4. Instructions for elders (5:17-25)
- 5. Conduct of Christian slaves (6:1-2)
- 6. Warning about false teachers (6:3-16)
- 7. Wealth of good works (6:17-19)

III. Letter Closing: Protect the Tradition (6:20-21)

Greeting

1 From Paul, who is an apostle of Jesus Christ by the command of God our savior and of Christ Jesus our hope.

2 To Timothy, my true child in the faith.

Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and from Christ Jesus our Lord.

Timothy's purpose in Ephesus

3 When I left for Macedonia, I asked you to stay behind in Ephesus so that you could instruct certain individuals not to spread wrong teaching. 4 They shouldn't pay attention to myths and endless genealogies. Their teaching only causes useless guessing games instead of faithfulness to God's way of doing things. 5 The goal of instruction is love from a pure heart, a good conscience, and a sincere faith. 6 Because they missed this goal, some people have been distracted by talk that doesn't mean anything. 7 They want to be teachers of Law without understanding either what they are saying or what they are talking about with such confidence. 8 Now we know that the Law is good if used appropriately. 9 We understand this: the Law isn't established for a righteous person but for people who live without laws and without obeying any authority. They are the ungodly and the sinners. They are people who are not spiritual, and nothing is sacred to them. They kill their fathers and mothers, and murder others. 10 They are people who are sexually unfaithful, and people who have intercourse with the same sex. They are kidnappers, 11 liars, individuals who give false testimonies in court, and those who do anything else that is opposed to sound teaching. 11 Sound teaching agrees with the glorious gospel of the blessed God that has been trusted to me.

1:1-2 The greeting follows the typical pattern of a letter by Paul, giving the sender, the receiver(s), and the greeting.

1:1 Paul: For a discussion of the identity of Paul and the question of authorship, see the introduction. apostle of Jesus Christ: sent by Christ. by the command: a divine command that results in the special authority of the apostle Paul. of God our savior: a focus on God's purposes in deliverance from illness and tragedy. and of Christ Jesus our hope: the source of eternal life (Col 1:27) and future glory (Titus 1:2).

1:2 Timothy: For a discussion of Timothy's identity and relationship to Paul, see the introduction. Timothy is also the recipient of 2 Timothy. my true child in the faith: This indicates a close spiritual relationship, not that Paul is his birth father or that he led him to Christ, since his mother and grandmother brought him up in the faith, and Timothy was a believer when they met (Acts 16:1; 2 Tim 1:5; 3:15). mercy: only found here and in 2 Timothy 1:2 in the Pauline greetings. This may indicate Timothy's need, whether personally or in view of the crisis he faces.

1:3-11 In the opening of the letter before the typical thanksgiving, Paul discusses the purpose of Timothy's ministry in Ephesus. This is to deal with the problem of people who are teaching wrong information about the faith.

1:3 When I left for Macedonia: The journey that Paul describes isn't recorded in Acts. It could have taken place after the events recorded by Luke if Paul was released from prison rather than put to death in Rome. stay behind in Ephesus: Timothy is in Ephesus, the most important city in Asia Minor (see map 21). Paul established a church there during his second missionary journey (Acts 19). not to spread wrong teaching: The prevention of wrong teaching is both the context and theme of the letter.

1:4 myths and endless genealogies: Incorrect teaching is associated with myths in the Pastoral Letters (see 1 Tim 4:7;

2 Tim 4:5; Titus 1:14; 3:9). In this context, myths and genealogies probably refer to speculations based on family trees in the OT (1 Tim 1:7-9). God's way of doing things: This refers to management or planning under God's direction (1 Tim 1:5), though some scholars think it refers to God's plan of redemption.

1:5 The goal of instruction: The goal or purpose of God's way of doing things is ethical. love... a good conscience, and a sincere faith: This is a variation of Paul's typical formula of faith, love, and hope (1 Thess 1:3; 5:8; 1 Cor 13:13). Here Paul mentions a good conscience instead of hope. "Good conscience" is a key theme in the letter and occurs in all three Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 1:19; 3:9; 4:2; 2 Tim 1:3; Titus 1:15). One's conscience guides, evaluates, and controls behavior. 1:6 missed this goal: This description of the mistakes of the false teachers frames the letter (see 1 Tim 6:21).

1:7 teachers of the Law: The OT Law (called the "instruction" in the OT) plays a central role in the wrong teaching.

1:8 the Law is good: The OT isn't criticized, but wrong interpretations of it are rejected. The appropriate use of the Law is given in 1 Timothy 1:9: It reveals wrong behavior.

1:9-10 This series of bad behaviors is called a "vice list." Such lists are common in Greek literature concerned with right and wrong ways of life. They include attitudes and actions that that are considered immoral and should be avoided (see Rom 1:29-31; 1 Cor 5:10-11; 6:9-10; 2 Cor 12:20-21; Gal 5:19-21; Eph 4:31; 5:3-5; Col 3:5, 8; 2 Tim 3:2-5; Rev 21:8; 22:15). Sometimes a vice list will occur in contrast with a "virtue list" (e.g., Gal 5:19-26).

1:10 sound teaching: Teaching, faith, and speech that are "sound" or "healthy" is a theme in 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus (1 Tim 1:10; 6:3; 2 Tim 1:13; 4:3; Titus 1:9, 13; 2:1-2). Sound teaching has an ethical goal that contrasts with the vice list in 1:9-10.

1:11 the glorious gospel: The gospel is the whole Christian message or good news. It reflects God's glory.

Thanksgiving

<sup>12</sup>I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who has given me strength because he considered me faithful. So he appointed me to ministry <sup>13</sup>even though I used to speak against him, attack his people, and I was proud. But I was shown mercy because I acted in ignorance and without faith. <sup>14</sup>Our Lord's favor poured all over me along with the faithfulness and love that are in Christ Jesus. <sup>15</sup>This saying is reliable and deserves full acceptance: "Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners"—and I'm the biggest sinner of all. <sup>16</sup>But this is why I was shown mercy, so that Christ Jesus could show his endless patience to me first of all. So I'm an example for those who are going to believe in him for eternal life. <sup>17</sup>Now to the king of the ages, to the immortal, invisible, and only God, may honor and glory be given to him forever and always! Amen.

Importance of faith and a good conscience

<sup>18</sup>Timothy, my child, I'm giving you these instructions based on the prophecies that were once made about you. So if you follow them, you can wage a good war <sup>19</sup>because you have faith and a good conscience. Some people have ruined their faith because they refused to listen to their conscience, <sup>20</sup>such as Hymenaeus and Alexander. I've handed them over to Satan so that they can be taught not to speak against God.

Prayer for everyone

2 First of all, then, I ask that requests, prayers, petitions, and thanksgiving be made for all people. <sup>2</sup>Pray for kings and everyone who is in authority so that we can live a quiet and

1:12-17 A thanksgiving section that is a prayer in the introduction of the letter is typical, but the content of this thanksgiving is unusual. Usually Paul thanks God for those to whom the letter is addressed. Here, though, he thanks God for God's favor and mercy toward him by calling him to ministry even though he was the worst sinner of all. Paul is a positive example of the goal of love, a good conscience, and faith (1 Tim 1:5), in contrast with Hymenaeus and Alexander (1 Tim 1:18-20).

1:12 Christ... has given me strength: That we need Christ to give us strength is a Pauline theme (see Eph 3:16-17, 6:10; Col 1:11). Even more, Paul claims in his prayer that Christ gives us strength precisely at points of personal weakness (see Phil 4:13; 2 Cor 12:9-10; 2 Tim 4:17).

1:13 speak against him, attack his people, and I was proud: See Acts 9:1-4; 22:4-5, 19-20; 26:10-11. Pride or arrogance is a character flaw that leads to violence or being out of control.

1:14 faithfulness and love: Two parts of the goal of instruction (1 Tim 1:5) are "poured" over Paul. This emphasizes that the supply is unlimited or abundant.

1:15 This saying is reliable: This phrase occurs also in 1 Timothy 3:1; 4:9; 2 Timothy 2:11; Titus 3:8. It emphasizes and places authority on a shared saying or key teaching. Typically, this saying or teaching refers to traditional material that either comes just before or after in the text (Titus 3:8). Here this phrase emphasizes the saying that Jesus came into the world to save sinners. I'm the biggest sinner of all: Paul claims that a good conscience is a gift of Christ's grace and mercy through salvation, even though (or because) Paul was the worst sinner of all.

1:16 So I'm an example: Paul concludes that he is a pattern of how God shows favor and mercy to sinners for all those who believe.

1:17 This is a traditional and formal conclusion (sometimes called a "doxology") for Paul's prayer. The use of such doxologies was a common practice in the synagogue and in the early church (see 1 Tim 6:16; 2 Tim 4:18; Rom 11:36, 16:27; Gal 1:5; Eph 3:2; Phil 4:20, 1 Pet 4:11, 5:11).

1:18-20 The letter opening ends with a reminder to Timothy of the importance of faith and a good conscience through negative examples.

1:18 prophecies that were once made about you: Timothy was commissioned for leadership and ministry, prophecies were made about him. This probably took place when the elders laid hands on him and he received the gift that defined his ministry (1 Tim 4:14; 2 Tim 1:6; see sidebar, "God's Gift" at 2 Timothy 1). wage a good war: The use of images of war and competition to describe ministry is common in the letters to Timothy (1 Tim 6:12; 2 Tim 2:3, 4:7) and represents a familiar Pauline theme (2 Cor 10:3-6; Eph 6:10-17).

1:19 faith and a good conscience: See 1 Timothy 1:5. These are the essential weapons for the war (1 Tim 1:18), and are vital for both ministry and spiritual life. When a good conscience is rejected, faith is ruined, because the conscience guides, evaluates, and controls behavior (see 1 Tim 3:9; 4:2; Titus 1:15).

1:20 Hymenaeus (see 2 Tim 2:17) and Alexander (see Acts 19:33; 2 Tim 4:14) are negative examples of people who have ruined their faith because they missed the goal of a good conscience (1 Tim 1:5). They stand in contrast with Paul. handed them over to Satan: This is most likely a form of discipline where divine protection is removed from wrongdoers by prayer or isolation from the community, so that Satan is free to harm them (see 1 Cor 5:5; 2 Cor 12:7; cf. the purpose of the Adversary in Job 2:6). Paul's intention, though, is for wrongdoers to learn and stop their behavior. Satan, the devil, and demons are mentioned frequently in the letters to Timothy (1 Tim 3:6-7; 4:1; 5:15; 2 Tim 2:26). Some scholars think that Paul is referring to the formal dismissal of a wrongdoer from the church (see Titus 3:10).

2:1-15 The first steps for correcting the problems in the church at Ephesus include the goal and priority of prayer (2:1-7), and parallel instructions for men and women (2:8-15). 2:1-7 See sidebar, "Prayer." Prayer for everyone is Paul's first priority when addressing the issues in Ephesus. This is one way he wants to correct false teaching, in terms of both content and behavior. The goals of prayer are a peaceful life for the Christian community and the salvation of all people. Paul relates the salvation of all people directly to his ministry as an apostle to the Gentiles (see 1 Tim 2:7).

peaceful life in complete godliness and dignity. <sup>3</sup>This is right and it pleases God our savior, <sup>4</sup>who wants all people to be saved and to come to a knowledge of the truth. <sup>5</sup>There is one God and one mediator between God and humanity, the human Christ Jesus, <sup>6</sup>who gave himself as a payment to set all people free. This was a testimony that was given at the right time. <sup>7</sup>I was appointed to be a preacher and apostle of this testimony—I'm telling the truth and I'm not lying! I'm a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and truth.

Instructions for men and women

<sup>8</sup>Therefore, I want men to pray everywhere by lifting up hands that are holy, without anger or argument. <sup>9</sup>In the same way, I want women to enhance their appearance with clothing that is modest and sensible, not with elaborate hairstyles, gold, pearls, or expensive clothes. <sup>10</sup>They should make themselves attractive by doing good, which is appropriate for women who claim to honor God.

Prayer Jewish, Christian, and Greco-Roman practices of prayer, whether in groups or as individuals, weren't limited to specific sacred places (temples, shrines, or synagogues) or restricted to worship services. Prayer took place in all sorts of public places or outdoors, such as on the street or by a river. Prayer took place at various times during the month or week, as well as daily, in such places as the temple, synagogues, and homes (see Matt 6:5-6; Acts 2:42-47; 16:13). The command to pray everywhere follows the Pauline practice of praying and giving thanks constantly—on all occasions and in every situation (Rom 1:10; Eph 1:16; 6:18; Phil 1:4; 4:6; Col 1:9; 1 Thess 5:17, 18; 2 Thess 1:11; 2 Thess 1:3; Phlm 4). In addition, during the first three centuries of Christianity, regular church meetings took place in the home. This was a domestic context, unlike public meetings in forums, temples, or synagogues. Although someone might imagine that the reference to prayer in 1 Timothy 2:1, 8 signals instructions for a public weekly worship service, this wouldn't really fit the language Paul uses, nor the practices of prayer in the Greco-Roman world, in Judaism, or in early Christianity.

2:1 First of all: After the letter opening, Paul gives prayer as the first step and priority in addressing the issues that Timothy faces. requests, prayers, petitions, and thanksgiving: This covers the entire scope of prayers that believers are to offer on behalf of all human beings.

2:2 kings and everyone who is in authority: "All people" specifically includes the Roman emperor and officials at every level. can live a quiet and peaceful life: The goal of prayer for those in government is practical: so that the Christian community can live in peace, which pleases God (1 Tim 2:3). in complete godliness and dignity: This description of a peaceful life reflects two concerns of the Pastoral Letters, and particularly of 1 Timothy (for godliness see 1 Tim 3:16; 4:7, 8; 6:3, 5, 6, 11; 2 Tim 3:5; Titus 1:1; for dignity see 1 Tim 3:4, 8, 11; Titus 2:2, 7).

2:3-4 God... wants all people to be saved: Prayers for all people and peace in the Christian community provide the best conditions for all people to be saved, which is what God wants (1 Tim 4:10; Titus 2:11; 2 Pet 3:9).

2:5 one God... one mediator: Paul modifies Israel's great confession, which is known as the Shema and found in Deuteronomy 6:4 (see 1 Cor 8:6; Eph 4:5-6), by adding Jesus' role as the one mediator. Jesus is the only representative between God and humanity (see John 14:6; Heb 8:6).

2:6 a payment to set all people free: This is a reference to a price (or ransom) paid for the release of a slave, prisoner, or captive (see Matt 20:28; 26:28; Titus 2:14). It is for all people so it is linked to the command to pray for all people (1 Tim 2:1) and to God's desire for all people to be saved (1 Tim 2:3). testimony: This refers to the content of the Christian message, summarized in 1 Timothy 2:5-6a. It supports the universal nature of the prayer (1 Tim 2:1).

2:7 preacher and apostle... teacher of the Gentiles: Paul's role, calling, and ministry to the Gentiles (see Acts 9:15; Rom 11:13; 15:15, 16; Gal 1:16; 2:7, 8) directly support the universal nature of the prayer and testimony.

2:8-15 Instructions for men and women focus on problems connected with false teaching at Ephesus that are gender-related and threaten the action and goals of prayer outlined in 1 Timothy 2:1-3. First, Paul speaks of behavior among men that threatens holiness and a quiet and peaceful life (2:8). Then he addresses behavior among women that threatens godliness and dignity (2:9-10). Finally, he addresses the relationship between a husband and wife (2:11-15).

2:8 I want men: Paul first addresses men's behavior. pray everywhere: This includes all the locations and contexts in which prayer took place (see sidebar, "Prayer"). lifting up hands: a position of prayer. without anger or argument: Paul specifically attributes the problems of anger and conflict in Ephesus to men (1 Tim 1:3; 3:3; 6:3-5; 2 Tim 2:14, 23-24). Anger and conflict threaten the goal of prayer for a quiet and peaceful life (1 Tim 2:2).

2:9 In the same way, I want women: Second, Paul addresses the behaviors of women that threaten the goals of prayer (1 Tim 2:1-3), focusing on behavior that threatens godliness (1 Tim 2:2, 10). enhance their appearance: Paul refers to the ways 1st-century women worked to improve their appearance: elaborate hairstyles, gold, pearls... expensive clothes (see 1 Pet 3:1-7). He criticizes popular notions of beauty and the methods used to attain it, but supports the goal of being attractive. modest and sensible: The way women make themselves attractive should be the opposite of using clothing, hair, and jewelry to make one appear seductive and extravagant. (This concern reflects particular problems with widows in 1 Tim 5:6 and with general greed in 1 Tim 6:5b-10.)

2:10 doing good: Paul's notion of women's beauty is a

Supervisors in God's household

3This saying is reliable: if anyone has a goal to be a supervisor<sup>h</sup> in the church, they want a good thing. <sup>2</sup>So the church's supervisor must be without fault. They should be faithful to their spouse, sober, modest, and honest. They should show hospitality and be skilled at teaching. <sup>3</sup>They shouldn't be addicted to alcohol or be a bully. Instead, they should be gentle, peaceable, and not greedy. <sup>4</sup>They should manage their own household well—they should see that their children are obedient with complete respect, <sup>5</sup>because if they don't know how to manage their own household, how can they take care of God's church? <sup>6</sup>They shouldn't be life devoted to service. claim to honor God: According to Paul, godliness or piety is one of the primary purposes of prayer (1 Tim 2:2). Working to be seductive and/or extravagant in terms of appearance would be inconsistent with a confession of faith or a claim to virtue (1 Tim 6:3, 5b-10, 17-19).

2:11-15 Paul instructs Timothy on how to deal with the false teaching circulating among women and being passed from home to home through informal stories (see sidebar, "Women"). He addresses the problem by setting out instruction for each wife in the home. Specifically he corrects the inappropriate behavior of a wife toward her husband, and addresses fears connected with childbirth.

2:11 A wife should learn: Paul indicates how a wife or woman should receive personal instruction in the faith. See sidebar, "Women" at 1 Timothy 3, to understand why the CEB prefers "wife" to "woman" in this passage. Paul's instruction parallels 1 Corinthians 14:34-35. Both passages may indicate that the early church expected men to teach their wives about the Christian faith at home, particularly if there were divisive problems among the men and women, as there were in Ephesus and Corinth. quietly with complete submission: This is the appropriate attitude for learning for any disciple.

2:12 I don't allow a wife to teach or to control her husband: This prohibits a wife from treating her husband inappropriately. This probably indicates a problem with false teaching and behavior, particularly in the light of the wider culture's expectations. Some Christians take this assertion as a universal and permanent prohibition of women teaching and exercising authority in the worship service or in other groups with men, but the text refers to a one-on-one relationship, with no indication of a worship context. The Greek word translated as control isn't used for the way a leader in the church correctly behaves toward another person either in the NT or the corpus of ancient Greek literature. When a person does this to another person, they act like they are their master, and it often involves force, some kind of injury, or dishonor.

2:13-14 Adam was formed first: See Genesis 2. Paul may be correcting wrong teaching spreading among the women through stories about creation ("myths and genealogies"—1 Tim 1:4 and note; 4:7; 2 Tim 4:5), especially those passed down from the older women in 1 Timothy 4:7. his wife... was completely deceived: See Genesis 3. Paul may be referring to Eve as an illustration of the kind of deception going on among the women at Ephesus that needs to be corrected.

2:15 a woman will be kept safe through childbirth: Following verse 14, with its reference to Eve, this verse assumes an increase in women's pain in childbirth and number of childbirths (see Gen 3:16). Other references to issues about marriage, sex, and having children in Ephesus (1 Tim 4:3; 5:14) indicate that women are rightly concerned about death and illness from childbirth and the danger of a high number of childbirths. These were major life concerns for women in preindustrial cultures, and remain central concerns in many areas of the world. Paul's promise is comparable to other promises of healing (e.g., Jas 5:15) or rescue from disaster (e.g., Ps 7:11) in the Bible. faith, love, and holiness, combined with self-control: This expands on the qualities of godliness and dignity, which are the goals of prayer in 1 Timothy 2:2.

3:1-13 Paul gives instructions in God's household for supervisors and servants, the people who manage and take care of the church. The CEB prefers the terms "supervisors" and "servants" instead of church titles such as "bishops" and "deacons" because these terms reflect what the Greek words meant at the time that 1 Timothy was written. The terms became formal church titles that mean something quite different in various traditions than they meant in the early church.

3:1-7 Paul gives instructions for supervisors who manage the affairs of the church.

3:1 This saying is reliable: This expression indicates that the statement about the goal of being a supervisor is a common saying and gives it emphasis and authority. See note on 1 Timothy 1:15. a supervisor in the church: a person who looks after church affairs.

3:2 faithful to their spouse: "Faithful" translates the Greek expression, "a one-woman man."

3:4 respect: Respect is directly linked to the quality of dignity and to the act of giving honor to God. It's an important quality for believers according to 1 Timothy and Titus (1 Tim 2:2; 3:8, 11; Titus 2:2, 7).

3:6 They shouldn't be new believers: See 1 Timothy 5:22. Paul wanted Timothy to be careful about selecting anyone to lead who wasn't mature in the faith, and who hadn't been tested before giving authority.

3:6-7 the devil's spell... the devil's trap: The danger is that

Women Although Paul's instructions could refer to women's roles in a church service, the language of 1 Timothy 2:11-15 fits specific practices in the home much better. The Greek term gynē (used throughout this section) could simply refer to "a woman," but it's often used more specifically to refer to "a woman who is married" – that is, "a wife." The best translation is indicated by the context, usually by the mention of a man, her husband (in Paul, see 1 Cor 5:1; 7:2, 3, 4, 10, 11, 12, 14, 16, 33; 9:5; Eph 5:23, 28, 31, 33). The context in 1 Timothy 2:11-15 indicates that Paul is referring to "a wife" (and husband). First, Paul's language refers to an individual woman (singular) and an individual man. In the Greco-Roman world, such language wouldn't be appropriate in references to persons outside of close family members. Second, this text involves specific directions regarding the instruction of a woman in the faith, which is the responsibility of her husband in the home (see 1 Cor 14:35). Third, Paul's instruction is supported by a reference to the classic passage concerning marriage, Genesis 2:18-24. Fourth, this text ends with a focus on childbirth, which is clearly a domestic issue. Finally, the letter as a whole indicates that false teaching among women was being discussed in the day-to-day activities of the home. Through private storytelling, myths, genealogies, gossip, and slander, false teaching was spreading from house to house (1 Tim 3:11; 4:7; 5:13; cf. 1 Tim 1:4). In part, this false teaching attacked marriage and marital relations (1 Tim 4:3; 5:14). Moreover, 2 Timothy 3:6-7 indicates that men who were false teachers in Ephesus were targeting women in their homes. In contrast, women aren't singled out for violations in public teaching in either 1 Timothy or 2 Timothy.

If instructions for men to "pray everywhere" in 1 Timothy 2:8 shouldn't be limited to public worship services, and if the instructions concerning women's dress wouldn't have been limited to worship services, then Paul's instructions in 1 Timothy 2:11-15 would be best read as the apostle's attempt to deal with false teaching that was being spread (more privately) among women from home to home. As in Corinth (1 Cor 14:35), it was necessary for wives to receive instruction about the Christian faith in the home in order to solve these problems.

new believers so that they won't become proud and fall under the devil's spell. <sup>7</sup>They should also have a good reputation with those outside the church so that they won't be embarrassed and fall into the devil's trap.

Servants in God's household

<sup>8</sup>In the same way, servants<sup>1</sup> in the church should be dignified, not two-faced, heavy drinkers, or greedy for money. <sup>9</sup>They should hold on to the faith that has been revealed with a clear conscience. <sup>10</sup>They should also be tested and then serve if they are without fault. <sup>11</sup>In the same way, women who are servants<sup>2</sup> in the church should be dignified and not gossip. They should be sober and faithful in everything they do. <sup>12</sup>Servants<sup>3</sup> must be faithful to their spouse and manage their children and their own households well. <sup>13</sup>Those who have served well gain a good standing and considerable confidence in the faith that is in Christ Jesus.

Leading God's household

<sup>14</sup>I hope to come to you quickly. But I'm writing these things to you so that <sup>15</sup>if I'm delayed, you'll know how you should behave in God's household. It is the church of the living God and the backbone and support of the truth. <sup>16</sup>Without question, the mystery of godliness is the readers might fall victim to the plan that the devil has for them or that they might fall under his control. The devil or Satan is mentioned frequently in the letters to Timothy (1 Tim 1:20; 5:15; 2 Tim 2:26; see also 1 Tim 4:1).

3:8-13 Paul gives instructions for servants, both men (3:9-10) and women (3:11-12), who serve by looking after the practical needs of the church.

3:8 dignified: This is a defining quality for servants and believers in general in 1 Timothy and Titus (1 Tim 2:2; see notes on 1 Tim 3:4; 3:11; Titus 2:2, 7).

3:9 clear conscience: The conscience is a key concern in 1 Timothy and is mentioned in all three Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 1:5, 19; 4:2; 2 Tim 1:3; Titus 1:15). The conscience guides, evaluates, and controls behavior (see 1 Tim 1:5).

3:11 dignified: This is repeated (see 1 Tim 3:8) as an important quality for women servants in the church. Indeed, it's important for believers in general in 1 Timothy and Titus (1 Tim 2:2; see notes on 1 Tim 3:4, 8; Titus 2:2, 7). not gossip: "Gossip" here is directly related to acting like the "devil" as in 1 Timothy 3:6-7, because the devil spreads lies and destroys reputations. This is a concern about the women/widows in 1 Timothy 5:13-15.

3:14-4:7 Paul instructs Timothy on how to lead God's household.

3:15 if I'm delayed: The letter takes Paul's place in instructing Timothy on how to lead God's household.

3:16 mystery of godliness: Godliness or a holy life is a major concern in the Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 2:2; 4:7, 8; 6:3, 5, 6, 11; 2 Tim 3:5; Titus 1:1). The following phrases about Jesus may be a quotation from an early Christian hymn or creed.

great: he was revealed as a human, declared righteous by the Spirit, seen by angels, preached throughout the nations, believed in around the world, and taken up in glory.

4 The Spirit clearly says that in latter times some people will turn away from the faith. <sup>1</sup>They will pay attention to spirits that deceive and to the teaching of demons. <sup>2</sup>They will be controlled by the pretense of lying, and their own consciences will be seared. <sup>3</sup>They will prohibit marriage and eating foods that God created—and he intended them to be accepted with thanksgiving by those who are faithful and have come to know the truth. <sup>4</sup>Everything that has been created by God is good, and nothing that is received with thanksgiving should be rejected. <sup>5</sup>These things are made holy by God's word and prayer. <sup>6</sup>If you point these things out to the believers, you will be a good servant of Christ Jesus who has been trained by the words of faith and the good teaching that you've carefully followed. <sup>7</sup>But stay away from the goddess myths that are passed down from the older women.

Practices of spiritual leadership

Train yourself for a holy life! <sup>8</sup>While physical training has some value, training in holy living is useful for everything. It has promise for this life now and the life to come. <sup>9</sup>This saying is reliable and deserves complete acceptance. <sup>10</sup>We work and struggle for this: "Our hope is set on the living God, who is the savior of all people, especially those who believe." <sup>11</sup>Command these things. Teach them. <sup>12</sup>Don't let anyone look down on you because you are young. Instead, set an example for the believers through your speech, behavior, love, faith, and by being sexually pure. <sup>13</sup>Until I arrive, pay attention to public reading, preaching, and teaching. <sup>14</sup>Don't neglect the spiritual gift in you that was given through prophecy when the elders laid hands on you. <sup>15</sup>Practice these things, and live by them so that your progress will be visible to all. <sup>16</sup>Focus on working on your own development and on what you teach. If you do this, you will save yourself and those who hear you.

Caring for God's family

5 Don't correct an older man, but encourage him like he's your father; treat younger men like your brothers, <sup>2</sup>treat older women like your mother, and treat younger women like your sisters with appropriate respect.

<sup>3</sup>Take care of widows who are truly needy. <sup>4</sup>But if a particular widow has children or grandchildren, they should first learn to respect their own family and repay their parents, because

4:1-5 Paul describes the content of false teaching that characterizes the last days and the false teaching in Ephesus.

4:1 in latter times: Since false teaching is already happening, the Ephesian Christians are already living in the last days. spirits that deceive and . . . the teaching of demons: Like the devil, demonic powers deceive and are the source of false teaching (1 Tim 1:20; 3:6-7; 5:15; 2 Tim 2:26).

4:3 They will prohibit marriage and eating foods: The false teaching in Ephesus attacks marriage (see 1 Tim 2:15) and wrongly associates good things that God created with evil.

4:6 good teaching that you've carefully followed: See 2 Timothy 1:5; 3:15. Paul portrays Timothy as someone who was taught the faith from childhood by his mother and grandmother.

4:7 goddess myths that are passed down from the older women: The false teaching stems partly from stories handed down among the women around the fireplace, stories that come from non-Christian origins. False teaching is associated with myths in 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus (see 1 Tim 1:4; 2 Tim 4:5; Titus 1:14).

4:7b-16 Paul instructs Timothy on the practical activities of spiritual leadership.

4:7b-10 Train yourself . . . physical training . . . training in holy living . . . We work and struggle for this: Paul compares Timothy's spiritual training as a leader to training for an athletic competition (1 Tim 6:11-12; 2 Tim 2:5; 4:7; 1 Cor 9:24-27; Phil 2:16; Heb 12:1-17).

4:7b-8 a holy life . . . holy living: This is the same as godliness, a central theme in the Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 2:2; 3:16; 6:3, 5, 6, 11; 2 Tim 3:5; Titus 1:1).

4:9 This saying is reliable: This expression refers back to 1 Timothy 4:8 (on training in holy living) as a common saying, which gives it emphasis and authority. See note on 1 Timothy 1:15.

4:12 because you are young: The culture didn't respect people under age 40 as leaders. They preferred older leaders.

4:13 public reading, preaching, and teaching: These are the key elements in an early worship service.

4:14 laid hands on you: a practice used for the transfer of various kinds of power and authority in biblical tradition (1 Tim 5:22; 2 Tim 1:6; Acts 6:6; 13:3). See sidebar, "God's Gift" at 2 Timothy 1.

4:16 you will save yourself and those who hear you: By full commitment to personal and spiritual progress, Timothy will be able to help himself and the Ephesian church reach final salvation.

5:1-16 In this passage, Paul does two things: (1) he gives instructions to Timothy on how to take care of God's family—older men as fathers, younger men as brothers, older women as mothers, younger women as sisters; (2) he focuses on instructions about older widows and younger widows (5:3-16).

5:3 truly needy: The widows who are to receive support are genuinely destitute and have no options because they have lost their husbands and are without relatives or the possibility of remarriage.

this pleases God. <sup>5</sup>A widow who is truly needy and all alone puts her hope in God and keeps on going with requests and prayers, night and day. <sup>6</sup>But a widow who tries to live a life of luxury is dead even while she is alive. <sup>7</sup>Teach these things so that the families<sup>1</sup> will be without fault. <sup>8</sup>But if someone doesn't provide for their own family, and especially for a member of their household, they have denied the faith. They are worse than those who have no faith.

<sup>9</sup>Put a widow on the list who is older than 60 years old and who was faithful to her husband. <sup>10</sup>She should have a reputation for doing good: raising children, providing hospitality to strangers, washing the feet of the saints, helping those in distress, and dedicating herself to every kind of good thing. <sup>11</sup>But don't accept younger widows for the list. When their physical desires distract them from Christ, they will want to get married. <sup>12</sup>Then they will be judged for setting aside their earlier commitment. <sup>13</sup>Also, they learn to be lazy by going from house to house. They are not only lazy, but they also become gossips and busybodies, talking about things they shouldn't. <sup>14</sup>So I want younger widows to marry, have children, and manage their homes so that they won't give the enemy any reason to slander us. (<sup>15</sup>Some have already turned away to follow Satan.) <sup>16</sup>If any woman who is a believer has widows in her family, she should take care of them and not burden the church, so that it can help other widows who are truly needy.

Instructions for elders

5:6 live a life of luxury: While some widows are destitute, other widows in Ephesus might have access to wealth (1 Tim 2:9; 6:17-19). Paul condemns using wealth for selfish consumption instead of doing good.

5:4 repay their parents: Those in the wider Roman culture believed in giving back to those from whom they had received, particularly in the case of children who owe their parents their lives.

5:8 worse than those who have no faith: This condemns believers who don't take care of their responsibilities to their families, which would also be condemned in the wider culture. Their condition is worse than if they had never believed.

5:9 on the list: The church maintained a list of widows over age 60 who were supported by the Christian community.

5:10 washing the feet of the saints: This is a humble, dirty job that was necessary because people wore sandals and the roads were filthy. It was usually performed by slaves or women, but Jesus did it for his disciples as an example, and told his disciples that they should wash each others' feet as well (John 13:14).

5:12 setting aside their earlier commitment: Paul is concerned that the young widows' sexual frustration may lead them to behavior or a marriage that violates their faith and leads them away from Christ (1 Tim 5:11). They may even "follow Satan" (1 Tim 5:15), which is linked to a devotion to false teaching about sex and marriage (see 1 Tim 4:1, 3; 2 Tim 2:26), or gossip and slander that destroy the reputation of the church (1 Tim 3:7, 11; 5:14). Some scholars think that widows on the list (1 Tim 5:9) were required to make a solemn pledge of celibacy.

5:13 lazy... gossips and busybodies, talking about things they shouldn't: This is a stereotypical criticism of women in the wider Roman world. Its importance here stems from the probability that myths were being passed on by old women in Ephesus (see note on 1 Tim 4:7) informally through idle talk rather than more formally in the worship service.

5:14 I want younger widows to marry: Elsewhere, in 1 Corinthians 7:25-35, Paul says that he prefers widows to stay single (see especially 1 Cor 7:39). In 1 Corinthians 7:9, however, he states that it is better to marry than to "burn with passion." This is his present concern with younger widows in Ephesus (1 Tim 5:11; see note on 1 Tim 5:12). manage their homes: In the ancient world, men managed public/outdoor affairs, and women managed the home. the enemy... slander: Paul makes a number of connections between women in Ephesus and slander, which has its source in the devil, demons, and the demonic (1 Tim 3:7, 11; 5:14-15).

5:15 follow Satan: Satan and demonic powers are described as actively working against church leaders' attitudes and reputation (1 Tim 3:6-7), trapping opponents who need correction (2 Tim 2:26), serving as the source of false teaching and deception (1 Tim 4:1), and serving as the source of slander and gossip (1 Tim 3:7, 11; 5:14). All of these things could be at play here.

5:16 If any woman who is a believer: Ephesian women were responsible to manage their homes and to make these domestic arrangements, particularly for other women (see 1 Tim 5:14).

5:17-25 Paul gives instructions for elders who are leaders in general and for Timothy personally.

5:17 Elders who lead well: This group includes both older supervisors and servants of the church who do a good job. paid double: Honor is given to them by doubling the normal financial or material support.

5:18 See 1 Corinthians 9:7-9, where Paul draws on Deuteronomy 25:4 to support his case for his rights to support as an apostle. The second quotation is from a saying of Jesus recorded in Luke 10:7, which Paul also refers to in 1 Corinthians 9:14.

5:19 two or three witnesses: See Deuteronomy 17:6 where two or three witnesses were necessary for the death penalty. The misbehavior of a leader is taken seriously (1 Tim is confirmed by two or three witnesses. <sup>20</sup>Discipline those who are sinning in front of everyone so that all the others will be afraid. <sup>21</sup>I charge you before God and Christ Jesus and the elect angels to follow these practices without bias, and without playing favorites. <sup>22</sup>Don't rush to commission anyone to leadership, and don't participate in the sins of others. Keep yourself morally pure.

<sup>23</sup>Don't drink water anymore, but use a little wine because of your stomach problems and your frequent illnesses. <sup>24</sup>The sins of some people are obvious, and the sins are judged before the people must face judgment, but the sins of other people show up later. <sup>25</sup>In the same way, the good that people do is also obvious and can't be hidden.

Conduct of Christian slaves

6 Those who are under the bondage of slavery should consider their own masters as worthy of full respect so that God's name and our teaching won't get a bad reputation. <sup>2</sup>And those who have masters who are believers shouldn't look down on them because they are brothers. Instead, they should serve them more faithfully, because the people who benefit from your good service are believers who are loved. Teach and encourage these things.

Warning about false teachers

<sup>3</sup>If anyone teaches anything different and doesn't agree with sound teaching about our Lord Jesus Christ and teaching that is consistent with godliness, <sup>4</sup>that person is conceited. They don't understand anything but have a sick obsession with debates and arguments. This creates jealousy, conflict, verbal abuse, and evil suspicions. <sup>5</sup>There is constant bickering between people whose minds are ruined and who have been robbed of the truth. They think that godliness is a way to make money! <sup>6</sup>Actually, godliness is a great source of profit when it is combined with being happy with what you already have. <sup>7</sup>We didn't bring anything into the world and so we can't take anything out of it: <sup>8</sup>we'll be happy with food and clothing. <sup>9</sup>But people who are trying to get rich fall into temptation. They are trapped by many stupid and harmful passions that plunge people into ruin and destruction. <sup>10</sup>The love of money is the root of all kinds of evil. Some have wandered away from the faith and have impaled themselves with a lot of pain because they made money their goal.

5:20), but this procedure guards against unjust slander, which is also taken seriously.

5:22 Don't rush to commission anyone to leadership: Commission is by laying hands on someone to be an elder (supervisor or servant); see sidebar, "God's Gift" at 2 Timothy 1. Emergencies, pressures, or good impressions shouldn't shorten due process, or Timothy may participate in the sins of others. This would be any ethical violation and abuse of power and position. See 1 Timothy 3:6.

5:23 use a little wine: See 1 Timothy 4:1-3. Unlike some of his opponents, Paul isn't in favor of rules against food and drink (see 1 Tim 6:17). See also Colossians 2:16, where leaders might open themselves to being judged and slandered if they don't follow their opponents' prohibitions. This meaning probably explains Paul's comments in 1 Timothy 5:24-25 about the concealment of some sins, and how good is obvious. Even though drunkenness may have been a problem with the elders (1 Tim 3:3, 8; cf. Titus 1:7), and Paul's opponents argued for abstinence (1 Tim 4:1-3), Paul suggests that Timothy openly drink a moderate amount of wine for his health. Drinking alcohol in excess in secret might be in contrast with open moderation, which is a model of good behavior.

6:1-2 Paul addresses the conduct of Christian slaves and their relationships to their masters.

6:1 slavery: See Ephesians 6:5-9, Colossians 3:22-4:1, and Philemon for directions on slaves and masters. However, unlike those other passages, here masters aren't given any mutual commands or obligations.

6:3-16 The main part of the letter closes with the same topic that it opened with (1 Tim 1:1-11). Thus it warns against false teachers (6:3-10) and contrasts them with Paul's commission to Timothy (6:11-16).

6:3-5 This is a portrait of a false teacher. Compare with Paul's description of those who were spreading wrong teaching in 1 Timothy 1:3-7.

6:3, 5, 6 godliness: Godliness is the focus of this paragraph and a major theme in 1 Timothy and the Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 2:2; 3:16; 2 Tim 3:5; Titus 1:1; see notes on 1 Tim 4:7-8; 6:11).

6:3 Teaching, faith, and speech that are "sound" or "healthy"—these make up an important theme in 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus (see note on 1 Tim 1:10).

6:4 sick obsession with debates and arguments: See 1 Timothy 2:8, where Paul emphasizes anger and arguing as a particular problem among men.

6:5 robbed of the truth. They think that godliness is a way to make money! This is ironic. False teachers try to make money through holy living, but they are robbed instead. See Acts 20:33; 2 Corinthians 2:17; 11:7 for Paul's rejection of making a profit from ministry.

6:6-10 Paul addresses the problem of false teachers who try to make a profit from the church and the gospel or who have wealth as their life goal.

6:10 love of money is the root of all kinds of evil: See 1 Timothy 3:3. Note that money itself isn't evil, but an improper relationship with money involves evil. For criticisms of the love of money, see Proverbs 23:4; Ecclesiastes 5:10. For a description of money's dangers, see 1 Kings 9:4-5; Matthew 6:24; Luke 16:13; Mark 4:19; 10:21; Luke 12:33; Acts 5:1-10; 8:18-23.

<sup>11</sup>But as for you, man of God, run away from all these things. Instead, pursue righteousness, holy living, faithfulness, love, endurance, and gentleness. <sup>12</sup>Compete in the good fight of faith. Grab hold of eternal life—you were called to it, and you made a good confession of it in the presence of many witnesses. <sup>13</sup>I command you in the presence of God, who gives life to all things, and Christ Jesus, who made the good confession when testifying before Pontius Pilate. <sup>14</sup>Obey this order without fault or failure until the appearance of our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>15</sup>The timing of this appearance is revealed by God alone, who is the blessed and only master, the King of kings and Lord of lords. <sup>16</sup>He alone has immortality and lives in light that no one can come near. No human being has ever seen or is able to see him. Honor and eternal power belong to him. Amen.

Wealth of good works

<sup>17</sup>Tell people who are rich at this time not to become egotistical and not to place their hope on their finances, which are uncertain. Instead, they need to hope in God, who richly provides everything for our enjoyment. <sup>18</sup>Tell them to do good, to be rich in the good things they do, to be generous, and to share with others. <sup>19</sup>When they do these things, they will save a treasure for themselves that is a good foundation for the future. That way they can take hold of what is truly life.

Protect the tradition

<sup>20</sup>Timothy, protect what has been given to you in trust. Avoid godless and pointless discussions and the contradictory claims of so-called “knowledge.” <sup>21</sup>When some people adopted this false knowledge, they missed the goal of faith.

May grace be with you all.

6:11-16 This is a formal commission or charge of Timothy that includes a hymn to God.

6:11-12 Compete in the good fight: An athletic image is used for ministry: run away... pursue... Compete... Grab hold. See 2 Timothy 4:7 for a parallel description of Paul's behavior. See also 1 Timothy 4:7b-10; 2 Timothy 2:5; 1 Corinthians 9:24-27; Philemon 2:16; Hebrews 12:1-17. you made a good confession of it in the presence of many witnesses: This probably relates to the time when the elders and Paul laid hands on Timothy and made prophecies about him, when he received a spiritual gift or calling (1 Tim 1:18; 4:14; 2 Tim 1:6). However, it could also refer to an earlier confession or even to his baptism.

6:11 holy living: This is the same as godliness, which defines sound teaching in 1 Timothy 6:3, and is one of Timothy's primary goals. It is a major theme in the Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 2:2; 3:16; 2 Tim 3:5; Titus 1:1; see notes on 1 Tim 4:7-8; 6:3, 5, 6).

6:13-16 Timothy is given a solemn and formal command or commission about his relationship to the good confession in 1 Timothy 6:12. Paul calls his own witnesses: God and Jesus Christ. See 2 Timothy 4:1-2 for a similar commission.

6:13 Christ Jesus, who made the good confession when testifying before Pontius Pilate: Paul ties Timothy's own confession of faith to Jesus' testimony and confession in his trial before Pilate (John 18:33-38; 19:11). This is the only place that Pilate is mentioned in the NT outside of the Gospels and Acts (Matt 27:11-26; Mark 15:1-15; Luke 23:6-12; John 18:33-38; Acts 3:13, 4:27).

6:14 appearance of our Lord Jesus Christ: Timothy is to follow that command until the second coming of Christ (see 1 Thess 3:13; 5:23; 1 Cor 1:8; Phil 2:16-18).

6:15-16 Paul's commission of Timothy is backed by one of the most elegant descriptions of the nature, rule, and glory of God in the NT (see Rev 19:16; Exod 33:20; Rom 1:23; Col 1:15; John 1:18).

6:17-19 The rich are given instructions, which show the same values as 1 Timothy 6:3-10.

6:17 rich at this time: Here the rich aren't those who are trying to cheat the church for its money. Apparently, the Ephesian church has a significant group of wealthy members. See 1 Timothy 2:9; 5:6. hope in God: Paul wants them to depend on God rather than wealth. everything for our enjoyment: While Paul condemns selfish consumerism, he also repeats the conviction that there are no rules against the good things God has created (1 Tim 4:1-3; 5:23).

6:19 treasure: Using wealth to store up treasure in heaven with God is a biblical theme (Matt 6:19-21; Luke 12:21; 2 Esdr 7:77).

6:20-21 Timothy is given a final charge to protect the tradition.

6:20 protect what has been given to you in trust: Timothy is to use the teaching in this letter to guard himself and others against false teaching (see 2 Tim 1:12). so-called "knowledge": This could be a criticism against a particular kind of false teaching called “gnosticism,” which claimed to have a special and secret knowledge and insight.

6:21 missed the goal of faith: The letter ends with this final criticism of the false teachers. See 2 Timothy 2:18.

2 TIMOTHY

This letter portrays Paul as an old man near death. Paul's first court hearing has taken place (2 Tim 4:16). He is a prisoner waiting for a second hearing and expecting to die (2 Tim 4:6). The letter follows the movements of members of Paul's mission team, including Demas, Crescens, Titus, Luke, Mark and Tychicus, Prisca (Priscilla) and Aquila, Onesiphorus, Erastus, and Trophimus (2 Tim 4:9-12, 19-22). Paul is particularly interested in telling Timothy, who has supported Paul, about those who have failed to support him at his time of need, and about those who have opposed him. (For more information about the author and about Timothy, see the introduction to 1 Timothy.)

Second Timothy is written from Paul's perspective at the end of his life. He offers himself as a model for Timothy to follow and identify with in suffering and in partnership with the gospel. Timothy is advised regarding teaching, speech, and how to handle his opponents. Paul ends the letter with a dramatic charge and a commission, saying that the time of his death has arrived.

Greeting

1 From Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by God's will, to promote the promise of life that is in Christ Jesus.

2To Timothy, my dear child.

Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

Thanksgiving and prayer

3I'm grateful to God, whom I serve with a good conscience as my ancestors did. I constantly remember you in my prayers day and night. 4When I remember your tears, I long to see you so that I can be filled with happiness. 5I'm reminded of your authentic faith, which first lived in your grandmother Lois and your mother Eunice. I'm sure that this faith is also inside you. 6Because of this, I'm reminding you to revive God's gift that is in you through the laying on of my hands. 7God didn't give us a spirit that is timid but one that is powerful, loving, and self-controlled.

Don't be ashamed of the testimony

8So don't be ashamed of the testimony about the Lord or of me, his prisoner. Instead, share the suffering for the good news, depending on God's power. 9God is the one who saved and called us with a holy calling. This wasn't based on what we have done, but it was based on his own purpose and grace that he gave us in Christ Jesus before time began. 10Now his

God's Gift When Paul desires to "revive God's gift that is in you" (2 Tim 1:6), the gift here could refer to (1) Timothy's spiritual office or responsibilities, (2) his God-given abilities for ministry (his spiritual gift), or (3) receiving the Holy Spirit. Since 2 Timothy focuses on Timothy's spiritual role and responsibilities, the first option fits the context best. The "laying on of hands" refers to a practice used for the transfer of authority or power in the biblical tradition (e.g., Num 27:18-23). In Jesus' ministry and the early church, it was related to blessing, healing, receiving the Holy Spirit, and appointment for a task or ministry (Matt 19:15; Mark 6:5; 8:23-25; 10:16; Luke 4:40; 13:13; Acts 6:6; 8:17; 9:17; 13:3; 19:6; Heb 6:2). 1 Timothy 4:14 indicates that a group of elders laid hands on Timothy, he received a gift, and a prophecy was made about him (see also 1 Tim 1:18). Similarly, prophets, prophecy, and the laying on of hands had a central role when the church at Antioch sent Paul and Barnabas on their mission to the Gentiles (Acts 13:1-3).

1:1-2 The greeting follows a pattern found in other letters by Paul.

1:1 Paul: On the identity of Paul and the authorship of the Pastoral Letters, see the introduction to 1 Timothy. apostle of Christ Jesus: chosen and sent by Christ and by God's will. to promote the promise of life: a description of Paul's commission.

1:2 Timothy: one of Paul's closest associates on his mission team (Acts 17:14-15; 18:5; 19:22; 20:1-6; Phil 1:1; Col 1:1; Phlm 1). He is also the recipient of 1 Timothy. my dear child: This is an indication of a close spiritual and personal relationship with Paul, which Paul also had with Titus (Titus 1:4) and Onesimus (Phlm 10). Grace, mercy, and peace: Grace and peace are common in Pauline greetings, but mercy is an added element here and in 1 Timothy 1:2, perhaps reflecting Paul's concern for Timothy's personal needs or problems (see note on 1 Tim 1:2).

1:3-7 Gratitude to God, thanksgiving, and instruction are linked together with what Paul remembers about Timothy, including their close relationship and Timothy's journey of faith. Paul's desire to see Timothy is connected to the prayer, which is written down in order to motivate Timothy to come and visit (2 Tim 4:9). The instruction relates to how Paul wants Timothy to remember with him.

1:3 a good conscience: a theme in the Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 1:5, 19; 3:9; 4:2; Titus 1:15). The conscience guides, evaluates, and controls behavior (see 1 Tim 1:5).

1:5 Timothy's mother Eunice and his grandmother Lois were believers and had been responsible for his faith.

According to Acts 16:1, Timothy was a Christian Jew with a Greek father.

1:6 revive God's gift that is in you: Timothy needs to keep God's gift that he received in the past fully active (see 1 Tim 4:14).

1:7 a spirit that is timid: or a "timid attitude," in contrast to an attitude that is powerful, loving, and self-controlled. Paul expressed concern about Timothy's tendency to be intimidated in 1 Corinthians 16:10-11.

1:8-13 Paul urges Timothy not to be ashamed of the testimony about the Lord or of Paul through direct command (1:8), through Paul's presentation of himself as a model (1:12), and through Onesiphorus' example (1:16). Paul encourages Timothy to share his suffering (1:8), to hold on to the pattern of sound teaching (1:13), and to protect what has been placed in his trust (1:14).

1:9-10 This is a summary of the message about Jesus that Paul preaches, which includes the elements of God's initiative, Jesus as savior, salvation by grace rather than what we have done, Jesus' destruction of death, eternal life, and Christ's second coming.

1:9 a holy calling: This calling includes what God has done for the believer in salvation and also God's purpose for each believer, including a holy life. before time began: See Titus 1:2; John 1:2-3. Christ existed before the world began, and grace was given in eternity because it was contained in him.

1:10 the appearance of our savior: Christ's second coming (see 1 Tim 6:14). destroyed death: Death is no longer a grace is revealed through the appearance of our savior, Christ Jesus. He destroyed death and brought life and immortality into clear focus through the good news. <sup>11</sup>I was appointed a messenger, apostle, and teacher of this good news. <sup>12</sup>This is also why I'm suffering the way I do, but I'm not ashamed. I know the one in whom I've placed my trust. I'm convinced that God is powerful enough to protect what he has placed in my trust until that day. <sup>13</sup>Hold on to the pattern of sound teaching that you heard from me with the faith and love that are in Christ Jesus. <sup>14</sup>Protect this good thing that has been placed in your trust through the Holy Spirit who lives in us.

<sup>15</sup>You know that everyone in Asia has turned away from me, including Phygelus and Hermogenes. <sup>16</sup>May the Lord show mercy to Onesiphorus' household, because he supported me many times and he wasn't ashamed of my imprisonment. <sup>17</sup>After I arrived in Rome, he quickly looked for me and found me. <sup>18</sup>May the Lord allow him to find his mercy on that day (and you know very well how much he served me in Ephesus).

Pass on the message and share suffering

2 So, my child, draw your strength from the grace that is in Christ Jesus. <sup>2</sup>Take the things you heard me say in front of many other witnesses and pass them on to faithful people who are also capable of teaching others.

<sup>3</sup>Accept your share of suffering like a good soldier of Christ Jesus. <sup>4</sup>Nobody who serves in the military gets tied up with civilian matters, so that they can please the one who recruited them. <sup>5</sup>Also in the same way, athletes don't win unless they follow the rules. <sup>6</sup>A hardworking farmer should get the first share of the crop. <sup>7</sup>Think about what I'm saying; the Lord will give you understanding about everything.

<sup>8</sup>Remember Jesus Christ, who was raised from the dead and descended from David. This is my good news. <sup>9</sup>This is the reason I'm suffering to the point that I'm in prison like a common criminal. But God's word cannot be imprisoned. <sup>10</sup>This is why I endure everything for the sake of those who are chosen by God so that they too may experience salvation in Christ Jesus with eternal glory. <sup>11</sup>This saying is reliable:

2:8 Mt 1:1; Ac 2:24; Ro 1:3, Ro 2:16 2:9 Ph 1:7; 2Ti 1:8, 2Ti 4:17 2:10 2Co 1:6, 2Co 4:17; Col 1:24; 2Ti 2:3; 1Pt 5:10 2:11 Ro 6:8; Ga 2:20; 1Th 5:10; 1Ti 1:15 punishment for sins, and it will eventually be done away with (1 Cor 15:26, 54-57).

1:11 I was appointed: Paul's specific calling as a messenger, apostle, and teacher is the type of trust that he is passing to Timothy.

1:12 what he has placed in my trust: The testimony about the Lord is described as a collection of valuable possessions (like gold and jewelry) left in Paul's care by God. Paul has confidence that God is able to protect or guard the valuable things under his care (see 2 Tim 1:14; 1 Tim 6:20). This is a major theme in the letter. Paul could be referring to his own well-being as he experiences suffering as prisoner in the face of death. until that day: Christ's second coming. 1:13 sound teaching: Paul's message is helpful or "healthy" for faith. Teaching, faith, and speech that are "sound" or "healthy"—these make up a theme found throughout 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus (see note on 1 Tim 1:10).

1:14 this good thing that has been placed in your trust: Valuable possessions (2 Tim 1:12) are passed on to Timothy's care, and Timothy is expected to pass them on to faithful people (2 Tim 2:2).

1:15-18 In order to motivate Timothy, Paul gives positive and negative examples of how people have treated him while he is in prison.

1:15 Asia: the Roman province in which Ephesus was located. It corresponds roughly to modern-day western Turkey. See map 21. turned away from me: Paul expresses his experience of abandonment and loneliness (2 Tim 4:9-16). Phygelus and Hermogenes appear only here in the NT; they are negative examples.

1:16 Onesiphorus' household: Onesiphorus is a positive example because he wasn't ashamed of Paul and who supported him. He and his household are in the same city as Timothy (2 Tim 4:19). my imprisonment: Paul writes from prison.

2:1-13 A description of Timothy's appointment to pass on the message and accept the suffering that comes with that appointment.

2:1 my child: indicates Paul's close relationship with Timothy (see note on 1 Tim 1:2).

2:2 pass them on to faithful people: As Paul has passed the message on to Timothy, he commands Timothy to pass it on to others, who would pass it on to an even wider circle of believers (2 Tim 1:12, 14).

2:4-6 Paul illustrates dedication, submission to discipline, and hard work in the ministry with the common occupations of soldier, athlete, and farmer (2 Tim 4:7; 1 Cor 9:7, 24-27; 1 Tim 4:7b-10; 6:11-12; Heb 12:1-17).

2:8 descended from David: Christ's identity as a member of David's family is a key part of the message (see Rom 1:3; John 4:42). This is my good news: a summary of Paul's message (see 2 Tim 1:9-10; Rom 1:3).

2:9 in prison like a common criminal: See 2 Timothy 1:16.

2:11-13 This is probably part of a hymn or creed of the early church. It contains familiar Pauline and traditional material that ties the good news together with shared suffering: died together . . . live together (Rom 6:5-11; 2 Cor 5:14-15); rule together (1 Cor 4:8); if we deny him, he will also deny us (Matt 10:33; Mark 8:38; 1 John 2:22-23).

"If we have died together, we will also live together.

<sup>12</sup>If we endure, we will also rule together.

If we deny him, he will also deny us.

<sup>13</sup>If we are disloyal, he stays faithful" because he can't be anything else than what he is.

Speak, instruct, and act correctly

<sup>14</sup>Remind them of these things and warn them in the sight of God not to engage in battles over words that aren't helpful and only destroy those who hear them. <sup>15</sup>Make an effort to present yourself to God as a tried-and-true worker, who doesn't need to be ashamed but is one who interprets the message of truth correctly. <sup>16</sup>Avoid their godless discussions, because they will lead many people into ungodly behavior, <sup>17</sup>and their ideas will spread like an infection. This includes Hymenaeus and Philetus, <sup>18</sup>who have deviated from the truth by claiming that the resurrection has already happened. This has undermined some people's faith.

<sup>19</sup>God's solid foundation is still standing with this sign: The Lord knows the people who belong to him,<sup>a</sup> and Everyone who confesses the Lord's name must avoid wickedness.<sup>b</sup> <sup>20</sup>In a mansion, there aren't just gold and silver bowls but also some bowls that are made of wood and clay. Some are meant for special uses, some for garbage.<sup>c</sup> <sup>21</sup>So if anyone washes filth off themselves, they will be set apart as a "special bowl." They will be useful to the owner of the mansion for every sort of good work.

Avoid conflict with opponents

<sup>22</sup>Run away from adolescent cravings. Instead, pursue righteousness, faith, love, and peace together with those who confess the Lord with a clean heart. <sup>23</sup>Avoid foolish and thoughtless discussions, since you know that they produce conflicts. <sup>24</sup>God's slave shouldn't be argumentative but should be kind toward all people, able to teach, patient, <sup>25</sup>and should correct opponents with gentleness. Perhaps God will change their mind and give them a knowledge of the truth. <sup>26</sup>They may come to their senses and escape from the devil's trap that holds them captive to do his will.

Avoid people like this

3 Understand that the last days will be dangerous times. <sup>2</sup>People will be selfish and love money. They will be the kind of people who brag and who are proud. They will slander others, and they will be disobedient to their parents. They will be ungrateful, unholy, <sup>3</sup>unloving, contrary, and critical. They will be without self-control and brutal, and they won't love what is good. <sup>4</sup>They will be people who are disloyal, reckless, and conceited. They will love pleasure instead of loving God. <sup>5</sup>They will look like they are religious but deny God's power.

emphasize the authority of the two quotations in 2:11-13. It indicates that the quotations are expected to be familiar to the reader. See note on 1 Timothy 1:15.

2:14-21 Paul stresses moral and honorable behavior in speech, teaching, and actions.

2:17 spread like an infection: The ideas of Paul's opponents are compared to an infection that grows out of control, like gangrene. Hymenaeus and Philetus provide negative examples. Hymenaeus is mentioned in 1 Timothy 1:20.

2:18 claiming that the resurrection has already happened: They may have denied bodily resurrection and taught a spiritual resurrection. If that were true, what happened to the body wouldn't matter anymore and would allow believers to engage in immorality.

2:19 God's solid foundation: The foundation is most likely the church (1 Tim 3:15), but some suggest it is God or Christ (Rom 9:33; Eph 2:20). sign: The sign is a seal on a scroll with two quotations on it.

2:21 So if anyone washes filth off themselves: The image of bowls is similar to the pottery image in Romans 9:19-23. In Romans, however, God (the potter) decides the function of the bowl when he creates it, while here, cleaning the bowl changes its function.

2:22-26 Paul commands Timothy to avoid arguments with his opponents and to resist getting involved in silly debates.

2:22 adolescent cravings: immature, rash, and hot-headed behavior that leads to conflict—not necessarily lust.

2:24 God's slave: Paul's description of himself (Titus 1:1) and any Christian leader. As God's slave, a leader belongs to God and represents God.

2:26 the devil's trap that holds them captive to do his will: Those in this situation are under the devil's control. They are caught up in doing what the devil wants instead of pleasing God. References to the devil or Satan occur frequently in 1 Timothy (1 Tim 1:20; 3:6-7; 5:15).

3:1-9 Paul describes people who are becoming more and more ungodly, and urges Timothy to avoid them.

3:1 the last days: Paul talks about behavior "in the last days" that Timothy must avoid. Here "the last days" are present already when Paul writes.

3:2-5 This is a "vice list" of wrong attitudes and behaviors. See note on 1 Timothy 1:9-10.

Scripture Paul states that “every scripture is inspired by God” to emphasize the purpose scripture serves among those who follow Christ. Because of its divine origin, it is useful for divine purposes. The focus here is on God’s purpose in equipping God’s servant to do the work of ministry, which is relevant to the entire message of 2 Timothy. It is consistent with and directly relevant to the divine purpose of salvation. “Scripture” refers primarily to the Jewish scriptures (which we call the Old Testament), since the New Testament wasn’t yet a recognized collection. These Jewish scriptures would have included the “Septuagint,” (the Greek translation of the Hebrew Bible, which is often abbreviated as LXX). The LXX was the version of the OT used by the early church and usually quoted in the NT.

Paul indicates that “every” scripture is useful, which suggests that all types of literature found in the Jewish scriptures are useful for theology, character formation, and practice. This emphasizes the importance and value of the OT for the early church.

Avoid people like this. <sup>6</sup>Some will slither into households and control immature women who are burdened with sins and driven by all kinds of desires. <sup>7</sup>These women are always learning, but they can never arrive at an understanding of the truth. <sup>8</sup>These people oppose the truth in the same way that Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses. Their minds are corrupt and their faith is counterfeit. <sup>9</sup>But they won’t get very far. Their foolishness will become obvious to everyone like those others.

Take Paul as your model

<sup>10</sup>But you have paid attention to my teaching, conduct, purpose, faithfulness, patience, love, and endurance. <sup>11</sup>You have seen me experience physical abuse and ordeals in places such as Antioch, Iconium, and Lystra. I put up with all sorts of abuse, and the Lord rescued me from it all! <sup>12</sup>In fact, anyone who wants to live a holy life in Christ Jesus will be harassed. <sup>13</sup>But evil people and swindlers will grow even worse, as they deceive others while being deceived themselves.

<sup>14</sup>But you must continue with the things you have learned and found convincing. You know who taught you. <sup>15</sup>Since childhood you have known the holy scriptures that help you to be wise in a way that leads to salvation through faith that is in Christ Jesus. <sup>16</sup>Every scripture is inspired by God and is useful for teaching, for showing mistakes, for correcting, and for training character, <sup>17</sup>so that the person who belongs to God can be equipped to do everything that is good.

Timothy’s commission and Paul’s departure

4 I’m giving you this commission in the presence of God and of Christ Jesus, who is coming to judge the living and the dead, and by his appearance and his kingdom. <sup>2</sup>Preach the word. Be ready to do it whether it is convenient or inconvenient. Correct, confront, and encourage with patience and instruction. <sup>3</sup>There will come a time when people will not tolerate sound teaching. They will collect teachers who say what they want to hear because they

3:6-7 The climax of the vice list portrays men who target and take advantage of any women who are morally immature and naïve (burdened with sins and driven by all kinds of desires). Such women have a tendency to accept false teaching. These men prey on these vulnerable women in their homes. As a result some Ephesian households have become hubs of false teaching.

3:7 an understanding of the truth: Morally immature and naïve people can never arrive at an understanding of the truth, which is the goal for all believers (1 Tim 2:4).

3:8 Jannes and Jambres: These Egyptian magicians are examples of ungodly opponents. These two men, whose names are known to us from other Jewish documents from the period, were the opponents of Moses referred to in Exodus 7:3-13.

3:10-17 The focus here switches to Timothy. He is urged to take his past teachers (his mother and grandmother) and Paul as his models, in contrast with the ungodly opponents.

3:11 For the events in Antioch, Iconium, and Lystra, see Acts 13:14–14:23. Acts recounts the harassment and rescue that Paul experienced. Timothy was from Lystra (Acts 16:1).

3:14-15 You know who taught you: recalls the faith and teaching of Timothy’s mother Eunice and his grand-mother Lois (1 Tim 4:6; 2 Tim 1:5).

3:16-17 Every scripture is inspired by God: Paul claims that all scripture has God as its ultimate source. See sidebar, “Scripture.”

4:1-8 Paul commissions Timothy to his ministry, and indicates that Paul expects to die. See 1 Timothy 6:13-16.

4:1 I’m giving you this commission: Paul’s commission of Timothy is formal and forceful to show its importance. He appeals to the presence of God and to Jesus in his role of judge (Acts 10:42), his second coming (1 Tim 6:14), and his kingdom (2 Tim 4:18).

4:2 Preach . . . Correct, confront, and encourage: a summary of Timothy’s ministry activities.

4:3 sound teaching: People will reject sound teaching that is good for them, or “healthy.” Teaching, faith, and are self-centered. <sup>4</sup>They will turn their back on the truth and turn to myths. <sup>5</sup>But you must keep control of yourself in all circumstances. Endure suffering, do the work of a preacher of the good news, and carry out your service fully.

<sup>6</sup>I'm already being poured out like a sacrifice to God, and the time of my death is near. <sup>7</sup>I have fought the good fight, finished the race, and kept the faith. <sup>8</sup>At last the champion's wreath that is awarded for righteousness<sup>a</sup> is waiting for me. ### Final instructions

<sup>9</sup>Do your best to come to me quickly. <sup>10</sup>Demas has fallen in love with the present world and has deserted me and has gone to Thessalonica. Crescens has gone to Galatia, and Titus has gone to Dalmatia. <sup>11</sup>Only Luke is with me. Get Mark, and bring him with you. He has been a big help to me in the ministry. <sup>12</sup>I sent Tychicus to Ephesus. <sup>13</sup>When you come, bring along the coat I left with Carpus in Troas. Also bring the scrolls and especially the parchments. <sup>14</sup>Alexander, the craftsman who works with metal, has really hurt me. The Lord will pay him back for what he has done. <sup>15</sup>But watch out for him, because he opposes our teaching.

<sup>16</sup>No one took my side at my first court hearing. Everyone deserted me. I hope that God doesn't hold it against them! <sup>17</sup>But the Lord stood by me and gave me strength, so that the entire message would be preached through me and so all the nations could hear it. I was also rescued from the lion's mouth! <sup>18</sup>The Lord will rescue me from every evil action and will save me for his heavenly kingdom. To him be the glory forever and always. Amen.

speech that are "sound" or "healthy"—these make up a theme found throughout 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus (see 1 Tim 1:10).

4:4 turn to myths: False teaching (the opposite of sound teaching) is associated with myths in 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus (see 1 Tim 1:4; 4:7; Titus 1:14).

4:5 preacher of the good news: or "evangelist" Philip is the only other person with this title in the Bible (Acts 21:8; see Eph 4:11).

4:6 poured out like a sacrifice to God: Paul compares his coming death with offering wine as a sacrifice (Num 15:1-12; 28:7). See also Philipians 2:17.

4:7 I have fought the good fight, finished the race, and kept the faith: Paul sums up his career as an apostle by comparing his ministry with athletic contests. See a parallel command to Timothy in 1 Timothy 6:12 (see 2 Tim 2:5; 1 Cor 9:24-27; Phil 2:16; 1 Tim 4:7b-10; 6:11-12; Heb 12:1-17).

4:8 the champion's wreath: The prize for the winner of an athletic contest. awarded for righteousness: Here the prize is given for a righteous life. that day: The Lord (Jesus) will award the prize on the day of his second coming, which is his appearance.

4:9-18 Paul's final instructions contain personal material typical of a personal letter. He asks Timothy to visit soon, and asks him to take care of some errands for him.

4:10-12 Demas, Luke, Mark: These three are also mentioned together in Colossians 4:10-14 and Philemon 24.

4:10 deserted me: Paul describes himself as lonely in the end because most of his ministry team either deserted him (like Demas) or took other assignments (2 Tim 4:12). Titus: See the introduction to Titus.

4:11 Only Luke is with me: Paul isn't completely alone (the people in 2 Tim 4:21 are also with him), and Luke may have assisted him in writing this letter. Get Mark, and bring him with you: Luke states that Mark deserted Paul and Barnabas on Paul's first missionary journey (Acts 13:13).

Therefore, Paul refused to take Mark on the second missionary journey, and this led to an argument and split between Paul and Barnabas (Acts 15:36-41). Here Paul claims that Mark has been a big help to me in the ministry. This would indicate that, in contrast to those who deserted Paul (2 Tim 4:10, 16), Mark changed from being a deserter to being a loyal member of the team.

4:12 Tychicus: a member of the ministry team that traveled with Paul (Acts 20:4), and one of Paul's letter-carriers and messengers (Col 4:7; Eph 6:21-22; Titus 3:12).

4:13 coat... scrolls... parchments: Paul asks Timothy to pick up some personal belongings. This request is typical in personal letters. The coat would be necessary for the coming Roman winter (2 Tim 4:12), and the scrolls and parchments may have been scriptures and personal documents. in Troas: the port on the main road from Asia Minor to Greece. Paul stayed there at least once (Acts 16:8-12; 2 Cor 2:12-13).

4:14-15 Alexander: In 1 Timothy 1:20, Alexander ruined his faith, and Paul handed him over to Satan to teach him not to speak against God. However, his spiritual condition got worse so that he has become a strong opponent who has hurt Paul.

4:16 first court hearing: a reference to Paul's defense in his first trial, which is probably his first trial in Rome (not his trial in Acts 28). No one took my side: Paul faced his trial without any support. This marked a failure on the part of Paul's team and supporters. However, Paul believes that this failure was forgivable and even understandable, so he prays that it wouldn't be held against them.

4:17 But the Lord stood by me: Paul claimed that God, rather than human help, was his support and witness for his defense. gave me strength: See note on 1 Timothy 1:12. the lion's mouth: an image of death (Ps 22:21; Dan 6:21; 1 Macc 2:60). Roman citizens weren't thrown to the lions.

Final greetings

<sup>19</sup>Say hello to Prisca and Aquila and the household of Onesiphorus. <sup>20</sup>Erastus stayed in Corinth, and I left Trophimus in Miletus because of his illness. <sup>21</sup>Try hard to come to me before winter. Eubulus, Pudens, Linus, Claudia, and all the brothers and sisters say hello.

4:19-22 These verses form a closing section in which Paul and those with him exchange greetings with friends. This was typical of personal letters.

4:19 Prisca and Aquila: Prisca is a nickname for Priscilla. The two are part of the inner circle of Paul's ministry team. He lived with them and worked alongside them as a leatherworker; they hosted house churches in their home (Acts 18:2, 18; Rom 16:3; 1 Cor 16:19). Onesiphorus: See 2 Timothy 1:16-18.

4:20 Erastus: the city treasurer of Corinth and a member of Paul's ministry team (Acts 19:22; Rom 16:23). Trophimus: a travel companion and member of Paul's ministry team (Acts 20:4). He wasn't a Jew, and his presence with Paul in Jerusalem caused the riot that led to Paul's arrest (Acts 21:29).

4:21 Try hard to come to me before winter: Travel became especially difficult in the winter months (see 1 Tim 4:9).

TITUS

Titus 1:1 names Paul as its author. However, the events in the letter don't fit easily into the chronology of Paul's life that we follow in the book of Acts. Traditionally, scholars place the letter's events after Acts 28. This date assumes Paul was released from prison rather than executed in Rome. However, many scholars think Titus was written by someone later under Paul's name. They believe it belongs to a group of letters that address interests and issues of church government and false teaching after Paul's death, and that the author chose Crete as the letter's destination because of a tradition that associates Titus with Crete. Whether Paul wrote it or not, the church has placed Titus in its current position as one of Paul's letters and in relationship to Paul's other two letters to an individual, 1 and 2 Timothy. So it's important to read this letter on its own terms. (For more discussion of the authorship of this letter, see the introduction to 1 Tim.)

The letter is addressed to Titus, a Gentile who was one of Paul's converts. Titus was also a member of Paul's missionary team and Paul's representative to Corinth during a tense and difficult time in his relationship with that church (see 2 Cor 7:6-7, 13-16; 12:12-18; 8:6-7, 16-21). Titus isn't mentioned in Acts, but it's clear from Galatians and 2 Corinthians that he was an important participant in Paul's work, and that he was a member of Paul's entourage during part of Paul's third missionary journey. Titus was a test case for Paul's gospel. Paul took Titus with him from Antioch to Jerusalem when Paul presented his gospel to the Gentiles and to the Jerusalem leadership (Gal 2:1-2). When they accepted Titus as a Gentile believer, this indicated their approval of the gospel Paul proclaimed (Gal 2:3). The Pauline letters show that Titus was both a diplomatic and committed member of the team. He was able to cope successfully with confrontation and controversy when others couldn't.

The letter was sent to Titus in Crete, which is the fourth largest island in the Mediterranean Sea, just south of the Aegean Sea. The letter indicates that Paul and Titus worked together briefly in Crete (Titus 1:5), before Paul left Titus behind as his representative to organize the church (Titus 1:5-9) and to deal with opposition that included Jewish myths, genealogies, fights about the Law, and exploitation for money. The purpose of the letter is to commission Titus for those tasks, and to give him instructions.

Crete harbor (Titus 1:5)
Shutterstock

The themes of the letter include the need for the Christian community to do good (Titus 1:8, 16; 2:3, 7, 14; 3:1, 8, 14) and the importance of respectful behavior among believers toward each other as well as outsiders (Titus 2:1-3:2). Such behavior contrasts with the reputation of the people of Crete and with the behavior of Paul's opponents (Titus 1:10-16). The letter's important themes include church organization and roles, the correction of problems in Crete, and summaries of Christian teaching.

Greeting

1 From Paul, a slave of God and an apostle of Jesus Christ. I'm sent to bring about the faith of God's chosen people and a knowledge of the truth that agrees with godliness. 2 Their faith and this knowledge are based on the hope of eternal life that God, who doesn't lie, promised before time began. 3 God revealed his message at the appropriate time through preaching, and I was trusted with preaching this message by the command of God our savior.

4 To Titus, my true child in a common faith.

Grace and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our savior.

Appointing elders

5 The reason I left you behind in Crete was to organize whatever needs to be done and to appoint elders in each city, as I told you. 6 Elders should be without fault. They should be faithful to their spouse,<sup>a</sup> and have faithful children who can't be accused of self-indulgence or rebelliousness. 7 This is because supervisors<sup>b</sup> should be without fault as God's managers: they shouldn't be stubborn, irritable, addicted to alcohol, a bully, or greedy. 8 Instead, they should show hospitality, love what is good, and be reasonable, ethical, godly, and self-controlled. 9 They must pay attention to the reliable message as it has been taught to them so that they can encourage people with healthy instruction and refute those who speak against it.

Correcting rebellious people

10 In fact, there are many who are rebellious people, loudmouths, and deceivers, especially some of those who are Jewish believers.<sup>c</sup> 11 They must be silenced because they upset entire households. They teach what they shouldn't to make money dishonestly. 12 Someone who is one of their own prophets said, "People from Crete are always liars, wild animals, and lazy gluttons." 13 This statement is true. Because of this, correct them firmly, so that they can be healthy in their faith. 14 They shouldn't pay attention to Jewish myths and commands from

1:1 Paul: On the identity of Paul, see the introduction to 1 Timothy. slave of God: a term that shows that the author is completely obedient and committed to God, and that he is God's representative. Paul describes himself elsewhere as Christ's slave (Rom 1:1; Gal 1:10; Phil 1:1). apostle of Jesus Christ: one who is chosen and sent by Christ. to bring about the faith... and a knowledge... that agrees with godliness: This introduces a primary theme of the letter: namely, that correct doctrine agrees with doing good. Ancient letters often mentioned their primary themes at the beginning of the letter. Godliness is a major theme of the Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 2:2; 3:16; 4:7, 8; 6:3, 5, 6, 11; 2 Tim 3:5).

1:2 God, who doesn't lie: in contrast with rebellious people in Crete (Titus 1:10-16; especially 1:12).

1:4 Titus: a trusted and valuable member of Paul's mission team (Gal 2:1-3; 2 Cor 12:12-13, 18; 7:6-7, 13-16; 8:6-7, 16-21; 12:18). my true child: an indication of a close spiritual and personal relationship with Paul, which the apostle also shared with Timothy (see 1 Tim 1:2) and Onesimus (Phlm 10). Christ Jesus our savior: The reference to Jesus as Christ and savior is repeated elsewhere in the letter (Titus 2:13; 3:6). 1:5-9 Titus was left behind in Crete to organize the church and appoint elders. The list of requirements for elders is similar to the one in 1 Timothy 3:1-7. The differences reflect the different situations the letters address.

1:5 I left you behind in Crete: Paul stopped in Crete when he was under arrest on the way to Rome (Acts 27:7-8). The reference would require that Paul went to Crete another time, together with Titus, and this isn't recorded in Acts. However, Acts ends before Paul dies, and some early church tradition refers to Paul's later missionary journeys. appoint elders: The selection of leadership in the church in Crete was left for Titus to complete (see Acts 14:23).

1:6 faithful to their spouse: or "a one-woman man," a way of talking about marital faithfulness. The focus is on sexual faithfulness, most clearly shown by conduct in the marriage relationship. It involves avoiding all forms of sexual immorality. Paul doesn't here require that elders must be men, nor that elders must be married (note that Paul himself was single, according to 1 Cor 7:7). Paul doesn't forbid remarriage either (see 1 Cor 7:39; 1 Tim 5:14).

1:9 healthy instruction: correct or "sound teaching" (1 Tim 1:10; 6:3; 2 Tim 1:13; 4:3; Titus 2:1) that contrasts with the teaching of some Jewish Christians who were fighting about the Law and genealogies (Titus 3:9), and spreading myths (Titus 1:10, 14; 3:9; 1 Tim 1:4). Teaching, faith, and speech that are "sound" or "healthy"—these make up a theme in 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus (see note on 1 Tim 1:10). 1:12 one of their own prophets: Paul quotes the poet Epimenides from 6th-century BCE Crete in order to criticize the people of Crete. (Epimenides is here called a prophet because he's credited with making several predictions that were fulfilled.) People from Crete are always liars, wild animals and lazy gluttons: Like Corinth, Crete has a bad reputation. This is one of the most obvious examples in the NT of the use of the cultural values of honor and shame. The group identity and behavior of believers in Crete receives honor by contrasting them with the bad reputation of Crete and the behavior of the opponents. Their identity as believers is further defined with reference to God's character (God doesn't lie; Titus 1:2), by the nature of the requirements for elders (Titus 2:1-7), and by teaching about godliness (Titus 2:1-3:8).

1:14 Jewish myths: The content of these myths is uncertain, but they are opposed to "the reliable message" (Titus 1:9). The problems in Crete were associated more closely people who reject the truth. <sup>15</sup>Everything is clean to those who are clean, but nothing is clean to those who are corrupt and without faith. Instead, their mind and conscience are corrupted. <sup>16</sup>They claim to know God, but they deny God by the things that they do. They are detestable, disobedient, and disqualified to do anything good.

Teaching all people how to be godly

2But you should talk in a way that is consistent with sound teaching. <sup>2</sup>Tell the older men to be sober, dignified, sensible, and healthy in respect to their faith, love, and patience.

<sup>3</sup>Likewise, tell the older women to be reverent in their behavior, teaching what is good, rather than being gossips or addicted to heavy drinking. <sup>4</sup>That way they can mentor young women to love their husbands and children, <sup>5</sup>and to be sensible, morally pure, working at home, kind and submissive to their own husbands, so that God's word won't be ridiculed. <sup>6</sup>Likewise, encourage the younger men to be sensible <sup>7</sup>in every way. Offer yourself as a role model of good actions. Show integrity, seriousness, <sup>8</sup>and a sound message that is above criticism when you teach, so that any opponent will be ashamed because they won't find anything bad to say about us.

<sup>9</sup>Tell slaves to submit to their own masters and please them in everything they do. They shouldn't talk back <sup>10</sup>or steal. Instead, they should show that they are completely reliable in everything so that they might make the teaching about God our savior attractive in every way.

with Jewish controversies than were the issues in 1 and 2 Timothy (see 1 Tim 1:4).

1:15 clean: an indication that some Jewish Christians were trying to encourage or enforce their purity code on Gentiles. See the parallel in Romans 14:20, where Jewish food laws are in view. conscience: a theme in the Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 1:5, 19; 3:9; 4:2; 2 Tim 1:3). The conscience guides, evaluates, and controls behavior (see 1 Tim 1:5).

1:16 anything good: or good works (see Titus 1:8; 2:3, 7, 14; 3:1, 8, 14). True knowledge of God results in good moral service.

2:1–3:8 The majority of the letter to Titus is about teaching all people to be godly. Paul teaches Titus to instruct the various members of the household (2:1–10), then he provides Titus with general instructions for promoting respectful behavior in the Christian community toward Titus as a leader and toward outsiders (2:11–3:8).

2:1–10 Paul instructs Titus to speak to the members of the household—older men, older women, young women, young men, and slaves—in a way that is consistent with sound teaching (see Eph 5:22–6:9; Col 3:18–4:1; 1 Tim 5:1–16; 1 Pet 2:18–3:7). The desired qualities in character contrast with the reputation of the people of Crete and the opponents (Titus 1:10–16). On these points, believers should live respectable lives as measured according to the wider culture's standards. The respectable behavior of young women, young men, and slaves is particularly emphasized as important for the mission of the Christian community. This would keep the Christian message from being ridiculed, silence the opponents, and make Christian teaching attractive.

2:1 sound teaching: See Titus 1:9. For "healthy" or "sound" faith, see Titus 1:13.

2:2 older men: not referring to the church's leaders, but

Leaders The CEB prefers to call the appointed church leaders "supervisors" (sometimes translated as bishops) because the Greek words meant "supervisor" in the 1st century. The terms "elders" and "supervisors" in Titus 1:6–7 may refer to the same position, or they may refer to separate positions whose responsibilities overlap somewhat (Acts 20:17, 28; Phil 1:1; 1 Tim 3:1–7; 5:17–19). Supervisors are further described as managers (or stewards) in Titus 1:7. In Acts 14:23, Paul and Barnabas appoint elders in every church on their journey back during the first missionary journey.

the expectations are similar. dignified: This is an important quality for believers in general and especially for church leaders in the Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 2:2; 3:4, 8, 11; Titus 2: 7). 2:3 older women: reverent behavior with the further responsibility to teach what is good.

2:4 mentor young women: The instruction for young women is indirect. Older women should instruct younger women in appropriate conduct as wives and mothers.

2:5 submissive to their own husbands, so that God's word won't be ridiculed: The outsiders' expectations, and the moral code for the household, motivate and shape godly behavior. Any disrespectful behavior among wives would weaken the Christian message in the eyes of those outside the community of Jesus' followers. The same principle is stated positively in 1 Peter 3:1: submission can be effective in winning others to the faith (see also Eph 5:22; Col 3:18).

2:6–8 younger men: Much of Titus' instruction of younger men would be indirect, coming through Titus' own example as a role model. seriousness: This refers to dignity, a defining quality for church leaders and, indeed, for all believers according to the Pastoral Letters (see 1 Tim 2:2; 3:4, 8, 11; Titus 2:2, 7).

2:8 Behavior of Titus and the young men that is above criticism silences opponents.

2:9–10 slaves: Slaves were numerous in Greco-Roman society and were counted among the household. Many were attracted to Christianity, and it was important for the survival of the Christian community that Christian slaves wouldn't be suspected of disobedient behavior (see Eph 6:5; Col 3:22–25; 1 Pet 3:18–25).

2:10 make the teaching about God our savior attractive in every way: This gives the role of the slave higher status and honor in the Christian community, even though slaves had few rights and little honor in Greco-Roman culture.

<sup>11</sup>The grace of God has appeared, bringing salvation to all people. <sup>12</sup>It educates us so that we can live sensible, ethical, and godly lives right now by rejecting ungodly lives and the desires of this world. <sup>13</sup>At the same time we wait for the blessed hope and the glorious appearance of our great God and savior Jesus Christ. <sup>14</sup>He gave himself for us in order to rescue us from every kind of lawless behavior, and cleanse a special people for himself who are eager to do good actions.

<sup>15</sup>Talk about these things. Encourage and correct with complete authority. Don't let anyone disrespect you. <sup>1</sup>Remind them to submit to rulers and authorities. They should be obedient and ready to do every good thing. <sup>2</sup>They shouldn't speak disrespectfully about anyone, but they should be peaceful, kind, and show complete courtesy toward everyone. <sup>3</sup>We were once foolish, disobedient, deceived, and slaves to our desires and various pleasures too. We were spending our lives in evil behavior and jealousy. We were disgusting, and we hated other people. <sup>4</sup>But "when God our savior's kindness and love appeared, <sup>5</sup>he saved us because of his mercy, not because of righteous things we had done. He did it through the washing of new birth and the renewing by the Holy Spirit, <sup>6</sup>which God poured out upon us

Doing Good There is repeated emphasis in Titus (and in all the Pastoral Letters) on loving what is good, teaching what is good, and particularly doing good actions. This is in contrast with the people who are corrupt and unfit for doing anything good (Titus 1:16), or who live unproductive lives (Titus 3:14). In Titus 2:14, Jesus Christ offered himself to create a people who are eager to do good actions. In Titus 3:8, doing good is the result of being saved from our terrible situation, being made righteous and inheriting the hope of eternal life described in Titus 3:3-7. In summary, Titus indicates that the experience of salvation results in a life of service (cf. 2 Cor 9:8; Eph 2:10; Col 1:10; 2 Thes 2:17). Doing good must be a distinctive mark of leadership (Titus 1:8), teaching (Titus 2:3), and setting an example (Titus 2:7). As the letter closes, and Paul gives practical instructions about assisting his co-workers, he looks at it as an opportunity for the people of Crete to learn to devote themselves to doing good (Titus 3:14). Paul indicates that doing good is a goal that characterizes the Christian life.

2:11-14 Paul provides the basis for the previous instruction: God's grace, which educates believers to live respectable lives and engage in good moral service.

2:11 grace of God: the undeserved favor that God shows all people by bringing salvation to them and cleansing a special people for God's purposes (Titus 2:14). Here salvation includes the rejection of ungodly lives and selfish desires (Titus 2:12) and rescue from lawless behavior (Titus 2:14).

2:12 educates: the process of training a child. God's grace (Titus 2:11) isn't simply God's attitude toward people, but includes God's activity for and in God's people.

2:13 our great God and savior Jesus Christ: One of the few places in the NT that refers to Jesus as God (see also John 1:18; 20:28; Rom 9:5).

2:14 rescue: See note on 1 Timothy 2:6. This rescue (or ransom, redemption) is from slavery to the power of evil/lawless behavior and its consequences (Rom 7:21-24).

2:15-3:8 Paul instructs Titus to encourage respectful and courteous behavior in the Christian community—toward Titus' own authority, toward governmental authority, and toward outsiders more generally. The basis for believers' attitudes toward outsiders in the Greco-Roman world was that believers, though guilty of the same behavior, were saved because of God's mercy, not because believers were somehow better than others.

2:15 Talk about these things: "These things" refers back to the instructions in Titus 2:1-10, but also looks forward to the following instructions (see Titus 3:8). This includes teaching respectful behavior to the Christian community in Crete. Encourage and correct with complete authority. Don't let anyone disrespect you: Paul tells Titus to assume the position of a leader in the Christian community. He's entitled to the respect given to an authority figure.

3:1 rulers and authorities: This refers to all forms of state government. As one with authority in the Christian community, Titus in turn should teach submission to governmental authorities. every good thing: It's assumed that obedience to authority will result in good behavior on the parts of those holding authority (see 1 Pet 2:13-15).

3:2 disrespectfully: Paul prohibits abusive speech; that is, speech that isn't peaceful, kind, and courteous. Respect should be shown to everyone.

3:3 We were once: The wrongdoing in which Paul, Titus, and these believers participated before they were saved is just as bad as or even worse than the behavior of any of the outsiders or opponents (cf. Titus 1:10-16). Accordingly, the believers in Crete have no reason to look down on anyone.

3:4-5 kindness... love... mercy: a full description of grace (see Titus 2:10, 11; 3:7). God saved believers because of God's kindness, love, and mercy, not because of their righteous actions.

3:5 through the washing of new birth and the renewing by the Holy Spirit: God saved believers from the old way of life (Titus 3:3) to a new life. This transformation is described as a new birth (see John 3:3; 1 Pet 1:3, 23) that is put on display by the physical washing of baptism and by a changed life brought about by the Holy Spirit (see Rom 12:2). See John 3:5, where being born of water and the Spirit are combined.

3:6 poured out upon us generously: The outpouring of the Holy Spirit (see Rom 5:5) enables a transformed life. See Ephesians 1:7-8, where Paul describes God's overflowing grace poured over us.

generously through Jesus Christ our savior. <sup>7</sup>So, since we have been made righteous by his grace, we can inherit the hope for eternal life.” <sup>8</sup>This saying is reliable. And I want you to insist on these things, so that those who have come to believe in God might give careful attention to doing good. These things are good and useful for everyone.

Final Instructions and greetings

<sup>9</sup>Avoid stupid controversies, genealogies, and fights about the Law, because they are useless and worthless. <sup>10</sup>After a first and second warning, have nothing more to do with a person who causes conflict, <sup>11</sup>because you know that someone like this is twisted and sinful—so they condemn themselves.

<sup>12</sup>When I send Artemas or Tychicus to you, try to come to me in Nicopolis, because I’ve decided to spend the winter there. <sup>13</sup>Help Zenas the lawyer and Apollos on their journey with enthusiasm so that they won’t need anything. <sup>14</sup>But our people should also learn to devote themselves to doing good in order to meet pressing needs so they aren’t unproductive.

<sup>15</sup>Everyone with me greets you; greet those who love us faithfully.

Grace be with all of you.

3:14 Phi 1:11; Col 1:10; Ti 3:8 3:15 1Ti 1:2; Heb 13:25

3:7 made righteous by his grace: A summary of Titus 3:4-5.

3:8 This saying is reliable: This expression emphasizes and gives authority to the statement above it (Titus 3:4-7) and identifies it as a common saying (see note on 1 Tim 1:15). I want you to insist on these things: a link back to Titus 2:15. doing good: a summary of an important theme of the letter (Titus 1:8, 16; 2:3, 7, 14; 3:1, 8, 14).

3:9-15 This passage addresses Titus with final instructions and greetings, focusing on instructions for dealing with opponents (3:9-10), travel plans (3:12-13), instructions for believers to do good (3:14), and a typical letter closing with an exchange of greetings and blessing (3:15).

3:9 genealogies: This probably involves speculations about the genealogies in biblical texts (see 1 Tim 1:4). fights about the Law: The application of the Law to Gentiles can refer to a general problem with Jewish Christians, but see note on Titus 1:15 for a particular problem with purity requirements. 3:10-11 Strict boundaries are set against opponents in the letter to Titus, in contrast with 2 Timothy 2:24-26. See also 1 Timothy 6:3-5.

3:10 have nothing more to do with a person: Social isolation is a form of church discipline for both Jesus and Paul (cf. Matt 18:15-17; Rom 16:17-18; 1 Cor 5:3, 9-11; 2 Thess 3:6, 14).

3:12 Tychicus is another member of Paul’s mission team (Acts 20:4; 2 Tim 4:12). He’s been one of Paul’s letter-carriers and messengers (Eph 6:21-22; Col 4:7). spend the winter there: The nature of the travel plans to spend the winter in Nicopolis suggest that this letter was written just as winter was beginning, and that Paul was free to travel.

3:13 Apollos is another member of Paul’s mission team (Acts 18:24-28; 19:1; 1 Cor 1:12; 3:4-6:22; 16:12). Apparently he is in Crete with Zenas.

3:14 devote themselves to doing good: Though Paul depends on Titus to give assistance, the pressing needs of Apollos and Zenas are an opportunity for the Christian community in Crete to apply one of the themes of the letter and do good by providing assistance and hospitality (Titus 1:8, 16; 2:3, 7, 14; 3:1, 8, 14).

3:15 Grace: refers to God’s gracious and loving presence—a closing blessing that extends to the Christian community (see 1 Tim 6:21; 2 Tim 4:22).

PHILEMON

Philemon is Paul's shortest letter, containing only 335 words in the Greek text, and it was probably his last. Paul wrote it to prominent members—Philemon, Apphia, Archippus, and others—of a house church in Asia Minor in the mid-1st century CE. He addressed Philemon in particular, because Paul's concern was really about Philemon's treatment of Onesimus, whom Philemon had enslaved. Paul wanted a safe welcome for Onesimus when Onesimus returned home.

Through this letter readers see Paul's ability to frame an argument and persuade, see how church leaders might have negotiated difficult issues, and observe the social aspects of slavery in 1st-century Christianity. The shortness of the letter, however, leaves many unanswered questions: How did Onesimus meet Paul? Did he escape to seek Paul's assistance? If Onesimus has run away, why did he do so? Is Paul asking for Onesimus' freedom? Or is he simply hoping Philemon won't punish Onesimus? Is this letter dealing with the larger question of slavery in the Roman world? Or is it primarily wrestling with the possible punishment or even death of Onesimus? Readers of this letter often try to fill in the background by providing answers to these kinds of questions, but Paul doesn't tell us much about the past here. Instead, his focus is on how Philemon will receive Onesimus.

The Roman world had firm laws regarding slavery. Slaves had no civil rights in Roman society. While laws were in place to check awful abuse of the enslaved, the Roman government rarely got involved with the property rights of owners. At the same time, Rome had severe laws against interfering with slavery. Assisting a runaway slave was illegal. Once recaptured, escaped slaves normally received harsh punishment. Heads of households, like Philemon (Phlm 1-2), could legally execute returned slaves.

Slavery was also an ancient Israelite practice. Despite Israel's exodus from slavery in Egypt, slavery was allowed but it was considered a type of punishment for foreign captives (cf. Lev 25:44-46). If fellow Hebrews were enslaved, their enslavement was to last for a six-year period only, and liberation was to follow in the seventh year (Deut 15:12-15). The teaching that seems like it would have been most relevant to Paul's letter is that escaped slaves (if that's what Onesimus was) should not be returned to their master (Deut 23:15). But Paul did not use that teaching in his letter—possibly because that law was no longer understood in absolute terms. For instance, Philo (20–54 CE), a Jewish philosopher and Paul's contemporary, interprets Deuteronomy 23:15 as saying that the runaway shouldn't be returned to a cruel master.

Slavery was clearly part of the milieu of early Christianity. Early Christians didn't defend the system directly, but they didn't attack it either. Slavery was simply assumed. So, in this brief letter to one prominent Christian and the members of a house church, Paul wrote from under house arrest (Phlm 1, 9, 10, 13, 23) in the early 60s CE with a plea and a request: that Philemon receive Onesimus "as a dearly loved brother" (Phlm 16). Paul didn't base his appeal on the demands of the Instruction (or Torah, cf. Deut 23:15). Instead, his appeal, this letter of subtle protest, was based on love.

Greeting

<sup>1</sup>From Paul, who is a prisoner for the cause of Christ Jesus, and our brother Timothy.

To Philemon our dearly loved coworker, <sup>2</sup>Apphia our sister, Archippus our fellow soldier, and the church that meets in your house.

<sup>3</sup>May the grace and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

Paul's prayer for Philemon

<sup>4</sup>Philemon, I thank my God every time I mention you in my prayers <sup>5</sup>because I've heard of your love and faithfulness, which you have both for the Lord Jesus and for all God's people.

<sup>6</sup>I pray that your partnership in the faith might become effective by an understanding of all that is good among us in Christ. <sup>7</sup>I have great joy and encouragement because of your love, since the hearts of God's people are refreshed by your actions, my brother.

Paul's appeal for Onesimus

<sup>8</sup>Therefore, though I have enough confidence in Christ to command you to do the right thing, <sup>9</sup>I would rather appeal to you through love. I, Paul—an old man, and now also a prisoner for Christ Jesus—<sup>10</sup>appeal to you for my child Onesimus. I became his father in the faith during my time in prison. <sup>11</sup>He was useless to you before, but now he is useful to both of us. <sup>12</sup>I'm sending him back to you, which is like sending you my own heart. <sup>13</sup>I considered keeping him with me so that he might serve me in your place during my time in prison because of the gospel. <sup>14</sup>However, I didn't want to do anything without your consent so that your act of kindness would occur willingly and not under pressure. <sup>15</sup>Maybe this is the reason that Onesimus was separated from you for a while so that you might have him back forever—<sup>16</sup>no longer as a slave but more than a slave—that is, as a dearly loved brother.

1-3 Greeting.

1 prisoner: Usually, Paul prefers to refer to himself as an "apostle" (cf. Phlm 9, 10, 13, 23; Rom 1:1; 1 Cor 1:1; Gal 1:1) or "slave of Christ Jesus" at the opening of his letters (cf. Rom 1:1; Phil 1:1). Here he writes from a prison cell. cause of Christ Jesus: Compare with Philemon 9. brother: term used for fellow Christians, indicating they're viewed as being members of God's family. Timothy: Paul's close associate, who is frequently a cosponsor of Paul's letters (cf. 2 Cor 1:1; Phil 1:1; 1 Thess 1:1). Philemon: Mentioned only here in the NT, he's addressed first because he's the primary focus of Paul's letter (see Phlm 4). coworker: Paul uses this term regularly for those who assist in his mission (cf. Phlm 24; Rom 16:3, 9, 21; 1 Cor 3:9; 2 Cor 8:23; Phil 2:25; 4:3; 1 Thess 3:2).

2 Apphia: possibly Philemon's wife or sister, but more likely a leader in this local house church. Paul rarely addresses a woman in the opening of his letters, which may suggest Apphia's prominence (cf. 1 Cor 1:11; Rom 16:1, 3, 6, 7). Archippus: Compare with Colossians 4:17. fellow soldier: implies he's another leader of this local Christian community. Paul uses this term only one other time for another "coworker," Epaphroditus (Phil 2:25). your house: Paul uses the Greek singular "you," which may refer to Philemon's household, Apphia's (as a prominent matron) house, or Archippus' house. The letter is written to the entire church community. 3 grace and peace: a common greeting in the NT (cf. Rom 1:7; 1 Cor 1:3; 2 Cor 1:2; Gal 1:3; Phil 1:2; 1 Thess 1:1). Lord Jesus: "Jesus" is never used on its own in this letter; it always occurs with the title "Lord" and/or "Christ."

4-7 Paul's prayer for Philemon.

4 thank my God: a customary prayer of thanksgiving in letter openings (Rom 1:8; 1 Cor 1:4; Phil 1:3; 1 Thess 1:2).

5 love and faithfulness: or "love and faith." These characteristics are made visible in Philemon's actions (cf. Phlm 7).

6 become effective: suggests Philemon's response to Paul's request will make Philemon's earlier work among God's people energized and productive.

7 love: Compare with Philemon 5, 9. refreshed: may refer to a (financial?) contribution that allowed God's people a reprieve and a period of rest. brother: See note on Philemon 1. 8-22 Paul's appeal for Onesimus.

8 enough confidence . . . to command: Paul never uses this type of "command" language elsewhere, and he only rarely invokes the language of bold confidence (cf. 2 Cor 3:12; 7:4; Phil 1:20). Here this language is the result either of his status as apostle or it's an attempt to claim the role of pater familias ("head of the family").

9 appeal . . . through love: Compare with the use of "love" elsewhere (Phlm 5, 7). old man: Paul is probably 56 or 57 when he writes his last letter. prisoner: See note on Philemon 1.

10 Onesimus: the first mention of Onesimus, who is Philemon's slave and the subject of this letter. his father in the faith: Paul uses feminine imagery (the Greek means "I give birth to") to describe this spiritual relationship (cf. 1 Cor 4:15; Rom 9:11; Gal 4:23-24).

11 useless . . . useful: This is a play on the name "Onesimus," which means "useful, beneficial."

12 sending him back: Interference in the social order is a criminal activity (see intro.). my own heart: Compare with Philemon 7.

13 serve me: When Paul uses this verb he has in mind the careful attention given to funds provided to care for the poor (cf. Rom 15:25; 2 Cor 8:19-20). Onesimus was probably responsible for managing the gifts that Christians sent to take care of Paul's physical needs during his imprisonment. 14 It isn't clear what this act of kindness might entail: (1) send Onesimus to Paul for service (Phlm 13), (2) accept Onesimus back without penalty (Phlm 15, 17), or (3) release Onesimus from slavery (Phlm 16).

16 no longer as a slave: may imply that Paul requests the release of Onesimus. loved brother: Paul uses the same term of association he uses for Timothy (see Phlm 1 and note) and Philemon (Phlm 7, 20). brother to you . . . spiritually: may imply that Paul wants Onesimus to be treated fairly, though perhaps not released from slavery.

He is especially a dearly loved brother to me. How much more can he become a brother to you, personally and spiritually in the Lord!

<sup>17</sup>So, if you really consider me a partner, welcome Onesimus as if you were welcoming me. <sup>18</sup>If he has harmed you in any way or owes you money, charge it to my account. <sup>19</sup>I, Paul, will pay it back to you (I'm writing this with my own hand). Of course, I won't mention that you owe me your life.

<sup>20</sup>Yes, brother, I want this favor from you in the Lord! Refresh my heart in Christ. <sup>21</sup>I'm writing to you, confident of your obedience and knowing that you will do more than what I ask. <sup>22</sup>Also, one more thing—prepare a guest room for me. I hope that I will be released from prison to be with you because of your prayers.

Final greeting

<sup>23</sup>Epaphras, who is in prison with me for the cause of Christ Jesus, greets you, <sup>24</sup>as well as my coworkers Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke.

<sup>25</sup>May the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.

17 partner: Compare with Philemon 6.

18 harmed you . . . owes you: Paul assumes any debts Onesimus owes Philemon.

19 my own hand: Paul didn't usually write out his own letters (cf. Rom 16:22; 1 Cor 1:1), though he occasionally provided a final greeting as a signature (cf. 1 Cor 16:21; Gal 6:11). owe me your life: Paul may have shared the gospel with Philemon.

20 I want this favor: The Greek verb oninēmi ("to receive benefit" or "to be useful") is wordplay on "Onesimus." Refresh my heart: Compare with Philemon 7, 12.

21 It's unclear what Paul is asking (see note on Phlm 14), but he wants more than what I ask.

22 prepare a guest room: Paul plans to check in with Philemon to ensure Philemon did the right thing. released from prison: See note on Philemon 1.

23-25 Final greeting.

23 Epaphras: Compare with Colossians 1:7; 4:12. in prison: See note on Philemon 1.

24 coworkers: Paul often traveled with a team of missionaries who assisted him. This is also a term he uses for Philemon (Phlm 1). Mark: Compare with Colossians 4:10; 2 Timothy 4:11. Aristarchus: Compare with Colossians 4:10. Demas: Compare with Colossians 4:14; 2 Timothy 4:10. Luke: Compare with Colossians 4:14; 2 Timothy 4:11.

25 grace of the Lord: a common closing in Paul's letters (cf. Rom 16:20; 1 Cor 16:23; Gal 6:18; Phil 4:23; 1 Thess 5:28).

HEBREWS

Hebrews is well known for what we don't know about it. We don't know with any certainty its author, date, destination, or the place from which it was written. We can say that its author was almost certainly male because of the Greek grammar used in Hebrews 11:32. He was likely a Greek-speaking Jew who was connected in some way to the Pauline mission (cf. Heb 13:23), but we don't know much more. Some of the most prominent suggestions include Apollos and Barnabas, but these are only guesses. Experts agree that it probably wasn't Paul because of the letter's significant stylistic and theological differences from the letters we know Paul wrote. In addition, the author of Hebrews doesn't consider himself a direct witness to Christ (Heb 2:3).

Hebrews calls itself a "message of encouragement" (Heb 13:22; cf. Acts 13:15), a sermon of sorts. It was a sermon sent as a letter to an audience at some distance (cf. Heb 13). Italy seems to be either the sermon's point of origin or, perhaps more likely, its destination (Heb 13:24). Although the evidence isn't clear, Rome holds first place among suggestions for the location of the audience. We know the audience had believed for some time (Heb 5:11–6:12). We also know that they went through an earlier time of harassment on account of their faith, a time during which at least some of them lost property (Heb 10:34). They supported individuals in prison (Heb 10:33–34), and it's even possible that some of their leaders were killed (Heb 13:7).

If Hebrews addresses some church or churches in Rome, two principal options emerge for dating this earlier time of harassment. Those who date Hebrews to the early 60s CE point to the time when the emperor Claudius expelled Christian Jews from Rome (cf. Acts 18:2). Those who date Hebrews even later often think of the persecution under Emperor Nero around the year 64 as that earlier time of harassment.

The evidence is also divided on whether the audience was mostly Jewish or Gentile. One might think that the audience must have been Jewish in order to understand the author's complex use of the OT. However, Gentile believers would also have embraced these as their own scriptures, and many of the earliest converts to the Christian movement may have been "God-fearers" already worshipping in synagogues. Galatians also has an intricate argument of this sort, and its audience was primarily Gentile. The nature of the foundations the Hebrews author wants his audience to relearn in Hebrews 6:1-3 may actually point more to a Gentile audience, since a Jew would have known these things well before confessing Jesus as God's Son.

It's impossible to determine the precise situation facing the audience, but the sermon certainly gives us strong hints. Hebrews clearly means to strengthen both the confidence of its audience in the saving significance of Christ's death (e.g., Heb 10:13) and to move them to endure in faithfulness until the end (e.g., Heb 3:14; 10:36-39). Many have suggested the audience was tempted to return to mainstream Judaism and its system of reconciliation with God, assuming that the temple stood in some way behind the author's argument. The sermon gives hints throughout that social pressures had begun to weigh on them in some way as believers (e.g., Heb 11; 12:4).

Others note that Hebrews' argument is more philosophical and concerns the wilderness tabernacle of Moses rather than the temple itself. Apart from the puzzling aside of Hebrews 13:9-10, Hebrews doesn't tell its audience to stop using the means of reconciliation with God that's been spelled out in Leviticus. Rather, this sermon tells them positively to rely on the saving significance of Christ's death. This has led some to suggest that the audience may have been more discouraged and confused by the temple's destruction in 70 CE than tempted to turn back to an existing temple system (e.g., Heb 13:14).

The Son is God's ultimate messenger

1 In the past, God spoke through the prophets to our ancestors in many times and many ways. <sup>2</sup>In these final days, though, he spoke to us through a Son. God made his Son the heir of everything and created the world through him. <sup>3</sup>The Son is the light of God's glory and the imprint of God's being. He maintains everything with his powerful message. After he carried out the cleansing of people from their sins, he sat down at the right side of the highest majesty. <sup>4</sup>And the Son became so much greater than the other messengers, such as angels, that he received a more important title than theirs.

Speaking to the Son and angels

<sup>5</sup>After all, when did God ever say to any of the angels:

You are my Son.

Today I have become your Father?<sup>a</sup>

Or, even,

I will be his Father,

and he will be my Son?<sup>b</sup>

<sup>6</sup>But then, when he brought his firstborn into the world, he said, All of God's angels must worship him.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>7</sup>He talks about the angels:

He's the one who uses the spirits for his messengers and who uses flames of fire as ministers.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>8</sup>But he says to his Son,

God, your throne is forever and your kingdom's scepter is a rod of justice.

<sup>9</sup>You loved righteousness and hated lawless behavior.

That is why God, your God, has anointed you with oil instead of your companions.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>10</sup>And he says,

You, Lord, laid the earth's foundations in the beginning, and the heavens are made by your hands.

<sup>11</sup>They will pass away, but you remain.

They will be changed like a person changes clothes,

1:1-2a In the past: Hebrews divides the history of God's revelation to humanity into two parts. In the past, God spoke through the prophets. In the past, God spoke in many times and many ways. These previous ways contrast with the definitive way God has spoken in these final days. These are the days in which God has spoken through a Son, Jesus the king.

1:2b heir of everything ... created the world: Jesus stands at the beginning and end of creation. He's the one through whom God made the world and the one who will rule over it in the end.

1:3a light of God's glory ... imprint of God's being ... maintains everything: Hebrews here borrows from a contemporary Jewish book, the Wisdom of Solomon (Wis 7:26), in order to compare Jesus to God's wisdom and God's "word," God's will for the world in action.

1:3b carried out the cleansing: We see for the first time the primary teaching point of Hebrews: the fact that Christ's death has definitively cleansed the sins of all who confess Jesus.

1:3c he sat down at the right side: Hebrews draws on Psalm 110:1 numerous times (e.g., Heb 1:3, 13; 8:1; 10:12; 12:2) in reference to Jesus' enthronement as cosmic king in heaven at God's side.

1:4a greater than the other messengers, such as angels: Hebrews argues repeatedly that Jesus is greater than a number of figures and aspects of the old covenant. At this point, the superiority of Christ to the angels is in view.

1:4b more important title than theirs: most likely, Son of God. The rest of the chapter expands and celebrates Christ's superiority to the angels.

1:5 when did God ever say: When did this proclamation of Jesus as God's Son take place? It may relate to Christ's exaltation to God's right hand; this would be in keeping with the train of thought from Hebrews 1:3-4. Or it may refer to Jesus as the eternal Son of the Father.

1:8 God, your throne is forever: Hebrews directly refers to Jesus as God by way of Psalm 45:6, a royal psalm for the wedding of a king. However, the focus of the quotation is the contrast between the never-ending nature of Christ's kingship and the angels' temporary service in Hebrews 1:7.

1:10-12 You, Lord, laid the earth's foundations: As in Hebrews 1:2, the author points to the role Christ had in the world's creation. The quotation from Psalm 102:25-27

1:13 Ps 110:1;
Mt 22:44;

but you stay the same,
and the years of your life won't come to an end.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>13</sup>When has he ever said to any of the angels,

Sit at my right side until I put your enemies under your feet like a footstool?<sup>g</sup>

1:14 Ps 91:11;
Ps 103:20;
Dn 7:10;

Listen to the Son's message

2This is why it's necessary for us to pay more attention to what we have heard, or else we may drift away from it. <sup>2</sup>If the message that was spoken by angels was reliable, and every offense and act of disobedience received an appropriate consequence, <sup>3</sup>how will we escape if we ignore such a great salvation? It was first announced through the Lord, and then it was confirmed by those who heard him. <sup>4</sup>God also vouched for their message with signs, amazing things, various miracles, and gifts from the Holy Spirit, which were handed out the way he wanted.

Jesus is the enthroned human being

<sup>5</sup>God didn't put the world that is coming (the world we are talking about) under the angels' control. <sup>6</sup>Instead, someone declared somewhere,

What is humanity that you think about them?

Or what are the human beings that you care about them?

<sup>7</sup>For a while you made them lower than angels.

You crowned the human beings with glory and honor.

When he puts everything under their control, he doesn't leave anything out of control. But right now, we don't see everything under their control yet. <sup>9</sup>However, we do see the one who was made lower in order than the angels for a little while—it's Jesus! He's the one who is now crowned with glory and honor because of the suffering of his death. He suffered death so that he could taste death for everyone through God's grace.

Qualified to be a high priest

<sup>10</sup>It was appropriate for God, for whom and through whom everything exists, to use experiences of suffering to make perfect the pioneer of salvation. This salvation belongs to many sons and daughters whom he's leading to glory. <sup>11</sup>This is because the one who makes people holy and the people who are being made holy all come from one source. That is why Jesus isn't ashamed to call them brothers and sisters when he says, highlights the nature of Christ's perpetual lordship in contrast to the coming destruction of the created realm (cf. Heb 12:25-29).

1:14 ministering spirits: Unlike Christ's eternal kingship, the angels' function in relation to humanity is transient. They minister to us in the time leading up to our final salvation, after which we will rule with Christ.

2:1 pay more attention: Hebrews 2:1-4 is the first of several places where the author interrupts his train of thought in order to warn his audience of their need to persist in faith (cf. Heb 3:7-4:13; 5:11-6:20). This sermon cautions many times about the possibility of drift[ing] away from faith.

2:2 message that was spoken by angels: This is the Jewish Law (cf. Acts 7:53; Gal 3:19).

2:3 how will we escape: If something was true in relation to the past age, then how much more will it be true in these days after Jesus! Chapter 1 shows that Christ is greater than the angels. If those who disobey the law delivered by angels experience the consequences of their actions, then how much more will those who don't remain true to the word spoken through Jesus experience the consequences of their actions?

2:5-8 the world that is coming: The author quotes Psalm 8:4-6 to show who will rule in the coming world. It won't be angels. The author may be referring to Christ, or perhaps to both Christ and humanity. Psalm 8 refers to humanity as those whom God created to rule over creation. 2:8 we don't see everything under their control: Hebrews initially speaks of humanity as those intended to rule over creation. The problem is that humanity's sin has prevented it from having this position of "glory and honor" (Heb 2:7; cf. Rom 3:23).

2:9 it's Jesus: Jesus has entered into the human condition. He has suffered death so that the rest of humanity might not face eternal death. He has fulfilled the psalm (see Heb 2:5-8) and attained the "glory and honor" (Heb 2:7) first intended for humanity.

2:10 make perfect the pioneer of salvation: In Hebrews, for Jesus to become perfect is for him to be ready to bring about salvation. This doesn't mean he was in some way morally imperfect before then.

2:11 a makes people holy: Christ cleanses us of our sins and sets us apart as people who belong to God.

2:11b call them brothers and sisters: Even though Jesus

<sup>12</sup>I will publicly announce your name to my brothers and sisters.

I will praise you in the middle of the assembly.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>13</sup>He also says,
I will rely on him.<sup>1</sup>

And also,
Here I am with the children whom God has given to me.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Therefore, since the children share in flesh and blood, he also shared the same things in the same way. He did this to destroy the one who holds the power over death—the devil—by dying. <sup>15</sup>He set free those who were held in slavery their entire lives by their fear of death. <sup>16</sup>Of course, he isn't trying to help angels, but rather he's helping Abraham's descendants. <sup>17</sup>Therefore, he had to be made like his brothers and sisters in every way. This was so that he could become a merciful and faithful high priest in things relating to God, in order to wipe away the sins of the people. <sup>18</sup>He's able to help those who are being tempted, since he himself experienced suffering when he was tempted.

We are Jesus' house

3 Therefore, brothers and sisters who are partners in the heavenly calling, think about Jesus, the apostle and high priest of our confession. <sup>2</sup>Jesus was faithful to the one who appointed him just like Moses was faithful in God's house. <sup>3</sup>But he deserves greater glory than Moses in the same way that the builder of the house deserves more honor than the house itself. <sup>4</sup>Every house is built by someone, but God is the builder of everything. <sup>5</sup>Moses was faithful in all God's house as a servant in order to affirm the things that would be spoken later. <sup>6</sup>But Jesus was faithful over God's house as a Son. We are his house if we hold on to the confidence and the pride that our hope gives us.

Respond to Jesus' voice now

<sup>7</sup>So, as the Holy Spirit says,

Today, if you hear his voice,

<sup>8</sup>don't have stubborn hearts as they did in the rebellion, on the day when they tested me in the desert.

<sup>9</sup>That is where your ancestors challenged and tested me, though they had seen my work for forty years.

<sup>10</sup>So I was angry with them.

I said, "Their hearts always go off course, and they don't know my ways."

<sup>11</sup>Because of my anger I swore:
"They will never enter my rest!"<sup>1</sup>

was fully God, he was also fully human. He's our brother. As fellow humans, we all are born of God the Father.

2:14 he also shared the same things: This verse reminds us of the incarnation of John 1, where Jesus is God's Word taking on flesh. Jesus' participation in humanity enables him to break the power of death, held by the devil over humanity. It's possible these brief statements recall the story of Adam and his sin, similar to what Paul says in Romans 5 and 1 Corinthians 15.

2:17-18 merciful and faithful high priest: The theme of Jesus as high priest appears here for the first time. It stands at the very center of the sermon's argument (cf. Heb 8:1) and will dominate the central part of the sermon.

3:1 Therefore... think about Jesus: The connecting word, "therefore," between the two chapters tells us that this new section naturally follows the chapters that have come before. If Jesus is so great—the solution to the human problem—then we must reflect in greater depth on who he is and what he has done.

3:2a Jesus was faithful... like Moses: In the first two chapters, the author uses a contrast between Jesus and the angels to encourage its audience to endure in faith. In Hebrews 3, he does the same thing by contrasting Jesus with Moses. Both Moses and the angels were God's servants under the old covenant.

3:2b faithful in God's house: These verses can be confusing because Hebrews uses the word "house" in two different ways. The house in which Moses was faithful should be read as the household of Israel. This ancient household included not only the parents and children but also the extended family, servants, and all who worked for the family.

3:3 builder of the house: Here, Hebrews shifts to a different meaning of the word "house." Now it's a structure someone might build.

3:6a as a Son: Jesus is greater than Moses because Moses was only a servant in God's household, while Jesus has the status of a son. As in Hebrews 1, the word "Son" also has the sense of "being king."

3:6b if we hold on: For the second time, Hebrews warns its audience of the necessity of continuing in faith (cf. Heb 3:14).

3:7-11 Today, if you hear his voice: These verses are an extended quotation from Psalm 95:7-11 and relate to Israel, <sup>12</sup>Watch out, brothers and sisters, so that none of you have an evil, unfaithful heart that abandons the living God. <sup>13</sup>Instead, encourage each other every day, as long as it's called "today," so that none of you become insensitive to God because of sin's deception. <sup>14</sup>We are partners with Christ, but only if we hold on to the confidence we had in the beginning until the end.

<sup>15</sup>When it says,

Today, if you hear his voice, don't have stubborn hearts as they did in the rebellion.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>16</sup>Who was it who rebelled when they heard his voice? Wasn't it all of those who were brought out of Egypt by Moses? <sup>17</sup>And with whom was God angry for forty years? Wasn't it with the ones who sinned, whose bodies fell in the desert? <sup>18</sup>And against whom did he swear that they would never enter his rest, if not against the ones who were disobedient? <sup>19</sup>We see that they couldn't enter because of their lack of faith.

Enter the rest

4 Therefore, since the promise that we can enter into rest is still open, let's be careful so that none of you will appear to miss it. <sup>2</sup>We also had the good news preached to us, just as the Israelites did. However, the message they heard didn't help them because they weren't united in faith with the ones who listened to it. <sup>3</sup>We who have faith are entering the rest. As God said,

And because of my anger I swore:

"They will never enter into my rest!"<sup>n</sup>

And yet God's works were completed at the foundation of the world. <sup>4</sup>Then somewhere he said this about the seventh day of creation: God rested on the seventh day from all his works.<sup>o</sup> <sup>5</sup>But again, in the passage above, God said, They will never enter my rest!<sup>p</sup> <sup>6</sup>Therefore, it's left open for some to enter it, and the ones who had the good news preached to them before didn't enter because of disobedience. <sup>7</sup>Just as it says in the passage above, God designates a certain day as "today," when he says through David much later,

Today, if you hear his voice, don't have stubborn hearts.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>8</sup>If Joshua gave the Israelites rest, God wouldn't have spoken about another day later on.

the household in which Moses was a servant. The rest of the chapter unpacks the meaning of this quotation.

3:13 as long as it's called "today": The author begins his comparison with faithless Israel in the quotation from Psalm 95:7-11 (see Heb 3:7-11). Every day is today for the audience of Hebrews. Every day is a day when they must continue to trust in God's promises. Every day is a day when they mustn't forsake "the living God" (Heb 3:12).

3:14 if we hold on: Like the wilderness generation under Moses, those who abandon their course won't make it to the promised land (cf. Heb 3:6).

3:16 those who were brought out of Egypt by Moses: The parallel is with those who have started their Christian pilgrimage but haven't yet finished it. The author may have been familiar with the similar image in 1 Corinthians 10:1-14, where Israel's crossing of the Red Sea is compared to baptism.

3:17-19 because of their lack of faith: The reason the wilderness generation didn't enter God's rest, the promised land of Canaan, was because they didn't keep their faith to the very end. Instead, their bodies fell in the desert.

4:1 Therefore, ... let's be careful: The power of the comparison now comes with full force. The audience doesn't want to be like the wilderness generation.

4:2-3 We also had the good news: Like the wilderness generation, the Hebrews audience has started a journey toward a promised destination. The wilderness generation didn't reach it because they didn't continue in faith. The Hebrews audience will enter if they maintain their faith in the promise.

4:4 God rested: Hebrews uses a Jewish interpretation technique in which two passages with similar words or themes are brought together. Psalm 95:11 speaks of God's rest, and Genesis 2:2 speaks of God resting. The Hebrews author is building toward an even more important kind of rest than when Joshua led Israel into Canaan (cf. Heb 4:8). It's a rest like the one God has taken since finishing the work of creation.

4:9 a sabbath rest is left open: The argument finally comes together. The audience has a promise of rest just like Israel did. Those under Moses' care didn't make it because of "disobedience" (Heb 4:6). Since Jesus is greater than Moses (Heb 3:2-6), how much more serious it will be for those who turn away from Jesus' good news! Believers enter God's rest every "today" and then enter God's sabbath rest when they reach their final destination of God's coming kingdom (cf. Heb 12:28), "the world that is coming" (Heb 2:5).

4:10 from his works: The author is probably not contrasting faith and works; that issue doesn't come up in Hebrews. After all, "effort" is part of remaining in faith (cf. Heb 4:11), and God's works are positive rather than something to be avoided. Following the imagery of the section, the final sabbath rest from works may refer to the final end of pursuing the goal that will take place when God's kingdom finally arrives.

First summary of the message

<sup>11</sup>Therefore, let's make every effort to enter that rest so that no one will fall by following the same example of disobedience, <sup>12</sup>because God's word is living, active, and sharper than any two-edged sword. It penetrates to the point that it separates the soul from the spirit and the joints from the marrow. It's able to judge the heart's thoughts and intentions. <sup>13</sup>No creature is hidden from it, but rather everything is naked and exposed to the eyes of the one to whom we have to give an answer.

<sup>14</sup>Also, let's hold on to the confession since we have a great high priest who passed through the heavens, who is Jesus, God's Son; <sup>15</sup>because we don't have a high priest who can't sympathize with our weaknesses but instead one who was tempted in every way that we are, except without sin.

<sup>16</sup>Finally, let's draw near to the throne of favor with confidence so that we can receive mercy and find grace when we need help.

Introduction to a deeper teaching

5 Every high priest is taken from the people and put in charge of things that relate to God for their sake, in order to offer gifts and sacrifices for sins. <sup>2</sup>The high priest is able to deal gently with the ignorant and those who are misled since he himself is prone to weakness. <sup>3</sup>Because of his weakness, he must offer sacrifices for his own sins as well as for the people. <sup>4</sup>No one takes this honor for themselves but takes it only when they are called by God, just like Aaron.

<sup>5</sup>In the same way Christ also didn't promote himself to become high priest. Instead, it was the one who said to him,

You are my Son.

Today I have become your Father,

<sup>6</sup>as he also says in another place,

You are a priest forever,

*according to the order of Melchizedek.**

<sup>7</sup>During his days on earth, Christ offered prayers and requests with loud cries and tears as his sacrifices to the one who was able to save him from death. He was heard because of his godly devotion. <sup>8</sup>Although he was a Son, he learned obedience from what he suffered.

*Ps 110:4

4:12 God's word: Here, this phrase doesn't refer to scripture. Instead, it draws on rich Jewish traditions about the logos, "word" (cf. Heb 1:3). The logos is God's word that accomplishes God's will in the world; in the context of Hebrews 4:12, it's God's will in relation to judgment. Our true intentions are known to God. Therefore, Hebrews 4:11-13 provides an appropriate conclusion to a section that warns the audience not to be like the wilderness generation.

4:14-16 hold on to the confession: The words and themes of this section are strikingly similar to those of Hebrews 10:19-25. This suggests that these two sections mark the beginning and end of the central argument of Hebrews. Both sections mention holding on to a confession, which Hebrews 10:23 clarifies is a confession of hope. Hebrews encourages people to persist in faith in several different ways; indeed, this is the main point of Hebrews, as far as what the author is trying to move his audience to do.

4:15a because... a high priest: If the primary words of encouragement in Hebrews are "hold on," the primary way the author backs up this challenge is by strengthening the audience's faith in Christ as high priest. This becomes clear in the chapters that follow.

4:15b tempted in every way: This is an important verse for Christian theology, since Christians believe that Jesus was fully human, even to the point of experiencing the full range of human temptation. This means that the human condition isn't determined by sin.

4:16 draw near: The audience may be tempted to abandon their faith, but Christ stands ready in heaven as the high priest to show mercy and to give strength to endure.

5:1 Every high priest: Hebrews 5:1-10 begins the sermon's argument about Christ's high priesthood by describing what a high priest does. A high priest offers sacrifices for sins.

5:3 Because of his weakness: A central difference between Christ the high priest and earthly high priests is that earthly high priests must achieve reconciliation with God for their own sins, whereas Christ hasn't sinned.

5:4 No one takes this honor: Another key difference between Christ the high priest and earthly high priests is that priesthood is by God's appointment. God decides who will be high priest.

5:5-6 Christ also didn't promote himself: In Hebrews 1:5 the author quotes the OT to show that God has appointed Christ king. Now he quotes Psalm 110:4 to show that God has also appointed Christ high priest.

5:7a During his days on earth: Many readers of Hebrews hear an echo of Jesus praying on the night before his death (cf. Luke 22:39-46).

5:7b He was heard: God didn't answer Jesus' request to be saved from death by preventing the crucifixion; instead, God raised him from the dead.

5:8 he learned obedience: Since Jesus was "without sin" (Heb 4:15), he wasn't disobedient at any point. He obeyed even though he would have preferred to avoid the cross. The author returns to the theme of enduring a father's discipline in Hebrews 12.

<sup>9</sup>After he had been made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for everyone who obeys him. <sup>10</sup>He was appointed by God to be a high priest according to the order of Melchizedek.

<sup>11</sup>We have a lot to say about this topic, and it's difficult to explain, because you have been lazy and you haven't been listening. <sup>12</sup>Although you should have been teachers by now, you need someone to teach you an introduction to the basics about God's message. You have come to the place where you need milk instead of solid food. <sup>13</sup>Everyone who lives on milk is not used to the word of righteousness, because they are babies. <sup>14</sup>But solid food is for the mature, whose senses are trained by practice to distinguish between good and evil.

Let's press on to maturity

6 So let's press on to maturity, by moving on from the basics about Christ's word. Let's not lay a foundation of turning away from dead works, of faith in God, <sup>2</sup>of teaching about ritual ways to wash with water, laying on of hands, the resurrection from the dead, and eternal judgment—all over again. <sup>3</sup>We're going to press on, if God allows it.

<sup>4</sup>Because it's impossible to restore people to changed hearts and lives who turn away once they have seen the light, tasted the heavenly gift, become partners with the Holy Spirit, <sup>5</sup>and tasted God's good word and the powers of the coming age. <sup>6</sup>They are crucifying God's Son all over again and exposing him to public shame. <sup>7</sup>The ground receives a blessing from God when it drinks up the rain that regularly comes and falls on it and yields a useful crop for those people for whom it is being farmed. <sup>8</sup>But if it produces thorns and thistles, it's useless and close to being cursed. It ends up being burned.

Make your hope sure

<sup>9</sup>But we are convinced of better things in your case, brothers and sisters, even though we are talking this way—things that go together with salvation. <sup>10</sup>God isn't unjust so that he forgets your efforts and the love you have shown for his name's sake when you served and continue to serve God's holy people. <sup>11</sup>But we desperately want each of you to show the same effort to make your hope sure until the end. <sup>12</sup>This is so you won't be lazy but follow the example of the ones who inherit the promises through faith and patience.

6:11 Heb 3:6; Heb 10:22 6:12 Ro 12:11; Heb 10:36; Heb 13:7; Rev 13:10

5:9-10 After he had been made perfect: As in Hebrews 2:10, perfection for Christ means being ready to bring about salvation; in this context, it's being complete as a priest. After his suffering, Christ is fully appointed as priest according to the order of Melchizedek.

5:11 you have been lazy: Hebrews 5:11-6:20, which is written in a way that's been designed to get the audience's attention, is the author's most abrupt break in the flow of the sermon and his harshest words of disapproval. The fact that he launches this exhortation while identifying Jesus as high priest probably implies that the reconciliation to God provided by Christ stands at the heart of the audience's wavering faith.

5:12 by now: The author indicates that the audience has believed in Christ for some time; for such a long time, in fact, that they should be teaching others the kinds of things they must now learn from this sermon.

5:14 solid food is for the mature: Ancient philosophers use this common image to urge students of wisdom to grow up and move on to the next level. The Hebrews audience should be able to tell the difference between good and bad teaching by now.

6:1a moving on from the basics: Hebrews 6:1-2 gives a list of elementary Christian teachings, particularly ones that a Gentile convert would need to learn for the first time. The audience should know these thoroughly by now.

6:1b turning away from dead works: This phrase probably refers to the kinds of actions that lead to death—sins—rather than trying to earn one's salvation.

6:2 ritual ways to wash with water: baptisms.

6:4a impossible to restore people: Hebrews 6:4-6 contains verses difficult to understand. Can an individual be truly part of God's people and then depart? Once someone has departed, can that person never return? The translation leans toward the sense that people who have abandoned faith in Christ and definitively turned away will never change their hearts.

6:4b tasted the heavenly gift: This is probably a reference to the Holy Spirit, which Hebrews 6:5 makes more clear.

6:7-8 It ends up being burned: The intensity of the author's warning is clear from this image of a field that produces only thorns and thistles after regular rain from God. So the author warns of the consequences of failing to respond with gratitude to God's grace for those who, in effect, crucify Jesus "all over again" (Heb 6:6).

6:9 convinced of better things: The previous verses are harsh and must be taken seriously. Now, though, the author makes it clear that he has made things seem a little worse than they are. The audience hasn't crossed the line the author has just so starkly drawn.

6:10 the love you have shown: Compare with Hebrews 10:32-34.

6:11 make your hope sure: by continuing in faith until the end. The audience's faithfulness in the past is

Our hope in Jesus' priesthood

<sup>13</sup>When God gave Abraham his promise, he swore by himself since he couldn't swear by anyone greater. <sup>14</sup>He said, I will certainly bless you and multiply your descendants. <sup>15</sup>So Abraham obtained the promise by showing patience. <sup>16</sup>People pledge by something greater than themselves. A solemn pledge guarantees what they say and shuts down any argument. <sup>17</sup>When God wanted to further demonstrate to the heirs of the promise that his purpose doesn't change, he guaranteed it with a solemn pledge. <sup>18</sup>So these are two things that don't change, because it's impossible for God to lie. He did this so that we, who have taken refuge in him, can be encouraged to grasp the hope that is lying in front of us. <sup>19</sup>This hope, which is a safe and secure anchor for our whole being, enters the sanctuary behind the curtain. <sup>20</sup>That's where Jesus went in advance and entered for us, since he became a high priest according to the order of Melchizedek.

7This Melchizedek, who was king of Salem and priest of the Most High God, met Abraham as he returned from the defeat of the kings, and Melchizedek blessed him. <sup>2</sup>Abraham gave a tenth of everything to him. His name means first "king of righteousness," and then "king of Salem," that is, "king of peace." <sup>3</sup>He is without father or mother or any family. He has no beginning or end of life, but he's like God's Son and remains a priest for all time.

A priest like Melchizedek

<sup>4</sup>See how great Melchizedek was! Abraham, the father of the people, gave him a tenth of everything he captured. <sup>5</sup>The descendants of Levi who receive the office of priest have a commandment under the Law to collect a tenth of everything from the people who are their brothers and sisters, though they also are descended from Abraham. <sup>6</sup>But Melchizedek, who isn't related to them, received a tenth of everything from Abraham and blessed the one who had received the promises. <sup>7</sup>Without question, the less important person is blessed by the more important person. <sup>8</sup>In addition, in one case a tenth is received by people who die, and in the other case, the tenth is received by someone who continues to live, according to the record. <sup>9</sup>It could be said that Levi, who received a tenth, paid a tenth through Abraham <sup>10</sup>because he was still in his ancestor's body when Abraham paid the tenth to Melchizedek.

<sup>11</sup>So if perfection came through the levitical office of priest (for the people received the Law under the priests), why was there still a need to speak about raising up another priest according to the order of Melchizedek rather than one according to the order of Aaron?

meaningful to God, but it's no guarantee of their eternal salvation.

6:15 Abraham obtained the promise: In Hebrews 6:13-20, after his stern warning, the author eases back to his main point his audience simply needs to be patient until God's promises are fulfilled.

6:17 he guaranteed it: God guaranteed the promise of salvation with a pledge. Surely the audience doesn't want to call into question God's faithfulness, do they?

6:18a two things that don't change: The author refers to the fact that not only has God sworn an oath, but God cannot lie.

6:18b we... can be encouraged: Because God has also sworn that Christ is "a high priest according to the order of Melchizedek" (Heb 5:10; cf. 7:21), the same certainty applies to the reconciliation with God provided by Christ when applied to God's promise to bless Abraham.

6:19-20 enters the sanctuary: The break in the author's argument that began in Hebrews 5:11 comes to an end as he eases back to where his train of thought left off. He had been writing about Christ as "a high priest according to the order of Melchizedek" (cf. Heb 5:10). The author fully engages the subject of the heavenly sanctuary in Hebrews 8.

7:1-2 This Melchizedek: If Jesus is "a high priest according to the order of Melchizedek" (Heb 5:10), then surely Genesis 14 can shed light on the nature of Christ's high priesthood. In the form of an allegory, two of the words from Genesis 14 already do so: Melchizedek (meaning, a "king of righteousness") and Salem (meaning, a "king of peace"). <sup>7:3</sup> without father or mother: Assuming that the author continues to interpret Genesis 14, this verse gathers evidence from the silence of Genesis. Since Genesis gives no priestly ancestry for Melchizedek, we can assume that a priest in his order also wouldn't have a priestly genealogy. Genesis doesn't mention a time when Melchizedek began or stopped serving as priest, so a priest in his order would remain a priest forever. This is exactly the kind of priest Christ is.

7:4-10 how great Melchizedek was: The author makes the case that a priest in Melchizedek's order is greater than the priests we read about in Leviticus. First, Melchizedek was greater than Abraham because he blessed Abraham and Abraham gave a tenth to him. Since Levi, a descendant of Abraham, was still in his ancestor's body, Melchizedek must be greater than Levi.

7:8 someone who continues to live: Throughout Hebrews 7, the central feature of a priest in Melchizedek's order is the fact that such a priest (i.e., Christ) serves forever (cf. Heb 7:3, 8, 16, 24-25).

7:11a if perfection came: For Christ to be perfected means for him to be complete and ready to serve as high priest. For the rest of humanity, though, perfection has to do with the cleansing of our sins (cf. Heb 10:1-2).

7:11b why was there still a need: The author is going to

<sup>12</sup>When the order of the priest changes, there has to be a change in the Law as well. <sup>13</sup>The person we are talking about belongs to another tribe, and no one ever served at the altar from that tribe. <sup>14</sup>It's clear that our Lord came from the tribe of Judah, but Moses never said anything about priests from that tribe. <sup>15</sup>And it's even clearer if another priest appears who is like Melchizedek. <sup>16</sup>He has become a priest by the power of a life that can't be destroyed, rather than a legal requirement about physical descent. <sup>17</sup>This is confirmed:

*You are a priest forever,
according to the order of Melchizedek.**

Able to save completely

<sup>18</sup>On the one hand, an earlier command is set aside because it was weak and useless <sup>19</sup>(because the Law made nothing perfect). On the other hand, a better hope is introduced, through which we draw near to God. <sup>20</sup>And this was not done without a solemn pledge! The others have become priests without a solemn pledge, <sup>21</sup>but this priest was affirmed with a solemn pledge by the one who said,

The Lord has made a solemn pledge and will not change his mind:

You are a priest forever.†

<sup>22</sup>As a result, Jesus has become the guarantee of a better covenant. <sup>23</sup>The others who became priests are numerous because death prevented them from continuing to serve. <sup>24</sup>In contrast, he holds the office of priest permanently because he continues to serve forever. <sup>25</sup>This is why he can completely save those who are approaching God through him, because he always lives to speak with God for them.

<sup>26</sup>It's appropriate for us to have this kind of high priest: holy, innocent, incorrupt, separate from sinners, and raised high above the heavens. <sup>27</sup>He doesn't need to offer sacrifices every day like the other high priests, first for their own sins and then for the sins of the people. He did this once for all when he offered himself. <sup>28</sup>The Law appoints people who are prone to weakness as high priests, but the content of the solemn pledge, which came after the Law, appointed a Son who has been made perfect forever.

Meeting tents, sacrifices, and covenants

O Now the main point of what we are saying is this: We have this kind of high priest. He sat down at the right side of the throne of the majesty in the heavens. <sup>2</sup>He's serving as a priest in the holy place, which is the true meeting tent that God, not any human being, set up. <sup>3</sup>Every high priest is appointed to offer gifts and sacrifices. So it's necessary for this high argue that the very fact that God has pledged to bring a king-priest in the Messiah means that the OT priesthood wasn't effective at cleansing the sins of those who made use of it.

7:12 change in the Law as well: Hebrews almost always has the sacrificial system in view when it speaks of the Jewish Law. A change in priesthood implies a change in the sacrificial system.

7:14 from the tribe of Judah: Jesus, therefore, would not qualify as a priest such as we read about in Leviticus, but he qualifies as "a high priest according to the order of Melchizedek" (Heb 5:10).

7:16-17 a life that can't be destroyed: As in Hebrews 7:8, the primary characteristic of a priest in Melchizedek's order is the ability to remain in service forever.

7:18-19 a better hope: These verses repeat that the OT Law, the OT sacrificial system, wasn't effective when it came to perfecting its participants. It didn't cleanse their sins. In contrast, Christ as priest provides access to God.

7:20-21 a solemn pledge: As God gave Abraham a solemn pledge (cf. Heb 6:13-16), God has also pledged that Christ's priesthood will endure forever.

7:22 a better covenant: The word "covenant" appears here for the first time in Hebrews. The old covenant was the arrangement "in the past" (Heb 1:1) that God had with God's people through the Law. Jesus introduces a new, better arrangement.

7:24-25 always lives to speak with God: Once again we read about the permanence of Christ's priesthood (cf. Heb 7:8, 16). Christ's intercession in heaven here relates especially to reconciliation with God.

7:27 He doesn't need: Not only does Christ remain a priest forever, but he's superior to the OT priests in other ways as well. For one, he doesn't need to offer sacrifices for his own sins like they do, for he was "without sin" (Heb 4:15). Second, his offering is so effective that he had to do it only once.

8:1 the main point: If the main point of the sermon's message of encouragement, "hold on" (Heb 4:14), is that the audience needs to persist in their faith, the main reason for holding fast is the definitiveness of what Christ has done as high priest.

8:2 the true meeting tent: If Christ's priesthood is the truly effective one, then his heavenly sanctuary is the truly effective sanctuary, the one that God built. It isn't clear priest also to have something to offer. <sup>4</sup>If he was located on earth, he wouldn't be a priest because there are already others who offer gifts based on the Law. <sup>5</sup>They serve in a place that is a copy and shadow of the heavenly meeting tent. This is indicated when Moses was warned by God when he was about to set up the meeting tent: See that you follow the pattern that I showed you on the mountain in every detail. <sup>6</sup>But now, Jesus has received a superior priestly service just as he arranged a better covenant that is enacted with better promises.

<sup>7</sup>If the first covenant had been without fault, it wouldn't have made sense to expect a second. <sup>8</sup>But God did find fault with them, since he says,

Look, the days are coming, says the Lord, when I will make a covenant with the house of Israel, and I will make a new covenant with the house of Judah.

<sup>9</sup>It will not be like the covenant that I made with their ancestors on the day I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt, because they did not continue to keep my covenant, and I lost interest in them, says the Lord.

<sup>10</sup>This is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the Lord.

I will place my laws in their minds, and write them on their hearts.

I will be their God, and they will be my people.

<sup>11</sup>And each person won't ever teach a neighbor or their brother or sister, saying, "Know the Lord," because they will all know me, from the least important of them to the most important;

<sup>12</sup>because I will be lenient toward their unjust actions, and I won't remember their sins anymore.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>13</sup>When it says new, it makes the first obsolete. And if something is old and outdated, it's close to disappearing.

Old and New Covenants The "old" covenant in Hebrews was the arrangement God made with Israel involving sacrifices in order to help them picture what God was eventually going to do through Christ. "In the past, God spoke through the prophets to our ancestors in many times and many ways" (Heb 1:1). In the new covenant, God has spoken to us in a singular way, through Christ his Son. The old covenant gave only gave a shadowy image of the reality that was to come in Christ (Heb 8:5; 10:1). It didn't actually make it possible for a person to "draw near to God" (Heb 7:19). Furthermore, Israel didn't even keep the first covenant (Heb 8:7-8). By contrast, God has written God's Law on our hearts in the new covenant (Heb 8:10-11) so that we keep it from the inside. This new covenant is an arrangement by which we can actually "draw near" to God by means of Jesus' death (e.g., Heb 10:19-22).

whether the author is referring to an actual structure in heaven or to heaven itself.

8:4 he wouldn't be a priest: Christ's high priesthood is a heavenly priesthood rather than one that functions in an earthly sanctuary.

8:5a copy and shadow: The word translated as "copy" here is translated as "example" in Hebrews 4:11. The earthly sanctuary is only a shadowy illustration of the true sanctuary.

8:5b follow the pattern: God planned for the earthly sanctuary to be an illustration of the true, heavenly sanctuary. He revealed to Moses the pattern to use in building it.

8:6 superior priestly service: This verse declares three ways in which what Christ has done is far better than the old system: a superior priestly service... a better covenant... and better promises.

8:7-8 God did find fault: Although one might get the impression that God changed covenant arrangements because the first one didn't work, it's clear from what the author says later that God never intended for the first arrangement to take away sins (e.g., Heb 10:3-4).

8:8-12 days are coming: This is the longest quotation of the OT in the NT (Jer 31:31-34). The brief summary in Hebrews 10:16-17 points to the author's main interest in this quotation, namely the fact that the new covenant will do away with sins.

8:13 old and outdated: The earthly sacrificial system is no longer needed since Christ has accomplished true reconciliation with God. The fact that it is close to disappearing might suggest that the Jerusalem temple was still standing, or it might recall the temple's recent destruction in 70 CE.

Christ's service in the heavenly meeting tent

9 So then the first covenant had regulations for the priests' service and the holy place on earth. <sup>2</sup>They pitched the first tent called the holy place. It contained the lampstand, the table, and the loaves of bread presented to God. <sup>3</sup>There was a tent behind the second curtain called the holy of holies. <sup>4</sup>It had the gold altar for incense and the chest containing the covenant, which was covered with gold on all sides. In the chest there was a gold jar containing manna, Aaron's rod that budded, and the stone tablets of the covenant. <sup>5</sup>Above the chest there were magnificent winged creatures<sup>a</sup> casting their shadow over the seat of the chest, where sin is taken care of. Right now we can't talk about these things in detail. <sup>6</sup>When these things have been prepared in this way, priests enter the first tent all the time as they perform their service. <sup>7</sup>But only the high priest enters the second tent once a year. He never does this without blood, which he offers for himself and for the sins the people committed in ignorance. <sup>8</sup>With this, the Holy Spirit is showing that the way into the holy place hadn't been revealed yet while the first tent was standing. <sup>9</sup>This is a symbol for the present time. It shows that the gifts and sacrifices that are being offered can't perfect the conscience of the one who is serving. <sup>10</sup>These are superficial regulations that are only about food, drink, and various ritual ways to wash with water. They are regulations that have been imposed until the time of the new order.

<sup>11</sup>But Christ has appeared as the high priest of the good things that have happened. He passed through the greater and more perfect meeting tent, which isn't made by human hands (that is, it's not a part of this world). <sup>12</sup>He entered the holy of holies once for all by his own blood, not by the blood of goats or calves, securing our deliverance for all time. <sup>13</sup>If the blood of goats and bulls and the sprinkled ashes of cows made spiritually contaminated people holy and clean, <sup>14</sup>how much more will the blood of Jesus wash our consciences clean from dead works in order to serve the living God? He offered himself to God through the eternal Spirit as a sacrifice without any flaw.

Christ's death and the new covenant

<sup>15</sup>This is why he's the mediator of a new covenant (which is a will): so that those who are called might receive the promise of the eternal inheritance on the basis of his death. His death occurred to set them free from the offenses committed under the first covenant.

9:1 the first covenant: The author expands on the nature and function of the system of atonement in the former age.

9:2-5 Compare with Exodus 25-27.

9:3 a tent behind: Uniquely, the author discusses the wilderness sanctuary of Israel in terms of two tents rather than two rooms in a single tent. He uses the two parts as an allegory for two ages and two covenants. The first tent in this scheme was the outer room, or the "holy place" (Heb 9:2). The second tent was the inner room, or the holy of holies.

9:5 we can't talk: This verse isn't clear. It might mean that we can't talk about the details because these items are no longer around (cf. 1 Kgs 14:25-26) or, more likely, it means that the sermon's space constraints don't permit a fuller interpretation of their significance.

9:6-7 priests enter: After describing the structure of the wilderness tabernacle, the author now summarizes its function.

9:7 in ignorance: The function of the sacrificial system was to make reconciliation in cases of accidental wrongdoing rather than in cases of premeditated crimes (e.g., Num 15:22-31). Nevertheless, the author also views the time before the audience confessed Christ as a time of ignorance (e.g., Heb 6:4) and strongly warns his audience about intentional disobedience after one has confessed Christ (cf. Heb 10:26).

9:8-9 while the first tent was standing: The first tent was the first room of the two-part sanctuary. The author is interpreting the wilderness sanctuary, with the first room representing the present age and the second room representing the age of the new covenant. "Standing" can mean having status or being in force.

9:9 can't perfect the conscience: As the author has argued (e.g., Heb 7:11) and will argue again (Heb 10:1-2), the OT system of making reconciliation with God was not actually effective at removing sins.

9:10 until the time: which has now arrived.

9:11 not a part of this world: The greater and more perfect tent is a heavenly sanctuary, the true tent in heaven that provided the model for the earthly one. When Jesus ascended to heaven, he passed through this one.

9:12 securing our deliverance: What the OT system that provided reconciliation with God was unable to do, Christ did with his superior blood. He can actually cleanse our sins (e.g., Heb 9:14) rather than merely clean our skin (e.g., Heb 9:10, 13).

9:14a from dead works: that is, from sins, actions that lead to death (cf. Heb 6:1). For "conscience" in Hebrews, see note on Hebrews 10:2b.

9:14b through the eternal Spirit: perhaps the key to the effectiveness of Christ's offering over and against the OT sacrifices. His was as much a spiritual sacrifice as one of flesh and blood.

9:15 which is a will: The word for "covenant" in Greek has <sup>16</sup>When there is a will, you need to confirm the death of the one who made the will. <sup>17</sup>This is because a will takes effect only after a death, since it's not in force while the one who made the will is alive. <sup>18</sup>So not even the first covenant was put into effect without blood. <sup>19</sup>Moses took the blood of calves and goats, along with water, scarlet wool, and hyssop, and sprinkled both the Law scroll itself and all the people after he had proclaimed every command of the Law to all the people. <sup>20</sup>While he did it, he said, This is the blood of the covenant that God established for you. <sup>21</sup>And in the same way he sprinkled the meeting tent and also all the equipment that would be used in the priests' service with blood. <sup>22</sup>Almost everything is cleansed by blood, according to the Law's regulations, and there is no forgiveness without blood being shed.

Heb 9:11;
Heb 10:11

<sup>23</sup>So it was necessary for the copies of the heavenly things to be cleansed with these sacrifices, but the heavenly things had to be cleansed with better sacrifices than these. <sup>24</sup>Christ didn't enter the holy place (which is a copy of the true holy place) made by human hands, but into heaven itself, so that he now appears in God's presence for us. <sup>25</sup>He didn't enter to offer himself over and over again, like the high priest enters the earthly holy place every year with blood that isn't his. <sup>26</sup>If that were so, then Jesus would have to suffer many times since the foundation of the world. Instead, he has now appeared once at the end of the ages to get rid of sin by sacrificing himself. <sup>27</sup>People are destined to die once and then face judgment. <sup>28</sup>In the same way, Christ was also offered once to take on himself the sins of many people. He will appear a second time, not to take away sin but to save those who are eagerly waiting for him.

Christ's once-for-all sacrifice

10The Law is a shadow of the good things that are coming, not the real things themselves. It never can perfect the ones who are trying to draw near to God through the same sacrifices that are offered continually every year. <sup>2</sup>Otherwise, wouldn't they have more than one meaning. In Hebrews 9:15-17 the author plays on the fact that the Greek word for "covenant" can also mean a will. When the writer of a will dies, the heirs receive an inheritance. Even so, the author argues, we can enter the new covenant now that Jesus has died.

OT Sacrifices Almost everyone in the ancient world sacrificed animals to the gods. Usually, the priests and person making the offering ate part of the sacrifice, while the god also received a portion. Israel also had a sacrifice called the "entirely burned offering" (e.g., Lev. 1:3), in which the whole animal was burned. For the author of Hebrews, all OT sacrifices point toward Christ's death. They didn't actually take away sin but rather helped Israel picture what was to come with Christ. Ironically, while Hebrews says that "there is no forgiveness without blood being shed" (Heb 9:22), it also says that "it's impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins" (Heb 10:4). Hebrews thus sees in Christ the end of the need for animal sacrifices. With Christ's death, all sins can truly be cleansed.

9:18-21 first covenant was put into effect: These verses have to do with the induction of the first covenant under Moses and the installation of the earthly sanctuary.

9:19 Moses... sprinkled: A keen eye will notice that this verse mixes together a number of different events from the Jewish Law. Moses sprinkles the people in Exodus 24:8, but he doesn't sprinkle the book, and the tabernacle isn't completed until Exodus 40. The ceremonies involving hyssop and the red cow come from Leviticus 14:4 and Numbers 19:2. The author combines all these ceremonies to indicate that the sacrifice of Jesus is the equivalent of all the sacrifices of the old covenant.

9:22 no forgiveness without blood: The blood shed in the old covenant wasn't effective in bringing about forgiveness.

9:23 heavenly things had to be cleansed: The idea that the heavenly sanctuary might need to be cleansed is difficult, even though the author refers to its inauguration. It helps to remember that the author is playing out a comparison and may not actually have a literal, heavenly structure in mind.

9:24 into heaven itself: The heavenly sanctuary for the Hebrews audience is none other than heaven itself.

9:26 since the foundation of the world: The problem of sin goes back to the very beginning of the world's story.

9:28 He will appear a second time: This is the verse from which we get the term "Second Coming." When Jesus comes again, he will save those in his household from God's judgment on the world.

10:1 Law is a shadow of... things that are coming: perhaps better called a foreshadowing. The many elements of the Law correspond to the one Christ event.

10:2a wouldn't they have stopped: The author sees the repeated offering of sacrifices under the old covenant as an indication of the sacrifices' inability to take away sins, that is, their inability to "perfect" (Heb 10:1) or "cleanse" those wanting to draw near to God.

stopped being offered? If the people carrying out their religious duties had been completely cleansed once, no one would have been aware of sin anymore. <sup>3</sup>Instead, these sacrifices are a reminder of sin every year, <sup>4</sup>because it's impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins.

<sup>5</sup>Therefore, when he comes into the world he says,
*You didn't want a sacrifice or an offering,
but you prepared a body for me;*

<sup>6</sup>you weren't pleased with entirely burned offerings or a sin offering.

<sup>7</sup>So then I said,

*"Look, I've come to do your will, God.
This has been written about me in the scroll."*<sup>a</sup>

<sup>8</sup>He says above, You didn't want and you weren't pleased with a sacrifice or an offering or with entirely burned offerings or a purification offering,<sup>a</sup> which are offered because the Law requires them. <sup>9</sup>Then he said, Look, I've come to do your will.<sup>b</sup> He puts an end to the first to establish the second. <sup>10</sup>We have been made holy by God's will through the offering of Jesus Christ's body once for all.

<sup>11</sup>Every priest stands every day serving and offering the same sacrifices over and over, sacrifices that can never take away sins. <sup>12</sup>But when this priest offered one sacrifice for sins for all time, he sat down at the right side of God. <sup>13</sup>Since then, he's waiting until his enemies are made into a footstool for his feet, <sup>14</sup>because he perfected the people who are being made holy with one offering for all time.

*After these days, says the Lord,
I will place my laws in their hearts and write them on their minds.*

<sup>18</sup>When there is forgiveness for these things, there is no longer an offering for sin.

Second summary of the message

<sup>19</sup>Brothers and sisters, we have confidence that we can enter the holy of holies by means of Jesus' blood, <sup>20</sup>through a new and living way that he opened up for us through the curtain, which is his body, <sup>21</sup>and we have a great high priest over God's house.

10:2b aware of sin: or having a consciousness of sin. "Conscience" in Hebrews is that part of a person that is aware, or conscious, of sin (cf. Heb 9:14).

10:4 impossible: The author has never believed that the OT system of sacrifices is capable of truly cleansing sin or that God ever intended it to. It was meant to foreshadow Christ's one true sacrifice.

10:5-9 you prepared a body: The author interprets Psalm 40:6-8 to reflect the changing of the covenants. The fact that God wasn't pleased with sacrifices but instead sent Jesus into the world indicates the taking away of the first system and its replacement by Christ's sacrificial death (10:9). The author bases this interpretation on the Greek translation of the psalm, since the Hebrew text of Psalm 40:6 reads, "you have given me ears."

10:10 been made holy: In order to belong to God and to be set apart as God's, we must be cleansed. God has accomplished this through Christ's body.

10:12 he sat down: Christ's sitting down on God's right side is a theme throughout Hebrews based on Psalm 110:1 (e.g., Heb 1:3, 13; 8:1; 12:2). Here, it indicates the finality and definitiveness of the reconciling work Christ has done for all time.

10:13 until his enemies: Psalm 110:1 also mentions the defeat of the king's enemies. In 1 Corinthians 15:16, the last enemy is death. The Hebrews author seems to think of the final defeat more in terms of the final judgment (cf. Heb 10:27).

10:14 he perfected: This magnificent verse captures the entire high priestly argument of Hebrews.

10:15-18 This is the covenant: The author ends the new covenant argument from Hebrews 8:1-10:18, where it began with a summary of his quotation of Jeremiah in Hebrews 8. With sins unequivocally forgiven through Christ, there's no need for continued sacrifices in an earthly sanctuary. The audience no longer needs to worry about participating in the Jerusalem temple (if Hebrews was written before 70 CE) or be troubled by its destruction (if Hebrews was written after).

10:19 we can enter: These verses are similar to Hebrews 4:14-16, indicating that the central high priestly argument of the sermon has come to an end. We have definitive access to God's presence by means of Jesus' blood.

10:20 through the curtain: The image of Christ's body as the curtain or veil between the two parts of the sanctuary is difficult if one thinks of a curtain as a hindrance. It's better to think of the curtain more as an entrance.

10:21 over God's house: With the mention of Christ as high <sup>22</sup>Therefore, let's draw near with a genuine heart with the certainty that our faith gives us, since our hearts are sprinkled clean from an evil conscience and our bodies are washed with pure water.

<sup>23</sup>Let's hold on to the confession of our hope without wavering, because the one who made the promises is reliable.

<sup>24</sup>And let us consider each other carefully for the purpose of sparking love and good deeds.

<sup>25</sup>Don't stop meeting together with other believers, which some people have gotten into the habit of doing. Instead, encourage each other, especially as you see the day drawing near.

Judgment for intentional sin

<sup>26</sup>If we make the decision to sin after we receive the knowledge of the truth, there isn't a sacrifice for sins left any longer. <sup>27</sup>There's only a scary expectation of judgment and of a burning fire that's going to devour God's opponents. <sup>28</sup>When someone rejected the Law from Moses, they were put to death without mercy on the basis of the testimony of two or three witnesses. <sup>29</sup>How much worse punishment do you think is deserved by the person who walks all over God's son, who acts as if the blood of the covenant that made us holy is just ordinary blood, and who insults the Spirit of grace? <sup>30</sup>We know the one who said,

Judgment is mine; I will pay people back.<sup>d</sup>

And he also said,

The Lord will judge his people.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>31</sup>It's scary to fall into the hands of the living God!

Confidence and faith to endure

<sup>32</sup>But remember the earlier days, after you saw the light. You stood your ground while you were suffering from an enormous amount of pressure. <sup>33</sup>Sometimes you were exposed to insults and abuse in public. Other times you became partners with those who were treated that way. <sup>34</sup>You even showed sympathy toward people in prison and accepted the confiscation of your possessions with joy, since you knew that you had better and lasting possessions. <sup>35</sup>So don't throw away your confidence—it brings a great reward. <sup>36</sup>You need to endure so that you can receive the promises after you do God's will.

<sup>37</sup>In a little while longer,

the one who is coming will come and won't delay;

<sup>38</sup>but my righteous one will live by faith, and my whole being won't be pleased with anyone who shrinks back.<sup>f</sup>

priest, the word "house" now takes on the sense of God's temple in addition to its earlier images as a household and a building in Hebrews 3:2-3.

10:22 evil conscience: that is, an awareness of sin (cf. Heb 10:2). bodies are washed: probably a reference to Christian baptism (cf. Heb 6:2).

10:23 hold on to the confession: the central charge of Hebrews, repeated here as in Hebrews 4:14 to indicate the end of the author's central high priestly argument.

10:24 consider each other: Mutual care is especially important for a community experiencing harassment. sparking: or "provoking" good deeds: See the examples in Hebrews 13.

10:25a Don't stop meeting together: perhaps a sign of declining confidence. Some who had formerly believed were beginning to stop meeting together regularly for worship.

10:25b the day drawing near: Hebrews still anticipates the imminent return of Christ from heaven. The audience might very well expect to be alive when it happens.

10:26 the decision to sin: Like Hebrews 6:4-6, Hebrews 10:26-31 doesn't express optimism about those who turn away from Christ. Christ's sacrifice for our sins primarily targeted the audience's past sins and would no longer remain in force if they abandoned faith.

10:27 God's opponents: Those who abandon Christ rejoin God's opponents, who will face a fiery judgment when Christ returns.

10:29a How much worse: Yet another argument that moves from lesser to greater offenses (cf. Heb 2:2-3; 3:5-6).

10:29b insults the Spirit: God's grace is God's willingness to be our patron. This means that God gives us gifts for which we aren't able to pay. These gifts include forgiveness and the reconciliation with God that Christ achieved. At the same time, no patron will continue to give if those who received the gifts fail to respond in gratitude.

10:31 It's scary to fall: Even those who currently confess Christ as king can end up as targets of God's judgment if they abandon faith.

10:32-34 remember the earlier days: As in Hebrews 6:10, we learn that the audience has not only confessed Christ for some time but that they had been model Christians at one time (see intro.). In a previous crisis, they endured public disgrace, abuse, and even loss of possessions by associating with individuals in prison.

10:36 You need to endure: This is Hebrews' central message of encouragement (see Heb 8:1).

10:37 the one who is coming will come: perhaps indicating that the delay of Christ's return is one factor in the audience's fading confidence.

10:38 will live by faith: The author interprets Habakkuk 2:4 in terms of continuing in faithfulness. (This differs from Paul's reading of the verse from Habakkuk, in which the <sup>39</sup>But we aren't the sort of people who timidly draw back and end up being destroyed. We're the sort of people who have faith so that our whole beings are preserved.

Description of faith

11 Faith is the reality of what we hope for, the proof of what we don't see. <sup>2</sup>The elders in the past were approved because they showed faith.

Acts of faith by God's people

<sup>3</sup>By faith we understand that the universe has been created by a word from God so that the visible came into existence from the invisible.

<sup>4</sup>By faith Abel offered a better sacrifice to God than Cain, which showed that he was righteous, since God gave approval to him for his gift. Though he died, he's still speaking through faith.

<sup>5</sup>By faith Enoch was taken up so that he didn't see death, and he wasn't found because God took him up.<sup>6</sup> He was given approval for having pleased God before he was taken up. <sup>6</sup>It's impossible to please God without faith because the one who draws near to God must believe that he exists and that he rewards people who try to find him.

<sup>7</sup>By faith Noah responded with godly fear when he was warned about events he hadn't seen yet. He built an ark to deliver his household. With his faith, he criticized the world and became an heir of the righteousness that comes from faith.

<sup>8</sup>By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to go out to a place that he was going to receive as an inheritance. He went out without knowing where he was going.

<sup>9</sup>By faith he lived in the land he had been promised as a stranger. He lived in tents along with Isaac and Jacob, who were coheirs of the same promise. <sup>10</sup>He was looking forward to a city that has foundations, whose architect and builder is God.

<sup>11</sup>By faith even Sarah received the ability to have a child, though she herself was barren and past the age for having children, because she believed that the one who promised was faithful. <sup>12</sup>So descendants were born from one man (and he was as good as dead). They were as many as the number of the stars in the sky and as countless as the grains of sand on the seashore. <sup>13</sup>All of these people died in faith without receiving the promises, but they saw the promises from a distance and welcomed them. They confessed that they were strangers and immigrants on earth. <sup>14</sup>People who say this kind of thing make it clear that they are looking for a homeland. <sup>15</sup>If they had been thinking about the country that they had left, they would have had the opportunity to return to it. <sup>16</sup>But at this point in time, they are longing focus becomes trust in what God has done through Christ; cf. Rom 1:17.)

10:39 the sort of people: The author believes the audience will persist in faith to the end. To do otherwise will lead to destruction.

11:1 Faith is the reality: It's what we have now instead of what we believe will eventually come to pass. This is not a definition of faith but a description of how it functions.

11:2 The elders: namely, those whom the rest of the chapter presents as faithful examples to be imitated.

11:3 visible... from the invisible: Even though we may not see what is promised, we know God can make it happen.

11:4 better sacrifice: like Christ's is a better sacrifice than those of the OT sacrificial system. Abel's blood still speaks as a witness in the scriptures.

11:6 without faith: The verse gives two crucial elements of faith: belief that God exists and belief that God does in fact come through with his promises, termed here as rewards.

11:7 Noah responded: Noah demonstrated faith in God's promises even when they weren't yet seen (see Heb 11:1).

God considered Noah right with God because of Noah's trust in God's word.

11:8 without knowing: Abraham also trusted God's promise and continued on with faith in something he couldn't see.

11:9-10 as a stranger: A theme we will see in the remainder of this sermon is the idea that the audience doesn't belong to this world. They're foreigners awaiting a heavenly country (cf. Heb 11:16), a city God built (cf. Heb 13:14).

11:12 he was as good as dead: because Abraham was so old. The point is that God can raise the dead. God can give life to those who die from harassment and rescue those facing death.

11:13a All of these people died: before the promise of Christ and his reconciliation came about, to be sure. The audience may also face death before Christ's return.

11:13b-16 strangers and immigrants: These verses carry on the theme introduced in Hebrews 11:9, that God's people are not truly citizens of this earthly realm. The audience's homeland is in heaven (11:14); it isn't the earthly city of Jerusalem (cf. Heb 13:14) or Rome. Such comments would be particularly appropriate if the audience was for a better country, that is, a heavenly one. Therefore, God isn't ashamed to be called their God—he has prepared a city for them.

<sup>17</sup>By faith Abraham offered Isaac when he was tested. The one who received the promises was offering his only son. <sup>18</sup>He had been told concerning him, Your legitimate descendants will come from Isaac. <sup>19</sup>He figured that God could even raise him from the dead. So in a way he did receive him back from the dead.

<sup>23</sup>By faith Moses was hidden by his parents for three months when he was born, because they saw that the child was beautiful and they weren't afraid of the king's orders.

<sup>24</sup>By faith Moses refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter when he was grown up. <sup>25</sup>He chose to be mistreated with God's people instead of having the temporary pleasures of sin. <sup>26</sup>He thought that the abuses he suffered for Christ were more valuable than the treasures of Egypt, since he was looking forward to the reward.

<sup>27</sup>By faith he left Egypt without being afraid of the king's anger. He kept on going as if he could see what is invisible.

<sup>28</sup>By faith he kept the Passover and the sprinkling of blood, in order that the destroyer could not touch their firstborn children.

<sup>29</sup>By faith they crossed the Red Sea as if they were on dry land, but when the Egyptians tried it, they were drowned.

<sup>31</sup>By faith Rahab the prostitute wasn't killed with the disobedient because she welcomed the spies in peace.

<sup>32</sup>What more can I say? I would run out of time if I told you about Gideon, Barak, Samson, Jephthah, David, Samuel, and the prophets. <sup>33</sup>Through faith they conquered kingdoms, brought about justice, realized promises, shut the mouths of lions, <sup>34</sup>put out raging fires, escaped from the edge of the sword, found strength in weakness, were mighty in war, and routed foreign armies. <sup>35</sup>Women received back their dead by resurrection. Others were tortured and refused to be released so they could gain a better resurrection.

<sup>36</sup>But others experienced public shame by being taunted and whipped; they were even put in chains and in prison. <sup>37</sup>They were stoned to death, they were cut in two, and they died by being murdered with swords. They went around wearing the skins of sheep and goats, needy, oppressed, and mistreated. <sup>38</sup>The world didn't deserve them. They wandered around in deserts, mountains, caves, and holes in the ground.

<sup>39</sup>All these people didn't receive what was promised, though they were given approval facing increasing disgrace and pressure in Rome, or if Hebrews had been written shortly after 70 CE, the date of Jerusalem's destruction.

11:17-19 God could even raise him: These verses, like those about Enoch (Heb 11:5) and Abraham's descendants (Heb 11:12), fall into the category of God's being able to rescue those who face potential death caused by harassment. God can rescue them from impending death and raise those who die.

11:20-22 bowed in worship: Isaac, Jacob, and Joseph all looked toward things God would do after their deaths because they had faith in God's promises. Jacob worshipped God for what he believed God would do.

11:23 the king's orders: This statement might be especially relevant if the audience perceived itself to be in danger from a political figure like the Roman emperor.

11:27 what is invisible: The sequence would point toward the time when Moses fled Egypt after killing an Egyptian, although it is difficult to see how this would be an example of not fearing the king's anger. Nevertheless, seeing the invisible reminds the audience again of the nature of faith identified in Hebrews 11:1.

11:29 they were drowned: Echoes of possible harassment continue, along with the reminder that God can defeat any enemy.

11:32-35a Through faith they conquered: The first examples the author gives have to do with instances when God granted victory to the people of Israel.

11:35b Others . . . refused to be released: This may recall the Maccabean brothers who died as martyrs in 2 Maccabees 7.

11:36-38 cut in two: The list continues, referring now to individuals whom God did not save from hardship and death. A Jewish tradition held that Isaiah died by being sawed in two.

for their faith. <sup>40</sup>God provided something better for us so they wouldn't be made perfect without us.

Let's also run the race

12 So then let's also run the race that is laid out in front of us, since we have such a great cloud of witnesses surrounding us. Let's throw off any extra baggage, get rid of the sin that trips us up, <sup>2</sup>and fix our eyes on Jesus, faith's pioneer and perfecter. He endured the cross, ignoring the shame, <sup>3</sup>and for the sake of the joy that was laid out in front of him, and sat down at the right side of God's throne.

Run the race with discipline

<sup>3</sup>Think about the one who endured such opposition from sinners so that you won't be discouraged and you won't give up. <sup>4</sup>In your struggle against sin, you haven't resisted yet to the point of shedding blood, <sup>5</sup>and you have forgotten the encouragement that addresses you as sons and daughters:

My child, don't make light of the Lord's discipline or give up when you are corrected by him,

<sup>6</sup>because the Lord disciplines whomever he loves, and he punishes every son or daughter whom he accepts.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Bear hardship for the sake of discipline. God is treating you like sons and daughters! What child isn't disciplined by his or her father? <sup>8</sup>But if you don't experience discipline, which happens to all children, then you are illegitimate and not real sons and daughters. <sup>9</sup>What's more, we had human parents who disciplined us, and we respected them for it. How much more should we submit to the Father of spirits and life? <sup>10</sup>Our human parents disciplined us for a little while, as it seemed best to them, but God does it for our benefit so that we can share his holiness. <sup>11</sup>No discipline is fun while it lasts, but it seems painful at the time. Later, however, it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness for those who have been trained by it.

<sup>12</sup>So strengthen your drooping hands and weak knees! <sup>13</sup>Make straight paths for your feet so that if any part is lame, it will be healed rather than injured more seriously. <sup>14</sup>Pursue the goal of peace along with everyone—and holiness as well, because no one will see the Lord without it. <sup>15</sup>Make sure that no one misses out on God's grace. Make sure that no root of bitterness grows up that might cause trouble and pollute many people. <sup>16</sup>Make sure that no one becomes sexually immoral or ungodly like Esau. He sold his inheritance as the oldest son for one meal. <sup>17</sup>You know that afterward, when he wanted to inherit the blessing, he was rejected because he couldn't find a way to change his heart and life, though he looked for it with tears.

repeats the theme that began the chapter in Hebrews 11:2 and thus signals the end of the chapter. What none of these heroes of faith received was the reconciliation with God that has now been provided through Christ. Now that Christ's saving death is complete, both those who lived and had faith in the past and those who live and have faith now can finally be perfected, or cleansed of their sins. 12:1 run the race: So then indicates that the next verses are the conclusion the audience should draw for their lives, given the examples in the previous chapter. The audience needs to persist in faith and continue on their journey, just like the examples of faith in Hebrews 11. Like an athlete, they need to get rid of all their extra weight, especially sin. 12:2 fix our eyes on Jesus: Jesus is also an example of faith for the audience to follow.

12:4 point of shedding blood: Although they are in a crisis of some sort, no one yet has been put to death.

12:5 the Lord's discipline: Discipline can be punishment, but the discipline of a parent is more formative, like training. It's for our benefit.

12:8 then you are illegitimate: True fathers and mothers discipline their children so that they'll begin life on a good path.

12:9 Father of spirits: God is the Father of us in terms of what really makes us who we are for all eternity.

12:10 share his holiness: so we can be pure and without sin as God is and Christ was.

12:11 fruit of righteousness: God's discipline steers us toward a path of right conduct and living.

12:13 injured more seriously: Taking the wrong path only leads farther and farther away from the right path.

12:14 holiness as well: Hebrews leaves little hope for the future of a person whose life is full of sin.

12:16 like Esau: Sexual immorality is a concrete example of sin for the author in addition to abandoning the confession of faith, which would be the equivalent of Esau selling his inheritance (Heb 12:17).

12:17 couldn't find a way: Esau recognized his need for a blessing, but he couldn't repent; he couldn't change his heart even though he desperately wanted to. We might say that his heart at that point was hardened and couldn't soften to change.

Priestly service in heavenly Jerusalem

<sup>16</sup>You haven't drawn near to something that can be touched: a burning fire, darkness, shadow, a whirlwind, <sup>19</sup>a blast of a trumpet, and a sound of words that made the ones who heard it beg that there wouldn't be one more word. <sup>20</sup>They couldn't stand the command, If even a wild animal touches the mountain, it must be stoned. <sup>21</sup>The sight was so frightening that Moses said, "I'm terrified and shaking!"

<sup>22</sup>But you have drawn near to Mount Zion, the city of the living God, heavenly Jerusalem, to countless angels in a festival gathering, <sup>23</sup>to the assembly of God's firstborn children who are registered in heaven, to God the judge of all, to the spirits of the righteous who have been made perfect, <sup>24</sup>to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the sprinkled blood that speaks better than Abel's blood.

<sup>25</sup>See to it that you don't resist the one who is speaking. If the people didn't escape when they refused to listen to the one who warned them on earth, how will we escape if we reject the one who is warning from heaven? <sup>26</sup>His voice shook the earth then, but now he has made a promise: Still once more I will shake not only the earth but heaven also. <sup>27</sup>The words "still once more" reveal the removal of what is shaken—the things that are part of this creation—so that what isn't shaken will remain. <sup>28</sup>Therefore, since we are receiving a kingdom that can't be shaken, let's continue to express our gratitude. <sup>29</sup>With this gratitude, let's serve<sup>n</sup> in a way that is pleasing to God with respect and awe, <sup>29</sup>because our God really is a consuming fire.

Our acts of service and sacrifice

13 Keep loving each other like family. <sup>2</sup>Don't neglect to open up your homes to guests, because by doing this some have been hosts to angels without knowing it. <sup>3</sup>Remember prisoners as if you were in prison with them, and people who are mistreated as if you were in their place. <sup>4</sup>Marriage must be honored in every respect, with no cheating on the relationship, because God will judge the sexually immoral person and the person who commits adultery. <sup>5</sup>Your way of life should be free from the love of money, and you should be content with what you have. After all, he has said, I will never leave you or abandon you. <sup>6</sup>This is why we can confidently say,

The Lord is my helper, and I won't be afraid.

What can people do to me?<sup>7</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Remember your leaders who spoke God's word to you. Imitate their faith as you consider the way their lives turned out. <sup>8</sup>Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever!

12:18-21 You haven't drawn near: In these verses the author presents first the mountain to which the audience has not drawn near. This is the mountain of the first covenant, Mount Sinai. The picture he describes is that of Exodus 19 just before Moses delivered the Ten Commandments.

12:22-24 you have drawn near: This picture is of heaven and the heavenly Jerusalem. In Revelation 21:2 this Jerusalem descends to the earth. Hebrews itself says nothing about an eventual descent (cf. Heb 12:27).

12:23 spirits of the righteous... made perfect: Now that Christ's saving death is in place, all the faithful dead from the past have been cleansed (cf. Heb 11:40).

12:25 people didn't escape: another argument that moves from lesser to greater. Those who rejected the covenant under Moses didn't escape. Neither will those who abandon the covenant that Jesus has mediated (cf. Heb 12:24).

12:27 removal of what is shaken: Hebrews looks to the removal of the created realm, similar to the destruction of the world by fire in 2 Peter 3:12. Hebrews doesn't say whether God will then create a new heaven and earth thereafter.

12:28a a kingdom that can't be shaken: This is the rest toward which the audience is journeying, the end of the race.

12:28b gratitude: a hint at the fundamental issue. God has graciously given Christ's death as a means of reconciling humanity with God. God has graciously forgiven the audience their sins. To abandon faith after such a gift would be an insult to God as their patron (cf. Heb 10:29). let's serve: The Greek text suggests sacrificial worship, the kind that God now wants from us.

13:1 Keep loving: The final chapter is less like a sermon and more like a conclusion to a letter, and it's filled with a variety of encouraging words.

13:2 hosts to angels: Hospitality to strangers was a major value of the ancient world. This instruction reminds us of the angels who appeared to Abraham in Genesis 18, as well as of Roman stories of gods who visit the earth disguised as humans.

13:3 Remember prisoners: individuals like Timothy in 13:23, who had just been released.

13:4 the sexually immoral: Here's a concrete example of what the author had in mind in Hebrews 12:16.

13:5 I will never leave you: God is our patron, so we know God will give us what we truly need.

13:7-8 the way their lives turned out: The way the author words this statement might imply that these former leaders are dead, perhaps even martyred for their faith. The author

<sup>9</sup>Don't be misled by the many strange teachings out there. It's a good thing for the heart to be strengthened by grace rather than by food. Food doesn't help those who live in this context. <sup>10</sup>We have an altar, and those who serve as priests in the meeting tent don't have the right to eat from it. <sup>11</sup>The blood of the animals is carried into the holy of holies by the high priest as an offering for sin, and their bodies are burned outside the camp. <sup>12</sup>And so Jesus also suffered outside the city gate to make the people holy with his own blood.

<sup>13</sup>So now, let's go to him outside the camp, bearing his shame. <sup>14</sup>We don't have a permanent city here, but rather we are looking for the city that is still to come.

<sup>15</sup>So let's continually offer up a sacrifice of praise through him, which is the fruit from our lips that confess his name. <sup>16</sup>Don't forget to do good and to share what you have because God is pleased with these kinds of sacrifices.

Closing greeting and blessing

<sup>17</sup>Rely on your leaders and defer to them, because they watch over your whole being as people who are going to be held responsible for you. They need to be able to do this with pleasure and not with complaints about you, because that wouldn't help you. <sup>18</sup>Pray for us. We're sure that we have a good conscience, and we want to do the right thing in every way. <sup>19</sup>I'm particularly asking you to do this so that I can be returned to you quickly.

<sup>20</sup>May the God of peace, who brought back the great shepherd of the sheep, our Lord Jesus, from the dead by the blood of the eternal covenant,

<sup>21</sup>equip you with every good thing to do his will,
by developing in us what pleases him through Jesus Christ.

To him be the glory forever and always. Amen.

<sup>22</sup>I urge you, brothers and sisters, to put up with this message of encouragement, since I've only written a short letter to you! <sup>23</sup>You should know that our brother Timothy has been set free. If he comes soon, we will travel together to see you.

<sup>24</sup>Greet your leaders and all of God's holy people. The group from Italy greets you.

<sup>25</sup>May grace be with all of you.

reminds his audience that the same Jesus who was faithful to their leaders in their trials will be faithful to them as well. 13:9-10 by grace rather than by food: The issue is probably not whether to eat meat that's been sacrificed to an idol (cf. 1 Cor 8-10). Rather, mention of our altar in contrast to those... in the meeting tent points to a contrast between the OT system of sacrifices and the sacrifice of Christ. The Jerusalem temple could hardly be numbered among the many strange teachings, so it isn't clear what specific teaching is intended.

13:11-13 let's go... outside the camp: The author builds on the image of priests offering the sacrifices in the sanctuary and then taking the animals' corpses outside the camp's boundaries, just as Jesus was crucified outside the city gate of Jerusalem. The point is that the audience must be ready to bear the shame of being expelled, both for their association with Christ and their refusal to participate in the OT system for achieving reconciliation with God.

13:14 don't have a permanent city here: especially

Jerusalem, in this context. This statement would be particularly meaningful if Hebrews was being written not long after the temple's destruction in 70 CE.

13:15-16 sacrifice of praise: These are the kinds of sacrifices the audience is now to offer, rather than animal sacrifices. 13:17 they watch over: an excellent picture of what the leaders of the ancient church were charged to do.

13:19 returned to you: The author of Hebrews has ministered to this audience before.

13:20-21 May the God of peace: lovely words of praise to God before the author's closing. God will equip the audience to do his will. It isn't an impossible task.

13:22 message of encouragement: Hebrews is in the form of a brief sermon (cf. Acts 13:15, where the same Greek phrase is translated as "sermon") with a conclusion like that found in a letter.

13:24 The group from Italy: The strongest indication that Hebrews was written to some church or set of churches in Italy, perhaps Rome.

JAMES

In James 1:1 the author identifies himself as “James.” Three important people in the early Christian community were named James: (1) James, brother of John, son of Zebedee (Mark 1:19), and an apostle; (2) James, son of Alphaeus and also an apostle (Mark 3:18); and (3) James, “brother of the Lord” (Gal 1:19), and leader of the church in Jerusalem.

An examination of the letter points to James “brother of the Lord” as its likely author. The letter shows that its author, who writes with authority and calls himself a teacher (Jas 3:1), is comfortable in the worlds of both Judaism and early Christianity. He demonstrates a detailed understanding of the OT, and his message reflects Jesus’ teaching, especially the Sermon on the Mount. The fact that the writer is at home in the world of Judaism suggests the letter was written early in the development of the church, when the Christian community was still largely Jewish. The writing doesn’t reflect any church structures, such as apostles, overseers, and deacons (cf. Phil 1:1); instead, it refers to “elders” (Jas 5:14) and “teachers” (Jas 3:1) as roles, not offices. Further, the letter makes no reference to Gentiles or pagans, and it presumes the readers are all Jewish Christians. From the Jewish historian Josephus we know that James, “brother of the Lord,” died in 62 CE, which fits the time frame indicated by the letter’s content and writing style.

To whom was this letter addressed? The only direct reference to its readers is found in

Fig tree (Jas 3:12)

James 1:1: "To the twelve tribes who are scattered outside the land of Israel." In the OT the phrase "the twelve tribes" refers to the people of Israel. The scattering of the people of Israel outside their homeland began at the time of the exile, when the Babylonians destroyed their nation in 587 BCE. The prophets looked to a time when their 12-tribe kingdom would be restored. James writes as a teacher, a concerned pastor, and a leader of the Jerusalem church to instruct and encourage Jewish Christians outside Palestine who are facing trials and difficulties.

What is the literary genre of the letter? Besides conforming to the format of a letter with its opening address, this writing also belongs to the category of Wisdom literature that was widespread throughout the Middle East during the 1st century CE. Wisdom literature communicated instructions to its readers on how to live happily under God's rule. The letter of James contains many sayings expressing such wise instructions. These sayings go further by forming part of the well-constructed arguments that appear throughout the letter (e.g., Jas 2:14-26, where James argues that faith must be expressed in good actions). This type of argument shows its readers the values they should embrace to live as faithful members of the "twelve tribes who are scattered outside the land of Israel" (Jas 1:1). When reading this letter, pay attention to the wisdom sayings and follow the argument the writer is making in each section of the letter.

A number of themes are woven throughout the letter. Probably the most significant is the argument that faith on its own has to be alive by expressing itself in good actions (Jas 2:14-16). Throughout the letter James outlines for his readers various values and actions they should express in their lives because these values and actions give expression to their faith. Another central theme is the importance of choosing friendship with God over "friendship with the world" (Jas 4:4). For James, "the world" symbolizes whatever is ethically opposed to God. A series of contrasts runs throughout the letter: asking in faith versus asking with doubt (Jas 1:6); poverty versus riches (Jas 1:9-11); being "doers of the word" versus only hearers (Jas 1:22-26); faith that's dead versus faith that's alive (Jas 2:14-26); wisdom "from above" versus wisdom that's earthly (Jas 3:12-18); and friendship with God versus "friendship with the world" (Jas 4:1-10).

Greeting

1 From James, a slave of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ. To the twelve tribes who are scattered outside the land of Israel. Greetings!

Stand firm

<sup>2</sup>My brothers and sisters, think of the various tests you encounter as occasions for joy. <sup>3</sup>After all, you know that the testing of your faith produces endurance. <sup>4</sup>Let this endurance complete its work so that you may be fully mature, complete, and lacking in nothing. <sup>5</sup>But anyone who needs wisdom should ask God, whose very nature is to give to everyone without a second thought, without keeping score. Wisdom will certainly be given to those who ask. <sup>6</sup>Whoever asks shouldn't hesitate. They should ask in faith, without doubting. Whoever doubts is like the surf of the sea, tossed and turned by the wind. <sup>7</sup>People like that should never imagine that they will receive anything from the Lord. <sup>8</sup>They are double-minded, unstable in all their ways.

<sup>9</sup>Brothers and sisters who are poor should find satisfaction in their high status. <sup>10</sup>Those who are wealthy should find satisfaction in their low status, because they will die off like wildflowers. <sup>11</sup>The sun rises with its scorching heat and dries up the grass so that its flowers fall and its beauty is lost. Just like that, in the midst of their daily lives, the wealthy will waste away. <sup>12</sup>Those who stand firm during testing are blessed. They are tried and true. They will receive the life God has promised to those who love him as their reward.

Our cravings versus God's gifts

<sup>13</sup>No one who is tested should say, "God is tempting me!" This is because God is not tempted by any form of evil, nor does he tempt anyone. <sup>14</sup>Everyone is tempted by their own cravings; they are lured away and enticed by them. <sup>15</sup>Once those cravings conceive, they give birth to sin; and when sin grows up, it gives birth to death.

<sup>16</sup>Don't be misled, my dear brothers and sisters. <sup>17</sup>Every good gift, every perfect gift, comes from above. These gifts come down from the Father, the creator of the heavenly lights, in whose character there is no change at all. <sup>18</sup>He chose to give us birth by his true word, and here is the result: we are like the first crop from the harvest of everything he created.

1:1 James: On the identity of the author, see the introduction. slave of God: Significant leaders in the biblical tradition—such as Moses (1 Kgs 8:53), David (1 Kgs 8:66), and the prophets (Jer 7:25)—were identified in this way. twelve tribes: See the introduction.

1:2 Tests... occasions for joy: a frequent insight gained from Jesus' sufferings (Matt 5:10-12; Acts 5:41).

1:3-8 testing of... faith... endurance... fully mature: The first theme of the letter is the testing of faith. Testing produces steadfastness, which in turn leads to wholeness and integrity, a sequence that shows the path to spiritual maturity. James uses language that recalls Jesus' Sermon on the Mount (Matt 5-7).

1:4 mature: also means being perfect, complete, whole. It isn't clear in English, but James uses this word five times: James 1:4, 17, 25; 3:2.

1:5 wisdom: God's gift that supports Christians in times of trial. God is the source of all wisdom. The gift of wisdom is more about enabling people to act insightfully than giving them information.

1:8 double-minded: to have divided loyalty. A double-minded person is drawn in two directions (see Matt 6:24).

1:9-11 A common theme throughout the letter is the contrast between rich and poor (Jas 2:5; 4:10, 13-16; 5:1-6). This reflects Jesus' teaching that worldly possessions can be an obstacle to being close to God (Luke 6:20-25; 12:16-21; 16:19-31). Brothers and sisters who are poor... high status: Those who live in poverty should rejoice in their new status as Jesus' followers. Those who are wealthy should rejoice not in their possessions but in their new status with God.

1:10 die off like wildflowers: See Job 14:2; Isaiah 40:6-7.

1:11 will waste away: See James 4:14; 1 Peter 1:24.

1:13 "God is tempting me!": God is not the source of evil but the source of all that's good (see Jas 1:16-17). God isn't tempted by evil because God is the all-holy one.

1:14-15 The consequence of evil desires is compared to the process of giving birth: Cravings lead to sin, and sin matures and results in death. Here are the three stages of sin: evil desires, sin, and death (see 2 Sam 11:2-17).

1:14 their own cravings: Temptation comes from within, where everyone's own evil desires entice them.

1:17 All good things come as gifts from God. Father, the creator of the heavenly lights: creator of the sun, moon, and stars (Gen 1:3, 14-19). Light from these heavenly bodies changes, but God's love for humanity is always constant.

1:18 first crop from the harvest: The Israelites offered the first parts of their harvest (called "firstfruits") to God (Lev 23:9-14); first implies that many more will follow. In a similar way, the first followers of Jesus are the first of a new creation.

Welcoming and doing the word

<sup>19</sup>Know this, my dear brothers and sisters: everyone should be quick to listen, slow to speak, and slow to grow angry. <sup>20</sup>This is because an angry person doesn't produce God's righteousness. <sup>21</sup>Therefore, with humility, set aside all moral filth and the growth of wickedness, and welcome the word planted deep inside you—the very word that is able to save you.

<sup>22</sup>You must be doers of the word and not only hearers who mislead themselves. <sup>23</sup>Those who hear but don't do the word are like those who look at their faces in a mirror. <sup>24</sup>They look at themselves, walk away, and immediately forget what they were like. <sup>25</sup>But there are those who study the perfect law, the law of freedom, and continue to do it. They don't listen and then forget, but they put it into practice in their lives. They will be blessed in whatever they do.

<sup>26</sup>If those who claim devotion to God don't control what they say, they mislead themselves. Their devotion is worthless. <sup>27</sup>True devotion, the kind that is pure and faultless before God the Father, is this: to care for orphans and widows in their difficulties and to keep the world from contaminating you.

Don't show favoritism

2My brothers and sisters, when you show favoritism you deny the faithfulness of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has been resurrected in glory. <sup>2</sup>Imagine two people coming into your meeting. One has a gold ring and fine clothes, while the other is poor, dressed in filthy rags. <sup>3</sup>Then suppose that you were to take special notice of the one wearing fine clothes, saying, "Here's an excellent place. Sit here." But to the poor person you say, "Stand over there"; or, "Here, sit at my feet." <sup>4</sup>Wouldn't you have shown favoritism among yourselves and become evil-minded judges?

<sup>5</sup>My dear brothers and sisters, listen! Hasn't God chosen those who are poor by worldly standards to be rich in terms of faith? Hasn't God chosen the poor as heirs of the kingdom he has promised to those who love him? <sup>6</sup>But you have dishonored the poor. Don't the wealthy make life difficult for you? Aren't they the ones who drag you into court? <sup>7</sup>Aren't they the ones who insult the good name spoken over you at your baptism?

<sup>8</sup>You do well when you really fulfill the royal law found in scripture, Love your neighbor as yourself. <sup>9</sup>But when you show favoritism, you are committing a sin, and by that same

*Lev 19:18

1:19-25 quick to listen: James urges his audience to hear the gospel message, accept it, and act on it—to remove from one's whole being or mind what opposes God.

1:21 word planted deep inside: This is the gospel planted in the hearts of believers when they are reborn as God's creatures. It leads to salvation.

1:25 perfect law: The Law of Moses (see Ps 19:7) as fulfilled by Jesus (Matt 5:17; Rom 10:4) brings freedom.

1:27 True devotion: True dedication to and worship of God are demonstrated by actions. orphans and widows in the OT symbolize the most unfortunate members of society (see Exod 22:22-24). the world: This is not the beautiful world of nature but the world of human beings who have rejected God.

2:1 the faithfulness of our Lord Jesus Christ: not our faith in Jesus but the faithfulness of Jesus Christ to the will of the Father. Jesus' whole life and death on the cross witness to his faithfulness to the Father's will. who has been resurrected in glory: The Father raised Jesus to life in response to Jesus' obedience to the Father throughout his life and his death. Paul's hymn in Philippians 2:6-11 follows the same thought: Faithfulness/obedience leads to resurrected life. glory is a traditional NT way of referring to Jesus' resurrection (see Luke 24:26; John 17:5; Phil 2:11; 3:21; 1 Pet 1:11). when you show favoritism: Acts of favoritism, or discrimination, against others must be avoided.

The faithfulness of Jesus to his Father's will is an example for all believers to follow. The faithfulness of our Lord Jesus Christ is shown in his obedience to the Father's will. This obedience led to the Father's raising Jesus from the dead. Christians are called to imitate Jesus' faithfulness in their lives.

2:2 your meeting: The reference here is to a meeting in a synagogue.

2:4 When believers show favoritism to the rich, they discriminate against the poor. They act like judges who judge according to their own prejudices and interests, not according to God's Law.

2:5-13 Three reasons to avoid discriminating against the poor are: (1) God has chosen the poor to be rich in faith (2:5); (2) discrimination goes against the law of love (2:8); and (3) those who show mercy have no need to be afraid of judgment (see Matt 25:31-46).

2:5 Hasn't God chosen those who are poor by worldly standards: The poor are those whom God has specially chosen, but the world judges them as worthless (see 1 Cor 1:27-28). heirs of the kingdom: God's rule in the life of the believer begins with new birth (Jas 1:18) and is fulfilled in the future (see Matt 25:34). Jesus makes the same promise in Matthew 5:3.

2:8 royal law: This is the law of love of neighbor (see Lev 19:18). When Jesus preached God's kingdom, he taught law you are exposed as a lawbreaker. <sup>10</sup>Anyone who tries to keep all of the Law but fails at one point is guilty of failing to keep all of it. <sup>11</sup>The one who said, Don't commit adultery, also said, Don't commit murder.<sup>b</sup> So if you don't commit adultery but do commit murder, you are a lawbreaker. <sup>12</sup>In every way, then, speak and act as people who will be judged by the law of freedom. <sup>13</sup>There will be no mercy in judgment for anyone who hasn't shown mercy. Mercy overrules judgment.

Showing faith

<sup>14</sup>My brothers and sisters, what good is it if people say they have faith but do nothing to show it? Claiming to have faith can't save anyone, can it? <sup>15</sup>Imagine a brother or sister who is naked and never has enough food to eat. <sup>16</sup>What if one of you said, "Go in peace! Stay warm! Have a nice meal!"? What good is it if you don't actually give them what their body needs? <sup>17</sup>In the same way, faith is dead when it doesn't result in faithful activity.

<sup>18</sup>Someone might claim, "You have faith and I have action." But how can I see your faith apart from your actions? Instead, I'll show you my faith by putting it into practice in faithful action. <sup>19</sup>It's good that you believe that God is one. Ha! Even the demons believe this, and they tremble with fear. <sup>20</sup>Are you so slow? Do you need to be shown that faith without actions has no value at all? <sup>21</sup>What about Abraham, our father? Wasn't he shown to be righteous through his actions when he offered his son Isaac on the altar? <sup>22</sup>See, his faith was at work along with his actions. In fact, his faith was made complete by his faithful actions. <sup>23</sup>So the scripture was fulfilled that says, Abraham believed God, and God regarded him as righteous.<sup>c</sup> What is more, Abraham was called God's friend. <sup>24</sup>So you see that a person is shown to be righteous through faithful actions and not through faith alone. <sup>25</sup>In the same way, wasn't Rahab the prostitute shown to be righteous when she received the messengers as her guests and then sent them on by another road? <sup>26</sup>As the lifeless body is dead, so faith without actions is dead.

Faith and Works Some have argued that James' teaching contradicts Paul's teaching. However, Paul and James have different concerns. For Paul, works of the Jewish Law do not lead to faith and justification. Such a view would deny the importance of Jesus Christ, who alone attained our salvation (Gal 2:15-16). Paul does not deny the need for believers, once they have the gift of faith, to express their faith by doing good deeds (e.g., Rom 2:6; Phil 1:21-22; Eph 4:12). James is concerned that faith be alive by responding with good deeds (Jas 2:14-26). In fact, he expresses what Jesus says in the Sermon on the Mount, "Not everybody who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will get into the kingdom of heaven. Only those who do the will of my Father who is in heaven will enter" (Matt 7:21).

that this law embraced all the other OT instruction (see Matt 22:39-40; Mark 12:31; Luke 10:27).
 2:10-12 fails at one point is guilty of failing to keep all of it: The law expresses God's will. To break one law is to go against God's will; in this way a person breaks every law.
 2:11 adultery... murder: These two laws are part of the Ten Commandments (Exod 20:13, 14). James follows the sequence adultery... murder, which comes from the Greek translation of the OT. The sequence in the Hebrew Bible is murder... adultery.
 2:12 judged: God's judgment will be carried out according to the law of freedom (see Jas 1:25; 2:8), which is the law of love.
 2:13 Mercy overrules judgment: Jesus taught that a person who shows mercy shares in God's own mercy and includes forgiveness for all who wrong us (Matt 5:7; 6:12, 14-15; 18:21-35).
 2:14-26 James addresses the relationship between faith and good works. He argues that for faith to be alive, it has to be expressed in good works.

2:19 God is one: This is the Jewish profession of faith known as the Shema Israel: "Israel, listen!" (Deut 6:4).
 2:21 Wasn't he shown to be righteous through his actions: James states clearly that righteous actions point to genuine faith, not that they lead to faith and give salvation.
 2:23 Abraham believed God, and God regarded him as righteous: James quotes Genesis 15:6 (see Rom 4:23). Abraham's faithful act takes place before he offers his son Isaac on the altar. Abraham's willingness to offer his son was proof of his genuine faith in God. God's friend: Abraham's relationship with God shows his closeness to God (see also 2 Chron 20:7). This description of Abraham is significant because in James 4:4 James demands that believers make a choice between friendship with God and "friendship with the world."
 2:25 Rahab the prostitute: She helped the Israelite spies escape safely (Josh 2:1-21). James praises her faith, which was shown in her deeds of hospitality (see Heb 11:31).

Taming the tongue

3 My brothers and sisters, not many of you should become teachers, because we know that we teachers will be judged more strictly. <sup>2</sup>We all make mistakes often, but those who don't make mistakes with their words have reached full maturity. Like a bridled horse, they can control themselves entirely. <sup>3</sup>When we bridle horses and put bits in their mouths to lead them wherever we want, we can control their whole bodies.

<sup>4</sup>Consider ships: they are so large that strong winds are needed to drive them. But pilots direct their ships wherever they want with a little rudder. <sup>5</sup>In the same way, even though the tongue is a small part of the body, it boasts wildly.

Think about this: a small flame can set a whole forest on fire. <sup>6</sup>The tongue is a small flame of fire, a world of evil at work in us. It contaminates our entire lives. Because of it, the circle of life is set on fire. The tongue itself is set on fire by the flames of hell.

<sup>7</sup>People can tame and already have tamed every kind of animal, bird, reptile, and fish. <sup>8</sup>No one can tame the tongue, though. It is a restless evil, full of deadly poison. <sup>9</sup>With it we both bless the Lord and Father and curse human beings made in God's likeness. <sup>10</sup>Blessing and cursing come from the same mouth. My brothers and sisters, it just shouldn't be this way!

Wisdom from above

<sup>13</sup>Are any of you wise and understanding? Show that your actions are good with a humble lifestyle that comes from wisdom. <sup>14</sup>However, if you have bitter jealousy and selfish ambition in your heart, then stop bragging and living in ways that deny the truth. <sup>15</sup>This is not the wisdom that comes down from above. Instead, it is from the earth, natural and demonic.

<sup>16</sup>Wherever there is jealousy and selfish ambition, there is disorder and everything that is evil. <sup>17</sup>What of the wisdom from above? First, it is pure, and then peaceful, gentle, obedient, filled with mercy and good actions, fair, and genuine. <sup>18</sup>Those who make peace sow the seeds of justice by their peaceful acts.

Conflict with people and God

4 What is the source of conflict among you? What is the source of your disputes? Don't they come from your cravings that are at war in your own lives? <sup>2</sup>You long for something you don't have, so you commit murder. You are jealous for something you can't get, so you struggle and fight. You don't have because you don't ask. <sup>3</sup>You ask and don't have because you ask with evil intentions, to waste it on your own cravings.

<sup>4</sup>You unfaithful people! Don't you know that friendship with the world makes you an enemy of God? <sup>5</sup>Or do you suppose that scripture is meaningless? Doesn't God long for our

3:1-12 James considers the responsibility of the role of teacher in the church.

3:1 we teachers will be judged more strictly: In the early church the teacher held an important ministry (e.g., Acts 13:1; 1 Cor 12:29; Eph 4:11). Because teachers influence others, especially in their understanding of their faith, they have a serious responsibility to teach the truth.

3:6 a world of evil: The tongue brings the world of evil into our bodies. circle of life: The tongue's destructive power is such that it affects the whole of life, from the cradle to the grave. set on fire by the flames of hell: Evil ultimately comes from hell, which specifically implies the devil.

3:9 God's likeness: Human beings are created in God's image and likeness (Gen 1:26-27). The basis for not cursing another person is because they are in God's image and likeness. To curse a human being is, in effect, to curse God (Gen 9:6).

3:13-18 The qualities of a wise person (described in 3:17-18; see Gal 5:22-23) come from above. Contrasted to these qualities are those of earthly wisdom (described in 3:14-16; see 2 Cor 12:20).

3:18 the seeds of justice: Moral action is described in agricultural terms (sowing and reaping; see Prov 22:8; 1 Cor

9:11; Gal 6:7-8). Justice is the outcome of the actions of those who make peace. This is a reminder of Jesus' saying "Happy are people who make peace, because they will be called God's children" (Matt 5:9).

4:1-10 The theme of this section centers on jealousy. James' reference to conflicts and wars (4:1) is characteristic of this type of theme. James doesn't say that wars and conflicts have occurred in his community; rather, he's using a rhetorical device to draw attention to the consequences of jealousy.

4:2 Murder, wars, and conflicts originate in jealousy and envy.

4:4 This is the heart of James' letter. The readers are given a choice: friendship with God or friendship with the world. The person with divided loyalty, who desires friendship with both God and the world, is "double-minded" (Jas 1:8). You unfaithful people!: refers to spiritual unfaithfulness. The bond of marriage is a common biblical image for the covenant between God and God's people (see Hosea). Breaking the covenant with God is similar to being an unfaithful spouse.

4:5 James cites two scriptural passages to illustrate what he has said. The first is a verse we cannot identify. Perhaps faithfulness in<sup>d</sup> the life he has given to us?<sup>e</sup> <sup>6</sup>But he gives us more grace. This is why it says, God stands against the proud, but favors the humble.<sup>f</sup> <sup>7</sup>Therefore, submit to God. Resist the devil, and he will run away from you. <sup>8</sup>Come near to God, and he will come near to you. Wash your hands, you sinners. Purify your hearts, you double-minded. <sup>9</sup>Cry out in sorrow, mourn, and weep! Let your laughter become mourning and your joy become sadness. <sup>10</sup>Humble yourselves before the Lord, and he will lift you up.

<sup>11</sup>Brothers and sisters, don't say evil things about each other. Whoever insults or criticizes a brother or sister insults and criticizes the Law. If you find fault with the Law, you are not a doer of the Law but a judge over it. <sup>12</sup>There is only one lawgiver and judge, and he is able to save and to destroy. But you who judge your neighbor, who are you?

Warning the proud and wealthy

<sup>13</sup>Pay attention, you who say, "Today or tomorrow we will go to such-and-such a town. We will stay there a year, buying and selling, and making a profit." <sup>14</sup>You don't really know about tomorrow. What is your life? You are a mist that appears for only a short while before it vanishes. <sup>15</sup>Here's what you ought to say: "If the Lord wills, we will live and do this or that." <sup>16</sup>But now you boast and brag, and all such boasting is evil. <sup>17</sup>It is a sin when someone knows the right thing to do and doesn't do it.

5 <sup>2</sup>Pay attention, you wealthy people! Weep and moan over the miseries coming upon you. <sup>3</sup>Your riches have rotted. Moths have destroyed your clothes. <sup>4</sup>Your gold and silver have rusted, and their rust will be evidence against you. It will eat your flesh like fire. Consider the treasure you have hoarded in the last days. <sup>5</sup>Listen! Hear the cries of the wages of your field hands. These are the wages you stole from those who harvested your fields. The cries of the harvesters have reached the ears of the Lord of heavenly forces. <sup>6</sup>You have lived a self-satisfying life on this earth, a life of luxury. You have stuffed your hearts in preparation for the day of slaughter. <sup>7</sup>You have condemned and murdered the righteous one, who doesn't oppose you.

Courageous patience

it refers to Exodus 20:5: "because I, the LORD your God, am a passionate God." If so, then James is probably quoting it from memory. God desires intensely the fidelity of God's people.

4:6 The second scriptural passage echoes Proverbs 3:34, "He mocks mockers, but he shows favor to the humble." The spirit of humility is the opposite of the spirit of jealousy and envy.

4:7-10 A remedy for this jealousy: submit to God. Resist the devil... Come near to God... Wash your hands... Purify your hearts. Psalm 24:4 speaks of "clean hands and a pure heart." This phrase draws attention to both thoughts and actions.

4:11 insults or criticizes a brother or sister insults and criticizes the Law: The action of speaking evil of another is at the heart of condemning another and thus is a condemnation of the law of love.

4:12 one lawgiver and judge: The OT stresses the role of God as Judge. Human beings must be careful not to take over God's role.

4:13-5:6 This section contains two warnings similar to those that the prophets of the OT used to utter against the evil nations of the world. Here James addresses traveling merchants and the rich.

4:13-17 The first warning is for merchants: Life is uncertain. We are totally dependent on God. James warns merchants about making plans without reference to God's will. He concludes with a proverb that implies responsibility for one's actions.

4:15 If the Lord wills: The condition for all our plans.

5:1-6 The second warning is for rich landowners. They have amassed their fortunes on the backs of workers.

5:1 Weep and moan over the miseries coming upon you: James isn't addressing the wealthy directly. He's exhorting his own community to remain faithful by showing what will happen to those wealthy people outside the community.

5:2-3 James attacks their wealth by showing that it has no value. He describes their future bad luck as already having taken place. Their clothes are damaged, and their gold and silver have been ruined.

5:4 cries of the wages of your field hands: the first of three accusations against the wealthy. They have defrauded the day laborer of his wages.

5:5 a self-satisfying life: The second accusation is that the wealthy have lived a life of self-indulgence and luxury (see Luke 16:19-31). the day of slaughter: the Judgment Day. The wealthy landowners are like cattle who continue to eat, unaware that their time of slaughter has arrived.

5:6 condemned and murdered the righteous one: The third accusation is not a reference to Jesus. (We have no tradition that the wealthy were responsible for Jesus' death.) It refers to the type of person the wealthy oppress and kill: the innocent, righteous person oppressed by the rich (as in Jas 5:4). This passage concludes the body of the letter.

5:7 Therefore, brothers and sisters: James ends with the theme of endurance, urging those being oppressed by spring, looking forward to the precious fruit of the earth. <sup>8</sup>You also must wait patiently, strengthening your resolve, because the coming of the Lord is near. <sup>9</sup>Don't complain about each other, brothers and sisters, so that you won't be judged. Look! The judge is standing at the door!

<sup>10</sup>Brothers and sisters, take the prophets who spoke in the name of the Lord as an example of patient resolve and steadfastness. <sup>11</sup>Look at how we honor those who have practiced endurance. You have heard of the endurance of Job. And you have seen what the Lord has accomplished, for the Lord is full of compassion and mercy.

Final instructions

<sup>12</sup>Most important, my brothers and sisters, never make a solemn pledge—neither by heaven nor earth, nor by anything else. Instead, speak with a simple “Yes” or “No,” or else you may fall under judgment.

<sup>13</sup>If any of you are suffering, they should pray. If any of you are happy, they should sing. <sup>14</sup>If any of you are sick, they should call for the elders of the church, and the elders should pray over them, anointing them with oil in the name of the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Prayer that comes from faith will heal the sick, for the Lord will restore them to health. And if they have sinned, they will be forgiven. <sup>16</sup>For this reason, confess your sins to each other and pray for each other so that you may be healed. The prayer of the righteous person is powerful in what it can achieve. <sup>17</sup>Elijah was a person just like us. When he earnestly prayed that it wouldn't rain, no rain fell for three and a half years. <sup>18</sup>He prayed again, God sent rain, and the earth produced its fruit.

<sup>19</sup>My brothers and sisters, if any of you wander from the truth and someone turns back the wanderer, <sup>20</sup>recognize that whoever brings a sinner back from the wrong path will save them from death and will bring about the forgiveness of many sins.

the wealthy to have patience while awaiting the Lord's return. coming of rain in the fall and spring: In Israel the fall rains come in October and November, just after the fields have been sown. The spring rains come in March and April, just before the harvest (see Deut 11:14; Jer 5:24).

5:8 the coming of the Lord is near: The expectation is that the Lord's return at the end of time is coming at any moment. This is supported by James 5:9: “The judge is standing at the door!”

5:10 take the prophets . . . as an example of patient resolve and steadfastness: James stresses the patient endurance of the prophets, not their suffering. They remained faithful to the Lord.

5:11 the endurance of Job: another example of endurance. Job is not patient (Job 3; 12:1-3; 16:1-3; 21:4), but he did endure (Job 1:20-22). James challenges his readers to be like Job, to lead lives of endurance when faced with suffering. This is the only place in the NT that Job is mentioned.

5:12 This is a call to avoid making pledges because of the way they have been abused. neither by heaven nor earth: These words would have been used intentionally to avoid making the pledge binding as well as to avoid pronouncing God's name. Jesus teaches in a similar way about avoiding pledges (Matt 5:33-37).

5:14 elders: a leadership role in the community (e.g., Acts 11:30; 14:23; 15:2; 16:4; 20:17; 21:18; 1 Tim 5:17-19; Titus 1:5-6). Elders derive from the heads of households in the Jewish and Greek worlds. They are to pray over the sick,

Jesus in the Letter of James The letter of James refers directly to the name of Jesus only twice (Jas 1:1; 2:1). There are also a few implied references to Jesus when the term “Lord” is used (Jas 2:1; 5:14-15). However, the letter's thought and expression show a distinct closeness to the thought and sayings of Jesus, especially as found in the Sermon on the Mount (Matt 5-7). James' allusions to the sayings of Jesus, as well as his use of quotations from the OT, show that they form the foundation for his teaching. He has rephrased them in his own way to speak to his community; they are essential to his argument.

anointing them with oil, which was used for healing (see Isa 1:6; Luke 10:34). In Mark 6:7 Jesus sent “the Twelve” out on a mission; by anointing with oil, they cured those who were sick. in the name of the Lord: calling on the Lord Jesus to heal those who are sick.

5:15 The result of praying is that the sick person is restored to complete health.

5:17 Elijah . . . prayed: Elijah was a prophet of Israel; his miracles took place as a result of his earnest prayer (1 Kgs 18:36-37). three and a half years: Half of seven, which symbolized completeness and perfection (see Luke 4:25). Three and a half years represents a period of limited judgment, suffering, and evil. Sometimes this period is also referred to as “for a period of time, periods of time, and half a period of time” (Dan 7:25; see Dan 12:7; Rev 11:2; 12:14).

5:19-20 The conclusion differs from the way Paul ends his letters but is similar to those of 1 John 5:16-20 and Jude 22-23. The endings of all three letters—James, 1 John, and Jude—call on the community to pray for those who sin so that they will change their evil ways. bring about the forgiveness of many sins: or, “will cover over a multitude of sins.” This phrase reflects Proverbs 10:12: “Hate stirs up conflict, but love covers all offenses.” 1 Peter 4:8 has a similar phrase: “love brings about the forgiveness of many sins.” The CEB translation here gives the full meaning: God will forgive the sins of one who wanders from the truth. The letter ends by professing belief in God's work of salvation.

1 PETER

1 Peter is a letter written to encourage Gentile Christians to embrace their identity as Christ-followers. The author wants his audience to understand who they are in relationship to the OT people of God, and he wants them to remain faithful to Christ in the face of pressures to conform to the larger world's social and religious values.

The author of the letter identifies himself as the apostle Peter (1 Pet 1:1), "a witness of Christ's sufferings" (1 Pet 5:1). Whether the letter was written by Peter or a later Christian in Peter's name is debated. If the apostle Peter wrote the letter, it would date from sometime in the 60s CE, since early church tradition dates Peter's death around 65.

The letter is addressed to "God's chosen strangers in the world of the diaspora, who live in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia" (1 Pet 1:1). These regions are located in the northern part of 1st-century Asia Minor (modern-day Turkey). The term "diaspora" referred to Jewish communities throughout the Mediterranean world, including numerous Jewish communities in Asia Minor. This doesn't mean 1 Peter was written primarily to Jews, though. Throughout the letter images and language from the Jewish scriptures are used to identify the letter's Gentile audience as God's people in line with Israel. The primarily Gentile make-up of the audience is especially clear when Peter refers to the emptiness and idols of their former lives (1 Pet 1:14, 18; 2:10; 4:3-4).

Telling its readers You will be holy (1 Pet 1:16) and you are... a royal priesthood (1 Pet 2:9), the letter alludes to key scriptures (Lev 19:2; Exod 19:5-6) to encourage its Gentile audience to find their identity in the OT story of God's people, Israel. The letter also uses words like "chosen strangers" (1 Pet 1:1) and "immigrants" (1 Pet 2:11; see 1 Pet 1:17; Gen 15:13; 23:4) to tell the audience who they are. Peter affirms his audience's identity as God's chosen people living as strangers in their current context.

According to 1 Peter, God's people live in tension. They are to live "honorably" (1 Pet 2:12) in the larger world, but they are to live distinctly as those who follow Jesus Christ. This is illustrated most vividly by the presence of a household code as the central portion of the letter (1 Pet 2:13–3:7). This code is traditional since, throughout the Roman world, paragraphs like these told everyone in a household—parents, children, slaves, masters, husbands, wives—what their roles were supposed to be. The household code in 1 Peter is similar to those but also different. In fact, at key points it violates standard expectations. For example, the basis for behaviors rests on the believer's relationship with God in Christ (1 Pet 2:13, 21–25; 3:4). Additionally, in the larger world we might have expected that the Christian wives of unbelieving husbands would have been encouraged to worship the gods of their husbands. In 1 Peter, though, these wives are encouraged to relate to their husbands in ways that might result in their coming to faith in Jesus (1 Pet 3:1). This is one of the clearest statements of mission in the entire letter of 1 Peter. It illustrates the tension between living honorably in society and living distinctively for Christ.

Central themes of 1 Peter include (1) living honorably and ethically in spite of hostility from unbelievers, especially verbal hostility (1 Pet 1:14–17; 2:11–12, 20; 3:2, 8–10, 12, 13–17; 4:14–16); (2) the return of Jesus as a basis for Christian hope (1 Pet 1:3, 7, 13, 21; 3:5, 15; 4:13, 17; 5:4); and (3) the continuity between the audience of primarily Gentile believers and the Israel of old (1 Pet 1:2, 10–12, 16; 2:4–10; 3:6, 8–12). In addition, when Peter turns to how the believing community should live in relation to one another (1 Pet 1:22–25; 4:7–11), he emphasizes the importance of love and unity.

- 2. Call to elders to lead by example (5:1–4)
- 3. Call to community to humility (5:5)
- 4. Call to trust God in suffering (5:6–11)

III. Closing Greetings (5:12–14)

Greeting

1 Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ,

To God's chosen strangers in the world of the diaspora, who live in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia.

2 God the Father chose you because of what he knew beforehand. He chose you through the Holy Spirit's work of making you holy and because of the faithful obedience and sacrifice of Jesus Christ.

May God's grace and peace be multiplied to you.

Thanksgiving

3 May the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ be blessed! On account of his vast mercy, he has given us new birth. You have been born anew into a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. 4 You have a pure and enduring inheritance that cannot perish—an inheritance that is presently kept safe in heaven for you. 5 Through his faithfulness, you are guarded by God's power so that you can receive the salvation he is ready to reveal in the last time.

6 You now rejoice in this hope, even if it's necessary for you to be distressed for a short time by various trials. 7 This is necessary so that your faith may be found genuine. (Your faith is more valuable than gold, which will be destroyed even though it is itself tested by fire.) Your genuine faith will result in praise, glory, and honor for you when Jesus Christ is revealed. 8 Although you've never seen him, you love him. Even though you don't see him now, you trust him and so rejoice with a glorious joy that is too much for words. 9 You are receiving the goal of your faith: your salvation.

10 The prophets, who long ago foretold the grace that you've received, searched and explored, inquiring carefully about this salvation. 11 They wondered what the Spirit of Christ within them was saying when he bore witness beforehand about the suffering that would happen to Christ and the glory that would follow. They wondered what sort of person or what sort of time they were speaking about. 12 It was revealed to them that in their search they were not serving themselves but you. These things, which even angels long to examine, have now been proclaimed to you by those who brought you the good news. They did this in the power of the Holy Spirit, who was sent from heaven.

Response of obedience

13 Therefore, once you have your minds ready for action and you are thinking clearly, place your hope completely on the grace that will be brought to you when Jesus Christ is revealed. 14 Don't be conformed to your former desires, those that shaped you when you were ignorant. But, as obedient children, 15 you must be holy in every aspect of your lives, just as the one who called you is holy. 16 It is written, You will be holy, because I am holy. 17 Since you

1:1 diaspora: a word used by Jews in the 1st century to describe their fellow Jews who were scattered across the Mediterranean world. While this might suggest that the audience is Jewish, other clues in the letter point to a primarily Gentile audience, invited to understand themselves as deeply connected to Israel's story.

1:3 The theme of hope is introduced here and will reappear throughout the first chapter (1 Pet 1:6, 13, 21; 3:15). Peter refers to a living hope that comes from Christ's resurrection. 1:5 the last time: Peter points ahead to the final day when God makes all things right at Jesus' return (see 1 Pet 1:13; 2:12).

1:6 trials: Peter's audience is experiencing opposition in the form of verbal attacks. Those outside the church interpret their behavior as immoral; this is because obeying Christ leads believers to behave in ways that seem strange and undermine social expectations (1 Pet 2:11-12; 4:3-4). In the face of this opposition, their behavior needs to be exemplary and honorable (1 Pet 3:13-17; 4:12-16).

1:10-12 Not only did the OT prophets point ahead to the suffering and glory of Christ, they were also guided by the Spirit of Christ to write about the time of God's final restoration. Present suffering doesn't contradict hope in God's restoration.

1:13-2:4 Peter begins the body of the letter with five words of encouragement (1 Pet 1:13, 15, 17, 22; 2:2): Christians are to (1) hope in final-day grace, (2) be holy, (3) live reverently (reverence) in the present time, (4) love one another, and (5) desire what will make them grow into salvation.

1:13 Peter again encourages his audience to hope (see 1 Pet 1:3). They are to hope in the grace to be received at the final day when Jesus is revealed. This hope has an active quality; it depends on a prepared mind and clear thinking.

1:15-16 You will be holy. The quotation of Leviticus 19:2 shows Peter's Gentile audience that they are to find their identity in the OT story of Israel. God's call to Israel to be distinctive and set apart is the same call God has given these Christians in Asia Minor.

call upon a Father who judges all people according to their actions without favoritism, you should conduct yourselves with reverence during the time of your dwelling in a strange land. <sup>18</sup>Live in this way, knowing that you were not liberated by perishable things like silver or gold from the empty lifestyle you inherited from your ancestors. <sup>19</sup>Instead, you were liberated by the precious blood of Christ, like that of a flawless, spotless lamb. <sup>20</sup>Christ was chosen before the creation of the world, but was only revealed at the end of time. This was done for you, <sup>21</sup>who through Christ are faithful to the God who raised him from the dead and gave him glory. So now, your faith and hope should rest in God.

<sup>22</sup>As you set yourselves apart by your obedience to the truth so that you might have genuine affection for your fellow believers, love each other deeply and earnestly. <sup>23</sup>Do this because you have been given new birth—not from the type of seed that decays but from seed that doesn't. This seed is God's life-giving and enduring word.

<sup>24</sup>Thus,

All human life on the earth is like grass, and all human glory is like a flower in a field.

The grass dries up and its flower falls off,

<sup>25</sup>but the Lord's word endures forever.<sup>b</sup>

This is the word that was proclaimed to you as good news.

Your identity as believers

2 Therefore, get rid of all ill will and all deceit, pretense, envy, and slander. <sup>2</sup>Instead, like a newborn baby, desire the pure milk of the word. Nourished by it, you will grow into salvation, <sup>3</sup>since you have tasted that the Lord is good.

<sup>4</sup>Now you are coming to him as to a living stone. Even though this stone was rejected by humans, from God's perspective it is chosen, valuable. <sup>5</sup>You yourselves are being built like living stones into a spiritual temple. You are being made into a holy priesthood to offer up spiritual sacrifices that are acceptable to God through Jesus Christ. <sup>6</sup>Thus it is written in scripture, Look! I am laying a cornerstone in Zion, chosen, valuable. The person who believes in him will never be shamed.<sup>c</sup> <sup>7</sup>So God honors you who believe. For those who refuse to believe, though, the stone the builders tossed aside has become the capstone. <sup>8</sup>This is a stone that makes people stumble and a rock that makes them fall. Because they refuse to believe in the word, they stumble. Indeed, this is the end to which they were appointed. <sup>9</sup>But you are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people who are God's own possession. You have become this people so that you may speak of the wonderful acts of the one who called you out of darkness into his amazing light. <sup>10</sup>Once you weren't a people, but now you are God's people. Once you hadn't received mercy, but now you have received mercy.

(1 Pet 1:1) is emphasized with the reference to the time of your dwelling in a strange land. The present time is like being on a journey. It's a kind of homelessness. The final day of restoration will usher in the time when all creation will be restored. Then Christians will share in the secure dwelling God has for his people (see 2 Pet 3:13).

1:18 empty lifestyle: Peter's audience is primarily Gentiles. They are called to live holy lives rather than lives of waste. (It is unlikely that Peter would use the phrase "empty lifestyle" to refer to the former lives of the Jewish people.)

1:19 spotless lamb: Peter wants his audience to think about the Passover lamb from Exodus 12. The blood of the Christ is the basis for the liberation of believers, just as the blood of the Passover lamb was associated with Israel's liberation from slavery in Egypt (see 1 Pet 2:9 for other Exodus ties).

1:22-23 Peter encourages a deep and earnest love for other believers. The basis for loving each other is twofold: they have been given new birth and they have set themselves apart by their obedience. New life, given by God (see 1 Pet 1:3), and obedience, which is the believers' response to God, produce active love within the church.

1:24-25 Peter quotes Isaiah 40:6-8 to identify "God's life-giving and enduring word" (1 Pet 1:23) with the "word" described by Isaiah that endures forever. In Isaiah this "word" is linked to the good news proclaimed about the return of God to Zion (Isa 40:9). In the same way, Peter defines the word of the Lord as the good news that has been proclaimed to his readers.

2:2 Given 1 Peter 1:23-25, the pure milk of the word refers to the gospel message, which nourishes believers' growth into salvation.

2:3 tasted that the Lord is good: an allusion to Psalm 34:8 ("Taste and see how good the Lord is"). Peter draws on a longer quotation from Psalm 34 in 1 Peter 3:10-12. The context of Psalm 34 fits the situation of 1 Peter well. In both, righteous persons are wrongly harassed, yet they're encouraged to remain faithful and full of hope.

2:4-8 The author pictures Jesus as the cornerstone of a human temple, constructed of those who believe, who are themselves living stones. (A cornerstone determines the shape and strength of the building.) The purpose of this spiritual temple of believers is to offer up spiritual sacrifices. This is probably a reference to the exemplary way of life commended in the letter.

2:9-10 Peter uses OT words and images to apply Israel's special identity to his Gentile audience. Israel is God's

Life as strangers in the world

<sup>11</sup>Dear friends, since you are immigrants and strangers in the world, I urge that you avoid worldly desires that wage war against your lives. <sup>12</sup>Live honorably among the unbelievers. Today, they defame you, as if you were doing evil. But in the day when God visits to judge they will glorify him, because they have observed your honorable deeds.

<sup>13</sup>For the sake of the Lord submit to every human institution. Do this whether it means submitting to the emperor as supreme ruler, <sup>14</sup>or to governors as those sent by the emperor. They are sent to punish those doing evil and to praise those doing good. <sup>15</sup>Submit to them because it's God's will that by doing good you will silence the ignorant talk of foolish people. <sup>16</sup>Do this as God's slaves, and yet also as free people, not using your freedom as a cover-up for evil. <sup>17</sup>Honor everyone. Love the family of believers. Have respectful fear of God. Honor the emperor.

<sup>18</sup>Household slaves, submit by accepting the authority of your masters with all respect. Do this not only to good and kind masters but also to those who are harsh. <sup>19</sup>Now, it is commendable if, because of one's understanding of God, someone should endure pain through suffering unjustly. <sup>20</sup>But what praise comes from enduring patiently when you have sinned and are beaten for it? But if you endure steadfastly when you've done good and suffer for it, this is commendable before God.

<sup>21</sup>You were called to this kind of endurance, because Christ suffered on your behalf. He left you an example so that you might follow in his footsteps. <sup>22</sup>He committed no sin, nor did he ever speak in ways meant to deceive. <sup>23</sup>When he was insulted, he did not reply with insults. When he suffered, he did not threaten revenge. Instead, he entrusted himself to the one who judges justly. <sup>24</sup>He carried in his own body on the cross the sins we committed. He did this so that we might live in righteousness, having nothing to do with sin. By his wounds you were healed. <sup>25</sup>Though you were like straying sheep, you have now returned to the shepherd and guardian of your lives.

The Use of an Ancient Household Code in 1 Peter Household codes regarding male headship over wives, children, and slaves were common among Greeks, Romans, and Jews of the ancient world. In this cultural setting, 1 Peter 2:13–3:7 would have been recognized as a version of a common way of teaching the importance of following social expectations for household relationships. Because Peter adapts this tradition in significant ways, this section of the letter also calls for a distinctive lifestyle based on loyalty to Jesus Christ.

We hear an emphasis on distinctiveness of lifestyle in a number of ways. First, ancient household codes typically addressed the male head of the house in his relationships with those over whom he exercised authority. In contrast, Peter directly addresses slaves and wives (1 Pet 2:18; 3:1). Second, there is an implied but clear assumption in 1 Peter 3:1–6 that the believing wife of an unbelieving husband should not worship her husband's gods, despite widespread pressure for her to do so (1 Pet 3:6). Instead, according to 1 Peter 3:1, wives are to witness to Jesus through their culturally appropriate submission and respectful conduct. Finally, although it would be expected for wives to show honor to their husbands, in 1 Peter the husband is also called to honor his wife. When it comes to blessings from God, she is his equal, his coheir (1 Pet 3:7).

chosen race (Isa 43:20), royal priesthood (Exod 19:6), holy nation (Exod 19:6), and a people who are God's own possession (Exod 19:5). The same can now be said of these believers in Jesus. Peter invokes Hosea 2:23 to show that Gentiles are now a part of God's chosen people.

2:11–12 The letter shifts to focus attention on the relationship of believers to society. Neighbors who are unbelievers are speaking against the behavior of these Christians. What is good has been judged to be immoral. The household code that follows (1 Pet 2:13–3:7; see intro.) encourages loyalty to key social values while also pressing for obedience to Christ and formation in Christ (see sidebar, "The Use of an Ancient Household Code in 1 Peter").

2:13–17 The first section of the household code calls for submission to the emperor (Caesar) and regional governors. Submission to the state and submission within the household were closely related in the ancient world. For example, disobeying one's master called into question one's obedience to the state. Early Christians sometimes faced charges like these (e.g., Acts 16:16–24), just as Jesus had (e.g., Luke 23:1–5). What's surprising is that Peter calls on his audience to Honor the emperor and to Honor everyone (1 Pet 2:17). This puts the emperor on the same level as everyone else.

2:18–25 The second section of the household code addresses Household slaves. Their submission comes from their awareness of God (1 Pet 2:19) and is expected whether their master is kind or harsh, a believer or an unbeliever (see 1 Pet 3:1). The basis for their obedience in the face of wrongful suffering is drawn from Christ's example (1 Pet 2:21–25). Even if a slave has a cruel master, Peter focuses on the care that they now experience from God in Christ, who is the shepherd and guardian of their lives.

2:22–25 Isaiah 53, especially Isaiah 53:4–9, informs these

3Wives, likewise, submit to your own husbands. Do this so that even if some of them refuse to believe the word, they may be won without a word by their wives' way of life. 2After all, they will have observed the reverent and holy manner of your lives. 3Don't try to make yourselves beautiful on the outside, with stylish hair or by wearing gold jewelry or fine clothes. 4Instead, make yourselves beautiful on the inside, in your hearts, with the enduring quality of a gentle, peaceful spirit. This type of beauty is very precious in God's eyes. 5For it was in this way that holy women who trusted in God used to make themselves beautiful, accepting the authority of their own husbands. 6For example, Sarah accepted Abraham's authority when she called him master. You have become her children when you do good and don't respond to threats with fear.

7Husbands, likewise, submit by living with your wife in ways that honor her, knowing that she is the weaker partner. Honor her all the more, as she is also a coheir of the gracious care of life. Do this so that your prayers won't be hindered.

8Finally, all of you be of one mind, sympathetic, lovers of your fellow believers, compassionate, and modest in your opinion of yourselves. 9Don't pay back evil for evil or insult for insult. Instead, give blessing in return. You were called to do this so that you might inherit a blessing. 10For those who want to love life

should keep their tongue from evil speaking and their lips from speaking lies.

11They should shun evil and do good;*

seek peace and chase after it.

12The Lord's eyes are on the righteous* and his ears are open to their prayers.

But the Lord cannot tolerate those who do evil.<sup>d</sup>

13Who will harm you if you are zealous for good? 14But happy are you, even if you suffer because of righteousness! Don't be terrified or upset by them. 15Instead, regard Christ as holy in your hearts. Whenever anyone asks you to speak of your hope, be ready to defend it. 16Yet do this with respectful humility, maintaining a good conscience. Act in this way so that those who malign your good lifestyle in Christ may be ashamed when they slander you.

17It is better to suffer for doing good (if this could possibly be God's will) than for doing evil.

18Christ himself suffered on account of sins, once for all, the righteous one on behalf of the unrighteous. He did this in order to bring you into the presence of God. Christ was put to death as a human, but made alive by the Spirit. 19And it was by the Spirit that he went verses. For Peter, Jesus embodies Isaiah's image of the servant of God who wrongly suffers.

3:1-7 The third section of the household code addresses wives and husbands. 1 Peter 3:1 provides a significant missional statement in 1 Peter. Wives of unbelieving husbands are encouraged to submit. This is expected behavior in the 1st-century world, but here it has the goal of winning unbelieving husbands over to Christ.

3:3-4 In Peter's world it was common for authors to encourage women to wear the "clothing" of virtue rather than to depend on the beauty of jewels, hairdos, and fine fabrics. Peter adopts a similar approach, focusing on the inner qualities of the heart, which would be on display in one's behavior in the world.

3:6 threats: likely from their unbelieving husbands. Unbelieving husbands in the Roman world would have had good reason to expect that wives would worship the gods of their husbands.

3:8-12 Peter's quotation of Psalm 34:12-16 calls on his audience to resist payback when they are mistreated and to bless those who are hostile toward them.

3:13-17 Peter informs his audience that they cannot truly be hurt if they are suffering on account of their good attitudes and behavior. But they need to be sure that their suffering is a result of their righteousness.

3:15 regard Christ as holy in your hearts: Live a life of genuine obedience to Jesus Christ.

3:18-22 The example of Christ is given for believers who are suffering under opposition (also 4:1). Christ didn't suffer because he was evil; rather, he suffered so that others might escape the power of sin (see 1 Pet 2:24-25). Furthermore, he was resurrected and is now at God's right side, where he reigns over all. In the same way, the wrongful suffering of Christians can bring people to faith (see 1 Pet 2:12; 3:1), and Christians can look ahead to the time when God will honor them for their faithfulness in the midst of wrongful suffering.

3:19 The identification of the spirits in prison is difficult. It may be that Peter draws on the picture of disobedient spirits from a Jewish writing called 1 Enoch; if so Christ might be depicted as announcing his victory to fallen angels. Early church interpretation associated these spirits in prison with "the dead" to whom the good news was preached in 1 Peter 4:6. Christ, it was believed, descended to preach to the spirits in prison. <sup>20</sup>In the past, these spirits were disobedient—when God patiently waited during the time of Noah. Noah built an ark in which a few (that is, eight) lives were rescued through water. <sup>21</sup>Baptism is like that. It saves you now—not because it removes dirt from your body but because it is the mark of a good conscience toward God. Your salvation comes through the resurrection of Jesus Christ, <sup>22</sup>who is at God's right side. Now that he has gone into heaven, he rules over all angels, authorities, and powers.

4 Therefore, since Christ suffered as a human, you should also arm yourselves with his way of thinking. This is because whoever suffers is finished with sin. <sup>2</sup>As a result, they don't live the rest of their human lives in ways determined by human desires but in ways determined by God's will. <sup>3</sup>You have wasted enough time doing what unbelievers desire—living in their unrestrained immorality and lust, their drunkenness and excessive feasting and wild parties, and their forbidden worship of idols. <sup>4</sup>They think it's strange that you don't join in these activities with the same flood of unrestrained wickedness. So they slander you. <sup>5</sup>They will have to reckon with the one who is ready to judge the living and the dead. <sup>6</sup>Indeed, this is the reason the good news was also preached to the dead. This happened so that, although they were judged as humans according to human standards, they could live by the Spirit according to divine standards.

<sup>7</sup>The end of everything has come. Therefore, be self-controlled and clearheaded so you can pray. <sup>8</sup>Above all, show sincere love to each other, because love brings about the forgiveness of many sins. <sup>9</sup>Open your hearts to each other without complaining. <sup>10</sup>And serve each other according to the gift each person has received, as good managers of God's diverse gifts. <sup>11</sup>Whoever speaks should do so as those who speak God's word. Whoever serves should do so from the strength that God furnishes. Do this so that in everything God may be honored through Jesus Christ. To him be honor and power forever and always. Amen.

Stand firm in the last times

<sup>12</sup>Dear friends, don't be surprised about the fiery trials that have come among you to test you. These are not strange happenings. <sup>13</sup>Instead, rejoice as you share Christ's suffering. You share his suffering now so that you may also have overwhelming joy when his glory is revealed. <sup>14</sup>If you are mocked because of Christ's name, you are blessed, for the Spirit of glory—indeed, the Spirit of God—rests on you.

<sup>15</sup>Now none of you should suffer as a murderer or thief or evildoer or rebel. <sup>16</sup>But don't be ashamed if you suffer as one who belongs to Christ. Rather, honor God as you bear Christ's name. Give honor to God, <sup>17</sup>because it's time for judgment to begin with God's own household. But if judgment starts with us, what will happen to those who refuse to believe God's into the place of the dead in order to declare victory over death and the devil.

3:20-21 Those saved with Noah during the flood are examples of righteous persons whom God saved through water. Similarly, believers in Jesus are saved through the water of baptism, which marks them as loyal to God.

4:1 finished with sin: Suffering purifies the believing community (1 Pet 1:7; 4:12, 17-19).

4:3-4 The audience's circumstances are clearly stated. Unbelievers are attacking these Christians with their words because Christians refuse to participate in immoral activities, including the worship of the gods, because of their loyalty to Christ. Not participating in these activities could have been perceived as a threat to Roman social, religious, and economic stability.

4:6 The phrase the good news was also preached to the dead has been interpreted in various ways. Early church tradition took this phrase as a reference to Christ's going to the place of the dead to proclaim good news as he defeated death and the devil (see 1 Pet 3:19). It may refer to Christians who had already died at the time of the writing of 1 Peter, Christians whose death might have called into question the truth of the gospel (see 1 Thess 4:13-18). The preaching of the gospel allowed the dead to begin living by the Spirit, proving instead that the gospel is true and brings life.

4:7-11 This section addresses the topic of behavior and loyalties within the believing community. love (1 Pet 4:8; see 1 Pet 1:22) is expressed in hospitality (1 Pet 4:9) and service (1 Pet 4:10-11).

4:8 love brings about the forgiveness of many sins: The traditional rendering is "love covers a multitude of sins." Christian love creates a community where forgiveness is freely given and received among God's people.

4:13 Peter returns to the example of Christ's suffering and glory to encourage his audience to look ahead with hope in spite of their present suffering.

4:15 Peter lists wrong behaviors, or vices, including obvious crimes (murderer or thief) but also the more general evildoer. The final vice, rebel, probably reflects back to the household code of 1 Peter 2:13-3:7, where social and political relationships are discussed. There Christians are encouraged to act within the limits of social conventions in order to avoid unnecessary charges of rebellion. The highest loyalty was not to Rome, though, but to Christ.

4:17 judgment to begin with God's own household: God's final judgment will result in God's rescuing and honoring his people. According to some ancient texts, some Jews good news? <sup>18</sup>If the righteous are barely rescued, what will happen to the godless and sinful? <sup>19</sup>So then, those who suffer because they follow God's will should commit their lives to a trustworthy creator by doing what is right.

5 Therefore, I have a request for the elders among you. (I ask this as a fellow elder and a witness of Christ's sufferings, and as one who shares in the glory that is about to be revealed.) I urge the elders: <sup>2</sup>Like shepherds, tend the flock of God among you. Watch over it. Don't shepherd because you must, but do it voluntarily for God. Don't shepherd greedily, but do it eagerly. <sup>3</sup>Don't shepherd by ruling over those entrusted to your care, but become examples to the flock. <sup>4</sup>And when the chief shepherd appears, you will receive an unfading crown of glory.

<sup>5</sup>In the same way, I urge you who are younger: accept the authority of the elders. And everyone, clothe yourselves with humility toward each other. God stands against the proud, but he gives favor to the humble.

<sup>6</sup>Therefore, humble yourselves under God's power so that he may raise you up in the last day. <sup>7</sup>Throw all your anxiety onto him, because he cares about you. <sup>8</sup>Be clearheaded. Keep alert. Your accuser, the devil, is on the prowl like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour. <sup>9</sup>Resist him, standing firm in the faith. Do so in the knowledge that your fellow believers are enduring the same suffering throughout the world. <sup>10</sup>After you have suffered for a little while, the God of all grace, the one who called you into his eternal glory in Christ Jesus, will himself restore, empower, strengthen, and establish you. <sup>11</sup>To him be power forever and always. Amen.

Final greeting

<sup>12</sup>I have written and sent these few lines to you by Silvanus. I consider him to be a faithful brother. In these lines I have urged and affirmed that this is the genuine grace of God. Stand firm in it. <sup>13</sup>The fellow-elect church in Babylon greets you, and so does my son Mark. <sup>14</sup>Greet each other with the kiss of love. Peace to you all who are in Christ.

thought that the final judgment would be preceded by a time of troubles when God's true followers would be tested and purged. For Peter, Christians are already experiencing these troubles. He assures them in the present time of trouble that God will rescue and honor them in the future.

4:18 Peter quotes Proverbs 11:31 to emphasize the troubles that accompany salvation of God's people, as well as the warning of punishment to come for "those who refuse to believe God's good news" (1 Pet 4:17).

4:19 A summary of much of 1 Peter, with its themes of trusting God by doing good in spite of wrongful suffering. 5:1-5 Peter encourages God's household, the church. First, he addresses the elders, a term that likely refers to the Jewish pattern of entrusting leadership to those with the wisdom of age rather than to a specific church office. This is affirmed by the address to those who are younger (1 Pet 5:5), whom he instructs to follow the direction and shepherding of the elders. everyone: Both elders and the younger ones are called to mutual humility.

5:5 Humility was most often associated with status categories (humble versus high status). It wasn't considered a virtue in Greek and Roman circles. Peter's encouragement, then, goes against cultural expectations.

5:8 The warning to be clearheaded is repeated for a third time. In 1 Peter 1:13 clear thinking leads to hope. In 1 Peter 4:7 the call to be clearheaded is for the purpose of prayer. Here, being clearheaded is a way of resisting the devil's schemes.

5:9 Peter assures his readers that what they are experiencing is not unique but is being experienced by others who are loyal to Jesus throughout the Roman Empire.

5:11 The body of the letter concludes with praise to God (see 1 Pet 4:11).

5:12-14 Silvanus: either the secretary who wrote the letter or the letter carrier, or both. Mark: See Acts 12; 15. fellow-elect church in Babylon: From the time of the 6th century, when Babylon destroyed Jerusalem, Babylon was often used as a reference to Israel's archenemies. In the 1st century Jews and Christians would have heard "Babylon" as a reference to Rome.

2 PETER

In 2 Peter 1:1 the author identifies himself as “Simon Peter,” and the first two lines indicate that he is, in fact, the apostle Peter. However, several aspects of the letter suggest it was written after Peter’s death (tradition says he was put to death as a martyr by the emperor Nero around 64–65 CE). These include mentioning the death of the original apostles and making a reference to the Pauline letters as scripture. The extensive use of rare Greek words and the advanced style seem to reflect an educational background beyond what we know of the apostle Peter. Add to this how slow the church was to accept 2 Peter as scripture, and the problem of authorship becomes serious indeed. At the same time, the text shows significant influence from the apostle Peter, even if he didn’t actually write it himself. It seems more likely that a disciple close to the apostle applied his teachings to a later situation. 2 Peter, then, is like a will, or testament, from Peter, written in the form of a letter by one of his close associates. In 2 Peter 3:1 the author calls this letter his “second letter to you.” This is a reference to 1 Peter and suggests that the intended audience of 2 Peter is composed of Christians in “Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia” (see 1 Pet 1:1).

2 Peter addresses a problem that emerged when teachers within the church began to challenge the truth of Jesus’ second coming; uncertainty about Jesus’ return began to influence their behavior. They seem to have been wondering, if there is no coming judgment, does it matter how we live in the present? These false teachers were challenging the inspiration of scripture and the reliability of prophecy. 2 Peter addresses issues like this by reminding Christians of Peter’s teaching and defending the Christian message that goes back to the apostles.

Greeting

1 From Simon Peter, a slave and apostle of Jesus Christ.

To those who received a faith equal to ours through the justice of our God and savior Jesus Christ.

2 May you have more and more grace and peace through the knowledge of God and Jesus our Lord.

Christian life in outline

3 By his divine power the Lord has given us everything we need for life and godliness through the knowledge of the one who called us by his own honor and glory. 4 Through his honor and glory he has given us his precious and wonderful promises, that you may share the divine nature and escape from the world's immorality that sinful craving produces.

5 This is why you must make every effort to add moral excellence to your faith; and to moral excellence, knowledge; 6 and to knowledge, self-control; and to self-control, endurance; and to endurance, godliness; 7 and to godliness, affection for others; and to affection for others, love. 8 If all these are yours and they are growing in you, they'll keep you from becoming inactive and unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. 9 Whoever lacks these things is shortsighted and blind, forgetting that they were cleansed from their past sins.

10 Therefore, brothers and sisters, be eager to confirm your call and election. Do this and you will never ever be lost. 11 In this way you will receive a rich welcome into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and savior Jesus Christ.

Reminder of the Christian life

12 So I'll keep reminding you about these things, although you already know them and stand secure in the truth you have. 13 I think it's right that I keep stirring up your memory, as long as I'm alive. 14 After all, our Lord Jesus Christ has shown me that I am about to depart from this life. 15 I'm eager for you always to remember these things after my death.

Christ's return is true

16 We didn't repeat crafty myths when we told you about the powerful coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. Quite the contrary, we witnessed his majesty with our own eyes. 17 He received honor and glory from God the Father when a voice came to him from the magnificent glory, saying, "This is my dearly loved Son, with whom I am well-pleased." 18 We ourselves heard this voice from heaven while we were with him on the holy mountain. 19 In addition, we have a most reliable prophetic word, and you would do well to pay attention to it, just as you would to a lamp shining in a dark place, until the day dawns and the morning star rises

1:1 Simon: This typical Greek letter begins with the name of the sender. slave and apostle of Jesus Christ conveys a close relationship with Jesus of Nazareth. The letter's addressees are identified not with a particular church but by the faith they have received. This faith is brought about by God's justice; this is important because a major issue for the letter is the fairness of God's judgment.

1:2 This is a customary blessing (see 1 Pet 1:2; 2 John 3). grace: blessings of prosperity given by a benefactor.

1:3-4 This is a summary of the main ideas of Peter's teaching. Faithful readers are promised a share in God's promises concerning the present and the future. The faithful have been given everything they need to live whole and complete lives.

1:5-7 make every effort: Faithfulness is a necessary response to God's good gifts. The author lists a series of virtues that are grounded in faith. (Virtues in the Roman world were qualities of one's character that were on display in one's behavior.) faith provides the basis for, and enables the practice of, these virtues. knowledge of Jesus, not some sort of mystical or secret knowledge, is necessary for eternal life. self-control: The final two virtues, affection for others and love, are related. Love is the ultimate virtue, the sum of them all, and is not only for God but for one another; it includes and perfects all of the virtues. Since God has given these virtues as gifts, believers should live in a way that is pleasing to God, a lifestyle of practicing these virtues. See the fruit of the Spirit in Galatians 5:22-23.

1:8 It isn't enough to possess the virtues; they must keep growing to ensure effective fruitfulness.

1:9 shortsighted and blind: These two terms inform each other, indicating that deliberately closing one's eyes to God's truth results in forgetting the gift of God's forgiveness.

1:10-11 be eager: Again, the author emphasizes the joint effort between receiving God's virtues and pursuing them. Human activity doesn't bring about salvation but reflects that we have been called by God. The practice of the godly life confirms one's call and election and ensures that one is welcomed into a life, now and forever, under Christ's dominion.

1:12-15 The purpose of the letter is to remind the readers of what they already know. The author emphasizes his desire for his disciples to pass on his words, to keep reminding people of them even after his death. 2 Peter 1:14 probably refers to Jesus' prediction of Peter's death (John 21:18-19).

1:16-18 Peter bases the certainty of Jesus' second coming on Jesus' words, God's affirmation of Jesus, and the reliability of OT prophecy.

in your hearts. <sup>20</sup>Most important, you must know that no prophecy of scripture represents the prophet's own understanding of things, <sup>21</sup>because no prophecy ever came by human will. Instead, men and women led by the Holy Spirit spoke from God.

Appearance of false teachers

2 But false prophets also arose among the people. In the same way, false teachers will come among you. They will introduce destructive opinions and deny the master who bought them, bringing quick destruction on themselves. <sup>2</sup>Many will follow them in their unrestrained immorality, and because of these false teachers the way of truth will be slandered. <sup>3</sup>In their greed they will take advantage of you with lies. The judgment pronounced against them long ago hasn't fallen idle, nor is their destruction sleeping.

Active judgment of God

<sup>4</sup>God didn't spare the angels when they sinned but cast them into the lowest level of the underworld and committed them to chains of darkness, keeping them there until the judgment. <sup>5</sup>And he didn't spare the ancient world when he brought a flood on the world of ungodly people, even though he protected Noah, a preacher of righteousness, along with seven others. <sup>6</sup>God condemned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah to total destruction, reducing them to ashes as a warning to ungodly people. <sup>7</sup>And he rescued righteous Lot, who was made miserable by the unrestrained immorality of unruly people. (<sup>8</sup>While that righteous man lived among them he felt deep distress every day on account of the immoral actions he saw and heard.) <sup>9</sup>These things show that the Lord knows how to rescue the godly from their trials, and how to keep the unrighteous for punishment on the Judgment Day. <sup>10</sup>This is especially true for those who follow after the corrupt cravings of the sinful nature and defy the Lord's authority.

Evil character of the false teachers

These reckless, brash people aren't afraid to insult the glorious ones, <sup>11</sup>yet angels, who are stronger and more powerful, don't use insults when pronouncing the Lord's judgment on them. <sup>12</sup>These false teachers are like irrational animals, mere creatures of instinct, born to be captured and destroyed. They slander what they don't understand and, like animals, they will be destroyed. <sup>13</sup>In this way, they will receive payment for their wrongdoing.

They even enjoy unruly parties in broad daylight. They are blots and blemishes, taking delight in their seductive pleasures while feasting with you. <sup>14</sup>They are always looking for someone with whom to commit adultery. They are always on the lookout for opportunities to sin. They ensnare people whose faith is weak. They have hearts trained in greed. They are under God's curse. <sup>15</sup>Leaving the straight path, they have gone off course, following the way of Balaam son of Bosor, who loved the payment of doing wrong. <sup>16</sup>But Balaam was rebuked for his wrongdoing. A donkey, which has no voice, spoke with a human voice and put a stop to the prophet's madness.

<sup>17</sup>These false teachers are springs without water, mists driven by the wind. The underworld has been reserved for them. <sup>18</sup>With empty, self-important speech, they use sinful cravings and unrestrained immorality to ensnare people who have only just escaped life with

1:20-21 The second coming is affirmed further by the nature of prophecy itself. Both prophecy and interpretation of prophecy originate in God and therefore are certain.

2:1 The author predicts the coming of false teachers who are dishonest and sneaky. By teaching destructive opinions, they bring about their own destruction. deny the master who bought them: portrays slaves who reject the very ones who gave them freedom.

2:2 People are following this behavior rather than Christ, and so they bring dishonor on the way of truth (cf. Isa 52:5).

2:3 These false teachers are taking advantage of people for their own gain. Note the shift from the future tense (a prediction of what will happen) in the first part of the verse to the present tense (a description of the situation) in the second half.

2:4-9 Three examples of God's judgment of the wicked and God's rescue of the righteous: the angels, the flood, and Sodom and Gomorrah. These show that God is able to exercise end-time judgment and salvation, too.

2:10-11 Angels are more powerful than false teachers, yet angels show restraint. This emphasizes the false teachers' arrogance.

2:12-13 These false teachers behave like animals, so they will suffer an animal's fate. Animals used for sacrifice must have no blemishes, but these false teachers are themselves blemishes.

2:14 ensnare people: to bait or catch, a term used in hunting. trained in greed: an athletic term used to emphasize a teacher's expertise when compared with a student's inexperience. under God's curse: the certainty of destruction.

2:15-16 Balaam is an example of the greed, deceit, immorality, and disobedience of the teachers.

2:17-18 The author emphasizes the false teachers' instability and lack of power, as well as their coming judgment.

those who have wandered from the truth. <sup>19</sup>These false teachers promise freedom, but they themselves are slaves of immorality; whatever overpowers you, enslaves you. <sup>20</sup>If people escape the moral filth of this world through the knowledge of our Lord and savior Jesus Christ, then get tangled up in it again and are overcome by it, they are worse off than they were before. <sup>21</sup>It would be better for them never to have known the way of righteousness than, having come to know it, to turn back from the holy commandment entrusted to them. <sup>22</sup>They demonstrate the truth of the proverb: "A dog returns to its own vomit, and a washed sow wallows in the mud."

Delay of Christ's coming in judgment

3 My dear friends, this is now my second letter to you. I have written both letters to stir up your sincere understanding with a reminder. <sup>2</sup>I want you to recall what the holy prophets foretold as well as what the Lord and savior commanded through your apostles. <sup>3</sup>Most important, know this: in the last days scoffers will come, jeering, living by their own cravings, <sup>4</sup>and saying, "Where is the promise of his coming? After all, nothing has changed—not since the beginning of creation, nor even since the ancestors died."

<sup>5</sup>But they fail to notice that, by God's word, heaven and earth were formed long ago out of water and by means of water. <sup>6</sup>And it was through these that the world of that time was flooded and destroyed. <sup>7</sup>But by the same word, heaven and earth are now held in reserve for fire, kept for the Judgment Day and destruction of ungodly people.

<sup>8</sup>Don't let it escape your notice, dear friends, that with the Lord a single day is like a thousand years and a thousand years are like a single day. <sup>9</sup>The Lord isn't slow to keep his promise, as some think of slowness, but he is patient toward you, not wanting anyone to perish but all to change their hearts and lives. <sup>10</sup>But the day of the Lord will come like a thief. On that day the heavens will pass away with a dreadful noise, the elements will be consumed by fire, and the earth and all the works done on it will be exposed.

Righteousness Righteousness (sometimes translated "justice") is significant for 2 Peter. Every issue addressed in this letter is rooted in God's justice. The false teachers were challenging God's ability to distinguish between the righteous and the wicked. They questioned whether the Second Coming would take place, since it didn't come before the death of the last of the apostles. As a result, these false teachers argued that it doesn't matter how we live since there won't be a future judgment. The author's entire response to these challenges is grounded in his understanding of God's justice. Even the faith of his audience is received through God's justice (2 Pet 1:1). He quotes OT examples (2 Pet 2) in which God made clear distinctions between the righteous and the wicked (e.g., Noah, Sodom and Gomorrah). The righteous life (a life characterized by the virtues, 2 Pet 1:5-7) contrasts with the false teachers' behavior (2 Pet 2) and their denial of the Lord as master (2 Pet 2:1). In fact, God is more than able to distinguish between the righteous and the wicked, both now and at the final judgment. The author grounds the certainty of the coming judgment in God's righteousness. Because God is just, God judges fairly.

2:20-21 Knowing Jesus enables the faithful to escape from the world's stains. Those who return to their previous lifestyles deny Jesus' salvation and are "worse off at the end than at the beginning" (Matt 12:45). holy commandment refers to Jesus' words.

2:22 The author cites two proverbs to show the awful situation of the false teachers. Dogs and pigs were despised animals because, like the teachers, they made their lives among filthy things.

3:1-3 My dear friends: addresses the faithful audience directly, reminding them of the words of the prophets and apostles concerning the end time. In a strange twist, the author holds that the false teachers' attempts through their words and lives to deny the second coming actually prove the truth of what the prophets and apostles foretold.

3:4 The false teachers base their disbelief on the delay of Jesus' second coming.

3:5-7 The author responds to the false teachers by referring to the flood. It was predicted, it came, and it destroyed the ancient world. In the same way, the world's end will certainly come. This truth is grounded in the words of the prophets and the apostles (2 Pet 1:17-21; 3:2), God's promises (2 Pet 1:4; 3:4, 9, 13), and the scriptures (2 Pet 2:4-8, 15-16, 22).

3:7 God's word originally brought the heavens and earth into being, and that same word will announce final judgment.

3:8-10 God experiences time differently from the way we do, so it shouldn't be surprising that God allows more time for people to change their hearts and lives. The timing of the end can't be predicted.

<sup>11</sup>Since everything will be destroyed in this way, what sort of people ought you to be? You must live holy and godly lives, <sup>12</sup>waiting for and hastening the coming day of God. Because of that day, the heavens will be destroyed by fire and the elements will melt away in the flames. <sup>13</sup>But according to his promise we are waiting for a new heaven and a new earth, where righteousness is at home.

Preparing for Christ's coming in judgment

<sup>14</sup>Therefore, dear friends, while you are waiting for these things to happen, make every effort to be found by him in peace—pure and faultless. <sup>15</sup>Consider the patience of our Lord to be salvation, just as our dear friend and brother Paul wrote to you according to the wisdom given to him, <sup>16</sup>speaking of these things in all his letters. Some of his remarks are hard to understand, and people who are ignorant and whose faith is weak twist them to their own destruction, just as they do the other scriptures.

Final instruction

<sup>17</sup>Therefore, dear friends, since you have been warned in advance, be on guard so that you aren't led off course into the error of sinful people, and lose your own safe position. <sup>18</sup>Instead, grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and savior Jesus Christ. To him belongs glory now and forever. Amen.

3:11-12 The certainty of the final judgment ought to affect the way people live. The faithful should live holy and godly lives, pleasing to God (see 2 Pet 1), in alert expectation of God's final judgment.

3:14 Destruction is not the last word. God renews his creation. in peace means completeness and wholeness (cf. 2 Pet 1:2).

3:15-16 The problem presented by the false teachers may represent a misreading of Paul, as though Paul taught that the freedom we have in Christ is a freedom to live without rules. Peter doesn't blame Paul for this but insists that the false teachers can't read Paul or the other scriptures accurately because of their ignorance. They twist Paul's words and the other scriptures to fit their own mistaken ideas.

3:17-18 Final instructions to the faithful include the need to grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and savior Jesus Christ. Knowledge is a major theme of the letter. It's the means through which the Holy Spirit enables believers to develop the virtues (2 Pet 1:5-7); it's grounded in the understanding of salvation and depends on the grace of Jesus, freely received.

1 JOHN

Although traditionally called “The First Letter of St. John,” this book’s author isn’t mentioned and it has few of the features of an ancient letter. Moreover, while scripture locates John’s three letters in its collection of seven Catholic Letters, they’re typically studied with the Gospel of John and the book of Revelation because their similar vocabulary and ideas suggest they all came from a common tradition or community. The ancient church attached the apostle John, “the one whom Jesus loved” (John 20:2), to this tradition because John’s intimate witness of Jesus was thought to supply authoritative materials of the community’s theological understanding.

The importance of attributing anonymous writings to the apostle John may be explained by the letter’s prologue (1 John 1:1-4). It claims that the community’s message and fellowship with God is ensured “from the beginning” by those who personally witnessed Jesus as the “word of life” (1 John 1:1). This opening announcement puts readers on notice that 1 John is written for those whose knowledge about God, secured and shaped by the apostle’s testimony of Jesus, has been challenged by others who “went out from us” (1 John 2:18-23; cf. 4:2-3). To know this Jesus—the Jesus John knew—is to know God (1 John 3:16; 4:2).

1 John has little interest in identifying or responding directly to this rival form of Christianity. Its members are simply dismissed as antichrists because they reject the apostolic witness to Jesus’ mission and therefore the promise of eternal life that comes with it. The letter's principal purpose is to clarify the practical importance of the apostolic message that "Jesus Christ has come as a human" (1 John 4:2; cf. 1 John 2:22) to disclose the truth about God (1 John 1:2-3), to deal with the world's sins (1 John 2:2; cf. 4:9-10), and to provide an example of Christian living (1 John 2:3-6; cf. 1 John 3:3-6). Eternal life depends on remaining in the knowledge of this truth (1 John 5:13).

The apostolic message about God's way of salvation is shaped by two core beliefs: "God is light" (1 John 1:5) and "God is love" (1 John 4:8). If God is light, then fellowship with God requires the community to live as Jesus lived (1 John 2:6; 3:3). Its members must cleanse themselves of all sin, sin no more, and reject the lies of rival groups. If God is love, then God's children must love each other as Jesus loved: self-sacrificially and "with action and truth" (1 John 3:16-18).

The repetition of dramatic opposites throughout the letter (e.g., light/darkness, truth/error, know/deceive) helps to mark the community's theological and moral boundaries, as well as its core beliefs and their practical application. Whether disclosed by an "anointing" experience (1 John 2:20, 27) or by written correspondence (1 John 2:1, 7, 12, 26; 5:13), these boundaries and beliefs agree with what the apostles witnessed of Jesus, and they form the basis of eternal fellowship with God and each other.

The structure of 1 John is difficult to follow. Many interpreters, ancient and modern, have suggested that it reads more like a sermon than a letter. The term "letter," found in the book's traditional title, doesn't designate its literary form but rather indicates its religious function within a congregation. This function is similar to every other NT letter: to impart knowledge of eternal life (1 John 5:13; cf. 2 Tim 3:15) and to encourage a holy life.

Announcement about the word of life

1 We announce to you what existed from the beginning, what we have heard, what we have seen with our eyes, what we have seen and our hands handled, about the word of life. 2The life was revealed, and we have seen, and we testify and announce to you the eternal life that was with the Father and was revealed to us. 3What we have seen and heard, we also announce it to you so that you can have fellowship with us. Our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son, Jesus Christ. 4We are writing these things so that our joy can be complete.

The message: God is light

5This is the message that we have heard from him and announce to you: "God is light and there is no darkness in him at all." 6If we claim, "We have fellowship with him," and live in the darkness, we are lying and do not act truthfully. 7But if we live in the light in the same way as he is in the light, we have fellowship with each other, and the blood of Jesus, his Son, cleanses us from every sin. 8If we claim, "We don't have any sin," we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us. 9But if we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and cleanse us from everything we've done wrong. 10If we claim, "We have never sinned," we make him a liar and his word is not in us.

Living in the light

2My little children, I'm writing these things to you so that you don't sin. But if you do sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous one. 2He is God's way of dealing with our sins, not only ours but the sins of the whole world. 3This is how we know that we know him: if we keep his commandments. 4The one who claims, "I know him," while not keeping his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in this person. 5But the love of God is truly perfected in whoever keeps his word. This is how we know we are in him. 6The one who claims to remain in him ought to live in the same way as he lived.

7Dear friends, I'm not writing a new commandment to you, but an old commandment that you had from the beginning. The old commandment is the message you heard. 8On the other hand, I am writing a new commandment to you, which is true in him and in you, because the darkness is passing away and the true light already shines. 9The one who claims to be in the light while hating a brother or sister is in the darkness even now.

2:5 Jn 14:23; 1Jn 2:3, 1Jn 4:12, 1Jn 4:13; 2:6 Mt 11:29; Jn 13:15, 1Jn 15:4; 1Pt 2:21; 1Jn 3:6; 2:7 Jn 13:34; 1Jn 2:24, 1Jn 3:11; 2Jn 1:5-6; 2:8 Jn 1:9, Jn 8:12, 1Jn 13:34; Ro 13:12; Eph 5:8; 2:9 1Jn 2:11, 1Jn 3:15, 1Jn 4:20

1:1-4 The letter's prologue establishes that what is written agrees with what the apostles witnessed and proclaimed from the beginning about the word of life, who is God's Son, Jesus Christ (cf. John 1:1-18). His actual life—heard . . . seen, and handled—reveals the terms of eternal life, or a life with God (cf. 1 John 2:25; 3:15; 5:13, 20) that "remains forever" (1 John 2:17). fellowship: A close partnership between God and the community is mediated by the apostolic witness.

1:5-3:10 The letter's first theme is God is light (1 John 1:5), an OT metaphor of a holy God who alone saves creation from the "darkness" of death and sin (cf. Ps 27:1; Isa 9:1-7; Ezra 9:8) and reveals the truth that exposes the "darkness" of theological falsehood (cf. 2 Sam 22:29) and hatred of one another.

1:5 message: a report of what is heard from those who witnessed Jesus (cf. 1 John 3:11; John 8:12).

1:6-2:2 If we claim: an expression that introduces a series of three false boasts (1 John 1:6, 8, 10) to which responses are made (1 John 1:7, 9; 2:1-2). This clarifies the need for Christians in order to live in the light of God to be rid of every sin.

1:9 we confess our sins: The public admission of one's sins within a congregational setting assures the forgiveness of a faithful and just God.

2:1 you don't sin: Although recognizing that believers can sin, 1 John assumes that God's children are reborn to live a sinless life (cf. 1 John 3:3-10). the righteous one: refers to Isaiah's suffering servant (Isa 53:11). 1 John applies advocate to Jesus' present ministry (cf. Rom 8:34) rather than to the Holy Spirit (see John 14:16, 26; 15:26).

2:2 not only ours: Christ's sacrifice for sin extends specifically to Christians, whose sins undermine their relationship with God. His blood "cleanses us from every sin" (1 John 1:7; 4:9-10; cf. Lev 16:16; Rom 3:25; Heb 9:14).

2:3-11 The one who claims: an expression that introduces three spiritual tests (1 John 2:4, 6, 9), the passing of which determines whether God's word truly remains in one who professes the faith.

2:4 "I know him": The claim to know Jesus, and therefore the word of God he revealed (cf. 1 John 4:8), is tested by whether his commandments are kept (cf. John 13:34; 14:15, 21; 15:12-17).

2:5 love of God: The believer's love for God is perfected by obedience to God's word.

2:6 remain in him: The claim to experience Jesus' presence is tested by whether one imitates his faithful life (cf. Jas 2:1; 1 Pet 2:18).

2:8 The new commandment, which is to love one another (see John 13:34), is applied to a community whose love supplies evidence that the true light of God has already been experienced.

2:9 to be in the light while hating: Covenant keeping is tested by whether the community loves one another.

<sup>10</sup>The person loving a brother and sister stays in the light, and there is nothing in the light that causes a person to stumble. <sup>11</sup>But the person who hates a brother or sister is in the darkness and lives in the darkness, and doesn't know where to go because the darkness blinds the eyes.

Motivations for writing

<sup>12</sup>Little children, I'm writing to you because your sins have been forgiven through Jesus' name. <sup>13</sup>Parents, I'm writing to you because you have known the one who has existed from the beginning. Young people, I'm writing to you because you have conquered the evil one. <sup>14</sup>Little children, I write to you because you know the Father. Parents, I write to you because you have known the one who has existed from the beginning. Young people, I write to you because you are strong, the word of God remains in you, and you have conquered the evil one.

Warning about the world

<sup>15</sup>Don't love the world or the things in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in them. <sup>16</sup>Everything that is in the world—the craving for whatever the body feels, the craving for whatever the eyes see and the arrogant pride in one's possessions—is not of the Father but is of the world. <sup>17</sup>And the world and its cravings are passing away, but the person who does the will of God remains forever.

Remaining in the truth

<sup>18</sup>Little children, it is the last hour. Just as you have heard that the antichrist is coming, so now many antichrists have appeared. This is how we know it is the last hour. <sup>19</sup>They went out from us, but they were not really part of us. If they had been part of us, they would have stayed with us. But by going out from us, they showed they all are not part of us. <sup>20</sup>But you have an anointing from the holy one, and all of you know the truth. <sup>21</sup>I don't write to you because you don't know the truth but because you know it. You know that no lie comes from the truth. <sup>22</sup>Who is the liar? Isn't it the person who denies that Jesus is the Christ? This person is the antichrist: the one who denies the Father and the Son. <sup>23</sup>Everyone who denies the Son does not have the Father, but the one who confesses the Son has the Father also.

2:10 stumble: Hate includes actions that cause others to sin (cf. Matt 18:7; Rom 14:13; 1 Pet 2:8).

2:12-27 Christians are addressed in two parallel sections (1 John 2:13-14a; 14b-27) as the Little children of a spiritual "household" (cf. 1 Tim 3:15). This household is organized according to spiritual maturity by three family metaphors: parents, young people, and little children.

2:13a, 14b Parents: The first to accept the apostolic witness of Jesus from the beginning are the community's spiritual leaders (cf. 1 John 1:1-2).

2:13b, 14c-17 Young people: The indicator of spiritual strength is their defeat of the evil one. evil one: also known as "the devil" (1 John 3:8, 10), God's chief adversary, and ruler of "the whole world" (1 John 5:19; cf. John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11; Rev 12-13). The conquest of the evil one is interpreted as the effect of the word of God [that] remains in you (1 John 2:14c). the word of God is the apostolic witness to Jesus' revelation of God (cf. 1 John 1:1-3; see intro.). This spiritual warfare pits Everything that is in the world (1 John 2:16; see 1 John 3:1), which is passing away (1 John 2:17a), against this word about God, which remains forever (1 John 2:17b). The cravings of a worldly life—what the body feels and sees], and pride in one's possessions (1 John 2:16)—may echo the three temptations of Jesus (cf. Matt 4:1-11). To "live in the same way as he lived" (1 John 2:6) means that those who know Jesus must resist the same temptations he resisted.

2:14a, 18-27 Little children: The congregation's newest members have a relationship with God but are also the most vulnerable to the false claims of rival Christian groups. In 1 John 2:18-27 this concern is elaborated on as an urgent response to the threat of antichrists.

2:18 the last hour: comes before "the last day" when Jesus returns to resurrect true believers for eternal life (see 1 John 2:28; cf. John 6:39-40; 11:24); it's characterized by theological error and internal conflict (cf. Matt 24:11, 24; Mark 13:21-22; 2 Tim 3:1-9). antichrists: those who claim to be Christians but reject the apostolic message about Jesus (1 John 2:22-23). The prophecy of a coming antichrist may refer to the unnamed leader of this group or one who falsely claims to be the messiah (see 2 John sidebar, "The Antichrist").

2:19 They went out from us: refers to a departure from the apostolic message about Jesus rather than to a division within the community (cf. Deut 13:13; Acts 1:16).

2:20 anointing: either a shared experience of Spirit baptism that imparts knowledge of the truth, or a public rite of initiation based on the teaching received by new converts (see 1 John 2:27; cf. 2 John 1). The divine source and holy effect of either are the same: God discloses truth to believers so they can "remain in relationship" to God (1 John 2:27).

2:22 liar: The antichrist[s] lie is that Jesus isn't God's Son, the Christ. To accept the apostolic testimony about Jesus is to accept his revelation of God's word (see 1 John 1:1-2).

2:23 confesses: public acceptance of the apostolic message about Jesus "from the beginning" (1 John 2:24; see 1 John 1:1; cf. Rom 10:9), which delivers God's promise of eternal life (1 John 2:25; see 1 John 1:2).

<sup>24</sup>As for you, what you heard from the beginning must remain in you. If what you heard from the beginning remains in you, you will also remain in relationship to the Son and in the Father. <sup>25</sup>This is the promise that he himself gave us: eternal life. <sup>26</sup>I write these things to you about those who are attempting to deceive you. <sup>27</sup>As for you, the anointing that you received from him remains on you, and you don't need anyone to teach you the truth. But since his anointing teaches you about all things (it's true and not a lie), remain in relationship to him just as he taught you.

Remaining until Jesus appears

<sup>28</sup>And now, little children, remain in relationship to Jesus, so that when he appears we can have confidence and not be ashamed in front of him when he comes. <sup>29</sup>If you know that he is righteous, you also know that every person who practices righteousness is born from him.

3 See what kind of love the Father has given to us in that we should be called God's children, and that is what we are! Because the world didn't recognize him, it doesn't recognize us.

<sup>3</sup>Dear friends, now we are God's children, and it hasn't yet appeared what we will be. We know that when he appears we will be like him because we'll see him as he is. <sup>3</sup>And everyone who has this hope in him purifies himself even as he is pure. <sup>4</sup>Every person who practices sin commits an act of rebellion, and sin is rebellion. <sup>5</sup>You know that he appeared to take away sins, and there is no sin in him. <sup>6</sup>Every person who remains in relationship to him does not sin. Any person who sins has not seen him or known him.

Sinny/Not Sinny

After calling those who say they don't sin self-deluded liars (see 1 John 1:8, 10), it seems like a stunning flip-flop when 1 John asserts that God's children "don't practice sin" (1 John 3:4-10). This same tension is found again in the letter's concluding affirmations about the Christian life. While God forgives the believer's sins in response to the congregation's prayers (1 John 5:16-17; cf. 1 John 1:8-9), those born of God don't sin (1 John 5:18; cf. 1 John 3:6, 9). This tension between sinning and not sinning is characteristic of the Christian life. It describes the experience of those who live in the in-between time, the time following Jesus' sacrifice for sin but preceding his return, when true believers will become like him and be incapable of sin (1 John 3:9). The different levels of spiritual maturity within the congregation acknowledged by 1 John (1 John 2:12-14a, 14b-27), together with the use of present tenses (e.g., "does not sin") in this passage, suggest that this inward tension is resolved progressively during this in-between time among those who remain in loving fellowship with a faithful God (1 John 3:6, 9; cf. 1 John 4:16-21) and with one another (cf. 1 John 3:18-24). The congregation achieves this resolution of discord by cultivating the spiritual discipline of not sinning until Christ's return, when they will "be like him" (1 John 3:2) and can't sin (1 John 3:9; cf. 1 John 3:5).

2:26 deceive you: 1 John is written not to initiate readers into the truth already but to call out liars or antichrists who want to deceive them. They belong to the devil, "the deceiver" (cf. Rev 12:9; 20:10), rather than to God (see 1 John 3:7; 2 John 7).

2:28-3:10 This climactic section of the letter's exposition that "God is light" (see 1 John 1:5) proclaims the future victory of God over sin and falsehood (1 John 2:28-3:2). 1 John encourages Christians to live without sin (1 John 3:3-6, 9) and deception (1 John 3:7).

2:28 when he appears... when he comes: Jesus' second coming will prove the truth of the apostolic message based on his first appearance (see 1 John 1:2; cf. 1 John 2:24-27). confidence: The community's heartfelt awareness of being forgiven by God (cf. 1 John 3:21) anticipates their participation in God's coming victory (cf. 1 John 4:17; 5:14).

2:29 born from him: Christians are reborn as God's children with a new capacity to live righteous lives, free from the guilt and power of sin. practices righteousness: New birth is marked by purifying oneself (see 1 John 3:3) to "live in the same way as [Jesus] lived" (1 John 2:6).

3:1 the world: the comprehensive system of beliefs, values, and practices organized by the "evil one" (1 John 5:19) in opposition to God's word and will (cf. 1 John 2:17; 3:13; 4:5-6), but whose "works" have now been "destroyed" (see 1 John 3:8) and whose influence is "passing away" (cf. 1 John 2:17, 28; 5:18) since the arrival of God's Son (1 John 3:5, 8).

3:2 now... hasn't yet: This tension between the present and the future shapes NT teaching about one's experience of God's salvation and human frailty (cf. John 5:24-29). we will be like him... see him as he is: God's coming victory over sin promises transformation into Christlikeness (cf. 2 Cor 3:18; Phil 3:21; Col 3:4).

3:3 purifies himself even as [Jesus] is pure: Each believer proclaims the future prospect of personal transformation (1 John 3:2) by faithfully following Jesus' example. In Jesus the love of God is "truly perfected" (cf. 1 John 2:5-6; 3:16; 4:17) and there's "no sin" (cf. 1 John 3:5, 7).

3:4-10 Every person: God's children are contrasted with the devil's children in four ways (1 John 2:29b+3:4; 3:6; 3:7b+3:8a; 3:9a+3:10b). God's children purify themselves to be like Jesus (see 1 John 3:3), while the devil's children

Practicing sin or righteousness

<sup>7</sup>Little children, make sure no one deceives you. The person who practices righteousness is righteous, in the same way that Jesus is righteous. <sup>8</sup>The person who practices sin belongs to the devil, because the devil has been sinning since the beginning. God's Son appeared for this purpose: to destroy the works of the devil. <sup>9</sup>Those born from God don't practice sin because God's DNA<sup>a</sup> remains in them. They can't sin because they are born from God. <sup>10</sup>This is how God's children and the devil's children are apparent: everyone who doesn't practice righteousness is not from God, including the person who doesn't love a brother or sister. <sup>11</sup>This is the message that you heard from the beginning: love each other. <sup>12</sup>Don't behave like Cain, who belonged to the evil one and murdered his brother. And why did he kill him? He killed him because his own works were evil, but the works of his brother were righteous.

Loving each other

<sup>13</sup>Don't be surprised, brothers and sisters, if the world hates you. <sup>14</sup>We know that we have transferred from death to life, because we love the brothers and sisters. The person who does not love remains in death. <sup>15</sup>Everyone who hates a brother or sister is a murderer, and you know that no murderer has eternal life residing in him. <sup>16</sup>This is how we know love: Jesus laid down his life for us, and we ought to lay down our lives for our brothers and sisters. <sup>17</sup>But if a person has material possessions and sees a brother or sister in need and that person doesn't care—how can the love of God remain in him?

<sup>18</sup>Little children, let's not love with words or speech but with action and truth. <sup>19</sup>This is how we will know that we belong to the truth and reassure our hearts in God's presence. <sup>20</sup>Even if our hearts condemn us, God is greater than our hearts and knows all things. <sup>21</sup>Dear friends, if our hearts don't condemn us, we have confidence in relationship to God. <sup>22</sup>We receive whatever we ask from him because we keep his commandments and do what pleases him. <sup>23</sup>This is his commandment, that we believe in the name of his Son, Jesus Christ, and love each other as he commanded us. <sup>24</sup>The person who keeps his commandments remains in God and God remains in him; and this is how we know that he remains in us, because of the Spirit that he has given to us.

are of the world. Since God is light and doesn't tolerate darkness (=sin, falsehood) of any kind (see 1 John 1:5), those who remain in God are recognized by their practices of not sinning (cf. Rom 6:1-14, 20-23), of loving one another (cf. 1 John 3:11-5:12), and of remaining in the truth (cf. 1 John 3:19).

3:9 God's DNA: or "God's nature." The Greek term sperma can refer to "genetic character" and is used here as a metaphor for the divine nature (cf. 2 Pet 1:3; Gen 4:1, 25). New birth (see 1 John 2:29-3:1) transforms a person into God's child with a natural capacity for righteousness. don't practice sin . . . can't sin: This abrupt shift from the practice of not sinning to an inability to sin points readers to the coming victory of God (cf. 1 John 2:28), when God's children will be like Jesus (1 John 3:2), in whom there's "no sin" (1 John 3:5).

3:10 who doesn't love a brother or sister: conclusion of the letter's commentary on "God is light": those who walk in the light will love rather than hate a brother or sister.

3:11-5:12 The letter's second theme is God is love (1 John 4:8, 16). God's love is revealed in Jesus' self-sacrifice (1 John 4:10) and experienced by those who remain in fellowship with God. 1 John's development of this theme demonstrates that God's self-giving love and the community's mutual love are inseparable. Those who are reborn of God and remain in God will love as God loves (1 John 4:7-12).

3:11 message: See 1 John 1:5. from the beginning: See 1 John 1:1-4. love each other: probably love for other believers (see 1 John 4:20-5:2) rather than for everyone (cf. Matt 5:43-48); this is the principal application of the community's belief that God is love (1 John 2:10; 3:18, 23; 4:7-12; 2 John 5; John 13:33-35; 15:12-17; 21:15-17).

3:12 Cain: negative example of those who do "the works of the devil" (1 John 3:8), because he hated his brother (1 John 3:10), despised his righteousness (1 John 3:12), and murdered him (1 John 3:15; see Gen 4:1-16; cf. John 8:39-44). evil one: See 1 John 2:13b.

3:16-19 This is how we know . . . This is how we will know: The practice of self-sacrificial love for each other reassures believers of God's love for them.

3:19-21 hearts: metaphor of one's conscience that prompts good (reassure(s)) or bad (condemn(s)) choices. When true believers doubt their relationship with God, God overrides their self-condemnation through the community's selfless love for each other and obedience to God's commandments (cf. Jas 1:5-8; 4:8-12; Rom 8:1).

3:22-24 We receive whatever we ask: an important theme in John's Gospel (John 14:14-16; 15:7, 16; 16:23-26). Abiding in God and obeying God are of a piece (1 John 3:24; see 1 John 1:5-7). God's command to love each other is combined with belief in the apostolic witness to Jesus (see 1 John 2:12, 18-27).

3:24 Spirit: God's Spirit is given to those who remain in God because of their obedience to God's commandments (see 1 John 3:23; 4:13). The Spirit's role in 1 John is to testify to a covenant relationship with God.

Testing the spirits

4 Dear friends, don't believe every spirit. Test the spirits to see if they are from God because many false prophets have gone into the world. 2This is how you know if a spirit comes from God: every spirit that confesses that Jesus Christ has come as a human<sup>b</sup> is from God, 3and every spirit that doesn't confess Jesus is not from God. This is the spirit of the antichrist, which you have heard is coming and is now already in the world. 4You are from God, little children, and you have defeated these people because the one who is in you is greater than the one who is in the world. 5They are from the world. So they speak from the world's point of view and the world listens to them. 6We are from God. The person who knows God listens to us. Whoever is not from God doesn't listen to us. This is how we recognize the Spirit of truth and the spirit of error.

Love and God

7Dear friends, let's love each other, because love is from God, and everyone who loves is born from God and knows God. 8The person who doesn't love does not know God, because God is love. 9This is how the love of God is revealed to us: God has sent his only Son into the world so that we can live through him. 10This is love: it is not that we loved God but that he loved us and sent his Son as the sacrifice that deals with our sins.

11Dear friends, if God loved us this way, we also ought to love each other. 12No one has ever seen God. If we love each other, God remains in us and his love is made perfect in us. 13This is how we know we remain in him and he remains in us, because he has given us a measure of his Spirit. 14We have seen and testify that the Father has sent the Son to be the savior of the world. 15If any of us confess that Jesus is God's Son, God remains in us and we remain in God. 16We have known and have believed the love that God has for us.

God is love, and those who remain in love remain in God and God remains in them. 17This is how love has been perfected in us, so that we can have confidence on the Judgment Day, because we are exactly the same as God is in this world. 18There is no fear in love, but perfect love drives out fear, because fear expects punishment. The person who is afraid has not been 4:1-6 According to Jewish teaching, God the creator allows two cosmic spirits to compete for a community's allegiance—one whose impulse is toward God's truth and life, the other toward error and death (1 John 4:6). The influence of each spirit on the community is largely determined by teachers. Those taught by false prophets (1 John 4:1; cf. 1 John 2:18-19) are inspired by the spirit of error; then the world's point of view wins out (1 John 4:5; see 1 John 2:15; 3:1). Those taught from God will listen to teachers who are inspired by the Spirit of truth (1 John 4:6); these teachers bear the apostolic message (see 1 John 1:1-5).

4:2 confesses that Jesus Christ: A hallmark of God's people is their Spirit-prompted confession that Jesus is from God and so is inseparable from God in the revelation of truth, the forgiveness of sin, and the victory over death (see 1 John 1:1-4; 5:6-12; cf. 1 Cor 12:3), all of which are secured by acts of divine love.

4:4 defeated these people: See 1 John 5:4-5. The community's confession of faith in Jesus (1 John 4:2) is a public announcement that God's victory over the world (and thus over error, sin, and hatred) has already been won with Jesus Christ (1 John 4:2).

4:6 listens to us: the message of what the apostles saw and heard of Jesus (see 1 John 1:1-5). Spirit of truth: See 1 John 5:6; cf. John 14:17; 15:26; 16:13.

4:7-12 The pivotal passage in the letter's elaboration of its second theme: God is love. God's love, revealed in the Son's self-sacrifice for our sins (1 John 4:10), is inseparable from the love of God's children for each other (1 John 4:7-8). Since No one has ever seen God, the love of believers for each other provides real evidence of their relationship with and belief in God, who is love (1 John 4:12).

4:13-16 God's sending of God's Son provides knowledge of divine love and is also an example of love in action. Jesus is God's Son, who forms an inseparable whole with his Father to reveal God's truth and to save the world for God from sin, the evil one, and death.

4:13 Spirit: See 1 John 3:24.

4:14-15 seen... testify: The community's acceptance of the apostolic testimony that Jesus is God's Son, whom God sent to be the savior of the world, is the condition of remaining in fellowship with God (see 1 John 1:1-3; 4:6).

4:17-21 The perfection of the community's experience of God's love prepares it for the future Judgment Day without fear of rejection (see 1 John 2:28-3:2).

4:17 love has been perfected in us: The Greek word for "perfect" refers to the goal of a process. The goal of God's love is the community's self-sacrificial love for each other. Judgment Day: The biblical idea of Judgment Day is that God will judge every person's works against the standard of God's word to determine whether that person will receive eternal life or destruction (1 John 2:28; cf. Zeph 1:14-18; Rom 2:5-11; Rev 20:11-15). According to 1 John, these works include loving one another and a confession that Jesus is God's Son (see 1 John 3:23; cf. Rev 14:4-5).

4:18 There is no fear in love: that is, fear of God's negative judgment.

made perfect in love. <sup>19</sup>We love because God first loved us. <sup>20</sup>If anyone says, I love God, and hates a brother or sister, he is a liar, because the person who doesn't love a brother or sister who can be seen can't love God, who can't be seen. <sup>21</sup>This commandment we have from him: Those who claim to love God ought to love their brother and sister also.

5 Everyone who believes that Jesus is the Christ has been born from God. Whoever loves someone who is a parent loves the child born to the parent. <sup>2</sup>This is how we know that we love the children of God: when we love God and keep God's commandments. <sup>3</sup>This is the love of God: we keep God's commandments. God's commandments are not difficult, <sup>4</sup>because everyone who is born from God defeats the world. And this is the victory that has defeated the world: our faith. <sup>5</sup>Who defeats the world? Isn't it the one who believes that Jesus is God's Son?

Testimony about Jesus

<sup>6</sup>This is the one who came by water and blood: Jesus Christ. Not by water only but by water and blood. And the Spirit is the one who testifies, because the Spirit is the truth. <sup>7</sup>The three are testifying—<sup>8</sup>the Spirit, the water, and the blood—and the three are united in agreement. <sup>9</sup>If we receive human testimony, God's testimony is greater, because this is what God testified: he has testified about his Son. <sup>10</sup>The one who believes in God's Son has the testimony within; the one who doesn't believe God has made God a liar, because that one has not believed the testimony that God gave about his Son. <sup>11</sup>And this is the testimony: God gave eternal life to us, and this life is in his Son. <sup>12</sup>The one who has the Son has life. The one who doesn't have God's Son does not have life.

Confidence in prayer

<sup>13</sup>I write these things to you who believe in the name of God's Son so that you can know that you have eternal life. <sup>14</sup>This is the confidence that we have in our relationship with God: If we ask for anything in agreement with his will, he listens to us. <sup>15</sup>If we know that he listens to whatever we ask, we know that we have received what we asked from him. <sup>16</sup>If anyone sees a brother or sister committing a sin that does not result in death, they should pray, and God will give life to them—that is, to those who commit sins that don't result in death. There is a sin that results in death—I'm not saying that you should pray about that. <sup>17</sup>Every unrighteous action is sin, but there is a sin that does not result in death.

4:19 We love because God first loved us: God is the source and example of true love, which is the necessary condition and principal motivation of the community's mutual love (see 1 John 4:21).

4:20 liar: the so-called Christian, whose public actions and personal confession don't match. The test of faith is loving others (see 1 John 2:22; cf. 1 John 1:10; 2:4; 5:10; 1 Cor 5:11). 5:1-5 Right belief in Jesus as God's Son (1 John 5:4-5; see 1 John 5:6-12) and the possession of mutual love (1 John 5:1-2; see 1 John 4:7-21) are the twin marks of new birth (see 1 John 2:29-3:1; 3:23).

5:1 Jesus is the Christ: See 1 John 2:22.

5:3 love of God ... keep God's commandments: recalls the OT Shema (Deut 6:4-5): to confess God as the only God obligates the covenant community to "love God" as an act of its obedience.

5:4 defeats the world: See 1 John 4:4.

5:6-12 The confession that "Jesus is the Christ" (1 John 5:1) is elaborated on here: Jesus is God's Son by whom we have eternal life with God, his Father (see 1 John 1:2-3; 3:13-14; 5:11-12).

5:6 water and blood: probably refers to Jesus' entire mission from beginning (water=baptism) to end (blood=crucifixion; see 1 John 1:7). Spirit ... testifies: The Spirit's witness secures the truth that Jesus is God's Son (cf. Rom 1:4), which is confirmed by apostolic ("human") testimony (see 1 John 5:9).

5:10 testimony within: inward experience of the Spirit's witness to Jesus (1 John 5:6; cf. Rom 8:9-17). liar: See 1 John 2:22; 4:20.

5:11-12 this is the testimony: The apostolic testimony of Jesus as "the word of life" (1 John 1:1-2) discloses the nature and terms of eternal life. The present tense of the verbs has life ... does not have tells us that eternal life is a way of living rather than an expression of longevity.

5:13-21 Similar to the benedictions in other NT letters, 1 John concludes with a series of affirmations and exhortations about the Christian life.

5:13 I write these things: The purpose for writing, and therefore for reading, 1 John is to know that you have eternal life (see 1 John 5:11-12). See also 1 John 1:4; 2:1; 2:7-8; 2:13-14; 2:26.

5:14-17 sin that results in death: See 1 John 1:5-2:2. The community's prayers include petitions of forgiveness for members who sin. Excluded are petitions for those engaged in mortal sins, because such acts indicate those members hate others (1 John 3:14) or have deserted the faith.

Be on guard

<sup>18</sup>We know that everyone born from God does not sin, but the ones born from God guard themselves,<sup>c</sup> and the evil one cannot touch them. <sup>19</sup>We know we are from God, and the whole world lies in the power of the evil one. <sup>20</sup>We know that God's Son has come and has given us understanding to know the one who is true. We are in the one who is true by being in his Son, Jesus Christ. This is the true God and eternal life. <sup>21</sup>Little children, guard yourselves from idols!

<sup>c</sup>Or but the one who is born from God guards him from sin

5:18-20a everyone born from God does not sin: See sidebar, "Sinning/Not Sinning" at 1 John 3. evil one: See 1 John 2:13b; 3:12. Believers are from God and therefore are in the one who is true by being in his Son; as such, they are out of range as a target of the evil one's influence.

5:20b-21 guard yourselves from idols: The letter's concluding benediction recalls God's way of salvation disclosed on Mount Sinai: If the true God is the God who alone gives eternal life (see Exod 20:2), then the community should worship nothing else (see Exod 20:3; cf. Acts 15:19-20).

2 JOHN

2 John is written in the literary form of most Pauline letters: It opens with a greeting (2 John 1-3) followed by a thanksgiving for the recipients that suggests a hint of their spiritual crisis (2 John 4); its body offers instruction and encouragement for dealing with this crisis (2 John 5-11), before concluding with a benediction (2 John 12-13). This letter's special vocabulary (e.g., "truth," "love," "remains") and occasion (a congregation divided by false teaching) remind us of 1 John, and the church has read the two letters together since the second century.

The author's identity as "the elder" (2 John 1; cf. 3 John 1) suggests he holds a position of leadership within the community. 2 John was written by someone who wanted to safeguard the apostolic message he has passed on to his readers (see 1 John 1:5; 3:11). The promise of a future "face-to-face" conversation (2 John 12) is an exercise in spiritual authority, since the implied purpose of the elder's house call is to make certain his letter's warning (2 John 7-11) is heeded!

The letter is written to alert readers to the potential threat of "deceivers" (2 John 7), and one in particular called "the antichrist" (2 John 7), whose refusal to confess the apostolic "teaching about Christ" (2 John 9; see 1 John 1:1-2) could influence real Christians and undermine the future prospect of their "full reward" (2 John 8; cf. 1 John 3:2). In fact, in an effort to curb the influence of the group that has deserted the faith, the elder now limits the community's command to love one another (2 John 5-6) by instructing them not to extend hospitality to anyone who doesn't affirm this apostolic rule of faith (2 John 10-11).

Greeting

To the chosen gentlewoman and her children, whom I truly love (and I am not the only one, but also all who know the truth), <sup>2</sup>because of the truth that remains with us and will be with us forever.

<sup>3</sup>Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and from Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, will be ours who live in truth and love.

Love each other

<sup>4</sup>I was overjoyed to find some of your children living in the truth, just as we had been commanded by the Father. <sup>5</sup>Now, dear friends, I am requesting that we love each other. It's not as though I'm writing a new command to you, but it's one we have had from the beginning. <sup>6</sup>This is love: that we live according to his commands. This is the command that you heard from the beginning: live in love.

Reject false teachers

<sup>7</sup>Many deceivers have gone into the world who do not confess that Jesus Christ came as a human being. This kind of person is the deceiver and the antichrist. <sup>8</sup>Watch yourselves so that you don't lose what we've worked for but instead receive a full reward. <sup>9</sup>Anyone who goes too far and does not continue in the teaching about Christ does not have God. Whoever continues in this teaching has both the Father and the Son. <sup>10</sup>Whoever comes to you who does not affirm this teaching should

The Antichrist Popular visions of the end time that feature a deceitful yet powerful figure who conspires against but is ultimately destroyed by God draw creatively from 1–2 John's references to "the antichrist" (1 John 2:18–19; 2 John 7–8; cf. Matt 24:11; 2 Thess 2:3–4, 8–9; Rev 13). As a personal agent of the evil one (see Rev 13), this "antichrist" seeks to deceive people into thinking that the gospel is a lie (cf. Rev 12:9; 1 John 2:26; 2 John 7). The biblical profile of "the antichrist" drawn from 1–2 John would include: (1) he rejects the apostolic testimony of Jesus "as a human" (1 John 4:2; 2 John 7), which defines truth for the church (see 1 John 1:1–4); (2) he's a Christian insider who "went out from us" (1 John 2:19) to head a global movement of "many deceivers" (2 John 7); (3) his teaching, if accepted, makes it impossible to remain in God for eternal life; but (4) his attempt to influence believers who remain in God fails (see 1 John 5:18–19; cf. Rev 12:13–17).

1-3 The letter's greeting establishes the nature of the letter that follows. The sender is an elder (see intro.) whose love for the letter's recipients is based on a shared commitment to the apostolic testimony of Jesus. This is the truth that remains with us... forever (see 1 John 1:1–4, 5–6; 2:20–25, 26–27; cf. John 14:16–17). chosen gentlewoman and her children: The address is probably a metaphor for a leader and members of a Christian congregation, following the practice of referring to God's people as a female (see Rev 12:1–17; 21:2–9; cf. Isa 54; 1 Pet 5:13).

4 some... children: hints that the congregation is divided over the truth... commanded by the Father (see 1 John 3:23).

5-11 The letter's main body confronts the problem of a congregation divided over differing conceptions of the truth.

5 new command: See 1 John 2:3–11; cf. John 13:33–35. from the beginning: that is, from the beginning of the apostolic testimony about Jesus (see 1 John 1:1–4; 2:7, 24; 3:11; cf. Acts 1:21–22).

6 live in love: "live" translates from the Greek word for "walk" and refers to a way of daily living. The Christian way of life is focused by the daily practice of loving each other in the manner of Jesus (see 1 John 2:3–6; 5:2–3).

7 deceivers... do not confess that Jesus Christ came as a human being: that is, the one whom the apostles "heard... seen and our hands handled" (1 John 1:1; see 1 John 2:18–27). The Greek text uses the present tense

("Jesus Christ is coming as a human being"), but the CEB translates this phrase so that it parallels 1 John 4:2: "Jesus Christ has come as a human." The use of the present tense could indicate that the opponents also reject his future return (see 1 John 3:2; John 6:14; cf. 2 Pet 3:1–7). Whether past, present, or future, though, the primary emphasis falls on the crucial importance of confessing the incarnation of God's Son. gone into the world: The deceivers who first "went out from us" (1 John 2:19) now have gone into the world and thus pose an even greater threat to the mission of an expanding church. the antichrist: The addition of the definite article "the" to "antichrist" may refer to the leader of many antichrists or deceivers.

8 lose... receive a full reward: God's blessing extends beyond this life into the coming age. This blessing is given in proportion to good works, which include confession of Jesus and obedience to God's command to love each other (see 1 John 3:23; cf. John 5:17; 6:17–18; 1 Cor 3:14; Ruth 2:11–12).

9 teaching about Christ: a formal body of beliefs based on the apostles' eyewitness accounts of Jesus (see 1 John 1:1–2) and used as a guide for what people should teach about the Christian faith.

10 should neither be received nor welcomed into your home: The command to love each other does not extend to those who have deserted the faith, whose false beliefs may contaminate the community's "teaching about Christ" (2 John 9; see 3 John 5–8; cf. 1 Cor 5; 1 Tim 1:18–20).

neither be received nor welcomed into your home, <sup>11</sup>because welcoming people like that is the same thing as sharing in their evil actions.

Plans to visit

<sup>12</sup>I have a lot to tell you. I don't want to use paper and ink, but I hope to visit you and talk with you face-to-face, so that our joy can be complete.

Final greeting

12 visit you: a leader's site-visit to evaluate a community's spiritual progress (see 3 John 13; cf. Rom 1:10-11; 2 Cor 12:13-3:10; 1 Tim 3:14).

3 JOHN

3 John is a letter written by an anonymous spiritual leader who calls himself “the elder” (see intro. to 2 John). Its first recipient is another congregational leader named “Gaius,” whom he greets as someone “I truly love” (3 John 1; cf. 2 John 1) and as one of his “children” (3 John 4). These terms suggest a close working relationship. Gaius is elaborately praised as a model of hospitality, the moral signature of those who embrace the gospel’s “truth” (3 John 3-4) and remain faithful to God for eternal life. Nothing more is known of Gaius, or of Diotrephes (3 John 9), his combatant in what is plainly a power struggle with the elder for congregational leadership. (The struggle doesn’t appear to be over correct doctrine, unlike the elder’s battle with the antichrists of 2 John.)

3 John’s similar vocabulary and topics naturally place it alongside the other two Johannine letters in a grouping of seven NT books that’s often called the Catholic Letters. The enduring importance of 3 John within the church has been more practical than theological. The elder’s commendation of Gaius for extending hospitality and support to strangers provides a pattern for loving others, especially in caring for traveling missionaries (3 John 5-8). The elder’s admonition for choosing sides in an internal disagreement with Diotrephes (3 John 9-12), apparently over a particular application of hospitality outlined in 2 John 10-11, has provided an example of church discipline in settling internal disagreements between church leaders that might otherwise divide a congregation (cf. 1 Tim 5:17-25).

Encouragement for Gaius

<sup>3</sup>I was overjoyed when the brothers and sisters arrived and spoke highly of your faithfulness to the truth, shown by how you live according to the truth. <sup>4</sup>I have no greater joy than this: to hear that my children are living according to the truth. <sup>5</sup>Dear friend, you act faithfully in whatever you do for our brothers and sisters, even though they are strangers. <sup>6</sup>They spoke highly of your love in front of the church. You all would do well to provide for their journey in a way that honors God, <sup>7</sup>because they left on their journey for the sake of Jesus Christ without accepting any support from the Gentiles. <sup>8</sup>Therefore, we ought to help people like this so that we can be coworkers with the truth.

Criticism of Diotrophes

<sup>9</sup>I wrote something to the church, but Diotrophes, who likes to put himself first, doesn't welcome us. <sup>10</sup>Because of this, if I come, I will bring up what he has done—making unjustified and wicked accusations against us. And as if that were not enough, he not only refuses to welcome the brothers and sisters but stops those who want to do so and even throws them out of the church! <sup>11</sup>Dear friend, don't imitate what is bad but what is good. Whoever practices what is good belongs to God. Whoever practices what is bad has not seen God.

Approval of Demetrius

<sup>12</sup>Everyone speaks highly of Demetrius, even the truth itself. We also speak highly of him, and you know that what we say is true.

Hospitality The books of 2 and 3 John present some of scripture's most striking examples of the Christian practice of hospitality. Welcoming a stranger into the community "not... with words... but with action" (1 John 3:18) embodies the self-sacrificial love for another, exemplified by Christ and commanded by God (see 1 John 4:9-11). Moreover, the generous support Gaius gives traveling missionaries follows the social custom of his Mediterranean world, where people provided guests with a level of support that attended to all their needs in a way that brought the stranger more fully into the household's life. In response, guests were expected to repay their hosts by making a public report that honored their virtue (3 John 6). Since religious disagreements made it impossible to bring a stranger fully into a Christian household, the practice of hospitality was typically withheld from opponents (see 2 John 10-11). The household's support of a rival would also have drawn it into an act of aiding the enemy, thus dishonoring its members. When Diotrophes refuses "to welcome the brothers and sisters" (3 John 10), the elder's stern rebuke is not because Diotrophes has excluded strangers from his love, but because he withholds support and falsely accuses other Christians for self-centered reasons and so betrays the example of the crucified Christ.

1-2 Gaius: a common Roman name (cf. Acts 19:29; Rom 16:23; 1 Cor 1:14). The elder's wish for good health is often used to open ancient letters as a way of establishing good rapport with the recipient. The added wish for his spiritual prosperity expresses a concern for the whole person.

3-4 according to the truth: that is, according to the apostolic testimony of Jesus (see 1 John 1:1-4).

5 act faithfully... for our brothers and sisters: The elder's joy for Gaius (3 John 3-4) links his faithfulness toward others with his faithfulness to the truth. strangers: Paul calls Gaius "host" in Romans 16:23, which translates the same Greek word as "stranger."

6 in front of the church: probably refers to a specific element of Christian worship when testimony is made of a believer's good works or need for discipline (see 3 John 10). provide for their journey: traveling missionaries who drew their financial support and personal encouragement from local congregations.

7 the Gentiles: nonbelievers.

8 coworkers with the truth: See 2 John 10-11.

9-11 Although the reason for the elder's dispute with Diotrophes is unstated, the accusation leveled against him concerns an abuse of power to serve his selfish ambition, a judgment common in ancient arguments against one's enemy. I wrote something: an earlier letter not preserved and now lost. doesn't welcome us... refuses to welcome the brothers and sisters: recalls the practice advised in 2 John 10-11, but the reason for doing so in this case is unstated. throws them out of the church: may refer to excluding from the congregation those who support the elder and his allies. Whoever practices what is good belongs to God... bad has not seen God: See 1 John 3:9-10; 4:1-7.

12 Demetrius: 3 John is written, in part, to introduce this unknown Christian, who perhaps carried this letter to Gaius. Demetrius' trustworthiness is especially important to winning Gaius over to the elder's side in his dispute with Diotrophes.

Final greeting

<sup>13</sup>I have a lot to say to you, but I don't want to use pen and ink. <sup>14</sup>I hope to see you soon, and we will speak face-to-face.

<sup>15</sup>Peace be with you. Your friends here greet you. Greet our friends there by name.

13-15 I hope to see you soon: See the note on 2 John 12. greetings is a typical element of a letter's benediction (cf. friends here greet you . . . Greet our friends: the exchange of Rom 16; 1 Cor 16).

The author identifies himself as “a slave of Jesus Christ and brother of James.” In the early church, only one Jude had a well-known brother named James. This is Jude, the brother of Jesus and also the eventual leader of the Jerusalem church (see Acts 15). Church tradition supports the identification of this Jude as the author of this letter. We know little about him, except that he was one of Jesus’ four brothers, he was younger than James (Matt 13:55; Mark 6:3), he did not follow Jesus until after the resurrection (Acts 1:14), and he was a traveling missionary (1 Cor 9:5). He was obviously familiar with the OT and later Jewish literature (this includes a book we know as 1 Enoch). The letter is carefully crafted and filled with colorful imagery, and its style is lively and vigorous.

Little is known about the date or destination of the letter. Syria, Asia Minor, Palestine, and Egypt are all possibilities, and it could have been written as early as the 50s or as late as the 90s CE. The audience is probably made up of Jewish Christians living in a Gentile environment. The problem Jude addresses is the idea that, since they are free in Christ, Christians don’t need to abide by laws or rules. (This notion is also reflected in the Corinthian letters and Revelation.)

Jude powerfully emphasizes God’s judgment on godless people. Love, mercy, and security (being “kept safe”) are important themes, too, but these stand in contrast with promises of punishment for ungodly behavior.

Greeting

To those who are called, loved by God the Father and kept safe by Jesus Christ.

<sup>2</sup>May you have more and more mercy, peace, and love.

Certain judgment of the false teachers

<sup>3</sup>Dear friends, I wanted very much to write to you concerning the salvation we share. Instead, I must write to urge you to fight for the faith delivered once and for all to God's holy people. <sup>4</sup>Godless people have slipped in among you. They turn the grace of our God into unrestrained immorality and deny our only master and Lord, Jesus Christ. Judgment was passed against them a long time ago.

<sup>5</sup>I want to remind you of something you already know very well. The Lord, who once saved a people out of Egypt, later destroyed those who didn't maintain their faith. <sup>6</sup>I remind you too of the angels who didn't keep their position of authority but deserted their own home. The Lord has kept them in eternal chains in the underworld until the judgment of the great day. <sup>7</sup>In the same way, Sodom and Gomorrah and neighboring towns practiced immoral sexual relations and pursued other sexual urges. By undergoing the punishment of eternal fire, they serve as a warning.

<sup>8</sup>Yet, even knowing this, these dreamers in the same way pollute themselves, reject authority, and slander the angels. <sup>9</sup>The archangel Michael, when he argued with the devil about Moses' body, did not dare charge him with slander. Instead, he said, "The Lord rebuke you!" <sup>10</sup>But these people slander whatever they don't understand. They are destroyed by what they know instinctively, as though they were irrational animals.

Prophecies about the false teachers

<sup>11</sup>They are damned, for they follow in the footsteps of Cain. For profit they give themselves over to Balaam's error. They are destroyed in the uprising of Korah. <sup>12</sup>These people are like jagged rocks just below the surface of the water waiting to snag you when they join your love feasts. They feast with you without reverence. They care only for themselves. They are waterless clouds carried along by the winds; fruitless autumn trees, twice dead, uprooted; <sup>13</sup>wild waves of the sea foaming up their own shame; wandering stars for whom the darkness of the underworld is reserved forever.

<sup>14</sup>Enoch, who lived seven generations after Adam, prophesied about these people when he said, "See, the Lord comes with his countless holy ones, <sup>15</sup>to execute judgment on everyone and to convict everyone about every ungodly deed they have committed in their ungodliness as well as all the harsh things that sinful ungodly people have said against him." <sup>16</sup>These are

1 Like most Greek letters, this one begins by naming its sender and addressees. slave of Jesus: Jude identifies himself with service, in contrast to the teachers' arrogance. The audience consists of those who are loved by God. To be called is more than being summoned into a belief system; it is to be held in God's love, embraced, and kept safe. 2 This peace blessing is typical of Greek letters, except that love is included. mercy, peace, and love—these themes appear again at the end of the letter.

3 Jude blends two purposes throughout the letter: (1) the salvation we share: a salvation that isn't only individual but is shared by the whole community of God's holy people, and (2) to fight for the faith: a term from athletic contests (1 Cor 9:25; 2 Tim 4:7; Heb 12:4) or military conquests (Eph 6:12; John 18:36).

4 Jude's opponents have slipped in (from outside the community). They turn the grace... immorality: This suggests that their behavior (rather than their system of beliefs) denies the Lordship of Jesus.

5-7 The author identifies three things his audience already know(s): (1) the Lord saved Israel in the wilderness, and he destroyed those who didn't keep their faith; (2) since angels didn't keep their... own home, they have been kept for judgment (these are probably the angels who rejected God's authority, a story told in a Jewish book called 1 Enoch); and (3) Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed (the author's reference to this familiar story of punishment might suggest that the problem Jude is addressing includes immorality).

8 The false teachers base their actions and lifestyle on dreams by which they claim to know God's will. pollute themselves: Such language is used in the OT to refer to immorality (e.g., Gen 34:5, 13, 27; Lev 18:24-28; Jer 3:2; Hos 5:3; 6:10). slander the angels: may refer to the understanding of angels as guardians of the Law (Gal 3:19; Acts 7:38, 53; Heb 2:2).

9 Even Michael, a ruler among angels (see Dan 10:13), doesn't rely on his own authority for judgment. Instead, he relies on the Lord's (see Zech 3:2).

10 The false teachers are not acting on the basis of special insight into God's will (see Jude 8), but, like animals, they simply follow their instincts.

11-14 Three OT examples shed light on the false teachers: Like Cain (Gen 4:1-16) and Korah (Num 16), they challenge God's authority; like Balaam (Num 22-24), they are leading people in the wrong direction for their own profit.

15 Jude focuses attention on the false teachers' behavior, which directly opposes God.

16 The problem Jude addresses also involves habits of speech that go against God's ways.

faultfinding grumblers, living according to their own desires. They speak arrogant words and they show partiality to people when they want a favor in return.

<sup>17</sup>But you, dear friends, remember the words spoken beforehand by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>18</sup>They said to you, "In the end time scoffers will come living according to their own ungodly desires." <sup>19</sup>These people create divisions. Since they don't have the Spirit, they are worldly.

A strategy for the faithful

<sup>20</sup>But you, dear friends: build each other up on the foundation of your most holy faith, pray in the Holy Spirit, <sup>21</sup>keep each other in the love of God, wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, who will give you eternal life. <sup>22</sup>Have mercy on those who doubt. <sup>23</sup>Save some by snatching them from the fire. Fearing God, have mercy on some, hating even the clothing contaminated by their sinful urges.

Blessing

<sup>24</sup>To the one who is able to protect you from falling, and to present you blameless and rejoicing before his glorious presence, <sup>25</sup>to the only God our savior, through Jesus Christ our Lord, belong glory, majesty, power, and authority, before all time, now and forever. Amen.

17-19 dear friends: provides a transition in the letter. The faithful don't depend on dreams (see Jude 8) but instead remember the words spoken beforehand by the apostles.

20-21 In contrast to the ungodly behavior of the false teachers, the faithful should keep each other in the love of God and wait—not in the sense of standing still but in alert expectation of eternal life. The phrase "keep each other in the love of God" recalls that this letter is addressed to "those who are . . . loved by God . . . and kept safe by Jesus Christ" (Jude 1).

Ungodly People The images we find in Jude 12-13 shed light on the problem of ungodly people joining the love feasts. The imagery is borrowed from the natural world: air ("clouds"), earth ("trees"), sea ("waves"), and space ("stars"), "Waterless clouds" and "trees, twice dead" ("fruitless" and "uprooted") suggest empty promises. "Wild waves . . . foaming up their own shame" refers to the muck and slime tossed about by raging seas. The ancients considered stars to be the most stable aspect of nature, so "wandering stars" (i.e., falling or shooting stars) were feared and couldn't be used to guide travel. Jude uses natural hazards to warn his audience about godless people.

22-23 Jude exhorts his audience to respond with mercy to those who doubt. In doing so, though, they should take care not to get involved in ungodly behavior themselves.

24-25 The closing words of praise remind us of the letter's main theme: God can and will protect the faithful, and God can and will keep the wicked for punishment. Jude recognizes God's ultimate authority and Jesus' lordship.

REVELATION

For many modern readers, reading the book of Revelation is a challenging experience. Most of us are unfamiliar with this kind of literature, and we find its imagery strange and even grotesque at times. The book doesn't have a straightforward story line or a clear order of events, and this makes it difficult for us to keep track of what's going on. And it's so full of violence that a first-time reader might be tempted to think of it as some sort of science-fiction horror story designed to do little more than frighten and entertain.

In fact, Revelation has much to teach us about how Christians ought to live in today's often-troubled world. Before we look at its major themes, let's briefly review what scholars say about its author, date of composition, and original audience.

The author identifies himself as John, God's "servant" (Rev 1:1) and a "brother" to those who share with him the hardships and the kingdom they have in Jesus (Rev 1:9). He writes that he was living on the island of Patmos at the time "because of the word of God and my witness about Jesus" (Rev 1:9). For this reason some scholars think John wrote the book of Revelation while in exile. However, he may simply have gone there to preach the message of Jesus Christ.

Early Christian writers thought this book was written by the apostle John, who was also the author of the Gospel of John. Today, though, most scholars believe it was written by an otherwise unknown early Jewish-Christian prophet named John toward the end of Emperor Domitian's reign (approximately 95–96 CE). This was when Domitian launched a persecution of Christians, who were charged with a variety of crimes, including atheism (i.e., a failure to support the worship of the Roman emperor) and drifting into "Jewish ways." Most scholars feel John's original audience lived in the eastern Mediterranean.

Revelation is a form of literature called apocalypse. Like other writings of this genre, Revelation has a visionary, or seer (in this case, John), who receives visions through a go-between of some sort (usually an angel) and later writes them down. These visions are filled with symbolic language. Sometimes the seer is given an interpreter to help him understand the visions. Usually they reveal secrets about how the universe operates or secrets about the meaning of future political and historical events. In some apocalypses the seer journeys into the heavenly realm to see these things for himself. In others, revelations come only through a mediator.

Apocalypses share some important similarities with the literature of the OT prophets. In fact, John calls his book a “prophecy” (Rev 1:3). Although we tend to think of prophets as predictors of the future, their primary role was to call people to change their hearts and lives so they could be God’s holy ones. When the people found themselves in trouble, the prophet’s role was to comfort and to help them remember that God is always faithful even when they are not. We see similar themes in the book of Revelation. The messages to the churches of Asia Minor (Rev 2–3) contain numerous warnings to their members to change their hearts, give up their indifferent ways, stay true to the faith, and get in touch once again with the faith they once had. The messages also contain words of comfort for those who suffer harassment.

Apocalypses share important similarities with Wisdom literature (e.g., Proverbs, Job, Ecclesiastes, Sirach, and Wisdom of Solomon) as well. Although it covers a variety of topics, Wisdom literature is primarily concerned about questions of universal truth, the meaning of life and death, and the problem of evil. Revelation gives considerable attention to the problem of evil: Why do the righteous suffer without reason? Why aren’t the wicked punished? What is the meaning of human suffering? Where is God’s justice?

Revelation addresses such questions in grand fashion, using highly charged, symbolic imagery and dramatic speech. A scene associated with the opening of the fifth seal is key to unlocking this theme. John saw, under God’s altar, those who had been slaughtered on account of the word of God: “They cried out with a loud voice, ‘Holy and true Master, how long will you wait before you pass judgment? How long before you require justice for our blood, which was shed by those who live on earth?’” (Rev 6:10). Clearly, these voices recognize and confess God’s supreme authority, but they want to know about God’s justice. When will God punish the wicked? How will God show that the righteous are, in fact, innocent? These holy ones are given robes of victory but told to wait, even as more like them are killed (Rev 6:11).

From this point on, in vision after vision, God punishes those who allied themselves with the dragon (an image for Satan). But God’s justice is held in check by God’s mercy because, in the earlier parts of the book at least, always some are spared in the hope they’ll change their hearts and lives. Likewise, in vision after vision, holy ones are honored and victorious. All the while, heavenly worship continues with loud and lively prayers in praise of God’s supreme authority and justice. The book reaches its climax in the stunning, powerful vision of the New Jerusalem. Here there is no more evil or sadness or hunger or suffering. Here all God’s holy ones get to see God and the Lamb face-to-face (Rev 21–22). This is truly good news.

I. Introduction (1:1–8)

Greetings

1 A revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave him to show his servants what must soon take place. Christ made it known by sending it through his angel to his servant John, <sup>2</sup>who bore witness to the word of God and to the witness of Jesus Christ, including all that John saw. <sup>3</sup>Favored is the one who reads the words of this prophecy out loud, and favored are those who listen to it being read, and keep what is written in it, for the time is near.

Grace and peace to you from the one who is and was and is coming, and from the seven spirits that are before God's throne, <sup>5</sup>and from Jesus Christ—the faithful witness, the firstborn from among the dead, and the ruler of the kings of the earth.

To the one who loves us and freed us from our sins by his blood, <sup>6</sup>who made us a kingdom, priests to his God and Father—to him be glory and power forever and always. Amen.

<sup>7</sup>Look, he is coming with the clouds! Every eye will see him, including those who pierced him, and all the tribes of the earth will mourn because of him. This is so. Amen. <sup>8</sup>"I am the Alpha and the Omega," says the Lord God, "the one who is and was and is coming, the Almighty."

Christ appears to John

<sup>9</sup>I, John, your brother who shares with you in the hardship, kingdom, and endurance that we have in Jesus, was on the island called Patmos because of the word of God and my witness about Jesus. <sup>10</sup>I was in a Spirit-inspired trance on the Lord's day, and I heard behind me a loud voice that sounded like a trumpet. <sup>11</sup>It said, "Write down on a scroll whatever you see, and send it to the seven churches: to Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamum, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea."

<sup>12</sup>I turned to see who was speaking to me, and when I turned, I saw seven oil lamps burning on top of seven gold stands. <sup>13</sup>In the middle of the lampstands I saw someone who looked like the Human One.<sup>a</sup> He wore a robe that stretched down to his feet, and he had a gold sash around his chest. <sup>14</sup>His head and hair were white as white wool—like snow—and his eyes were like a fiery flame. <sup>15</sup>His feet were like fine brass that has been purified in a furnace, and his voice sounded like rushing water. <sup>16</sup>He held seven stars in his right hand, and from his mouth came a sharp, two-edged sword. His appearance was like the sun shining with all its power.

<sup>17</sup>When I saw him, I fell at his feet like a dead man. But he put his right hand on me and said, "Don't be afraid. I'm the first and the last, <sup>18</sup>and the living one. I was dead, but look! Now I'm alive forever and always. I have the keys of Death and the Grave. <sup>19</sup>So write down what you have seen, both the scene now before you and the things that are about to unfold after this. <sup>20</sup>As for the mystery of the seven stars that you saw in my right hand and the seven gold lampstands, here is what they mean: the seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands are the seven churches.

1:1-2 A revelation of Jesus Christ: This book is a revelation about Christ, or it came from Christ and ultimately from God.

1:3 Favored is: the first of seven blessings, or beatitudes, in the book (see Rev 14:13; 16:15; 19:9; 20:6; 22:7, 14).

1:4 Grace and peace is a standard greeting in Paul's letters. the one who is... coming: God (cf. Exod 3:14). The seven spirits probably refer to God's activity in the world (see Tob 12:15; Zech 4:2, 10).

1:7 Look... pierced him: John describes Jesus Christ, but the imagery comes from Daniel 7:13; Zechariah 12:10.

1:8 I am: God is speaking. Alpha and the Omega: the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet.

1:9 your brother... Jesus: John expresses his solidarity with his fellow ministers.

1:10 Lord's day is the Christian day of worship, probably Sunday. John is about to describe a vision he received.

1:12 seven gold stands: The symbolism is explained in Revelation 1:20.

1:13 someone who looked like the Human One: Compare with Daniel 7:13, where a heavenly figure who looks like a human being stands before God, and is given dominion over all things. robe... sash: Perhaps this clothing represents Christ's high priestly role (see Exod 28:4; 39:29; Wis 18:24).

1:14-15 His head... water: The white hair, fiery eyes, and powerful voice of the one who looked like the Human One remind the reader of the Human One's role as God's agent.

1:16 seven stars: The symbolism is described in Revelation 1:20. from his mouth... sword: Traditionally a symbol of warfare, here the sword is a symbol of prophetic judgment (see Isa 49:1-3; Heb 4:12).

1:17-18 I'm... the living one: the risen and exalted Christ.

Message to Ephesus

2<sup>a</sup> Write this to the angel of the church in Ephesus: These are the words of the one who holds the seven stars in his right hand and walks among the seven gold lampstands: <sup>2</sup>I know your works, your labor, and your endurance. I also know that you don't put up with those who are evil. You have tested those who say they are apostles but are not, and you have found them to be liars. <sup>3</sup>You have shown endurance and put up with a lot for my name's sake, and you haven't gotten tired. <sup>4</sup>But I have this against you: you have let go of the love you had at first. <sup>5</sup>So remember the high point from which you have fallen. Change your hearts and lives and do the things you did at first. If you don't, I'm coming to you. I will move your lampstand from its place if you don't change your hearts and lives. <sup>6</sup>But you have this in your favor: you hate what the Nicolaitans are doing, which I also hate. <sup>7</sup>If you can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. I will allow those who emerge victorious to eat from the tree of life, which is in God's paradise.

Message to Smyrna

<sup>8</sup> Write this to the angel of the church in Smyrna: These are the words of the one who is the first and the last, who died and came back to life: <sup>9</sup>I know your hardship and poverty (though you are actually rich). I also know the hurtful things that have been spoken about you by those who say they are Jews (though they are not, but are really Satan's synagogue). <sup>10</sup>Don't be afraid of what you are going to suffer. Look! The devil is going to throw some of you into prison in order to test you. You will suffer hardship for ten days. Be faithful even to the point of death, and I will give you the crown of life. <sup>11</sup>If you can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. Those who emerge victorious won't be hurt by the second death.

Message to Pergamum

<sup>12</sup> Write this to the angel of the church in Pergamum: These are the words of the one who has the sharp, two-edged sword: <sup>13</sup>I know that you are living right where Satan's throne is. You are holding on to my name, and you didn't break faith with me even at the time that Antipas, my faithful witness, was killed among you, where Satan lives. <sup>14</sup>But I have a few things against you, because you have some there who follow Balaam's teaching. Balaam had taught Balak to trip up the Israelites so that they would eat food sacrificed to idols and commit sexual immorality. <sup>15</sup>In the same way, you have some who follow the Nicolaitans' teaching. <sup>16</sup>So change your hearts and lives. If you don't, I am coming to you soon, and I will make war on them with the sword that comes from my mouth. <sup>17</sup>If you can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. I will give those who emerge victorious some of the hidden manna to eat. I will also give to each of them a white stone with a new name written on it, which no one knows except the one who receives it.

2:1-7 Ephesus was the capital of the Roman province of Asia Minor and an important religious, cultural, and commercial center.

2:6 Nicolaitans: Little is known about this group, but apparently they were a sect of fellow Christians (see Rev 2:15, 20-23).

2:7 tree of life: This tree recalls the creation story in Genesis 2:8-9, but it may be included here as a counterpoint to the sacred tree of the Greek goddess Artemis, whose temple was in Ephesus.

2:8-11 Smyrna was a prosperous seaport and trade center. It was located north of Ephesus and at the end of a major east-west road through Asia Minor. It was the first city of the province to build a temple to the goddess Roma (Rome). Roma provides the imagery of the great prostitute in Revelation 17.

2:9 Satan's synagogue: John sounds especially harsh here, but he may simply be expressing his frustration with fellow Jews who opposed those who followed Jesus.

2:10 The devil: also known as Satan, "the accuser" or "the slander." See Revelation 12:1-17 for more on John's interpretation of Satan's role in the world.

2:12-17 Pergamum was an imperial city and—together with Ephesus, Smyrna, and Sardis—one of four centers of the Provincial Assembly of Asia Minor, the regional governing authority of the Roman Empire. It was also an important center for the worship of Zeus and Asclepius, as well as the emperor.

2:13 Satan's throne: John associates the Roman Empire with Satan and describes Pergamum as the place of Satan's throne. Antipas... witness: Nothing more is known about this person, but the context suggests he was interrogated and executed by the Roman governor in Pergamum.

2:14-15 Balaam... Balak: See Numbers 22-24. John considers the Nicolaitans' teaching to be as much of a threat to the Christians in Pergamum as Balaam was to ancient Israelites.

2:17 hidden manna: possibly refers to a Jewish tradition about how the manna of the exodus wilderness experience would reappear at the end time (see 2 Macc 2:4-8).

Message to Thyatira

These are the words of God's Son, whose eyes are like a fiery flame, and whose feet are like fine brass. <sup>19</sup>I know your works, your love and faithfulness, your service and endurance. I also know that the works you have done most recently are even greater than those you did at first. <sup>20</sup>But I have this against you: you put up with that woman, Jezebel, who calls herself a prophet. You allow her to teach and to mislead my servants into committing sexual immorality and eating food sacrificed to idols. <sup>21</sup>I gave her time to change her heart and life, but she refuses to change her life of prostitution. <sup>22</sup>Look! I'm throwing her onto a sickbed. I am casting those who have committed adultery with her into terrible hardship—if they don't change their hearts from following her practices—<sup>23</sup>and I will even put her children to death with disease. Then all the churches will know that I'm the one who examines minds and hearts, and that I will give to each of you what your actions deserve. <sup>24</sup>As for the rest of you in Thyatira—those of you who don't follow this teaching and haven't learned the so-called "deep secrets" of Satan—I won't burden you with anything else. <sup>25</sup>Just hold on to what you have until I come. <sup>26</sup>To those who emerge victorious, keeping my practices until the end, I will give authority over the nations—<sup>27</sup>to rule the nations with an iron rod and smash them like pottery—<sup>28</sup>just as I received authority from my Father. I will also give them the morning star. <sup>29</sup>If you can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches.

Message to Sardis

These are the words of the one who holds God's seven spirits and the seven stars: I know your works. You have the reputation of being alive, and you are in fact dead. <sup>2</sup>Wake up and strengthen whatever you have left, teetering on the brink of death, for I've found that your works are far from complete in the eyes of my God. <sup>3</sup>So remember what you received and heard. Hold on to it and change your hearts and lives. If you don't wake up, I will come like a thief, and you won't know what time I will come upon you. <sup>4</sup>But you do have a few people in Sardis who haven't stained their clothing. They will walk with me clothed in white because they are worthy. <sup>5</sup>Those who emerge victorious will wear white clothing like this. I won't scratch out their names from the scroll of life, but will declare their names in the presence of my Father and his angels. <sup>6</sup>If you can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches.

Message to Philadelphia

These are the words of the one who is holy and true, who has the key of David. Whatever he opens, no one will shut; and whatever he shuts, no one opens. <sup>8</sup>I know your works. Look! I

2:18-29 Thyatira was located approximately 40 miles southeast of Pergamum and is the least known of the seven cities mentioned in Revelation. Apparently it was a trade city with many professional religious guilds devoted to metalworking and wool production.

2:20 Jezebel may be a prophetess in Thyatira, or her name may be used here to recall the earlier Jezebel who brought Baal worship to Israel (1 Kgs 16:31-34; 19:1-3; 2 Kgs 9:30-37). Either way, John wants to warn his audience about the punishment that awaits those who follow the Nicolaitans (see 2 Kgs 10:7). sexual immorality... idols: Sexual immorality here is an image for the worship of idols.

2:24 so-called... Satan: John may be mocking the Nicolaitans, who claimed their teachings were especially deep and mysterious.

2:27 See Psalm 2:9; Jeremiah 18:1-11.

2:28 morning star: probably refers to Jesus, who's later described as "the bright morning star" (Rev 22:16).

3:1-6 Sardis was located approximately 30 miles southeast of Thyatira and 60 miles inland from Ephesus and Smyrna in Asia Minor. Like Ephesus, Sardis was a commercial center and had shrines for the worship of Cybele and Artemis.

3:4 stained their clothing: a metaphorical image for not living a holy and virtuous life.

3:5 white clothing: Jewish literature associates the color white with festive celebrations (Eccl 9:8); the heavenly realm (Dan 7:9); and victory over the forces of evil (2 Macc 11:8). In the NT Gospels the transfigured Christ is dressed in white (Matt 17:2); as are the messenger(s) at the tomb of the resurrected Christ (Matt 28:3). scroll of life: an image for God's list of all the righteous. The names that are scratched out represent the ones destined for destruction (see Exod 32:32-33; Ps 69:28; Isa 4:3; Mal 3:16).

3:7-13 Philadelphia was located in western Asia Minor on a route between Smyrna and Sardis. It had been a prosperous city and a center of Greek culture, but it suffered considerable destruction from an earthquake in the early part of the 1st century CE.

3:7 key of David: The key is a symbol of authority (cf. Rev 1:18). That Christ possesses the key of David means he has authority over the royal household of David (see Isa 22:22).

3:8 you have kept... name: The context suggests a time have set in front of you an open door that no one can shut. You have so little power, and yet you have kept my word and haven't denied my name. <sup>9</sup>Because of this I will make the people from Satan's synagogue (who say they are Jews and really aren't, but are lying)—I will make them come and bow down at your feet and realize that I have loved you. <sup>10</sup>Because you kept my command to endure, I will keep you safe through the time of testing that is about to come over the whole world, to test those who live on earth. <sup>11</sup>I'm coming soon. Hold on to what you have so that no one takes your crown. <sup>12</sup>As for those who emerge victorious, I will make them pillars in the temple of my God, and they will never leave it. I will write on them the name of my God and the name of the city of my God, the New Jerusalem that comes down out of heaven from my God. I will also write on them my own new name. <sup>13</sup>If you can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches.

Message to Laodicea

These are the words of the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the ruler<sup>b</sup> of God's creation. <sup>15</sup>I know your works. You are neither cold nor hot. I wish that you were either cold or hot. <sup>16</sup>So because you are lukewarm, and neither hot nor cold, I'm about to spit you out of my mouth. <sup>17</sup>After all, you say, 'I'm rich, and I've gotten wealthy, and I don't need a thing.' You don't realize that you are miserable, pathetic, poor, blind, and naked. <sup>18</sup>My advice is that you buy gold from me that has been purified by fire so that you may be rich, and white clothing to wear so that your nakedness won't be shamefully exposed, and ointment to put on your eyes so that you may see. <sup>19</sup>I correct and discipline those whom I love. So be earnest and change your hearts and lives. <sup>20</sup>Look! I'm standing at the door and knocking. If any hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to be with them, and will have dinner with them, and they will have dinner with me. <sup>21</sup>As for those who emerge victorious, I will allow them to sit with me on my throne, just as I emerged victorious and sat down with my Father on his throne. <sup>22</sup>If you can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches."

John sees God's heavenly throne

4After this I looked and there was a door that had been opened in heaven. The first voice that I had heard, which sounded like a trumpet, said to me, "Come up here, and I will show you what must take place after this." <sup>2</sup>At once I was in a Spirit-inspired trance and I saw when this Christian community was harassed and challenged to deny its faith in Christ. The threat may have come from local Jews (see Rev 3:9).

3:9 Satan's synagogue: See note on Revelation 2:9.

3:10 time of testing: refers here to end-time suffering that will affect the whole world (see Dan 12:1, 10).

3:11 your crown: an athletic image. A crown or wreath was given to winners of contests. Philadelphia was known for its athletic contests and festivals.

3:12 pillars in the temple: A pillar is a symbol of strength. The names inscribed on the pillars indicate to whom the Christian community belongs: God, Christ, and the heavenly city, the New Jerusalem.

3:14-22 Laodicea was located 40 miles southeast of Philadelphia. In the 1st century CE it was a wealthy commercial and banking city. The city produced clothing and carpets from a special kind of wool available in the area, and it had a medical school that specialized in healing eye diseases. Laodicea's water flowed down from the hot springs of nearby Hierapolis. By the time it got to the city, it was probably of very poor quality—neither hot and medicinal, nor cold and clean.

3:18 gold... fire: In the OT the refiner's fire is an image for the purifying effects of suffering (see Zech 13:9). It can also refer to getting rid of the contaminants of life

(see Job 23:10; Prov 27:21). white clothing: See note on Revelation 3:5.

3:20 I'm standing at the door: Christ is portrayed as the bridegroom preparing to enter his bride's private quarters. This is an invitation to enter into deeper relationship with Christ. It may be an allusion to Song of Songs 5:2.

3:21 those... victorious: refers to those who endure and remain faithful as witnesses of Christ, even to the point of death. They'll be rewarded, as Christ was rewarded, in the resurrection of the dead. sit with me on my throne: Only those who bear witness to Christ's name and follow him to death may sit beside him on the throne (see Rev 20:4).

4:1-5:14 This vision of God's throne is an appearance of God. It consists of two scenes. The first is a vision of God seated on the throne (4:1-11). The second is a vision of the Lamb (5:1-14).

4:1 After this I looked: a standard way to introduce a vision. a door... heaven: According to an ancient Hebrew way of picturing the world, openings in the sky separated the waters above the earth from the waters below. The first voice: See Revelation 1:10.

4:2 someone... throne: a reference to God. Throne imagery is political imagery. By situating God's throne in the heavenly realm, John claims that God is king over everything in the heavens, on earth, and under the earth.

a throne in heaven, and someone was seated on the throne. <sup>3</sup>The one seated there looked like jasper and carnelian, and surrounding the throne was a rainbow that looked like an emerald. <sup>4</sup>Twenty-four thrones, with twenty-four elders seated upon them, surrounded the throne. The elders were dressed in white clothing and had gold crowns on their heads. <sup>5</sup>From the throne came lightning, voices, and thunder. In front of the throne were seven flaming torches, which are the seven spirits of God. <sup>6</sup>Something like a glass sea, like crystal, was in front of the throne.

In the center, by the throne, were four living creatures encircling the throne. These creatures were covered with eyes on the front and on the back. <sup>7</sup>The first living creature was like a lion. The second living creature was like an ox. The third living creature had a face like a human being. And the fourth living creature was like an eagle in flight. <sup>8</sup>Each of the four living creatures had six wings, and each was covered all around and on the inside with eyes. They never rest day or night, but keep on saying,

“Holy, holy, holy is the Lord God Almighty, who was and is and is coming.”

<sup>9</sup>Whenever the living creatures give glory, honor, and thanks to the one seated on the throne, who lives forever and always, <sup>10</sup>the twenty-four elders fall before the one seated on the throne. They worship the one who lives forever and always. They throw down their crowns before the throne and say,

<sup>11</sup>“You are worthy, our Lord and God, to receive glory and honor and power, because you created all things. It is by your will that they existed and were created.”

The Lamb takes the scroll

5Then I saw a scroll in the right hand of the one seated on the throne. It had writing on the front and the back, and it was sealed with seven seals. <sup>2</sup>I saw a powerful angel, who proclaimed in a loud voice, “Who is worthy to open the scroll and break its seals?” <sup>3</sup>But no one in heaven or on earth or under the earth could open the scroll or look inside it. <sup>4</sup>So I began to weep and weep, because no one was found worthy to open the scroll or to look inside it. <sup>5</sup>Then one of the elders said to me, “Don’t weep. Look! The Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has emerged victorious so that he can open the scroll and its seven seals.”

4:3 The one... emerald: Humans cannot experience God directly but only by comparison to created things. The gemstones show that God is radiant and gleaming like light. rainbow: calls to mind the promise God made to Noah when God restored creation after the flood (Gen 9:12-17), a promise to never again destroy all creatures with floodwaters (see Ezek 1:28).

4:4 twenty-four elders: These elders aren’t angels but rather God’s human servants. Twenty-four is a symbolic number. It’s double the number 12 (the number of Israel’s tribes and the number of Jesus’ apostles) and represents fullness or completion.

4:5 Fire, thunder, and lightning—features like these are common in scenes in which God appears (see Exod 19:16-20; Ezek 1:4-28; Dan 7:9-14).

4:6 four living creatures: These are like the winged heavenly creatures who are present at God’s throne in Ezekiel 1:4-28; 10:1-22.

4:8 Holy, holy, holy: John may have borrowed this prayer from Isaiah 6:3.

John as a Student of the OT John was thoroughly steeped in Israel’s scriptures. The words and images of these sacred texts can be found everywhere in his book. These include his repeated references to Exodus 7-12; 37-40; Daniel 7; Ezekiel 37; 40-48; Jeremlah 51; and Zechariah.

4:10 the one who lives forever and always: God. The phrase “forever and always” shows that this is a worship setting.

5:1-14 Scene 2 of this throne vision focuses on the Lamb, who stands in the midst of God’s throne and is found worthy to open the scroll. John follows the sequence of events in the divine throne visions of Ezekiel 1:4-2:10; Daniel 7:9-14.

5:1 scroll... throne: The right hand was seen as the hand of power and authority. John’s message is clear: The revelation belongs to God. writing... back: The scroll has no empty space remaining (see Ezek 2:9-10). sealed... seals: A seal is an image impressed on wax or clay; the image is the identifying mark of its owner. Seven symbolizes fullness or completeness.

5:2 Who is worthy: Here worthiness is more than moral goodness. It’s about having sufficient status before God to be allowed to take up God’s property.

5:5 The Lion... victorious: In Genesis 49:8-12 Judah, the ancestor of David, is like a lion who will rule over his people (see Isa 11:1-10).

<sup>6</sup>Then, in between the throne and the four living creatures and among the elders, I saw a Lamb, standing as if it had been slain. It had seven horns and seven eyes, which are God's seven spirits, sent out into the whole earth. <sup>7</sup>He came forward and took the scroll from the right hand of the one seated on the throne. <sup>8</sup>When he took the scroll, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb. Each held a harp and gold bowls full of incense, which are the prayers of the saints. <sup>9</sup>They took up a new song, saying,

"You are worthy to take the scroll and open its seals, because you were slain, and by your blood you purchased for God persons from every tribe, language, people, and nation.

<sup>10</sup>You made them a kingdom and priests to our God, and they will rule on earth."

<sup>11</sup>Then I looked, and I heard the sound of many angels surrounding the throne, the living creatures, and the elders. They numbered in the millions—thousands upon thousands.

<sup>12</sup>They said in a loud voice,

"Worthy is the slaughtered Lamb to receive power, wealth, wisdom, and might,
and honor, glory, and blessing."

<sup>13</sup>And I heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth and in the sea—I heard everything everywhere say,

"Blessing, honor, glory, and power belong to the one seated on the throne and to the Lamb forever and always."

<sup>14</sup>Then the four living creatures said, "Amen," and the elders fell down and worshipped.

Opening the first six seals

6Then I looked on as the Lamb opened one of the seven seals. I heard one of the four living creatures say in a voice like thunder, "Come!" <sup>2</sup>So I looked, and there was a white horse. Its rider held a bow and was given a crown. And he went forth from victory to victory.

<sup>3</sup>When the Lamb opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature say, "Come!"

<sup>4</sup>Out came another horse, fiery red. Its rider was allowed to take peace from the earth so that people would kill each other. He was given a large sword.

<sup>5</sup>When he opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, "Come!" So I looked, and there was a black horse. Its rider held a balance for weighing in his hand. <sup>6</sup>I heard what sounded like a voice from among the four living creatures. It said, "A quart of wheat for a denarion,<sup>c</sup> and three quarts of barley for a denarion, but don't damage the olive oil and the wine."

<sup>7</sup>When he opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature say, "Come!" <sup>8</sup>So I looked, and there was a pale green horse. Its rider's name was Death, and the Grave was following right behind. They were given authority over a fourth of the earth, to kill by sword, famine, disease, and the wild animals of the earth.

5:6 Lamb... slain: The Lamb clearly refers to Christ, but note the combination of images. The Lion of Judah stands and presents himself as a slain Lamb. In Revelation 6:16 he's described as a wrathful Lamb. seven horns and seven eyes: Horns represent power, eyes represent insight or knowing, and seven is the number of perfection or completion. Hence, the Lamb is all-powerful and all-knowing. 5:9 a new song: refers to a new reality brought about by the slaughtering of the Lamb. Through the Lamb's blood, humanity was redeemed and purchased for God to be kings and priests in God's kingdom.

5:11-14 This scene ends with every created thing in every realm of the universe joining together in praise and confession of God's and the Lamb's supreme authority (see Dan 7:13-14).

6:1-17; 8:1 The vision of the seven seals directly follows the throne vision. When the four living creatures speak, they speak on God's authority. Likewise, when the four horsemen act, it's because God allows them to act (see Zec 1:7-17; 6:1-8). John isn't saying that God is responsible for evil but that God has supreme authority in all things.

6:2 white horse: White is the color of victory.

6:4 another... red: Red is the symbol of bloodshed, and the horseman's sword is a symbol of war.

6:5 black... weighing: This horse and rider, who carries a scale for buying and selling goods, symbolize the huge rise in cost of everyday items that comes with war.

6:6 "A quart of wheat... wine": This measure of wheat amounted to a person's daily food intake. A denarion was a laborer's daily wage in the 1st century CE. John doesn't explain why wine and oil were spared. Perhaps it's to suggest God's mercy in preserving some of the essentials of life.

6:8 pale green... Death: This horse and rider symbolize the famine, disease, and death that are the result of war.

<sup>9</sup>When he opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar those who had been slaughtered on account of the word of God and the witness they had given. <sup>10</sup>They cried out with a loud voice, "Holy and true Master, how long will you wait before you pass judgment? How long before you require justice for our blood, which was shed by those who live on earth?" <sup>11</sup>Each of them was given a white robe, and they were told to rest a little longer, until their fellow servants and brothers and sisters—who were about to be killed as they were—were finished.

<sup>12</sup>I looked on as he opened the sixth seal, and there was a great earthquake. The sun became black as funeral clothing, and the entire moon turned red as blood. <sup>13</sup>The stars of the sky fell to the earth as a fig tree drops its fruit when shaken by a strong wind. <sup>14</sup>The sky disappeared like a scroll being rolled up, and every mountain and island was moved from its place. <sup>15</sup>Then the kings of the earth, the officials and the generals, the rich and the powerful, and everyone, slave and free, hid themselves in caves and in the rocks of the mountains. <sup>16</sup>They called to the mountains and the rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the face of the one seated on the throne and from the Lamb's wrath!" <sup>17</sup>The great day of their wrath has come, and who is able to stand?"

One hundred forty-four thousand sealed

7After this I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth. They held back the earth's four winds so that no wind would blow against the earth, the sea, or any tree. <sup>2</sup>I saw another angel coming up from the east, holding the seal of the living God. He cried out with a loud voice to the four angels who had been given the power to damage the earth and sea. <sup>3</sup>He said, "Don't damage the earth, the sea, or the trees until we have put a seal on the foreheads of those who serve our God."

<sup>4</sup>Then I heard the number of those who were sealed: one hundred forty-four thousand, sealed from every tribe of the Israelites:

<sup>5</sup>From the tribe of Judah, twelve thousand were sealed;

from the tribe of Reuben, twelve thousand;

from the tribe of Gad, twelve thousand;

<sup>6</sup>from the tribe of Asher, twelve thousand;

from the tribe of Naphtali, twelve thousand;

from the tribe of Manasseh, twelve thousand;

<sup>7</sup>from the tribe of Simeon, twelve thousand;

from the tribe of Levi, twelve thousand;

from the tribe of Issachar, twelve thousand;

<sup>8</sup>from the tribe of Zebulun, twelve thousand;

from the tribe of Joseph, twelve thousand;

from the tribe of Benjamin, twelve thousand were sealed.

7:7 Gn 29:34, Gn 30:18, Gn 35:23, Gn 49:5; Ex 6:16

6:9 under the altar... God: These are dead believers. They were killed like sacrificial animals on account of their faithfulness (see Lev 4:7).

6:10 The opening of the fifth seal can be summed up as a request for God to hurry up and show supreme authority and justice by affirming the righteousness of those under the altar who had died, and by punishing the wicked.

6:11-17 The events that take place when the sixth seal is opened—earthquake, solar and lunar eclipses, falling stars, and other events in the sky—are God's response to the request in Revelation 6:10 for quick justice (see Joel 2:31; Isa 34:4; Zeph 1:14-15).

6:11 rest a little longer: refers to the rest of the deceased; this is also a call for patience.

6:16 the Lamb's wrath: The image is intentionally contradictory. We can easily think about a lamb being innocent and defenseless. It's harder to think of a lamb having wrath toward another. See Revelation 5:5, where the Lamb is described as "The Lion of the tribe of Judah."

7:1-17 Two brief visions interrupt the opening of the seven seals. The first is a scene of election in which God's people are marked for all to see as belonging to God

(7:1-8). The second is a victory scene in which God's holy ones praise God for his supreme authority (7:9-17). They then worship in heaven through the shedding of their blood.

7:1 four angels... earth: John's understanding of the earth as four-cornered and of its elements (i.e., wind, water, fire) being controlled by angels was typical of the time (see Matt 24:31; Isa 11:12; Ezek 7:2).

7:2 another angel: a messenger and agent of God's will, but not the same angel as the one mentioned in Revelation 5:2. In Ezekiel's vision of God's return to the temple, he describes God's glory as coming from the east (Ezek 43:1-2). seal of the living God: God's signet ring; everything that's marked with it becomes God's property.

7:4 one hundred forty-four thousand: This expression means "too many to count." It's 1,000 multiplied by 12 and multiplied again by 12. Twelve recalls the 12 tribes of Israel as well as the 12 apostles. These two images are joined together in the vision of the New Jerusalem (Rev 21:12-14). from every tribe of the Israelites: Like Paul and others of the 1st century CE, John identifies the church with Israel (see Gal 6:16; Eph 2:11-22; 1 Pet 2:9).

The great crowd and seventh seal

<sup>9</sup>After this I looked, and there was a great crowd that no one could number. They were from every nation, tribe, people, and language. They were standing before the throne and before the Lamb. They wore white robes and held palm branches in their hands.

<sup>10</sup>They cried out with a loud voice:

“Victory belongs to our God who sits on the throne,
and to the Lamb.”

<sup>11</sup>All the angels stood in a circle around the throne, and around the elders and the four living creatures. They fell facedown before the throne and worshipped God, <sup>12</sup>saying,

“Amen! Blessing and glory and wisdom and thanksgiving and honor and power and might be to our God forever and always. Amen.”

<sup>13</sup>Then one of the elders said to me, “Who are these people wearing white robes, and where did they come from?”

<sup>14</sup>I said to him, “Sir, you know.”

Then he said to me, “These people have come out of great hardship. They have washed their robes and made them white in the Lamb’s blood. <sup>15</sup>This is the reason they are before God’s throne. They worship him day and night in his temple, and the one seated on the throne will shelter them. <sup>16</sup>They won’t hunger or thirst anymore. No sun or scorching heat will beat down on them, <sup>17</sup>because the Lamb who is in the midst of the throne will shepherd them. He will lead them to the springs of life-giving water,<sup>d</sup> and God will wipe away every tear from their eyes.” <sup>18</sup>Then, when the Lamb opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.

The first four trumpet plagues

<sup>2</sup>Then I saw the seven angels who stand before God, and seven trumpets were given to them. <sup>3</sup>Another angel came and stood at the altar, and he held a gold bowl for burning incense. He was given a large amount of incense, in order to offer it on behalf of the prayers of all the saints on the gold altar in front of the throne. <sup>4</sup>The smoke of the incense offered for the prayers of the saints rose up before God from the angel’s hand. <sup>5</sup>Then the angel took the 7:9 a great crowd: the same group as the 144,000 described in 7:1-8. white robes... branches: White is the color of victory. Palm branches also symbolize victory and rejoicing after war (see 1 Macc 13:51; 2 Macc 10:7; see note on Rev 3:5). The scene recalls the Feast of Tabernacles (or Booths), which commemorates the 40 years the Israelites lived in tents, or huts, in the wilderness. It’s a festival of great rejoicing because of God’s blessings.

7:10 A victory prayer (see Rev 12:10; 19:1).

7:11-12 See Revelation 5:11-12.

7:13-14 Dialogues between a seer and an elder or an angel who interprets the vision are a standard feature of Jewish apocalyptic writings like the book of Revelation (see Ezek 37:3; Zech 1:9, 21; 4:4-5; 6:4-5).

7:14 washed... white: martyrs who followed the Lamb to death and now enjoy a share in his victory (see Rev 22:14).

7:15 the one... shelter them: refers to the Feast of Tabernacles (see Rev 7:9).

7:16-17 See Revelation 21:3-4; Isaiah 25:8; 49:10.

8:1 silence in heaven: The opening of the seventh seal results in a dramatic pause in the heavenly worship,

Symbolic Numbers Symbolic numbers are found throughout the book of Revelation. Here are the ones that appear most frequently:

- Three, meaning a few, a limited number, or a limited time
- Four, representing universality (as in the four corners of the earth)
- Seven, meaning perfection and fullness
- Ten, representing completion of a cycle or perfect order
- Twelve, meaning fullness or completeness
- A thousand, meaning a number too big to count

Multiples and fractions of symbolic numbers are also symbolic. For example, 42 months (or 3½ years), which is half of 7, represents a limited time of harassment.

preparing the reader for what’s about to happen in the next series of visions.

8:2-13 The opening of the seven seals is followed by the blowing of seven trumpets. The first four trumpet blasts (8:6-12) occur one after the other, much like the opening of the first four seals (Rev 6:1-8). The last three trumpets (Rev 8:13-9:21; 11:15-19) appear in a separate vision that’s introduced by a bird crying, Horror, horror, oh! suggesting that what follows is very, very troubling.

8:2 seven angels: These are the angels of God’s presence (cf. Isa 63:9), also known in Jewish tradition as the seven archangels of God: Michael, Gabriel, Raphael, Uriel, Raguel, Sariel, and Remiel. seven trumpets: In the OT trumpets were used for a variety of purposes: to call together the assembly, to give directions in battle, to accompany festivals in the temple, and to announce God’s judgment. For examples of this last purpose, see Isaiah 27:13; Joel 2:1, 15; Zephaniah 1:16; Zechariah 9:14.

8:3 Another angel: See Revelation 7:2 and note. Concerning the golden bowls of incense, see Revelation 5:9.

8:5 He threw... earth: The angel is God’s agent. God incense container and filled it with fire from the altar. He threw it down to the earth, and there were thunder, voices, lightning, and an earthquake.

<sup>6</sup>Then the seven angels who held the seven trumpets got ready to blow them. <sup>7</sup>The first angel blew his trumpet, and hail and fire mixed with blood appeared, and was thrown down to the earth. A third of the earth was burned up. A third of the trees were burned up. All the green grass was burned up. <sup>8</sup>Then the second angel blew his trumpet, and something like a huge mountain burning with fire was thrown down into the sea. A third of the sea became blood, <sup>9</sup>a third of the creatures living in the sea died, and a third of the ships were destroyed. <sup>10</sup>Then the third angel blew his trumpet, and a great star, burning like a torch, fell from heaven. It fell on a third of the rivers and springs of water. <sup>11</sup>The star's name is Wormwood, and a third of the waters became wormwood, and many people died from the water, because it became so bitter. <sup>12</sup>Then the fourth angel blew his trumpet, and a third of the sun was struck, and a third of the moon, and a third of the stars so that a third of them became dark. The day lost a third of its light, and the night lost a third of its light too.

<sup>13</sup>Then I looked and I heard an eagle flying high overhead. It said with a loud voice, "Horror, horror, oh! The horror for those who live on earth because of the blasts of the remaining trumpets that the three angels are about to blow!"

The fifth and sixth trumpet plagues

<sup>1</sup>Then the fifth angel blew his trumpet, and I saw a star that had fallen from heaven to earth, and he was given the key to the shaft of the abyss. <sup>2</sup>He opened the shaft of the abyss; and smoke rose up from the shaft, like smoke from a huge furnace. The sun and air were darkened by the smoke from the shaft. <sup>3</sup>Then locusts came forth from the smoke and onto the earth. They were given power like the power that scorpions have on the earth. <sup>4</sup>They were told not to hurt the grass of the earth or any green plant or any tree. They could only hurt the people who didn't have the seal of God on their foreheads. <sup>5</sup>The locusts weren't allowed to kill them, but only to make them suffer for five months—and the suffering they inflict is like that of a scorpion when it strikes a person. <sup>6</sup>In those days people will seek death, but they won't find it. They will want to die, but death will run away from them.

<sup>12</sup>The first horror has passed. Look! Two horrors are still coming after this.

<sup>13</sup>Then the sixth angel blew his trumpet, and I heard a voice from the four horns of the gold altar that is before God. <sup>14</sup>It said to the sixth angel, who had the trumpet, "Release the answers the prayers of the saints (Rev 8:3) by casting down fire on the earth (see Ezek 10:1-7). The thunder and other signs in the sky are announcements of God's visitation (see Exod 19:16-18; Ps 77:18-19; Isa 29:6; Wis 19:13).

8:6-12 The plagues that accompany the blowing of the first four trumpets are both like and unlike the plagues of the exodus story: hail and fire mixed with blood (Exod 9:13-25); sea turning to blood (Exod 7:14-25); rivers and springs becoming bitter (Exod 7:14-25); and darkness in the sky and on earth (Exod 10:21-23). Like the plagues of the exodus, these plagues demonstrate God's supreme authority.

8:13 eagle flying high: a bird of prey and therefore an omen of terrible things to come.

9:1 star... fallen: The fallen star is a fallen, or disobedient, angel. John most likely refers to Jewish legends based on Genesis 6:1-4, which attempt to explain how sin entered the world. he was given... abyss: another claim of God's supreme authority. Although the abyss is elsewhere associated with Sheol, the place of the dead, in Revelation it's the temporary prison of Satan and his servants (see Rev 11:7; 17:8; 20:1-3).

9:3 locusts: recalls the eighth plague of the exodus story (Exod 10:12-20; Wis 16:9).

9:7-10 See Joel 1:2; 2:1-11; Jeremiah 8:16-18.

9:11 The Hebrew name of the angel who is king of the abyss means "destruction," and his Greek name means "destroyer" (see Rev 11:18).

9:12 Recall the eagle's cry, "Horror, horror, oh!" (Rev 8:13). The events that accompany the blowing of the last three trumpets are the three horrors.

9:13 voice from... altar: This is likely the angel who offered up the prayers of the saints at the altar of incense in Revelation 8:2-5.

9:14 Euphrates: The Euphrates River was the eastern boundary of the Roman Empire in the 1st century CE.

four angels who are bound at the great river Euphrates.”<sup>15</sup>Then the four angels who had been made ready for that hour, day, month, and year were released to kill a third of humankind.<sup>16</sup>The number of cavalry troops was two hundred million. I heard their number.<sup>17</sup>And this is the way I saw the horses and their riders in the vision: they had breastplates that were fiery red, dark blue, and yellow as sulfur. The horses’ heads were like lions’ heads, and out of their mouths came fire, smoke, and sulfur.<sup>18</sup>By these three plagues a third of humankind was killed: by the fire, smoke, and sulfur coming out of their mouths.<sup>19</sup>The horses’ power is in their mouths and their tails, for their tails are like snakes with heads that inflict injuries.<sup>20</sup>The rest of humankind, who weren’t killed by these plagues, didn’t change their hearts and lives and turn from their handiwork. They didn’t stop worshipping demons and idols made of gold, silver, bronze, stone, and wood—idols that can’t see or hear or walk.<sup>21</sup>They didn’t turn away from their murders, their spells and drugs, their sexual immorality, or their stealing.

John receives the open scroll

10Then I saw another powerful angel coming down from heaven. He was robed with a cloud, with a rainbow over his head. His face was like the sun, and his feet were like fiery pillars.<sup>2</sup>He held an open scroll in his hand. He put his right foot on the sea and his left foot on the land.<sup>3</sup>He called out with a loud voice like a lion roaring, and when he called out, the seven thunders raised their voices.<sup>4</sup>When the seven thunders spoke, I was about to write, but I heard a voice from heaven say, “Seal up what the seven thunders have said, and don’t write it down.”

<sup>5</sup>Then the angel I saw standing on the sea and on the land raised his right hand to heaven.<sup>6</sup>He swore by the one who lives forever and always, who created heaven and what is in it, the earth and what is in it, and the sea and what is in it, and said, “The time is up.<sup>7</sup>In the days when the seventh angel blows his trumpet, God’s mysterious purpose will be accomplished, fulfilling the good news he gave to his servants the prophets.”

<sup>8</sup>Then the voice I heard from heaven spoke to me again and said, “Go, take the opened scroll from the hand of the angel who stands on the sea and on the land.”<sup>9</sup>So I went to the angel and told him to give me the scroll. He said to me, “Take it and eat it. It will make you

Symbolic Colors Like its numbers, the colors in the book of Revelation are usually symbolic. Here are the ones that appear most frequently:

- White, representing victory
- Red, representing violence and bloodshed
- Scarlet, representing royalty and bloodshed
- Purple, representing royalty
- Pale green, representing death

White and red, in particular, mark out the two sides of Revelation’s great battle between good and evil.

The Parthians resided to the east, as did the Assyrians and Babylonians before them.

9:16 two hundred million: The number, being multiples of 10 and 1,000, is symbolic of a very large army. Those who don’t have God’s seal (i.e., the hard-hearted) should be very afraid!

9:17-19 The horses’ heads . . . snakes: John’s description of this army is remarkably similar to the locusts in Revelation 9:7-10. These are horrible images of the evil forces at work here.

9:17 fiery red, dark blue, and yellow: These are the colors of fire, smoke, and sulfur, the three plagues that accompany the blowing of the sixth trumpet.

9:20 The rest . . . hearts: The plagues are designed to bring the hard-hearted to change their hearts and lives. The plagues’ failure shows how deeply The rest of humankind resists God’s ways (see Wis 12:10, 19-21; Exod 7:22; 8:11, 15, 28; 9:7, 12, 34-35).

9:21 John uses a Greek term, pharmakon, associated with the use of drugs and magic potions in casting spells.

10:1-11 This is the first scene of a three-part vision that interrupts the blowing of the seventh trumpet. The vision ends at Revelation 11:14.

10:1 another powerful angel: The word “powerful” is used to describe an angel only three times in this book (Rev 5:2; 10:1; 18:21), and this is a truly extraordinary angel. his feet . . . pillars: Pillars of fire recall the fire and cloud that accompanied the Israelites in their wilderness journey (Exod 14:19-24).

10:2 open scroll: Unlike the sealed scroll of Revelation 5:1-5, this one is ready to be read.

10:3 seven thunders: Thunder is often used as an image for God’s voice (see Exod 19:19; 1 Sam 2:10; 7:10; Job 26:14; Ps 104:7).

10:4 Seal up: The meaning of this command is unclear. It may be an indirect way of saying that, despite the many revelations John receives, God’s mysterious purpose remains hidden.

10:5 standing . . . hand: This hand gesture shows that the angel is about to swear a solemn promise by God, who is the creator of all things in the heavens (where the angel’s hand is pointing), on the earth (where his left foot is placed), and in the sea (where his right foot is placed).

10:9 “Take . . . mouth”: The scroll is an image for God’s word. When John eats it, the word becomes part of his sick to your stomach, but sweet as honey in your mouth.”<sup>10</sup> So I took the scroll from the angel’s hand and ate it. And it was sweet as honey in my mouth, but when I swallowed it, it made my stomach churn. <sup>11</sup> I was told, “You must prophesy again about many peoples, nations, languages, and kings.”

Two witnesses

11 Then I was given a measuring rod, which was like a pole. And I was told, “Get up and measure God’s temple, the altar, and those who worship there. <sup>2</sup> But don’t measure the court outside the temple. Leave that out, because it has been given to the nations, and they will trample the holy city underfoot for forty-two months.

<sup>3</sup> And I will allow my two witnesses to prophesy for one thousand two hundred sixty days, wearing mourning clothes. <sup>4</sup> These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands that stand before the Lord of the earth. <sup>5</sup> If anyone wants to hurt them, fire comes out of their mouth and burns up their enemies. So if anyone wants to hurt them, they have to be killed in this way. <sup>6</sup> They have the power to close up the sky so that no rain will fall for as long as they prophesy. They also have power over the waters, to turn them into blood, and to strike the earth with any plague, as often as they wish.

<sup>7</sup> “When they have finished their witnessing, the beast that comes up from the abyss will make war on them, gain victory over them, and kill them. <sup>8</sup> Their dead bodies will lie on the street of the great city that is spiritually called Sodom and Egypt, where also their Lord was crucified. <sup>9</sup> And for three and a half days, members of the peoples, tribes, languages, and nations will look at their dead bodies, but they won’t let their dead bodies be put in a tomb. <sup>10</sup> Those who live on earth will rejoice over them. They will celebrate and give each other gifts, because these two prophets had brought such pain to those who live on earth.

<sup>11</sup> “But after three and a half days, the breath of life from God entered them, and they stood on their feet. Great fear came over those who saw them. <sup>12</sup> Then they heard a loud voice from heaven say to them, ‘Come up here.’ And they went up to heaven in a cloud, while their enemies watched them. <sup>13</sup> At that hour there was a great earthquake, and a tenth of the city fell. Seven thousand people were killed by the earthquake, and the rest were afraid and gave glory to the God of heaven.”

very being. John’s commissioning is similar to that of the prophet Ezekiel (Ezek 3:1-4).

11:1-2 The second scene of this three-part vision describes John’s first symbolic action as a newly commissioned prophet. measuring rod: a surveying instrument. John is to mark off as God’s property the Jerusalem temple proper, leaving out the outer Court of the Gentiles. Like the sealing of the 144,000 in Revelation 7:1-8, this action doesn’t mean the temple will be spared destruction. Instead, God will watch over it in the coming troubles.

11:2 forty-two months: This number and its equivalents, three and a half years and 1,260 days, is a symbol for a period of harassment in Daniel 7. It’s half of seven, the number of fullness. This provides John’s audience with encouragement that their harassment won’t last forever.

11:3-14 The third scene of this three-part vision is highly symbolic and difficult to understand. It appears to be an image of the church living out its ministry of witness, suffering the consequences, and ultimately enjoying its reward.

11:3 two witnesses: John appears to use “witnesses” and “prophets” interchangeably in this section. The number two may derive from Deuteronomy 19:15-21, which says that at least two witnesses are needed in a courtroom. one thousand two hundred sixty days: See Revelation 11:2 and note.

11:4 two olive trees... two lampstands: John appears to be drawing on Zechariah’s vision of the two olive trees that stand beside the golden lampstand of God in the New Jerusalem (Zech 4:1-3, 11-14).

11:6 They have... plague: John identifies the two witnesses with Elijah (1 Kgs 17:1) and Moses (Exod 7:14-25).

11:7 beast... abyss: See Daniel 7:21; Revelation 13:1-8.

11:8 great city... crucified: John states clearly that the great city is not an actual historical city but an image for something like Sodom and Egypt, where innocent blood was shed and God’s people were harassed; or Jerusalem, where Jesus was crucified. John will later associate this great city with Rome (Rev 17:18).

11:9 three and a half days: See Revelation 11:2 and note. they won’t let... tomb: In the ancient world, to leave a corpse unburied was a huge indignity. It was a way of shaming one’s enemies (see 1 Sam 17:44, 46; 2 Kgs 9:10; Tob 2:3-8; Isa 14:19-20; Jer 8:1-2; 16:4-6; 22:19).

11:11 See Ezekiel 37:10.

11:12 they went up to heaven in a cloud: After resurrection comes ascension into heaven, which is how God vindicates the two witnesses and shames their enemies.

11:13 the rest... God: This shows that they changed their hearts and lives. Seven thousand: symbolic, not literal. They’re what remained of the hard-hearted who weren’t marked with the seal of the living God.

11:14 The second horror: See Revelation 9:12 and note. John doesn’t say what the third horror is.

Seventh trumpet

<sup>15</sup>Then the seventh angel blew his trumpet, and there were loud voices in heaven saying, "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and his Christ, and he will rule forever and always."

<sup>16</sup>Then the twenty-four elders, who were seated on their thrones before God, fell on their faces and worshipped God. <sup>17</sup>They said,

"We give thanks to you, Lord God Almighty, who is and was,

for you have taken your great power and enforced your rule.

<sup>18</sup>The nations were enraged, but your wrath came.

The time came for the dead to be judged.

The time came to reward your servants, the prophets and saints, and those who fear your name, both small and great, and to destroy those who destroy the earth."

<sup>19</sup>Then God's temple in heaven was opened, and the chest containing his covenant appeared in his temple. There were lightning, voices, thunder, an earthquake, and large hail.

A woman, her child, and the dragon

12 Then a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet and a crown of twelve stars on her head. <sup>2</sup>She was pregnant, and she cried out because she was in labor, in pain from giving birth. <sup>3</sup>Then another sign appeared in heaven: it was a great fiery red dragon, with seven heads and ten horns, and seven royal crowns on his heads. <sup>4</sup>His tail swept down a third of heaven's stars and threw them to the earth. The dragon stood in front of the woman who was about to give birth so that when she gave birth, he might devour her child. <sup>5</sup>She gave birth to a son, a male child who is to rule all the nations with an iron rod. Her child was snatched up to God and his throne. <sup>6</sup>Then the woman fled into the desert, where God has prepared a place for her. There she will be taken care of for one thousand two hundred sixty days.

Michael and the dragon

<sup>7</sup>Then there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought the dragon. The dragon and his angels fought back, <sup>8</sup>but they did not prevail, and there was no longer any place for them

11:15-19 The blowing of the seventh trumpet recalls Revelation 7:9-12, where all of the heavenly creatures surrounding God's throne are singing in praise of God's supreme authority and celebrating the arrival of the time when the prayers of those under the altar will be answered (see Rev 6:9-11; 8:2-5).

11:17 Lord God Almighty, who is and was: In Revelation 1:4 God is "the one who is and was and is coming." Here John shows that God has come and justice will be given to God's holy ones.

11:19 chest... temple: The chest containing the covenant, the symbol of God's presence during the exodus, was once housed in the Holy of Holies of the Jerusalem temple. However, it disappeared when the temple was destroyed during the period leading to the Babylonian exile. Now the heavens are opened so that everyone can see the chest in its heavenly dwelling.

12:1-17 This vision of the woman and the dragon marks the beginning of the second half of the book of Revelation. There are two scenes, one sandwiched inside the other. In the inner vision (12:7-12), the archangel Michael battles the dragon and throws him out of heaven. In the outer vision (12:1-6, 13-17), the dragon attempts to devour the heavenly woman's child as it's about to be born. When he fails, he stomps off to make war on the rest of her offspring.

12:1 woman clothed with the sun: John appears to be drawing on a variety of sources here, including the myth of Apollo. The myth describes how Apollo's mother, Leto, was forced to roam the earth in search of a place to give birth and how the child, once it had been born, slayed the great dragon Pytho (python). Recall also the OT story of Eve and the serpent (Gen 3:14-15).

12:2 pregnant... birth: In the Bible a woman in childbirth can have many meanings: the people's suffering when they break covenant with God, the chaos and struggle that would usher in the end time, and the joy that Judah and Jerusalem will know when God's people are restored to life (see Isa 26:17-19; Mic 4:10; Jer 4:31; Matt 24:8; Mark 13:8; John 16:21; 1 Thess 5:3).

12:3-4 Fiery red is the color of bloodshed. Seven and 10 are numbers of fullness. Horns and heads signify power, and crowns are images of kingship. Hence this mythic dragon is a symbol of violence and unchecked power, capable of ripping the stars from the sky and destroying God's people.

12:5 son... with an iron rod: The son is Israel's Christ. John's description is influenced by Psalm 2:9. snatched up to God: referring to the Lamb's exaltation to God's throne after his crucifixion and resurrection.

12:6 fled into the desert: Although the desert is a place of danger, it was also a place of safety for Moses and the Israelites when they escaped from Egypt.

12:7 Michael: one of the angels of God's presence (see Rev 8:2). In the book of Daniel, he's the angelic prince who protects God's people by fighting the Persians (see Dan 10:13-21; 12:1-2).

in heaven. <sup>9</sup>So the great dragon was thrown down. The old snake, who is called the devil and Satan, the deceiver of the whole world, was thrown down to the earth; and his angels were thrown down with him. <sup>10</sup>Then I heard a loud voice in heaven say, “Now the salvation and power and kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ have come.

The accuser of our brothers and sisters, who accuses them day and night before our God, has been thrown down.

<sup>11</sup>They gained the victory over him on account of the blood of the Lamb and the word of their witness.

Love for their own lives didn't make them afraid to die.

<sup>12</sup>Therefore, rejoice, you heavens and you who dwell in them.

But oh! The horror for the earth and sea!

The devil has come down to you with great rage, for he knows that he only has a short time.”

The dragon pursues the woman

<sup>13</sup>When the dragon saw that he had been thrown down to the earth, he chased the woman who had given birth to the male child. <sup>14</sup>But the woman was given the two wings of the great eagle so that she could fly to her place in the desert. There she would be taken care of—out of the snake's reach—for a time and times and half a time. <sup>15</sup>Then from his mouth the snake poured a river of water after the woman so that the river would sweep her away. <sup>16</sup>But the earth helped the woman. The earth opened its mouth and swallowed the river that the dragon poured out of his mouth. <sup>17</sup>So the dragon was furious with the woman, and he went off to make war on the rest of her children, on those who keep God's commandments and hold firmly to the witness of Jesus.

The beast from the sea

<sup>18</sup>Then the dragon stood on the seashore,

13 and I saw a beast coming up out of the sea. It had ten horns and seven heads. Each of its horns was decorated with a royal crown, and on its heads were blasphemous names. <sup>2</sup>The beast I saw was like a leopard. Its feet were like a bear's, and its mouth was like a lion's mouth. The dragon gave it his power, throne, and great authority. <sup>3</sup>One of its heads appeared to have been slain and killed, but its deadly wound was healed. So the whole earth was amazed and followed the beast. <sup>4</sup>They worshipped the dragon because it had given the 12:9 old snake... the deceiver: In Genesis 3 the serpent is merely a crafty creature. In Wisdom of Solomon 2:24, he's identified as the devil, whose envy brings death into the world. In the book of Job, he's an angelic being who tests the faithfulness of God's people and accuses them before God (e.g., Job 1:6-12). John appears to have all of these pictures of Satan in mind.

12:10-11 Another victory prayer (see Rev 7:10; 19:1).

12:12 But oh! The horror for the earth and sea!: This may be the third horror mentioned in Revelation 11:14.

12:14 two wings... eagle: This image recalls God's words to the Israelites as they entered the wilderness of Sinai: "I lifted you up on eagles' wings and brought you to me" (Exod 19:4). for a time and times and half a time: three and a half years, symbolic of a (limited) time of harassment.

12:15-16 The war of good against evil has extended to the whole universe. The dragon, perhaps modeled on the sea serpent Leviathan, uses water in an attempt to capture the heavenly woman. But the earth is on God's side and helps to protect her (see Dan 7:2-8; Ps 74:14; Job 3:8; 7:12; 41:1; Isa 27:1; Num 16:30).

12:17 the rest of her children: the church.

12:18-13:18 The next two visions in this series follow directly after the first. John uses images to write about the troubles that await his 1st-century audience.

13:1-2 John's description of the beast from the sea in the second vision draws heavily on Daniel 7:2-8. The numbers 7 and 10 are symbolic of fullness. Horns and heads signify power, and crowns are images of kingship (see Rev 12:3-4). 13:1 coming... sea: Although ancient people appreciated the value and necessity of water for life, they also knew its dangers. The sea was generally thought to be a hostile place, the home of monsters and water serpents. on its heads... names: The imperial religion claimed that the emperor's authority was divinely given, and it bestowed titles like Lord, God, Augustus (the revered one), and Savior on Roman emperors.

13:2 power... authority: John shows that the dragon is a poor imitation of the one seated on the throne, that is, God (see Rev 4:2-6). As such, the dragon is a creature to be scorned and ridiculed.

13:3 One of its heads... healed: a parody on the Lamb who was slain but now lives (see Rev 5:6-7). The head's nearly fatal wound may refer to the period of civil strife that followed Emperor Nero's suicide in 68 CE. The empire regained its authority when Vespasian took the throne a year later.

13:4 They worshipped... the beast: Emperor worship was an ever-present aspect of Roman life. John says it is worship of Satan (see 1 Cor 10:20). Who is like the beast: perhaps a spoof on Exodus 15:11: "Who is like you among the gods, LORD?" Recall that Michael and his angels have already defeated the dragon (Rev 12:7-12).

beast its authority. They worshipped the beast and said, "Who is like the beast, and who can fight against it?"

<sup>5</sup>The beast was given a mouth that spoke boastful and blasphemous things, and it was given authority to act for forty-two months. <sup>6</sup>It opened its mouth to speak blasphemies against God. It blasphemed God's name and his dwelling place (that is, those who dwell in heaven).

<sup>7</sup>It was also allowed to make war on the saints and to gain victory over them. It was given authority over every tribe, people, language, and nation. <sup>8</sup>All who live on earth worshipped it, all whose names hadn't been written—from the time the earth was made—in the scroll of life of the Lamb who was slain. <sup>9</sup>Whoever has ears must listen: <sup>10</sup>If any are to be taken captive, then into captivity they will go. If any are to be killed by the sword, then by the sword they will be killed. This calls for endurance and faithfulness on the part of the saints.

The beast from the land

<sup>11</sup>Then I saw another beast coming up from the earth. It had two horns like a lamb, but it was speaking like a dragon. <sup>12</sup>It exercises all the authority of the first beast in its presence. It also makes the earth and those who live in it worship the first beast, whose fatal wound was healed. <sup>13</sup>It does great signs so that it even makes fire come down from heaven to earth in the presence of the people. <sup>14</sup>It deceives those who live on earth by the signs that it was allowed to do in the presence of the beast. It told those who live on earth to make an image for the beast who had been wounded by the sword and yet came to life again. <sup>15</sup>It was allowed to give breath to the beast's image so that the beast's image would even speak and cause anyone who didn't worship the beast's image to be put to death. <sup>16</sup>It forces everyone—the small and great, the rich and poor, the free and slaves—to have a mark put on their right hand or on their forehead. <sup>17</sup>It will not allow anyone to make a purchase or sell anything unless the person has the mark with the beast's name or the number of its name. <sup>18</sup>This calls for wisdom. Let the one who understands calculate the beast's number, for it's a human being's number. Its number is six hundred sixty-six.

The Lamb and the one hundred forty-four thousand

14 Then I looked, and there was the Lamb, standing on Mount Zion. With him were one hundred forty-four thousand who had his name and his Father's name written on their foreheads. <sup>2</sup>I heard a sound from heaven that was like the sound of rushing water and

13:5-7 John continues to claim God's supreme authority. This doesn't mean, however, that God is responsible for the evil deeds of the dragon and the beast of the sea.

13:5 forty-two months: See Revelation 11:2 and note.

13:7 It was given... nation: In the 1st century CE, Rome was thought to control the entire inhabited world.

13:8 all whose names... life: See Revelation 3:5 and note. We shouldn't read later doctrines of predestination into John's notion of a scroll of life. He simply has in mind those who didn't bear witness on behalf of the Lamb and didn't endure the suffering that leads to victory.

13:11-18 This vision of the beast that comes from the land is the third in this series of visions and closely related to the first two. In ancient lore, Behemoth, a monster of the land, is the counterpart to the sea monster Leviathan (see Job 40:15-24).

13:11 two horns like a lamb: John continues his parody from the previous vision (see Rev 13:3-4). Recall that the crucified and exalted Lamb has seven horns (Rev 5:6), signifying that it is all-powerful.

13:12 exercises... presence: This second beast's power derives from the first beast (Rome or the Roman Empire), but both get their authority from Satan. Based on the content of Revelation 13:13-15, John may want his readers to understand the second beast as a symbol of emperor worship and its promoters.

13:14 signs... do: Again John claims God's supreme authority. The beast couldn't do anything except what God allowed. make... beast: probably refers to the statues of emperors found in Roman temples.

13:15 allowed... image: Priests and servants in Greco-Roman shrines would make images speak through a variety of tricks, such as placing a temple priest inside a hollowed-out statue.

13:16-17 The economic system was set up in such a way that Christians couldn't take an active part in the market economy without also taking part in pagan religions.

13:18 beast's number... is six hundred sixty-six: John uses an ancient form of numerology that involved adding together the numerical value assigned to each letter of a name. We can be quite certain that John's audience already knew the name Neron Kaisar (Emperor Nero), whose numerological value happened to be 666. Emperor Nero (reigned 54-68 CE) was known as a vicious persecutor of Christians. According to legend, he was expected to come back from the dead to again take control of the Roman Empire.

14:1-5 The fourth in this series of visions contrasts with the three that precede it. The Lamb is the exact opposite of the dragon and the two beasts that get their authority from him. Likewise, the 144,000 are the opposite of those who have the mark of the beast on their hands or their foreheads.

14:1 Mount Zion: God's holy mountain. The term is used for the earthly city Jerusalem and also for a future city reserved for the remnant of God's holy ones (see Ps 2:6; Isa 4:2-6; Mic 4:6-8).

loud thunder. The sound I heard was like that of harpists playing their harps. <sup>3</sup>They sing a new song in front of the throne, the four living creatures, and the elders. And no one could learn the song except the one hundred forty-four thousand who had been purchased from the earth. <sup>4</sup>They weren't defiled with women, for these people who follow the Lamb wherever he goes are virgins. They were purchased from among humankind as early produce for God and the Lamb. <sup>5</sup>No lie came from their mouths; they are blameless.

Messages of three angels

<sup>6</sup>Then I saw another angel flying high overhead with eternal good news to proclaim to those who live on earth, and to every nation, tribe, language, and people. <sup>7</sup>He said in a loud voice, "Fear God and give him glory, for the hour of his judgment has come. Worship the one who made heaven and earth, the sea and springs of water."

<sup>8</sup>Another angel, a second one, followed and said, "Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great! She made all the nations drink the wine of her lustful passion."

<sup>9</sup>Then another angel, a third one, followed them and said in a loud voice, "If any worship the beast and its image, and receive a mark on their foreheads or their hands, <sup>10</sup>they themselves will also drink the wine of God's passionate anger, poured full strength into the cup of his wrath. They will suffer the pain of fire and sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and the Lamb. <sup>11</sup>The smoke of their painful suffering goes up forever and always. There is no rest day or night for those who worship the beast and its image, and those who receive the mark of its name."

<sup>12</sup>This calls for the endurance of the saints, who keep God's commandments and keep faith with Jesus.

<sup>13</sup>And I heard a voice from heaven say, "Write this: Favored are the dead who die in the Lord from now on."

"Yes," says the Spirit, "so they can rest from their labors, because their deeds follow them."

Two harvests of the earth

<sup>14</sup>Then I looked, and there was a white cloud. On the cloud was seated someone who looked like the Human One.<sup>8</sup> He had a gold crown on his head and a sharp sickle in his hand.

<sup>15</sup>Another angel came out of the temple, calling in a loud voice to the one seated on the cloud:

<sup>8</sup>Or Son of Man

14:3 They sing a new song: In Revelation 5:9-10 John gives his readers the words of this new song. It's a song of praise to the Lamb, who, by his blood, redeemed humankind.

14:4 They weren't defiled with women: John uses an OT image to refer to members of the Lamb's army readying themselves for holy war (Deut 23:9-10; 1 Sam 21:5; 2 Sam 11:8-11) or keeping themselves ritually pure for priestly ministry in God's heavenly temple (Lev 15:18). early produce: associated with Jewish harvest feasts. When part of the harvest was offered to God and accepted as holy, then the entire harvest was considered holy. John says that the 144,000 are the first offering of God's harvest of redemption.

14:6-13 This fifth vision in the series is a kind of flash-forward. That is, it anticipates the visions of judgment still to come. It has three short scenes, one for each angel messenger, and three brief concluding statements. This vision is similar to the vision of the open scroll in Revelation 10:1-11.

14:6 with eternal good news to proclaim: The term "good news" can be misleading, because what follows—warnings of more suffering and destruction—isn't happy news. However, when we consider the request of those under the altar (Rev 5:10), this is very good news indeed. The time has come and is already here for God to defend and honor God's holy ones and bring judgment on the wicked!

14:8 Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great: After the destruction of the Jerusalem temple in 70 CE, "Babylon" became a code word for "Rome." This is because Babylon had similarly destroyed Jerusalem in the 6th century BCE (see

1 Pet 5:12). She made... passion: Israel viewed Babylon as an ungodly and oppressive empire in which idolatry and immorality were everywhere. The prophets warned that Babylon, in turn, wouldn't escape destruction (see Isa 47:1-9; Jer 51:7-8; Hab 2:15-16).

14:10 anger... wrath: John isn't saying that God is furious and unpredictably emotional in God's response to humans; rather, wrath is God's just response to human sin. If humanity's sin is great, the consequences will be great as well (see Pss 60:3; 75:8; Isa 51:17-19; Jer 25:15-18). pain of fire and sulfur: The final fate of the dragon, the two beasts, and their servants is the fiery lake of sulfur (see Rev 19:19-21; 20:7-10).

14:12 This calls for... saints: John repeatedly calls his readers to stand strong in the face of suffering (see Rev 13:10, 18; 17:9).

14:14-20 The sixth in this series of visions consists of two scenes: One involves Jesus Christ, the central character of the first vision of this book (Rev 1:9-20), and an angel; and the second involves two angels. The two scenes are joined together by the theme of harvest, which is an image for judgment.

14:14 a sharp sickle... hand: A sickle is a curved cutting tool used for harvesting grain. Reaping with a sickle is a common biblical image for judgment (see Isa 17:4-6; 27:12-13; Jer 51:33; Joel 3:11-13; Matt 13:24-30, 36-43).

14:15 Another angel... voice: While it may seem strange to think of an angel commanding Christ to do something,

"Use your sickle to reap the harvest, for the time to harvest has come, and the harvest of the earth is ripe." <sup>16</sup>So the one seated on the cloud swung his sickle over the earth, and the earth was harvested.

<sup>17</sup>Then another angel came out of the temple in heaven, and he also had a sharp sickle.

<sup>18</sup>Still another angel, who has power over fire, came out from the altar. He said in a loud voice to the one who had the sharp sickle, "Use your sharp sickle to cut the clusters in the vineyard of the earth, because its grapes are ripe." <sup>19</sup>So the angel swung his sickle into the earth, and cut the vineyard of the earth, and he put what he reaped into the great winepress of God's passionate anger. <sup>20</sup>Then the winepress was trampled outside the city, and the blood came out of the winepress as high as the horses' bridles for almost two hundred miles.<sup>h</sup>

Song of Moses and the Lamb

15 Then I saw another great and awe-inspiring sign in heaven. There were seven angels with seven plagues—and these are the last, for with them God's anger is brought to an end. <sup>2</sup>Then I saw what appeared to be a sea of glass mixed with fire. Those who gained victory over the beast, its image, and the number of its name were standing by the glass sea, holding harps from God. <sup>3</sup>They sing the song of Moses, God's servant, and the song of the Lamb, saying,

"Great and awe-inspiring are your works,
Lord God Almighty.

Just and true are your ways,
king of the nations.

<sup>4</sup>Who won't fear you, Lord, and glorify your name?

You alone are holy.

All nations will come and fall down in worship before you, for your acts of justice have been revealed."

these angels are God's messengers. All are described as coming from God's throne room. the harvest . . . ripe: God, who has supreme authority in all things, determines when the gathering in of the harvest will take place. The vision that describes this end-time judgment is found in Revelation 20:11-15.

14:19 great winepress . . . anger: Isaiah 63:1-6 provides a fuller and more graphic explanation of the image of the winepress as judgment. The juice of the grapes is an image for the blood of those whom God crushes in judgment. God wears their blood on his clothes while stomping out the wicked in victory (see Lam 1:15). We find this same image in Revelation 19:11-16.

14:20 outside the city: The OT prophets wrote about how Israel's enemies would be destroyed before they could enter the holy city of Jerusalem (see Ezek 38:17-23; Joel 3:12-16; Zech 14:1-5, 9-15). But John's audience would have also recognized that Jesus was crucified outside the city (see Matt 21:29; Luke 20:15; Heb 13:12-13). as high as . . . miles: The number is 1,600 stadia, which is 40 multiplied by 40. Forty is a symbolic number that points to a change from one state to another (e.g., the Israelites' 40 years in the wilderness was a time of change from slavery to freedom). This extremely gruesome scene is a metaphor for the extent to which God's judgment will bring about a change or transformation on the earth. No longer will it be a place where evil and sin dominate; rather, it will become a fitting home for God's holy ones (see Rev 21:1-22:5).

15:1-4 Like the first vision in this series (Rev 12:1-18), this seventh is called a sign. John is permitted to witness once again the divine worship that continues throughout the book of Revelation. This vision also serves as an introduction to the next series of visions, the visions of the seven plagues.

15:1 seven plagues . . . last: These seven plagues won't be the final visions of destruction in the book of Revelation; rather, seven symbolizes completion. When these plagues are finished, God's anger will have reached its full measure. However, we shouldn't think of God's anger in human terms but as God's just response to human sin (see Rev 14:10).

15:2 sea . . . fire: This is the same sea of glass mentioned in Revelation 4:6. In the OT fire can be a symbol of God's presence and also a symbol of judgment (e.g., Deut 4:24, 33; 5:24-26; 9:3, 10; 2 Kgs 1:10-12; Job 1:16; Jer 5:14; Ezek 20:47; 28:14; Amos 7:4). John intends the latter here. Those who gained victory: These are the 144,000 of Revelation 7:1-8; 14:1-5.

15:3-4 The OT is the source of this song in praise of God's supreme authority and justice (see Pss 92:6; 98:1; Deut 32:4; Pss 145:17; 86:9-10; Jer 10:7).

15:3 Moses, God's servant: This title is frequently applied to Moses in the OT (e.g., Exod 14:31; Josh 1:13, 15; 9:24; 22:4-5; 1 Kgs 8:53; 2 Kgs 18:12; Neh 10:29; Dan 9:11; Heb 3:5). song of Moses . . . Lamb: For John the song of Moses and the song of the Lamb are one song, not two. This is because the event that led to the original song of Moses (Exod 15)—God's deliverance of the Israelites from slavery in Egypt—has reached its fullest expression in the deliverance brought about by the Lamb's blood (see Rev 7:14; 12:11).

Seven bowl plagues

<sup>5</sup>After this I looked, and the temple in heaven—that is, the tent of witness—was opened. <sup>6</sup>The seven angels, who have the seven plagues, came out of the temple. They were clothed in pure bright linen and had gold sashes around their waists. <sup>7</sup>Then one of the four living creatures gave the seven angels seven gold bowls full of the anger of the God who lives forever and always. <sup>8</sup>The temple was filled with smoke from God's glory and power, and no one could go into the temple until the seven plagues of the seven last angels were brought to an end.

16Then I heard a loud voice from the temple say to the seven angels, "Go and pour out the seven bowls of God's anger on the earth." <sup>2</sup>So the first angel poured his bowl on the earth, and a nasty and terrible sore appeared on the people who had the beast's mark and worshipped its image. <sup>3</sup>The second angel poured his bowl into the sea, and the sea turned into blood, like the blood of a corpse, and every living thing in the sea died. <sup>4</sup>The third angel poured his bowl into the rivers and springs of water, and they turned into blood. <sup>5</sup>Then I heard the angel of the waters say,

"You are just, holy one, who is and was, because you have given these judgments.

<sup>6</sup>They poured out the blood of saints and prophets, and you have given them blood to drink. They deserve it!"

<sup>7</sup>And I heard the altar say,

"Yes, Lord God Almighty, your judgments are true and just."

<sup>8</sup>The fourth angel poured his bowl on the sun, and it was allowed to burn people with fire.

<sup>9</sup>The people were burned by intense heat, and they cursed the name of the God who had power over these plagues. But they didn't change their hearts and lives and give him glory.

<sup>10</sup>The fifth angel poured his bowl over the beast's throne, and darkness covered its kingdom. People bit their tongues because of their pain, <sup>11</sup>and they cursed the God of heaven because of their pains and sores; but they didn't turn away from what they had done.

<sup>12</sup>Then the sixth angel poured his bowl on the great river Euphrates. Its water was dried up so that the way was ready for the kings from the east. <sup>13</sup>Then I saw three unclean spirits, like frogs, come from the dragon's mouth, the beast's mouth, and the mouth of the false prophet. <sup>14</sup>These are demonic spirits that do signs. They go out to the kings of the whole world, to gather them for battle on the great day of God the Almighty. (<sup>15</sup>Look! I'm coming like a thief! 15:5–16:21 The visions of the seven bowls of plagues were introduced in Revelation 15:1. They are, as John has already made clear, the last (or the fullness) of the plagues. When they are finished, God's just response to human sin will be complete.

15:5 temple... witness: Although the phrasing is a bit confusing, John is probably referring to the sanctuary of the heavenly temple. Its earthly copy was the tent of witness, or the "meeting tent" of the exodus, which held the chest containing the covenant, the golden altar of incense, the altar for entirely burned offerings, and the other furnishings appropriate to God's dwelling place on earth (see Exod 40:1-38).

15:6 pure bright linen... sashes: Recall the description of "someone who looked like the Human One" in the first vision of this book (Rev 1:13). These angels are similarly dressed, apparently for temple service.

15:7 four living creatures... bowls: These are likely the same bowls John mentioned in Revelation 5:8. They contained incense, a symbol for the prayers of the saints (see Rev 8:3-5).

15:8 smoke... power: Like thunder, lightning, and earthquake, smoke indicates God's presence. no one... temple: Exodus 40:35 explains how Moses couldn't enter the meeting tent when God's glory was present.

16:1-4 Like the first four trumpet visions (Rev 8:6-12), the first three bowl visions are patterned after the exodus plagues against the Egyptians (see Exod 9:8-12 [sixth plague]; 7:20-21 [first plague]). This time, however, the plagues are intended to affect anyone who wears the sign of the beast.

16:5 angel of the waters: It was a common belief among ancient peoples that angels controlled the elements of creation (see Rev 7:1). holy one, who is and was: See note on Revelation 11:17.

16:7 heard the altar say: Maybe the voice is that of those under the altar who had earlier pleaded, "how long will you wait before you pass judgment?" (Rev 6:10). Now they declare with confidence that God rules with justice.

16:9 didn't change their hearts: The purpose of the plagues is revealed. They were intended to cause people to change their hearts and lives (see Rev 9:20; 11:13).

16:10-12 The pouring out of the fifth and sixth bowls parallels the ninth and second plagues of the exodus (see Exod 8:5-6; 10:21-22). These are directed specifically at those who wear the sign of the beast (see Rev 13:2).

16:13 unclean spirits... false prophet: Significantly, these unclean spirits come out of the mouths of the dragon (Satan); the beast of the sea (the Roman Empire); and the beast of the land (those who enforced the imperial religion [see Rev 13]), who is also called the false prophet. The spirits emerge from these monsters, because they are lying spirits who deceive people and place them under their spell. Calling them frog-like recalls the second plague of the exodus (Exod 8:5-6).

naked and exposed to shame.) <sup>16</sup>The spirits gathered them at the place that is called in Hebrew, Harmagedon.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Then the seventh angel poured his bowl into the air, and a loud voice came out from the temple, from the throne, saying, "It is done!" <sup>18</sup>There were lightning strikes, voices, and thunder, and a great earthquake occurred. The earthquake was greater than any that have occurred since there have been people on earth. <sup>19</sup>The great city split into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell. God remembered Babylon the great so that he gave her the wine cup of his furious anger. <sup>20</sup>Every island fled, and the mountains disappeared. <sup>21</sup>Huge hailstones weighing about one hundred pounds came down from heaven on the people. They cursed God for the plague of hail, because the plague was so terrible.

Babylon and the beast

17 Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls spoke with me. "Come, he said, I will show you the judgment upon the great prostitute, who is seated on deep waters. <sup>2</sup>The kings of the earth have committed sexual immorality with her, and those who live on earth have become drunk with the wine of her whoring."

<sup>3</sup>Then he brought me in a Spirit-inspired trance to a desert. There I saw a woman seated on a scarlet beast that was covered with blasphemous names. It had seven heads and ten horns. <sup>4</sup>The woman wore purple and scarlet clothing, and she glittered with gold and jewels and pearls. In her hand she held a gold cup full of the vile and impure things that came from her activity as a prostitute. <sup>5</sup>A name—a mystery—was written on her forehead: "Babylon the great, the mother of prostitutes and the vile things of the earth." <sup>6</sup>I saw that the woman was drunk on the blood of the saints and the blood of Jesus' witnesses. I was completely stunned when I saw her.

<sup>7</sup>Then the angel said to me, "Why are you amazed? I will tell you the mystery of the woman and the seven-headed, ten-horned beast that carries her. <sup>8</sup>The beast that you saw was and is not, and is about to come up out of the abyss and go to destruction. Those who live on earth, whose names haven't been written in the scroll of life from the time the earth was made, will be amazed when they see the beast, because it was and is not and will again be present. <sup>9</sup>This calls for an understanding mind. The seven heads are seven mountains on which the woman is seated. They are also seven kings. <sup>10</sup>Five kings have fallen, the one is, and the other hasn't is a warning to Christian believers that they will not know when Christ will return, so they must stay awake and remain faithful (i.e., clothed in the white robes of victory).

16:16 Harmagedon: Meaning "mountain of Megiddo," this place in the northern part of Palestine (now Israel) was the site of many battles with Israel's enemies. After King Josiah's terrible defeat at Megiddo (2 Kgs 23:29-30), it was remembered as a place of unthinkable disaster.

16:17 "It is done!": The pouring of the seventh bowl is an image for the fullness or completion of God's righteous response to human sin (see Rev 15:1, 7).

16:18 See note on Revelation 4:5.

16:19 The great city... Babylon: Rome. God remembered: God didn't forget the request of those under the altar, "how long will you wait before you pass judgment?" (Rev 6:10). wine cup of his furious anger: God's righteous response is consistent with Rome's sin (see Rev 14:8, 10; 16:6).

16:21 Huge hailstones: The seventh plague of the exodus involved hail (see Exod 9:23-24).

17:1-18 This vision of the great prostitute and the beast expands on the theme of God's just punishment of Rome mentioned in Revelation 16:17-21.

17:1-2 the great prostitute... immorality: This is Rome. In the OT the language of prostitution was used in warnings and judgment against cities that were led astray by idol worship and extreme wealth (see Ezek 23; Isa 23:15-17; Nah 3:1-7).

17:1 seated on deep waters: The word "waters" is symbolic of the peoples and nations that were subject to Rome (see Rev 17:15; Jer 51:13).

17:3 scarlet beast... horns: This is a symbol of the Roman Empire, which got its power from the dragon (see Rev 13:1-10).

17:4 purple and scarlet... pearls: the dress of royalty. John probably intends for his readers to see this woman as a contrast to the heavenly woman in Revelation 12:1-6 or the bride of the Lamb in Revelation 19:6-9.

17:5 A name—a mystery: John is reminding his audience that he isn't talking about the historical city Babylon. It's a symbol for another city they know well, namely, Rome.

17:6 drunk on the blood... witnesses: Rome is guilty of killing God's holy ones.

17:8 scroll of life: See notes on Revelation 3:5; 13:8. was and is not, and is about to come... to destruction: This is a sarcastic play on the title of God the Almighty, "who is and was and is coming" (Rev 1:8).

17:9 This calls for... mind: See Revelation 13:9. seven heads... kings: Rome is traditionally described as a city seated on seven hills. The seven kings are likely a reference to seven emperors of Rome; but since seven is a symbolic number, there's no need to come up with a historically accurate list of Roman emperors to understand the vision (see Dan 7:4-7).

17:10-11 This part of the angel's interpretation is confusing, but it may refer to a late 1st-century legend about the emperor Nero (reigned 54–68 CE), who was expected (or yet come. When that king comes, he must remain for only a short time. <sup>11</sup>As for the beast that was and is not, it is itself an eighth king that belongs to the seven, and it is going to destruction. <sup>12</sup>The ten horns that you saw are ten kings, who haven't yet received royal power. But they will receive royal authority for an hour, along with the beast. <sup>13</sup>These kings will be of one mind, and they will give their power and authority to the beast. <sup>14</sup>They will make war on the Lamb, but the Lamb will emerge victorious, for he is Lord of lords and King of kings. Those with him are called, chosen, and faithful."

<sup>15</sup>Then he said to me, "The waters that you saw, where the prostitute is seated, are peoples, crowds, nations, and languages. <sup>16</sup>As for the ten horns that you saw, they and the beast will hate the prostitute. They will destroy her and strip her bare. They will devour her flesh and burn her with fire <sup>17</sup>because God moved them to carry out his purposes. That is why they will be of one mind and give their royal power to the beast, until God's words have been accomplished. <sup>18</sup>The woman whom you saw is the great city that rules over the kings of the earth."

Babylon's fall

18After this I saw another angel coming down from heaven. He had great authority, and the earth was filled with light because of his glory. <sup>2</sup>He called out with a loud voice, saying, "Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great! She has become a home for demons and a lair for every unclean spirit. She is a lair for every unclean bird, and a lair for every unclean and disgusting beast <sup>3</sup>because all the nations have fallen<sup>1</sup> due to the wine of her lustful passion. The kings of the earth committed sexual immorality with her, and the merchants of the earth became rich from the power of her loose and extravagant ways."

<sup>4</sup>Then I heard another voice from heaven say, "Come out of her, my people, so that you don't take part in her sins and don't receive any of her plagues. <sup>5</sup>Her sins have piled up as high as heaven, and God remembered her unjust acts. <sup>6</sup>Give her what she has given to others. Give her back twice as much for what she has done. In the cup that she has poured, pour her twice as much. <sup>7</sup>To the extent that she glorified herself and indulged her loose and extravagant ways, give her pain and grief. In her heart she says, 'I sit like a queen! I'm not a widow. I'll never see grief.' <sup>8</sup>This is why her plagues will come in a single day—deadly disease, grief, and hunger. She will be consumed by fire because the Lord God who judges her is powerful.

<sup>9</sup>"The kings of the earth, who committed sexual immorality with her and shared her loose and extravagant ways, will weep and mourn over her when they see the smoke from her burning. <sup>10</sup>They will stand a long way off because they are afraid of the pain she suffers, and they will say, 'Oh, the horror! Babylon, you great city, you powerful city! In a single hour your judgment has come.'

<sup>11</sup>"The merchants of the earth will weep and mourn over her, for no one buys their cargoes anymore—<sup>12</sup>cargoes of gold, silver, jewels, and pearls; fine linen, purple, silk, and scarlet; all feared) to return to life and continue his violent reign. Regardless of how we interpret the numbers, John's primary message is that the Roman emperors are symbolic representations of the beast, who stands in direct contrast with God the Almighty (see Rev 17:8).

17:14 called, chosen, and faithful: These are the 144,000 who make up the Lamb's heavenly army (see Rev 14:1-5).

18:1-24 This vision continues the theme of God's just punishment of Rome.

18:1 another angel... glory: This angel isn't the angel interpreter of Revelation 17. His authority and radiance suggest he came from the sanctuary of the temple where God's glory dwells (see note on Rev 15:8).

18:2 Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great!: The visions of the seven bowls have already described the destruction of Babylon (Rome) (see Rev 16:17-21). Similar descriptions of fallen Babylon can be found in Jeremiah 50:38-39; 51:8-9.

18:3 wine... passion: idol worship and excessive wealth.

18:4 another voice... Come out of her: perhaps another angel from God's throne room. The invitation to come out recalls Jeremiah 51:6, 45; but here it serves as a call for God's people to escape Rome, the source of evil and treachery, before it's too late.

18:6 Give her back twice as much: On Babylon's being paid back for her crimes, see Jeremiah 50: 15; 29. Isaiah and Jeremiah also include statements about Jerusalem and Judea having paid double for their sins (see Isa 40:1-2; Jer 16:18).

18:7 I sit like a queen: an ironic statement. Rome thinks she is secure, but she is clueless about what will soon happen to her. Recall the claim made by the Laodiceans: "I'm rich, and I've grown wealthy, and I don't need a thing" (Rev 3:17).

18:8 the Lord... powerful: John's preoccupation with Rome's destruction is really a claim about God's supreme authority.

18:9-10 What follows is a satire consisting of three songs of lament over Rome's destruction. This first song is spoken by the kings of the earth. They participated in her idol worship and enjoyed her extreme wealth until they saw her destruction. Now they keep themselves at a safe distance and pretend to weep over her loss of power (see Ezek 26:15-18).

18:11-17a This second song of lament is spoken by the those things made of scented wood, ivory, fine wood, bronze, iron, and marble; <sup>13</sup>cinnamon, incense, fragrant ointment, and frankincense; wine, oil, fine flour, and wheat; cattle, sheep, horses, and carriages; and slaves, even human lives. <sup>14</sup>The fruit your whole being craved has gone from you. All your glitter and glamour are lost to you, never ever to be found again.’

<sup>15</sup>“The merchants who sold these things, and got so rich by her, will stand a long way off because they fear the pain she suffers. They will weep and mourn, and say, <sup>16</sup>“Oh, the horror! The great city that wore fine linen, purple, and scarlet, who glittered with gold, jewels, and pearls—<sup>17</sup>in just one hour such great wealth was destroyed.’

“Every sea captain, every seafarer, sailors, and all who make their living on the sea stood a long way off. <sup>18</sup>They cried out as they saw the smoke from her burning and said, ‘What city was ever like the great city?’ <sup>19</sup>They threw dust on their heads, and they cried out, weeping and mourning. They said, ‘Oh, the horror! The great city, where all who have ships at sea became so rich by her prosperity—in just one hour she was destroyed. <sup>20</sup>Rejoice over her, heaven—you saints, apostles, and prophets—because God has condemned her as she condemned you.’”

<sup>21</sup>Then a powerful angel picked up a stone that was like a huge millstone and threw it into the sea, saying, “With such violent force the great city of Babylon will be thrown down, and it won’t be found anymore. <sup>22</sup>The sound of harpists and musicians, of pipers and trumpeters, will never be heard among you again. No craftsman of any kind will ever be found among you again. The sound of the hand mill will never be heard among you again. <sup>23</sup>The light of a lamp will never shine among you again. The sound of a bridegroom and bride will never be heard among you again because your merchants ran the world, because all the nations were deceived by the spell you cast, and because <sup>24</sup>the blood of prophets, of saints, and of all who have been slaughtered on the earth was found among you.”<sup>k</sup>

Celebration in heaven

19 After this I heard what sounded like a huge crowd in heaven. They said, “Hallelujah! The salvation and glory and power of our God!

<sup>2</sup>His judgments are true and just, because he judged the great prostitute, who ruined the earth by her whoring, and he exacted the penalty for the blood of his servants from her hand.”

<sup>3</sup>Then they said a second time, “Hallelujah! Smoke goes up from her forever and always.”

<sup>4</sup>The twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell down and worshipped God, who is seated on the throne, and they said, “Amen. Hallelujah!”

<sup>5</sup>Then a voice went out from the throne and said, “Praise our God, all you his servants, and you who fear him, both small and great.”

<sup>6</sup>And I heard something that sounded like a huge crowd, like rushing water and powerful thunder. They said, “Hallelujah! The Lord our God, the Almighty, exercised his royal power!

<sup>k</sup>Or her

merchants who eagerly bought and sold Rome’s luxuries. Now they keep themselves at a safe distance and pretend to say how terrible it is that Rome’s glitter, glamour, and great wealth are destroyed. Similar themes can be found in Ezekiel 27.

18:17b-19 This third song of lament is spoken by the sailors and sea captains who got rich from Rome’s shipping trade. Now they keep themselves at a safe distance and pretend to mourn the loss of such a great city as Rome (see Ezek 27).

18:20 The call to rejoice is directed at God’s holy ones and is similar to the one given earlier when the archangel Michael defeated the dragon (Rev 12:7-12).

18:21 powerful angel... stone: Throwing a stone into the sea is a prophetic action against Rome. Jeremiah 51:60-64 describes a similar prophetic action against Babylon.

18:22-23a Rome’s destruction will be so complete that all evidence of civilized society will cease to exist. There will be no more music, art, craftsmanship, nor even any home life in Rome.

19:1-10 This vision appears to be a response to the angel’s call in Revelation 18:20 to rejoice. The crowd’s prayer in praise of God’s supreme authority and justice is similar to those found in Revelation 4:11; 5:12-13; 7:10-12; 12:10.

19:1 Hallelujah!: a Hebrew phrase meaning “Praise God.”

19:2 the great prostitute: Rome (see note on Rev 17:1-2).

19:5 all you... who fear him: All living creatures who honor God as their God and creator.

19:7 wedding day of the Lamb: The notion of Israel as God's bride can be found in the Prophets (e.g., Isa 54:6; Ezek 16:7-8; Hos 2:16). In the NT the image is further refined so that Christ is the bridegroom and the church is his bride (e.g., Mark 2:19-20; 2 Cor 11:2; Eph 5:25). his bride . . . ready: The bride is an image for God's holy ones (see Rev 5:9-10; 7:14-15; 14:3-4; Eph 5:26-27).

19:8 She was given . . . justice: The bride's wedding gown is a gift from God. The fabric is expensive linen from Egypt that was sought for its brightness. It symbolizes the righteous deeds of God's holy ones.

19:9 wedding banquet of the Lamb: The marriage feast, or the messianic banquet, is a traditional symbol associated with the end time and the reward of the righteous (see Isa 25:1-9; 55:1-5; Matt 22:1-14; Luke 14:7-24).

19:10 Don't do that!: The angel's command that John not worship him is consistent with John's overall theme of avoiding idol worship in all its forms (see Rev 1:17; 22:8-9). witness of Jesus . . . prophecy: John appears to be saying that Jesus' witness (what he said and did) is the substance of the message of the Christian prophet.

19:11-20:15 Here begins a series of six visions about Christ's triumphant victory over evil and God's judgment of the living and the dead. Most of these visions are further elaborations of visions we have seen earlier.

19:11 I saw heaven opened: This is the third time heaven has been opened for humans to see inside (see Rev 4:1; 11:19). white horse . . . True: White is a symbol of victory. The rider is Christ. makes war justly: Christ's war-making is righteous, because it's directed against the dragon, the beasts of the land and sea, and their supporters (see Rev 13).

19:12 His eyes . . . crowns: On Christ's eyes, see note on Revelation 1:14-15. See also the opening of the message to Thyatira (Rev 2:18). Regarding his crowns, recall that the dragon had 7 (Rev 12:3) and the beast had 10 (Rev 13:1). Christ's royal power exceeds both of these forces of evil. name . . . knows: Other characters in the book of Revelation have names—the beast of the sea, his supporters, and the great prostitute—so Christ must have a name too. But his name is truly mysterious. For ancient peoples, names were important for identifying a person's place in society, but Christ cannot be known in that way.

19:13 dyed with blood: signifying fierceness in battle (see Isa 63:1-4). his name . . . Word of God: In Wisdom of Solomon 18:14-16, God's word is described as "a fierce warrior" bounding into a doomed world.

19:14 Heaven's armies . . . linen: the companions of the Lamb who are called, chosen, and faithful (Rev 17:14). These are the 144,000 of Revelation 7:1-8; 14:1-5.

pure, were following him on white horses. <sup>15</sup>From his mouth comes a sharp sword that he will use to strike down the nations. He is the one who will rule them with an iron rod. And he is the one who will trample the winepress of the Almighty God's passionate anger. <sup>16</sup>He has a name written on his robe and on his thigh: King of kings and Lord of lords.

<sup>17</sup>Then I saw an angel standing in the sun, and he called out with a loud voice and said to all the birds flying high overhead, "Come and gather for God's great supper. <sup>18</sup>Come and eat the flesh of kings, the flesh of generals, the flesh of the powerful, and the flesh of horses and their riders. Come and eat the flesh of all, both free and slave, both small and great." <sup>19</sup>Then I saw that the beast and the kings of the earth and their armies had gathered to make war against the rider on the horse and his army. <sup>20</sup>But the beast was seized, along with the false prophet who had done signs in the beast's presence. (He had used the signs to deceive people into receiving the beast's mark and into worshipping the beast's image.) The two of them were thrown alive into the fiery lake that burns with sulfur. <sup>21</sup>The rest were killed by the sword that comes from the mouth of the rider on the horse, and all the birds ate their fill of their flesh.

Satan confined

20 Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven, holding in his hand the key to the abyss and a huge chain. <sup>2</sup>He seized the dragon, the old snake, who is the devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years. <sup>3</sup>He threw him into the abyss, then locked and sealed it over him. This was to keep him from continuing to deceive the nations until the thousand years were over. After this he must be released for a little while.

The saints rule with Christ

<sup>4</sup>Then I saw thrones, and people took their seats on them, and judgment was given in their favor. <sup>5</sup>They were the ones who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and God's word, and those who hadn't worshipped the beast or its image, who hadn't received the mark on their forehead or hand. They came to life and ruled with Christ for one thousand years. <sup>6</sup>The rest of the dead didn't come to life until the thousand years were over. This is the first resurrection. <sup>7</sup>Favored and holy are those who have a share in the first resurrection. The second death has no power over them, but they will be priests of God and of Christ, and will rule with him for one thousand years.

19:15 mouth ... sword: See note on Revelation 1:16 and the opening of the message to the community at Pergamum (Rev 2:12). He ... will rule ... rod: See the prophecy made about the child-savior in the vision of the heavenly woman (Rev 12:5) and the description of the reward awaiting those who obey the message to the community at Thyatira (Rev 2:27). winepress of ... anger: See Revelation 16:19; see note on Revelation 14:19.

19:17-18 This second vision is gruesome but not to be taken literally. God's great supper is the wedding feast of the Lamb mentioned in Revelation 19:9, 19. The invitation list includes the companions of the Lamb (i.e., the 144,000), and the menu consists of all those who had allied themselves with the dragon and the beasts of land and sea. The image is ghastly, but for those who suffered harassment from evil forces, this would have been a delicious way to imagine God's vindication (see Ezek 39:17-20).

19:19-21 This third vision describes the gathering for war at Harmagedon (see Rev 16:16). The forces of evil line up for battle against Christ and his army, but Christ is victorious without even a fight. The beast of the sea and the false prophet (or the beast of the land) are thrown into the place of final punishment. The rest are killed by Christ's sword (see Rev 19:15; see note on Rev 1:16), and they now await final judgment.

20:1-10 This fourth vision of the confinement, release, and destruction of Satan (Rev 20:1-3, 7-10) is interrupted by the fifth vision of the saints who reign with Christ

(20:4-6). The number 1,000 is symbolic and shouldn't be understood to mean an actual passage of time. John's primary message is that God will indeed reward those who witness to Christ even to the point of death.

20:1 key ... chain: The abyss is the place where the scorpion-like locusts and other demonic spirits live (see Rev 9:1). The angel received the key from God, and therefore God has authority over this place.

20:3 keep him ... nations: Chained and locked in the abyss, the dragon is securely confined, and, for a time, his role as "deceiver of the whole world" (Rev 12:9) is curtailed. After this ... while: Just as God has the power to confine Satan, God also has the power to release him. Satan's release is necessary so that ultimately he can be destroyed forever in the same way the beasts of the sea and land were destroyed (Rev 19:19-20).

20:4 judgment was given in their favor: John's meaning is unclear. This probably means God judged the ones who'd been beheaded for their witness to Christ and ruled in their favor. However, it could also mean the power to judge was given to them. This scene has parallels in Daniel 7:9, 21-27. They came to life: For their witness, God grants these holy ones a special resurrection before the others. The victorious Lamb is their example. He's the firstborn from among the dead (Rev 1:5; 2:8; 11:7-11).

20:5-6 first resurrection ... second death: John is unique among NT authors in writing about two resurrections. However, see Daniel 12:1-3, which seems to suggest an

Satan's defeat

<sup>7</sup>When the thousand years are over, Satan will be released from his prison. <sup>8</sup>He will go out to deceive the nations that are at the four corners of the earth—Gog and Magog. He will gather them for battle. Their number is like the sand of the sea. <sup>9</sup>They came up across the whole earth and surrounded the saints' camp, the city that God loves. But fire came down from heaven and consumed them. <sup>10</sup>Then the devil, who had deceived them, was thrown into the lake of fire and sulfur, where the beast and the false prophet also were. There painful suffering will be inflicted upon them day and night, forever and always.

Final judgment

<sup>11</sup>Then I saw a great white throne and the one who is seated on it. Before his face both earth and heaven fled away, and no place was found for them. <sup>12</sup>I saw the dead, the great and the small, standing before the throne, and scrolls were opened. Another scroll was opened too; this is the scroll of life. And the dead were judged on the basis of what was written in the scrolls about what they had done. <sup>13</sup>The sea gave up the dead that were in it, and Death and the Grave gave up the dead that were in them, and people were judged by what they had done. <sup>14</sup>Then Death and the Grave were thrown into the fiery lake. This, the fiery lake, is the second death. <sup>15</sup>Then anyone whose name wasn't found written in the scroll of life was thrown into the fiery lake.

New heaven and new earth

21 Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the former heaven and the former earth had passed away, and the sea was no more. <sup>2</sup>I saw the holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, made ready as a bride beautifully dressed for her husband. <sup>3</sup>I heard a loud voice from the throne say, "Look! God's dwelling is here with humankind. He will dwell with them, and they will be his peoples. God himself will be with them as their God. <sup>4</sup>He will wipe away every tear from their eyes. Death will be no more. There will be no mourning, crying, or pain anymore, for the former things have passed away." <sup>5</sup>Then the one seated on the throne said, "Look! I'm making all things new." He also said, "Write this down, for these words are trustworthy and true." <sup>6</sup>Then he said to me, "All is done. I am the Alpha early resurrection for the wise and a later resurrection and punishment for the wicked. The second death is complete destruction in the "fiery lake that burns with sulfur" (Rev 19:20; 20:14).

20:7 Satan ... prison: See Revelation 20:4-6; 19:11-22. Satan was already bound, but now he will be utterly destroyed.

20:8 He will go out ... battle: This is the same battle John mentions in Revelation 16:12-16; 17:14; 19:17-21. Gog and Magog: Ezekiel writes about Gog "in the land of Magog" (Ezek 38:2). However, Jewish literature dating from the 2nd century BCE to the 1st century CE variously identifies Gog and Magog with persons or places. John introduces them as symbols of powerful forces allied with Satan.

20:9 the saints' camp, the city that God loves: Two places are linked together here. The city is Jerusalem, and the camp is Israel's temporary home as they wandered in the wilderness during the exodus.

20:11-15 The sixth in this series of visions, which began in Revelation 19:11, is of the final judgment. When this vision comes to its conclusion, everything of the present creation—the heavens and the earth, even Death and the Grave—have either fled or been destroyed in the fiery lake.

20:12 scrolls were opened: the books that list the deeds of those awaiting judgment (see Dan 7:10). The message is clear: People will be judged on the basis of their actions.

20:12, 15 scroll of life: See notes on Revelation 3:5; 13:8.

20:13 sea gave up the dead: Ancient peoples believed the dead went into a place under the earth called Sheol. However, those who died at sea were thought to be lost because they couldn't get to Sheol. Now everyone, whether in the sea or in Sheol, is raised in order to share in the final judgment.

20:14 Death and the Grave: Death and the place of the dead are personified (see Rev 6:8).

21:1-22:5 The vision of the New Jerusalem is the seventh vision in this series and the final vision of the book. Highly detailed and dramatic in its images, this vision is a fitting climax to Revelation.

21:1 a new heaven and a new earth: John isn't being transported to an otherworldly place; rather, he's experiencing a new, transformed heaven and earth that replace the ones that fled from God's presence in Revelation 20:11 (see Isa 65:17-19). the sea was no more: Ancient peoples thought of the sea as a place of chaos and danger (e.g., Ezek 29:3; 32:3; Dan 7:2-3; see note on Rev 13:1).

21:2 holy city ... from God: This city is new because it replaces the old creation that was marked by evil and sin. It won't grow old, and it will have continuous access to its builder, God. Ezekiel uses a similar idea when he writes about his vision of a city being built before his eyes (Ezek 40:2). made ready as a bride: See Isaiah 49:18; 61:10; see notes on Revelation 19:7, 8.

21:3 He will dwell with them ... God: This is the language of covenant (see Gen 17:8; Exod 6:7; Jer 7:23; 11:4; Ezek 37:27). John may also be recalling the tent of witness, where God came to dwell with the people in the exodus (see Rev 15:5-8).

21:4 He will wipe away every tear: The restoration of a time before evil and suffering entered the world is envisioned here (see Isa 25:4-8; 65:17-19).

and the Omega, the beginning and the end. To the thirsty I will freely give water from the life-giving spring. <sup>7</sup>Those who emerge victorious will inherit these things. ### New Jerusalem

<sup>9</sup>Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues spoke with me. “Come,” he said, “I will show you the bride, the Lamb’s wife.” <sup>10</sup>He took me in a Spirit-inspired trance to a great, high mountain, and he showed me the holy city, Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God. <sup>11</sup>The city had God’s glory. Its brilliance was like a priceless jewel, like jasper that was as clear as crystal. <sup>12</sup>It had a great high wall with twelve gates. By the gates were twelve angels, and on the gates were written the names of the twelve tribes of Israel’s sons. <sup>13</sup>There were three gates on the east, three gates on the north, three gates on the south, and three gates on the west. <sup>14</sup>The city wall had twelve foundations, and on them were the twelve names of the Lamb’s twelve apostles.

<sup>15</sup>The angel who spoke to me had a gold measuring rod with which to measure the city, its gates, and its wall. <sup>16</sup>Now the city was laid out as a square. Its length was the same as its width. He measured the city with the rod, and it was fifteen hundred miles.<sup>a</sup> Its length and width and height were equal. <sup>17</sup>He also measured the thickness of its wall. It was two hundred sixteen feet<sup>b</sup> thick, as a person—or rather, an angel—measures things. <sup>18</sup>The wall was built of jasper, and the city was pure gold, like pure glass. <sup>19</sup>The city wall’s foundations were decorated with every kind of jewel. The first foundation was jasper, the second was sapphire, the third was chalcedony, and the fourth was emerald. <sup>20</sup>The fifth was sardonyx, the sixth was carnelian, the seventh was chrysolite, and the eighth was beryl. The ninth was topaz, the tenth was chrysoprase, the eleventh was jacinth, and the twelfth was amethyst. <sup>21</sup>The twelve gates were twelve pearls; each one of the gates was made from a single pearl. And the city’s main street was pure gold, as transparent as glass.

<sup>22</sup>I didn’t see a temple in the city, because its temple is the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb. <sup>23</sup>The city doesn’t need the sun or the moon to shine on it, because God’s glory is its is complete. water from the life-giving spring: Many of the prophets who wrote about the end time or the age of restoration mention the promise of life-giving water (see Isa 12:3; 41:17-18; 44:3-4; 55:1; Ezek 47:1-12; Zech 13:1; 14:8; John 7:37-38).

21:7 Those who emerge victorious: See note on Revelation 3:21.

21:8 But for the cowardly . . . death: This is John’s way of saying the new city will be entirely free of sin.

21:9 the bride, the Lamb’s wife: An image of God’s holy ones (see Rev 19:7-8; 5:9-10; 7:14-15; 14:3-4).

21:10 high mountain: John is probably thinking of Ezekiel’s vision of a city being built on a very high mountain (Ezek 40:2). Ezekiel said the city will be named “The Lord Is There” (Ezek 48:35).

21:11 The city had God’s glory: God is present there (see Rev 15:8; 18:1). jasper: In the throne vision, the one seated on the throne is described as looking like jasper (see Rev 4:3).

21:12 twelve gates . . . sons: John probably has Ezekiel’s vision of the new city in mind. It, too, had 12 gates representing the 12 tribes of Israel (see Ezek 48:30-35).

21:14 twelve apostles: See Matthew 19:28, in which Jesus answers Peter, “when everything is made new . . . you also will sit on twelve thrones overseeing the twelve tribes of Israel.”

21:15 gold measuring rod: In an earlier vision John was given a measuring rod to mark off the Jerusalem temple as God’s property (Rev 11:1). See Ezekiel 40:3 and Zechariah

2:5-6, where a measuring rod was used to mark out the city and the temple.

21:16 fifteen hundred miles: John refers to 12,000 stadia. A cube of this size is architecturally impossible, but the number is symbolic: a perfect number (12) multiplied by a number too big to count (1,000).

21:17 two hundred sixteen feet thick: A city wall of this thickness is impressive, but such a thickness could never support a wall 1,500 miles high. What John wrote was 144 cubits—again, a symbolic number. A cubit is determined by the length of the forearm from the elbow to the tip of the middle finger. John suggests this cubit is longer because it’s based on the length of an angel’s forearm.

21:18-21 Although the Bible contains similar lists of jewels (e.g., Exod 28:15-21; Tob 13:16-17; Isa 54:11-12), it’s impossible to determine why John chose these for his description. But the point is clear: This new city is a stunningly beautiful place! Some of its materials—enormous pearls and transparent gold, for example—exist nowhere else on earth.

21:22 I didn’t see a temple in the city: Because God dwells with the people, there’s no need for someone or something to mediate God’s presence. Jeremiah prophesied a future time when the people wouldn’t miss the temple or long for the chest containing the covenant because Jerusalem would be Christ God’s throne (Jer 3:16-17; Hag 2:9; Isa 65:7).

21:23 God’s glory: God’s presence (see Rev 15:8; 18:1). its lamp is the Lamb: Christ, the Lamb, reflects God’s glory.

light, and its lamp is the Lamb. <sup>24</sup>The nations will walk by its light, and the kings of the earth will bring their glory into it. <sup>25</sup>Its gates will never be shut by day, and there will be no night there. <sup>26</sup>They will bring the glory and honor of the nations into it. <sup>27</sup>Nothing unclean will ever enter it, nor anyone who does what is vile and deceitful, but only those who are registered in the Lamb's scroll of life.

22 Then the angel showed me the river of life-giving water,<sup>P</sup> shining like crystal, flowing from the throne of God and the Lamb <sup>2</sup>through the middle of the city's main street. On each side of the river is the tree of life, which produces twelve crops of fruit, bearing its fruit each month. The tree's leaves are for the healing of the nations. <sup>3</sup>There will no longer be any curse. The throne of God and the Lamb will be in it, and his servants will worship him. <sup>4</sup>They will see his face, and his name will be on their foreheads. <sup>5</sup>Night will be no more. They won't need the light of a lamp or the light of the sun, for the Lord God will shine on them, and they will rule forever and always.

Jesus is coming soon

<sup>6</sup>Then he said to me, "These words are trustworthy and true. The Lord, the God of the spirits of the prophets, sent his angel to show his servants what must soon take place.

<sup>7</sup>"Look! I'm coming soon. Favored is the one who keeps the words of the prophecy contained in this scroll."

<sup>8</sup>I, John, am the one who heard and saw these things. When I heard and saw them, I fell down to worship at the feet of the angel who had shown them to me. <sup>9</sup>But he said to me, "Don't do that! I'm a servant just like you and your brothers and sisters, the prophets, and those who keep the words of this scroll. Worship God!" <sup>10</sup>Then he said to me, "Don't seal up the words of the prophecy contained in this scroll, because the time is near. <sup>11</sup>Let those who do wrong keep doing what is wrong. Let the filthy still be filthy. Let those who are righteous keep doing what is right. Let those who are holy still be holy.

<sup>12</sup>"Look! I'm coming soon. My reward is with me, to repay all people as their actions deserve. <sup>13</sup>I am the alpha and the omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end. <sup>14</sup>Favored are those who wash their robes so that they may have the right of access to the tree of life and may enter the city by the gates. <sup>15</sup>Outside are the dogs, the drug users and spell-casters, those who commit sexual immorality, the murderers, the idolaters, and all who love and practice deception.

<sup>16</sup>"I, Jesus, have sent my angel to bear witness to all of you about these things for the churches. I'm the root and descendant of David, the bright morning star. <sup>17</sup>The Spirit and the bride say, 'Come!' Let the one who hears say, 'Come!' And let the one who is thirsty come! Let the one who wishes receive life-giving water<sup>Q</sup> as a gift."

John is comparing God to the sun and the Lamb to the moon; together, they give light by day and by night.

21:24 The nations . . . light: God and the Lamb will be like a beacon to the world (see Isa 60:11).

21:25 Its gates . . . no night there: In the ancient world, walls and gates were designed to protect the city and keep out marauding armies. This city doesn't need such protection. Similarly, night was thought to be a dangerous time, when bad people and bad spirits had free reign; but this city will have no night (see also Zech 14:7).

22:1 river of life-giving water: John appears to be drawing heavily on Ezekiel's vision of the water flowing from the temple in the new city, which will be called "The Lord Is There" (Ezek 47:1-12; 48:35).

22:2 tree of life . . . fruit: See Revelation 2:7. John refers to the tree of life that stood in the middle of the garden in Eden and to the other trees that provided food whenever Adam and Eve wanted it (Gen 2:9). The tree's leaves . . . nations: See Ezekiel 47:12. John's image shows that the inhabitants of the New Jerusalem, who come from all over the world, will never again suffer from hunger or illness.

22:4 They will see his face: The hope of the Jewish people as they went to worship in Jerusalem was that they might "see God's face" (Pss 11:7; 17:15; 42:2; cf. Exod 24:10; 33:7-11). In the New Jerusalem God of direct encounter with God is a reality, his name . . . foreheads: in contrast with those who wear the mark of the beast (see Rev 13:6; 14:9; 20:4).

22:5 they will rule forever and always: The request of those under the altar, "How long before you require justice for our blood" (Rev 6:10), is answered once and for all. They now have their permanent place in the city that is God's throne on earth, and evil has been destroyed (see Rev 20:4-6).

22:6-17 A collection of short sayings serves as an epilogue to the book. Some are delivered by an angel (e.g., 22:9-11); and others come from Jesus (e.g., 22:12-13, 16). Some are warnings (e.g., 22:15); while others are words of blessing (e.g., 22:14; see note on Rev 1:3); words of encouragement to right living (e.g., 22:11); and invitations to worship (e.g., 22:17).

THE AUTHORITY OF SCRIPTURE

Joel B. Green

Around the world and across time, millions of Christians have gathered and continue to gather regularly to hear the scriptures read in worship. When the reading is finished, the worship leader recites the familiar words and God's people respond.

Leader: This is the Word of the Lord.

People: Thanks be to God.

These words, simple as they are, bear profound witness to the church's belief that, in the reading and proclaiming of scripture, we encounter God's own voice. The word spoken at creation (Gen 1), the word that is "sweeter than honey in my mouth" (Ps 119:103), the word that doesn't return empty but accomplishes what the Lord intends (Isa 55:10-11), the word that John identifies with Jesus (John 1:1-14), the word that sometimes leads to the harassment of God's people (Rev 1:9) and yet continues to grow (Acts 12:24)—this is the word we embrace as we attend to the scriptural voice of God. And the liturgy reminds us that we attend to scripture most faithfully when we do so together in worship.

Of course, the Bible can be read in many ways. The Bible is a collection of books, an anthology. We find in its pages poetry and letters, historical narratives and visions, proverbs and oracles. For good reason, then, we might turn to the Bible as literature. Or we might turn to it as history. We find among the biblical writings a keen interest in the beginnings of Abraham and Sarah's people, the gathering of a tribal people as a nation, the rise and fall of leaders and kings, the movements and counter-movements of nations, the story of Jesus' life and ministry, as well as the origins of the church and its spread across the Roman Empire. When we attend to these books as the church's Book, however, we do so because of our shared belief that this collection of documents is nothing less than the Christian scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. Together, the Old and New Testaments make up the authoritative witness to God's work in the world.

We ought to consider the literary qualities of these documents. We need to reflect on the many ways that these books refer to the realities of ancient communities and cultures. Respecting the books of the Bible requires that we take seriously their literary artistry, their literary forms, and their literary purpose. Respecting the books of the Bible requires us to study them against the background of ancient customs, institutions, and geography. Reading the Old and New Testaments as scripture includes but also surpasses these kinds of methodological concerns, however. We come to scripture with ears attuned and hearts open to what the Holy Spirit is saying to God's people. Reading and hearing these words as the church's scriptures, we seek not only to understand the Bible's message but also to "stand under" its authority. We seek not only to know but to be known. We put into practice the famed words of Johann Albrecht Bengel (1687-1752): "Apply yourself wholly to the text; apply the text wholly to yourself." We open our lives, corporately and individually, to the ways, through scripture, we might grow in Christ-likeness and come to reflect more faithfully God's own image.

Embracing Scripture's Authority

Although the biblical books might be read for many reasons, the simple fact that these particular books have been gathered into this particular collection has nothing to do with the Bible's status as a compilation of literary works or a history book. We open the Bible as God's people and return again and again to its pages because of its special status as the church's scriptures. We give the Bible to those who are baptized and confirmed, and we gather in circles around the Bible for study, because we believe that in and through the Bible we encounter God. Let's think together about what it means when we agree that the Bible is the authoritative witness to God's work in the world.

Reading the Bible with the Church

First, it means that we locate ourselves within the church, which finds its true identity in scripture. It is the church that affirms that the Bible is God's Word, and in doing so the church recognizes the origin, role, and aim of these texts in God's self-communication. We also recognize that the biblical documents were written by God's people for God's people, so that it is with and among God's people that we are best positioned to read the scriptures faithfully.

When we speak of the church, we naturally refer to God's people today as they gather for worship and fellowship and then are sent forth for mission and service. But we also refer to the church as it has heard and read the Bible over time, from the church's beginnings some two thousand years ago until today. Jesus' disciples learned to read the scriptures in the synagogues of their youth. They then became apprentices to Jesus himself, who led them further into the truth of scripture. These Christ-followers were filled with the Spirit at Pentecost, and believed that the Spirit guided them further in their understanding and proclamation of the scriptures. This is how the long history of the church begins—a history that can rightly be understood as the story of how Christians have read the Bible and learned to practice its teaching. Among the ways we take seriously the character of scripture as the church's Book, then, is to take seriously the ways Christians throughout the ages have found their lives shaped through their reading and engagement with the Bible.

We recognize that the church has not always provided good examples of how to read its scriptures. The Bible has been used to support injustices of many kinds, whether the persecution of the Jewish people, the institution of slavery, practices of racism, or the abuse of women. Our increased awareness of how the church has misused the Bible can be instructive, too, however. By keeping in mind some of the ways the Bible has been badly interpreted and misappropriated, we stay alert to the ways in which we allow our own assumptions and allegiances to hijack the Bible's message of liberation and love, holiness and hope.

Struggling with Scripture

Embracing scripture's authority doesn't mean that we turn a blind eye to those parts of the Bible that seem strange to us, or that seem to run counter to its overall message. The biblical documents were written in cultures that were male-dominated, so it shouldn't surprise us to discover that they often portray authority in families and social groups as generally reserved for men. But this doesn't mean that the church that acknowledges scripture's authority should likewise reserve positions of authority for men. And the same could be said for those parts of the Bible that presume various forms of institutional slavery, for example, or those biblical stories in which God's people take up and wield instruments of war. To embrace scripture's authority sometimes means struggling with scripture. In fact, it is precisely because we affirm scripture's authority that we sometimes must struggle with it, rather than ignore or dismiss texts that trouble us.

How might we struggle with scripture? To return to the question of the place of women, for example, we might do so by taking special notice of those texts that promote the status of women in positions of leadership in families, tribal groups, and churches. We might account for the historical contexts within which these documents were written. We might listen to how the global church, and the church across time, has listened to these texts. And we might work to understand individual texts within the whole of scripture's testimony.

Here's another example: We can recognize that scripture calls us to participate in actions that show that God has made us one people in spite of our racial, national, social, and other differences without thinking that the only way to do so is to "say hello to each other with a holy kiss." This is true even though several biblical texts direct us to do just that! (See Rom 16:16; 2 Cor 13:12; see also 1 Cor 16:20; 1 Thess 5:26; 1 Pet 5:14.)

Scripture Is Never Alone

Since the 16th century, Christians in the Protestant tradition of the church have used the slogan, sola scriptura, "by scripture alone." This is a useful reminder of the central, authoritative role of the Bible in the life and faith of the church. But it can be problematic when we take it to mean either that scripture is the only way God has revealed God's character and ways to us or that all we need to be faithful to God is the Bible. Scripture itself teaches that something of God's character is known through what God has made (e.g., Ps 19:1-6; Rom 1:20). And practically from the beginning of the church we have example after example of how easy it is to read the Bible in ways that aren't at all faithful to the God of the Bible. As the saying goes, even the devil can read the Bible (see Matt 4:1-11; Luke 4:1-13)!

Irenaeus, the 2nd-century Christian theologian, offers this analogy: Someone might collect from Homer's poetry phrases and names, then use them to write a poem that might actually fool some people into thinking that it had been written by Homer. After all, it sounds like Homer. (Today, we might say the same thing about Shakespeare.) In the same way, Irenaeus wrote, people who hold to beliefs that differ markedly from those held by the Christian church try to collect terms, phrases, and names scattered throughout scripture, then use them to tell their own story. The result might sound like scripture, but it wouldn't have any genuine relation to the story scripture itself tells. This is because those people disregard what Irenaeus calls the "order and connection" of the scriptures. For Irenaeus—and for the church across time—the medicine needed to fend off these bad readings of scripture is not only careful reading of biblical texts (though this is certainly needed). We also need what the early church often called the Rule of Faith, which would soon take form in the great creeds that all branches of the church—Eastern Orthodox, Roman Catholic, and Protestant—affirm. We share three creeds: the Apostles' Creed, the Nicene Creed, and the Athanasian Creed. And the purpose of these creeds is to teach us how to read scripture faithfully by reminding us of the Bible's order and connection. Part of what it means to read scripture within the church is that our readings of scripture take seriously what we might call the plotline of scripture as this is represented in the church's great creeds.

Authority as Invitation

Notice that the Bible doesn't spend a lot of time simply telling us what to do. This is mostly because the Bible isn't like an antiquated book of manners; it isn't really a handbook for living or a moral codebook. This is obvious enough when we recognize how often it addresses issues that don't concern us much (like whether to eat meat sacrificed to idols) and how often it doesn't address issues that do concern us (like where we should relocate Aunt Sue who is suffering from severe dementia—at home with us or in a healthcare facility). Scripture does call on God's people, but it does so in less direct ways. For example, scripture invites us to find the history of our people, God's people, and, therefore, our true identity in its story of God's relationship with Israel and the early church. The story we are telling or writing with our lives, then, wouldn't be tied to "the American dream." Instead, our life stories would continue the story of exodus and reconciliation in Christ, of the coming of the Spirit and the gathering of Christ's followers in communities of faith concerned with God's mission in the world. Scripture shapes our imaginations (what we take to be real and possible and true), reminds us of our commitments, asks us to consider reasoned arguments, and urges us to reflect on the goodness of God and the nature of our responses to God's goodness. It molds and persuades, but rarely demands.

As we give ourselves to life in the Holy Spirit and to engagement with scripture, God works in our lives. God leads us further into scripture, and we find the Bible more and more to be true. This means that what is needed most are people deeply rooted in faithful communities of discipleship, people in whom the Spirit is making real God's Word, people who are learning firsthand that scripture gives us true access to God's voice.

God speaks, and this is the basis for scripture's authority. Through scripture, God convinces us that things between God and humanity—indeed, between God and all creation—are just as we find them described in scripture. By embracing scripture's authority, we are drawn into the story of scripture, and especially more deeply into relationship with scripture's primary character, that is, with God.

What does it mean to affirm the authority of the Bible, then? When we acknowledge scripture's authority, we reject attempts at revising its words so as to make them match our reality. Instead, we make sense of our reality, our lives, within its pages and according to its story. To embrace scripture's authority is to allow ourselves to be shaped by it thoroughly and fully. This shaping means that scripture's authority is less demand and more invitation. "Taste and see how good the LORD is!" (Ps 34:8). In scripture, we are invited to come and make our home in this story of God's ongoing and gracious purpose for God's people.

Attitudes and Postures

As with other books, Christians read the biblical documents by taking account of their literary forms, getting a sense of their historical background, and taking seriously the words on these pages. But Christians also read the Bible quite differently than they read other books. We don't come to scripture first and foremost in order to assess its historical basis or origins. We don't come to scripture primarily in order to summarize and organize its statements about God. Christians may do all of these things and more, but none of these represents a particularly Christian approach to scripture. Rather, Christians come to scripture to hear God's voice. They want to hear and do God's Word. Therefore, affirming scripture's authority can never be reduced to an academic exercise or logical argument by which we count the Bible as trustworthy. Our job isn't to prove or otherwise to protect the Bible. Indeed, attempts to protect the Bible assume that scripture's aims depend on human activity rather than on God's. What we need instead are attitudes of openness, humility, submission, and obedience. Christian readers of the Bible want to become familiar with ancient peoples and their cultures. We honor being schooled in the biblical languages. We want to cultivate good skills for reading the Bible. But, even more, we bring to the Bible our attitudes of acceptance, devotion, attention, and trust.

To affirm scripture's authority is to embrace habits of prayerful reading that lead to the conformity of our thoughts, beliefs, feelings, and behaviors to God's character and purpose as these are revealed in scripture. We find here in the pages of scripture who we are and what we are to become. We acknowledge and invite the ongoing work of scripture's divine author, the One who desires to shape us as a community, the church, God's people.

The Nature of Scripture

When we acknowledge scripture's authority, we recognize that the books gathered together in the Bible are special. The ancient world knew many books. Today, literally tens of millions of titles are cataloged, with some half-million new books added each year—in English alone! What makes this collection of books unique is its status as scripture. We can understand better what this means by thinking about the church's Book in the categories the Nicene Creed uses to describe the church: "We believe in one, holy, catholic, and apostolic church."

Scripture Is One

Although the books of the Bible are many, the church affirms scripture's unity. This unity is not a simple one, as though every book spoke with the same voice in the same way about the same things. Clearly, this isn't the case. For example, we have four Gospels in the New Testament. They all speak truthfully about the significance of Jesus of Nazareth, God's Son, but they do so in different ways. Mark and John have no stories of Jesus' birth, but Matthew and Luke do. Matthew, Mark, and Luke relate Jesus' teaching in parables, but we find no parables in John. All paint a portrait of Jesus, but these portraits aren't identical.

Instead, scripture's unity is a theological claim about the origins and aims of scripture, and especially about the God concerning whom scripture testifies. Unity rests in the church's recognition that the Bible finds its origins in the purpose and voice of the one God. The Bible tells the story of the Triune God as a single story, the plotline of which is set out in the church's creeds. The Bible reveals the one God: the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, whom Jesus called Father, who raised Jesus from the dead. And the Bible's message is interpreted to us with the help of the one Holy Spirit. The Bible's oneness can't and shouldn't be reduced to a statement about its historical contexts, its teaching on a given subject, or its literary character. Its unity is found in its witness to God.

Scripture Is Holy

We use the term "holy" to refer to a person or thing set aside for a particular purpose in service to God, for something or someone dedicated to God. This is a good way to think about authoritative scripture. On the one hand, these documents are like other ancient documents. Their authors are sometimes unknown. Some of these books reached their present form through down-to-earth processes of passing on and editing traditional stories and sayings. These documents were prepared with the usual writing materials, and the books of the Bible can be studied like any other document. On the other hand, these documents together form Holy Scripture. Through the work of God's Spirit they have come to us as something more. God's Spirit was involved in the production of these texts. The church was led by God's Spirit to recognize these (and not other) documents as scripture. The church is enabled by God's Spirit to grasp the meaning of scripture, and to be grasped by it. We affirm that God has set these books aside to form the church's Book for the purpose of directing us into greater Christ-likeness.

Scripture Is Catholic

"Catholic" is another word for "universal." To affirm the catholicity of scripture is to affirm that all scripture is written for all of God's people in all times and in all places. The Christian scriptures aren't the possession of Americans only but are to be heard, read, and interpreted among Asians and Africans, and indeed throughout the world. The Christian scriptures aren't the possession of scholars only but belong to the whole church that gathers and scatters in the name of Jesus Christ. Nor are the Christian scriptures for Methodists or Baptists only but are the scriptures of all who call on the name of the Lord. Even if we always read the Bible in a local context, we remember that others throughout the church's history and around the world have turned and continue to turn to these same texts. God's Spirit empowers their reading, too, so what can we learn by hearing from these other students of scripture?

Scripture Is Apostolic

With the term "apostolic," we remind ourselves that Jesus and the band of apostles he gathered around himself were Jews who searched Israel's scriptures to learn of the nature and ways of God. We could hardly have a more firm affirmation of the significance of those scriptures, which we know as the Old Testament. Early Christians had no scriptures other than Israel's scriptures, which they read in relation to traditions about Jesus and letters from missionary leaders that would eventually be gathered into the New Testament. The books of the New Testament were included in the New Testament largely because of their conformity with the gospel handed down by the apostles. Together, the Old and New Testaments bear witness to the eternal aims and particular workings of God. And they bear witness to the God who draws near to save and lead, both in exodus and in Jesus Christ. In the scriptures, then, we encounter the heart of our faith.

What Is Scripture For?

---

Christians have traditionally turned to 2 Timothy 3:16-17 as a way of talking about the nature of scripture's authority. "Every scripture is inspired by God and is useful for teaching, for showing mistakes, for correcting, and for training character, so that the person who belongs to God can be equipped to do everything that is good." This text is helpful for anyone thinking about scripture's authority, for two reasons. First, it reminds us of the claim of our faith, that scripture has its origins in the aims and voice of God. Like the Old Testament prophets, scripture speaks because God has first spoken. Scripture bears witness to God because God enables speech about God and God's activity in the world. Second, it reminds us of the purpose or direction of scripture's authority. The role of scripture isn't really to teach us lessons about history, medicine, archeology, architecture, science, geography, and so on. The Bible has things to say about all of these subjects, and others besides, but this isn't the focus of the Bible's authority in the church. Instead, engagement with scripture should produce this: "that the person who belongs to God can be equipped to do everything that is good." We exhibit best our beliefs about the Bible not so much by what we say about the Bible but through scripture-shaped hearts and lives.

THE BIBLE'S UNITY

Marianne Meye Thompson

When Christians speak of “the Bible,” they have a generally shared understanding of what they mean. In the Protestant tradition the Bible refers to sixty-six books, thirty-nine in the “Old Testament” and twenty-seven in the “New Testament.” Together, these sixty-six books—ranging from Genesis, the first book of the Old Testament, to Revelation, the last book of the New Testament—make up “the Bible.” Other traditions, such as the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches, include the books of the Old Testament Apocrypha (e.g., Sirach, Wisdom of Solomon, Judith, Tobit, 1 and 2 Maccabees) in “the Bible.” All Christians agree that the Old and New Testaments are the main parts of the Bible, so that is how we will use the term here.

The Bible is a collection of many kinds of different books, including narratives, psalms, proverbs, poetry, prophetic oracles, and letters. It was written over hundreds of years by a number of different authors. Many of these books come to us anonymously. We don't know when or why some of them were written. Some were written by and for ancient Israelites, a largely agricultural people who lived on the eastern shores of the Mediterranean Sea and spoke Hebrew or Aramaic. Other parts of the Bible were directed to educated Greek-speaking people living in the larger cities of the ancient world, such as Rome and Corinth.

The practices and customs of the people who are written about, and for whom these books are written, vary widely. For example, ancient Israelites and Jews traced their ancestry to Abraham, identified themselves as part of the people of Israel largely by birth, and practiced male circumcision as a sign of their belonging to this people. They offered animal sacrifices, eventually locating these sacrifices in a single temple in Jerusalem. They observed Moses' instruction, which included many purity laws regulating what one could touch, eat, and do. These purity laws forbade the eating of certain foods, especially pork and shellfish, and commanded that the seventh day of the week, the Sabbath day, be observed by resting and doing no work. The Israelites did all this to honor and obey Yahweh, Israel's God. But many early believers in Jesus were Gentiles, that is, they weren't Jews by birth. As Gentile Christians they were included as part of God's people, even though they hadn't descended from Abraham and didn't circumcise themselves, worship in the Jerusalem temple, or observe food laws or the Sabbath.

So the books of the Bible were written for different kinds of people and about different kinds of people. We might wonder, then, what holds this diverse collection together. Why do we continue to read these many books not only as a collection of books but also as a single book? Why do we read books directed to ancient Israelites as relevant to contemporary Christian faith? For this is precisely what the Christian church has done. It hasn't thrown out the Old Testament as an outdated set of documents without significance to the faith and practice of Christians. Indeed, for Jesus himself and for the earliest believers in him, the only “Bible” was what we now call the Old Testament. After the various documents of the New Testament were written, they were eventually gathered into a collection. But this “New Testament” didn't then replace the “Old Testament.” Early Christians kept both testaments as one Bible.

Challenges to the Bible's Unity

---

What holds this diverse collection of books together as a single book? We can approach the question of the Bible's unity from various angles. First is the matter of the relationship of the Old and New Testaments. Nowhere in the text of the Bible itself is either of the designations “old” or “new” testament found. The books of the Bible—whether the separate books of the Old or New Testaments, or the two testaments combined—weren't put together by those who wrote them but by others who followed after them.

This means that the designations “old” and “new” testaments arose after these two parts of the Bible had already been collected. The first person to use the terms in this way was probably Melito, the bishop of the church of Sardis (in Asia Minor, the western part of modern-day Turkey) in the late 2nd century. Melito spoke of two covenants, using the Greek word diathēkē. God's promise to make a new covenant (Jer 31:31) was understood by the authors of various New Testament writings to be fulfilled in the events that surround Jesus' ministry, death, and resurrection (Luke 22:20; 1 Cor 11:25; 2 Cor 3:6; Heb 8:8, 13; 9:15; 12:24). The designations “old covenant” and “new covenant” were then transferred to the written collections that contain these covenants. In the late 4th century, when the Bible was translated into Latin by Jerome, the word testamentum was used for the word “covenant.” And that is the word that has come into use in English. The designations “old” and “new” indicate that these two collections were understood to relate and belong to each other.

But in the history of the church some have thought that the New Testament should simply replace the Old Testament and that the Old Testament should be discarded. Indeed, the designation of the first part of the biblical canon as “old” sounds pejorative to many, implying that the “old” testament is worn out, outdated, old-fashioned. Such an evaluation might raise a serious challenge to the unity of the Bible. Why keep something that’s no longer relevant or useful? Some scholars prefer to speak of the “first” and “second,” or even the “older” and “newer,” testaments to show that these two collections really do belong together. One is the older, or first, witness to God’s actions in and toward the world; the other is the newer, or second, witness to that same God.

The belief that the two testaments of the Bible bear witness to one and the same God raises a second important challenge to the Bible’s unity. This challenge has to do with how God is portrayed in the various parts of the Bible. In the 2nd century a man named Marcion argued that the depiction of God in the Old Testament was so different from the picture of God proclaimed and written in the Christian message that Christians shouldn’t use the Old Testament. The God of the Old Testament, he argued, was judicial and harsh, while the God revealed by Jesus was a God of love. He thought these weren’t the same God, so he called for Christians to abandon the Old Testament.

But other Christians felt differently. Early church theologians, such as Tertullian and Irenaeus, argued against throwing out the Old Testament. They read the scriptures, both the Old Testament and certain early Christian writings, collectively. They insisted that, together, these writings provide a coherent narrative about one and the same God. The God who made the world was also the God of Israel, as well as the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. The God who made the world and everything and everyone in it was particularly the God of Israel, who through his Son Jesus Christ reconciled and redeemed the entire world.

The unity of the Bible and the unity of God stand or fall together. If God is divided, then so is the Bible, and if the Bible is divided, then so is God. In other words, scripture is an account of God’s saving purposes for the whole world. It begins with the creation of the world; leads to the calling of the people of Israel; comes to its climax in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ; and anticipates a new heaven and a new earth.

One final, important challenge to the Bible’s unity has to do more specifically with what is said in each book. The books of the Bible often seem to say different things. For example, Deuteronomy promises God’s blessings and rewards to those who obey God’s will (Deut 30:16; 32:47), but Jeremiah wonders why evildoers are happy and guilty persons enjoy success (Jer 12:1), and the book of Job denies any direct relationship between human goodness and God’s blessing. If various books seem to say different things, how can we say that the books of the Bible belong together? That’s the question we’ll take up next.

The Bible’s Unity and the Bible’s Narrative

One persistent view of the church throughout the centuries is that the Bible is held together by a single narrative and that the central figure in this narrative is the Triune God. The Bible is about God and what God has done, is doing, and will do. In other words, the Bible tells one story. It doesn’t say only one thing or speak in only one way, but it should be read as telling one continuous story. If the Bible’s unity is conceived of as a narrative, then each part of that narrative has its own significance, and each part must be taken seriously as contributing to the whole. A narrative has a beginning, a middle, and an end. Some things stay the same throughout; but some things change, develop, and even offer interesting twists and turns in the development of the story—twists and turns that surprise the reader. We can expect both continuity and surprises.

The biblical narrative begins with God’s creation of the world (Genesis) and ends with God’s creation of a new heaven and a new earth (Revelation). Beginning with God’s creation of the world and all its inhabitants, this narrative continues through God’s calling of the people of Israel and their life together and with God. The narrative comes to a decisive turn with the mission of God’s Christ, Jesus of Nazareth, and his life, death, and resurrection. The Bible anticipates the completion of this narrative in God’s creation of a new heaven and a new earth, and in the final redemption of all God’s people to inhabit that new world.

Creation: The World and Its Inhabitants

Genesis, the first book of the Bible, begins with God’s creation of the world. Here we read that when the world was without shape or form, when there was only darkness, God created the entire universe and all the living things that inhabit it. God spoke, and the world and all living things came to be: light and darkness, heavens and earth, waters and dry land, plants and seasons, birds and fish, wildlife and livestock, and, finally, human beings. Reflecting on God's creation of the world, the psalmist writes, "The skies were made by the Lord's word" (Ps 33:6).

These accounts in Genesis point to a God who is the source of life, an emphasis that recurs in the Bible. The God who is the source of all life stands in contrast to the idols people make out of wood and stone. Hence, the phrase "the living God" (and phrases like it) recur in the Old Testament (Deut 5:26; 32:39-40; Pss 18:47; 41:14; 106:48; Isa 40:28; 48:12; Jer 10:10; Dan 12:7). God is the only creator of the world (Isa 44:24) and of all that is (Isa 40:28; 45:7). God's uniqueness and God's creation of all things are closely tied together. The Bible isn't a collection of stories about many gods, but the narrative of the one Lord God who created the world by speaking it into existence and breathing the wind or breath of life into it (Gen 1:3; 2:7).

In the books of the New Testament the emphasis on God as the creator and the living one is repeated and developed. We find references to "the living God" (Matt 16:16; 26:63; John 6:57; Rom 9:26; 2 Cor 3:3; 6:16; 1 Thess 1:9; 1 Tim 3:15; 4:10; Heb 3:12; 9:14; 10:31; 12:22; Rev 7:2) as well as the God "of the living" (Matt 22:32; Mark 12:27; Luke 20:38; Rom 14:9). In the Acts of the Apostles, Paul testifies to "the living God" who "made the heaven, the earth, the sea, and everything in them" (Acts 14:15).

In the New Testament the word by which God made the heavens is identified as God's Word, or God's Son. Hence, the opening of John's Gospel reminds us of the opening words of Genesis, when God began to create the heavens and the earth. John says, "In the beginning was the Word" (John 1:1) and goes on to affirm the creation of all things "through the Word" (John 1:3). The affirmation that God created the world through the Word (or by means of the Son) is echoed elsewhere in the New Testament (1 Cor 9:6; Col 1:16; Heb 1:2). The prepositions "through" or "by means of" are important, because they reaffirm God's identity as the creator of all things but assert that God created through or by means of the Son. Not only does this involve the Son in the creation of the world, but it also maintains the unique identity of the one creator. There is only one God, and this God works through the Son and the Spirit to bring life to the world.

The People of God and the Peoples of the World

The God who created the world also created human beings as part of that world. The Bible is the story of the one God's dealings with the people God created. This story includes what God expects of them, how God responds to obedience and disobedience, and what God has done and will do for them. We can divide the story of humankind into several parts in the Bible: the creation of humankind, the choosing of Israel, the mission of Jesus as the one faithful Israelite and as the savior of Israel and the world, and finally the gathering of all peoples of the world into the new heaven and new earth that God will create.

The first part of the biblical narrative, then, is the creation of humankind. Human beings are the only living things created "in God's own image" (Gen 1:27). All humans share in the human mission to care for creation. This is part of what it means to be created in God's image and to take charge of all the living things and of the earth (Gen 1:28). Not only are human beings given the task to care for the world, but they are to do so by depending on and obeying their creator. Moreover, they are to live in community with each other. Indeed, from the very beginning God saw that it wasn't good for the human to be alone (Gen 2:18). So God created another human, and together Adam and Eve and all their descendants were to take care of the earth and each other as part of their obedience to and worship of the one God.

However, the story of Genesis is a story of things gone wrong. According to Genesis, God's original purposes for human beings to live together in harmony with God, with each other, and with the world fell apart when the humans refused to take their proper role as created beings. Rather than living in harmony with God's will or commands, Adam and Eve disobeyed God's word. Disobedience to God's commands meant that the human beings were cast out from the garden of Eden into a world that was more difficult and hostile (Gen 3:17-19). Later the apostle Paul wrote, "Creation was subjected to frustration" (Rom 8:20). Not only were relationships with God and the earth disrupted but so were human relationships with each other. This was already evident when Cain turned against his brother Abel and killed him (Gen 4:8). These stories in Genesis make it clear that, according to the Bible, the world isn't the way it was created to be or the way it's supposed to be.

But God doesn't simply let go of the world or its inhabitants; God's purposes continue to be worked out. The next chapter in the narrative has to do with the calling of the people of Israel. This part of the narrative is marked by God's calling of Abraham, the forefather of the people of Israel (Gen 12:1). Out of all the peoples of the world, God called Israel to be God's covenant people and to bear witness to God's identity, holiness, and will. This people was to be holy as God is holy (Lev 19:2; 20:26), to worship God alone (Deut 6:4-5), to live together in justice and peace with each other, and so to become a light, a testimony, to all the peoples of the world to draw them to God. They were to fulfill the purposes for which God created human beings.

The people of Israel were to do God's will as found in the Instruction God gave to Moses. This Instruction is represented in Ten Commandments (Exod 20:1-17; Deut 5:6-21), which require sole worship of the Lord God, as well as relationships to fellow human beings that are governed by justice, integrity, truth, and seeking the welfare of others. The Old Testament also contains numerous instructions regarding holiness before God, including laws prohibiting the consumption of certain foods and regulations regarding purification, clothing, sacrifice, the furnishings of the temple, and numerous other things. All of life was to be governed by God's will.

But the biblical account of Israel's communal life and witness in the world wasn't always very promising. The prophet Isaiah notes that human beings failed to acknowledge their creator with appropriate worship. Thus, in a lengthy attack on idol worship, Isaiah remarks on how someone will cut down a tree and use it for fuel. "He cuts down cedars for himself, or chooses a cypress or oak. . . . He plants a pine, and the rain makes it grow. It becomes suitable to burn for humans, so he takes some of the wood and warms himself. He kindles fire and bakes bread. He fashions a god and worships it; he makes an idol. . . . and he bows down, worships, and prays to it, saying, 'Save me, for you are my god!'" (Isa 44:14-17).

In his letter to the Romans, Paul makes the same point while speaking of Gentiles. He writes that, even though God's "eternal power and divine nature" (Rom 1:20) can be perceived in the things that are made, human beings have made a mess of things. "They exchanged the glory of the immortal God for images that look like mortal humans: birds, animals, and reptiles" (Rom 1:23). Like Isaiah, Paul believed that human beings don't properly worship God, and so they betray their creator and the purposes for which they were created. The creation is magnificent, and it witnesses to the magnificence of God; but human beings have perverted what it means to live in keeping with the good purposes of the creator.

What's more, people don't live together in the justice and integrity God calls for. Thus the shared life of Israel and, indeed, of all human beings, is marked by injustice, warfare, and idolatry. Israel's rulers don't always govern wisely. They don't guide Israel in living according to God's will. They don't demonstrate the rule of justice and integrity in Israel. The prophets, God's spokespersons to God's people, warn of the consequences of failing to do God's will, focusing particularly on the failure to worship God alone and to treat each other with justice and integrity. The consequences are exile from the land God gave to them. The prophets also offer a vision of a better day, when justice and righteousness, peace and health will characterize the life of God's people with each other, and true worship and obedience will characterize their relationship with God. Sometimes the prophets hope for a future time when all people, and with them all of creation will be set right with God and each other.

The other nations of the world are also part of the biblical narrative. These peoples can serve God's purposes and experience God's judgments and blessings. In fact, the biblical narrative always envisions the ultimate unity of all the inhabitants of the world. Everyone will dwell together in peace and harmony on a hospitable earth, worshipping the one creator God.

Jesus and the People of God

The biblical narrative takes a decisive turn with the mission of Jesus of Nazareth, the Christ of Israel. According to the Gospel accounts—and indeed, all the New Testament—Jesus was a faithful Israelite descended from David. He was the king God promised to Israel to deliver it from its enemies and to restore Israel to its proper and rightful place. However, Jesus' vision of Israel's proper place wasn't that Israel would rule the world but that it would be God's servant to the whole world, just as Jesus himself was. Following Jesus in this way, God's people are to be a light to all the peoples of the world.

According to the Gospel accounts, Jesus' mission was to gather the people of Israel and call them to be the people God wished them to be. Jesus was to find "the lost sheep" of the house of Israel (Matt 15:24); to seek out the one sheep who was lost and to bring it back to the fold with the other ninety-nine (Luke 15:6); to welcome home the younger brother, and then to reconcile the older and younger brothers so that they might celebrate together at the table of fellowship (Luke 15:11-32); to gather together the children of God who were scattered abroad (John 11:52).

In keeping with his mission, Jesus interpreted the Law of Moses by summarizing it with two commands: "You must love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your being, and with all your mind" and "You must love your neighbor as you love yourself" (Matt 22:34-46). The heart of what God calls all the peoples of the world to be and to do is here, in Israel's scriptures, as summarized by these commands. God's people are to love God and their neighbors; they are to offer proper worship to God and to "do justice" and "embrace faithful love" (Mic 6:8).

Thus God's people would serve as a light to the nations, a city on a hill, so that the nations would be drawn to God. In the biblical account of things, however, this expectation gets turned on its head in the death and resurrection of Jesus. Instead of the world's peoples coming to join God's people, the risen Jesus instructs his followers to go to the world's peoples. Following Jesus' death and resurrection, the disciples are commissioned to "go and make disciples of all nations" (Matt 28:19). Jesus' apostles, empowered by the Holy Spirit, likewise carry the news about Jesus from Jerusalem to "the end of the earth" (Acts 1:8).

So the biblical story begins broadly with the creation of all people, narrows to the calling of Israel to be a people holy and faithful to God, narrows still further to the calling of those who follow Jesus, and then broadens out again to include all the peoples of the earth, "persons from every tribe, language, people, and nation" (Rev 5:9). God told Israel they would be "a kingdom of priests" (Exod 19:6), but later this designation is given to Jesus' followers (1 Pet 2:9), including those who come from every corner of the earth (Rev 5:9-10). These people are holy as God is holy (1 Pet 1:16; Lev 19:2; 20:26).

Re-creation and Redemption

The death and resurrection of Jesus are the climax of the story, and they show the lengths to which God was willing to go in order to call a holy people. Jesus' ministry—his life, death, and resurrection—show both the continuity and discontinuity that exists between God's actions as portrayed in the Old and New Testaments. God in Christ reverses the disobedience of Adam, fulfills God's promises to Abraham to make of him a great and numerous people, and accomplishes a new exodus, a new release from slavery in the form of release from all the powers of sin that enslave human life. Even as Moses sealed God's covenant with the people of Israel with blood, so Jesus' blood seals the new covenant with God's people that God makes through him. Even as a king could be expected to care for and protect his people, so Jesus the good shepherd-king willingly gives his life to protect his people from death (John 10:1-18). God's dwelling in the wilderness and then in the Jerusalem temple were symbols of God's holy presence with Israel; the risen Jesus embodies God's everlasting holy presence with God's people (John 2:19-22; 4:22-23; Rev 21:3-5).

God disciplined the people Israel for their disobedience by sending them into exile but restored them again to their inheritance. According to the New Testament, however, Jesus bore the consequences of human disobedience and sin. He was the one truly faithful Israelite, and in his faithfulness, even to the point of death on the cross, he faithfully carried out God's will (Phil 2:5-11). Through his death and resurrection he restored his people to life. Israel regularly brought sacrifices to the temple for purification of the people and for reconciliation with God; Jesus' death both purifies the world's sin and reconciles the world to God. All the people of the world may be brought into one people who love God with all their heart, being, strength, and mind, and who love their neighbors, and indeed their enemies, as themselves. God ultimately deals with human disobedience through Jesus Christ, reconciling the world through Jesus' death and resurrection. This work will be completed when Christ returns, when all things, including all people, will be made new.

The hope for the renewal of the world and its peoples runs throughout the Bible. It's highlighted especially in the book of Isaiah. Here God's people worship God in holiness and with joy, and all the peoples of the world stream to Jerusalem to worship God with them. The world becomes a hospitable place, without threat to human life. In poetic imagery Isaiah asserts "The wolf will live with the lamb" (Isa 11:6; 65:25). There will be no harm done, no destruction, on God's "holy mountain" (Isa 11:9; 65:25). Human beings will live in harmony together. People "will beat their swords into iron plows and their spears into pruning tools," and there will be no more war (Isa 2:4; Mic 4:3). Indeed, God "will swallow up death forever" and "wipe tears from every face" (Isa 25:8).

This is the same vision given by Jesus in his promise of God's kingdom. God's kingdom is that reality in which God's commanding and gracious rule extends over all the earth, so that God's purposes are accomplished. God's kingdom is God's new world in which people from every tongue, nation, and tribe gather together to worship God and the Lamb, to feast at the end-time banquet, to live together in peace in God's holy city. In the coming of the kingdom everything that disrupts the peace and harmony of God's good creation is removed. In the kingdom, God's will is done, people are fed their daily bread, their sins are forgiven, and they walk in God's righteous ways.

The vision of God's new world is shown in various ways in the New Testament. Paul speaks of creation's being "subjected to frustration" and in "slavery to decay," "groaning" and "suffering labor pains" (Rom 8:20-22). But that isn't all there is. Creation "waits breathless" until all God's children are revealed in glory, and then it will join in their freedom and life (Rom 8:1-39). Paul can thus write of the hope of a new creation that entails both the remaking of the world and the renewal of individuals (2 Cor 5:17; Gal 6:15). In the book of Colossians the world is said to be "created" and "held together" through Christ who is God's image (Col 1:15-17). But even so, "all things" (Col 1:17) in this world need to be reconciled—and they are reconciled to God by means of the one through whom they were also made. Human beings, too, are being restored in their creator's image (Col 3:10). In everything, God works for the renewal of the world God has made but which has become marred by sin and its consequences.

Fittingly, the last book and the last chapters of the Bible contain a grand vision of "a new heaven and a new earth" (Rev. 21:1), when God lives on earth with God's people and removes every source of mourning and pain. Everything that has spoiled the creation and separated humans from God and from each other—injustice, immorality, idolatry—is removed from the world, having been destroyed finally and fully by God. The world is now as it should be.

The Bible anticipates the end of this story but doesn't actually narrate it. Throughout the scriptures, the story looks forward to the future. One might even say that the Bible is full of hope for the future realm of blessedness. The unity of the Bible lies in the creating, redeeming, and recreating work of God, who made the world, loves it, and will one day bring it and its inhabitants to the fullness of life.

HOW WE GOT THE BIBLE

Daniel G. Reid

When e-books became popular, we saw the greatest change in books since the invention of the printing press in the 15th century. What if e-books completely replace printed books? Think about how strange printed books and the whole process of producing them will seem then. If we could transport ourselves to the 25th century, we might have much to explain about the format and content of our reading materials, and our descendants would have much to imagine. That is how it is for us when we try to imagine books and their readers in ancient Israel.

We are separated from the writing of the final books of the NT by 1,900 years. This may seem like a long time, but consider the extensive period of time before the time of Christ—certainly hundreds of years, if not a thousand—during which the OT books were written. From the time of early Israel to the 1st century CE of Paul, John, and Peter, there were significant changes in language, writing, writing materials, and the making of texts.

Ancient Books and Writing

Books as we know them—with clearly established authorship and composed as single volumes, bound, and sold to individuals—were unknown in ancient Israel. Books were too expensive for all but a few to own, and there was no book business in the modern sense of that concept. Nor were there many competent readers.

Let's think about the origin of the OT. People often imagine a period when the material of the Bible—stories and prophecies, poetry and traditions—was handed down orally (around the campfire, so to speak), followed by a period when this material was put into writing and handed down in printed form. But it's more accurate to say that written texts circulated alongside spoken tradition and oral performance. Written texts supported the passing on of information and traditions by word of mouth in two ways. First, the texts aided the memories of the people who recited stories and traditions. Second, the texts were read aloud and, in time, included aids for readers, who read them to an audience. (Silent reading was rare and even regarded as strange.)

Relatively few people could read beyond the basic level required for everyday business. That left the reading of more serious texts, like the scriptures, to the experts. This was especially true in Babylon and Egypt, where complicated writing systems set a high bar for readers. Fortunately, the situation was much better in Palestine, where speakers of Hebrew or related languages enjoyed the benefit of a simple 22-letter alphabet. Scholars estimate that only about 5 to 7 percent of Babylonians and Egyptians could read and write; but in Palestine the figure would have been significantly higher, though how high isn't known.

In Babylon and some other places, clay tablets were used for writing. These were typically small enough to hold in one hand. People made wedge-shaped characters with a stylus (a pointed, pen-shaped instrument) in the soft clay surface, and the tablets were then hardened by baking or drying in the sun. It could take a scribe about 50 hours to copy the 3,000 lines of the great Babylonian poem Epic of Gilgamesh.

Evidence for everyday reading and writing in Palestine has come to us through random archeological discoveries. For instance, archeologists have found many notes and records on pieces of broken pottery called ostraca, a sort of ancient notepaper used for everyday notes and administrative purposes. These suggest that at least some of the common people were able to read and write simple texts.

More important documents in Palestine were written in ink on scrolls made of papyrus (a writing material made from thin strips of the papyrus plant; the plural is "papyri"), parchment (specially prepared animal skins), or leather. Unfortunately, the dampness of Palestinian winters has destroyed these fragile materials. Interesting bits of evidence of their existence remain, however. For instance, scrolls often had a clay seal attached to them, indicating their ownership (see Jer 36:1-10). Archeologists have found more than 1,000 of these seals in Palestine. A good number of them, dating as far back as the 7th century BCE, carry the phrase "belonging to the king" written in Hebrew. While this tends to confirm that many of these documents were for royal use, such seals have been found throughout Palestine. So it's probably safe to conclude that someone in each location could read the writing on the scrolls.

A scroll wasn't a book as we think of it, with bound pages, a cover, and a title advertising its contents. It was more like a rolled-up text-storage device. Later, in the Christian era, the book, or codex, came into use. Whereas, like our books today, the length of a text tended to determine the size of a codex, the practical length of the scroll set the limit for its text. A typical scroll consisted of about 20 sheets of papyrus glued together, making it about 11 feet long. A longer scroll might have 40 or even 60 joined sheets; but at 60 sheets (30 or more feet), a scroll became very awkward to use.

Currently we think of texts as the works of individuals who present research or express their own creativity through writing. Most authors expect to have their written work protected by copyright law and to receive payment for their efforts. These ideas were foreign to people of the OT world. Important texts were typically the property of a ruler, a dynasty, a people, or a religious community. These people edited, preserved, and passed texts on from one generation to the next. For example, when we read the word “I” in a biblical psalm, we naturally assume it refers to its author. But OT psalms come to us from a long tradition of worship in Israel. Certainly, the psalm originated with someone, but its ancient Israelite audience understood the original writer’s “I” to refer to the community and represent common human experience before God.

Scribes were the key agents in composing, editing, updating, and preserving texts. More than secretaries, they were scholars trained in writing, reading, memorizing, and handling texts. Scribes were often employed by the royal palace or the temple. Some rose above the routine work to become highly educated scholars who, among other things, composed and collected proverbs and other wisdom literature.

The Writing of the OT

The history of the writing of the OT books is complex and mostly hidden from our eyes. Some of this history can be pieced together by paying careful attention to details. It helps to remember the four broad periods of Israelite and Jewish history:

- Earliest Israel (to the period before c. 1000 BCE)
- The Israelite kingdoms before the exile (1000–587 BCE)
- The period of the Babylonian exile (587–538 BCE)
- The post-exilic period (538–400 BCE)

The OT covers this entire span of time, but the actual writing of the OT texts was a process that grew with the establishment of the Israelite kingdoms and reached its climax in the exilic and post-exilic periods.

Some evidence of how the OT was written is relatively easy to find. For instance, some historical books mention such sources as “the official records of Israel’s and Judah’s kings” (2 Chron 35:27) and “the Jashar scroll” (Josh 10:12-13; 2 Sam 1:18). These books refer to legal sources like “the instruction scroll from Moses” (2 Kgs 14:6; Neh 8:1). In the book of Proverbs we find mention of the “Proverbs of Solomon,” the “Sayings of the Wise,” the “Words of Agur,” and the “Words of King Lemuel.” The book of Psalms is a collection from various sources (psalms of Korah, of Asaph, of David). In other cases we find two accounts that are nearly identical, such as Isaiah 36–39 and 2 Kings 18:13–20:19. This suggests either that one text depends on the other or that they share a common source. We also have the parallel histories of 1 Samuel through 2 Kings, on the one hand, and 1–2 Chronicles on the other, with the Chronicles providing a later interpretation of the earlier history.

At one point, the book of Jeremiah pulls back a curtain on the writing process. Jeremiah dictates to his scribe, Baruch, a warning to Judah. This warning is then read publicly, but the king disapproves of the message and destroys the scroll. Jeremiah then dictates the message to Baruch again, adding “many similar words” to it (Jer 36:32). In this basic way, the book of Jeremiah shows how the texts developed in stages.

Some sources aren’t mentioned as clearly but may be detected from features of the biblical text. These features have led scholars to produce a variety of theories about how some texts were crafted. The most famous theories are those for explaining how we got the Pentateuch, the first five books of the OT. Although there’s no clear agreement on the details of how, when, and why the Pentateuch reached its present form, today very few scholars hold the traditional view that it was written by Moses. Instead, these books were written over a long period of time and draw on multiple sources. The Pentateuch itself speaks of some written sources (e.g., Gen 5:1; Exod 17:14; 24:4 34:27; Num 21:14-15; 33:2; Deut 31:9, 22, 24). No matter how these books were written, it seems clear that this great collection has an overall unity of purpose, even if it isn’t uniform in its texture and authorship. It’s more like a collage that reached its present form before the 6th century BCE.

The Pentateuch shares a storyline with the books of Joshua, Judges, 1–2 Samuel, and 1–2 Kings. Sometimes called the Primary History, this work would have been widely available after 561 BCE, when the last king of Judah, Jehoiachin, was released from prison (2 Kgs 25:27). These books recount the entire stretch of history, from creation to the fall of David’s dynasty and the exile of many Judeans to Babylon. They tell why Israel's judgment and exile occurred, and they offer cautious hope for a future descendant of David who would arise to bless the earth. It's likely that the fall of Jerusalem, the end of the Davidic kingship, and the unfolding exile led to the collection of the materials that make up this history of Israel.

When we think about the composition of the OT, we need to think in corporate terms. Some individuals were involved in these writings. In fact, some individual names were attached to books. This is especially true of the Prophets (e.g., Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Amos). However, we must think of the community of God's people as the means by which God speaks through scripture. Apart from the period of Israel's exile (after the Babylonians destroyed the temple in 587 BCE), it's helpful to think in terms of the temple as the center of scribal and priestly activity. Even the audience of these books would have been the community of God's people. The king was supposed to be familiar with the Instruction (Deut 17:18-19), as were the priests and the scribes, but it was the common people who heard it read aloud (Exod 24:7; Deut 31:11; Josh 8:32-35; 2 Kgs 23:1-3; Neh 8; Jer 36:8-10).

The shock of Babylonian exile—and the loss of temple, ruler, and city—led God's people to preserve texts and shape them into the books that make up our OT today. In the post-exilic period many of God's people and their leaders returned to the land of Israel. Alongside the rebuilding of the temple in Jerusalem, there was a renewed emphasis on pulling together the nation's heritage of scriptures and letting them speak to the new situation in which Israel found itself (Neh 8).

The Emergence of the OT Canon

The texts of the OT shaped the life and worship of the Jewish people that emerged after the exile. These texts were recognized, honored, and received as having been given by God and speaking with God's authority. Many were edited to address the new situation of life after exile. This editing was a long process carried out by trained scribes. In fact, the final editorial work wasn't completed until just before the first Christian century. By the 1st century BCE, Jews in Roman Palestine had settled on a collection of scriptures made up of the same books found in the OT today.

The 1st-century Jews in Alexandria, Egypt, recognized a broader selection of books, including what we today call the OT Apocrypha. This collection comes down to us in what was certainly the greatest translation project of the ancient world—the translation of Israel's Hebrew scriptures into Greek, called the Septuagint (abbreviated as LXX). Because most early Christians spoke Greek, the Bible of early Christianity was this Greek OT. Today the Orthodox Church retains the Greek Bible as its authorized version of the OT and assumes the canonicity of the Apocrypha (1 Esdras, Tobit, Judith, 1–3 Maccabees, Wisdom, Ben Sira, Baruch, and the Letter of Jeremiah). The Western (or Roman) Church also includes the books of the Apocrypha (consisting of a slightly different collection), considering them to be deuterocanonical (i.e., the second canon).

Israel's Hebrew scriptures have the same 39 books we find in the Christian OT. However, they're grouped together in 24 books (e.g., without the "firsts" and "seconds" of Kings and Chronicles) and in an order that differs from that of the Christian OT. In the Hebrew scriptures we find three divisions: Torah (Instruction), Prophets, and Writings. Torah consists of the five "Books from Moses," or the Pentateuch (Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy). Prophets includes the Former Prophets (Joshua, Judges, 1–2 Samuel, and 1–2 Kings) and the Latter Prophets (Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and the 12 Minor Prophets treated as one book, The Twelve). Writings is comprised of Psalms, Proverbs, Job, a grouping of five books known as The Scrolls (Song of Songs, Ruth, Lamentations, Ecclesiastes, and Esther), Daniel, Ezra–Nehemiah (as one book), and Chronicles.

The discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls in 1947 tore a small opening in the curtain of history to show us how similar the texts in Israel's Hebrew scriptures and the Christian OT are to the ancient texts. The remains of a library of a strict Jewish community were found stashed in caves. Texts on leather and papyrus scrolls had been preserved in the hot, dry climate along the Dead Sea. Representing a period running from about 250 BCE to 68 CE, this treasury included the community's own writings as well as many bits and pieces, and even whole texts, of every book in our present OT except for Esther. The biblical texts preserved among the Dead Sea Scrolls are remarkably close to the OT text that Judaism has preserved over the centuries, the Masoretic Text. Before the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the earliest full copy of the Masoretic Text was the Leningrad Codex, which dates from around 1000 CE.

The Masoretic Text shows us what mainstream Judaism regarded as its authoritative scriptures from at least the 1st century BCE. Evidence leads us to think this text was carefully preserved in the Jerusalem temple by trained scribes. It was painstakingly edited by each successive generation and copied when a manuscript showed signs of wear and the need for replacing. Beginning in the 1st century CE, there was a concerted effort to standardize the Hebrew language in the texts. After the Romans attacked and destroyed Jerusalem and the temple in 70 CE, such care with the text was even more important because Judaism had truly become a religion of The Book.

A succession of scribal schools devoted themselves to overseeing the preservation of the text of the OT. The most famous of these was the Masoretes, a school of scribes who were responsible for producing the Masoretic Text and carried the task forward from about 500 CE to 1000 CE. Even before the Masoretes, however, specific quality-control guidelines had been established among the scribal schools. These included the choice of writing materials, the spacing between characters, the length of lines, and the rule that no letter or word could be written from memory.

The Masoretes, in turn, made careful notes in the margins that accompanied the text whenever it was copied. They added vowels in order to preserve for later generations the proper reading of words in the text. They also standardized a system of verse divisions, first introduced in the early Common Era but whose practice varied, that separated the text into 23,100 verses. (Chapters were introduced later, probably in the 13th century by Hugh of St. Cher.) In order to ensure the text was copied accurately, the Masoretes counted verses, words, and letters, and they noted which word fell in the exact middle of the text being copied. This data always accompanied the copied texts so they could be checked and rechecked by later generations of scribes.

As Christians used the Septuagint more and more, Judaism rejected it (when the Jews needed a Greek translation, they made a new one from the Hebrew). By the late 4th century an authoritative Latin translation of the OT was also required. Jerome (c. 345–420), a Christian scholar, translated the OT from the Hebrew text into Latin. While he was critical of the Greek and Latin translations that preceded his, he showed confidence in the Hebrew text, which most likely represented the Masoretic Text. This confidence in the Masoretic Text has continued over the centuries, and it remains the basis for our modern translations of the OT.

The Writing of the NT

The writing and composition of the NT took place during a much shorter time period. Instead of the hundreds of years it took for the development of the OT, we're now speaking of 50 to 70 years, a human lifetime, for the writing of the NT. We also know more about how texts were composed during this period. The NT books were written in the common Greek of a single time period and show a greater uniformity in the language and writing materials used to create them. Unlike the OT, for which our witnesses to the text come from a period much later than its original composition, we enjoy an abundance of NT texts (papyri) that have been preserved, even if mostly in fragments, from as early as the 2nd century CE.

The earliest NT books to be written were Paul's letters, which date from the late 40s to the early 60s. Paul used a secretary, as was the custom in his day for any lengthy work. Writing with pen and ink on papyrus was not as simple as we might imagine, and a secretary was someone who had been trained and was practiced in this skill. Paul's secretary would have first taken down dictation, possibly in a form of shorthand, on a notepad consisting of wooden tablets with recessed surfaces covered with wax. Dictating a letter, particularly a long one, probably involved several daily sessions. From this first copy his secretary would produce a good copy on papyrus, which Paul could review and correct. Then Paul would add his final greetings in his own hand (Gal 6:11; 1 Cor 16:21; Col 4:18; 2 Thess 3:17). When composing his letters Paul might have invited input from his team members, like Timothy, Sosthenes, and Silvanus (1 Cor 1:1; 2 Cor 1:1; Phil 1:1; Col 1:1; 1 Thess 1:1; 2 Thess 1:1). He also included in his letters hymns, creeds, sayings of Jesus, and other material used in church worship and teaching.

Paul would keep a copy of the letter, while a good copy would be carried to the addressee, whether that might be a church (such as Philippi or Corinth) or a person (such as Philemon, Timothy, or Titus). The letter carrier would have been a trusted person (such as Tychicus, Eph 6:21; Col 4:7-9), who would know not only what the letter said but why, and could also help explain it as needed. Once the letter was received and read aloud, copies would have been made for further distribution to Christian communities in the area (Col 4:16; cf. Gal 1:2). And so would begin a broadcast of copies, and copies of copies, resulting in some of the texts that have been discovered over recent centuries.

How the four Gospels were composed is more difficult to determine. Luke comments on the process at the beginning of his Gospel: "Many people have already applied themselves to the task of compiling an account of the events . . . They used what the original eyewitnesses and servants of the word handed down to us." Having "investigated everything carefully from the beginning," Luke says he has "decided to write a carefully ordered account" (Luke 1:1-3). Clearly Luke recognizes he's standing on the shoulders of others, and, with sources and traditions of Jesus to work with, he's gone about his task with deliberate care.

Luke's testimony fits well with the fact that three of our Gospels—Matthew, Mark, and Luke—have much in common with each other. And it's clear the origins of these “synoptic” Gospels (so called because they have a “similar view”) are connected in some way. John's Gospel is most different from the other three, with longer speeches by Jesus and different stories and themes. Yet John has important points of similarity with the synoptic Gospels.

We must recall that Jesus himself left no written record of his life or teaching. After his resurrection his disciples deliberately began to recall his words and deeds and share them orally, and probably in writing as well. Within early Christian communities the memories of Jesus' words and deeds would have been subject to the informal quality control of eyewitnesses and other reliable sources. From the Gospels themselves we can detect units of tradition—such as parables, miracle stories, and stories—that lead up to an important saying of Jesus. The extended story of Jesus' death, called the passion narrative, seems to have been a much larger unit of tradition. Before the first full gospel was written, there may have been several partial and varied collections of Jesus' sayings.

The Gospel writers took this material and constructed narratives of Jesus that came to be called gospels. (The term “gospel” wasn't used as a name for these texts until the 2nd century.) When they were written, they most resembled Roman biographies. The main reason for writing the gospels was to give believers a particular historical and theological perspective on the person and teaching of Jesus. No doubt there was also some concern that eyewitnesses were dying off. So these gospels were written for instruction and proclamation within the life of the church.

The Emergence of the NT Canon

Did the NT authors think they were writing scripture? We can't know for certain, but it's interesting to note how the four Gospel writers anchored their narratives in Israel's scriptural story and extended the story forward. For example, Matthew's Gospel starts with a genealogy of Jesus reaching back to Abraham. In his birth narrative Luke uses hymns that have an OT ring to them, and he provides a genealogy going back to Adam. Mark begins by echoing the words of OT prophets (Isa 40; Mal 3:1), and John opens with language and themes that recall Genesis 1. In his letters Paul speaks with a self-conscious apostolic authority, sometimes even like a prophet, and includes numerous appeals to the OT and its fulfillment. At the very least, NT writers understood that Jesus' life, ministry, death, and resurrection were the climax of God's covenant relationship with Israel. This was worthy of a written memorial in the scriptural tradition, which included story as well as instruction.

More pointedly, 2 Peter 3:15-16 speaks of Paul's letters collectively as “scripture.” Then there is the curious case of 1 Timothy 5:18, which says: “The scripture says, Don't put a muzzle on an ox while it treads grain, and Workers deserve their pay.” The first part of the quotation is from Deuteronomy 25:4, which is clearly scripture. But the second, stated with equal authority, is a saying of Jesus from Luke 10:7. Depending on how we date the writing of 2 Peter and 1 Timothy, we may have evidence that a portion of the NT was regarded as scripture by some Christians as early as the late 1st century.

Some people think the authoritative collection, or canon, of NT books didn't attain scriptural status throughout the church until the 4th century. They also imagine this was the result of the political triumph of right belief (orthodoxy) over beliefs judged to be erroneous (heresy). Some think that in the 2nd century those gospels that were later regarded as noncanonical were nearly as common as the four Gospels we read in our NT. But there's interesting evidence this view is wrong, and that evidence comes from a town dump.

Some of our earliest fragments of gospel papyri come from the dump for the ancient town of Oxyrhynchus in Egypt. This area has produced thousands of fragments of all sorts of ancient literature. Of the fragments identified as being from any kind of gospel text dated to 200 CE or earlier, it's estimated that canonical Gospels outnumber noncanonical ones by about three to one. This is, of course, a random sampling of a purely incidental nature. Nevertheless, those who favor the so-called Lost Gospels rightly point out that Egypt was a hotbed of early Gnosticism (an ancient Christian heresy), one of the so-called Lost Christianities. But if that is so, why does the evidence from Oxyrhynchus show a preference for our canonical Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John?

The evidence from Oxyrhynchus becomes more interesting when we realize Christians were early adopters of a new technology: the codex, or book (rather than a scroll). There were probably several reasons for this preference, including the fact that the codex allowed quicker access to passages, had greater holding capacity, could be carried around more easily, and was cheaper. But some have suggested the codex was also adopted because it could hold the four Gospels in one “book.” One thing seems certain: while Jews and other religious groups used the scroll for their religious texts, Christians overwhelmingly preferred the codex for their scriptural texts. (Christians favored scrolls for texts other than scripture.) The result was that the codex distinguished these texts, perhaps the Gospels first, as Christian scriptural texts.

Now, when the evidence of gospel texts from the town dump of Oxyrhynchus is categorized by whether they come from a codex or scroll, the evidence tilts even more radically toward our canonical Gospels being regarded as scripture (codex)—by a ratio of seven canonical Gospels to one non-canonical gospel. It is clear then that at this one significant location, the evidence shows that the non-canonical gospels were not as popular as the canonical Gospels. And this fits with other persuasive evidence that the Gnostic gospels represented an elitist and sectarian movement that did not win the hearts and minds of common people.

All in all, it seems the church’s wide acceptance of the NT canon was not the result of the trickling down of pronouncements from the seats of power. Rather, the NT we know today took shape as it bubbled up from the broad-based spiritual wisdom, insight, and devotion of the church. The books selected to be in the NT impressed themselves on the church and so were received as scripture and then accepted as canonical. Because they carried Jesus’ authority, the imprint of apostolic tradition, and the ring of truth and had proven their worth in the church, they were recognized as inspired scripture.

In the late 2nd century the church father Irenaeus could speak confidently of a “fourfold gospel.” The earliest discussion of the NT books received as canon by the universal church is the Muratorian Fragment, which is also often dated to the late 2nd century. As the name suggests, it has been only partially preserved for us. After a damaged beginning it mentions the third and fourth Gospels, Luke and John (likely having already named Matthew and Mark as the first and second Gospels). The fragment goes on to cover Acts, Paul’s letters, the letter of Jude, two letters of John, and Revelation. In all, 21 of our 27 books are listed; some others are given marginal status, while Gnostic and other heretical works are condemned.

In 367 the bishop Athanasius, in his Easter letter to the church, devoted much space to naming the books of the NT. This is the first time we know of someone plainly listing exactly the 27 books that make up our NT today. But it’s also clear Athanasius was not stating a new decision but simply sketching in what was already the established understanding by his day.

The order of the NT books has varied over the centuries. The Gospels typically came first, sometimes followed by Acts. The letters of Paul were grouped together and usually included Hebrews, because it was widely thought to have been authored by Paul. The catholic letters (James, 1–2 Peter, Jude, 1–3 John) were usually grouped together but may have been placed before or after Paul’s letters. Revelation most often came at the end but occasionally followed the Gospels, since it’s a revelation of Jesus Christ. In the NT we use today, Paul’s letters are ordered from the longest to the shortest letter to a church (Galatians, which precedes Ephesians, is slightly shorter than Ephesians, though in certain copies Galatians may have looked longer), then runs from the longest to the shortest letter to an individual. The present ordering of the NT books wasn’t really fixed until the printed English translations of the 16th century.

Establishing the Text of Scripture

Clearly the Bible we open and read today has a long history. Among the main Christian traditions, the contents of its canon range beyond the core of the 66 books found in Protestant churches. Except for those used by the Eastern Orthodox Church, translations rely on the Hebrew Masoretic Text for the OT and the Greek text of the NT. The Eastern Orthodox Church depends on the Septuagint for its OT. But no single text, Hebrew or Greek, is fully, 100 percent, the original text. This is because errors have crept in over centuries of copying the text by hand. In fact, the age of the printing press introduced its own errors and broadcast them more rapidly and broadly than the slow process of hand copying. And whereas Israel’s scriptures in Hebrew were for centuries copied in the most careful fashion, the Greek texts of the NT were handed down with less discipline, particularly during the earliest centuries.

From early times right up to the present, then, we have needed to study the manuscripts carefully in order to root out errors and find the most reliable text of the Bible. Early Christian scholars, such as Origen (185–254) and Jerome (345–420), carefully weighed the various readings of the texts they encountered. However, the modern science of what is called textual criticism (the discipline of judging which “reading,” or text, is authentic) got its start with Erasmus of Rotterdam (1466–1536), who published a Greek text of the NT based on the best manuscripts available to him.

Since the time of Erasmus, textual criticism has grown into a specialized field of study. Simultaneously, the number of available NT manuscripts, from fragments to whole texts, has increased significantly. The number of papyri now stands at 125, with the earliest dated to the 2nd century CE and numerous others from the 3rd and 4th centuries CE. In addition there are ancient translations of the Greek text and other types of early Christian literature that quote the NT. The result is that the text of the NT is far better supported than any other ancient literature of the period. Moreover, the work of text critics inspires a great deal of confidence that the text used in Bible translations today is extremely close to the original text. We can see some of this work in contemporary English translations. For example, the CEB points out in a footnote for John 8:11 that “Critical editions of the Greek NT do not contain 7:53–8:11” (see also the CEB footnote for Acts 8:36).

Following in ancient footsteps, modern editions of the Bible have continued to offer readers help. Chapter and verse divisions have been inserted, poetry is arranged in verse structure, headings and subheadings mark topics, footnotes explain obscure references or important alternate textual readings, cross-references point to relevant biblical texts, and extensive notes and essays accompany study Bibles. These features all support the reading and use of the Bible. But while they’re rooted in the best of scholarship, they shouldn’t be confused with the Bible itself. They are like a framework around an ancient but living text.

The Bible was not lowered from heaven on a golden strand. It has come down to us through the course of history, accumulating layers of wisdom, spiritual insight, and surprising events orchestrated by its divine author. In its writing and its preservation the Bible is true to its message, which speaks of a God who took up residence in the midst of Israel, a nomadic tribal people, and who finally comes to us as a young Jewish man from Nazareth, in the hill country of Galilee.

THE BIBLE AND ITS CHRONOLOGY

Pamela J. Scalise

101110000

Events in the Bible take place in a region that extends from modern-day Iran to Italy. Within these limits a series of empires centered in Egypt, Mesopotamia, and Europe exerted their power over God's people: Israel—the Jews—and the early Christians. The order in which these imperial powers appear in the Bible corresponds to the order known from sources outside the Bible: Egyptian, Assyrian, Babylonian, Persian, Hellenistic, and Roman. The written records of these ancient empires enable historians to assign dates to many occasions in the Bible, but only imprecise or disputed dates can be given for many other events. As a result, the completion date for each of the biblical books is also imprecise. What follows here is an overview of the biblical story and an introduction to the methods and challenges involved in dating events and books of the Bible.

Overview of Events in the Bible

Canaan: The Ancestors

The Bible begins with family stories about ordinary people, not royalty. When families had filled the earth, God chose Abraham and Sarah and promised them descendants and land (Gen 12). Their son Isaac, grandson Jacob, and their wives and children, lived in various places in central and southern Canaan, supporting themselves by farming and keeping flocks. Joseph, one of Jacob's sons, obtained a high position in the Egyptian pharaoh's court, and the rest of the family moved to northeast Egypt during a regional drought (Gen 36–50).

Egyptian Slavery

The descendants of Jacob, who was also named Israel, flourished in Egypt until a later pharaoh forced them into slave labor on his city-building projects. Under the leadership of Moses, God delivered the Israelites from bondage and started them on their way back to the land of Canaan, the land God promised to give to Abraham and his descendants. Somewhere in the Sinai wilderness, east of Egypt, God made a covenant with the Israelites, establishing a God-given way of life and worship for their occupation of the land toward which they were traveling. After a generation of delay in the wilderness, the Israelites crossed the Jordan River into Canaan, the promised land.

Canaan: From Tribes to Kingdom

With Joshua in command—and military leaders and other leaders later on—the Israelites laid claim to the land by conquest and settlement. The earliest mention of Israel outside of the Bible is in an Egyptian inscription, dated approximately 1210 BCE, that celebrates a victorious military campaign of Pharaoh Merneptah in the land of Canaan. In it Israel is listed as a group, not a kingdom. However, Joshua and Judges, the biblical books that cover this time period, say nothing about an Egyptian invasion.

A weakening of Egyptian control over the eastern coast of the Mediterranean Sea allowed for the growth of Philistine settlements and royal cities on the southern part of the coast and, in the late 11th and early 10th centuries, for the expansion of the united Israelite kingdom, located further inland. In response to the ongoing threat from the Philistines at the end of the 11th century, Israel asked for a king and received Saul. Where Saul failed, his successor, David, succeeded. Israel enjoyed rest from its enemies, and David made Jerusalem the capital city for a united Israel (in approximately 1000 BCE). No extrabiblical inscriptions about the reigns of Saul, David, or Solomon have been found; they're known to us only from the Bible.

God's promise to David of an everlasting dynasty (2 Sam 7) begins with David's son, Solomon, who succeeded David as king and built the Lord's first temple in Jerusalem (perhaps in 958 BCE). Near the beginning of the reign of Solomon's son Rehoboam (1 Kgs 14:25–26; 2 Chron 12:2–12), Pharaoh Shishak invaded Israel, collected taxes, and seized possessions (925 BCE). The biblical author barely mentions this event, however, because, in the author's view, Solomon's worship of other deities was the factor that determined later events (1 Kgs 11). The majority of Israel, the ten northern tribes, revolted from the rule of Solomon's son and established a kingdom ruled by Jeroboam, who had been one of Solomon's officials (1 Kgs 12). This northern kingdom retained the name Israel, while the southern kingdom was called Judah because it included the territory of the tribe of Judah, David's tribe, in addition to the territory of the smaller tribe of Benjamin. The two kingdoms continued, sometimes as allies, sometimes in conflict, for the next two centuries.

Northern and Southern Kingdoms

The Bible tells the story of both kingdoms in 1 and 2 Kings, and in a different form it connects with the royal story in the books of the prophets Isaiah, Jeremiah, Hosea, Joel, Amos, Micah, Habakkuk, and Zephaniah. The larger northern kingdom, Israel, had its own worship shrines at Bethel, Dan, and Samaria (the capital), and the prophets spoke against all three of these altars (1 Kgs 12–14; Amos 7). Israel's kings competed for territory with the Arameans and Moabites and, from the mid-9th century, resisted the Assyrian Empire. Throughout the northern kingdom's existence, the Neo-Assyrian Empire expanded its control in the region and required the payment of taxes from Israelite kings until Shalmaneser III finally conquered Samaria at some point during 723–721 BCE. The Assyrians transported many of the Israelites east to remote regions of the empire, and prisoners of war from other Assyrian-conquered areas were resettled in what had been the kingdom of Israel. The Bible says nothing more about these Israelite refugees (commonly referred to as the ten lost tribes of Israel), but the new arrivals and the Israelites who hadn't been deported became the ancestors of the Samaritans (see John 4; Acts 8:4-8).

At the same time in Judah, the southern kingdom, God's promise of a stable dynasty was fulfilled. Every king, from Solomon to Zedekiah, was a descendant of David. When the northern kingdom tried to force Judah to join a military alliance to resist Assyria, Judah's King Ahaz decided to pay tribute to Assyria instead. Assyria wasn't content with this arrangement for long, however. In 701 BCE Sennacherib of Assyria conquered all of Judah except for Jerusalem. The city, the temple, and Hezekiah (the king who followed Ahaz) were saved, but they paid a heavy tax. The Bible (2 Kgs 18–19; Isa 36–37) and the Assyrian royal archives give accounts of these events.

The late 7th century brought a rapid end to the Neo-Assyrian Empire. The Bible describes a religious reform and political revival in Judah during its brief period of relative freedom from foreign control (2 Kgs 22–23). King Josiah restored the worship of the one God, Yahweh, in Jerusalem, in Judah, and even in the old northern kingdom's holy city of Bethel, in keeping with the Book of the Instruction from Moses (probably a form of Deuteronomy) that was discovered in the temple (620 BCE). Josiah's goal was to restore the united kingdom of Israel by bringing the formerly Assyrian-administered territory of the northern kingdom under the rule of Jerusalem. But Babylon, Media, and Egypt were toying with Josiah for possession of this territory.

The armies of Babylon and Media conquered the Assyrian capital city of Nineveh in 612 BCE and then moved west on their way to claim more of the Assyrian imperial lands. Egypt had its eye on the same territory, and in 609 Pharaoh Neco led his army north along the coast next to Josiah's kingdom. When Josiah attempted to stop the Egyptians' advance, he was killed (2 Kgs 23:29; 2 Chron 35:20–24). Neco continued north and battled the Babylonian king. On his return trip to Egypt, the Pharaoh removed Josiah's son Jehoahaz from the throne in Jerusalem and replaced him with another one of Josiah's sons, Jehoiakim (2 Kgs 23:34–35). The king was now under the authority of Pharaoh, and Judah was no longer free.

Babylonian Rule and Exile

Four years later, in 605, Egypt and Babylon had a rematch. The Babylonian forces, led by the king's son Nebuchadnezzar, won control of the eastern Mediterranean lands, including Judah. Jehoiakim skillfully switched his loyalties, submitted to Babylon, and retained his throne. Just months after his victory, Nebuchadnezzar became king in Babylon. His realm never grew as large as the Assyrian Empire had been and was much smaller than the Persian, Greek, and Roman empires that followed, but Nebuchadnezzar became a symbol of evil power in the Bible because of what he did to Judah.

At the beginning of the 6th century, Jehoiakim rebelled, and Nebuchadnezzar responded by bringing his army against Jerusalem (597 BCE). He seized the portable objects in the temple, the king, the king's household, and the leading citizens and sent them all to Babylon (2 Kgs 24; Jer 24). This marked the beginning of the Babylonian exile. Jehoiakim had died during the siege, so his successor, Jehoiachin, and Jehoiachin's family were taken. The last king of Judah, Zedekiah, a son of Josiah, was made king as Nebuchadnezzar's puppet. A decade later he also rebelled, but this time the Davidic kingship didn't survive. The Babylonians burned the temple and the city in 587 or 586. They exiled even more prisoners and chopped up the large bronze objects in the temple for transport to Babylon. The Jewish exiles were settled together in communities in the area surrounding Babylon's capital city and worked as forced laborers on the king's projects. Elders provided leadership, and prophets spoke among them. Meanwhile, back in the land of Judah, the Babylonians appointed governors and redistributed the land among those Jews who had been left behind (Jer 40). The land promised to Abraham, the dynasty promised to David, the temple itself, and the Israelites' identity as God's covenant people seemed to be lost.

The Babylonian conquest and exile began a new era. From that point on, the Israelites never again lived together in a geographically defined kingdom. Instead, the Jews (from the Hebrew for "people of Judah") lived as a minority group within the Persian, Greek, and Roman empires, and spread out in scattered communities in what became known as the "diaspora" ("dispersion"). By the end of the time covered in the Old Testament, Jews were well established in North Africa, Mesopotamia, Asia Minor, Greece, the Italian peninsula, and as far away as Spain. Nevertheless, the Old Testament chronology generally follows the story of Jerusalem and the area around that city.

Persian Rule

In the mountains and highlands to the north and east of Babylon, King Cyrus II began building his Persian Empire, with victories over the Medes, Elamites, and Lydians. Nabonidus, the last king of the Neo-Babylonian Empire, had left his son Belshazzar in charge of Babylon. Cyrus was able to enter Babylon and claim the throne and the territory of the Babylonian Empire, including Jerusalem. His proclamation of 538, which supported migration by Jewish exiles back to Jerusalem and the rebuilding of the temple, marked the end of the exile (2 Chron 36:22-23; Ezra 1:1-4) and the completion of the seventy-year prophecy of Jeremiah 25:11; 29:10.

Conflicts within the Jewish community and opposition from non-Jewish neighbors delayed work on the second Jerusalem temple, but the building was completed during Darius' reign (522-486 BCE) and with his support (Ezra 6). Zechariah 1:7 implies a different calculation of the seventy years prophesied in Jeremiah 25:11; 29:10: The period would end when the second temple was finished (the first temple had been destroyed in 587, the second was completed in 515). The restoration of Jewish life in the Persian province of Yehud (Jerusalem and parts of the tribal territories of Judah and Benjamin) continued in the 5th century with additional Jewish immigrants returning from the land of exile (Babylon), the teaching and application of the Instruction from Moses by Ezra (Neh 8-10), and the rebuilding of the city wall, led by Nehemiah (Neh 12). The book of Esther is also set in the 5th century, during the reign of Xerxes (485-465 BCE). He is the last foreign emperor named in the OLD TESTAMENT. The Persian Empire survived for almost two centuries more, and Jewish communities grew in Jerusalem and throughout the surrounding region.

Greek Rule

In only eleven years (332-323 BCE), Alexander the Great of Macedon conquered all of the Persian Empire, including Egypt, and added it to his inherited realm in Greece. Then he died, leaving his successors to fight over the division of his empire. By the time he'd been dead for twenty-five years the borders of four hellenistic (or Greek) kingdoms had become relatively stable (see Dan 8:8). At first, Jerusalem and the surrounding area fell within the kingdom of Ptolemy, with its capital in Alexandria. A century later, the Seleucid (Greek-Macedonian) king, Antiochus III, won his war with Ptolemy V, and the eastern Mediterranean became part of the Seleucid kingdom.

By the mid-2nd century all of the books that are now part of the Hebrew Bible had been recognized as scripture within the Jewish community. In Egypt the Jewish community produced the first complete translation of the Old Testament into Greek (the Septuagint, or LXX). The Septuagint includes additional books now known by Protestant Christians as the Apocrypha and by the Roman Catholic Church as the Deuterocanon. The visions in the book of Daniel describe Alexander and the Hellenistic kingdoms, and narratives of Greek rule can be found in the Apocryphal books of 1 and 2 Maccabees.

The high priests at the Jerusalem temple had been the leaders of the Jewish community since the Persian period. Their position and influence depended on the approval and cooperation of the Hellenistic kings. Pressure on the Jews in and around Jerusalem to adapt to Greek culture increased in the 2nd century, dividing the community. The Seleucid king, Antiochus IV, put a stop to the sacrifices to God in the temple in 167 (1 Macc 1:41-63). He didn't allow Jews to circumcise their sons, keep food kosher, keep the Sabbath, or possess scrolls of the Law (the Torah, called the Instruction in the Old Testament)—on pain of death. He gave himself the title Epiphanes, which means "god revealed." He defiled the altar in the temple. His acts seemed to be pure evil: "desolating monstrosities" (Dan 9:27).

The violent oppression begun under Antiochus IV inspired a Jewish military revolt led by brothers from the Hasmonean family of priests. In 164 BCE they were able to drive the Seleucid troops out of the temple and the city of Jerusalem so that the altar and temple could be purified and restored to the worship of the Lord. The Jewish kingdom that emerged from the conflict continued the war against the Seleucids in Judea, Idumea, Samaria, Galilee, and the east side of the Jordan River. By the end of the reign of Alexander Jannaeus (103–76 BCE), the territory of the Hasmonean kingdom was nearly the size of the kingdom of David and Solomon. After his death, however, the kingdom quickly fell into disorder.

Roman Rule

The Romans conquered the area of the kingdom of Israel, which they called Palestine, in 63 BCE. Julius Caesar installed the Hasmonean descendant Hyrcanus as high priest and also granted special privileges to Jews in the diaspora, allowing them to observe their ancestral practices. Herod, an Idumean whose father had converted to Judaism, established his kingdom as a client of Rome. Roman Palestine was at the edge of the empire and served as an important defense against the Parthian kingdom to the northeast. Cities, palaces, fortresses, and temples were built during Herod's long and prosperous reign (37–4 BCE), including a complete remodeling of the second Jerusalem temple. Three generations of Herod's descendants ruled parts of his kingdom.

Dating events during the period covered by the New Testament involves reading not only the NT documents themselves but also other writings from the 1st century BCE and the 1st century CE. Especially important are the writings of the 1st-century CE Jewish historian Josephus. According to Matthew 2, Jesus' birth occurred during the reign of Herod the Great, who according to Josephus, died in early 4 BCE. This means Jesus was born sometime between 6 and 4 BCE. Luke 3:1-2 dates the beginning of John the Baptist's ministry in the fifteenth year of Emperor Tiberius' rule. This would have occurred during 27–29 CE, and Jesus would have begun his ministry about the same time. Jesus' death took place in either 30 or 33 CE. The Gospels name local rulers but no other Roman emperors. The son of Herod who put John the Baptist to death and who tried Jesus was Herod Antipas (4 BCE–39 CE), the ruler of Galilee. Pontius Pilate ruled Judea for Rome from 26 CE to 36 CE. Roman officials and local priests and royalty continued a complex competition to control and profit from the land and its people and resources.

The book of Acts narrates selected episodes from the spread of the gospel and the growth of the church during the three decades following Jesus' death, resurrection, and ascension. The outpouring of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost and Peter's sermon brought thousands of Jews from around the world into the community of baptized believers. The church in Jerusalem experienced harassment and martyrdom at the hands of the Jewish leaders and Roman rulers. Philip and Peter, two of Jesus' disciples, took the gospel to Gentiles in Judea and Samaria. Saul encountered the risen Christ and was converted from someone who harassed Christians to a believer himself (Acts 9). Several years later, Saul, also known as Paul, began his journeys, preaching the gospel and nurturing believers in Asia Minor and Europe (Acts 15–20). Paul's final journey in Acts—from Jerusalem to Rome, by way of Caesarea—was as a prisoner who appealed to the emperor to hear his case (Acts 21–28). The traditional date for the executions of Paul and Peter by Nero in Rome is 64 CE.

The Bible doesn't describe the first Jewish revolt against Rome in 66–74 CE, but some passages in Matthew, Luke, and John may reflect knowledge of the revolt. Pressure to accept emperor worship, local leaders who supported the emperor, unjust punishments, and burdensome taxation echoed conditions from the 2nd century BCE. The Roman governor, Florus, provoked rebellion among the Jews and brought Roman troops to Jerusalem. The rebellion spread throughout the country and was finally put down by the army led by Vespasian and his son Titus. In 70 CE the temple in Jerusalem was destroyed. It has not been rebuilt. Jews fled from Judea in every direction, and others were taken as prisoners of war to Rome and other parts of the empire.

Dating Events in the Bible

Synchronism between the stories of the Bible and other ancient sources make it possible to date many events in the Old Testament. Several ancient sources outside the Bible can be combined to produce a continuous timeline of the ancient Near Eastern kings from the 8th century BCE to the 2nd century CE. Two of the sources mention eclipses of the sun and moon. Astronomers have calculated the dates of those eclipses on the Western calendar. By working forward and backward from the dates of the eclipses, other events in the timeline of the ancient Near East can be dated as well. A few of those events also appear in the Bible, dated according to the reign of an Israelite or Judean king. The books of 1 and 2 Samuel and 1 and 2 Kings provide continuous timelines of their reigns, allowing historians to work from one or two of the dates to calculate dates for all of the kings. Dates in the reigns of Babylonian and Persian kings also appear in some Old Testament books. Emperors, kings, and officials named in the New Testament can be dated from other ancient sources.

The task of determining the dates of a ruler's reign, however, is more difficult than it sounds. There was no common calendar among competing nations. Dates used in the ancient Near East were regnal years, the years of the reign of the king in whose realm one lived. Jeremiah 25:1, for example, coordinates the fourth regnal year of Judah's King Jehoiakim with the first regnal year of his overlord, Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon. The regnal year officially began at the new year. Since a new king's first months on the throne could be designated as his first year, or his first year could be counted from the first new year after he began to reign—and it isn't always possible to know which method was used. To complicate matters further, over the course of a thousand years through changing practices, it appears that a new year in the Old Testament could begin in the spring or in the fall. The Romans began the new year on January 1. Furthermore, the Hebrew Old Testament and the Greek translation of the Old Testament sometimes have different dates or numbers.

The dates of events before the appearance of kings in Israel are even less certain. Two theories exist for the date of the exodus from Egypt, based on different biblical texts. The names and locations of the cities the Israelite slaves were building—Pithom and Rameses in the eastern Nile River Delta (Exod 1:11)—support a 13th-century BCE date, since pharaohs of that time had their capital in the delta. Others argue that the exodus must have occurred in the 15th century in order to fit in the 480 years from the exodus to the building of the temple (10th century) indicated in 1 Kings 6:1. The Bible offers several different possible time spans for Israel's stay in Egypt: 430 years (Exod 12:40), 400 years (Gen 15:13), and four generations (Gen 15:16). In Galatians 3:17 and the Septuagint version of Exodus 12:40, the 430 years begin with Abraham. No source outside the Bible exists for providing a direct link for dating any of the events in Genesis.

Dating Biblical Books

None of the biblical books specifies its publication date. Various kinds of internal evidence point to likely times of composition, but there's room for disagreement. The range of possible dates for New Testament books is a matter of decades. Non-biblical Christian sources begin to refer to New Testament books early in the 2nd century CE. No original copies are known, but 2nd-century fragments of copies of some New Testament books have survived. Theories about the dates of Old Testament books sometimes differ by centuries.

Some biblical books include references to datable events. The most recent event indicates the earliest possible date by which a book could have been completed. For example, Acts dates Paul's final arrest to the time Felix was the governor of Judea (Acts 24), but Paul wasn't sent on to Rome until after Festus had replaced Felix as governor in 60 CE. This means Acts couldn't have been written before 60 CE. Moreover, Acts provides something of a timeline of Paul's missionary travels that helps to date his letters. For instance, Acts 18:11-12 puts Paul in Corinth while Gallio was governor. The years Gallio held that office, 51-52, are known from Roman sources. Paul wrote to the church in Corinth after his stay there, so the date of 1 Corinthians has been calculated as 53 or 54.

This method of linking to a ruler's reign isn't precise, however. The most recent date in the book of Jeremiah is 562 BCE, the first year of Babylon's King Awil-merodach (Jer 52:31-34); but the rest of the book is set early in Nebuchadnezzar's reign, which was from 605 to 562. Was the whole book first written after 562, or was Jeremiah 52 added at the last stage in the book's development? Since Jeremiah 52 almost duplicates part of 2 Kings 24-25, the latter theory seems more likely.

Dating the composition of biblical books often depends on internal evidence for the circumstances of the original readers. For instance, some passages in Matthew, Luke, and John hint that their authors were aware of the temple's destruction in 70 CE, but they don't describe that event. The book of Malachi mentions no regnal year, but it uses the Persian title for a "governor" to whom taxes must be paid (Mal 1:8) and addresses abuses in worship at the temple. These features fit the Persian period.

Attention to the circumstances of the original audience implied by the biblical text points to the conclusion that some books grew to their present form over a long period of time. The Gospels weren't completed until three or more decades after Jesus' resurrection, yet they originated with the remembered words of Jesus and stories about his ministry. Similarly, the Old Testament prophetic books were based on the prophets' spoken words, which were probably collected by disciples. The book of Isaiah, for example, includes material addressed to audiences in the midst of the Assyrian threats of the 8th century BCE and the Babylonian exile during the 6th century BCE, although it's named for the 8th-century prophet Isaiah with whose words the collection begins. It may be helpful to think of the traditional author of an Old Testament book as the person from whose work the book grew.

Why the Story Matters

---

It's important to know the biblical story, even if its precise dates elude us, and individual parts of the Bible make better sense when their place in the Bible's chronology is known. The long story of God's deeds and the survival of God's people is an important aspect of biblical theology, as expressed in prayer (Pss 105; 106; 136; Neh 9; Dan 9), genealogy (Matt 1), and sermon (Acts 7). The Bible interprets events as the result of God's will to save and to bring about justice. The intersection of biblical events with world history underscores the Bible's claim that God the creator is actively involved in the life of the creation and its inhabitants. The Bible doesn't give an account of its own composition, yet the writing and preservation of the biblical books should also be counted as the acts of a loving and gracious God.

GUIDELINES FOR READING THE BIBLE

Brian D. Russell

Learning to read the scriptures well involves nurturing attitudes that support our study and gaining technical skills that make it possible to participate in a close reading of the biblical texts. Both elements are necessary for becoming skilled and inspired readers who are able to engage the Bible as Christian scripture.

The goals of reading the scriptures are to hear God's Word and to be shaped by their message. Reading the scriptures is an opportunity to enter into the world imagined by the biblical writers and to experience personal transformation so that we as modern readers may then serve as witnesses to their good news for humanity and all creation.

History testifies to the power of the scriptures to shape the individuals and communities of faith who devote themselves to their study. This witness begins within the pages of the Bible and continues to the present day.

- The book of Psalms opens with this description of the "happy person," in contrast to the ways of the wicked: "these persons love the LORD's Instruction, and they recite God's Instruction day and night!" (Ps 1:2). The psalmist reminds us of the power of intentional and consistent reading of the scriptures.
- In Luke 4:16-21 Jesus began his public ministry by reading from the prophet Isaiah, and he lived out his life and mission in fulfillment of the Old Testament scriptures. After his resurrection Jesus taught his disciples from the scriptures. Luke 24:45 says Jesus "opened their minds to understand the scriptures." Scripture shaped the story of Jesus' life, and we read scripture to find the grand story of God so that we may align our lives with it as Jesus did.
- The apostle Paul reminded his coworker Timothy of the crucial role the scriptures played in the life of the early church: "Since childhood you have known the holy scriptures that help you to be wise in a way that leads to salvation through faith that is in Christ Jesus. Every scripture is inspired by God and is useful for teaching, for showing mistakes, for correcting, and for training character, so that the person who belongs to God can be equipped to do everything that is good" (2 Tim 3:15-17).
- St. Augustine of Hippo, the prominent 4th and 5th-century bishop and theologian, famously recounted his own conversion in which he interpreted the sound of children saying tolle, lege ("Take and read") as a sign to pick up the Bible. He opened to a passage from Romans and began to experience transformation in his life with the gospel.
- John Wesley, an 18th-century evangelist and reformer, wrote this about the Bible: "I want to know one thing: the way to heaven, how to land safe on that happy shore. God himself has condescended to teach the way; for this very end he came from heaven. He hath written it down in a book. O give me that book! At any price, give me the book of God! I have it: here is knowledge enough for me. Let me be homo unius libri [a man of one book]."

As we study the Bible we open ourselves up to the same deep and life-giving influence. Perhaps we too may add our voice to this chorus of witnesses as a result of our study of scripture.

Attitudes for Reading Scripture

Study the Bible prayerfully. Prayer can enhance our study by putting us in touch with the subject of the Bible—God. Prayer can help to shape and create in us a proper mindset for engaging the scriptures as God's word. Begin each Bible study with a prayer for illumination, such as, "Lord, surprise and astonish me anew with the beauty and power of your Word." The word "astonish" captures the potential power that we readers may find in the Bible. When we come away astonished, we know that we have been in the presence of the divine. When we pray for astonishment rather than mastery of the material, we learn a key truth about reading the Bible as Christian scripture: it's less important that we learn about the text and more important for the text to shape our lives.

Study the Bible expectantly. We read the Bible in the expectation of encountering the living God. Open the scriptures not merely to learn but to be transformed by the words you find. Come to the Bible to gain wisdom and to be shaped by its message. When you read, be grateful for the opportunity for study and anticipate the life-giving insights you'll find in the Bible's pages.

Study the Bible persistently. Learning to read the Bible well is a habit to be nurtured over the course of our lives. Wise interpreters are not born but formed over time through consistent, careful study. In other words, if you find yourself struggling with reading the Bible, stay with it and give it time. Like a farmer who methodically prepares the field, sows seeds, waters, pulls weeds, protects the fledging plants from insects, and applies fertilizer—all in the hope for a bountiful yield at the harvest—so we as readers must be patient and persistent in doing the work necessary for receiving the benefits of the scriptures. Think of scripture study as a behavior to practice faithfully rather than as a skill to be mastered.

Study the Bible intelligently. Christians read the Bible as God's Word, but we cannot forget that it was written by other human beings in the living languages spoken by the people of God in the ancient world (Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek). The Bible isn't a code to be deciphered but literature crafted carefully and intentionally to communicate its message clearly to its audience. As modern readers we must use all of the tools available to us for understanding it, including our minds. We've affirmed the need to read prayerfully, but this doesn't mean we should turn off our intellect. As thoughtful Christians, we profess the need for prayer and the importance of close and serious study of the text. In doing so, we not only gain fresh and profound insight from the Bible, but we also learn the meaning of Jesus' command to love God with our minds (Matt 22:37).

Study the Bible confidently. Bible study can sometimes be intimidating. On occasion we may not feel worthy or qualified to decide about the meaning of the text. Yet as generations of faithful and persistent readers bear witness, the scriptures remain vital, offer profound insights, and speak words of life. Bring a sense of anticipation and expectation to your reading of the Bible, and you won't be disappointed.

Reading in Context

The key to understanding any passage in the Bible is learning to read it in its literary context. Reading scripture is a dance between the reader, the text, and the text's wider context. Just as a dancer must maintain awareness of both music and dance partner, so must the reader keep in view both the details of the passage being studied and the wider movements of the passages surrounding it. In biblical interpretation, literary context is everything. By literary context we mean the interlocking levels of immediate context, wider context, historical context, and the context provided by related texts.

Immediate context. The most important information about a passage is its immediate context. In most cases this is the text we're studying and the paragraphs immediately before and after it. For example, if we're studying the Lord's Prayer (Matt 6:9-13), it's important to notice that it occurs within a block of text that focuses on prayer (Matt 6:6-15). The verses just before the Lord's Prayer contrast it with prayers that emphasize many words and religious formulas, and the verses just after it focus on the necessity of forgiveness. Our reading of the Lord's Prayer must be informed by and account for these elements.

Wider context. Each passage has a wider context in the book in which it's found. To get a sense of the book's context, we can take a few minutes to read the introduction to the book we are studying in the CEB Study Bible and look at the written outline of the entire book. This will help us gain an understanding of the role the passage we're working with plays in the overall message of the book. Looking at the Lord's Prayer again, we may observe that it falls within a larger segment (Matt 6:1-18) that serves to warn against public acts of godliness (almsgiving, prayer, and fasting) as a means of gaining rewards from God. Widening our lens a little more, we see that this text falls within a larger block of teaching materials traditionally known as the Sermon on the Mount (Matt 5-7). Within this larger block, Jesus trains his disciples for the ministry of announcing the good news of the kingdom of heaven (Matt 4:17-11:1).

Reading in the immediate context of the book is a vital protection against misreading the meaning of a passage. A truism about reading in context is, "A text without a context is a pretext." When we don't read in context, it's easy to make a text say what we want it to mean rather than to hear the message of the text. A reader must remember to read a text in the light of its literary context. This practice alone will prevent many errors.

The next two kinds of literary contexts can add more time to the study of a scripture passage, but being attentive to them will further increase our understanding of the text.

Historical context. Having information about a text's historical context, or background, helps us gain a richer appreciation of that text. The study notes in this Bible draw attention to important historical details. We may also find it helpful to use a Bible dictionary or a full-length commentary. If, for example, we study Paul's letter to the Philippians, we'll notice that he mentions opponents harassing the Philippian Christ followers (e.g., Phil 1:28; 3:2, 18). Who are these opponents? Is there only one group of opponents, or are there several? What's the nature of their opposition? Finding answers to these questions will provide us with helpful historical background for understanding Paul's words to the Philippians.

Related texts. We want to be aware of the related texts the passage we're studying alludes to and/or other texts that may allude to that passage. Psalm 8 models both of these situations. This hymn of praise to the Lord reflects on the status and mission of humanity in light of the majestic nature of God. Its final verses focus on the stewardship role that women and men play over creation (Ps 8:6-8), and the psalmist is clearly referring to the creation story in Genesis 1:1-2:3. If we're going to fully understand the message of Psalm 8, we need to study how the psalmist uses the material from Genesis. We'll also want to know that Hebrews 2:6-8 quotes Psalm 8:4-6 because that will help us understand the full biblical meaning of Psalm 8. The cross reference system in this Bible connects related texts, including leading from Psalm 8 to Genesis and Hebrews. Many of the study notes also point to related texts.

Reading with the Big Picture in Mind

Reading the Bible also involves understanding each individual passage and book within the overall context of the Bible. The Christian Bible proclaims an overarching narrative when viewed as a whole. We may observe the following framework holding the elements of the Bible together: Creation, Fall, Israel, Jesus the Christ, Church, New Creation. The Bible begins with the story of the Creation of the world (Gen 1-2) and ends with the description of a future New Creation (Rev 20-21). The biblical story opens with a very good world and ends with the re-creation of very goodness. In between these bookends we find the story of the salvation of the people and all creation.

The need for salvation is first described in Genesis 3-11, which identifies the fundamental problem in the world: human alienation and sin. This problem has fractured the very good creation described in Genesis 1-2. God responds to the problem by calling a people through whom God will bless all nations (Gen 12-Mal). This people is named Israel.

God calls Israel's ancestors in Genesis 12-50 to be the start of God's own people. God rescues them from slavery in Egypt, establishes a covenant relationship with them as a means of preparing them to serve as a people of blessing to the world, and leads them through the wilderness to the promised land of Canaan (Exod-Deut). The books of Joshua through Esther narrate Israel's life in Canaan and its times of obedience/disobedience, exile, and return. The Wisdom books (Job-Song) include the prayers of God's people and their reflections on the good life within God's creation. The Old Testament ends with the Prophetic books (Isa-Mal), which serve to call God's people back to their roots as the holy, redeemed people through whom God will bless the nations. The Prophets also envision a radical future act of salvation.

The New Testament opens with the four Gospels, which tell the story of the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus. He announces the inbreaking of God's future and fulfills the hopes and expectations of Israel's scriptures. Jesus' death and resurrection mark the climax of God's saving work and serve to announce God's final victory. The books of Acts through Revelation 19 tell the story of the church, under the power of the Holy Spirit, witnessing to all nations about the good news of Jesus. Revelation 20-21 brings the story full circle by envisioning the complete consummation of God's victory in a New Creation.

Keep in mind this broader story as a means of understanding much smaller portions of the Bible. Again, we need to maintain a balance. If we focus only on this broad summary, we risk missing the many fine points that individual biblical books and passages within them offer. We're also in danger of flattening out the Bible by forcing its individual pieces to conform to our assumptions about the big picture. But if we focus on just the specific details of shorter passages, we may miss the overall message of the Bible. Paying attention to only an assortment of brief passages is like having all of our clothing piled randomly in a closet without any obvious organizing principle. The big picture serves as hangers and dividers that help us make sense of our wardrobe. Be aware of the broader narratives and themes of the Bible, while also hearing the witness of the individual passage under current consideration.

Suggestions for a Close Reading of the Text

There are three core elements in learning to study a text closely: observing details, asking questions, and seeking answers.

Observe the details in the text and record your observations. A good interpreter continually captures insights and observations through careful note taking. Read slowly. Take your time. This is particularly true for familiar passages. Don't assume you already know the meaning of any text. Instead, think about the words and phrases you find in it. Savor the images and the language used to convey its message. Notice how the individual words are connected to each other. You may find it helpful to read a couple of different translations and write down their differences as a means of reflecting on the text. Stay put within the confines of that passage, however, and resist the temptation to flip to another part of the Bible until after you've carefully engaged the text you're studying. Describe it. Paraphrase it. Analyze it. Observe recurring words, phrases, ideas, and themes. Establish an outline or create a chart to organize its content. Above all, don't give up. Persist in the process of collecting your own observations and insights. This process will produce insights, and new questions will emerge.

Write out questions your observations lead you to ask. Engaged reading requires this. The best interpreters of the scripture are those who ask the best questions. This process of reading the text carefully and recording a series of observations and questions is the secret to engaging the Bible at a deep level. Observations lead to questions, and questions guide the interpreter to new insights. Ask questions that engage the text on two levels: defining questions and questions about function. Defining questions attempt to gain a full description of the content of the text: What's here? What's the meaning of each element that's present? Functional questions focus on the So what? and attempt to probe beneath the surface to look for the deep meaning and implications. For example, if you're studying Exodus 19:4-6, you'll encounter a phrase that's unique in the Old Testament: "You will be a kingdom of priests for me and a holy nation" (Exod 19:6). The twin phrases "a kingdom of priests" and "a holy nation" are important for the interpretation of this text. You may ask the following defining questions about them: What's the meaning of those phrases? What's the relationship between them? Follow your definitional questions with functional ones: Why are these particular phrases being used here? What's their significance?

Answer key questions. In many ways biblical interpretation is nothing more or less than the answering of interpretive questions the reader asks about the text. Review your observations and questions. Select the handful of questions whose answers are necessary for making sense of the text, and begin answering those questions by looking at the observations you've already made. What evidence have you found through your close reading to begin to develop possible answers? Consult the study notes in this Bible. If you need additional help in answering your questions, you may find it useful to read other commentaries, look up subjects in a Bible dictionary, or use the concordance to study key words as they're used elsewhere in the scriptures. Also consider studying the Bible with others and work on answering questions about the text together. Once you've collected the necessary information, summarize your answers to the key questions along with the strongest evidence that supports those answers.

Reflecting on the Text's Implications and Function

Once you've answered the key questions raised in your close reading of the text you'll want to begin to draw out the broader truths and ideas that are explicit and implicit in it. The goal here is to move from the specific details and facts in a passage to an understanding of how they work together to present a deeper message.

In light of your study, reflect on questions like these: If this were the only passage of scripture I had, what would I know? What broad truths emerge from reflecting on this portion of scripture? What does this passage teach me about God? What does it teach me about life in God's creation? What does it teach me about humanity and the role of God's people?

After reflecting on these questions, it's important to try to assess how the teaching of a given portion of scripture relates to the whole. Are there other places in the Bible where similar teachings or ideas are found? Reflect on how the text adds to, affirms, or critiques other biblical texts. The purpose of this step is to understand the contribution of the text to the biblical message.

Make Specific Applications

The goal of reading the Bible is to come away from it with changed hearts and lives. The power of scripture to shape us depends on our willingness to push beyond merely engaging the Bible with our minds but also putting its words into practice in our world. Once we understand the message of a passage in light of the biblical message as a whole, we're able to explore how it may impact our lives in the present.

Here are a few questions you may find helpful for guiding you in this process: How does this passage understand God's mission in the world, and how do we fit into God's purposes? What kind of people does this text imagine us to be if we were to live out its message? How would my life be different if I took the truths of this text seriously? How would my community of faith need to change in light of what I've discovered during my study of the text?

Try to be as specific to your own life situation as possible when making applications.

Suggestions for Group Study

Reading the Bible with others is a long-established practice, provides the opportunity for honest conversation and spiritual growth, and can greatly enhance the process of careful study. The following suggestions for ways to approach a text as a group will help make the experience a rewarding one.

Focus on the text. Work on making observations and asking questions together. Having an able facilitator will help keep the group on track and away from debates. It's also important for the facilitator to attempt to draw out the insights of all who'd like to contribute.

Reflect on implications. Make sure the group doesn't get so bogged down in the details of a passage that it isn't able to move forward to reflect on what the text is attempting to teach.

Make specific applications. As a group, challenge yourselves to agree on a few concrete ways in which you can appropriate into your lives the message of the text you're studying. Save time during each meeting to share how the group's study during previous meetings has impacted each of you.

Studying the Bible will change your heart and life. The CEB Study Bible gives you the tools, illustrations, and explanations necessary for making informed decisions about the meaning of the Bible. The notes in this study Bible don't tell you what to believe. Instead, the notes give you the context for what the Bible meant to its earliest readers and what it means right now.

The CEB Study Bible* is for encouragement and challenge, for guidance and reflection, for study and prayer:

- the reliable, readable, and relevant Common English Bible translation in a single-column setting
- more than 1000 additional pages of detailed book introductions, outlines, and notes from the finest biblical studies professors
- full-color throughout, including over 200 illustrations, photographs, maps, and charts
- hundreds of thousands of cross references, plus a select concordance
- more than 300 indexed sidebar and general articles about crucial topics
- 21 full-color maps designed by National Geographic and fully indexed
